Thieves smashed a shop window of G.D. Pickering, watchmaker and jeweller of King Street, Cambridge, in the early hours of the morning, but from a window display of £200 worth of goods all they took were two ladies' watches, valued together at £9. The robbery is believed to have taken place at 2.30 am because neighbours heard the breaking of glass and a car revving up quickly. A car starting handle was left behind, and it is thought that this was thrown at the window.

1951 03 28
Councillor L.T. Smith objected to the money spent on planting trees on housing estates at Cottenham where four trees cost £3. He said: "I think it is a scandalous thing. At Cottenham we are full of trees and we had to waste the architect's time to come and plant these. If we had brought the rents down only a penny a week it would have helped people much better"

Easter bonnets, p5
Hundred Houses Society, p7
Fulbourn sewage, p10

1951 03 29
After a lull of about a month another outbreak of fowl pest has occurred at Meldreth, where some 200 birds have had to be destroyed. The outbreak, the first reported since that at Rampton, brings the total number to 38. Some 22,000 birds have been destroyed. Last week the total of birds slaughtered in the Isle of Ely was more than doubled by an outbreak in a big flock at Manea.

1951 03 30
As a nearby loudspeaker blared out the song, "My heart cries for you", 200 fairground attendants at Thurston's fair, parked on Midsummer Common, Cambridge, watched anxiously for a break in the weather on Easter Monday and the crowds that normally throng the common for the opening of the fairground season. The break in the weather did not come; neither did the crowds, and Bank Holiday Monday became, for the showmen, Black Monday. Takings were at an all-time low, total receipt amounted to only £9. A brand new £17,000 dodg'em car ride's taking amounted to only a few shillings – a fraction of the running costs.

1951 03 30 ES
Down Your Way broadcast from Ely by Richard Dimbleby features local people including William Ruane 51 03 30ES

1951 03 31
Workers Playtime, p7

April 1951 CDN & ES
I have rp copies of cuttings dated at end

1951 04 02
Unfortunately the sight of flies swarming over the fish on a fishmonger's slab is still a much too common sight in the summer. It always horrifies me to see food exposed to flies and dust from the street and likely to be fingered or breathed on by prospective customers. I am pleased to report that one of the new refrigerated display cabinets for wet fish has been installed by Mr F.O. Sennitt, Peas Hill, Cambridge. I understand it is the first local fish shop to do so. The shop has also installed a machine with the same system of refrigeration for poultry and dry fish, which will be welcomed by all housewives

1951 04 03
Arthur Askey, p6

1951 04 04
The pros and cons of a proposal to establish a greyhound race track on land off the Landbeach Road, Milton were argued before a Planning inspector. The applicant said greyhound racing is not a particularly offensive form of sport and it might be pleasant for local inhabitants to have some sort of recreation on the spot. There would be 104 evening meetings per year with floodlighting in the winter. The County Council said it would be difficult to refuse permission to expand in other directions, such as speedway racing. The main road was one of the busiest in the county carrying an average of 145 vehicles an hour. Mr J.R. Ginn (Over) said he was one of the largest breeders of greyhounds in the county & we badly need a track for Cambs.

1951 04 04
A group of scientists has been formed to investigate outbreaks of bloat in cattle in the Cambridge area. Bloat frequently occurs so acutely that cattle may die very soon after symptoms are seen. It may occur following the turning of cattle out to pasture, often in as short a period as 20 minutes to half-an-hour & the cause has not been definitely ascertained. Early information about outbreaks is needed, as observations have to be made not only on the cattle but also on the pasture where bloat occurs. Important changes may take place if the examination is not made quickly.

1951 04 06
Local roller skating enthusiasts are now able to get awheel in fine style at the Rex Ballroom, Cambridge, on Monday and Thursday evenings when grown-ups take to the floor to music by Austen Paine and his orchestra. There appears to be no lack of demand and skaters from the surrounding villages can often be seen gyrating on the floor. The introduction of roller skating to the Ballroom has entailed no alterations to the floor, because the skates, which are supplied by the Management, have composite wheels that do not damage the polished surface. # c.38 : roller skating

1951 04 06 ES
Little Downham houses and shops damaged by fire in main street. Photograph 51 04 06

1951 04 07
Since the announcement of Cambridge's new dignity, many messages of congratulations have been received, one from the Mayor of Nairobi. He says: "It is just a year since Nairobi became a city, but little more than fifty years ago lion, rhinoceros and many variety of game roamed the plains where now our modern city stands. It is most fitting that your ancient seat of learning should be accorded civic status. Happily the days of rioting and disturbance between town and gown are long since past, and though he escapades of some of its aspiring young scholars may still cause no little consternation to the civic authority, the ancient rivalry has changed its tone and lost its rancour so that town and gown may now dwell together in unity".

Instrument Company dinner dance, p7

1951 04 10
The Automobile Association reports several cases of flooded roads in Cambridgeshire and Huntingdonshire. The worst are at St Neots papermills but water which was ten inches deep on the main road at Caxton was down to four inches this morning. Highest of all rivers is the Cam with extensive flooding on Coe Fen and in the stream near the river on the Backs. There are patrols on the banks of the Cam and the Old West and at Ely the river is four foot six inches above normal. # c.29

1951 04 11
The threat of possible flooding of the Cambridge-Ely road at Stretham bridge has been met by the building of a quarter-mile long clay bank and the installation of three pumps. Mr W.E. Doran, the Catchment Board engineer said that the rainstorm that raised the level had travelled the length of the Cam basin & that with the present sodden state of the ground most of the rainwater drained into the river. Had the improvement work which followed the 1947 floods not been done river levels in some places would be above the danger line.

1951 04 12
With some 16,000 acres of Cambridgeshire's wheat target of 50,000 acres still unsown and at the most only about a fortnight left to do the sowing, local farmers fear the possibility of a worst year than that of the 1947 floods. On many farms no spring sowing has yet been possible and work is anything from a month to six weeks behind. Mr C. L. Marr of Malton Farm, Meldreth reports that the heavy land there was waterlogged at the beginning of the week. Mr H.S. Kent of Chippenham summed up the situation in the word "terrible".

1951 04 13
Farmers' fear, p6

1951 04 13 ES
Miss O.H. Norman appointed cook supervisor at new Witchford Secondary School having held similar position at Haddenham where responsible for sending out dinners to other schools in the neighbourhood. Was previously at the Cromwell School, Chatteris. During the war Miss Norman took advanced courses in domestic science and as a Flight Sergeant in the W.A.A.F. was attached to the R.A.F. Hospital, Ely

1951 04 14
A proposal to establish a police out-station in Girton clashes with the interests of a market gardening partnership and there has been an appeal against the County Council's application. The Clerk said the intention was to establish a police house with garage and office accommodation. A site 70 feet wide by 150 feet deep was the minimum requirement, governed by the disposal of sewage. There was no satisfactory public sewer in Cambridgeshire. The Chief Constable spoke of the extreme difficulty of getting recruits because of lack of accommodation. The constable now at Girton lived in a council house.

1951 04 14
The results of the census is awaited with particular interest locally. Because if it shows that the population of Cambridge has greatly increased, it might well be that the city would be in a position to apply for county borough status. Before it can put forward a claim a town must have a population of at least 100,000. County boroughs are completely self-contained local authorities, exercising all local government functions within their area. If Cambridge were to be granted this new status the city council would be very largely masters in their own house, a state of affairs what cannot be said to exist at the present moment owing to the rate demands of the county

1951 04 16
Six hurt car crash, p6
Downing & Granta singers, p7

1951 04 17
New piggery, p5
River Cam fish, p7

1951 04 18
Cambridge's first woman traffic warden takes up her duties on Monday, to help children cross the road before and after school. She is Mrs M.E. Vail who will be attached to St Luke's school, Victoria Road. The idea of having civilian traffic wardens was taken up in January when the education committee appointed a man for Morley memorial school; a second started at St Barnabas school this week.

1951 04 18
Seventy-one year Mr Robert O'dell went to the Ministry of Labour offices in Brooklands Avenue, in response to instructions to go for a Z Reserve medical examination. Mr O'dell – Bowie as he is widely known in Cambridge, where he has a greengrocery business – was rather surprised to get the instruction, as he has never been in the army. He was told it was all a mistake. "I asked about my expenses for travelling and lost time", he said.

Refuelling on Newmarket recreation ground, p10
Dysentery at school, p10

1951 04 14
Hens record eggs, p6
Still & Sugarloaf, p10

1951 04 20
Despite the shortage of new cars the amount of traffic on the roads of Cambridgeshire today is only very little less than it was in 1938, while the amount of commercial traffic has nearly doubled. Private cars were down 38 percent but commercial vehicles had increased to 94% more. An increased proportion of commercial to private vehicles was expected as they have been less affected by wartime and post-war restrictions.

1951 04 21
"Spiv, the Chocolate King", as he was known to thousands, died as he was born in an institution, penniless and alone with no one to care whether he lived or died. No one that is except two Good Samaritan neighbours, themselves in humble circumstances who had tended him for 30 years without thought of recompense. When the Eastern Gas Board collector called to empty the meter he had used only 3s.8d.worth of gas in the previous quarter, and the fourpence rebate is all the money in the world available for carrying out the last rites. On Tuesday he will find a pauper's grave. 51 04 21

1951 04 21
A recordon dictaphone, various wires, amplifiers and relays, together with other improbable odds and ends have enabled a Cambridge doctor to overcome the problem of maintaining a continuous telephone 'watch'. If there is nobody to answer a patient's ring they hear, after a short pause "Hello. This is the automatic telephone speaking. The doctor is at the hospital. Goodbye". The doctor is now turning his inventive imagination in the direction of an apparatus which will record an incoming message.

1951 04 25
Chesterton R.D.C. agreed to meet the County Surveyor regarding the cost of measures to avoid flooding at Cottenham. Captain Johnson said there had been flooding to such an extent during this winter that water had gone into houses. The extra water which resulted in the flooding was entirely due to the building works of the RDC and County Councils & he thought the county should pay half of the cost of relaying the 16th public drain as far as the Green

1951 04 26
To be Water Lane, Chesterton, or to be Malting Lane, Chesterton was the question which faced Cambridge magistrates when two housewives came to court to object to the proposal to rename it. They said correspondence for Malting Lane, Newnham was never received if the word Chesterton was on the envelope. The Town Clerk said Water Lane would be associated with the adjoining Water Street. The magistrates felt it for the best and would make an order confirming the change.

King's visits in 1947 and 1949, p5
Girl Guide difficulties, p8

1951 04 26
"Spiv the Chocolate King" has been laid to rest in a soldier's grave with full British Legion honours. Following the story of his lifelong struggle against poverty, which was published in the C.D.N. the Legion, offered to defray the whole of the funeral costs. His Norfolk Street neighbours watched as the hearse containing the Union Jack drew up. Many hundreds of people congregated to pay their last respects.

River pollution, p6
Malting or Water Lane, p7
Addenbrooke's Hospital memorial WWII. P10

1951 04 27
By working continuously from early daylight to the fall of darkness in the rain-free weather Cambridgeshire's 10,000 men of the land have broken the back of the crisis which gravely threatened the spring sowing programme. With sun and wind replacing almost daily rain, it has been possible to get out on the land & by taking full advantage of every hour of daylight they have seen to it that an estimated 80% of the wheat acreage target has been sown – a much brighter picture than seemed possible a fortnight ago.

Royal visit, p1
Policeman's lot, p6
Cottenham beauty queen, p7
Boat race crew presentation, p7 (pic 28th p10)

1951 04 28
A Royal welcome greeted the King and Queen when they arrived for their visit to King's College chapel thanksgiving service for its restoration and the replacement of windows removed for safety during the war. The car flying the Royal standard drew up to the city boundary at Newmarket Road. Many mothers from nearby houses brought their children along with little flags and some enterprising onlookers climbed on to one of Marshall's buildings to get a bird's eye view. Carried away by their enthusiasm many toddlers continued to cheer and wave small Union Jacks long after the Royal party had passed. # c.02

City status celebration, p5
Romsey British Legion, p9

1951 04 30
The woollen products of Messrs I & R Morley Ltd have a world-wide reputation and the label is accepted for value, hard wear and reliability. But perhaps people do not associate the name with Cambridge, which is on the whole, not a particularly industrial city. Yet they do have a factory in Abbey Walk, which produces as many as 135 dozen garments a week. At present 120 workers are employed but a plan is under way to turn it into a modern up-to-date knitwear factory. # c.27

1951 04 30
Messrs Spillers celebrated the official opening of the Company's new Central Laboratories in Station Road, Cambridge, built to replace a laboratory destroyed in a bombing raid in London four days after the outbreak of the last war. Work went on at Birkenhead and then in 1947 it was decided to build and erect a new building at Cambridge, started in 1949. The mill has been renewed and remodelled on the very latest lines, designed primarily for milling home-grown wheats 51 05 30 # c.27

Cambridge sauce, p5
Chivers fire, p6

May 1951 CDN & ES

1951 05 01
Over the last few decades St John's College grounds in the Backs have suffered severely from the loss of trees by decay, storm damage and elm disease. A survey showed there were many trees so diseased that they might fall down at any time, including most of those in the remains of the Avenue leading to Queen's Road. A comprehensive scheme for replanting has been adopted. In place of the former elms a new avenue of limes will be planted.

Billy Smart's circus, p5
Scramble, p10

1951 05 02
Big traffic hold-ups in Hills Road last March – when a large sale of implements and store pigs at the Cattle Market resulted in vehicles at one time taking 50 minutes to get from Hyde Park Corner - has lead to proposals for improvements. Immediate steps include the provision of a temporary entrance in Rustat Road.

1951 05 02
Forty-one families of deserving ex-servicemen – 93 persons in all – received a gift of meat donated by an Australian farmer, Mr F.H. Redden of Cuddle Creek, South Australia. The donor wished the gifts to be an "occasion" in the lives of the recipients. Three carcasses were received and the goodwill was enlisted of Messrs Winton Smith Ltd who cut them into portions suitable to the size of the family and generously gave a pork pie to each recipient.

1951 05 03
Parker's Piece, p10

1951 05 04
Cambridge councillors are to reconsider a proposal to reserve a number of cycle racks in the Guildhall for the use of members. "I think it is a very poor effort if this should not be considered", said Alderman Doggett. Alderman Priest said if he could suggest a way of ensuring that the racks were used only by councillors they would consider it. Ald Doggett: "Put up notices". The Mayor remarked jokingly "The next thing will be that people with cars will want parking spaces reserved". Ald James: "I move that!"

1951 05 04
All three members of the crew of a Wellington bomber were killed when it crashed at Brampton. The plane grazed the tower of the church, damaged the roofs of four cottages, struck a "keep-left" sign and ploughed into the garden of a house, demolishing a summer-house. The aircraft disintegrated, the main part of the wreckage lying in the Thrapston -Huntingdon road. Inquiry 8th p6 # c.26.1

Amateur tobacco, p10

1951 05 05
Drummer Street bus station glazed with armour plated glass, p10

1951 05 07
School of Art, p6

1951 05 08

In this mechanical age when practically all the necessities of life are produced by machine and a great deal of spare time is taken up by watching other people – at sport, in the cinema, or listening to the radio – the art of craftsmanship is gradually dying. No longer do we buy so many things with the stamp "handmade" on them but it seems a pity that more people do not make use of their hands to create works of beauty. Now the Education Committee is to present an exhibition of the crafts of voluntary organisations at the Central School

1951 05 08
The Whipple Museum of the History of Science was opened by the Vice Chancellor. The collection was presented to the University in 1944 and was stored in boxes in the Fitzwilliam Museum until 1948. It was at first proposed to create a museum in the former Shorts Factory on Madingley Road, but this was rendered unusable after Pye's fire. The present premises in Corn Exchange Street became available in May last year and it has at last been possible to show a large part of the collection. Amongst the guests was Mr Robert S. Whipple, the founder of the collection. # c.03

Korea corporal, p9

1951 05 09
Snobs stream, p10

1951 05 10
South Cambs RDC considered an application for the erection of overhead electricity lines at Gt Eversden. Coun Barnes said: "I think these people are desecrating the whole countryside and they are putting all the telephones underground now". Coun Malthouse said the price was prohibitive and added "As long as we get electricity we should not worry about it". Coun Peters: "I do not think we ought to make any move which might lessen the likelihood of electricity getting into the rural areas. The main thing is to get it somehow"

College guides, p5

1951 05 11
Sixteen tons of sugar, four tons of tea, 80 tons of bread, 150 tons of potatoes, 20,000 eggs, 200 sacks of flour, 2,500 head of poultry, 22 tons of meat, 22 tons of fish. This is the annual food consumption of the United Cambridge Hospitals. No fewer than 12,962 patients were admitted last year but not all beds were always occupied because it was essential for a certain number of remain vacant to deal with any outbreak – that and shortage of nursing staff

Ouse Board tribute, p5

1951 05 11 ES
May singers at Black Horse Drove 51 05 11ES

1951 05 12
Parker's Piece parking, p6

1951 05 14
Many hundreds of harassed housewives will have gazed longingly at two trussed pieces of meat hanging in the shop of Messrs Waller & Son, butchers of Victoria Avenue, Cambridge. One is a piece of bacon, the other is a piece of Macon – experimentally manufactured meat. These morsels are no ordinary pieces of meat, they are by way of becoming family heirlooms. The bacon is 25 years old; it was the first piece of bacon to be cured on the premises by Mr Fred Waller and he would not part with it for anything. He even takes it down occasionally for a wash and brush-up. "In spite of its 25 years it is still edible", he said, "and no amount of money would buy it – not even a £10 note"

1951 05 15

Peak traffic period in Cambridge over the holiday was from 5.30 to 6.30 pm on Monday when no fewer than 800 vehicles – 50 per cent of them pre-war models – were passing the Trumpington A.A. box. On Saturday the stream of traffic averaged 500 vehicles an hour past the Newmarket Road A.A. box but with the deterioration of the weather there was a marked decrease. A feature of the traffic was the large proportion of cars and coaches travelling towards London. Only a small amount headed for the East coast via Ely and the Clacton road.

1951 05 16
The Playhouse Cinema, Mill Road, completed 38 years of service and entertainment. To celebrate the event the manager (Mr Eric Dallman) arranged a special birthday month. He opened with a brief history of the cinema and read telegrams of congratulation from Richard Todd and Joan Dowling, the two popular British stars. A request for any member of the audience who was at the opening in 1913 resulted in one patron coming to the stage. He was Mr W.J. Pugh who had been a regular patron since it opened. The audience was then introduced to the longest serving member of staff, Mrs F. Hewett who had done most jobs except the operating box – but thought she would like to try that as well!

Castle woman's estate, p7
Charles Watson, p8

1951 05 17
Drummer Street parking, p7

1951 05 18
The Chief Constable told the NSPCC that he had been surprised to find that there existed some bad slum areas in Cambridge. He felt that many cases of bad conditions resulted from the mental condition of the parents. The police found that a number of people came into their hands as a result of neglect in their childhood days. The chairman stressed the danger of leaving children alone, especially at night and thanked the women police officers for their co-operation

1951 05 19
Weather conditions permitting, a helicopter will be used over Cambridge to make an experimental traffic count. It is believed to be the first time an aircraft has been used for this purpose. If the experiment succeeds it will mean a great saving in manpower. A series of aerial photographs will be taken from the helicopter by means of an R.A.F photographic reconnaissance camera operated by Mr G.P. Reece of University Cameras. A cine-film was also being taken of the flow of traffic at important junctions in the town. # c.26.48 # c.26.1`

Christ's College arms painted, p7
Parker's Piece parking, p10

1951 05 21
The finals of the crooning contest were held at the Playhouse Cinema, Mill Road. Only two finalists competed, Miss Eve Lynn and Mr Bob Garner. Judging was by Mr Dickie Valentine, who appeared by permission of the New Theatre management. Music for the finals was supplied by Freddie Webb and his band. Mr Garner was declared the winner and presented with the Vaughn Munroe trophy by Dickie Valentine, who then sang three songs at the request of the manager, Mr Eric Dallman. # c.69

Surplus women, p5

1951 05 22
Sewage of new estate, p6
Playhouse, p10
Farmhouse bread, p10

1951 05 23

Cambridgeshire can now boast one of the finest rural domestic economy kitchens in the country. Until recently the R.D.E. instructress (Miss M. Constantine) was housed in a basement in Hills Road, but this was damp and subject to flooding; consequently the equipment was liable to go rusty. The new kitchen is tucked away in the grounds of the Shire Hall. It has every kind of cooking stove – electricity, gas, calor gas, oil and solid fuel and boasts a demonstration oven with a glass door. A "frig" is to come later.

1951 05 24
Anglish & fish transfer, p9

1951 05 25
Undergraduate folly – Dorothy stand
Petty Cury property sold, p7---

1951 05 25ES
Tractor laying telephone cable in Witcham overturned, trapping driver. Awards for men who rescued him 51 05 25(2)ES

Criticism of recently-opened Witchford Secondary Modern School – 'a tin school, and a poor one at that'… caretaker making 59 separate fires; had cost £17,500 – a new school would have been £140,000. Was no prospect of new schools in Ely for another 20 years. Had pushed for new school at Wilburton 51 05 25(3)ES

Stretham Feast parade … Wicken band … two decorated lorries from Neville and Wrights which carried W.I. ladies … band concert 51 05 25(5)ES

Stretham Feast had dodg'em, stalls etc, cricket matches – 51 05 25(6)ES

Albert Edward Cockerton death, son of J.L. Cockerton of 16 Cambridge Road, Insurance man, Methodist preacher; funeral – 51 05 25&(5)ES

1951 05 26
Sir Harold Gray of Gog Magog Hills, Cambridge, died in the South of France. He was elected Conservative MP for Cambridgeshire in 1922 but did not stand in the 1923 election. He was a noted breeder of bloodstock at his estate and for many years ran horses with considerable success. During the war Sir Harold and his wife, Rowena, worked continually in France in the hospitals for the care of the wounded and he also drove his own motor ambulance there for the French Red Cross.

Parker's Piece parking, p9

1951 05 27 c
To most the mention of a railway waiting room conjures up a vision of a dismal, dingy place. But that at Cambridge station is a very different state of affairs – in fact such a bright and cheerful room that I felt it would be quite a pleasure to lose one's train and have to sit there and wait for another! The colour scheme is a bright green and cream and the old-fashioned leather bench type seats have been replaced by small brown leather armchairs. In the ladies' waiting-room one beholds the astonishing sight of fresh flowers.

1951 05 28
Should new industry come to Cambridgeshire it should, if possible, be guided into the areas more remote from the city, concludes the County Planning Department. "In general industry should be encouraged only in those areas away from Cambridge where greater diversity, particularly for women, is needed. It is suggested that the most suitable places are the small towns lying just outside the county boundary". Cambridge had always had low unemployment rate and there seems no likelihood of unemployment becoming a serious problem in the future, they say # c.49.64

Salute US dead, p9
Halifax opens branch, p9 # c.32.8

1951 05 29
A sale of considerable interest at Harston attracted a large company. The period residence, Harston Manor, with 15 acres and two cottages realised £8,000 after keen competition. The Manor Home Farm of 84 acres was knocked down at £5,800. A pair of cottages in Church Street realised £300 and an adjoining pair were sold for the exceptional figure of £390.

1951 05 29
A picture taken from HMS Belfast while on patrol off the Korean coast gives some idea of the conditions in which the Royal Navy has been operating. It comes from two Cambridgeshire lads who are serving aboard this, the flagship of the British Far Eastern Naval Unit. Norman Peters from Cambridge and John Vickery of Fulbourn are both only 17 years old and are Seamen Boys. When in action they are on four-inch anti-aircraft guns.

1951 05 30
There are about 170 children under the care of the County Council's Children Committee. The majority are children who have been deprived of a normal home life. Some are orphans or illegitimate. Others have been abandoned by their parents or found by a court to be in need of care or protection. The aim of the committee is to find a substitute, but real home to take the place of the one from which the child has been deprived. Their four children's homes are overcrowded and full to saturation point. They should accommodate 16 children but are housing 23

1951 05 31
The Vicar of Over send a letter alleging that the Cambridgeshire Agricultural Executive Committee was not cultivating properly requisitioned portions of Over fen. On Monday heavy tackle began ploughing the land – and he sent another letter enclosing a sample of self-sown barley which they are ploughing with heavy tackle. "Had I known this was the planned economy of the AEC I would have asked permission to graze 100 sheep on it, but apparently in the interests of maximum efficiency it must go under", he said

Parker's Piece parking – Hobbs, p5
Senate House cleaned, [7

June 1951 CDN & ES

1951 06 01
The Mayor of Cambridge toured three of the council's housing estates and saw the 2000th council house to be built since the war. It is on a 61-acre site at Newmarket Road which will accommodate 244 houses and 160 flats. The house has three bedrooms, a drawing room and a kitchen. With outbuildings it cost £1,417. The Mayor handed the key to the lucky tenant, Mr F.A. Cross, who said: "My speech must be brief. I'm much too excited to get inside and see around". He has been waiting over five years to get a house # C.23

Gravel works, p6

1951 06 02
"One would like Cambridge to have one outlet where people could walk out and get straight into the country" Dr G.M. Trevelyan, Master of Trinity College, told the Council for the Preservation of Rural England. He advocated the desirability of leaving the west side of Cambridge free from development and preserve it as countryside. This was injured to some extent by the erection of a factory on the Madingley Road and though this was partly destroyed during the war there is a danger since it still stands.

1951 06 04
Milicent Langdon ew Mayoress, p5

1951 06 05
Portions of Over fen which so far are uncropped sprouted a "harvest" of notices during the night. It is held under requisition by the Cambridgeshire Agricultural Executive Committee. At the corner of Sharp's Drove was the wording, "To the docks". This referred to 12 acres of that plant. Where the AEC has recently been ploughing-in self-sown barley was the wording "In the interests of colonial development 2ft 6 inches goes 'down under'"

1965 06 06
Hospital land purchase, p7

1951 06 07
Installed as Chancellor of Cambridge University before the brilliantly robed dignitaries of the University and a crowded Senate House, Marshall of the Royal Air Forces, Lord Tedder, described it as "The greatest honour that can ever come to a Cambridge man". King's Parade was crowded with people seeking a glimpse of this unique event whilst inside the Senate House itself every available inch of room was taken up with people standing inside the windowsills. The gallery too was crowded, mostly with undergraduates and girl students. # c.36.9

Madrigals, p7
Mellish Clark honoured, p7

1951 06 08 ES
Two men broke into the aviation petrol store houses at Witchford airfield and stole the quantity of brass. Also entered the aviation petrol storehouse at Mepal airfield police noted the door of the petrol installation was closed and saw a man on the concrete carriageway opposite the door. He said he was looking for work dropping out sugar beet. He saw a door was open and the valve and valve spindles had been removed 51 06 08ES # c.26.1

Wicken Fen fire
Between 20 and 30 acres of land at Wicken Fen was damaged by fire. Both Soham and Fordham fire brigades were called to the scene where 20 years previously there had been a similar outbreak in which burning sedge was carried by the wind onto the roofs of nearby cottages. On this occasion however the wind was fanning the flames away from the buildings, rendering the fire far less serious. The fire brigades were unable to tackle the fire with the equipment which they had bought, as it was found to be impossible to force away through the fen. In view of this the fireman were forced to attack the outbreak with sticks and water from nearby dykes. It is feared that much damage has been done to the wildlife inhabiting the fen 51 06 08(2)ES

The pilot of an R.A.F. Harvard trainer plane was killed when it crashed into the potato field at Rutland Farm, Manea. It crashed into a field known as the Marsh which is quite close to Manea railway station. Several agricultural workers saw the plane twist and turn and go into a steep dive with its engine roaring. When it crashed to the ground great lumps of earth and pieces of machine were thrown high into the air and parts of the fuselage and the engine were found 150 yards away from the scene of the crash. The bulk of the plane almost completely buried itself in a crater about five-feet deep. Workers ran to the scene but it was obvious that nothing could be done. The inquest heard that it was not the pilot's first solo flight 51 06 08(3)ES

Ely R.D.C. to purchase sewage disposal works at Mepal Airfield – 51 06 08(5)ES

1951 06 09

The news that the King has been advised to take a complete rest was received in Cambridge with deep concern, because it raises the question "Will the King be able to visit the city, as arranged on July 5th?" His majesty had agreed not only to come for the Royal Show but to pay a short visit to the Guildhall in connection with the city's new status. All of us hope that the King will not have to add Cambridge to the list of cancelled engagements. In the meantime letters inviting a number of people to attend at the Guildhall have gone out from the Town Clerk

Mrs Briscoe Snelson funeral, p5
Stump Cross island, p7

1951 06 11
The Cambridgeshire of the future will have a number of new roads, fire & police stations, sewerage schemes, old peoples' homes, a new children's home and a mental deficiency colony. Planners say villages recommended for enlargement include Milton, Fulbourn, Shelford, Barton and Coton where the population will increase from 400 to 1,840. Road improvements recommended include a bypass to the east of Girton relinking the road interrupted by the RAF station but Cambridge bypasses are not shown as surveys show there is no immediate need for them.

Courtesy commando, p4

1951 06 12
Cambridgeshire firemen have been issued with stronger-than-steel latest-type helmets. "They are made of laminated plastic and are practically bullet-proof", chief officer T. Knowles said. They will not dent when dropped and are proof against electric currents. They cost just over £3 each and replace the ordinary service-type steel helmet previously worn by firemen. # c.34.75

Fens formation, p5

1951 06 13
Queen Ediths Way planning, p6
New fire appliance, p10 # c.34.75

1951 06 14
Sedley Taylor Road, p6

1951 06 15
A new one-way traffic system around the Cambridge Guildhall comes into operation on Monday. The direction of traffic in Wheeler Street will be reversed to complete the circulatory flow around the Guildhall into an anti-clockwise direction and traffic around Market Hill in a clockwise flow. Buses will be unaffected by the new order but say instead of hordes of cyclists crossing over in their path all vehicles will turn in the direction the buses approach the guildhall. The scheme has resulted from the necessity to ease traffic around the Guildhall in view of the proposed Lion Yard car park development # c.49.62 # c.26.48

1951 06 15 ES
Wilburton Baptist Church reopens after renovation … recall 1908 centenary celebrations, 1929 opening of new schoolroom at rear and 1945 100th anniversary 51 06 15ES

1951 06 16
Residents of Abbey Ward, Cambridge, described as "a constant menace to health" the dust which comes from the Gas Works and enters their houses. Mr W. Barling produced a sugar bag half filled with dust which he said was collected in his house in one week. Another resident said she could not put her children in a pram in the garden because of the dust. A Gas Board official said a contributory factor may have been the burning of wood owing to the shortage of coal resulting in more dust and smoke getting into the atmosphere. The works had the reputation of being one of the cleanest in the country. As soon as the gas industry was nationalised endeavours would be made to reduce the problem # c.24.4

1951 06 20
Cambridge councillors heard that the cattle market has become one of the most important cattle centres in the country as a result of the great increase in the amount of business transacted since the war. Problems had arisen because of the serious congestion of traffic in Hills Road when large sales are held and the need for better facilities for traders and customers. It was not designed for holding large sales of agricultural machines nor for the provision of parking accommodation for upwards of 1,200 motor vehicles. # c.27.3
King cancels visit, p7
Impington pageant, p8

1951 06 21
During the last few days twelve thatchers, all members of the East Midlands Master Thatchers Association have been working on pavilions at the Rural Industries Bureau stand at the Royal Showground, Trumpington, to show what expert thatching looks like. One is thatched with long straw, one with Norfolk reed and the other with Devon reed.

1951 06 21
Strong protests were voiced at the District Trades Council when the proposed car park site on Parker's Piece came under discussion. Mr C. Hatton said: "We have seen parts of Christ's Pieces and the whole of Donkeys Common disappear and now there are proposals to encroach on Parker's Piece. We cannot too jealously guard such a priceless amenity". He would like to see all car waiting in the centre of Cambridge abolished and car parks instituted on the outskirts of the city

1951 06 21
A modern automatic telephone exchange will be brought into service at Willingham. It will enable subscribers to obtain calls on Cambridge and 18 other exchanges without the assistance of the operator. At the same time the post office proposes to introduce the 999 scheme for emergency calls from the Willingham exchange.

1951 06 21 c
Reg King, the cycle specialist, Cambridge. 400 new cycles in stock; ladies and gent's cycles, every frame size and type – roadster, tourist, safety, oil-path models and hubdymo lighting. Tricycles from £6.19.0. Pay-as-you-ride plan. No references, no enquiries, no delay. Just pay and ride away; any reliable payer accepted. Cycles from £2 down and 5s. weekly. Reg King wants your business – Advert.

1951 06 22
RAF remembrance, Newmarket Road, p7

1951 06 22 ES
Death Commander George Marquis Stitt. Had a distinguished career in the navy and was writing a book on aspects of the war. Had not lived in Stretham for some years but was a frequent visitor during his parents' lifetime and since their death had continued to visit the neighbourhood where his charming personality made him many friends. Attended Sports Association last year to present his cup and promised a new one for this event which arrived last Saturday. His wife stayed in Stretham for long periods during the war while her husband was on active service. A memorial service is to be held. 51 06 23(2)ES

White Horse Inn, Witcham – Landlady Mary Giddens celebrates 50th anniversary 51 06 22(2)ES

Robert Lupson retires from Ouse Catchment Board – dragline operator; 64 years' service recognised 51 06 22(3)ES # c.29

1951 06 23
In order to improve the standard of driving, plain-clothed 'courtesy" police officers are to patrol main roads in Huntingdonshire. High-powered motor cycles may replace the present light-weight machines. They would be ridden by efficient men over 30. If they patrolled the roads – particularly the Great North Road – the efficiency of driving would improve tremendously. If drivers could be told in a gentlemanly way that they are doing wrong it would be much better than bringing cases to the courts.

1951 06 23
Starting from scratch twelve months ago, and sponsored by Bedford members, the Round Table of Cambridge now boasts some 32 members and was formally presented with its charter at a dinner at the University Arms. Altogether almost 100 people were present including the City and County members of parliament, Mr Hamilton Kerr and Mr Gerald Howard. Mr A. Shaw of Northampton gave the health of the City of Cambridge. His was the longest, most witty, but almost unreportable speech of the evening. Toastmaster for the evening was Mr F.W. Elworthy.

Billy Thurbon trade, p5
King's cancelled visit, p9

1951 06 25
Plans for Royal Show traffic, p6

1951 06 27
Cambridgeshire education committee decided by a single vote that schoolchildren might once again be released for agricultural work this year. Mr A.R. Greenslade, a farmer, said agriculture had had the help of schoolchildren for centuries. They were already taken to do carpentry, metalwork and gardening. Mrs Rackham said they had been stopped from working in the Isle of Ely and Huntingdonshire. Dr R.F. Rattray thought it very desirable for children to help on the land. They should have experience of doing real work in the interest of the country & great educational advantage would be accrued. Others said there was no evidence that their services were required. "They will all apply to work in the fields and it is going to throw our schools into a state of upheaval", said Mr S.A. Martin.

Newmarket Road development photo, p7
Sawston industries fair, p8

1951 06 28
Referee Bill Ling, p3
Waterbeach jet crash, p7
Dormitory villages, p10

1951 06 29
Two railwaymen whose prompt action averted serious damage being caused to a goods train were commended for their action. Driver C.V. Bloy and Fireman L.R. Gardiner of Cambridge each received a cheque for two guineas. The incident took place at Elsenham when Driver Bloy noticed that one of the wagons of his train was on fire. He immediately stopped and isolated it from the rest of the train. They stopped another train and asked the driver to use his slacker pipe to damp the fire on the wagon. In view of their action more serious damage was averted, bearing in mind that a number of petrol wagons were included in the train. # c.26.2

1951 06 29
The new Civic mobile canteen was officially opened by Ald W.J. Briggs, chairman of the Cambridge Communal Feeding Committee. The brand new, beautifully equipped caravan will be a great asset to the city as a whole, and even more so to the people who use the Drummer Street bus station. It replaces the old stall which used to be there. The whole thing is in charge of the City Catering Officer, Mrs C. Howson. It is expected to be open from 8.30am to 10pm on week-days and from 2pm to 9pm on Sundays.

1951 06 29 ES
Thomas Loveday of Welney reaches 83, photo with skating cup won at Littleport in 1891 51 06 29ES

1951 06 30
A squadron commander at RAF Waterbeach was killed when his Meteor jet aircraft got into a roll at between 60 and 70 feet and dived into the ground. It was 2-300 yards from the end of the runway and completely disintegrated, having exploded after the crash. The coroner remarked the accident was the unfortunate result of one of the risks which airmen took in the course of their duty. # c.26.1

July 1951 CDN & ES

1951 07 02
The announcement of the closing down of Messrs George Stace Ltd's Petty Cury store marks the closing of yet one more old established firm that has filled a special niche in the local fashion trade for many years. The name had come to stand for a good, solid, middle class trade. It was not necessarily a smart one, but it met the needs of a definite section of the community. It catered for the matron, and for the essentially well-to-do family of both town and county. # c.27.1

1951 07 03
The finest "Royal" and the finest site – such is the general opinion about Britain's 1951 Festival of Agriculture which opened at Trumpington. Today's blazing sun was a pleasant contrast to the gales and torrential rains which marked Cambridge's last Royal in 1922. From early in the morning cars streamed towards the showground. As traffic pressure increased the effect made itself felt even on the outskirts of town where there were occasionally short hold-ups. But movement into the car parks flowed smoothly and to get from the C.D.N. offices in St Andrew's Street took only 15 minutes # c.02

1951 07 04
A partly-open parachute was found in the wreckage of a training plane that crashed in a field at Yelling, Hunts. It belonged to the pilot of one of two planes which collided in mid-air. The occupant of the other machine descended by parachute. Arthur Larkin, agricultural labourer of Staploe, Beds., said: "I heard a noise in the sky. I looked up and saw one plane diving to earth with a wing missing; the other one was coming in my direction but turned and dived". Parts of both machines were strewn over a fairly large area and the engine of one of them was buried in the ground. # c.26.1

1951 07 05
The Queen visited the Royal Show; her route took her through Grantchester where villagers welcomed the Royal car with a number of Union Jacks which hung from houses and hedgerows, and even the petrol pumps of a garage. Princess Margaret travelled as far as Baldock where she turned back because she had developed a bad headache. The town clerk's daughter, Rosalind Swift, who was to have presented Princess Margaret with a bouquet, handed it to the Queen who said she would see that it reached the princess. Obtaining one of the best views was a small patient from Addenbrooke's Hospital, Terence Harley who has unfortunately lost his hearing and the Queen's words to him were written down by his nurse. & 6th p7 # c.02

1951 07 06 ES
Parapet on one side of Bedford Arms bridge on the Dog-in-a-Doublet – Northey Road damaged 51 07 06(3)ES

Important Isle inns to be marked with plaques; include White Hart Ely, Red Lion Chatteris, Black Bull Whittlesey; others less significant include Cutter, Royal Standard 51 07 06ES

1951 07 07
The Royal Show at Trumpington came to an end with the total paid attendance of 131,333. The business done by stand holders has been most encouraging, one exhibitor said that on the first day he had taken orders to the value of £100,000. Even before the showground had closed work had begun on dismantling some of the stands. The steady flow of private cars from the car parks was interspersed with cattle lorries, horse boxes and commercial vehicles – a sign of the end of the year's work which goes into a Royal Show. # c.02

1951 07 09
Alderman Mrs C.D. Rackham opened the first instalment of the new Glebe school, Girton. When complete it will take 300 children from five to 11, as well as a group of "under-fives". "We aim to have a nursery class in all our new junior schools where mothers will be able to leave their younger children until they reach the age of five", she said; "we believe this facility an essential feature of our new schools". # c.36.5

1951 07 10
Camden honou Collins, p10

1951 07 11
The Cambridge Master Bakers and Confectioners Association will make a delivery charge of one farthing per half-quartern loaf to help offset increased costs. Purchase tax has been added to the cost of retail delivery vehicles; the price of petrol has gone up and there is shortly to be a further increase in wages. Despite these increases the baker has not be granted any increased profits and feel they are compelled to make the charge. No delivery charge is being made in respect of the small loaf, since it is felt no extra burden should be placed on old-age pensioner who only require a small loaf.

Oakington new cemetery, p4

1951 07 12
The staff of Messrs S.C. Marshall & Sons, the old established local printers, spent an enjoyable evening at the Lion Hotel to mark 25 years of printing under the present ownership. A presentation was made to Mr B.G.T. Cox for 37 years' loyal service. In a witty speech he recalled that in those days there was no electric light or power, the premises were lit by gas and the machines – such as they were – were driven by foot treadles and the posters were hand-rolled and printed on hand presses. Since 1928 fully automatic machinery and plant have been installed. # c.25

University Arms Hotel story, p4

1951 07 13
The Royal Show brought considerable activity at Marshall's airport when an average of a dozen or more charter planes landed daily. Most of them were Rapides. The longest flight was from Prestwick, some 600 miles distant. The aviation side was represented on the stand of Pest Control Ltd; one of their Hiller 360 helicopters, fitted for spraying, rested on top of their stand. It was flown to the ground and landed without difficulty on the small platform # c.26.1

1951 07 13
A petition has been sent to the King by the Vicar of Over about the hardship caused to owners of agricultural land at Over fen, held under requisition by the Cambridgeshire Agricultural Executive Committee which was not being properly cultivated. "My people have been deprived of their land for years on the grounds that they were not making the best use of the land for agriculture". They have been brought before Agricultural Land Tribunals and won their cases and yet have no redress. 51 07 13

1951 07 14

Provisional figures for the 1951 census have come as something of a surprise as far as Cambridge is concerned. For some time it has been hinted that the figures would be in the neighbourhood of 90,000 but the census reveals it is much lower – 81,463. So any hope that Cambridge might finally become a County Borough is emphatically dashed to the ground because only towns with 100,000 are considered. What a relief for the county!

Alderman Raynes freedom, p6

1951 07 17
Not a single person from Landwade (population 20) came to object to the proposed union of that parish with Fordham at the local inquiry. Apart from County Council officers only one person attended – Mr B.C. Gardiner, clerk to Fordham parish council – who said that his council were willing for Landwade to become part of their parish. Landwade parish council has not met for some time although the law prescribes that a parish meeting should be held at least twice a year.

1951 07 18
A public meeting to inaugurate a Local History Council for Cambridgeshire was held in the Cambridge Guildhall. "Very considerable" interest already existed in local history. One of the main aims could be to share knowledge and there was the possibility of having a printed journal for the exchange of news and views. The question of guide books would need attention together with a list of persons qualified to lecture on local history topics.

Sawston Festival of Britain, p10

1951 07 19
"The problem of old age will get the county down unless we learn ways of doing it economically as well as efficiently" said the speaker at Cambridgeshire Old People's Welfare Council. Her interest had started over half a century ago when she was taken to the old workhouse in Mill Road and had been absolutely appalled at the condition of the old ladies. Some of them looked after babies for twelve hours a day with no reward except extra cups of tea. "They paid for the sin of being old in those days", she said.

1951 07 19
Accident Prevention Council warn of danger of domestic appliaces – 51 07 19

1951 07 20
"Utmost vigilance" on the part of the Cambridge Trades Council was needed to make sure the city council does not "pull a fast one" in its proposals to reserve a slice of Parker's Piece for car parking facilities. "I think the City council have put this back for six months and will bring it up again when they think it has all died down", said the chairman. "We don't want to lose even a piece of one of the city's cherished beauty spots". There was no need for a parking site in Regent Terrace as the accommodation of other parking places was not being overtaxed # c.49.62 # c.32.3

1951 07 20 ES
Black Horse Drove festival week 51 07 20(2)ES

Remedial work following floods at Littleport 51 07 20(3)ES

Haddenham church fete 51 07 20(3)ES

Stretham Flower Show & Sports – detailed results; large crowds, are few families who do not take part in the event 51 07 20(4)ES

Prickwillow Kingdon Avenue sewage plant complaint 51 07 20ES

1951 07 21
Methodism in Cambridge has suffered a severe loss with the passing of Mr Albert Endersby in his 73rd year. He had been associated with the Sturton Street Methodist Church since he was first taken there as a baby in arms and he never lost his enthusiasm for the fervour of Methodist singing and the thrill of Christian witness. He had been a steward for 50 years and was chairman of the Young Men's Club which met at the Tabernacle, Newmarket Road, before that church was closed. He was a mattress maker at Messrs Eaden Lilley. # c.83.05

1951 07 21
Entries for the men's and boys' swim through Cambridge broke all records. 104 swimmers came under starter's order, 98 of whom completed the course. The Mayor saw them off at the start from "The Mill" and then travelled to the finishing post at Jesus Green where he presented prizes. Punts accompanied the swimmers in case of distress. The Adie cup went to Alec Cook who completed the course in 18 minutes, 50 seconds. The Watling Cup (for boys under 16) was won by John Watling, son of the donor but he was actually beaten by his younger brother David, who won the Webb Cup for boys under 14. The youngest competitor was 10 years old Graham Norden who finished in 41 minutes 55 seconds.

1951 07 23
Members of the Cambridgeshire Women's Voluntary Service deserve a rest, with regular work teams doing jobs in hospitals, serving and driving meals on wheels, collecting salvage, helping in Infant Welfare Centres and distributing welfare foods in the villages. A lot of welfare work for the Forces is done, ranging from canteens and clubs to sending magazines to Korea. Nor should the steady work to help the old people and the pensioners in the county be forgotten. On all sides one hears the same remark: "I am glad to be of use"

1951 07 23
Proposals for the future of the Cambridge Technical College and School of Arts were discussed. One involved provision of 34,000 square feet on a new site at Long Road for the School of Art, including printing and commerce department; the other was for extra accommodation to be provided at Collier Road together with alterations to the existing premises. This site would relieve the needs of the building, engineering and science sections. It was central and near to the railway and bus stations. The disadvantage was that it was small and would be expensive to expand. The Collier Road scheme was approved. # c.36.7

Stonebridge scrambler, p7

1951 07 24
Street light conversion, p6

1951 07 25
Northampton Street improvements, p7

1951 07 26
Purchase of the Cottenham police house in the High Street and adjoining land for £1,350 was recommended; if a new house is erected in Telegraph Street the existing police house may be sold. Messrs H. Edwards tendered £5,650, for the erection of two houses at Newmarket Road, Wood Ditton in place of another which had been previously approved. Tributes were paid for the courtesy and kindness of all ranks of the police towards the travelling public attending the Royal Show.

Queen Ediths Way husing, p6

1951 07 27
Two hundred London taxis took the road this morning under orders for the first time, over a short wave radio network system pioneered by Pye Radio technicians from Cambridge. In London, at a big party attended by top stage and screen stars to celebrate the inauguration of this new radiocab service was Mr Harry Woolgar, a director of Pye Telecommunications Ltd. He said: "This is the largest radio-telephone system taxi network in Europe and we are planning a larger system capable of directing 1,000 taxis". Pye got the job because it pioneered fitting radio telephones to police cars and ambulances and was the first to use short-wave radio for agricultural use. # c.27.1 : Pye # c.26.47 # c.27.8

Haddenham tenants, Newtown, p10

1951 07 28
Cambridge is a town that likes to be visited; "put out your flags" urges the mayor to set the town in a blaze of colour for the Festival. In the past many of our college buildings have been given a new beauty by the use of flood lighting and this is being introduced again. Great St Mary's church, the Senate House and Old Schools, King's College chapel, Clare College Bridge and the University Library will be lit. Most of the work is being carried out by a local firm of electricians, A.W. Matthews of Mill Road.

1951 07 30
Cambridge Festival began and as dusk fell to the strains of the madrigals sung under King's College bridge further beauty was added to the well-loved entertainment given by this programme of "Singing by the River". The West end of the College chapel and the Gibbs Building, their outlines softened in the dimness of approaching night, suddenly flowered under floodlight, their stones warm in the glow but retaining still all its classical dignity of form. The reflections of the chapel rippled in the still river, distracting attention from the madrigals sweetly sung by the Cambridge University Madrigal Society. A BBC recording van on the bank recorded the sounds of this splendid evening in a permanent form. # c.69

British Legion rally, p10

August 1951 CDN & ES

1951 08 01
Members of the armed forces, the church and hundreds of relatives, totalling more than 1,000, gathered at the Cambridge city cemetery to do honour to the men and women buried in the special Air Forces plot. A Stone of Remembrance was unveiled by Marshall of the R.A.F., Lord Tedder and blessed by the Bishop of Ely. Training aircraft flew over the cemetery in formation.

1951 08 01
If objections by local villagers, farmers and the Ministry of Agriculture to the establishment of a £11 million cement works at Meldreth are over-ruled the village is destined to become one of the most important cement-producing centres in the country. The proposed Portland Cement work will occupy a site of some 400 acres. "This site is ideal; there is adequate labour, water, materials and electricity available", they say. "Everyone is aware of the rough nature of Meldreth, an area noted for its flatness and it will cause very little local interference". Asked about the noise, smell and dust possibility they said it would be insufficient to damage fruit trees in the area.

1951 08 02
Royal visit Folk Museum, p6 # c.02 # c.03
Meldreth cement inquiry, p8

1951 08 03
College plate display, p5

1951 08 03 ES
Barway's first fete for many years in aid of Village Hall 51 08 03(2)ES

Wardy Hill fete 51 08 03(2)ES

Stretham
Parish Council – add WWII names to cemetery memorial proposals, install water Recreation Ground 51 08 03(3)ES

Swaffham Fen Methodist Chapel, Upware holds rally 51 08 03ES

1951 08 04
Sir – the Cambridge Backs are unfortunately no more – at all events in their full glory of the giant and venerable trees. If King's College chapel should disappear from the scene untold photographic representations of it would remain, but of these giant monuments of the past there is little. To fill the void I have reproduced in picture postcard form a photograph of my own. There may be many persons who have walked under the shadow of these great trees of the Backs and I could arrange for it to be on sale. – Sir Henry McAnally # c.18

1951 08 04
If a Ministry of Agriculture proposal to acquire compulsorily 308 acres of land at Arrington goes ahead, 14 smallholders will lose their homes. The Minister alleges that the soil, heavy boulder clay required heavy equipment land & cannot be effectively farmed as it is. But the men of Arrington disagree and put their case to a Land Tribunal. Between the two wars the land fell into a derelict condition; it was bought by a speculator at £3 per acre and sold piecemeal to purchasers, some of whom came from London. Dwellings – little more than shacks – had been erected

1951 08 04
A visitor to Cambridge by night may remark upon a transformation that savours of the Arabian Nights. From St Catherine's to the Pitt Club the City and University buildings erupt in a galaxy of brightness by the artistry of the Festival floodlights. The white facades of the Senate House and Old Schools glow like dazzling phosphorus in the night. This luminosity is well contrasted by the darker sections which are discreetly lit by green lamps.

1951 08 07
City sports, p6

1951 08 08
With accommodation so hard to find in Cambridge the wise ones who present themselves on the doorstep within half an hour of the advert appearing stand the best chance of being lucky. An American army officer sent a corporal to inspect one flat, following it up with a visit himself. He liked it and was all for clinching the deal right away until the landlady pointed out that his wife might consider it too small. He returned to his station and put a telephone call through to her in New York. However the call – at £1 a minute – was largely wasted as she turned it down.

1951 08 09
A lorry driver was killed and an aeroplane crew of two seriously injured when a plane crashed at Ely. The Harvard two-seater from RAF Feltwell, first struck the top of a forge owned by Messrs Brand Brothers, then careered across the street, ending up with the tail and part of the body in St Mary's street, and the engine and forepart of the aircraft in a showroom belonging to Messrs T.W. Nice, garage proprietors. During its journey it hit a lorry owned by Darby's Sand and Gravel; its cab was hurtled into the showroom and the driver buried under the engine. One wing of the plane came off and overturned a car, the other ploughed into the middle of the road. Inquest, 11th p6 - 51 08 09, 51 08 11 # c.26.1

Bonny babies, p7

1951 08 15
Coventry cathedral, p1
Landbeach greyhouse track, p6

1951 08 16
Owners of six of the smallholdings at Arrington recommended for compulsory purchase by the Ministry of Agriculture have won their appeals. Some 80 acres were in dispute. About 275 acres in all will be acquired compulsorily; owners of the rest of this land did not object to the recommendation. The land will be handed to the Land Commission; the owner's homes and gardens are not included.

1951 08 16
A magnificent new building nearing its completion on the Fenner's site, Cambridge, is to be home of an organisation that is the only one of its kind in the world. The Department of Human Ecology was established some 18 months ago. Also to be housed there is the University Health Service, which arranges the free X-raying of all undergraduates under the University T.B. scheme. A spacious gymnasium will be used equally for the rehabilitation of patients and athletes of the University.

F.T. Unwin, milkman, p8

1951 08 17 c
An uncomfortable half-hour vigil by a policewoman, who remained cooped up in a hen house while she kept observation on a number of men on the Soham Recreation Ground, had a sequel at Newmarket court. Three men were due to appear, but not one of them turned up to answer a summons that they "unlawfully did play by way of gaming with cards a game of chance called 'brag'". She said there was a pile of coppers on the ground but they had been picked up before she could reach them. Defendants were fined 10s each and the pack of cards confiscated.

1951 08 17
For the past four years Ganger S.J. Ginn and his Warren Hill, Newmarket railway gang have won first prize for the best length of railway line in the Cambridge region. Mr Ginn, who started as a plate-layer 24 years ago, praised the first-class quality of the men with whom he works. Neatness, level nature of the track and straightness or evenness of the rails were amongst the points for which the judges were looking. The almost total absence of weeds and the tidiness of huts also impressed them.

1951 08 17 ES
Ely plane crash, St Mary's Street; inquest 51 08 17ES

1951 08 18
For the fourth year in succession Longstanton railway station has won the British Railways special prize for the best station garden. Months of preparation were carried out by two gardeners – the Station Master (Mr A.E. Clarke) and his porter, old-age-pensioner Mr A. White. "We had to keep it up to scratch all the time because we never knew when to expect the judges", he said. Altogether 255 stations entered for the competition.

1951 08 18
The Leys School's survey of Horningsea gives a complete picture of the village. Nearly every house has a radio set, there are 18 telephones and six television sets. Dances are not heavily attended; communication with Cambridge is not good and people do not risk the bus service to go to the pictures. As for occupation the report shows that residents are mainly concerned with the production of food. They are keen newspaper readers, especially on Sundays, but only 16 take the Cambridge Daily News

1951 08 21
Eight out of every ten seats available for the Cambridge Festival of Britain events were taken on average throughout the three weeks – but the effect of bad weather on the attendance at some of the events resulted in an overall financial loss. The military band concert by the Royal Horse Guards had to be transferred from the great lawn at King's College to the Guildhall where only 800 of whose wishing to attend could be accommodated. However the artistic success of the Festival is beyond doubt.

H.M.S. Kenya, p9

1951 08 22
Some of the world's leading television scientists are in Cambridge for a Convention at the Cavendish Laboratory. So far as can be seen, television receivers will never again be so cheap as they are today. New valves, new circuits and new T.V. cameras form part of the discussions; two papers have been written by members of local firms. Messrs J.E. Cope, L.W. Germany & R. Theile of Pye-Cathodeon will speak on the Image Iconoscope Type Television Camera Tube

1951 08 23
Over 30 young Austrian and Germans smiled through tears as the train carried them away from Cambridge. They had been living in English homes as the guests of the Cambridge Co-operative Society, the Woodcraft Folk Group and many open-handed hosts who responded to a letter published in the C.D.N. The Co-op Society entertained over a hundred children at the Co-operative Hall. Recordings of the Tyrolean songs and singing dances were made and a German-born waitress looked after them.

Lady Bragg divorce commission, p6
Anglers, Meldreth cement, p10

1951 08 24
Mr James Briggs, aged 87 years, who has been working for 75 years on the late Lord Ellesmere's Stetchworth Park Estate, has been awarded the Royal Agricultural Society's medal for long service. He is also much respected as a local preacher, and uses his bicycle to get about. Meeting this grand old man, one would think him not a day older than 65 years.

Traffic count, p6

1951 08 25
Two Cambridge ex-undergraduates have hit on a novel line in Long Vacation jobs. They have formed themselves into "University Tours" and take parties of visitors sight-seeing around Cambridge three times a day. An average of about 100 people a week pay 2s. (10p) a time to be shown around. About half are British, 20 per cent American and ten per cent Australian; the rest are from other countries abroad, mainly European # c.46.45

Budgerigar show, p9
'Neighbourhood Map', p9

1951 08 28
Addenbrooke's Hospital synchroton – one of only two in use in the country for the treatment of cancer – was visited by members of the Cambridge Amateur Radio Club. Mr D. Allen-Williams conducted the party round the synchroton houses and explained the various pieces of apparatus which combine to generate nearly 30,000,000 volts and produce rays of great penetrating power

1951 08 29
An American F.84 Thunderjet hurtled out of control between the houses on either side of St John's Street, Beck Row and finally crashed outside the police station, killing the pilot. Several houses were damaged by pieces of wreckage but there were no civilian casualties. The aircraft, carrying out a routine flight over Mildenhall airfield, struck the runway with a wing when doing a banking turn. The pilot attempted to regain control but the aircraft hit the wing of a bomber standing near, ripping it off.

It flew down the road with bits of wreckage falling off it. Then the tailplane fell off and it crashed. – 51 08 29 # c.26.1

1951 08 30
Witnesses said that a Scimitar Wing Handley Page 88 experimental jet plane "bucked like a horse" and exploded in mid-air before crashing at Stansted aerodrome. The high-speed prototype research plane was only taken off the secret list this summer. A main feature is the wing (swept back and then swept forward), the design of which, with the speed and performance of the plane is still secret. A farmer said: "The right wing appeared to come off and then the plane turned and the left wing came off and the plane broke up". 51 08 30 # c.26.1

1951 08 30
Sir – the use of a neon sign as an advertisement in a shop window in Magdalene Street, Cambridge has been forbidden, on the grounds that it would detract from the appearance of the building and be an incongruous feature in a pleasant riverside area. The building is itself rather a poor affair with plastered walls. If Cambridge depends on such as an attraction to visitors it is surely in a poor way. The paint on the railings of the bridge has faded to a poor green overlooking the discoloured waters in the river itself. Odd cigarette signs in red and yellow and in blue and white overhang the pavement. All might be regarded as incongruous and will presumably receive attention from the Ministry which objects to small neon signs – W.W. Davidson.

1951 08 31
Some fruit growers have been getting less for their plums than the fruit was fetching 50 years ago. The processing varieties of Czars and purple Pershores have at times fetched as little as three-farthings a lb, or £8 a ton. In 1901 prices were £10. Shortage of sugar is a cause of the low price prices which will not pay for the cost of picking. Victorias are quite satisfactory at about £35 a ton. Greengages are a very light crop and fetch £60 a ton.

Streetley End fire, p7

1951 08 31 ES
Stretham
Holidays – many visitors, a number visiting relatives, those from towns … each year several of those who were evacuated have visited their war-time home
Produce Association meeting 51 08 31(2)ES

Pilot killed when Thunderjet crashes at Mildenhall – 51 08 31ES # c.26.1

September 1951 CDN & ES

1951 09 01
"I'm going to have another half dozen birthdays at least". This is the declared intention of Mr Joseph Kester, Chesterton Hospital's Grand Old Man, who today celebrated his 104th birthday. At a party he cut his own birthday cake, drank a glass of port and said: "It tastes good, but it's not as good as beer". Sitting bolt upright in his chair and dressed in a navy suit and slippers, Joe gave the impression of a film star holding court. He was surrounded by friends and submitted happily to being photographed. Three bottles of port were included in his presents and his son, bringing in a medicine bottle with brandy in it, was told with a chuckle: "Slip it into my pocket boy".

1951 09 04
For the first time college servants of Cambridge University have taken a Transport and General Workers' Union dispute to arbitration by the Industrial Disputes Tribunal and a period has been fixed for the servants & Gonville and Caius College to negotiate and come to terms. The servants want minimum wages of £5 8s.for men & £4 1s. for women, payment for split duties and overtime, and protection of holidays and working weeks. A Union official said: "We must not antagonise the colleges who thought the servants were kidding. We can make friends with them or we can make enemies of them for evermore" # c.32.5

1951 09 05
In common with other towns situated near American servicemen's camps, Cambridge is rapidly becoming one of the leading Black Market centres for disposal of duty-free tobacco purchased at U.S. canteens by G.I.s and subsequently sold at a handsome profit in small back-street shops and hotels, with no questions asked. This trafficking is difficult to stop and is now a well-established through unofficial "Big Business". Despite checks by security officers at Lakenheath and Mildenhall aerodromes car loads of cigarettes by the thousand are coming into the City.

1951 09 07
Tenants of 34 huts on the Donkey Common "Estate", Cambridge, are feeling anxious about their security of tenure. They regard a letter from the City Treasurer as a veiled threat for them to leave their make-shift homes. Residents say they have no bath facilities, water closets adjoin each other and are therefore not fully private, there are no doors on the bedrooms and that they suffer from dampness, mice, ants and 'many other forms of insect life'. They add: "We intend to remain here until equal or better accommodation is provided by the City Housing Committee" # c.23

Steam ploughing

1951 09 07 ES
Littleport-Shippea Hill between Mill End Road and Bulldog Bridge has 'gone to pieces' 51 09 07(2)ES

Committee to inspect disused roadside village ponds; had decided to fill in a pond at Witcham but only fence one at Coveney 51 09 07(4)ES

Adelaide fete 51 09 07ES

1951 09 08
It is hoped that the new head post office at Newmarket will be open in good time for Christmas. It will be one of the most up-to-date in the country. The immense size of the new building is the main impression from inside. The new Post Office covers three floors – basement – where there is a large cycle store, ground and first floor. The new telegraph room will bring all the latest equipment into use. It will undoubtedly be a very fine addition to the architecture of Newmarket

1951 09 08
When the pioneer of the moving film first sprang his new invention upon the world, Joseph Kester was a comparatively young man of 42. But Joe did not take any particular notice of those new-fangled moving pictures them, and even as they were developed through the next 62 years he never visited a cinema. As Joe reached his 104th birthday he saw his first film through the enterprise of the Central Cinema who organised a show especially for him at the Chesterton Hospital. He seemed quite enthusiastic about it, although because of his failing eyesight he could not quite see everything on the screen. The first thing he wanted to know after seeing the film was whether he had missed his tea.

1951 09 09 c
The name of Roy Fox will conjure up many nostalgic memories for the generation of dancers who had their hey-day in the years before the war. It was way back in 1930 when he first left America for England and now he has returned to give a new generation the pleasure of dancing to his distinctly individual style of playing. At the Rex ballroom, Cambridge, there was a packed house to hear the melodies of his Whispering Rhythm. Of the 13 members of the orchestra five are violinists – unusual for a popular dance outfit these days – and has a more pleasing effect on the ear that the rather 'brassy' arrangements which one normally hears with modern dance bands. # c.69.2

1951 09 10
Valuable equipment worth £3,000 has been lost or stolen from Bourn Airfield, now derelict except for the watchman employed by the Air Ministry contractors at present working on the site, and a few homeless families squatting in disused huts. The equipment for aerodrome petrol installations was housed in two Nissen huts. But the huts had no doors on them. "We felt that with the watchman being on the site, doors were unnecessary", said the contractors. The equipment must have been removed by lorry and might have been sold for scrap.

1951 09 11
Mr Joseph Henry Priest of Waterbeach, who died suddenly aged 73, was well-known in sporting circles. Fifty years ago he was an amateur champion cyclist and for over 40 years he has been closely identified with the Cam Sailing Club. Setting up for himself as a stationer and printseller in Bridge Street, Cambridge, he continued until the First World War when he opened up the premises as a ladies' outfitter in conjunction with Mr C.N. Mitcham. Later he took the corner premises now occupied by Messrs Peak in Fitzroy Street and carried on as 'The Quality Shop' and subsequently joined the firm of C.N. Mitcham's of Chesterton. In the heyday of amateur theatricals he was a member of the Bijou Amateurs. – 51 09 11 # c.65.5

1951 09 12
Jam jars, p5

1951 09 13
Eighty-two acres of land bordering Thornton Road, at present comprising part of the parish of Impington, may soon become annexed to Girton. During the war by a "gentleman's agreement" the land had been administered by Girton Parish Council in connection with Civil Defence administration and organisation. Local residents had frequently attended Girton Parish Council meetings but had been banned from voting. The transfer of the land would change that. Impington Parish Council has no objections.

Sherlock Holmes at St Catharine's. p8

1951 09 14
Cambridgeshire Education Committee has decided to allow schoolchildren to help in the corn harvest and the forthcoming potato harvest "as a last resort and where acute local need justifies its use". They are prepared to grant up to 10 half-days to children of 14 years of age and over. It seems likely "acute local need" will arise for the position of Cambridgeshire's harvest is now becoming serious. Most of the spring-grown barley and wheat is not yet fit for harvesting due to the six week's late drilling and the cold, wet weather of August. One disturbing feature is the increasing signs of blight in the potato crop.

1959 09 14 ES
Stretham
Tennis Club – number of young people playing tennis on Rec, a net having been kindly placed at their disposal. Cutting and marking of court by players. Was Tennis Club before war and hope to revive Stretham Evening Institute to be formed with old-time dancing, dress making and smocking classes Death Arthur Reginald Coxen, Read Street, 82; came from London 11 years ago as wife had family associations. Had been skilled scabbard-maker 51 09 14(2)ES

History of Soham being destroyed by Parish Council changing names of streets from Paddock Street to Brook Dam Lane 51 09 14ES

1951 09 15
There was general approval of a proposal to unite the parishes of Longstanton All Saints' and Longstanton St Michael at a public inquiry and the meeting also brought forth a suggestion that the name of the village should be changed. It was suggested the combined parishes should be called "Stanton Green". There was in effect only one village and few people knew where the boundary between the parishes was located. There was one school, one post office, one police station, one village institute and one recreation ground. All these were in the parish of All Saints' whose council administered the same public service for the benefit of both parishes. If the civil parishes were united they would still be distinct ecclesiastically

Cartoon, p8

1951 09 17
There must be a great many single business and professional women living in "digs" in Cambridge who just long for a small self-contained flat or flatlet of their own. One organisation anxious to do something is the National Federation of Business Professional Women's Clubs, which has a Building Society of its own, the Probus Women's Housing Society. The Cambridge B.P. club is now considering whether to buy houses. If they do go ahead it will look out for a house suitable for conversion into flats. It is good to see this club, which has a strong social sense, trying to do something really practical for its members.

1951 09 17
The pilot of a Meteor jet fighter was killed before 3,000 to 4,000 horrified spectators following a mid-air collision with another Meteor at the Battle of Britain "open day" display at R.A.F. Station, Waterbeach. His mother was among those who saw the accident. One Meteor crashed within 200 yards of the crowd, burst into flames and exploded. The other fell on the edge of the airfield near the Cambridge-Ely road. It too burnt and exploded. The display was abandoned and the station commander said over the loudspeaker: "In view of the tragedy you have just witnessed there will be no more flying to-day. You are asked to go home as quickly as possible". c.26.1

Impington grocer's failure, p6
Police car, p7

1951 09 18
The Minister of Local Government and Planning has confirmed the principle that there shall be a green wedge between Cherry Hinton and the main mass of Cambridge development. He has revoked planning permission previously granted for housing between Cherryhinton Road and Queen Edith's Way and says this area should be reserved for some form of open development to ensure that Cherry Hinton is not engulfed in Cambridge. – 51 09 18

1951 09 18
The proprietor of a Newmarket Hotel was sentenced for permitting the premises to be used as a brothel. Police had frequently seen girls entering the hotel with Americans, on average between 10 and 20 a night. It was said they stayed there on the understanding they occupied separate rooms. The Defence lawyer said: "Every hotel keeper in this part of the world is having an extremely anxious and worrying time. Apparently the generosity of these American Servicemen to young women in the areas where they are stationed is a temptation" – 51 09 18

1951 09 19
Mitcham's fashion show, p5

1951 09 20
Advertising hoardings ban, p5

1951 09 21
Alex Wood memorial, p7

1951 09 22

Plain clothes motorists' patrols tried on the roads in Huntingdonshire are considered by the men themselves to be a waste of time. The patrols will be continued but for the most part they will be in uniform in the future. Thousands of people saw uniformed police in cars and adjusted their driving accordingly but only a few saw the plain-clothes patrols who were looking for gross driving violations. Another disadvantage of plain-clothes patrols was that the vehicles could not have wirelesses which would give them away, so they could not be got in touch with.

1951 09 22
The retirement of Mr A.V. Williams after nearly 25 years service with Messrs G.P. Hawkins means a loss of a familiar figure at the Dorothy Café. He has waited upon many celebrities, including film and radio stars Freddie Grisewood, Wilfred Pickles, Jessie Matthews, Richard Murdoch and Kenneth Horne and Don Bradman's Australian Cricket Team in 1938. A pre-war recollection is of Sir Oswald Mosley and William Joyce (remembered later as "Lord Haw Haw" on the German radio). On one occasion Joyce deputised as a Fascist meeting for Mosley, whom the Proctors had advised not to come to Cambridge, and the basement at the Dorothy was filled with police – just in case! – 51 09 22 # c.27.47

1951 09 24
Mr & Mrs Dennis Collins of Cambridge, who are "Uncle Dennis" and "Auntie Jean" to thousands of holiday making children have just returned from their second season at Hunstanton where they have the job of keeping the children happy so that mother and father can go off on their own. During the twelve-week season they have given their show of magic, marionettes and all the entertainments the kiddies like to 15,000 children. They are also a temporary mother and father and Jean seldom goes out shopping without a trail of children behind her.

Thriplow Farms horkey, p4

1951 09 25
Hopes of a lasting and growing fellowship of British Ex-Japanese war prisoners long after their claims for ill-treatment from the Japs have been settled were voiced at the Yatsume Club's first reunion at Cambridge. There was prolonged cheering for General Percival, the man whose ceaseless energy and drive has been largely instrumental in getting recognition in cash. He told them they could expect to receive compensation for prison hardship – about 4½d a day. Nothing could be more appropriate that that his announcement should be made in Cambridge, the county town of a regiment whose hardships in the Far East were cruel and prolonged. # c.45.7

1951 09 27
The cause of the aeroplane crash in St Mary's Street, Ely, in August when a lorry driver was killed instantly and a pilot instructor received injuries which proved fatal, will always remain a mystery. At the resumed inquest the surviving member of the Harvard training plane's crew of two could remember nothing from the time when he was asked if he would like to try some new aerobatics to regaining consciousness in the R.A.F. hospital several hours later. A verdict of misadventure was returned. 51 09 27 & a # c.26.1

1951 09 27
Woodbury Hall, Gamlingay, formerly "one of the showpieces of the district" was requisitioned for troops at the outbreak of war. "The troops did their best to demolish the place and ruin it, and before they had finished with it, it caught fire", councillors were told. The owner, Capt. Astell had applied to the Ministry of Works for £14,000 to put it in some sort of order so that he could live in it again, but they were going to allow only £4,000. It was absolutely disgusting than an officer and gentleman who did what he could for his country could not get his house back in order.

1951 09 28 ES
Ely plane crash inquest – details 51 09 28 & (2)(3)(4)ES

1951 09 29
Jobs on offer, p10

October 1951 CDN & ES

1951 10 01
Some 80 Post Office engineers in the Cambridge Telephone area – stretching from North London to the Wash - began work today on converting 1,700 coin boxes on telephones to take 3d instead of 2d for local calls. The increased charge came into operation today when the additional charge for trunk or toll calls was also increased. Some 300 boxes are being converted in Cambridge and work will be completed in a the next few days # c.27.75

1951 10 02
Members of a new company of the Boys' Brigade were seen in their first church parade and march-past in the Newmarket Road area of Cambridge on Sunday. The company, that of Ditton Fields Free Church, is at the beginning of its career; it is hoped that by October there will be a sufficient number of recruits to justify the company being fully enrolled in the Brigade. It was augmented by the 5th Cambridge Company which has been established more than 50 years. Mr H.A. Twinn told them: "You must have discipline if you are to do anything at all". Some boys' organisations had been compared with Hitler's youth movement but their members were trained in a helpful and Christian way of life, he said # c.37.9

1951 10 03
Phone box conversion, p7

1951 10 05
Cambridge Education committee made a strong attack on the planning ministry for flouting their wish to build a new secondary school at Wort's Causeway. The government had given permission to the governors of St Thomas' Hospital to develop land between Queen Edith's Way and Wort's Causeway as a housing estate. They hoped they would not put a school on the Ventress Farm site which was "a bad site and a bad position" & urged that action be taken to "rectify this bureaucratic injustice"

1951 10 05
The manager of the Kinema, Mill Road, Cambridge was convicted for his part in conspiracies involving nine tons of rationed foodstuffs without the surrender of necessary permits and coupons in contravention of the Defence Regulations 1939. It involved more than 1½ tons of margarine worth about £190; six tons of sugar worth £360 and 1½ tons of butter valued at £300. He was sent to prison for six months. – 51 10 05

1951 10 06
Trinity College has had the heraldic shields over the Great Gate repainted and the statue of King Henry VIII has at last been furnished with a proper sceptre. This has taken the place of the common or garden chair leg that has for years been fixed in the right hand of the effigy. When a similar redecoration was carried out between the two world wars the chair leg was regilded and solemnly replaced. Now a wrong has been righted and King Henry is no longer the custodian of the remains of a piece of kitchen furniture!

1951 10 08
Many in need of houses in the Chesterton Rural District are unable to afford the rent of new accommodation, despite the fact that the amount asked is less than the true economic rent. When new housing is being planned it should be related to the needs of the community and include suitable accommodation for all groups, particularly the aged, for whom small bungalows are often advisable. The true economic rent of an average post-war three-bedroomed house is £1.1s.11d (£1.10) plus 5s.6d (28p) rates. The rent usually charged is £1. Post-war dwellings completed include 50 pre-fab bungalows and 219 hut conversions. But there are still 1,705 applications on the housing list.

1951 10 09
Two hours before the Prime Minister, Clement Atlee, was due to address a meeting in the Cambridge Guildhall a queue which ultimately wound round the whole of the building had begun to form. By the time the meeting opened about 1,250 people were crowded inside. Some 1,500 more packed into the Corn Exchange to hear a relay of his speech. Others stood in the streets listening to a further broadcast of it. A large crowd gave cheers mingled with a few boos as he drove away at the end with Mrs Attlee at the wheel and a Special Branch detective in the back.

Motor cycle racing, p9

1951 10 10 c
What had been suspected to be the shaft left by an unexploded bomb in the quarries of the Norman Cement Works has now turned out to be nothing more dangerous than an ancient well. The shaft was discovered by Mr H. Covill when the 140-ton excavator he was driving cut across it. The quarry foreman, Mr W. Chandler ordered work to cease: "I didn't want to take any chances with all that expensive machinery", he said. Portsmouth Bomb Disposal squad located the end of the shaft some 50 feet below the surface of the ground. At the bottom were a few fragments of ancient pottery.

1951 10 10
Bottisham Small-Bore Rifle Club held its outdoor shoot on the new outdoor range at Swaffham Bulbeck. A great deal of work was entailed in the preparation of the site and gratitude was expressed to Mr Stevens for the use of his land for the range, and to the police and military authorities for their help and prompt issuing of the necessary permits. The warden of Bottisham Village College has given every encouragement to the patriotic recreation of small-bore rifle shooting.

Madingley Hall, p7

1951 10 11
The "desperate need" for more caravans within easy reach of Cambridge is featured in the annual report of Chesterton Medical Officer of Health. "Although there still remains a good deal of prejudice to this form of dwelling, it is often preferable to other forms of temporary accommodation. Local authorities should consider the provision of sites themselves, possibly on surplus housing sites, in order to assist this now considerable section of the population who are endeavouring to help themselves. The increasing control exercised by the Planning Authority renders it difficult to secure acceptable sites and a more liberal approach would be welcomed, pending the solution to the housing problem", he says.

1951 10 12 ES
Ely Castlehyde house shaken by the Gasworks whose plant vibrated his property 51 10 12ES

1951 10 13
St Ives council heard complaints of "lavish" expenditure by Huntingdonshire County Council. Today the average rate was higher than any other county in England, except one. Young men would leave the county and retired people who once settled in Hunts because of its low rates would no longer come there. During the current year county council salaries have increased by over £30,000 and the wages bill is now £100 more each working day than it was a year ago. For some years Huntingdonshire has been spending more lavishly on administration than other counties and unless drastic economies are put in place the county will find itself in a very serious position.

Trustee Savings Bank branch, p9 # c.32.8

1951 10 15

A memorial service for the late Mr W.H. Balgarnie, former Classics Master at the Leys School, Cambridge, was held in the school chapel. He once had for a pupil the author James Hilton, who years afterwards drew upon his memories of Mr Balgarnie for his famous character "Mr Chips". He joined the staff in 1900 as a Senior Classics Master, a position he held until he retired – for the first time – in July 1929. Almost immediately he was recalled to act as Deputy Headmaster for a year. Again he retired but when in 1940 the School moved to Pitlochry he came out of retirement and for five years was form master of the Classical Sixth. In July 1950 he left Cambridge for a summer holiday and never returned. He died on July 15th. # c.36.5

Gillian Edwards novel, p5

1951 10 16
Mill Road TSB, p7

1951 10 17
Hold-up in museum, p7

1951 10 19 ES
Stretham Village Produce Association successful autumn show 51 10 19 & (2)ES

1951 10 20
Librarians salaries, p6
Vandalism on housing estate, p6
Retirement engine driver, p7

1951 10 22
British Legion, p10

1951 10 23
Building veterans, p7
Braden at New Theatre, p9
Freshmen recruited, p10

1951 10 25
Poll in county, p7
River Mel, p7

1951 10 26
Conservatives retained Cambridge City and Cambridgeshire with increased majorities. In the city Mr Hamilton Kerr had a majority of 5,677 over the Labour candidate, Mr A.L. Symonds while Miss F.L. Joseph for the Liberals polled 3,257 votes and lost her deposit. Mr Kerr later invited his opponents to lunch with him at the House of Commons. In Cambridgeshire Gerald Howard beat H.D. Walston (Labour) by 3,537. Mr Walston said "I am pleased to have got the largest Labour vote Cambridgeshire has ever had". Elsewhere Major E.A. Legge-Bourke (Isle of Ely), D.L.M Renton (Hunts) and R.A. Butler (Saffron Walden), retained their seats

1951 10 26 c
Last night saw the first Youth Conservative function under a post-war Conservative Government when Cambridgeshire Young Conservatives and their friends met at the Dorothy Ballroom for a long-awaited "Victory Ball". Visitors came from as far as March and Peterborough to join in the fun. Dancing was to Reg Cottage and one novelty dance was the political elimination; the first party out was Labour and the winners were "Conservative". Miss E. Plummer (Teversham) won a biscuit barrel with her lucky admission ticket. Other prices included a basket of fruit, a tray of sweets, a basket of apples, and nylons.

1951 10 27
There were no deaths resulting from childbirth in Chesterton Rural District last year, nor any cases of diphtheria or of para-typhoid. However there were 57 cases of scarlet fever, 76 of measles & 81 of whooping cough, while three cases of dysentery occurred in a large mental hospital. Deaths included 58 from cancer, six from influenza and two under two-year-olds died from diarrhoea. According to the rate books there are 11,271 inhabited houses in the district.
`

1951 10 29
Air Ministry proposals to use the Stella Maris nursing home to accommodate members of an Inter-Services course learning Russian at the University was described as a "scandal". It was admirably equipped for use as a hospital, has accommodation for 40 patients, two completely equipped operating theatres and could relieve the 2,000-strong waiting list at Addenbrooke's Hospital. A proposal by the Ministry to acquire the Heritage guest house in Silver Street and 9, Newnham Terrace, Cambridge, had not gone through after college freeholders had 'dug their heels in'.

1951 10 31
From the hall of the Y.M.C.A. at Alexandra Street, Cambridge a distinguished company launched an appeal for funds. The speaker said that the lonely searchlight batteries during the war were visited by the Y.M.C.A. vans three times a week. They brought the little things the soldiers liked, tea, buns, cigarettes and papers. And the ladies of the 'Y.M.' took back letters for the troops and even wrote them for soldiers who were illiterate. The Cambridge building was completed in 1871 and had a moral affect on the thousands of young people who have been through the rooms and shared the facilities.

November 1951 CDN & ES

1951 11 01
Minutes and correspondence of the Histon and Impington Invasion Committee 1940-1945 are now among documents in the Cambridgeshire county archives. Also deposited are the minutes of the Lord Lieutenant's Central Emergency Committee 1914-1918. The archivist, Capt Bales says: "I feel sure there are many such documents in different villages and I fear the results of a fresh salvage drive". He asks for increased storage accommodation as the Muniment Room is very crowded and the documents are scattered in various rooms of the Shire Hall and Law Courts. # c.43

1951 11 01
The golden jubilee of the Gog Magog Golf Club was celebrated with a dinner at the Dorothy Café. Guest of honour was Mr Bernard Darwin, the famous authority on the game who was an early member of the club when an undergraduate at Trinity College. Recalling his early golfing days he mentioned some of the local courses, including one on Coldham's Common, one at Coton and another "somewhere near the Grange Road". The Gogs club was founded for the recreation of the senior members of the University and the first rules provided that the number of undergraduates permitted to play should not interfere with the convenience and enjoyment of the senior members of the University. # c.38 : golf

1951 11 01
Over a hundred people assembled at Myers Memorial Hall, Cambridge to hear Mr Ernest Thompson lecture on "Electronic Communication with the Spirit World" and to witness a demonstration of the new super-ray apparatus which produced some astonishing results. Four people were seated round a suspended tube which was connected to the apparatus. Three of them definitely went into a state of trance. Mr Thompson altered the action of the rays by pressing some levers with the result that those in the trance state showed remarkable changes in their behaviour

1951 11 02
Jets collide, Waterbeach, p6 # c.26.1

1951 11 02 ES

Stacking and thatching high standard of work in competition; third prize awarded to H. Creek, stacker for P. Hazel, Tile House Farm, Stretham 51 11 02(5)ES

Haddenham new vicar, Rev L.J. Stanford 51 11 02ES

1951 11 03
D.J. Unwin model, p6

1951 10 05
Members of the Cambridge '50 Car Club celebrated the Fifth with a firework party and social at Bedwell Hey, near Ely. It started with a torchlight procession to a vast bonfire; fireworks of all kinds producing a wide variety of noise and effect were then set off. A social in a Nissen hut included a Grand Prix competed for by ten finger-power models – competitors 'raced' by drawing along miniature cars by spooling up a thread on a pencil spun between the fingers. It was a most cheerful and amusing evening.

1951 11 05
A team of six etymologists was selected for the BBC Programme of "Say The Word" and coached with practice questions at the Houghton Hall, Cambridge. In the basement an elaborate apparatus was connected to the G.P.O to relay the programme directly to the recording chambers of the BBC. A brilliant five-minutes dissertation was provided by Dylan Thomas, the well-known poet, who was filling the role as visiting word expert. Bringing piquant Welsh humour to a funereal topic he illuminated his audience as to the origin of the phrase "Kicking the Bucket".

Hospital for sale, p7
Dylan Thomas, p8

1951 11 06
Meteor crash, Waterbeach, p8 # c.26.1
November 5th, p9

1951 11 07
A report on the provision of electricity to fruit cold stores in the Wisbech district was discussed by the Eastern Electricity Consultative Council. It was in the interest of national economy that essential food storage factories should be allowed a public supply of electricity. This was industrial development and the supply to cold stores, grain-drying plant and greenhouses used for market gardening would assist in obtaining increased production from the land.

1951 11 08
Abattoir, p5

1951 11 09
Fen hard roads, p5

1951 11 09 ES
Stretham
Sale of work and presentation to rector Cowgill who is leaving to become incumbent of a parish in the diocese of Ripon 51 11 09ES

Littleport sewerage scheme far from ready 51 11 09(3)ES

Littleport newly formed Over 60s Club official opening 51 11 09(3)ES

Collapse of the Quay wall at Waterside, Ely. East Anglian Breweries prepared to make good any part of the damage for which they were responsible. They had demolished the end section of the Maltings, adjacent to the wall, and had allowed the new sewer to be made through its foundations 51 11 09ES

1951 11 10
Undergraduate collectors set out to break all previous Poppy Day collection records. The "ban" on well-known Middle East personalities made no difference to the high degree of ingenuity shown in extracting money from an ever-willing public. A seductive harem scene on a lorry featured "the Proctor" smoking surely nothing less potent than hashish while on the Magdalene College lorry a European "twist" was given by a "Don" reclining on cushions smoking a "hookah". A collection of the weirdest Oriental gentlemen ever preceded the lorry with collecting boxes. 51 11 10

1951 11 10
A year ago Cambridge was the scene of an exciting street chase – engineered for the purposes of a film. "The Scarlet Thread". Now it is complete and will be shown at the Victoria Cinema. It has a "cops and robbers" story concerning the theft from a jeweller's shop in Sidney Street and a chase across Market Hill. This part was filmed from the top of the Victoria Cinema. The film was made by the International Realist Coy and stars Kathleen Byroa, Lawrence Harvey and Sidney Tatler # c.65.6

1951 11 12
At the annual dinner of the Cambridgeshire Battalion Home Guard Old Comrades Association reference was made to the Government's intention to reform the Home Guard. Lt-Col Dale said: "When stores and equipment have been allocated volunteers will be called for and I would ask all you 'old sweats' to sharpen up your spikes". The Mayor (Ald H.O. Langdon) said: "I do not think the Government could do better than form the Home Guard on the same basis as before. When it was disbanded we had a fine body of men capable of defeating any invasion attempt."

Felton's visit, p9

1951 11 13
Four more cases of poliomyelitis have been reported in Cambridge, bringing the total to eight. Three of the new cases are schoolchildren, the other is an adult. They have all been reported in the earliest stages of the disease. The four earlier cases are rapidly getting better

1951 11 14
A strong detachment of uniformed and plain clothed police were on duty and a proctor and two bulldogs were at the entrance at the Labour Hall, Norfolk Street, Cambridge for the visit of Mrs Monica Felton. When Dr Joseph Needham, chairman of the Britain-China Friendship Association told hecklers that the Chinese viewed the dropping of the atom bomb on Japan as encouraging racial hatred. They do not believe it would have been dropped on a European nation. Mrs Felton described her visit to Korea where a town of 126,000 people had been 'systematically destroyed' by bombing by American jets and told of atrocities "too horrible to report", including civilians being buried alive. It was their responsibility to see these horrors stop and now. – 51 11 14

Sex, p7

1951 11 15
Camera Club jubilee, p7

1951 11 16
When she bought a sheet of stamps from Miss Cora Simpson, Lady Irwin became the first person to use Newmarket's magnificent new post office – the most up-to-date in the country. The throwing open of the doors brought to an close its ten year temporary use of the King Edward VII Memorial Hall following the destruction of the old High Street building by an enemy bomb in 1941. At the ceremony a memorial plaque was dedicated to Miss Q. Kerry and Mr A.F. Barnes who were killed on duty when it was bombed. The telegraphing room was particularly mentioned since in race weeks more telegrams were handled n Newmarket than at any other place in the region.

1951 11 16 ES
Friends of Haddenham started. To make village pleasant comma add to comfort and amenities, plant trees, provide seats and playground and prevent the placing of ugly hoardings. A pioneer movement 51 11 16(2)ES

Remembrance service includes Stretham 51 11 16(4)ES

Fen hard roads. After the Ministry of Agriculture had made an order requiring the Ouse Catchment Board to maintain the hard roads, protest was made to the Ministry about their bad condition and repairs were carried out by a local contractor. The repairs were quite inadequate and the roads were not in the proper condition to be taken over by the Board. Ask for meeting oppose wholesale taking over of the powers of the Internal Drainage Boards without very careful consideration 51 11 16(4)ES

Ely Historical Society to be formed to enable the working man, not the expert, to study local history at first-hand 51 11 16 ES

1956 11 17
Civil defence plan, 94
Addenbrooke's Hospital minor operations, p9

1951 11 18 c
University "Freshmen" were amongst a crowd who gathered in the Police Station yard for a sale of unclaimed bicycles. Highest price, £5.10s. was fetched by a gents three-speed racing-tourer cycle; lowest was a lady's "upright" fitted with a child's seat which went for 7s. 6d. One cycle originally belonged to a Clare College undergraduate but was stolen. It was traced to an army camp at St Neots and returned. Later it was lost again and abandoned at Garret Hostel Bridge. This time the frame was broken and the owner declined to claim it. It sold for 30s.

1951 11 20
Agriculture has suffered a severe loss in the passing of Mr Samuel Owen Webb at his home at Streetley Hall, West Wickham. He was grandson of Jonas Webb to whom a statue was erected in the Corn Exchange. He was the founder and first president of the Cambridgeshire Farmers' Federation. In the 1914-18 was he was appointed chairman of the War Agricultural Committee and again during the second war. A keen showman he helped re-form the Cambs Agricultural Society which became one of the largest shows in the country

1951 11 20
A further 18 Cambridge firemen were suspended after refusing to obey orders to carry out routine maintenance. They stood outside the station in case there were any fire calls or other emergencies. The men are demonstrating in an attempt to get equal pay with the police force. At present they get 7s.6d. a week less than a policewoman and 35s. less than a policeman, receiving 1s 8½d per hour for an 80-hour week

1951 11 21
There is an air of excitement at the Perse School for Girls as their new hall is growing day-by-day in the school grounds to replace the ramshackled wooden building – two Army huts knocked into one – which has served the school since 1918. The Headmistress, Miss M.A. Scott says that many responsible for the building have family connections. It will not only be a place for morning assembly and prayers but will be used for various lessons & for recreation during the dinner hour The school is working hard to help pay for it and girls are doing all sorts of odd jobs, including running errands, baby sitting, darning socks and stockings, washing up and saving bus fares by walking to school. # c.36.5

1951 11 22
Multiple careers, p4

1951 11 23
Traffic tribunal

1951 11 23 ES
Doddington rectory maybe used to accommodate school teachers or a house for the headmaster 51 11 23(2)ES

Stretham Cemetery war memorial plaque dedication to be postponed due to torrential rain. But a crowd assembled at the cemetery at the advertised time so a short service conducted and the plaque unveiled 51 11 23(4)ES

Soham plans for development include bypass and separation of Downfields into a community of its own. Consider roads and railways, Soham was a one road town and that road was heavily trafficked. Need a bypass to the east which should form the limit of development 51 11 23ES &(2)

1951 11 24
Foxton station became a film set on Friday afternoon and the 2.08 pm Cambridge to London express was the chief "prop". Instead of making its usual straight through run the train stopped at the station so that a scene could be shot for a documentary film being made for the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. It tells the story of a young apprentice officer in the Merchant Navy and his life on an oil tanker. Taking the role is Roger Stokes of Foxton Hall who is actually an apprentice officer, and the scene shows him saying farewell to his parents as he leaves for London. The film will be presented in connection with recruiting drives.

Alex Wood, p9
Foxton station film set, p10

1951 11 26
Fines totalling £20 were imposed upon a woman stallholder summoned for overcharging for nylons. She sold a pair of fully fashioned nylon hose stamped with the words "15 dernier" at 17s.11d, a price exceeding the maximum retail price, at Midsummer Fair, Cambridge. A housewife said she paid 10s 11d for a pair of nylons and had been told they were not perfect – one being longer than the other. When she got home she found they were both laddered. She exchanged them for another pair, which cost an additional 7s and these also had ladders in them. The nylon quality was good but she did not like paying 17s.11d for them and she made a complaint to the Price Regulation Committee

1951 11 27
Problems likely to arise in the Eastern Region if three atom bombs were dropped in London were discussed at a conference. It was presumed that all reception areas used for evacuees from London were full and that the homeless and a number of panic-stricken evacuees were heading this way. Representatives examined how Essex and Herts would deal with the control, accommodation, feeding & transport problems. It was explained that while this was taking place certain other large towns in the region were being subjected to bombing with heavy explosives and incendiaries. # c.45.8

1951 11 27
The Bishop of Ely gave encouraging news that the Diocesan Finance Board was going to make every effort to attain a minimum stipend of £500 for clergy, after deduction of dilapidation charge & rates on the parsonage house. But, Dr Wynn warned, success would depend very largely on the way in which the parishes respond to the increased quota next year. "Unfortunately, the stipends of the clergy are not the only financial problems that we have to face", he said.

Addenbrooke's Hospital / Stella Maris, p4

1951 11 28
An army "Z" Reserve man who refused to undergo a medical examination, refused to pay two £5 fines at Cambridge court and was sent to prison for one month. He had been in the Royal Engineers and was one of a group of men who could be recalled for training. But he told magistrates: "I am not going to serve in the army again under any circumstances whatever. If I am called up next year or any other year I shall still do the same thing again"

1951 11 29
It was an affair of honour, to be settled with pistols, that drew a crowd of spectators to Trinity Backs. It arose when a letter written by a third-year Trinity undergraduate to a Girton College law student was intercepted by another Trinity man and the challenge was issued. Half of London's national newspapers got wind of the duel and two reporters laid an all-night siege to the contestants' rooms. Early this morning the protagonists slipped through the cordon of pressmen who waited for the duellists to appear. Trinity Bridge the crowd drifted away until all that were left were the newsreel cameraman taking shots of their journalistic colleagues waiting for the duel that did not take place. – 51 11 29

Duxford church lead, p6

1951 11 30
Duel hoax, p7

December 1951 CDN & ES

1951 12 01
Addenbrooke's Hospital ward full cartoon, p8

1951 12 03
"A fine and magnificent home" was how Glanely Rest, Exning, was described when Mr G. Gibson opened it as a home for old people – a "stately home" in a country park he had presented outright in memory of his uncle, Lord Glanely, to give comfort to old people "in the evening of their years". "Its beautiful" commented one resident, Mr David Palethorpe, a Newmarket sportsman of over 80 who is in the same room as Major F. Bird. He stores his belongings in his own cupboard and has the books he loves around him. The room is brightly decorated with warm, gay curtains and a window that looks out on to the spacious park. Caring for them is the matron, Mrs Rachel Agnes Byrne and the residents know they will enjoy peace and security in a delightful country house that is a real home. – 51 12 03

1951 12 04
Suggestions that isolation hospitals should be used to accommodate chronic sick cases were put forward at a Hospital meeting at Ely. The White House, Eaton Socon, was to be closed next March & some of the chronic sick cases there came from Kent whose own institutions had been destroyed in the war. In this region we were short of beds for the elderly. The situation was really pathetic. Three people had applied to the maternity hospital to see if accommodation could be provided for their elderly relatives. It would be better if isolation hospitals could take some of the old people. But if there is an epidemic what are we going to do if these hospitals are full of other cases?

1951 12 04
Cambridge city council has opposed a suggestion by the Ministry of Transport that the number of pedestrian crossings should be considerably reduced. They heard the Divisional Engineer was prepared to authorise 25 uncontrolled crossings and reconsider another six used by school children, but he was unable to agree with the retention of 14 others. Protests have been received from the Cambridge Accident |prevention Council, the National Council of Woman and the Morley Infants' & Junior Schools Parents' Association. Councillors agreed to appoint a deputation to meet the Minister.

1951 12 05
Details of Cambridge's civil defence plan – a scheme in which there is a place now for "every man who can use a spade and every woman who can make a cup of tea" - were disclosed by the city's Civil Defence Officer at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Dorothy Café. The most likely attack was by bombers carrying high explosive and incendiaries – an attack by no means rendered obsolete by the Atom bomb. If areas of the continental coast were occupied we would also be within rocket range. Chemical and biological warfare had to be considered including the use of a nerve gas absorbed by the skin. A network of wardens' posts would be established. "We think that by dispersal of our forces we can have some intact when they are most wanted and can bring aid to any stricken area with the least possible delay", he said # c.45.8

Sites for sirens, p10

1951 12 07
Cambridge at the moment has no legal pedestrian crossings but the Town Clerk (Mr Alan Swift) has appealed to motorists and others to observe them as before. They will become legal again when they have been striped. The question of legality had been raised during discussion of the latest position in the "battle of the crossings" – resulting from the wish of the Council to retain more crossings than the Ministry of Transport had suggested under its new policy. In view of the negotiations no crossings have yet been painted.

1951 12 07
Waterbeach R.A.F. station is the scene of a "scramble" by Meteors which is shown in the "short" film called "Wing to Wing" at the Regal Cinema. The rapid take-off – a Waterbeach speciality – makes an impressive shot. The film gives a vivid impression of present and future aircraft of the R.A.F. Its "stars" are the Canberra and Valiant jet bombers, together with the Swift jet fighter.

1951 12 07 ES
Ely Historical Society first meeting, Bishops elected President. To have monthly meetings but smaller groups can indulge in fieldwork and visits. Edward Miller author of the Abbey and Bishopric of Ely will speak at inaugural meeting 51 12 07ES

1951 12 08
Reminiscences of the First World War when the Star Brewery, Cambridge, was manned almost entirely by women were shared by Major Freeman at the celebration of the firm's diamond jubilee anniversary. When he joined in 1903 there were 30 public houses on the Newmarket Road. It had come into being in 1891; in 1935 it became a subsidiary of the Tollemache Company and recently the firm of Messrs Whitmore, in St Andrew's Hill, had been acquired. The brewery had stabling for 25 horses up to 1935 when motor transport was first introduced. It had been a great success and was now considered to be the county's "star" brewery. # c.27.41

1951 12 10
For the first time, winners of ploughing societies' matches in the county met to decide the champion ploughman. The winner was M. Bowers of Cottenham who received the Championship cup and the cup for best work in the horse ploughing class. The youngest ploughman on the field, 14-years-old G. Bailey of Willingham bowed to a more experienced man when he was placed second to J. Hammance (Sutton) in the heavy tractor class, but he did have the pleasure of beating his father, E. Bailey, into third position. E. Blunt of Cottenham was first in the light tractor class.

1951 12 10
Shock the public – and ask the Cambridge Daily News to publish photographs of road accidents as soon as they occur. Putting this suggestion to the Cambs Road Safety and Accident Prevention Council Mrs T.R. Henn declared: "We have got to use more drastic measures in road safety. We must stir the imagination of the people of this country". The chairman thought it a good idea, but the problem is for the C.D.N. to get the photographs; would the police supply them? The Police said they didn't supply the Press and when they did take pictures they didn't take the bodies as well. Mrs Henn: A pity. No action was taken

1951 12 11
New Theatre tour

1951 12 12
Is an electric washing machine an essential in the educational development of children? The County Primary Education committee sought approval that machines should be hired from the Eastern Electricity Board at three guineas a time for the use of schools at Bassingbourn, Comberton and Swavesey. Councillors were equally divided. How many people were in an income bracket to afford a washing machine? Not many. The only way you can buy them after you have learned to use them is by the hire purchase system that people can ill-afford. It was approved on the casting vote of the chairman.

1951 12 13
Homes for aged, p5

1951 12 14ES
Littleport army cadets photo in huts on Victoria Street Littleport 51 12 14ES

1951 12 15
St John's church organ, p9

1951 12 18
Newmarket trainers are to discuss Lord Roseberry's announcement that his horse, Snap, was doped before running at Newmarket racecourse in October. It is trained only a few hundred yards from the course and did not have leave the town to run in the race; there would be a greater opportunity for dopers to get at a horse which had to go on a long journey. Some trainers were saying that the "nobbling" of Snap was done by a local gang who were able to identify the horse off the racecourse. They would like to see stronger security arrangements in Newmarket. The Jockey Club has power to warn anybody off their premises but have no control over the town. A solicitor with a large racing practice said it was very doubtful whether the administering of a drug to a racehorse was an offence against the law.

1951 12 20
Cambridge undergraduates are acting as porters at Cambridge railway station to help cope with the "very heavy" Christmas postal parcel traffic. Temporary porters are paid daily on the basis of £5 10s.6d for a 44-hour week. The Post Office staff handle all letter mails, but only deliver the parcel traffic to the station, where it is handled by rail personnel. On Sunday and Christmas day there will be certain local withdrawals and additions to passenger services and on Boxing Day there will be nine additional afternoon and evening passenger trains to London.

1951 12 21
Miss Mary Charlotte Green of Harston House has died. Aunt to the distinguished author, Graham Greene, she was well-known for her deep interest in village activities. Her main occupation was painting which she continued right up to recent weeks, the paint on some of her works being still wet. She could often be seen painting on Coe Fen, even when there was frost on the ground. She exhibited at the Royal Academy and was President of the Cambridge Drawing Society. She also published a number of poems, reminiscences and one-act plays and was a keen horticulturist. – 51 12 21

1951 12 21
If you want to give your car a present I suggest that a tune-up is just the thing. The process is known as the Redex Conversion. After Mr J. Palmer of Messrs W. Cullen of Rathmore Road, Cambridge, had done his skilful work on my 1938 10 h.p. model petrol consumption improved by 4½ miles per gallon to 40 mpg at 30 mph, a figure I had not even contemplated would be achieved. Distance taken to accelerate from 15 to 30 mph reduced from 180 to 140 yards and top speed up the Gogs from a standing start was raised from 20 to 25 mph. The cost of conversion is in the region of £3 to £4 according to the number of cylinders.

1951 12 22
Kiddies' party, p6

1951 12 24
Please give your phone a rest on Christmas Day unless a call is really essential – and allow many Cambridge Exchange operators to have their Christmas dinners at home in peace. The Telephone Manager, Mr W.E. Dance, has made special staffing arrangements which means there will be 30 operators at the switchboard. On other days there are 130 day and 80 night operators at the controls. The normal daily number of calls dealt with is about 11,000 (quite apart from dialled calls). For those who still intend to telephone on Christmas day he offers this gentle reminder – "Sorry but we can give you no concession charges between 6 pm and 10.30 pm on those days."

1951 12 27
Some people welcomed in Christmas day at the churches; football matches in the morning also had their fair share of male spectators, probably escaping from the hurry and bustle of Christmas dinner preparations at home. But for the rest of the day Cambridge became a "ghost" city. Just before lunch-time fewer than two dozen people were counted in the city centre and during the remainder of the day the streets echoed with the sound of lone walkers. Although Boxing Day too was for some a stay-at-home day, football matches, cinemas and pantomimes drew others away from their firesides

1951 12 27
Cambridge youngsters went over to the US base at Lakenheath to meet Father Christmas – a Santa who stood six foot three inches in his boots and spoke with the composed drawl of a Missouri man. Given by U.S. soldiers of the 60th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion and the 98th Chemical Smoke Generating Company it was the party to end all parties. The morning was spent in the camp cinema where cartoons and the inevitable "Western" set the pace for the remainder of the day's activities. Then they collected their Christmas dinner a la American; that is on an all-in-one tray, in line ahead from the cafeteria. Later every child received a really marvellous gift, the value of which could be estimated in pounds rather than in shillings.

1951 12 27
Sir – I hoped Cambridge enjoyed its Christmas. I have spent Christmas in a few places, but this one which I was compelled to spend in lodgings in Cambridge has been unique. With all cafes, restaurants and hotels closed and with those public houses which were open devoid of their usual snacks and sandwiches I found it impossible to get a meal on Christmas Day. With the complete cessation of public transport it was impossible to go in search of more hospitable regions. Perhaps in the future Cambridge will conform to the standards generally offered by its counterparts elsewhere – "A stranger"

1951 12 28
During the war I was stationed for a time near a unit known as Fletcher Battery, whose heavy coast defence guns rocked the houses every time they did a practice shoot. This biographical detail was brought to my mind by hearing another Fletcher "big gun", Cyril by name, in action at the Arts Theatre; appropriately, he rocked the house too. This Fletcher is firing his comedy salvoes in "The Sleeping Beauty" in which he plays the part of the Queen, his skirts matching his rolling eyes in their voluminousness. His personality naturally dominates the show, and laughter is never far away when he is present. Miss Betty Astell plays the part of Beauty.

1951 12 28

A Cambridgeshire firm is to do a first-time-ever-in-England job shortly when one of its helicopters will lay an electric cable. Pest Control of Harston have a fleet of helicopters for agricultural spraying operations and the Midlands Electricity Board has asked for their assistance in spanning a thousand-foot-wide valley in the Malvern Hills. Similar operations have been carried out in America.

1951 12 28 ES
Stretham Parish Council, £25 still needed for war memorial plaque, meeting about sports equipment grants 51 12 28(2)ES

Haddenham school children play photo 51 12 28ES

1951 12 29
Fowl pest, p7
Station master, p9

1952 Cambridge Daily News & Ely Standard

I have copies of some of these articles dated at end

January 1952 CDN

1952 01 01
An 88-year-old woman who had been a patient at Fulbourn Hospital for 52 years collapsed on the floor of one of the wards. As a result she sustained a fracture and died from pneumonia. The sister said she had known the lady for the past ten years and had never known her to have any relatives call and see her. There were strict orders that no polish should be put on the floors. Instead the boards were scrubbed and there were very few rugs. The Coroner said: "This is one of those things which sometimes happen to old people and cannot be avoided. I think the fact that this old lady had been a patient for 52 years showed at any rate that she must have been treated with a great deal of care and attention to have reached this very old age of 88".

1952 01 01
The first Provincial 4½ hours' night T.V. service for viewers if their sets go wrong is being operated by Messrs H.W. Peak Ltd., King Street, Cambridge. To the 100 feet aerial above the firm's premises the Fire Service will tomorrow bracket a V.H.F. transmitted aerial for radio contact with their engineers. A phone call will reach an operator who will contact by radio one of the firm's two servicing engineers who will be at home with a van (and a spare T.V. set) at the ready. He will go to the caller's home. Mr John Peak said: "I feel a T.V. night service is essential, as it is mainly used for evening viewing, when it is annoying for the public to find their set has a fault and they are unable to get in touch with anybody to put it right" # c.27.82

1952 01 02
After Monday wash day it's Tuesday bucket-and-shovel day for the women of the Cambridge's Queen Street, or Dustmen's Folly as it has been re-named by the residents. Tuesday is the day when the dustcart calls to empty the conglomeration of tin cans, ashes, kitchen waste and other refuse. Every Tuesday morning as regularly as clockwork 20 housewives place 20 dustbins on the pavements for the dustmen to empty. Promptly at mid-day the dust-cart hoves in sight and the contents are emptied into the cart with a liberal application for the road as well. And 20 housewives wait for the metallic clang that is the signal for them to go into action with brushes, buckets and shovels to clear up the mess the dustmen leave behind – for the street is in a worse state than it was before they called. And so seldom is a street cleaner to be seen that to the majority of the residents he is a legendary figure, though Mrs Fry who runs a little general stores does claim to have seen the Abominable Dustman – 52 01 02

1952 01 04
An R.A.F. Meteor jet fighter crashed near Melbourn and wreckage was spread over a wide area. The pilot died on arrival at Royston Hospital after bailing out. A farm worker, Mr Stanley Wing, who was working on a stack near the crash received a fright when an engine whistled past him to bury itself in the ground nearby. Villagers in Melbourn reported that bits of the wreckage landed in the streets and on houses. There was, however, no fire. Inquest 7th p7 # c.26.1

1952 01 04ES
Ely Cathedral beetle does £20,000 more damage 52 01 04ES

1952 01 05
For Cambridge 1951 was again a "very wet year". Ald F. Dogget said the figure of 27.57 inches was well above the average. There were only 150 days without rain. It was an exceptionally wet Spring and gardeners will remember we had only six fine week-ends during that period. The heaviest fall was on August 6th and during a thunderstorm on July 30th. The longest spell of fine weather lasted for 13 consecutive days between May 27th and June 9th. In the county Lt-Col Thornhill of Manor House, Boxworth, said it was the wettest year since 1937

1952 01 07
How to put an aerial above your roof in three not-so-easy stages. 1: call the Fire Brigade. 2: Ask the Chief Fire Officer (Mr Tom Knowles) to fire a rocket attached to a rope over a T.V. aerial crossbar. 3: Use a bow and arrow. All three methods were used in Cambridge by Mr John Peak of the King Street T.V. and furniture dealers. He wanted to bracket a V.H.F. aerial to the firm's existing aerial in connection with their T.V. night service. But the Fire brigade's turntable ladder was a foot short & the rocket missed its mark. Then an arrow from the bow of John Ridgeon (leader of the Cambridge Bowmen) went over the top. Attached to it was the rope with the new aerial which was then hauled up.

1952 01 07
Sweepings of lead carbonate oxide taken from the back of a car and compared by Scotland Yard experts with similar material found outside St Peter's church, Duxford, featured when two men were sent to prison for two years for stealing 360 lbs of lead valued at £22.10s. from the church. The rector said he had become aware of a different light from the porch. He rushed up a ladder standing nearby and found that half the lead over the porch was missing. The prosecution agreed not to proceed with a further charge of stealing lead from Ickleford church four days earlier.

1952 01 08
The secretary of the Cambridge Scientist's Anti-War Group told what would happen if an atom bomb were dropped on the city. It could be assumed that 50,000 people would be killed and the same number injured by one bomb three times as powerful as that dropped on Nagasaki. It would mean that 85 percent of the people in Cambridge would be disposed of. Addenbrooke's Hospital would disappear and every building would probably be set seriously on fire. If shelters were provided the fatal casualties could be cut down to 14,000 and perhaps only 10,000 would be injured – but how could these be dealt with by the medical facilities? – 52 01 08 # c.45.8

1952 01 08
The January sales are now in full swing and queues of bargain hunters are to be seen outside various shops. Messrs Coad opened its sale on Monday and the main demand was for all-wood lumber jackets reduced from 29s 11d (£1.50) to 14s. 11d. (75p). The first arrival at Rose's Fashion Centre sale was there at 5 a.m. and by the time the store opened there were about 100 people waiting, so many that the doors had to be closed and a few shoppers let in at a time. The biggest run was on heavily reduced taffeta dresses. At Joshua Taylor people came in from a radius of 50 miles and the first bargain hunter arrived at 4 a.m. to secure a handbag which at £2. 2s. was one-third of its original price.

1952 01 09
Gresham bowls wound up, p8

1952 01 10
A Cambridge man who as a war-time brigadier helped in the planning of D-Day told some of the "inside story" to Cambridge Rotarians. Mr T.R. Henn of St Catharine's college said his own part was "of the very humblest". He took part in the planning of two invasions. The first was a completely paper one in 1942 when the Powers-that-be got together a small party of some eight majors and a brigadier and told them: "Look here, chaps, we're going back on the Continent some time or other. Assume you have the men, guns, ships and aircraft and tell us what you want". Eight months later they became part of the real invasion planning staff in London. After the 'Overlord' plan had been sent off to Washington he came up to Cambridge and walked into Bowes and Bowes bookshop. He picked up a new book which contained two maps showing zones they planned to use, but by then things had gone too far. – 52 01 10 # c.45.7

1952 01 10

When a neighbour sat beside the living room fire at Abington Post Office fire ate its way through a 10-inch thick 200-years-old solid oak cross-beam supporting the floor. She saw smoke coming through the floorboards and went down and told the postmaster, Mr H.W. Jaggard. Another two inches and the beam might have snapped and the whole room would have caved in. Firemen took out the fireplace to get to the burning beam. A little longer and the whole place would have gone up.

1952 01 11
Cambridge Council agreed to include a £75,000 scheme for a sub-way approach to the railway station; thousands of people would benefit from it and it could take the place of another item on the priority list - £150,000 for a multi-deck car park. Coun H.C. Ridgeon aid it would mean a tremendous saving to traffic from Hills Road and Mill Road and prove a great advantage to the town as a whole. Ald Briggs vigorously supported the suggestion to make it a top priority and pointed to the present "nightmare congestion" to press the need.

Planning differences, p8

Middle Level Barrier bank was improved 1937-43; considerable shrinking due weight of clay and a danger of flooding; 19 miles had been strengthened by construction of counterberm and back and over 40 miles raised - scheme, p10 – 52 01 11 # c.29

1952 01 12
Chesterton Methodist church, p9

1952 01 14
Sir. Twenty-five years ago Magdalene College started a scheme which might have involved the widening of Magdalene Street and the removal of buildings opposite the college. But it does not now contemplate the completion of the scheme and is now strongly opposed to the widening of the street and the demolition of the buildings on the west side. The College would be strongly prejudiced if it should be divided by a street similar in character to the widened part of Bridge Street and would strongly object to such a change of character and loss of amenity in the neighbourhood – Henry Willink, Master. # c.44.6

1952 01 15
Arts panto, p7

1952 10 16
Soldiers' comforts, p8

1952 10 17
Rodney pantomime, p7

1952 01 18
After years of planning, working and hoping, members of Chesterton Methodist Church have at last a building of their own, a new church on the corner of Green End Road and Scotland Road, which was officially opened by Mrs Elliot Ridgeon. Now they have a light and bright building and the friendliness of the many members at the ceremony reflected joy and thankfulness at the completion of the new church. But their struggles are not yet over for they plan to build a school hall and hope one day to build a bigger church. # c.83

1952 01 18 ES
Friends of Haddenham tree planting – photo – 52 01 18ES

1952 01 19
Mrs F.A. Keynes looks back on women's work, p9 – 52 01 19

1952 01 21
The County council was told “the true story of Miss Blank”, a displaced person whose two children are being maintained at the Primrose Croft Home, at a cost to ratepayers of nearly £14 a week – and who informed the matron that there is another baby coming along. “She may have been told those homes cannot be worked economically if they are not kept full and has taken steps in that direction. She has landed in this country and kept up the supply of children to Primrose Croft. There is nothing we can do about it” they were informed.

1952 01 22
Cambridgeshire is the only county in the Eastern region, apart from the Isle of Ely, that has not opened an Old People’s Home, said Councillor Miss Boake when she urged that the adaptation of Willingham Rectory as a home be given priority. The cost would be £9,851, including £3,500 purchase price. The Isle was now building a home, while Huntingdon had three. Coun Randall said there would sooner or later have to be a sewerage scheme in Balsham; there were four open drains taking sewage at the moment. Premier Travel has offered a withdrawn, but serviceable motor coach for use as a mobile cinema to enable the Road Safety Organiser to expand his activities.

1952 01 23
Five of the crew were killed when an R.A.F. Lincoln bomber from Upwood, Huntingdonshire, crashed and caught fire at Fincham, near Downham Market. Rescuers pulled one survivor from the wreckage and took him to hospital. The bomber had been diverted to Marham and was waiting to land. It flew low over the main road from Downham Market to Swaffham, struck a tree and burst into flames after crashing. Explosions were heard and wreckage was flung over several fields. # c.26.1

Crossings, p7

1952 01 25
Bread exhibition, p5

1952 01 26
The County Council considered the development of Swann’s Lime Pits, Cherry Hinton, as an armament testing range and research establishment. Coun Rackham deplored the possibility of explosions taking place at the back of the adjoining school. As well as the noise the blast runs along the ground and shakes doors and windows. People have had to replace ceilings that have been shaken down. It was suggested the company use their explosives on the huts up Madingley Road where they would soon clear the ground and everything would be lovely. # c.45.8

Telephone operators, p5
Addenbrooke's Hospital fund & Sid Moon, p8

1952 01 28
Coldest night, p7

1952 01 29
The CDN Radio Fund Committee discussed schemes which will give patients in Addenbrooke's Hospital the best and most complete radio installation in Britain. Every patient will have his own Pillophone giving clear and undistorted reception to him, but inaudible to others, & his own little control panel to change programmes. Another circuit could relay special gramophone records, hospital or other local concerts and events. It might also enable them to communicate with nurses. The installation will be sufficiently complete for television to be added at some later date.

Peter Cook, escapee, p6
Newnham allotment savings, p4

1952 01 29 c

The "Radio Doctor" visited the Cambridge Divisional Food Offices. Told that the welfare orange juice was not sweet enough he said mothers should add sugar accordingly. Sometimes there was plenty of tinned milk in Cambridge and sometimes none at all; it was sent to isolated areas in the Fens where fresh milk is not available. The meat ration had been cut from 1s.5d. because shipments fell below expectation. The Minister did not intend to control the price of rabbits because experience showed that when this was done rabbits disappeared – not necessarily down their holes.

1952 01 30
Does the best food go to the colleges? Miss R.N. Small, the first woman Steward of Caius College, was asked. Most colleges like to trade with local shops and the quality had its ups and downs. The college could not afford to give poultry to undergraduates more than once a term. While Fellows could give dinner parties in their own rooms, undergraduates were only allowed the facility during May Week when she made an all-out effort to help the men who wish to impress other people. It was the custom these days for undergraduates to work off their hospitality by means of stand-up sherry parties.

February 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 02 01
Cyclists who carry children, p4
Housekeeping for college, p5
Ouse River Board meeting, p10

1952 02 02
There is serious trouble at Ely Cathedral. The ravages of the death watch beetle in the nave roof have just been made good but now comes the news that the beetle has been doing much more serious damage to the Cathedral's famous lantern. It is thought that restoration may cost as much as £20,000.

1952 02 02
The possibility of Cambridge librarians co-operating in the attempt to compile a union catalogue of all books in the University, City and County libraries relating to the University, City and County of Cambridge was enthusiastically received by members of the Cambridge Library Group. It would enable anyone to look for a book which was to be found in any of 25 libraries. On the whole the college libraries' catalogues of old books were not good & in two colleges the librarian had said it was useless to rely on them. # c.43 # c.77.4

1952 02 04
Employees of Messrs Chivers & Sons saw themselves on the screen – in colour – at the Arts Theatre. "The Chivers Story" tells of the work done at Histon and the film is now being shown to grocers all over the country. Principally it is concerned with jam making but the pure-bred hens and pedigree pigs, horses and cattle are not forgotten. Glimpses are given of other aspects of the Chivers organisation – the welfare side and the engineering department – and shots of a secret machine for 'de-stalking' black currants are included

1952 02 04
Nearly 1,000 college servants in Cambridge are being urged to join a trade union – and enjoy the benefits of a first-ever "College Servants' Charter" as a result of the Industrial Disputes Tribunal decision affecting more than 80 workers at Gonville and Caius college. Circulars are going out from the Transport and General Workers' Union to college employees, including bedmakers, cleaners, porters and gardeners impressing on them the importance of "getting together". Since the wage claim at Caius was first submitted individual pay has gone up in some cases by as much as £1 12.6. a week. A kitchen porter now gets £4.15s.0d. minimum, a maximum of £5. A buttery man who received £5 now gets £6.7s.6d. There has been a £1 a week increase for cooks.# c.32.5

1952 02 05

The CDN has added, for one week only, a new publication to the list of eight newspapers which it currently prints each week – an American newspaper. "Brigade Cavalcade" was produced to mark the first anniversary in the U.K. of the 32nd Antiaircraft Artillery Brigade of the U.S. Army. Its editorial offices are a battered war-time hutment overlooking the huge aircraft runway at Beck Row. After a lifetime of spelling English in an orthodox manner it was difficult for our printers to set words like honour and colour without the 'u', and the practised fingers of a linotype operator rebelled against copy which insists that programme should shed its last two letters. # c.04

1952 02 06
King's death, p1; King was pround of being a Cambridge man – 52 02 06 # c.02
King & Harper garage, p4

1952 02 08
With traditional pageantry Queen Elizabeth II was proclaimed from the steps of Cambridge Guildhall and inside and outside the Senate House on Friday morning. Some inkling of the news of the King's death had reached one or two people in Cambridge before the BBC announcement. As the news began to spread small groups of incredulous people stood discussing it in the streets. By mid-day Cambridge had become a city of flags. Gas Company men excavating in Park Terrace expressed their sympathy by fixing a Union Jack at half-mast from the ropes surrounding the hole they had made in the road. At Pye Ltd's factory the machinery was stopped so that all the 2,000 employees could heard the announcement over the internal loud-speaker system by Mr L.W. Jones, Words Director. – 52 02 08 # c.02

Ely Beet factory, p7

1952 02 08 ES
Nation is stunned by King's sudden death – 52 02 08ES
First Fenland Amateur Skating Championship abandoned, Bury Fen – 52 02 08(2)ES

1952 02 09
Long before the arrival of the ten-coach funeral train bearing the body of King George VI, large crowds had gathered at the main vantage points along the line at Ely to pay their homage. At the station crossing hundreds of people assembled on both sides, whilst lines of traffic extended for some distance. Heads were bared as the train rolled smoothly through the station. Workmen who had given up part of their dinner hour and American servicemen were amongst the crowds. At the little village station of Waterbeach about 100 housewives, farmworkers and children gathered. A crowd of more than 800 people lined the marshalling yards on either side of Mill Road Bridge, Cambridge. The long black funeral coach, with all its windows blacked out passed exactly on time. Queen Elizabeth II gazed pensively out of a carriage window as the train passed a group of railwaymen standing caps off near Hills Road Bridge. # c.02 # c.26.2

1952 02 09
The Royal Train bearing the King's body from Wolferton to King's Cross had two local men as its crew. The driver was Mr S. Harding who first drove the Royal train when the King came down to Trinity, and the fireman Mr C. Pearman from Weston Colville. Also on the train, as fitter, was Mr W.H. Simmons of Kelvin Close, Cambridge. Another local link is that the stationmaster at Wolferton, Mr Bernard Hodge, was formerly in charge of Whittlesford Station. At Cambridge South signal box The Welbeck Abbey, a Sandringham class engine, spick and span in polished olive green, was one of three trains standing by on the route in case of breakdown on the journey # c.26.2 # c.02

1952 02 09
There are happy memories of King George VI's undergraduate days at Trinity College, Cambridge in 1919-20 when with his brother he sojourned at "Southacre" in Latham Road. In 1922 he unveiled the war memorial in Hills Road and attended the Royal Show at Trumpington & in 1932 he opened the new wing for children and private patients at Addenbrooke's Hospital. His last visit was last year when he attended the Service of Thanksgiving at King's College. – 52 02 09 # c.02

1952 02 11
As the King's funeral procession was winding its slow way through London's streets, hundreds of Cambridge people at similar services in the city joined in Britain's mourning for her late Sovereign. City and County combined at Great St Mary's church where a separate University service was held later. About a thousand people filled the church. Most of the men wore black ties. The scarlet robes of City aldermen provided the one touch of colour; even the gilt of the maces was subdued by a draping of black. The service was relayed to an overflow gathering in the Guildhall. A crowd of some 300 people gathered on the Market Place for the two minute's silence. As the maroon exploded men removed their hats and heads were lowered. # c.02

1952 02 12
Jont service at Gt St Mary's, p6
Gogs golf, p7

1952 02 13
The first man to drive a bus from Cambridge station to Chesterton has died at Peterborough. He was Mr T. Aldham who had been employed by the old Ortona Company where he rose from the ranks to be a senior driver and subsequently traffic foreman. Shortly after the Eastern Counties Company took over in 1932 he transferred to Peterborough. At the funeral Mr A. Darby represented Mr J.B. Walford, the original owner of Ortona and there were several of his old colleagues including Messrs R. Peat, A. January, W. Harding and H. Bullock

King funeral plans, p1
Coach building, p8

Polish alien befriended by Willinham family; drove Americans in borrowed car – 52 02 13

1952 02 14
Foxton Hall for RAF, p6
Benians, Master of St Johnsdies, p6

1952 02 15
King funeral,
Cambridgeshire funeral tribute, 52 02 15
Y.M.C.A., p9

1952 02 15 ES
The nation acclaims Queen Elizabeth II; the King's last journey to London – 52 02 15ES
St German's fourth pump opened for inspection – 52 02 15(2)ES
Death of Ald Heber G. Martin, Littleport, dairy farmer – 52 02 15(4)ES

1952 02 16
Plotting stars, p4
King's funeral - Ely Cathedral service, - 52 03 16

1952 02 18
Local girl for Olympics, p5

1952 02 19
The music of the Quadrills, Gay Gordons and Dream Saunters echoed from the Guildhall when the Cambridge branch of the British Limbless Ex-Servicemen's Association held their second annual ball. Host and hostess were Mr & Mrs V. Brown & 300 people enjoyed a night of old-time dancing. At the end of the evening the limbless men present mounted the platform and the entire company sang "God Save the Queen" in honour of the accession of Queen Elizabeth II

1952 02 20
Peter Cook escape – recaptured, p6

1952 02 21
Sixteen patients were moved to safety when fire broke out in the nurses' quarters at the Evelyn Nursing Homes, Trumpington Road, Cambridge. One of them was 102 years old. The Fire Brigade tackled "the biggest job for a long time" and brought the fire under control. Chief Fire Officer, Mr Tom Knowles, paid a tribute to the conduct of the nurses: "They were cool, calm and collected and completely unflurried; they might just have been making a cup of tea", he said. # c.34.74 # c.21.4

H.C. Greene will, p7

1952 02 22 ES
County pays homage to late King; 2,000 at Cathedral service – 52 02 22(2)ES

Wilburton Harry Sharp bell-ringer for 60 years – 52 02 22ES

1952 02 23
An appeal for information about the visit of the famous American dwarf known as General Tom Thumb had brought a number of letters. Mr A.E. Reeve recalls that during his visit in March 1846 he was shown in the morning for half a crown for members of the University and in the evening for one shilling for townsmen. But the undergraduates ignored the morning opening and crowded out the 'townies' during the evening show. A town and gown row followed. Mr E. Saville Peck has lent one of Tom Thumb's visiting cards that he found amongst his old papers belonging to his mother who went to see him at the Town Hall

1952 02 23
The first BBC television play to be directed by a Cambridge-born man was seen on Thursday. It was "The Prisoner", a new play by Andrew Cruickshank, produced by Ian Atkins and directed by Julian Amyes who is an Old Persean and brother of Mr S.J. Amyes, news editor of the CDN. He began his professional stage career after leaving the University in 1939 & was President of the University Mummers in 1938-39

Parking controls, p6

1952 02 25
Three American Servicemen had narrow escapes from serious injury when the jeep in which they were travelling from Lakenheath crashed into the wall of the Old Mill House opposite the Bull Hotel at Barton Mills last night. The house, however, did not come off so well. The occupier, Squadron-Leader T.H. Sproule said: "The jeep ploughed straight into the room, taking the wall with it". In the winter of 1947 a heavy lorry skidded on the same part of the road and crashed into the house with the same disastrous result.

Six Mile Bottom robbery, p6

1952 02 26
Veterans of the Boer War will meet in London to mark the anniversary of the relief of Ladysmith. It was on that night that the last really big bonfire was started on Cambridge Market Square. Old horse buses, "growlers" filled with tar and straw, market stalls – all went to feed those triumphant flames whose heat cracked every window in the Market Square. The number of Boer War Veterans in Cambridge is now very small. The doyen of them all, Capt. A.E. Longley, now in his 82nd year, will have only one Cambridge comrade – Mr J. Collings – at the reunion.

1952 02 27
The "Homewash Laundry" in Abbey Street, Cambridge, was almost completely destroyed by a disastrous fire in the early hours of yesterday morning, but already plans are being prepared to rebuild the premises. Mrs Kathleen Morgan, proprietress, has received so many offers of help from other laundries that the normal run of business is being carried out. Salvage workers today reported that a proportion of the laundry on the premises has been saved. This includes sheets, handkerchiefs, socks and all the stiff dress shirts and collars. # c.34.75

1952 02 29 ES
Clergymen without living wage – report – 52 02 29ES

March 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 03 01
Councillor Stewart Todd Bull has been nominated as the next mayor of Cambridge. He is the owner of the well-known firm of dairy farmers, Messrs J.M. Bull & son. When Cambridge was attacked by enemy aircraft in 1941 he was amongst those in Hills Road who were bombed out. He is a man endued with the spirit of public service and after helping to look after the affairs of the city he frequently climbs Castle Hill to keep a watchful eye on the County Council.

1952 03 01
Complaints that disturbances outside the Rex Ballroom at night were driving some of the local residents "absolutely crazy" were made at the renewal of its licence. A resident said: "The Rex seems to attract a peculiar type of people who don't seem to be able to go away without causing complete bedlam to everybody in the district". The proprietor said "The University Proctors visit on Tuesday and Saturday evenings; they always look in, look around and say we run the place very satisfactorily. He was in touch with the Provost Marshalls of the R.A.F. and U.S. Army. He had asked for policemen to be on duty but was always told they did not have enough.

1952 03 05
The Minister of Housing and Local Government has dismissed the first appeal to be made against a decision of the County Planning Department on a building elevation. It relates to the de Freville Arms public house at Gt Shelford where the applicants proposed adding single-storey projections on each side. The main issues were the design of the roof & central door and the removal of bay windows.

Arts financial problems, p7
Circus – human cannonball, p10

1952 03 06
Magistrates were told that police had visited a Cambridge cinema while a category 'A' film was being shown and found a total of 42 children in the first five rows who were unaccompanied by adults. The average age was 12 and there was one child about six. The manager said it was a difficult business to keep them out. The children were undoubtedly there but when they had paid to go in they were accompanied by a person over 16. He was fined £15 and told if there were further cases the licence would be withdrawn.

1952 03 07
In its ten years of existence the John Hilton Bureau at Cambridge has dealt with three million enquiries. Working in conjunction with a Sunday newspaper the Bureau staff, comprising 40 men and 100 women in dozens of professions deal with topics from income tax to wills made in Yugoslavia. Part of its work is to right some of the injustices of the Welfare State.

Kinema fire, p6 # c.34.75 # c.76.9

1952 03 08
Fulbourn Hospital is to make economies in the diets for patients and staff. Halibut or plaice for staff meals is to be discontinued with cod supplied in lieu and the quantity reduced from 5 oz to 4 oz per head per meal. Lunch (bread and luncheon meat, coffee or cocoa) at present supplied to all working patients will be replaced by bread and jam & dripping, when available, will be issued in lieu of jam for lunch. It meant eating food that was not so pleasant, but the nutritional values would be almost the same.

1952 03 08
Concern has been expressed at the absence of any regulation for the compulsory fitting of suppressors to electrical and other motors. Noise levels in Cambridge have gone up many times since 1939 while day and night thousands of new electrical motors and devices are being put on the market to make matters worse. More and more television and radio owners are having their programmes interfered with because of this nuisance, although it is possible to suppress this interference at the cost of only a shilling or two.

1952 03 11
Chipperfield's Circus opened on Midsummer Common, Cambridge. A whole collection of animals show their paces and tricks including polar and grizzly bears, African lions and horses, while a "cowboy round-up" brings plenty of action. It goes with a Big Bang, especially the sensational final item, by Les Raluys, in which a man and girl are shot together from a big cannon, landing in a net on the other side of the ring. If the bang doesn't take your breath away the flight of the human cannonballs will. – 52 03 11 # c.76.2

Polish boy's death, p7

Yugoslav journalists' visit to Cambridge – 52 03 11

1952 03 12
Following a visit to Swann's Lime Pit, Cherry Hinton, city councillors raise no objection to its continued use as a small-calibre range for armour-piercing projectiles, providing that any additional buildings are erected in the deeply-excavated position and that nothing larger than a six-pounder gun is used – so long as it is fired only in the morning & preceded by a warning. # c.45.8

Ely cottage fund, p6
Housing production board, p10
Dean launches fund to save Ely Cathedral octagon – 52 03 12

1952 03 14
Over 4,000 people rose suddenly to their feet at Chipperfield's Circus. It was near the end when the only double cannon act in the country was taking place. The two performers had entered the cannon and been shot into the air but as they fell the safety net gave way and they hit the ground. As there was no serious injury to either performer the act will go on as usual tonight. # c.76.2

1952 03 14
The booming of a six-pounder gun in a Cherry Hinton lime pit found its echo inside the City Council chamber when some members protested against the use of Swann's pit as a Ministry of Supply small calibre range for testing armour-piercing projectiles in the middle of a built-up area. But Alderman Doggett said he had stood within three or four feet of the weapon and was not 'disturbed' – "although it was true we had our fingers in our ears. There is really very little we can do and it wouldn't be of much use objecting", he said. # c.45.8

£1.00 pa tenants, p6

1952 03 14 ES

Cathedral damage now up to £60,000 – 52 03 14ES

1952 03 15
A world-wide appeal for £60,000 has been launched to cover the cost of repairs of considerable damage caused by the Death Watch Beetle to Ely Cathedral. It was last October when renovation of the Nave roof was nearly completed that evidence of the beetle's ravages was discovered in the Octagon and Lantern. Now further examination has revealed other damage to the roofs of the beautiful Lady Chapel, Choir, belfry and transepts. In some cases to replace or strengthen honey-combed oak beams great masses of lead will have to be lifted and completely re-cast. It is expected that work will take four or five years.

1952 03 17
A home-made gun made out of pieces of wood and lead tubing lay on the table in front of a 16-year-old Polish boy as he told the Cambridge coroner how a bullet from it had killed a fellow schoolboy at the Polish Boy's College, Bottisham. The top of the bullet with a charge of 50 match-heads behind it passed through the door of a Nissen Hut, pierced the window of an adjacent hut ten yards away and hit him in the head.

1952 03 17
A thin shaft of sunlight momentarily falling upon the heads of choirboys and the robed clergy coincided with a solemn act of dedication and remembrance at Great St Mary's church, Cambridge, at the unveiling of a tablet bearing the names of six men of the parish who fell in World War II. Furnishings in St Andrew's chapel were also dedicated as a memorial by the Bishop of Ely.- 52 03 17 # c.62

1952 03 19
A Cambridge man appeared in court as a result of a wheel coming off a car while rounding the Clock Tower in Newmarket. Shopkeeper William Shepherd said that it shot through his glass shop door and came to rest by the counter. The driver told him he would pay the costs of about £2.6s.0d. A garage fitter who examined the car said he thought the wheel had been "running loose" for some time. The driver said the car had just been overhauled and he had driven from Cromer. The case was dismissed.

1952 03 19
St Andrew's church, Cherry Hinton, has raised £1,700 to remedy the ravages of the death-watch beetle in their old timbers. The roof tiles have been stripped and the belfry floor renewed. Plans are being prepared for a new Parish Hall on the Mowbray Road site, a portion of which would be used as a church. Mr F. Linsey has retired from the position of organist and choirmaster after 18 years. # c.83

Caravan site, p6

1952 03 20
Tv reception, p7

1952 03 21
Claude Hulbert, the loveable comedian, heads the cast at the Arts Theatre, Cambridge in his brother, Jack's production of the famous farce, "Nothing but the Truth", which ran for 578 performances in London. The Hulberts have many associations with the area. Sons of an Ely doctor both came to Caius College and were enthusiastic members of the Footlights Dramatic Club. Jack appeared at the Arts in "The Hulbert Follies" with his famous wife, Cicely Courtneidge, in July 1941, while Claude had a notable success in "Worth a Million" when he co-starred with Edmund Gwen and Ruby Miller. – 52 03 21

1952 03 21
Joe Kester has died at Chesterton Hospital at the age of 104. On his last birthday he was surrounded by five generations of his family. He was born at Kingston in 1847 but moved to Hardwick as a baby and lived there for 98 years. He remembered when his mother could take a shopping bag the size of a pillowcase to the shops and get it filled for 3s. (15p). He was six when he started work, tending the geese, chickens and turkeys and earned 6d a week. He had only candles for lighting and a tinderbox to light them with. Joe enjoyed a half-pint of beer a day & used to say: "I lived well, worked hard and had plenty of ale and fresh air. Hard work never hurt anybody" – 52 03 21

1952 03 21 ES
Proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II at Ely – 52 03 21ES

Ouse Catchment Board schemes for river maintenance – 52 03 21(3)ES

Luck of Sallowby review – 52 03 21(3)ES

1952 03 22
Meadowlands church, p9

1952 03 24
Women candidates, p5
Central School, p10

1952 03 25
Boys' Brigade, p10

1952 03 26
"King-pin of the Cambridgeshire Beekeepers Association", Mr David Moore, known to many as "Uncle David", has just retired as secretary after 16 years. He had built up the membership from 100 to 648 in ten years though his whole-hearted devotion and enthusiasm and an intensive programme of personal calls on beekeepers all over the county. He started a Queen Breeding Station and arranged participation in honey shows and the formation of the East Anglian Federation.

Fulbourn Hospital ward, p4
Development plan exhibition, p6

1952 03 27
When Chesterton RDC acquired land to erect 2,000 council houses in "necklace villages" in order to accommodate the "over-spilled" population of Cambridge they should obtain sufficient land to allow for private building as well, said a councillor. Council houses were subsidised to the extent of £35 12s. and building private houses would ease the financial burden. The sewerage of the parishes of Milton and Great and Little Shelford was already in and they should be the first villages to be developed. Fulbourn, Stapleford, Harston, Barton and Coton were also on the priority list.

Willingham House, p7

1952 03 28
Rev H.W. Batstone death, p7
Self-built houses, p9

1952 03 28 ES
Effort to save pilot in blazing plane Waldersea – 51 03 28ES

1952 03 29
Damage estimated at £4,000 was caused by a fire at Cottenham when a building belonging to Messrs Cavender and Clark was completely gutted by flames fanned by a gale force wind. Part of the Granta Works the building contained machinery and wood used in the manufacture of the firm's principal products, collapsible canoes. A large export programme is carried out by the firm and this will inevitably be curtailed. Now work previously carried out by machine will have to be continued by hand.

Record day for marriages, p1

1952 03 31
Burrough Green was still cut off by snow this morning and has been without milk since Saturday. The driving wind which accompanied the snow have created huge drifts around the village. Speaking by phone from the Post Office Mrs Walsh said: "We are completely snowed up. They tell us we shall be lucky if the road is cleared by this evening". The heavy snow has piled up on the rooftops and percolated beneath the tiles, causing considerable discomfort. Tiles have been ripped off roofs and people have been forced to move their beds downstairs. Everyone was busy shovelling snow.

1952 03 31
Meadlowland Methodists in Cambridge revealed a venturesome spirit when, in driving snow, they dedicated the site of the proposed new church and offices. The simple service was conducted in the East Barnwell Community Centre & Coun Herbert Finbow cut the first turf. Mr Henry Hughes, the architect, explained a model of the new building which will present an impressive aspect when viewed from Newmarket Road. Finance will come in part from the sale of the Tabernacle Church.
c.83

April 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 04 01
Burrough Green, cut off by the blizzard of the week-end, was relieved when Council workmen carved a one-way traffic line through the eight and ten-foot drifts on the main Dullingham Road. One of the first people in the village was the milkman bring the first supply of fresh milk since Saturday morning. Thirty-three snow ploughs have been called into action to assist 27 villages in the Newmarket area. Five passengers who were stranded when an Eastern Counties bus was abandoned at Wickhambrook were put up for the night by people in nearby cottages and did not get back to their homes at Burwell until the afternoon. Then they had to walk over drifts that were often 10 to 12 feet high.

John Ruttherford, Haddenham, p4
Addenbrooke's Hospital, p6

1952 04 02
Arbury Baptist organ, p8
Hundred Houses Sociaty, p10

1952 04 03
Cancer cure, p6

1952 04 04
The Jockey Club objected to part of the Newmarket training grounds known as Southfields Gallops and The Flat being zoned as a Service airfield on the Development Plan. They were a quarter of the whole of the ground available for trainers. Part of the training grounds was requisitioned during the war & the stands on the racecourse were de-requisitioned in 1945. It was extraordinary that the powers-that-be should still regard it as a Service airfield.

Peter Cook case, p6

1952 04 05
Everyone in Linton is talking about Arthur Starling, a retired coachbuilder who lives alone in a dusty, deserted-looking house in the High Street. When he collapsed and was taken to Linton Hospital neighbours investigated his dingy living room. They found a barrel cracked and full of woodworm – and silver coins, six hundredweight of them. In another box were golden sovereigns and bank notes, some no longer legal tender, total value £4,000. Arthur has recovered and gone home but his money was handed over for safe deposit in one of the village's "Fridays only" banks. Meanwhile his shop still looks deserted and gaunt; the front door has not been opened for years and the windows are so dirty they may have been made of opaque glass. – 52 04 05

1952 04 05
Members of the Boy Scouts' Association will unite in congratulating Mr W.A. Mackrow, Assistant County Commissioner and scoutmaster of the 12th Cambridge (Viscount Clifden's Own) Scout group on the award of the Silver Acorn in the St George's Day Honours List. He has played a prominent part in Cambridge scouting for many years and has special interest in the Sea Scouts whose well-equipped motor boat 'The Adventurer' is a well-known feature of the Cam.

1952 04 07
Townswomens Guild, p5
Ellison death, p11

1952 04 08
RAF buses, p9

1952 04 10
South Cambs councillors discussed an application for a council house from a married undergraduate with children. Coun Binney said: "Council houses are for the working people in this district, not for those coming up to the University as undergraduates. It does seem not quite up to the line when we have so many people earning £5 and £6 a week urgently in need of accommodation".

1952 04 11 ES
County Library opened at Littleport: a valuable amenity – photo – 52 04 11ES

1952 04 12
Cambridge received a pleasant surprise on Good Friday. On ground where snow lay six inches deep less than two weeks ago, several people enjoyed hours of sun bathing and many thousands spent much of the day out of doors. Churches reported that three times as many people attended its services than last Good Friday. Petrol at 4s.3d a gallon did not deter the motoring public & the Automobile Association reported a 'good flow' of traffic on the roads with about 600 cars passing through Newmarket every hour. Many cars were older pre-war models making their first trips after being laid up for the winter.

1952 04 12
There has been a spontaneous desire on the part of the farming community to perpetuate the name of the late S. Owen Webb by some form of memorial. It is felt the most practical and one that would fill a long felt need is to establish an "Owen Webb House" in Cambridge to house the offices, meeting rooms, club rooms etc essential to the County Agricultural Organisations which he served so well. An appeal has been opened and the farming community have already subscribed handsomely.

1952 04 14
Café sign, p5

1952 04 15
Robs to have eight, p9

1952 04 16
Much as we should all like to dispense with the yearly job of collecting new ration books there is no chance of this happening yet awhile. The Food Office has announced that the new ration books will be distributed from the Corn Exchange and the Old Sorting Office in Post Office Terrace, Cambridge. Elderly people and mothers with babies are recommended to visit the Corn Exchange as it is ground floor accommodation. It is not necessary to take along identity cards on this occasion but unless your full name is entered on page four of the old book the Food Office will be unable to issue a new one

1952 04 16
Two new Western Chapels, erected at Bottisham church by Lord Fairhaven in memory of his mother, were dedicated by the Bishop of Ely. The original plan, conceived in 1939, was for an extension of the church in the form of a Lady Chapel. This was cancelled on the outbreak of war and eventually the new plan was substituted.

1952 04 16
Sir – I wonder how many Cambridge ratepayers approve of the idea of water trickling along the gutters of St Andrew's Street. It was laid in case cattle wanted a drink, which was a good idea. In 1952 however it is a bad idea because it makes the street narrower, especially when cars are parked and buses are forced close to the kerb. I saw a quart of water splashed into the lap of an infant in a small go-cart when a bus went past Stanley Woolston's shop at a smart walking pace and its mother was unable to manoeuvre out of the bus's bow wave. I'll wager she would like to see the tap turned off – O.C. Cox.

Tv star, p5
Cartoon – parking, p8

1952 04 17
Cambridge Trades Council strongly objected to the closing of Romsey Municipal Restaurant. It will deny a good mid-day meal to many old people & working class men could not afford to go into places in Cambridge and pay high prices for meals. Transport workers could not get a meal if the facility were taken away. The profit of the combined restaurants is more than enough to cover losses and as municipal restaurants are a public service and not run for profit they urged the continuation of the service in Romsey – 52 04 17 # c.27.47

1952 04 18
A rookery, recently established in the Vicarage garden at Burwell, is not likely to be long-lived. Despite well-wishers in the village wanting the birds to stay the Vicar has decided that the four newly built nests in his walnut trees must be exterminated because they are a nuisance. "But", he said "because of meddlesome busybodies who are creating unpleasantness and because I am a life member of the Cambridge University Federation for Animal Welfare it is very difficult for me to get rid of these birds". Now two men with shot-guns have been seen in the garden and one bird was killed "instantaneously". – 52 04 18

Barton Mills crash, p9

1952 04 22
A local schoolgirl's experiences in London over Easter was related to Cambridge Juvenile Court magistrates. She said that she met an American who gave her £2 and her fare to London, saying he would meet her there. She stayed two nights with a woman who was known to be an "undesirable character" and two further nights in the company of another girl whom she met. She had posed as 17, frequented the amusement arcades and snack bars and associated with several "spivvy people". She was sent to a remand home until a place could be found at an approved school.

Car stayed to dinner, p10

1952 04 23
Meteor ejector seat, p7

1952 04 24
The County council and landowners in Landbeach, Cottenham and Willingham have objected to their land being included in an internal drainage district of the Great Ouse River Board. . Cottenham was well served by ditches, drains and gravity drainage, but they were not kept in a proper state. The only way was to put them under a drainage district. But the County claimed that the additional cost of the drainage rate on their smallholdings would increase the rate throughout the whole county.

1952 04 24
Cambridgeshire National Farmers Union heard with satisfaction that the Railway Executive had agreed to operate the 5.27 p.m. Histon to Kettering goods rated soft fruit train this season. It was particularly in the interest of local strawberry growers to keep this train in operation but if it is not fully used it will not be possible to provide a similar service next year.

1952 04 26
A new type of smoke detector, developed and perfected in Switzerland, is being installed in the Fitzwilliam Museum. It will be the first building in the country to be equipped with the alarm which utilises the principles of radioactive disintegration. Museum authorities carried out tests with a pilot system installed at selected points in the building. Independent tests were also carried out by the Cavendish Laboratory. The system is unobtrusive and will not interfere with the aesthetic atmosphere of the building.

1952 04 26 c
Canon W.W. Partridge is retiring from the living of St Luke's church, Cambridge, of which he has been vicar since 1916. He was also for two years chaplain at the prison on Castle Hill, which was demolished to make way for the new Shire Hall. The vicarage, which was built in 1923, was the first house erected on the large estate which now stretches away behind his church.

1952 04 26
Two large huts have been erected on a piece of waste land at the top of Castle Street, Cambridge. They are to be an Anglo-American and Allied Services Club which is being started at the request of the American Service authorities to provide servicemen of other countries with somewhere pleasant to go when they are in Cambridge. There are two very big rooms which have been tastefully and brightly decorated and provided with old furniture renovated by the W.V.S. One will serve for games of various kinds and the other for dancing. There is to be a snack bar and that "must" for Americans, a juke box.

Addenbrooke's Hospital radio, p6

1952 04 28
It was a rather sad moment when Miss Gaskell got up to make her farewell speech as chairman at the annual meeting of the Cambridgeshire Federation of Women's Institutes. She has held office since it was first formed over 30 years ago, first as assistant secretary to Miss Ellen Briscoe, and became chairman in 1941. She also served on the National Executive for 14 years. Now having reached her three score years and ten she will be able to rest on her laurels in the satisfaction of a job well done.

Parachutists attack Mildenhall, p9, pic 29th p7

1952 04 30
Miss Lillian Bourn will be remembered for her work during the war with the American Red Cross. She was Supervisor of Hospitality at their Bull Hotel club and coped with the countless American soldiers visiting Cambridge. In fact she married one of them. The romance began when her husband, who sings, went into the Bull and asked her if she could find someone to accompany him. "I was able to do so and that's how it started", she said. Her home is now in the university town of Evanston, Illinois.

May 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 05 02
Three seasons ago Cambridge United (then Abbey United) Supporters' Club embarked on an ambitious scheme – the building of a £3,000 pavilion and clubroom with office accommodation. At first the loyal band of supporters was beset by building material difficulties and then hampered by the weather. There were scenes of great enthusiasm when the building was handed over to the football club management. It is just 40 years since the club was formed as Abbey United as the outcome of the desire to play football by a Sunday School class. "Our set-up is now really wonderful and there is no reason why the club should not go on from success to success", said Harry Habbin, chairman of the Supporters Club.

1952 05 03
The Foreign Secretary, Mr Anthony Eden opened the Anglo-U.S.A. and Allied services Club on Castle Hill, Cambridge. A year ago the city council was approached by the Women's Voluntary Service with the object of providing the site for the club. Since then much work had been done by the W.V.S. together with valuable assistance of the U.S. Air Force and the Air Ministry. The club will be open every evening during the week and, Mr Eden said, will lure out American Service men from the attractions of their camps so they could learn "what extraordinary animals the English are"

1952 05 03
A hitherto undreamed-of use for the television camera unit – to facilitate under-water research and the location of wrecks – was demonstrated at Pye's Radio works. It was this type of camera which located the submarine Affray and was manipulated from the recovery vessel H.M.S. Reclaim. At present she is being fitted with additional Pye Radio T.V. equipment and when this is completed the BBC will arrange an outside broadcast from the ship. Its visual range is far greater than that of a diver and it can operate at a greater depth. For the purposes of the demonstration the camera was set up in front of a goldfish tank owing to the high mud content of the River Cam

1952 05 05
Development plan proposals. Cambridge city council would like to see Christ's Lane opened out as a thoroughfare to be used by the omnibuses and other traffic to alleviate congestion in the City centre and provide relief for Emmanuel Street. The present country bus station at Drummer Street would then become the main stopping place for the local buses which now pick up and set down passengers in Sidney Street constricting the traffic flow. They also propose a new road on the line of Post Office Terrace to Wheeler Street. With Corn Exchange Street widened this would provide for a good circulation of traffic in the city centre. – 52 05 05

1952 05 06
Nearly 400 agricultural workers, headed by an M.P. marched with two banners flying through Cambridge city centre. They were members of the National Union of Agricultural Workers – men and women – who had come for a May Day rally. Mr Walston said we had to get as much out of the land as we possibly could simply for our national survival. The farm worker was the important factor in food production & should be compulsorily protected against the danger of toxic chemicals used on the farms. Grants be made to farmers for improving tied cottages together with loans for building new ones.

1952 05 06
More than 300 people attended the public baptism of four American Service men in the river Lark at Isleham. Although these services on the river bank are not new it is believed that this is the first time that the Americans have held one exclusively for their own men. It was 102 years to the day since the famous Baptist preacher, Spurgeon, was baptised there. The service was conducted by U.S.A.F. Lakenheath Chaplain John E. Bryden who said: "I got a real thrill out of it because Spurgeon was always one of my heroes"

1952 05 06
Members of 250 Field Squadron Royal Engineers demolished 24 trees of up to 15-feet circumference at Overmere Way Farm, Willingham. The trees were lifted bodily out of the ground. This required large charges set under the roots, many of them in water. Many trees required as many as four charges in each to ensure that the roots would be pulled out with the trunk. The farmer, Mr Granger, wanted to make two fields into one and needed the trees dividing them to be removed. He showed his appreciation by providing much-needed liquid refreshment.

1952 05 09 ES
Littleport fire at Goddard & Peake's Empire Granaries - 52 05 09ES

Ely Desert Forces annual dinner – 52 05 09(2)ES

1952 05 10
There is to be no reprieve for the Stetchworth Football Club's ground at Mill Field as the club – which this year won the Wilkin Shield – is now without a pitch. Lord Ellesmere, who owns the field, was agreeable that it should be used permanently as a recreation ground, but had to consult his tenant. But Mr J.E. Ferguson, the racehorse owner whose Airborne won the Derby, wants the field as an additional paddock and his lease has 14 years to run

1952 05 12
Nearly 100 children walked calmly out of Richmond Road Infants' School, Cambridge when fire swept the 50-foot-long school roof. The school caretaker, Mrs E.N. Mansfield said: "The children were perfectly calm and they walked out with their little coats so smartly". The headmistress (Miss W.E. Chandler) and her assistant, Miss K.E. Buck took their pupils to a nearby recreation ground while firemen tackled the blaze on the tiles. The Chief Constable, Mr B.N. Bebbington, was amongst a crowd of willing helpers who moved school furniture and equipment to safety

1952 05 15
Dominated by the money-spinning Cambridgeshire Invitation Cup competition, which gave their fans their biggest treat for years, the local Soccer season just ended has been notable in many respects. The competition, which saw Cambridge United carry off the Blue Riband of Cambs football, produced keen local rivalry and over 25,000 spectators watched the four ties played with 9,814 people at the final. It was without doubt the United's best-ever season. They finished fourth in the Eastern Counties League, won the United Counties League Cup final and reached the final of the Hunts premier Cup.

1952 05 16
The first meeting of the Cambridge Vegetarian Society was well attended. One of the objects was to interest people in the Food Reform movement and to give ocular as well as gastronomical proof that vegetarians live well without the necessity for eating the flesh of animals. A tasty and tasteful array of vegetarian dishes had been prepared. Vegetarianism was a pioneering and minority movement but was received by the Press and public with more respect than formerly

1952 05 17
Over ten years ago St Andrew's Street Baptist Church commenced work on the Ditton Fields Estate, Cambridge. A Sunday School was opened in the old Community Centre and later an Army hut was bought and re-erected on a grass verge on the estate. Now a new advance is in prospect; a splendid site at the corner of Dudley Road was made available by the Corporation and work is proceeding on the new building.

1952 05 19
The Anglo-USA and Allied Services Club on Shire Hill, Cambridge, is now open for service men and women every evening, but although they have the basic equipment and some books and games, there are a number of articles still needed to improve the amenities. Amongst these is a piano. They also badly want a wireless set, a gramophone and records, garden furniture, a ping-pong table and a clock– a particularly the clock

1952 05 20
Known throughout Cambridge as "Lightning", 78-years-old Ernest Siggers, a former well-known local newsvendor has died. He lived the life of a recluse. The only time his neighbours in Fitzroy Street ever took any notice of him was just before he went to Linton Hospital in 1948. On that occasion he lit an explosive flu cleaner to clear the chimney of soot. It cleared the soot all right. And early cleared the flat and its contents too.

1952 05 20
When Reach fair was proclaimed by the Mayor of Cambridge (Ald. H.O. Lagdon) on Monday schoolchildren from Wicken and Upware revived the aged custom of arriving in a barge on the Reach Lode. Rigged with sails the boat had been navigated from Upware. It is many years since anyone set sail for Reach fair but some of the children say they have heard their parents talk of having made the same journey. The boat was moored in the Hythe where it formed part of the background for the proclamation by the Town Clerk of Cambridge (Mr Alan Swift)

1952 05 20
Following the discovery of three vessels of Roman origin at Snailwell, experts from the Fitzwilliam Museum have made regular visits to the new housing site on which the discoveries were made. It is now certain that the vases, which stand several feet in height, are of far greater archaeological value than was at first thought and one is the first of its kind to be discovered whole. That they were unearthed in one piece reflects great credit on the workmen who were digging a trench when the first one was discovered.

1952 05 21
Just before six o'clock this morning Mr Frank Webster was in bed in a room above his shop in Magdalene Street, Cambridge when he heard a terrific bang. A six-tonner lorry loaded with 15 tons of wheat had crashed into the shop at the corner of Northampton Street, ploughed through the wall and ended up with its front wheels where the counter used to be. It had swerved to avoid another lorry which also crashed into the shop. Between them the vehicles made the place look as if it had received a direct hit from a bomb

1952 05 22
Mr George Blows of the Cambridge Daily News Photo-engraving department gave an interesting lecture to Newmarket Camera Club on photo-engraving in line and halftone reproductions for newspapers. From the time a news photograph was taken, developed and printed and the halftone block ready for newspaper printing, a period of 1½ hours elapsed. During this time it was copied no fewer than seven times before it finally appeared in print. Drawings from bleached-out photographs, commercial art drawings by Mr G.F. Thompson and cartoons by Lewis in black and white block reproductions were also shown.

1952 05 23
Cambridge City Council received with thanks a gift from Papworth Industries of a carrying case for the Mayoral chain. Some 235 guest were present at a complimentary dinner at the Dorothy to the outgoing Mayor Ald H. O. Lagdon. He was "a tradesman, a man of humble birth" who had carried off his duties connected with the visit by the Queen as if to the manner born. There was one occasion when he had not followed the traditions of the city. He did not ride on a roundabout at Reach Fair!

1952 05 23 ES
Amateur television in Ely – 52 05 23ES

1952 05 24

The village of Impington has achieved a long awaited ambition in that it now has a vicarage. It had been discussed as long ago as 1666 but plans were made for the present building in 1937. There was little progress during the war but in 1946 the site was bought and since then the vicarage has been built. A chain of pennies was organised to clear the debt and the last two coins were handed over to the vicar by two old inhabitants – Mr R.C. Unwin who has been verger for 18 years and Mrs C. Peck who came to Impington as a young girl.

1952 05 26
Biscuits have come to Newmarket to stay. For the last month Meredith and Drew Ltd, the world-famous biscuit makers, have been finding their feet in what used to be the old flax factory in the Fordham Road. They have already started production and have ambitious plans for the future. Ultimately they hope to concentrate their entire chocolate wafer biscuit production at the factory which will be as modern and hygienic as any in the country. When it is in production at least 350 people will be employed, mostly girls.

1952 05 27
Unless residents and firms in the Newmarket rural area apply economies in their use of water in the near future, there is likely to be a "desperate" shortage. The position is extremely acute owing to the continued lack of water. Every pumping station is working at full pressure but the output is still insufficient. A new regional water scheme which will supply main water from a new well at Chippenham is likely to be in operation at the end of the summer and a brand new reservoir has been built at the top of Newmarket's Warren Hill

1952 05 28
Animal lovers will be sorry to hear that the Cambridge Cat's Home in Garlic Row is to lose its superintendent, Miss D. Toomey. Her departure is much regretted by the Cambridge branch of Our Dumb Friend's League for since she arrived in 1948 she has made so many improvements that the Home is now probably one of the finest in England. She has cared for about 7,000 animals & everything possible has been done to provide them with comfortably lodgings, good food and affection. All the bowls are washed and sterilised with the utmost care in a kitchen equipped with a refrigerator to ensure keeping the milk, fish etc fresh.

1952 05 28
Hallens open new garage, Bridge Street – 52 03 28 # c.26.46

June 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 06 02
There are gaps in Girton to be filled as a result of sporadic war-time development in the village. Mr J.J. Crown said in 1945 that his firm had purchased land in Cambridge Road to build 90 houses. It was not to be ribbon development – they propose to develop the back land. Building land was very scarce and he had received inquiries practically every day from people wishing to build, but who had no land. There was the question of a proposed by-pass on the Cambridge side of Girton to be laid in the next 20 years. Girton would be contained within the line of the by-pass.

1952 06 02
In spite of its size Sawston has never had a church hall and for the last 17 years parishioners have worked and saved. The war intervened but at the end of 1950 the project was revived. Several sites were considered and one in Church Lane, centrally placed between "Old Sawston" and the post-war housing estates selected. A building licence was granted on the strict condition that only voluntary labour should be used & work started in earnest. The labour force consists of 63 men, boys and girls and they have now erected the "shell" of the building. Work begins at 6.30 each evening and continues until nightfall. It is hoped the hall will be finished before the end of the year

1952 06 03 c

Ever since he was a young land "Shorty" Hallen has been fascinated by motor cycles. Some 20 years ago he started a business of his own in a small shed in Chesterton. Then in 1936 he opened his showrooms at Chesterton Road, Cambridge. Now he has opened another shop at the Bridge Garage, St Ives. Who could have visualised that the rather tumbled-down buildings could have been turned into the magnificent premises they now are? Instead of a musty-looking building it is a brightly painted, well set out and amply stocked showroom with everything for the motor cyclist. It will add to the usefulness, drawing capacity and charm of the town.

1952 06 05
While 26 assistants searched for smoke they could smell in their living quarters above the premises of Messrs Robert Sayle in St Andrew's Street, Cambridge, a thick pall poured out of one of the windows on the top floor. When the alarm was raised a score of them dashed downstairs and through the shop carrying their belongings with them. One assistant, Miss Ann Todd, said: "I thought of all of my clothes and I struggled down from my room with masses of them. I wasn't going to leave them behind". As it was Thursday afternoon there were only about 30 people in the premises at the time. Staff organised a chain of buckets until the arrival of the Fire Brigade. # c.34.75 # c.27.2

Madrigals, p7

1952 06 07
A Brampton man was a member of a party seeing off a newly-married couple at Huntingdon Railway station. As a joke he chalked on the carriage the words: "Just married. Gone to his doom". But chalking on railway carriages is illegal and he found himself before magistrates "for wantonly defacing" a vestibule coach, the property of the Railway Executive. He was convicted & fined the cost of washing down, cleaning & repainting the coach, which was 15s. It was not the railway authority's wish to be spoilsports and stop a bit of fun but there had been quite a bit of this chalking and the prosecution might act as a deterrent.

Rector abused boys, p6

1952 06 10
The season of the Cambridge year when evening dress becomes early morning wear for some began last night when seven May Balls took place. Heading the list was Trinity where 1,100 joined in the festivities. Dancing to Nat Temple and his band took place beneath the college library. There was a gay scene at Corpus Christi where parties crowded a beautifully-transformed entrance at a late hour while at Caius there was a skirl of pipes to set the entertainment in full swing. Other balls were held at Clare, Christ's, Sidney Sussex and Peterhouse.

1952 06 10
The skeletons of two prehistoric animals believed to be about 140 million years old have been unearthed on the Wicken Road, Stretham. One, a plesiosaurus is thought to be about 20 feet long, and the other is believed to be a dinosaur. The discovery was made during dragline operations. A lorry load of gault had been tipped on to the bank when the bones were spotted. Experts from the Sedgwick Museum visited the site to excavate the skeletons, which are only five feet below the surface. – 52 06 10 Photo 13th p10

Senate House views plan, p5

1952 06 11
Cambridge Model Aircraft Club held their first "Jetex" flying competition at R.A.F. Waterbeach airfield. The first competing aircraft was towed in, stored snugly in a neat box bicycle trailer and soon other men were rummaging happily as children in a toy cupboard over the side-cars of their motor cycles or car boots. The jets have been in the development stage for nearly five years but sometimes the jet unit would become detached, hissing across the concrete or burn itself out in the long grass. D. Lipscombe, who plane stayed up for one and a half minutes carried off the Challenge Cup

1952 06 12
With all the familiar colour and dignity of a royal occasion, the date of the Queen's coronation – June 2nd next year – was proclaimed today to the people of the city and county of Cambridge. It was a happy coincidence that it should mark a fitting and optimistic finale to the gay and glittering story of the May Week celebrations. A girl still in her May Ball gown and cloak was amongst a crowd of people outside the Shire Hall courts when the High Sheriff, following a fanfare, read the ancient proclamation. On the Market Square a crowd several hundred strong was silent when the Town Clerk began to read but his voice was all but lost in the howl from jet planes speeding overhead. # c.02

1952 06 12
Cambridge University is considering the possibility of increasing the number of women permitted to the University in any one year. The Council of Senate recommends there should be a new autonomous foundation for women students, the number not exceeding 100. They consider there is a great need for women graduates but any increase should not lead to a lowering of standards. Present regulations permit of 1,400 women, one-fifth of the total of men students. Cambridge is doing considerably less than other Universities in providing women with a University education. # c.36.98

1952 06 13 ES
Theft from Mepal aerodrome – 52 06 13ES

1952 06 14
Addenbrooke's Hospital closed, p1
Camtax & Bedford Lodge bankruptcy, p5 # c.26.47
Household expenditure survey, p5

1952 06 16
Howlett 55 Beaconsfield, p4
Romsey British Legion womens standard, p7

1952 06 17
Dry Drayton chapel, p5
Homes for old people, p6

1952 06 18
Air raid sirens, p6
Great St Mary's bells removed, p7 # c.69.6

1952 06 20
Cambridge Preservation Society object to the chalets and caravans at Grassy Corner, Fen Ditton. They say haphazard development of individually respectable shacks has seriously spoiled this length of river. The fifteen owners said they paid £14 a year rent for their plots and the land flooded in winter. The gypsy encampment and rubbish dump on the opposite side of the river made it difficult to understand the objections. Their gardens were well looked after and of similar layout to the "Plough" next door. If the chalets erected before the Town and Country Planning Acts are left and the later ones removed the place will look like a mouth from which half the teeth have been knocked out

Meadowlands Methodist church opens, p7 # c.83
Madingley Hall acquired by University for ridiculously cheap price – 52 06 20

1952 06 20 ES
Celery time in the Isle – 'robot' mechanical transplanter, photo – 52 06 20(3)ES

1952 06 21

Mr Lloyd Stokes, owner of land at Trinity Hall Farm, Milton, said there were 140 armoured vehicles on the land waiting to be shipped. He wanted an access from Green Park because he had a number of tanks coming through the back and wished to enlarge the front entrance on to Milton Road. It was dangerous and an agricultural machine such as a 12-foot combine could not get through. The County council suggested the city should buy this piece of land and put there light industry, not likely to cause any nuisance. – 52 06 21 # c.45.7 # c.27.1

'Slap-Up' roundabout, p6
New Square lorries, p6
St George's street names – 52 06 21

1952 06 24
Lord Woolton visited Abington Hall to open a new laboratory for the British Welding Research Association. The laboratory, started in October 1950, is a "plastically" designed steel structure with brick cladding and contains the most modern machines for testing "fatigue", stress and strain, in welded metals.

1952 06 25
Civil Defence exercise, p4
Great St Mary's bells, p4

1952 06 26
About 6,000 acres of the best fenland are devoted to the growth of celery, with an annual production of some 70,000 tons. Of this acreage 1,500 are in Cambridgeshire. At Whittlesey there are growers who earn a good living by producing celery crops for planting out in fields. Prickers-out get a wage of 30s. a day, if they are very good. During the lifting and trimming process one man lifts, one takes off the outside leaves and another removes the roots. – 52 06 26

Girton planning inquiry, p7

1952 06 27
A member of the Isle of Ely County Council was accused of corrupt practices. It was alleged he had paid the landlords of the Red Lion, Three Pickerels and Cross Keys public houses at Mepal, for the expense of providing drinks to influence electors to vote at the election. Having been elected to the county council he gave them £1 to celebrate his victory, but it so happened he was also a candidate for the forthcoming Ely Rural Council election. He also gave £1 to Wardy Hill Social Club, £5 to the headmaster of Mepal School for a children's outing and 10s to the proprietor of the fish and chip shop. But it was not a way of creating an atmosphere of popularity for himself which would have an effect on voters & he was acquitted – 52 06 27

Stretham engine, p8

1952 06 27 ES
Mepal airfield old road closed permanently, new to come out on Ely side of Brook House – 52 06 27ES

1952 06 28
Mr W. Levett (just "William" to everyone at Cambridge's Lion Hotel) recalled some of the dinners he had served there over the last 50 years. There was a special private party for Prince Albert while he was up at Trinity and his list of Very Important Diners ranged from barons to Sultans and Prime Ministers. "I've served most of them … Balfour, Asquith, Lloyd George (he used to live here almost), Baldwin – and Churchill". Undergraduate members of renowned clubs like the Beef Steak, True Blue, Caledonian and Carlton have dined there. "Twelve to 15 courses we used to carry, and they took two-and-a-half hours to serve. And, mind you, nothing less than a magnum for the table". He is a cheerful, energetic little man and it would be a good idea if the hotel management entertained "William" to dinner and let someone wait on him – just for a change.- 52 06 28 # c.27.45

1952 06 30
If ever a stunt fell flat it was the Pacifist demonstration at Mildenhall U.S.A.F. base. Stretched out on their beam ends in front of the main gates, two young women made a courageous but futile attempt to persuade a handful of American servicemen that they would be better off at home. The demonstrators were fighting a losing battle before they started. Earlier Mildenhall Market Place had seen some fun when the 17 Pacifist stalwarts gathered to embark on their "Operation Ghandi". After tramping the hot and dusty miles to the air base for the squatting performance the would-be builders of world peace returned for a public meeting. But an indifferent crowd could hardly have cared less. # c.45.8

July 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 07 01
Sir – I observe that the new Davey Road has been laid out with a new grass verge which will soon require cutting. On entering Radegund Road it gives the impression that you are in a beautiful meadow with grass verges being preserved for hay. I then wandered along to Brooks Road and beheld Council houses with numerous tiles off the roofs, broken gates, fences and window sills and hardly any paint on the woodwork at all – in fact the property looked disgraceful – Observer

1952 07 02
Sir – In 1950 the Shelford and Stapleford Scout Troop was re-opened after a lapse of many years and the first question was that of a H.Q. where meetings could be held. The Shelford guides could not help as their barn had developed dry rot in the floor which was no longer safe for games, and they too would soon be homeless. After many months of effort enough was raised to buy and erect an ex-Army hut. Permission was obtained and the H.Q. opened with great rejoicing in April 1951. But then came the Central Land Board with a claim for a £300 development charge!

1952 07 03
Part of the river Mel has flooded Orchard Cottage at Station Road, Meldreth and South Cambs RDC ought to do something about it because the river belongs to them, said Mr Pepper. The lower half-mile of the river where it discharged into the Rhee had been taken over by the Council. The state of the river had gone from bad to worse. Some time ago it broke its banks and they plugged the breach, but this only dammed the water until it reached a higher level where it broke through the banks again. But the chairman said: "It must not go out that this Council is the drainage authority and will clean out peoples' ditches"

District bank, p4
Church and housing estates, p10

1952 07 04
For over 50 years Arthur Hart has been organist at the Brinkley parish church, which the Bishop of Ely described as "a magnificent record". Mr Hart said that long service was not unusual. Mr Missen had been a member of the choir for 33 years, and before that a member of the church for 22 years. The Rector said the 100-year-old organ was a museum piece: "I don't believe there is another organ in the whole of England like it, but no one could play it like Mr Hart. During his long period as organist nothing has had to be done to it".

1952 07 04
Delivering coal the modern way means a conveyor belt instead of sacks. Pioneers of this new system are Messrs Austin Beales Ltd whose first Conveyor Delivery Service vehicle has just gone into operation. The coal is loaded in bulk on the lorry and discharges on to the belt conveyor which can deliver coal upwards, downwards or sideways. This means it can be delivered through narrow hatchways, over the tops off walls or down a ground level chute within a radius of 180 degrees. And it is speedy. Five tons were delivered at Addenbrooke's Hospital in six minutes

1952 07 04 ES
Old inns and hotels scheduled including the Club at Lt Downham, Bell at Haddenham, Turk's Head Littleport and Three Horse Shows at Lt Thetford – 52 07 04ES

1952 07 05
Cambridge University announced proposals to erect a number of new buildings for the arts faculties between Sidgwick Avenue and West Road. It will provide accommodation in the first instance for the Faculty of Modern and Medieval Languages, Economics and Politics, English and Moral Sciences. At a later stage the scheme will provide for museums and a lecture theatre to seat 1,000 students constructed to permit its use for musical or dramatic productions. It is not possible to say when work will begin. # c.36.9

Mary Vinter novel, p9

1952 07 07
Morley School pageant, p4 – 52 07 07

1952 07 08
The Nina Hubbard Ballet School celebrated their second anniversary with the production of "Cinderella" as a ballet at the A.D.C. More than 60 pupils took part. Helen Deakin was delightfully convincing in the title role while Anna Wooster brought dignity to the role of Prince Charming and other pleasing performances were given by Patricia Read and Irene Smith as the step-sisters. Jennifer Andrew was outstanding as Cinderella's father and the doll dance by Carolyn Sanders and Margaret Jones, who danced on her points, was particularly pleasing. After the final curtain Nina Hubbard thanked Miss Humberstone, the pianist and other helpers.

Spark from train, p6

1952 07 09
Condensed milk, p5

1952 07 10
Babraham Common has for centuries been an area where the countryman had been able to roam at will, with only the scuttling rabbits to keep him company. Stepping over ancient stiles directed the wayfarer along ancient foot-ways. But today the rambler searches in vain for these ancient rights-of-way which, for the most part, have been ploughed up. The footbridge over the stream was removed during the war and no effort has been made to replace it. It is hoped that the Parish Council who will shortly consider and delineate their paths are fully conscious of their responsibility.

Queen Edith School, p4

1952 07 12
Mr A.H. Bailey recalls: "July 6th 1893 was the wedding day of the young and charming Princess May of Teck and the Sailor Prince George, afterwards King George V. It was arranged to present an address to the Royal couple when the train conveying them to Sandringham halted at Cambridge station and the 3rd (Cambs) Battalion, Suffolk regiment was to furnish a Guard of Honour on the platform. I had the almost unbelievable luck in being selected for the Guard and never was pipeclay and metal polish so well applied nor such pride beneath a scarlet tunic". Later the cavalier, still exalted by the infinitesimal fraction of a Royal Bride's smile, and wearing his uniform trousers, met a young demure maid on Parker's Piece. "One day", he writes, "I shall ask my wife whether it was the red stripe on my nether garment or the fireworks that brought favour in her eyes".

1952 07 14
Fruit growers asked Mr David Renton, M.P. for Huntingdonshire for help in ensuring satisfactory disposal of a coming glut in plums. Prices were declining and it was strange the Government was importing foreign fruit when they had so much of their own. Some shops are selling foreign plums at 2s. a pound while they cannot get a penny a pound for their own.

1952 07 14
When the British Red Cross Society decided to make "Edwinstowe" at Chaucer Road, Cambridge a home for old people, there were questions in the minds of the organisers. Although residents would be well looked after and have all the material comforts, would the old people want to come? It is now an established and happy home and the public flock each year to the annual fete, not only to help the funds of the home but to renew acquaintance with the residents who seem to be having an "at home" in their own beautiful gardens. Pupils of the Betty Ripley-Carter School of Dancing made a charming contribution to the enjoyment with a dancing display. # c.32.9

1952 07 17
St John's Church organ, p5
Addenbrooke's Hospital admissions, p6

1952 07 18
First arrival in the queue at Heyworth's, Sidney Street, Cambridge, sale was a man. He arrived at 3.45 a.m. to buy his wife a red whipcord coat reduced from £10.10s. to 29s.11d. He was joined at 4 a.m. by a commercial traveller who got up at this early hour to buy his wife a grey gabardine suit marked down from £21.10s. to 59s.11d. One or two bargain hunters had walked three or four miles to join the queue and by 9 a.m. tickets had been given out to 370 waiting to secure the many half-price bargains. Everybody was happy, and there were no sale fights.

Stretham guinea pig, p9

1952 07 18 ES
Soham war memorial may be moved in improvement scheme for Red Lion Square – 52 07 18ES

Downham plane crash-lands – 52 07 18(2)ES

Adelaide river bank damaged by fire – 52 07 18(3)ES

Breach narrowly averted Ely Beet Factory settling pond during last campaign; dredging upstream of Stretham Wooden Bridge & Stretham Ferry Pit; being dredged from Military Road and Stretham Ferry and spoil used for regrading the washes where spoil was removed for a temporary scradge after the 1947 floods – 52 07 18(4)ES

Future of the parish pump; can parish councils protect old pumps – 52 07 18(5)ES

1952 07 19
For the first time in its 25 years existence the Cambs and East Midlands Union of Strict Baptist Churches received an official visit from the Mayor of Cambridge. The occasion was the silver jubilee celebration of the founding of the union and was attended by Pastor A.W. Whayman of Whittlesey, one of the original members. For 20 years he was Pastor at Eden Baptist Church, Cambridge where the celebration was held.

1952 07 19
I was very sorry to learn of the death of Mr A.E. Reeve of Grantchester Street, Cambridge whose articles brought to light many fascinating historical facts about Cambridge through the ages. His interest in old Cambridge began with the burning down of Grantchester Mill well over 20 years ago which roused the interest of the London newspapers who were guilty of some inaccuracies which

'A.E.R.' felt bound to point out. He acquired a mass of literature and became probably the most knowledgeable man on Cambridge and its past. Eminent members of the University often came to him for information. His elder son, Mr Frank Reeve, is continuing with his researches. – 52 07 19

1952 07 19
The nursing staff position on the female side at Fulbourn Hospital remains serious. It has the valuable services of 41 part-time nurses but owing to their domestic commitments it is often difficult to get enough at peak periods such as weekends when the burden of nursing is borne by the depleted full-time nursing staff who number 26 instead of 80. A total of 1,426 patients were treated during the year and there were 925 in the Hospital on December 31st 1951

1952 07 21
The whole of the structure of the 112-year-old courts of assize at the old Shire Hall, Castle Hill, is unsafe and liable to collapse at any time. Dry rot has been attacking the floors and has now spread up the walls and plaster and into the roof. The damage is said to be irreparable and it is virtually certain that the County Council will have to write off the building as a total loss. The Court House, built of brick and stone in the Italian style has a portico supported on columns and comprises two courts and a magistrates' room from which three prisoners recently escaped by removing an iron grill over a window. 52 07 21

1952 07 22
Self-build housing, p6
Zebra crossings, p7
Islehm church service, p10

1952 07 23
"I want, I take", p4
Local History Society agm, p4
Shire Hall, p6

1952 07 24
Bus service to estates, p6

1952 07 25
The National Farmers Union Owen Webb committee is anxious to purchase City council premises at Gresham Road, Cambridge, to form a headquarters for all the agricultural interests in the county. Cambridge was the centre of the agricultural belt and the headquarters of the farming fraternity should be in a place other than their present miserable and dingy offices in Corn Exchange Street. It would not affect the Council's housing programme one jot. If the building were converted into flats the rent would be such that no one waiting for a Council house could afford it.

1952 07 25 ES
Isleham's Priory barn is ancient church as evensong sung – 52 07 25(2)ES

1952 07 26
Knapwell house, p7

1952 07 28
One of the first judges to sit in the Shire Hall Courts, built between 1814 and 1844, Mr Justice Parke, complained about the ventilation in the Crown court. Bad ventilation is one of the factors that cause dry rot and it is possible that it has taken 107 years to come to the present condition. It could be smelt very plainly and if a knife was stuck into the wood it would go in up to the hilt in most places. It was unfortunate that they had decorated the building three years ago at considerable expense and no one knew about it. Coun. Dr Woodman said: "I hope the committee will consider the dry rot in the minds of the jury as well as in the walls of the court. You are packed like peas in a pod and with bad ventilation you get one thought". – 52 07 28 # c.34.9

1952 07 29
Newmarket General Hospital – still affectionately known as "White Lodge" - is regarded as one of the finest in the eastern counties, and yet at the beginning of the war it was still looked upon as what was popularly termed "a workhouse". The war saw tremendous development and before long the old Emergency Hospital came into being. The post-war years again saw vast improvements and ultimately "White Lodge" became recognised as a general hospital. At about the same time it was also accepted as an official Nurses Training Hospital. – 52 07 29

1952 07 29
County councillors recommended that a halt sign at Quy Corner, called "the blackest of black spots" was not desirable. In the last five years there had been three deaths at the corner. When you come out of the Quy turning on to Newmarket Road where cars do anything up to 80 m.p.h. you think you can see each way. But there is a dip in the road and a car is soon upon you. A halt sign would result in more hurt, because having stopped people would not have sufficient time to get round the bend before main road traffic was upon them. It would always be a black spot while people came out of the turning without looking where they were going. – 52 07 29

1952 07 29
Sir – I write to protest against the proposed new public conveniences on the corner of Chapel Street & High Street, Chesterton. There are plenty of old men who like to congregate on the iron seat around the ash tree, for even with the existing police box it is undeniably a pleasant corner such as it will never be with a lavatory right in the middle. But there are numerous condemned cottages in the High Street and extensive rubbish dumps behind crumbling walls, not only unsightly but filthy, which would be improved for having public lavatories built on them – Mrs M. Sugden # c.29.8

1952 07 30
In the big tree-girt grass playing field of Chesterton Preparatory School the young folk entertained their elders to tea and dancing, giving a whole profusion of English Maypole Dances. I asked Miss Dorothy Hodder, the Headmistress, how they were able to train youngsters to such a pitch of excellence that they never pause or falter, and all without commands or words of instruction. She said the children (and there were no less than 64 of them) very largely teach themselves. It made a charming picture to see the tiny tots skipping so gaily round the Maypole in orderly rhythm with their brightly coloured ribands. They were obviously enjoying every second of it. – 52 07 30

Eel worm, p5

1952 07 31
Part of the land allocated for recreational purposes at Oakington is now to be used for houses. And it will be a "great improvement", a District Councillor said. "At present if you stand on our cemetery and recreation ground you get a fine view of the back gardens of Council houses with their washing and hen houses and so forth. The proposal is to build a row of Council houses on the other side of Queen's Way so that the recreation ground will face the front of these new cottages instead of looking into the back-doors. It will also relieve the Parish Council of a bit of land which had been assigned for recreation purposes but which had been found to be rather a handful". The Parish Councillors were very favourably impressed with the proposal.

Bassingbourn houses, p7

August 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 08 01

Cambridgeshire County Council wants a police house built on South Cambs R.D.C.'s housing site at Steeple Morden. First they wanted the house on the east side but now they have chosen another site which is "worse than ever" and completely spoils the layout; it is the only reasonable place to have a road. The current plans include no provision for the house but, said Coun Murfitt, "for some unreasonably obstinate reason they are not prepared to look at anything at all except our site".

1952 08 01 ES
Isle of Ely County Development Plan discussion – 52 08 01(2)ES

Pioneer of local cinemas: Harry Bancroft.
In July 1912 Harry Bancroft, a travelling vaudeville artiste and his wife arrived in Wisbech to put on a show at the old Public Hall, now the Hippodrome. From it has originated a network of cinema companies in which he is a leading figure. He was one of the pioneers of the cinema profession, one of the first members of the legitimate and vaudeville stage to realize the immense possibilities of the screen. As a result, his name is known from Elstree to Hollywood and he is regarded as one of the leading proprietors of the picture houses in the country. He was one of the best known travelling actor managers and by the time he came to Wisbech he had acted every part from being one of the Babes in the Wood to Hamlet. Bancroft recalled that he had to negotiate with a man who kept the boot shop next door to the Public Hall and then with the Secretary of the Company before taking the lease. After buying shares in the Public Hall Company he negotiated its purchase. A circle was installed in the Hall and Harry Rands carried out the work without having to close the theatre for a single night. From a meeting with Mr. S.R Pilgrim originated the building of the March cinema. He then launched out at Holbech, following with the Huntingdon enterprise which had flourished. He then bought the Empress, Chatteris from Harry Eggitt who had had it built – 52 08 01ES

1952 08 05
Jubilee celebrations were held at Rampton Free Church Mission Hall. Mr William Coles said he could clearly remember the laying of the foundation stone and the opening ceremony. Rampton held an important place in village life around it. It was squeezed between two villages, Willingham and Cottenham, but like a jam tart, the best is always in the centre.

Athletics, p6

1952 08 06
Cambridge Centaur Motor Cycle Club's Bank Holiday Scramble at Spring Close, Burwell attracted a crowd of over 5,000 who were treated to a thrilling afternoon's racing on what must be the finest scramble course for many miles. Situated on the site of an old Norman castle and incorporating several crossings of the now dry moats, the course included a number of very steep ascents from which most of the riders made spectacular leaps. Spectators were able to see most of the racing from the high ground in the centre of the track upon which the castle had stood. Two very popular riders, E.J. Wiffen of the Grasshopper Club and the local Centaur ace, H.D. Halsey, emerged as the stars of the meeting.

1952 08 07
Cambridge Bonniest Baby Exhibition was held in the Guildhall and attracted a fairly substantial entry of 99. The judges were not judging in the usual way, weighing the children, examining limbs etc but were looking for the bonniest baby of the respective classes. In fact it was rather a babies' beauty competition. Prizewinners were: six months and under – Joy Carter, seven-twelve months – Linda Moxon, 13-18 months – Martin Carter, 19 months to two years – Anna Taylor. Winning twins were Dorothy Anne and Mary Elizabeth Arbon of Harston.

Heavy rain at harvest, p6

1952 08 08

A Londoner was fined £3 for unlawfully obtaining rationed feeding stuffs at Lt Thetford. PC Harding was on motor patrol duty at Fowlmere when he stopped a lorry and noticed what looked like feeding stuff. Defendant said it was quaker oats and was unrationed but the sack was marked "Blue Cross Balanced Food, No.2 Pig Food". The officer concluded it was a rationed product and asked if he had surrendered coupons for it. The reply was "No". How he came to be in possession of the sack they did not know. The man claimed to have bought it from a poultry dealer because he through he would be charged with stealing it. He had been at work for 16 hours and wanted to get home.

1952 08 09
Cambridge city council won its appeal against the refusal of the County Council to grant planning permission for the erection of houses on land fronting Queen Edith's Way on either side of the approach to Wulfstan Way. The plots were intended for former owners of land which had been sterilised by the revocation of planning permission on the Ventress Farm Estate. They could be sold at a reasonable price as compared with that now commonly asked for building land near Cambridge, where there was a serious shortage of sites available for private builders. The county had wanted sufficient land left open to preserve a view of the shopping centre.

1952 08 09
The news that the roof and interior of the Shire Hall Courts on Castle Hill, Cambridge are in danger of collapse has drawn attention to the statues on top of the building. The figures represent Law – holding a book, Justice – drawn sword (scales are missing), Mercy and – holding chain – Power

1952 08 11
History of social work, p5
Bones on Midsummer Common, p6 & 12th p7, 19th p7

1952 08 12
Although the Ministry of Food is to issue licences to growers for the lifting of maincrop potatoes a month earlier than usual there might be some reluctance on the part of the growers to take advantage of the concession. Late heavy rains may result in an increased yield and farmers may prefer to leave the potato harvest until the end of September. Labour, much needed for the harvest, is another problem. Loss of labour, particularly skilled labour, through Forces call-up has resulted in a reduction of the total acreage devoted to potatoes; even so the total quantity grown is twice that of pre-war

1952 08 13
Jet crashes, p6, (inquest 18th p6) # c.26.1

1952 08 14
Members of the Cambridge Christian Spiritualist Church turned up for a propaganda meeting which also attracted many people who were merely curious. Visitors might have been shocked at the light-hearted style of the medium, Mr Taylor Ineson. The tones of recognition in the voices of people who said "Yes" when he introduced them to former relatives in the spirit plane was a study to the ear. "Ah, madam. Did you know a gentleman who passed over with a gangrene toe?" "Yes, he was my uncle". "Well he says he would have liked to have left you some money – but he had nowt!" - 52 08 14

1952 08 15 ES
Trouble at the Polish Hostel, Mepal … assault of beating, as did not speak English an interpreter employed – 52 08 15ES

1952 08 16
The public concern about jet fighter crashes is not shared by the men most affected – the pilots who fly the R.A.F.'s 600 m.p.h. Meteors and Vampires. On a special visit to the Advanced Flying School, Oakington, I found not the slightest trace of alarm or despondency. The atmosphere fairly crackles with energy and enthusiasm. Dozens of flights took place with smooth precision and at frequent intervals the gleaming silver Meteors howled down the runway and shot up into the sky, many flown by young National Servicemen who by the time they have finished their course are not only skilled jet flyers but are beginning to know how to use their aircraft as weapons. The Chief Instructor, Wing Commander Tomalin, persuaded me to accompany him on a half-hour trip in a Meteor two-seater – 52 06 16. # c.26.2

1952 08 18
Coronation memories, p10

1952 08 19
A large congregation packed the church of St John the Evangelist, Hills Road, Cambridge for the dedication of the new organ. It contains 1,210 pipes which stand on the south side of the chancel with the console on the north side. For the sake of economy a certain amount of second-hand pipe work has been used. But this is no detriment as much of the timber which was easily obtainable before the war is of far higher standard than that procurable today when Siberian pine lies securely locked behind the iron curtain. # c.69.4

1952 08 20
What may prove to be an important Roman discovery has been unearthed at a building site in Arbury Road, Cambridge. While excavating a trench for a new sewerage system Mr C. Taylor came across a coffin hewn out of solid stone. He lifted the lid, weighing many hundredweight, and there, completely enclosed in a lead lining was a complete skeleton. Nearby was another, also in good condition. It seems possible this was the burial place of an important Roman family as the stone must have been imported and the coffin enclosed in a layer of chalk – there is no chalk in the immediate area. # c.41

1952 08 20
Over Fen is not to be compulsorily acquired by the Ministry of Agriculture after all. The Agricultural Land commission had recommended the purchase of 535 acres to ensure maximum food production but they now need to restrict Government expenditure and will not proceed. The news is a great victory for the Vicar of Over who has led the fight against acquisition. On 2,050 acres of Lakenheath Fen, also recommended for purchase, the Minister say much would revert to its former derelict state if derequisitioned, yet the financial stringency prevents purchase now.

Baby show, p5

1952 08 21
The first National Servicemen to be trained as Canberra jet crews are receiving their final training at 231 Operational Conversion Unit R.A.F. station, Bassingbourn. In one room twenty young men in flying helmets were busily working with slide rules and graph paper in small box-like cubicles containing an exact replica of what they would have in the plane, including the latest radar equipment. Another block was fitted out for "ejector seat" drill and it should take only 10 seconds to get from the nose of the aircraft back to one's seat prior to being ejected. Since the National Service aircrew scheme started in 1949 some 4,000 men have been accepted for flying duties – 52 08 21 # c.26.1

Dale's Silver Ghost, p4
Arbury burial ground, p6

1952 08 23
A small bus fleet owned by Mr George Challice, dance band leader of Newmarket, escaped total destruction when one 29-seater bus was completely burnt out in a blaze. It had been parked in an isolated garage instead of in a bay containing three other vehicles. The bus was burning furiously when firemen arrived yet although metal had melted and tyres been virtually burnt off the wheels a petrol tank containing six gallons of petrol was not touched. A practically new bus parked nearby was driven to safety.

1952 08 23

Jesus Lane Sunday School has been wound up. It was founded in 1827 by a group of University men distressed by the spiritual desolation of Barnwell who decided to start a "Gownsman's Sunday School". Four of them set out to visit every house in search of scholars and on the first Sunday the school opened with over 200 children attending at the Friends Meeting House. Later they erected a large new building in Paradise Street where 600 children were on the books. The 1914 war dealt the school a blow from which it never wholly recovered and in 1936 the building was sold to the Boy Scouts Association. # c.83

Girton housing, p5
Canberra crash, Therfield, p6 # c.26.1
Victoria Cinema 21, p9

1952 08 25
Cambridge Accident Prevention Council gave a preview of their third film "Horse Sense" which deals with the adventures of a horse called Patch that escapes from its stable and wanders about the streets of Cambridge. It was filmed in Technicolor and directed by Mr K.O. King with P.S. Ives in charge of production and the script was written by the Chief Constable, B.N. Bebbington. The BBC's John Snagge gave the commentary. # c.65.6

Arbury coffin, p6

1952 08 27
Only one of the 14 chalet holders on the banks of the Cam near grassy Corner, Fen Ditton, was successful in his appeal against removal. He was Mr A.G. Cooper of No.1 Plot whose chalet has been on the site for 40 years. The County Council wanted to remove it as being out of keeping with the beauty of this stretch of the river and no planning permission had been given. For many years before 1928 the fields had been used by the public to watch the May Races and were regarded as open space. It was of little agricultural value and subject to flood.

1952 08 29
Mildenhall murder, p8
Retirement pensions, p13

1952 08 30
Considerable reductions in the price of admission are to be made when the New Theatre opens next week which represent the absolute minimum that can be charged. When really outstanding radio artistes, whose salaries are sometimes fabulous, are booked it may be necessary to revert to the old prices. Most of the alterations have been structural – dry rot had attacked some of the timbers – but an enormous amount has been done to ensure complete comfort with sprung seating and a new microphone installation giving the best sound reproduction obtainable. # c.76

Waterbeach crash, Stretham man injured, p6

September 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 09 01
With a fanfare from six scarlet-suited trumpeters Cambridge's third Trades Fair on Midsummer Common was opened. Immediately afterwards the Mayor went to the Interflora stand and sent a basket of roses by air to the Mayor of Cambridge, Massachusetts. Three local firms, Messrs Biggs of Peas Hill, Messrs J. Rogers of Newnham and Messrs Ridgeon's of Sussex Street, pooled their dollar allocations to provide the roses for America. In the first six hours 12,642 people paid for admission

1952 09 02
A crowd of about 4,500 went by car, motor cycle, bicycle or special bus to watch one of the few remaining amateur sports, the "Scramble" meeting organised by the Cambridge Centaur Motor Cycle

Club at Hill Farm, Arrington. The Lightweight Race produced some bad luck for "Andy" Lee. After winning his heat he had clutch trouble in the final. Then he borrowed a clutch from a machine similar to his and won the "Centaur" Handicap.

1952 09 03 C
Crowds lining Parker's Piece saw a free but unofficial rodeo with policemen in the role of cowboys. Three crossbred steers on their way to the killing pens escaped from Winton Smith's slaughterhouse in East Road, Cambridge. Off they went with the slaughterhouse men in pursuit. On the Piece they charged about for half an hour. Police formed a barricade but one of the animals charged a sergeant and chased a motor cycle. When they were finally cornered a lady in a red dressing gown opened her door and put out a bowl of water for them.

1952 09 04
"The more houses the City Council give us to build, the more we can put up. We have been in Cambridge five years and can put up 400 houses as quickly as it takes to erect 50", said the foreman of Messrs John Mowlem's 150-house estate at Fisher's Lane, Cherry Hinton. A flag is now flying from the chimney of their 1,000th house in Cambridge. The fitting of the chimney stack is the traditional moment for celebration in the form of a bottle of beer all round for the workmen. The Poles working on this site are familiar with the practice which has existed in Europe for hundreds of years. A dinner-dance is being planned to celebrate when the house is handed over to the Council # c.23

1952 09 05
The "from here to there" aspect of the helicopter is a huge advantage and the hoverplane may well become a common mode of travel in the not so distant future. Helicopter development is very much in its teething stages but the Fairey and Percival companies have a machine with a cruising speed of 120 mph and a passenger capacity of 102. So instead of trains there may be an express service from Hyde Park to Parker's Piece!

National service, p5

1952 09 05
Parker's Piece plane, p6
Magdalene chestnut, p9

1952 09 06
A Newmarket hairdresser told the bankruptcy court how she dismissed her assistant to cut expenses – and how the assistant opened up in business a few miles away and took some of her own trade from her. She had acquired the business of "Maison Frederick" for £800 in 1950 and expected a weekly turnover of about £20. She employed an assistant at £4 a week, plus commission but realised she could not afford her. She subsequently employed her sister as an apprentice at £1 a week. As a result of illness the business was frequently closed and earnings were insufficient to meet heavy expenses of £10 a week.

1952 09 06
The Cambridge Co-operative Society's new bakery in Sleaford Street, Cambridge was opened and more than 100 people were shown round by Mr V. Grimes, the bakery manager. It is possible to turn out 1,200 loaves an hour. At no point is a draught, the enemy of good bread, allowed to enter the building, doors being surrounded by hygienic glass brick screens. It is the fourth bakery; the first was built in 1872, the next in 1888 and then in 1930 a "model bakery" was built in Sleaford Street. But the Society grew at such a rapid pace a new building became necessary with the latest machinery to turn out the bread # c.27

Ramsey Abbey, p9

1952 10 08

It has long been the ambition of Heyworths of Sidney Street, Cambridge, to be able to claim that they catered for their women customers from head to foot. But there was one thing missing. They did not stock shoes. This has now been rectified and a brand new women's shoe department was opened in the basement. Only "Lotus" and "Delta" shoes will be sold, including shoes for day (fashion and walking) and evening wear. The innovation is welcomed by customers and trade has been brisk.

1952 09 08
A fete was held at Westwick Hall in aid of the Oakington Recreation Fund. Captain Taylor said that big towns and cities were attracting the younger folk away from the countryside, tempting them to leave the village for a life in the town. "We ought to provide the pleasures and recreation for our younger folk by providing playing fields near their homes so they are encouraged to settle down to country life", he said

'Changed face of Cambridge'

1952 09 10
Ramsey Abbey Gatehouse was officially handed over to the National Trust. Major Broughton recalled that Ramsey Abbey was his wife's childhood home and after her death he had restored the Gatehouse as a memorial to her and presented it to the Trust. Of the Abbey itself there only remains the 13th century Lady Chapel incorporated in the Abbey Grammar School. After the dissolution of the monastery in 1539 the buildings were used as a quarry, Gonville and Caius College being built from the stone.

1952 09 10
Two Meteor jet aircraft collided in mid-air over Over. One of the pilots landed near the church & the other near the Pike and Eel public house. The landlady observed: "We often have pilots calling here – but not by parachute". The electricity supply was cut when one of the planes struck an electric cable in Mow Fen, Swavesey. The other fell in a meadow behind Station Road, Over. Firemen put out magnesium flames which broke out in one of the engines after its impact on hitting the ground. The two aircraft were on a training flight from R.A.F. Station, Oakington # c.26.1

1959 09 11
Christ's Lane picture, p10

1952 09 12
Fire caused thousands of pounds worth of damage at Jack N. Baldry's Mineral Water Works at Gold Street, Cambridge. It broke out in the first floor of the factory where corks, labels and bottles were kept & ran the whole length of the roof of one wing, most of which was destroyed. Firemen were hampered by extremely dense smoke, melting lead from the valleys of the roof and by many of the mineral water bottles exploding # c.34.75

1952 09 13
Rex cinema, p9
Tv aerials, p9
D.W. Rattle, press photographer, p10 # c.65.5

1952 09 15
Cambridge motor cycle enthusiasts had their first look at grass track sidecar racing at a meeting organised by the Cambridge Centaur club. It proved to be fun and gave R. Tennant and B. Warminster the chance to walk off with both events. In the side-car race J. Kirby and L. Fuller were stopped in the first heat with chain trouble but were allowed to compete in the second heat, which they won. The side-car handicap saw Tennant and Warminster last away. Their smart-looking out-fit did not remain there for long and, thanks to good riding, and first class acrobatics in keeping the combination balanced by the passenger, they rode through the field to victory.

1952 09 17
Cathedral appeal, p11

1952 09 18
Two Newmarket policemen were told by magistrates to "stop talking Greek". Giving evidence to court in several speeding cases they referred to the size of the cars they stopped not in the terms of horsepower, as is usually the case, but in the more obscure terms of litres. "Stop" interrupted the magistrate: "I don't know what you mean by all this litre business. Tell me what was this car's horse power". A solicitor offered the suggestion that a rough idea of horsepower could be obtained if the number of litres was multiplied by ten.

Oakington RAF, p8

1952 09 19
Employment, p7
Air accident, p8

1952 09 19 ES
Cawdle Fen drainage subject of complaints since 1937. In 1940 improved Main Drain west of railway, correspondence with L.N.E.R. with regard to pumping plant and culverts. Originally the Railway used what is now the main drain between main line and pumping station for barge traffic, locks being provided and an open bridge under the main line allowed traffic to pass into the dock along the west side of the Railway Station. Penstocks were installed to prevent the water at the higher level affecting the main drains and the Railway Company were responsible for the pumping of the district. When the barge traffic ceased the locks were sealed and the open bridge replaced by a three-feet diameter pipe culvert. In order to improve drainage need to lower the pumping level of the existing system including reconstruction of the railway culverts, resite the drainage plant in the S.E. area where the depth of peat is greatest and reorganise the drainage system, including new culvert under the Ely/Cambridge line. As a temporary expedient install a small drainage pump to pump the S.E. area direct into the Ely Ouse to avoid reconstruction of the culvert under the Ely/Newmarket line. In view of small area of land it is doubtful whether the Drainage Board could carry out on its own works of any magnitude or whether work economically justified. To investigate legal position – 52 09 19(3)ES # c.29

Explosions near Ely were detonation of explosive charges by Royal Engineers to clear trees at Orwell Pits Farm between Ely and Lt Downham – 52 09 19ES

1952 09 20
Beetles have caused serious damage at Great Shelford church. Some months ago while Mr L.P. Morley, one of the churchwardens, was cleaning down cobwebs from the clerestory windows he noticed what seemed to be deterioration of some of the roof woodwork. A thorough examination has now been made and the plate on which the whole roof rests, both in the nave and the aisles, is so riddled with beetle-holes that repair is a matter of urgency

1952 09 20
Officials of the Cambridge Trades Fair Association are quite happy about the results of their recent Summer Festival. Although the attendance of 78,000 showed a reduction many of the exhibitors report considerably more sales than on the two previous occasions. More visitors were genuinely interested in the goods on display which means more prospective customers. Those who displayed their wares at the 1949 and 1950 fairs are still obtaining orders as a result.

1952 09 20
A party of 125 members of Over 60's left for a holiday at Yarmouth. The members are staying at seven hotels on or near the seafront belonging to the Great Yarmouth Associated Hotels for Happy Holidays Group. Specially reduced terms have been given. The Managers of the Wellington Pier

Pavilion and Floral Hall, Gorleston, have offered special cheap concessions for the Pier Pavilion "Showtime" and for an Olde Tyme Ball

1952 09 22
Speeds of up to 660 mph were reached by more than 30 British and American jet aircraft which took place in an "At Home" display at RAF Station, Duxford. Thousands of people watched the display and similar ones at RAF Oakington, Debden and Upwood. It opened with a fly-past of three Washington bombers which, together with the renowned Lincolns are now the only four-engined piston bombers in service with the RAF. There was an exhibition of teamwork by one of Duxford's two squadrons of Meteor jets who took part in a mock dog-fight with U.S. F84 Thunder jets and a display from the long-nosed Super Marine Attacker

1952 09 23
The lone Hurricane which always has the place of honour at the head of the air parade over London was the opening item in the flying programme at Oakington RAF station's Battle of Britain "At Home". Gusts of laughter swept the aerodrome during the comedy antics of a "pupil" in a Tiger Moth who tried without a great deal of success to emulate his "instructor" and took part in a remarkable exhibition of markmanship. The pilot was shooting at balloons on the ground and his firing was so accurate as to be almost incredible – until the secret was revealed by the sudden bolt from cover of the man who had been bursting the targets for him. He was not allowed to escape scot-free but was bombarded with bags of flour and soot.

1952 09 26
Members of the Merton Hall Lodge of the Manchester Unity Independent Order of Oddfellows were told that they must have younger people coming in to take over the work of looking after those who had fallen by the wayside. They were finding it very difficult in every walk of life to get young folk to try to follow on and do something for posterity. There are lots of nice people in Cambridge and if you examine them carefully you will find they are Odd Fellows; and if you look closer you will find that lots of them are members of Merton Hall Lodge

1952 09 27
Fire completely gutted the Touchwood Café on the Cambridge – Newmarket road near the Bottisham Swan. When the fire brigade arrive the thatched roof was well alight and the flames being fanned by a strong wind. It was eventually put out but little of the café remained except for articles salvaged by helpers and passers-by. It is believed the fire was caused by sparks from a bonfire behind the café which set fire to the thatch

1952 09 27
The arrival in this country of the greatest film mime of them all, Charlie Chaplin, has released a flood of memories. I have the programme of a production of "Sherlock Holmes" at the New Theatre in January 1906. It includes 'Billy … Master Charles Chaplin'. Charlie was then 16. Among the adults in the cast was his brother. Charlie has announced that he intends making a sight-seeing tour while he is here. I hope he will consider Cambridge.

1952 09 30
The Hop Bind public house, Cottenham, had an extra visitor – a pony. 'Dixie' made straight for the bar and waited while the landlord (Mr G.H. Mundy) pulled her a generous pint of mild. With a thirsty look in her bright eyes she made light work of it. Dixie's owner is Mr Carl Dane who discovered her when she was being shipped to Belgium for carcass meat and bought her for £15. Mr Dane, who was travelling with a circus, trained the pony who can jump over a table of crockery and play the zither with her tongue. But when it comes to beer drinking she does it for pleasure – and doesn't like to be kept waiting

1952 09 30

Newmarket Town Football Club won their first League game in 15 months. During the interval the hitherto luckless Jockeys were the recipients of a unique footballing presentation. To mark the sporting manner in which the Club had fulfilled all their fixtures during their pointless 1951-52 season in the Eastern Counties League the management presented them with a flag in the 'Newcastle' colours. The Jockeys have played in black and white stripes before and their two professionals, player-manager Arnold Grundy and Eddie Connelly were team-mates at Newcastle for seven years. It was to the tune of "Bladen Races" that the Jockeys took the field.

October 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 10 01
In the book "Through Rose-coloured Spectacles" Mrs Edith Read Mumford looks back on her life at Girton College in 1888. She recalls: If a brother called to see his sister no other student was allowed to see him. On every occasion a chaperone was necessary. A male visitor could only be seen in the college reception room where they sat in a corner, talking in subdued tones while other students were doing the same in other corners. Any noisy behaviour on the part of a student, even laughing heartily at a tea party in her own room, would have been checked by the Mistress. – 52 10 01

Fulbourn Hospital dairy herd, p10

1952 10 02
Cambridgeshire Education Committee has approved a proposal to provide Grammar School education at two village colleges – Sawston and Impington. If agreed the work of building grammar school wings may begin next April. At the end of the five-year scheme there will be 300 grammar school places. They had been looking forward to the establishment of a country grammar school with a useful house that could have been adapted. Melbourn Bury, home of a former Chairman of the Education Committee, had not received Ministry approval – 52 10 02

1952 10 02
Oakington Parish Council has withdrawn their objection to the building of a new road to replace the one crossing the airfield which has been closed. They had claimed the scheme would be a waste of public money, the road would be of no use to Oakington and the route would be a public danger. The Air Ministry said the road would be lowered about two feet to ensure "flying clearance"

1952 10 03
Potato harvester trial, p7
Changed Cambridge – Petty Cury, p7
Fen Ditton hole, p9

1952 10 03 ES
Littleport presentation to John Martin on coming-of-age, 169 employees attend party, photo – 52 10 03&(2)ES,

Sutton Feast Parade – 52 10 03(2)ES

1952 10 04
Miss Cambridgeshire, p7

1952 10 06
Lynmouth fund, p7
Cambridge raided, p7
Cherryhinton Road Fre Church Hall, p10

1952 10 07

Former members of the RAF Motor Transport Unit travelled to Cambridge to dine at the Lion Hotel and talk of their wartime Cambridge billet – King's College. They specialised in large-scale Service "removals", such as shifting an entire service from one place to another. Early one morning a fleet of 32-seater coaches left the Backs in the company of a self-contained mobile feeding lorry and sped to a smouldering Coventry where emergency meals were prepared and served to the homeless. Thereafter the coaches helped provide a public transport service for them # c.45.7

1952 10 07
Cherry Hinton church held a special thanksgiving service for the completion of repair work. The tower roof has been renewed and a new steel bell frame installed; the bells have been tuned and rehung and the belfry floor renewed. All the woodwork of the church has been treated against death watch beetle and woodworm and much of the roof re-tiled. The bells then rang out for the first time in four years. # c.83

1952 10 09
One of these days while in session at the annual meeting at Clayhithe the Conservators of the Cam might be let down – badly and literally. The chairs in the Board Room are so rotted and worm-eaten that they are no longer safe to sit on. The large mahogany table running the length of the room is affected too. So are the floorboards and other parts of the house. Their launch, Richwing, was kept afloat by tar and canvas and it was necessary to take it out of the water and re-plank her.

1952 10 09
If some bright young first-year Freshman had not done some checking up, 1,200 Cambridge undergraduates might now be on the carpet for trampling on the Senate House lawn. New undergraduates found in their room a printed notice inviting them to hear an address by the "University Chamberlain" – but it was a hoax, there is no such office. The University Registrary was besieged with telephone inquiries and ordered the closing of the gates. Hundreds gathered around the Senate House curious to see what would happen but two hefty specimens of City Police proceeded to keep the sight-seers moving. Thus fizzled out the Freshman's Hoax, 1952 version. # c.36.93

1952 10 10
Margaret Rutherford at Arts, p12

1952 10 11
Seven thousand Cambridge television viewers are promised almost perfect reception if official sanction is received for a new T.V. broadcasting station to open early in the New Year. The original BBC signal will be picked up on a 50-foot-high aerial on the "Gogs" and beamed down on the city. John Peak, manager of Peak's King Street television service, the sponsors of the scheme said: "Viewers will receive an almost unmarred signal well in time for the Coronation". The large "H" aerial now on chimney-pots would no longer be necessary; instead a small rod can be hung from the bedroom window. # c.27.85

1952 10 13
Six coachloads of people travelled from Barrington to the Victoria Restaurant, Cambridge to have dinner. They were employees of Eastwoods Cement Ltd who were celebrating the 25th anniversary of the opening of the works. Each guest went home with a gift – a silver hairbrush for the men, a powder compact for the ladies. Some of the cement workers missed the dinner through having to be on duty. They will be treated to another function later and a telegram of good wishes was sent to them on Saturday night.

1952 10 13
Two hundred people gathered around the doorway of the new Memorial Hall of Cherry Hinton Free Church. In their midst stood the bricklayers and electricians, the carpenters and the painters who had built it. And there were the ladies who had made the tea. Churchgoers have built it with their own hands. It was a memorial to all those in the church who had played their part in the last war: on the civilian as well as on the military field of battle. It was a memorial to the living as well as to the dead. # c.83

Arts Theatre losses, p8
Jesus College war memorial, p9

1952 10 14
The Cambridge Town Clerk has received 44 applications from would-be purchasers of council houses from tenants of pre-war and post-war houses. Some come from tenants who wish to buy Council premises other than those in which they already reside. The Council recommends that pre-war houses be sold only to sitting tenants, the price to be the replacement value. The Government has made it quite clear it encouraged house ownership but it was up to each local authority whether they wished to sell their houses. # c.23

1952 10 14
In the shadow of 15-feet-high brightly coloured maps of the proposed new City-of-Cambridge-to-be, nearly 100 barristers, solicitors and officials assembled at the Senate House for the opening of the Public Inquiry into the County Development Plan. Nearly 500 seats have been set out for objectors and for the public. Four women shorthand writers are on duty to compile a complete record of every word uttered in the course of the proceedings. The Inquiry will continue at the Senate House until Friday and then transfer to Shire Hall. # c.49.4

1952 10 15
Planning inquiry, p8 & 12

1952 10 16
Wilburton parents signed a petition against proposals to convert the Manor of Wilburton into a residential school for educationally sub-normal children. The present village school was black-listed as far back as 1912 and condemned in 1937 so a new school was long overdue. Its position on the main street which carried an incessant stream of traffic constituted a daily danger to the children. The Manor standing at the end of a long drive was part of the heritage of the village and could be adapted to make an ideal and beautiful school for village children. – 52 10 16

Inquiry, p9

1952 10 17
King's Parade Chocolate room, p7
Inquiry, p11

1952 10 17 ES
Chettisham garage of E.W. Saint gutted – 52 10 17(2)ES

Wilburton 213 sign petition against using Manor as Special School – 52 10 17(3)ES

Death former Isle Librarian, Miss A.M. Philip, reviews development – 51 10 17(4)ES

Death Sir Walter West, Wisbech, farmer, wrote book on drainage – 52 10 17(6)ES

1952 10 18
I popped in at the University Senate House to see how the County Development Plan Inquiry was going and to watch history in the making. For never before has the Senate House been thrown open for the public to come and go at will. Representatives of County and City faced each other in serried ranks and aloft in the balcony undergraduates and others looked down upon the historic scene. We know the University are vitally concerned in this great scheme but their willingness to allow its use is further evidence of the very friendly relationship now existing between Town and Gown # c.49.4

1952 10 18
The County Development Plan public inquiry took a dramatic turn when Magdalene College announced it had decided to oppose proposals to widen Magdalene Street. The "donnish mind" did not often descend to take part in proceedings of this kind but this is a "bad plan and would be a disaster both to the University and the City of Cambridge", their counsel said. "You should not have motor traffic moving so fast that the lives of pedestrians and motorists are imperilled". Everyone wants Cambridge to remain a place in which the pedestrian, the cyclist and the motorist are more on less on an equal footing. # c.49.4

Marples & housing, p7
Tv reception, p8
Cats home return, p9

1952 10 20
Civil Defence test, p8

1952 10 21
A hundred years ago Girton village formed a cricket club. Though they won many games they never had anything tangible to show for their success until this year when they won the Cambs Senior League Championship. On Saturday, with the cup taking pride of place on the top table at the celebration dinner held in the Women's Institute Hall, more than 60 players and supporters heard of the splendid spirit and sportsmanship which dominated the club.

1952 10 22
Cross-town traffic, p8
Snelson fen lecture, p11
Stockings ladder, p14

1952 10 23
Proposals for the bus station at Drummer Street, Cambridge, were discussed at the Planning Inquiry. The bus company preferred a station to be sited on New Square which was double the area of Drummer Street. But would passengers agree – and they are entitled to be considered sometimes. Half to two-thirds would use Emmanuel Street. The amount of bus traffic would increase if greater provision was made & there would be a traffic blockage at Four Lamps roundabout - 52 10 23 # c.26.46

1952 10 23
Three farm labourers beet singling in a field at Westley Waterless had a lucky escape when they decided to break off for lunch two minutes before a Meteor jet fighter crashed into the field. Due to the heavy rain they decided to go home for lunch. The engines landed on the spot where the men had just finished working. Two of the men had reached the road but Mr V. Clements had stayed an extra minute or two in order to complete a row and was 50 yards from the crash. The pilot of the plane, on a flight from RAF Waterbeach, was killed. # c.26.1

1952 10 24
Shire Hall demolition, p8

1952 10 25
Hollywood has discovered a brilliant new film star. He is Richard Burton, the British stage actor who has just finished playing opposite Olivia de Havilland and is now lined up to star in "Desert Rats". Cambridge audiences saw and admired this fine 26-year-old player at the Arts in March of this year when he played the part of an officer in the virile play "Montserrat". Our critic drew attention to his great acting and added: "If Mr Burton does nothing more in the theatre his success in this part should ever give him a satisfying memory"

Fisher House threat, p7

1952 10 27
Shire Hall, p11

1952 10 28
Roundabout construction East Road / Mill Road, p7

1952 10 29
Cambridge City council has decided not to proceed with their proposal to widen Magdalene Street and reconstruct the Great Bridge. They had heard objections by the University and a statement on behalf of Magdalene College & believed that with mutual co-operation between the city and colleges some of the causes for the present traffic congestion could be removed. But if it became a choice of either the spine relief road or of widening Magdalene Street then they would choose the latter alternative. # c.49.62

1952 10 29
As part of intensive tightening up of police precautions in Newmarket – designed principally to combat big race week robberies – West Suffolk Police have introduced dog patrols into the town. A powerful-looking Alsatian made his debut accompanied by a police constable last night. This follows other precautions including the strengthening of all-night patrols and an appeal to the public to dial 999 if they saw anything suspicious.

Korean children, p5

1952 10 31
Within the last 60 years Cambridge Cattle Market, once one of the smallest in the country, has become one of the largest. When the Mayor opens the latest addition – the new store cattle sale yard with its covered-in accommodation for about 500 people and penning facilities for upwards of 1,000 head of cattle – it will mark the beginning of a new era in which the Cattle Market may well become a national centre for livestock sales. The present market was opened in 1885 and until 1912 was small; by 1939 it was handling 200-300 fat cattle, 1,000 sheep and 500 pigs a week. – 52 10 31 # c.27.3

102nd birthday, p7

1952 10 31 ES
Television shows glory of Ely Cathedral – 52 10 31ES

Windmills lecture by Rex Wailes to Friends of Haddenham – 52 10 31(2)ES

Cambridge Assize Courts demolition – 52 10 31(2)ES

November 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 11 03
The people of Lode took legal possession of their village playing field when Lord Fairhaven handed over the deeds to Mr G.G. Ingham, chairman of the Parish Council. The playing field has football and cricket pitches, with a children's corner planned, covers about five acres and is regarded as one of the finest village grounds in the area. Lord Fairhaven said: "For a long time this has been the playing field of the village of Lode and I felt the time had come to make it as safe as possible for ever". It originally covered some 3½ acres but during the war he promised some of his Home Guard friends that he would add to it if possible.

Gogs rifle club, p7
Franco-British Society, p8

1952 11 04
The Mayor of Cambridge auctioned ten first-cross blue and white store pigs for the good price of £7 5s. He was opening the new sales yard at Cambridge Cattle Market. They were 12 months overdue due to difficulty in getting steel because of the Government's re-armament policy but were part of the council's plans to make it one of the best in the country. "We hope these extensions will make producers send more cattle and livestock and thus attract buyers from all over the country", he said. They were awaiting Government policy on the question of an abattoir and there was a move to start a wool market. # c.27.3

1952 11 04
The opening of a new branch of the Country Landowners' Association for the Isle of Ely was celebrated by a dinner at the Griffin Hotel, March attended by some 80 local landowners. Lord de Ramsey said the area contained the best farmers and worst landlords in the country – the sinking of the Fens was enough to discourage any Fen landlord from being too enthusiastic in improving roads or laying down concrete yards. Landlords had been looked upon as political and fiscal whipping boys between the wars but now had a very real opportunity of recreating rural life around them.

1952 11 05
Much of the congestion in the central area of Cambridge could be dealt with by providing car parks in the right places rather than the provision of extra circulatory routes the Chief Constable told the Development Plan inquiry. Closing of Magdalene Street would inevitably lead to an increased use of the Backs and the proposed spine relief road would not afford relief to traffic in the city centre. The police had received many complaints concerning the amount of noise at Drummer Street bus station late at night. By moving it to New Square this objection would be alleviated

1952 11 05
Some people at the Victoria Cinema almost believed they saw fish swimming above their heads in the middle of the auditorium. Others found it difficult not to duck when a cricket ball appeared to bounce right out of the screen. The cause was something new in cinema entertainment – the three-dimensional film. At present a special screen has to be used and audiences must wear tinted spectacles. Much still has to be done before stereoscopic films become commonplace but Cambridge is among the first places in England to welcome the arrival of the third dimension in the cinema # c.76.9

1952 11 06
"If Magdalene Street was closed several businesses would be affected between the Round Church and Northampton Street and the compensation would be very considerable", the Cambridge City Surveyor told the Development Plan inquiry. The council's policy on widening the road was laid down in 1925. When property was due for rebuilding the owners should set back the new building to some widened line. Boots had agreed to demolish their frontage and set it back when the time comes for the insurance office next door to be rebuilt.

Multi-storey car park plan, p6
Chesterton bridge, p7

1952 11 07
Cambridge council objected to the proposed development of land at Stourbridge Common as a professional football ground. The land was acquired for tipping purposes and they wished it to be zoned for storing Civil Defence materials or for use as a lorry park. The Chief Constable said that, assuming the aim was to bring Third Division football to Cambridge with possible crowds of 15,000 people, it would not present much difficulty in dispersing them from Newmarket Road after a match. The City council proposed a municipal sports ground at Trumpington Road. The class of football envisaged would attract gates of not more than 1,000 and would not be in the same class as Cambridge City or United football clubs. # c.38 : football

1952 11 07 ES
Ely huts on Cambridge and Barton Roads, should they be repaired or demolished – 52 11 07(2)ES

Prickwillow Legion HQ opened – 51 11 07ES

Upware Tiptrees Farm, derequisitioned by A.E.C., withdrawn from sale – 52 11 07ES

1952 11 10
In swerving to avoid a dog in the road a 101 bus being driven along Green End Road, Cambridge on Sunday morning crashed into a house. The conductress, E. Chalker, who was taking an 11-year-old girl passenger's fare, was slightly injured. The girl, Marilyn Hall, was also injured when she was shot forward almost into the house. As she was being lifted into the ambulance Marilyn asked her mother "Can we have our fares back now? We didn't go anywhere".

1952 11 12
Ninety-one percent of the properties in the East Road area of Cambridge fell into the "short life" or "no life" categories the Development Plan inquiry was told. The area as a whole was described as "densely packed". The age of the houses was about 100 years, they were generally poorly constructed and the worst property in Cambridge lay in the area. The plan envisages using Norfolk Street as a local shopping centre to keep East Road free for a traffic route. But Mr S.P. Yarrow, retail grocer at 35 East Road said that if he went to Norfolk Street his turnover would be cut by half. B.G. Reynolds of Renbro Wireless Services, East Road, said he had one of the best positions in the area and business would go down if he moved. They did not see why two shops in East Road should impede the flow of traffic. – 52 11 12

1952 11 14
The visit to the University of Cambridge by the Duke of Edinburgh was enriched and enlivened by the reception which the young consort received at every stage of his tour. It was a "dusk and darkness" tour but the car's interior lighting was on and the crowds had a clear view of the slim, fair-haired Duke. The outstanding items in the programme were the conferment of the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Law upon the Duke at the Senate House, his opening of the new laboratory at the University Engineering Department and his visit to the University Union where he was made an honorary member. The Duke left a happy memory of an unassuming young man with a ready smile and a keen and intelligent interest in all that he saw. – 52 11 14 # c.02

CDN at Saffron Walden, p6
Seven Holes sluice, p7

1952 11 15
Chesterton history, p5

1952 11 17
A student occupying what is said to be a set of haunted rooms at Jesus College, Cambridge may have thought ghosts from distant lands had paid him a visit when he returned last Friday. During his absence a friend had taken some visitors from Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos into the rooms and they were so delighted that they decided to leave a memento in the form of messages written in Vietnamese, Cambodian and Laotian scripts – the last appears to be a work of art, looking slightly like Chinese script.

1952 11 17
Mr George Hawkins, who has been the sole owner of G.P. Hawkins Ltd has announced that he has disposed of his entire shareholding to the Cambridge Co-operative Society. The firm was founded in 1838 in Fitzroy Street, which is still one of their shops. At the beginning of the century the late Mr G.P. Hawkins opened a shop and café in Sidney Street. In 1929 these premises and the adjoining site were extensively developed resulting in the opening in 1931 of 'The Dorothy' as it stands today. # c.27.2

1952 11 18
Mildenhall readers are reminded that the Night Final editions of the C.D.N. is now available at about 5.20 each evening and new arrangements have been made for its regular delivery. Orders can be given to Mr A. Ayes of Beck Row or left at his table inside the Bell Hotel, Mildenhall. The News contains full reports of all local happenings in the area. Persons who have news items should contact out Mildenhall correspondent, Mrs Mary Smith in Manor Road.

Low 'a communist, p9

1952 11 19
The new police station at the junction of White Hart Lane and Paddock Street, Soham, is the most up-to-date and first of its kind in the county. Four houses are provided for the station staff and the office accommodation includes sergeant's office, charge room and patrol rooms, in addition to garage accommodation. In charge of the new station in Sgt F.G. Brown who moves from Bottisham to take over from Sgt Miller who has been at Soham for the last five years.

1952 11 20
South Cambs R.D.C. decided to close all the waiting lists of applicants for tenancies of hutments at Fowlmere. This came as a result of a resolution from the Parish Council who asked them to allow no new persons to reside in the camps and to pull down each hut or portion of a hut as soon as it was vacated. Coun Murfitt spoke against closure: "We do not want to see people living under such conditions but until we have built enough houses we should not pull these huts down". But it was costing £30 a hut to keep out the rain and this 'fantastic' expenditure should be used to help build other houses and not for bolstering up huts which were not fit for human habitation.

1952 11 20
South Cambs RDC decided they were not responsible for cleaning out the river Mel near Sheene Farm and refused a request from Meldreth parish council to take action which would prevent the flooding of the road. Coun Pepper said: "It is common knowledge that houses are flooded and drainage floats about the gardens, roads are flooded and travel becomes dangerous. The responsibility lies fairly and squarely upon this council". But Coun Murfitt said the Council was not responsible for flooding.

1952 11 20
Edward Lainson of Premier Travel told the Development Plan Inquiry that it would be highly undesirable to move the bus station from Drummer Street to New Square. Access would be difficult and the crossing of Emmanuel Road by a large number of people would constitute a danger. It would cause congestion because a lot of people who found the buses handy would start using their cars. # c.26.46

1952 11 22
Mr George Hawkins has disposed of his holdings in the firm of G.P. Hawkins Ltd to the Cambridge Co-operative Society and a new company has been formed. But he has insisted that 'The Dorothy' will continue on the same lines as in the past and did not agree to the change-over until given that assurance. Running a catering establishment of this size is no easy task, made greater during the war when he was also the Regional Bread Officer for the Ministry of Food.

Guides Association, p9

1952 11 24

There was confirmation from Newmarket of the Cambridge flying saucer report. Mr J. Beirne reported seeing 'a definite circular object while cycling along Madingley Road, Cambridge. Now comes a report from a bus conductor of seeing a 'bright cigar-shaped object' flying at great speed at Newmarket. It gave out an orange-coloured tint and was fire by three small tappets at the rear. There have been isolated cases of practical demonstrations of guided missiles being carried out in the Mildenhall area and on the Norfolk coast. These guided weapons are known to be capable of speeds over 2,000 m.p.h. # c.26.1

1952 11 24
The County Council have designs on a quarter of an acre of smallholdings let to Redgate Nurseries on the corner of Hick's Lane and Cambridge Road Girton. It is proposed to establish a police station and house on the site which would give adequate supervision of the Huntingdon Road – a black spot for accidents in the past. The County Police force has been undermanned since the war and better accommodation would attract more recruits. The constable at Girton was responsible for policing the parishes of Girton, Oakington and Westwick. A council house was not suitable; if a constable had to detain a prisoner there was only the living room of the house available.

1952 11 25
Blant Breeding Institute, p7
Training motor cyclists, p11

1952 11 26
One woman who says 'No thank you' to a mink coat is the wife of a St Neots mink farmer. He was one of a dozen mink farmers in Britain in 1945. Now he is one of 200 who are showing that the film stars' fur can be bred here as well and cheaper than in Canada and America. Mink are usually sold in trios – one male and two females – at about £50 for dark brown, £65 for silver blue and £100 for the newly-fashionable white. The chances of growing a mink coat in your back garden are not much. You would need 100 skins and they would have to be perfectly matched.

Jet crash, p8
Newmarket pensioners' bungalows, p10
Development plan concludes, p12

1952 11 27
The fact that South Cambs RDC intend to start building houses on land at Fowlmere adjoining another piece designated in the Development Plan for a housing site was a "deplorable and irresponsible decision which they take at their peril" said an objector at the Inquiry. A piece of land at present used as a recreation ground was large enough for the existing football pitch and the proposed housing site. The Council said that a piece of land owner by a Mr Sheldrick was the most suitable, but when he wished to reclaim it for agriculture they had suggested the other site.

1952 11 28
Owing to an improvement in the supply of new cars to the home market, the motor industry has decided to reduce the period of restraint against resale under the covenant from two years to 12 months. This is another step to abolish the covenant as soon as its retention is no longer necessary to protect the motoring public from the activities of speculators. In future customers will no longer have to complete a form giving details of all new cars owned by him since the war. The models still covered include Austin A.30 and A.40, Ford Anglia, Prefect, Consul and Zephyr, Hillman Minx, Morris Minor and Oxford and Vauxhall Wyvern and Velox.

Jet crash, Dry Drayton, p8 # c.26.1

December 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1952 12 01 c

Cambridge Council will start negotiations for the purchase of sites in Northampton Street to build cottages for old people. The Cambridge Preservation Society has offered £100 towards the cost of each dwelling on condition that the cottages in Kettle's Yard are kept in being and modernised. Because of the urgent need in Chesterton for more cottages for old people's use the Housing Committee are to consider buying land on the Scotland Farm Site.

1952 12 02
Mrs Dale (Ellis Powell) of BBC fame will have something different to note in her diary when she opens the Cambridge Co-operative Society's new block of three shops on the corner of Whitehill Road. This imposing site accommodates an up-to-the-minute food store surmounted by dwellings. The three shops comprise a wet, dried and fried fish department, a butcher and a modern 'self-service' grocery with counters for the sale of rationed goods, confectionery and tobacco. # c.27.2

Parkside police station, p9

1952 12 03
Jet crash Oakington, p9 # c.26.1

1952 12 04
The villagers of Reach want their village to remain a village in its own right. They do not want to become part of Swaffham Prior. Strictly speaking Reach has never been a village in its own right – part of it lying within the parish of Burwell and part in Swaffham Prior, now an Inquiry is trying to sort the matter out. They concede that the present set-up is unsatisfactory but feel the answer is to make Reach a parish of its own.

1952 12 05
Cambridge City Council are objecting to the County Council's proposal to demolish the Shire Hall courts at present suffering from dry rot; their consent is needed as the building is scheduled as of special architectural or historic interest. Ald Wilding thought it was hardly necessary to demolish the building just because of some defects in the woodwork & Ald Taylor put forward a plan for preserving its very fine façade, but Coun George Edwards said the best thing would be to demolish it and have a new building erected in its place.

1952 12 06
The Government has refused permission for Messrs W. Wisbey to excavate sand and gravel from a field at Hauxton that the parish council wanted to use as a playing field, but permission has been granted for working in three other fields, about 30 acres in all. They have laid down conditions designed to minimise the damage to the amenities of the village.

University commont on plan, p6

1952 12 08
The familiar voice of Ellis Powell – of Mrs Dale's Diary fame – was heard coming over a loudspeaker instead of a radio by a large crowd waiting outside the new branch of the Co-op on the housing estate at Whitehill Road, Cambridge. Mrs Dale, hatless, but looking warm in a fur coat over her royal blue dress, declared the new store open. She was then the first customer of this modern self-serving grocery store which also has butchery and fish departments attached. People flooded in under the neon strip-lighting and, picking up baskets, made their way round the well-packed shelves, which seem to include every grocery imaginable. # c.27.2

1952 12 08
The Lord Lieutenant of Cambridgeshire (Capt R.G. Briscoe) spoke about the police houses he had visited. Said he: "I would like to congratulate the County Architect – those houses are absolutely first-rate. And what a first-rate lot of chaps the Chief Constable has got. And I must congratulate those young chaps – what wonderful young wives they have got". Before Ald Stubbs could talk about increased costs in building a police house the Chairman added: "I have been round every one of these homes – and it is surprising what a wonderful lot of women these wives are"

Willingham skating, p8

1952 12 09
One of Saffron Walden's few remaining oast houses has been partly pulled down. It had stood in Messrs Sainsbury's yard overlooking Audley Road for 150 years but there was no further use for it and falling tiles had been a danger to people. The building was still fairly sound except for the loose tiles and only the top half will be removed. It was used for hop-drying as late as 1930.

1952 12 09
The County Conservative and Horticultural Society is to ask whether arrangements can be made for schoolchildren to assist in the potato harvest. There was a shortage of labour and food was more essential than education in the case of boys between 14 and 15. Last year they were allowed a week's holiday, but a fortnight would be better. They would like to see the summer holidays staggered with three weeks at potato lifting time and three weeks at harvest time. The County MP said: "I don't think it does any harm to children that they should lend a hand in gathering the potato or any other harvest. A very great deal of good is done by allowing children, under the proper circumstances, to deal with things like that

1952 12 09
No matter what the weather may be like, over 20 schoolchildren from Littlebury who attend Saffron Walden Secondary Modern School have either to walk or find their own transport. Essex County Council has withdrawn the bus service for children living under three miles away and now the children never get home before 5 p.m. If it rains the children have to keep their wet things on all day. One parent said: "If this position continues, most people are going to keep their children away from school"

1952 12 09
Mr Donald McCullough appealed in "The Week's Good Cause" on behalf of the Ely Cathedral Restoration Appeal. He told listeners: "Ely Cathedral has been attached by the Death-watch beetle and unless we can act quickly it will fall down. I climbed up the lantern and stood there amongst the oak beams and I saw where they had been eaten away by this devilish insect. I actually felt the wood crumbling in my hand, and it was a horrible feeling. The good and generous people had just raised £80,000 to restore their parish churches and increase the incomes of their clergy when they made this awful discovery"

Skating, p8

1952 12 10
Eden chapel old photo, p6

1952 12 12
More than 100 people watched a key being turned in a lock last night before they entered the youngest Methodist Church in England. For that was how the Meadowlands Church, sparkling cream-and-cosy, was described at the first service to be held in the new building. Rev. W.H. Beales glanced over the congregation who had helped to pay for the cream-painted church, at the small intimate organ in the corner and the simple altar in light oak with its gleaming brazen cross & said the community of Meadowlands owed these workers a debt which could never be repaid # c.83

1952 12 13
The inquiry into the County Development Plan has concluded. Its main object is the preservation of Cambridge as a University town & the deliberate prevention of its character becoming that of an industrial town or a town with large straggling suburbs. The problem of Cambridge was largely a traffic problem but measures to deal with this by the widening of streets would be a negation of the true object of planning which is to preserve the Cambridge we know today # c.49.4

1952 12 15
Bourn traffic, p11
Joseph Reed, p12

1952 12 16
Sims Woodhouse, p4
21st feast, p10
Hobbs 70, p12

1952 12 17
Cheveley rates, p4
Mowlem's 1000th house, p8

1952 12 18
Following an inspection by South Cambs R.D.C. of some "no fines" concrete houses they recommend the erection of 100 such houses in Sawston, and 50 in Duxford, Linton and Bassingbourn. The houses were comfortable to live in and of a smaller area that the type of house they had been building. They will not have to find any labour for erection as the firm will supply the men who will probably be billeted in the Trumpington National Service Hostel

1952 12 19
American airmen at Lakenheath contributed generously to their fund to provide Christmas food parcels for old people living near the base. Nearly 500 old folk will get a wonderful surprise when a U.S. airman knocks at their door and hands over a gaily-wrapped hamper containing assorted Christmas fare worth about £2 6s. The names of recipients have been selected from suggestions made by the W.V.S., the Women's Institutes and the British Legion

Cambridge – Haverhill buses, p6
Gas works new club, p11

1952 12 19 ES
Plane hits tree, Swaffham Prior Fen – 52 12 19ES

Littleport Arber's Mill demolished, Ten Mile Bank Road. Had been run by Benjamin Arber, during the war used as air raid shelter; recently sold and new owner, realising the structure was unsafe, has had to have it demolished – 52 12 19(3)

Death Mrs W. Kennedy, Matron of Littleport Convalescent Home. During War when the Home was taken over by the Air Ministry and her husband on war service, she worked on A.R.P. duties – 52 12 19(3)ES

Ely store belonging to Tucker & Sons builders, 11 Newnham Street, collapsed – photo – 52 12 19(4)ES

Sutton Gault Building Fund to provide permanent Sunday School and social centre reaches £600 – 52 12 19(5)ES

1952 12 20
Bomber crash, p6 & 23rd p7 # c.26.1
Ashly Tabrum, p9

1952 12 22

Cambridge was "rather quiet" as far as Christmas shoppers were concerned. The secretary of Joshua Taylor said they had fathers looking fondly and possessively at boy's train sets, girls examining intricately-mechanised farm tractors and boys glancing critically at dark-eyed dolls. The most precocious doll will blow bubbles and weep real tears, drink milk and needs nappies - and she carries a pipe in her purse (for the bubbles). But the sturdy reliable walker was still the most popular doll of all.

1952 12 23
The first children's Christmas party given by Pye Ltd since the war was held in the Canteen, St Andrew's Road, Cambridge, when more than 450 children of employees thoroughly enjoyed themselves. After tea they were entertained by the antics of Mr Shipp and then watched a marionette show presented by the Frith family of Histon. This is a real family show with son Roger, 13, manipulating the puppets, Mrs Lilian Frith making off-stage sounds and her husband Oliver providing the voices. Then Father Christmas arrived with sacks of presents and the children went home – the younger ones tired but happy

Lakenheath party, p6

1952 12 24
Cambridge is the first city in the country to be able to see the latest model of the Synchro Screen in action. This R.C.A. invention has been installed at the Rex Cinema and will be a permanent feature. The new screen enhances the photography giving it extra depth. It does not go the whole way to providing three-dimensional pictures but is a great step forward. There are five similar screens now in existence but the one at the Rex is the latest type and 2,000 people came along to see it on Sunday. # c.76.9

1952 12 26 ES
Ely electricity supply boosted from Burwell – photo – 52 12 26ES

1952 12 27
Chidrens' hospitalsd, p6

1952 12 29
In the oil-lit schoolroom at Toft on Thursday before Christmas, the chairman of the Parish Council pressed a button, and electricity came to the village. The school was crowded for the official switching-on ceremony. The original proposals were made in 1939 but were held up by the war. With the nationalisation of the supply industry a programme for orderly development was drawn up. Toft and Caldecote were among the first villages in the Cambridge district to receive a supply, which would serve about 70 consumers. They welcomed the arrival of electricity and looked forward to the enjoyment of its many advantages. There were demonstrations of domestic appliances and cookery and washing machines.

Milton planning, p4
Death P.J. Squires, p7

1952 12 31
In a field at the rear of the University Rugby ground a team of Cavendish Laboratory workers, led by Mr. M. Ryle, have set up a station for the study of the very weak cosmic radio waves which are reaching the earth from outer space. This new study has become known as radio astronomy and the large aerial systems used are now known as radio telescopes. Since 1946 the Cavendish have pioneered observations in this new branch of astronomy. The construction of a large version of the telescope would have involved great expense, but in conjunction with Mr D. McKay an entirely new method of constructing the aerial was devised which enabled it to be built at a fraction of the cost.

1953 Cambridge Daily News and Ely Standard

I have reader-printer copies of articles marked eg 53 01 17

January 1953 CDN

1953 01 01
Cambridge welcomed the New Year in the traditional style and at all the City's ballrooms and dance halls dancers spent the midnight hour in the usual noisy, happy manner. Everywhere there were capacity crowds. At the attractively decorated Guildhall 500 witnessed the arrival of 1953 at a carnival dance with music by the Astral All Stars Dance Orchestra. At the Cambridge University Assistants' Annual Dance at the Examination Hall 1,000 people danced to George Freestone and His Music while at The Dorothy the music of Red Cottage's Orchestra was relayed downstairs to the café which was used as an extension to the ballroom.

Banham, p7

1953 01 02
About 200 cups of tea were served to bargain hunters as they queued waiting for the opening of the Belfast Linen Store's January sale. The queue started to form along St Andrew's Street soon after 5 a.m. and the long, chilly vigil was relieved by a welcome cup of piping hot tea at about 8 o'clock. It was dispensed from a van supplied by Hobbs' Pavilion, Parker's Piece. First bargains to go were quilt sets slashed from 12 to four guineas, spring interior mattresses reduced to £3 19s. and pillow cases at 1s. each.

1953 01 03
Cambridge will be one of the first cities in England to be lit almost entirely by "sodium" street lighting. And, said the Mayor, it will be one of the best-lighted in the world. A motorist can appreciate sodium lighting better than any pedestrian can. Black spots and fog are obliterated. Trunk roads will be lit, stopping at the inner ring-road, as this type of light is not thought suitable for the historic city centre. A completely new type of lantern is being used which gives an exceptionally high light output in relation to the electrical energy consumed. # c.24.8

Church developments, p9

1953 01 05
About 100 Fulbourn children are victims of a measles epidemic, which has swept through the village. Miss A. Featherstone, a district nurse, said the first outbreak occurred on December 9th and since then she has had batches of under 11's suffering from the disease. Because of the outbreak few Fulbourn children have enjoyed the fun of a Christmas party; there were so many of them in bed. One villager said: "The children have been going down with it like ninepins". But an official of the County Medical Department said: "A measles epidemic? No, I've heard nothing. It must be a rumour"

1953 01 07
The Vicar of Over sprang a surprise on Sunday night when he announced that he had tendered his resignation. "My chief reasons are financial and family", he told his congregation. His salary had been raised to £500 but this is dependent on the parish meeting its quota. "Over could have raised this had the parish wished to do so, but there is no will to make the exertion. If a parish which is in a position to find the money to pay a share of its priest's stipend refuses to do so, it should not have the services of a full-time priest", he said. "In the old days two maids and a gardener were employed to tend the vicarage. I am not prepared to go on seeing my wife trying to do the work of mistress of the house, mother and two maids, and as a reward suffer the privations of grinding poverty." – 53 01 07

1953 01 09

After a six-months stay in Cambridge 16 excited Greek children left for their own country. They came here from war-shattered Greece in the summer of last year and stayed with families under the auspices of the Cambridge Committee of International Help for Children. They met and played with English children, they attended school and as the months passed their frail forms filled out and they became normal healthy children

US homes, p8

1953 01 09 ES
Death Ald Horace Martin, Upton House, Littleport - 53 01 09ES

1953 01 10
Cambridge Guildhall became a fairyland of soft lights and sweet music for the annual ball of Cambridgeshire County Police. Tasteful carpeting and curtaining, coupled with colourful floral decorations, gave the ballroom a warm, welcoming atmosphere when one stepped from the raw, misty night outside. And the remarkable centre-piece, a fountain surmounted by a crown and outlined in colourful lights provided a charming reminder of the coming Coronation, besides adding gaiety to the scene. On the stage the Stirlingaires Orchestra played a polished and well-balance programme of music with Julie Butler signing the vocal refrains.

1953 01 12
A well known figure for many years, Mr Robert Pierce, has died. He joined the old Cambridge Electric Supply Company in 1908 as manager and engineer and stayed until 1938 when he retired and was placed on the Board of Directors where he remained until the industry was nationalised in 1948. In his own private workshop he built a good deal of the equipment used at Addenbrooke's Hospital in the early days of X-ray.

1953 01 12
A minimum wage of £7 a week without any alteration in hours was demanded at the annual meeting of the National Union of Agricultural Workers in Cambridge. It was needed in order to meet the increasing cost of living and to bring wages into line with those enjoyed by workers in other industries. They also asked |Government to abolish the tied cottage system and bring rural houses up to standard.

1953 01 13
A large number of Cambridge people have made applications to the City Council for licences to build their own homes, since the Government announcement that anyone could build a house of up to 1,000 square feet. Circulars have been sent to all people on the council housing list asking them if they want to build. Provided the authority is satisfied that the cost of erecting a house is reasonable the licence is granted automatically. The cost of building a house is about £1,300 and with the aid of a mortgage comes within the scope of an £8-a-week wage-earner. It is possible to have more expensive fittings than those generally used in council houses; if a bath in a council house costs £5 a person wanting to install one costing £25 would be allowed the difference in building his own house. # c.23

1953 01 14
Work on the roundabout at East Road corner with Newmarket Road, Cambridge, has been in progress for about five weeks; it is hoped it will be completed in another six. Before long the traffic lights will be removed and the centre of the junction will be sealed off so that the roundabout can be erected. Traffic will still be able to use the crossing, as by then the road surface at the corners will have been filled in.

Wentworth Day letter, p13

1943 01 15
Longstowe water, p9

1953 01 16 c
King's College head porter, Albert Powell, was granted a possession order for his house in Marshall Road. He had bought the house in 1919. In 1936 he was made head porter at King's College, which necessitated him living in the porter's lodge. In 1938 he let the house to the present tenant but told him he would want it when he retired. Mr Powell was asked: "Would you stay at King's if you could not get possession of the house; you are still full of fight and able to cope with undergraduates". He replied: "No, I am 66 now"

1953 01 17
A new type of draught excluder fitted to a Trinity College undergraduates' sitting room was so effective that nobody was aware it was on fire. The occupant was sleeping peacefully while in the adjoining room furniture and floorboards were ablaze. Smoke pouring from the fire was prevented from penetrating to the bedroom by the draught excluders recently fitted. The sound of crackling timbers woke a student on the floor below who gave the alarm. Undergraduates from other rooms on the staircase ran to safety but it was only after a ladder was raised to the first-storey bedroom that the sleeping man was roused.

1953 01 19
St Pauls's church war memorial, p10

1953 01 20
Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother, accompanied by Princess Margaret, paid a surprise visit to Cambridge to call at Mr Stanley Woolston's antique shop in St Andrew's Street. News of their coming was a secret, but a handful of people appreciated the significance of the 'No Waiting' signs & when the sleek Royal car drew up a crowd of about 200 had been attracted to the scene. The Queen Mother, fresh and charming as ever, returned the cheers of the crowd with a smile and a friendly nod. Princess Margaret, demure, attractive and smiling followed her mother into the shop which has now enjoyed Royal patronage for a great many years. # c.02

1953 01 21
Cambridge city council have asked the County not to demolish the old Assize Courts which are at present closed because of dry rot. As it is a building of special architectural interest further consideration should be given to its preservation. Dry rot does not necessarily involve the demolition of the whole structure of an affected building – none of the Colleges have had to demolish their buildings, though many of them have been affected from time to time. But the County says there is no assurance that further infection could be prevented. They intend to re-erect the façade of the building elsewhere # c.34.9 # c.61

1953 01 21
The Deputy Mayor of Cambridge, (Ald. H.O. Langdon) told a public meeting to launch an appeal for funds for a residential home for old people that it was a challenge to every one of them. "Can we stand aside and see old people who have spent a useful life in the service of our country suffer the pangs of loneliness and hardship, and let them die in despair, uncared for and unwanted", he asked. It is proposed to provide bed sitting rooms, both single and double, centrally heated and with modern amenities together with a dining room, reading and writing rooms where people can spend their declining years in the company of others and be tended and cared for. # c.32.9

1953 01 23
A decision to build a new £100,000 telephone exchange in Cambridge was revealed at the annual Christmas party of the male telephonists of Cambridge G.P.O. It will be quite a big new building, in Trumpington Road. Mr G.S. Cumming, the Chief Night Supervisor, said that the night telephonist's job was very important and evening calls provide the greatest degree of happiness that the telephone service gives. During the night most of the calls were vitally important. His staff were really wonderful and their wives had a lot to do with it – they sent the men to work happy. # c.27.75

1953 01 26
Assize courts, p4

1953 01 28
The chairman of Histon parish council protested against a proposal that boundaries of the adjacent parishes should be altered and 415 acres added to Girton. This was the third time that Girton had asked for an extension; on the last occasion in 1934 Histon had agreed. Oakington also wanted additional land, previously the site of the isolation hospital; the Cambridge road was their only source of development since the aerodrome had taken 500 acres, the water supply was provided by the village and residents would be able to avail themselves of the new recreation ground.

1953 01 29
Abut 100 Cambridge undergraduates went to a party in St Catharine's college and then stood cheering while the man responsible was thrown into the icy waters of the Cam. For the party was a hoax! Three St Catharine's students were thanked for their invitations to a party and found that 100 invitations had been printed. They took it in the right spirit and arranged a party with a comb and paper band to provide some music. The hoaxer sent an anonymous letter with money to pay for the drinks, but was denounced and thrown into the Cam.

1953 01 30
Ely Beet Sugar Factory has come to the end of another successful campaign, dealing with 316,000 tons of beet in 116 days, including a two-day stop when the boiler broke down, and produced over 44,000 tons of sugar, 7,000 tons of molasses and nearly 23,000 tons of dried beet pulp. It is a tribute to the farmers to say that in spite of all the handicaps of frost, snow and water-logged fields, less than half of one per cent of the beets remain unharvested.

Bourn airfield, p4

1953 01 31
Shire Hall courts, p9

February 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 02 02
East Coast Floods, p1, 3, 8 – 52 02 02

1953 02 03
More evacuees from the Married Quarters at Felixstowe RAF Station arrived at Waterbeach RAF station, bringing the total to about 150. The matron of the Glanely Rest, at Exning, says that 35 flooded-out residents of the Bristol House Home at Felixstowe had been accommodated at the late Lord Glanely's house. Pye's factory at Oulton Broads, Lowestoft, was flooded by 28-ft waves and put out of action. Salt water covered much of the equipment. Yesterday Mr L.W. Jones, Works Director and Mr C.A. Harmer, Technical Director went to Lowestoft to survey the damage and make plans for sending help from Cambridge – 52 02 03

Cambridge residents' flood story, p6 – 52 02 03
Cherry Hinton housing, p10

1953 02 04
Varsity, the university student magazine, reports that the rooms in women's colleges may be poky, unsuitably furnished and dimly lighted but they are not dowdy. At Newnham all the rooms are attractive but dim lighting and inadequate heating are the main faults and there is a dearth of food cupboards. Male visitors may be shocked to see that their hostess keeps food and crockery in her wardrobe together with damp towels and that the desk drawers contain undies. At Girton some rooms contain antique furnishings which give an air of luxury but others are completely modern with unique mobiles and original paintings by Avante Garde artists.

Appeal for bedding, first loads sent to flood victims, p8 – 53 02 04
Newmarket housing

1953 02 05
To a Britain shocked by the disasters of the weekend came the news today that the bodies of over 100 people had been found in the Canvey Island floods and that between 400 and 500 more were unaccounted for. The dreadful magnitude of the tragedy is becoming only too clear to rescue workers who see bodies – some young children – floating on the waters and others laying lifeless on roof tops with water lapping at their feet, and still more entangled amongst branches of trees – flung there by the mighty waves which engulfed the island. # c.29

1953 02 05
Stories of those who lived through the coastal deluge are being unfolded. Well-known Cambridge people were amongst those who can now tell of narrow escapes from death. One woman spent more than five hours on the roof of her beach house at Heacham with the raging sea all around. "Our bungalow was the only one which held together, yet it was washed a quarter of a mile from the original site, and five people living almost next door lost their lives", she said.

Cambridge Food Convoy returns from King's Lynn – 53 02 05

1953 02 06 ES
Holiday beaches now six miles of ruin … Snettisham survivors living in Ely … the Ouse position – 53 02 06 & (2)ES

1953 02 07
Contrary to reports that floods threaten on an even larger scale at King's Lynn, Mr W.E. Doran of the Great Ouse River Board said the situation was satisfactory. Of the eight breaks which occurred in the banks of the Ouse five were closed before the next high tide. On the remaining breach north of Magdalene railway bridge some 400 men, including airmen, farm workers and University students were employed in filling bags in preparation for the first stage in the closing of the breach. p9 # c.29

1953 02 09
Voluntary work in aid of the East Coast flood victims went on throughout Cambridge during the weekend and many volunteers were pleased to see the Mayor who visited the various centres before concluding with a visit to Heacham where he saw the bulldozers piling up the beach in an endeavour of build a wall. . On Saturday afternoon he called in at the Cambridge United football ground where a short appeal over the loudspeaker system resulted in a collection amounting to £37. – 53 02 09

1953 02 09
Sir Hugh Lucas-Tooth, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Home Office, visited W.V.S. centres in Cambridge. He saw American airmen working alongside British civilians in sorting and packing hundreds of articles which are still being received for the East Coast Flood victims. 500 blankets were sent today from Cambridge to Yarmouth where many people are going back to their homes. The hangar at Madingley Road which has been opened as a receiving centre is so packed with clothing and bedding that the heads of students working there are touching the roof.

1953 02 10
People of Cambridge are responding well to the Queen Mother's message broadcast by the BBC appealing for clothing for the East Coast flood victims. At the W.V.S. Regional Headquarters in Chesterton Road clothing is piling up on the floor. All morning people have been arriving from Cambridge and the outlying villages with armfuls of clothes and children's toys. The British Red Cross Society are busy and a long line of people have offered bedding and bedsteads of all descriptions. The Harvey Goodwin Nursery has made an offer of babies' cots

1953 02 10 c
The Swiss Laundry and the Cherry Hinton Steam Laundry in Cambridge are both busy washing and ironing articles sent from flooded laundries at Lowestoft. All the employees volunteered to work throughout the weekend on consignments which arrived in lorries. The articles were covered in slime and completely unrecognisable as individual garments. By Sunday the whole consignment was completed and they were surprised how clean the articles had come. The Scotsdale Laundry was also engaged on similar work

1953 02 11
Pest Control of Harston appealed against the refusal of planning permission for an extension of their works. The County planners said they do not think it in the interest of Cambridgeshire that there should be an increase of major industry. It was their duty to protect the beauty and well-being of the county. The production site of the factory should never have been started at Hauxton at all and it must not be allowed to expand. There had been complaints of unpleasant smells and discoloration and pollution of the river

1953 02 12
Cam levels

1953 02 12 c
Tired but in good spirits the crew of a Cambridge Food Squad consisting of six Ministry of Food vans returned from King's Lynn where they have provided free stews, teas, sandwiches, pudding and custards to the homeless and the many workers helping with the flood disaster. The party consisted of hand-picked recruits from the W.V.S. who were also members of the Civil Defence movement. One said that it was just as difficult as the job they had to do in the Norwich blitz during the war.

1953 02 13
High water levels on the River Cam have now dropped considerably at all points except at Bottisham Locks and all precautions for dealing with any emergency during the period of the Spring tides have been completed. A tide warning system will be put into operation; the number of patrols will be increased and emergency gangs, transport and materials made available at short notice. Coastal weather and tidal conditions are received by teleprinter at the Great Ouse River Board's Ely headquarters and police are ready to issue any necessary warnings – 53 02 13 # c.29

Cambridge more expensive than London, Civil Service claims – 53 02 13

1953 02 13 ES
Ely & District Laundry wash clothes flood victims – photo – 53 03 13ES

1953 02 14
Bad weather delayed the Royal Car when Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother came to Cambridge to visit depots where clothing is being stored for East Coast flood victims. She visited the hangar on Madingley Road in which is stacked some 400 tons of clothing sent by post, road and rail from all parts of the country. There she watched undergraduates unloading lorries, saw the clothing being sorted and then went to the canteen where she accepted a beaker of tea, declining sugar. Then she walked into the open to see the Soya boilers used to provide hot meals. During part of the time in the shed Her Majesty was under the glare of television cameras which were recording the proceedings. – 53 02 14 # c.02

King's Lynn fair, p1
Concert for floods, p7

1953 02 16
Queen Mother and WVS floods, p9

1953 02 17
Croydon plane crash, p6 # c.26.1

1953 02 18
A Newmarket reader has written to complain about the way in which fish fryers wrap up fish and chips. "It seems to be an accepted rule that the bag must always be an inch too short. If you buy 6d worth of chips they will give you a bag which holds 4d worth. This is not a chance accident but a system which is rigidly adhered to with the result that at least some of the chips will be imbibed with the printers' ink of the newspaper in which it was wrapped."

1952 02 19
Death E.A.B. Barnard, p5

1953 02 21
A travel-worn motor coach came to rest on Market Hill, Cambridge, after a 3,000-mile, seven week "Go to Clacton" tour of the Midlands. And Mr E.A. Lainson, Managing Director of Premier Travel Ltd hopes it will bring him £6,000 worth of business this summer. The 35-seater is no ordinary vehicle for the passengers cannot see through the windows. But as a mobile cinema it has taken the golden sands and sunshine of Clacton to hundreds of housewives and factory workers in industrial towns and cities far away from the sea, showing an eight-minute colour film 'Back to the Sun'

1953 02 21
Eleven members of a Wilburton family have a record of longevity that will take some beating. Four brothers and seven sisters, their combined ages add up to 872 years. In order of seniority they are: Mrs Elizabeth Moxon who is 86, Herbert Warren (Wilburton) 84, Edward Warren 83, Mrs Rebecca Everitt 82, Mrs Georgina Ashman 81, Alfred Ashman 79, Mrs Flora Wilds 78, Mrs Mary Clark 77, Arthur Herbert Warren 66, Miss Clara Warren 74 and Ethel, aged 72.

1953 02 23
A new branch of the Westminster Bank opened in Fitzroy Street, Cambridge, a fairly busy district which up to now has not been served by a bank of any sort. Inside the visitor is greeted with an attractively decorated modern interior. Cheques will be taken to the parent branch in Bene't Street where they are photographed and available for the customer to examine. An interesting feature is that a night safe has been provided. The first person to open an account was Geoffrey Nichols, of the Free Press, Prospect Row. # c.32.8

1953 02 24
Almost 200 members of the Cambridge Branch British Legion Women's Section celebrated their jubilee at the Dorothy Café. Mrs A.A. Sampson, Chairman, expressed thanks to their officers and mentioned in particular the only two standard bearers the branch had had in its 25 years. Mrs Barnard, who had retired for health reasons in 1936, and her sister, Mrs Garner, who took over the duty at that time. After dinner the guests danced to the music of Wally Scott's Band and were entertained by a cabaret by members of Mrs Joan Metcalfe's School of Dancing

1953 02 25
Messrs Cheffins put Allen's Farm, Teversham, up for sale by auction. The farm of 187 acres which lies about 3½ miles from the City Centre attracted a large company and the bidding quickly advanced to £17,700 at which figure it was knocked down to Marshall's Flying School. It is understood that this was the first auction of property in Teversham since 1906.

1953 02 26
Butchers dance, p7

1953 02 27
A property known as 'The Spinney', Limekiln Close, Cherry Hinton was ordered to be demolished as it was unfit for human habitation & a danger to passers-by. The thatched roof was overgrown with vegetation and the timber frame of the house rotten and on the point of coming away. The cottage was very close to a road junction and may fall towards the public highway. Children had broken into it and it looked as though it had been hit by a bomb.

1953 02 27 ES
Sutton business changes hands after 103 years: H.A. Nunn, High Street confectionary, tobacco and newsagents, started by grandfather' taken by S & O.G. Hirst of Blackburn – 53 02 27ES

1953 02 28
The Newmarket Association for the Prosecutions of Felons dinner attracted more than the usual number of stalwarts from Cambridge. It used to concern itself with bringing miscreants to book but now proved an opportunity for a convivial evening out. Members are usually called 'felons', but are keen to point out they are nothing of the sort. Mrs Charles Phythian, clerk to Cambs County Council had to withstand a good-natured ragging by Jack Ennion, another well-known solicitor, about the proposed demolition of the Old Shire Hall.

Sunday School Union, p8

1953 02 28 c
Bar takings at the Exning Road Working Men's Club at Newmarket during 1952 were nearly £11,280 – a new record for the third year running and this, more than anything, reflected the manner in which members supported the club. It played a prominent part in social activities of the area and had developed into a community centre. It had no party politics and no class distinction but a happy atmosphere always prevailed and that had a great deal to do with its success.

March 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 03 02
"Why not let the façade of the Assize Courts on Castle Hill be used as a 'Marble Arch' for the new Spine Relief Road" asked the Mayor of Cambridge during discussions on its removal. The City Council had been very concerned about its preservation but to dismantle and remake it would cost £12,000 and architects said it could not be placed on the new building. It was a secondary monument and not old enough to be preserved, being built in 1840. But the stone figures on the roof were to be saved. 53 03 02

Closing gap, p4

1953 03 04 c
A Newmarket stable lad was fined £3.10s for being drunk while in charge of a bicycle and riding without lights. He can pay the fine at the rate of 10s a week. P.C. Flucker said he saw the defendant riding his machine in an erratic manner in Newmarket High Street. He was sitting on a saddle which consisted of three springs with no cover – which was uncomfortable. He veered to the nearside of the road and finally fell off. Told he would be reported he'd said: "You can send me to prison for two weeks but I won't pay a penny".

1953 03 05
The East Coast floods and the Harrow railway disaster are reasons for joining the National Health Service Reserve and more than 1,500 more volunteers are needed in this region. It provides an efficient body of men and women immediately ready when an emergency arises. The Hospital Board plan to provide 15 static and 20 mobile First Aid posts. There was a chronic scarcity of hospital beds. At midnight there had been five empty beds in the men's ward at Addenbrooke's Hospital but by 8 a.m. two of these had been filled. It does not take much imagination to picture what would happen if there were an emergency when something like 100 casualties needed attention

1953 03 05
Linton Lime and Chalk Company appealed against a County Council refusal to allow the construction of houses for their workers on land along the front of the pit. About 20,000 cubic yards were dug from the pit each year & if it were not possible to build houses they would cease working. But the County said that other accommodation would be just as suitable and the firm was trying to secure permission for residential development so they could sell and secure financial benefit. Noise, dust and the general position of the site outside the planning scheme boundary made it unsuitable for residential purposes.

Phone manager's duties, p11

1953 03 06
Lenin death, p1

1953 03 07
Remains found in an ancient grave at Snailwell were handed to the University Museum of Archaeology. The grave is of a Belgic chieftain who died a short time before the Roman invasion. He was cremated and the small heap of bones that remain were buried in a bag together with his shield and some food such as ox, a small pig and some fowl. Some of the pottery utensils still bear the marks of the potter who made them. It is the first of its kind to be found locally for over 50 years

1953 03 09
Police inquiries are being made to find the person responsible for blocking Magdalene Street in Cambridge with a length of iron fencing. It was stretched across the road, one end was chained to a lamp post and the other to a direction sign. There was a red lamp in the centre with a notice "Beware – foot and mouth disease". There was a diversion sign on the bridge and on Northampton Street traffic lights was a sign that warned, "Track closed".

Hills Road bridge, p10

1953 03 10
The University has invited the City Council to join them in making representations for a municipal abattoir to be built in Cambridge. It would be under the control of the council but provide facilities for University departments who need specimens for research and for the School of Veterinary Medicine. Meat inspection is an important element in vets' training and it would be an advantage if there were facilities in Cambridge.

1953 03 11
Bowes bookshop taken by W.H. Smith, p3

1953 03 12
If you have a few hours to spare any day – including Sundays – you will be welcome at the W.V.S. depot at Madingley Road, Cambridge. There in the huge wartime aircraft hangar a big job still awaits. The surge of generosity following the East Coast floods produced vast quantities of clothing of all kinds and the boxes and bundles are stacked to the roof. They need to be sorted and prepared for despatch. The building is bright and warm and an amplification system is in operation to provide music while you work. A midday meal is provided and a sandwich tea in the afternoon but the reward is to see the lorries leaving every day loaded with neat, clearly-labelled packages which will help to ease the burden of families whose possessions were destroyed in a single night.

1953 03 12
The former tenant of Tower Farm, Tadlow told the bankruptcy court it was a situated a mile from the nearest road and accessible only by a mud track. When he took it in 1947 it was in a very dilapidated condition. He cut back the hedges and carried on mixed farming but owing to the nature of the farm and the lack of proper draining he found it impossible to cultivate the full acreage and the last three harvests had been poor. He had sold his furniture and effects at the Downing Arms but was amazed at the way things went cheaply. People seemed to think the sale was a farce.

1953 03 13
Plans for slum-clearing within Cambridge and for the transfer of tenants from under-occupied properties were outlined at the city council. At present people on the 5,000-strong waiting list will have to wait as long as 15 years for a home. Ald Langdon said: "Cambridge has been expanding into the countryside, but inside it is rotten to the core. We have got to clear the slum houses which are a great expense to the council, but what are we going to do with the people living in dilapidated houses which were condemned before the war". The council is now concentrating on providing smaller dwellings and blocks of flats, but land will be very scarce in the future. # c.23

1953 03 14
The site of England's oldest bookshop has just changed hands for the 14th time in more than 350 years. Messrs W.H. Smith have acquired Bowes and Bowes' shop on the corner of Trinity Street which has a heritage of bookselling, publishing and binding that goes back as far as 1581. In 1807 it belonged to John Nicholson, son of the celebrated 'Maps' who went his rounds of the University with a moveable stall laden with textbooks and called out "Maps and pictures". Later Kingsley and other literary men held 'tobacco parliaments' on religion and politics, Wordsworth reclined there, Thackeray dined there and Tennyson first read "Maud" in the Long Room, now the Foreign Department. – 53 03 14 # c.25

1953 03 16
The Mayor (Ald S.T. Bull) formally opened the first two police houses to be erected in Cambridge. He said that some new recruits come from other parts of the county and they, like most human beings, marry and have families. There are three police houses in the area but they have no indoor sanitation. The new houses are easy to run, with light and pleasant room. There are 16 police houses being built and they will be sited at Walpole Road, Queen Edith's Way, Fulbourn Road and Coleridge Road. # c.34.7

St Edmunds church window, p5

1953 03 17
Business at the Bene't Street, Cambridge, branch of Barclay's Bank has expanded to such a degree over recent years that additional premises are required to handle an 'overflow' of work. Now a new bank has been built at 3, St Andrew's Street. The counter is made of Honduras mahogany and glass panelling is extensively used, a modern feature which nevertheless preserves the traditional dignity of a bank. There is a unique feature about the new bank. Alongside the wall facing the church is a line of thirty tombstones, some 250 years old, which had to be displaced during building operations. # c.32.8

1953 03 18
Duxford jets, p1

1953 03 19
Marshal Tito saw two Meteor jets collide in mid-air and crash in flames as he was watching an air display at Duxford airfield. He jumped to his feet in horror as a great burst of red flame rose hundreds of feet into the air behind some trees at Chrishall. They were two of the four jets which had swept past his armchair before taking off. From their open cockpits the pilots each gave an "eyes left" to the Marshal who saluted back. Just after the crash there was a poignant moment when the two surviving Meteors touched down. Tito rose from his armchair, stood to attention and saluted the planes in tribute to the dead pilots. # c.02 # c.26.1

1953 03 20 ES

'Go Ahead' for Ouse Flood scheme – 53 03 20ES

1953 03 21
Marshal Tito paid a surprise visit to Cambridge; police took stringent security measures and many people were surprised to see a fleet of a dozen cars, escorted by police patrolmen on motor-cycles, sweeping along the streets. It was not until late in the afternoon when it became known that the distinguished visitor was the Yugoslav President. At the University Library Special Branch detectives screened all visitors in the most stringent security measures ever undertaken on the visit of a foreign statesman. He then visited the Engineering Department and Downing College. # c.02

1953 03 21
King Hussein of Jordan had a flight in a helicopter, saw the beauty of King's College Chapel and had dinner at Trinity College during a short visit to Cambridge. His first engagement was a visit to the Bourn works of Pest Control Ltd and as his car covered the last mile to the entrance it was escorted by a crop-spraying helicopter keeping pace 50 feet overhead. News that the locust threat in his own country has become very grave increased the importance of a demonstration of methods employed in the destruction of the pest # c.02

1953 03 24
With Old Mother Riley there is no compromise – either you like her immensely or you dislike her intensely. And judging by the queues at the New Theatre the 'likes' heavily outnumber the 'dislikes' in Cambridge. In 'Going Gay' she takes the lion's share of the programme in several amusing sketches. The humour is of the simple, homely kind in which Arthur Lucan excels. A lot of people will be looking for the boisterous fun and frolic which has become identified with the name of Old Mother Riley and they will not be disappointed.

1953 03 25
Amid the nation-wide sorrow at the death of Queen Mary, the sadness of the people of Cambridge is of a deeper and more personal nature. For this City has known her not only as a gracious lady but also as a charming, friendly and human personality. For more than 20 years she came at frequent intervals to call at Mr Stanley Woolston's antique shop and the people of Cambridge came to accept it as a normal part of the city's life. But the news was sufficient to cause a flutter of excitement and to attract a crowd to St Andrew's Street to demonstrate their affection. – 53 03 25 # c.02

1953 03 25
The Bury St Edmunds coroner has been informed of the discovery of an important treasure. While two warreners employed by the Elvedon Estate were hunting for rabbits at Sketchfarheath they came across a number of loose coins. They then made a careful search and brought up a grey earthenware pot containing 1,143 silver coins, mostly Roman Denarii in excellent condition.

1953 03 27
For over 50 years James Bird has served beer over the same bar at the Star and Garter, Cheveley, a pub which goes back well over 200 years. He took over in August 1901, his wife having lived there since 1886 - her grandparents (Mr & Mrs Beale) then kept the pub. In 1910 he wrote to the village Coronation Celebrations Committee offering to cater for 400 adults at 2s. a head, for which price there was roast beef, mutton, pickles and beer. "I suppose we have known just about everybody in the village and can look back on many good times", he said, recalling lavish shooting lunches & early mornings when hot coffee and rum was served to the waggoners. – 53 03 27

April 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 04 01
With a rosy glow reflected on the windows of Great St Mary's church, a University, City and County congregation paid their last respects to her late Majesty, Queen Mary. While the beautiful gaunt notes of the Dead March in Saul rang through the pillared church there was a silence so complete, so moving as to be perhaps the loveliest and most memorable part of Cambridge people's memorial to the late Queen. Then led by the Mayor and Corporation the congregation melted out into the brightness of a fine March day. # c.02

1953 04 01
Cambridge rate increases since pre-war years surprised members of the Hundred Houses Society Ltd. Since 1939 rates for 229 houses on Fallowfields and Eastfields estates have risen by 85 per cent. The Second World War put an end to the Society's activities. Although they have an undeveloped estate at Scotland Farm it has been found impossible, owing to Government regulations and the economic position of the country to develop it.

1953 04 02
A jury at an inquest at Elveden Hall found that the hoard of Roman silver coins found recently in a vase on Lord Iveagh's Estate were Treasure Trove & named the two warreners concerned as the finders. The men said they were digging out rabbits when two-and-a-half feet down they found a vase standing upright. The coins dated back to the third century and the majority were in mint condition. The Coroner said the Treasury, to whom the 1,143 coins would be sent, usually treated finders "extremely generously".

1953 04 03
The Duxford firm of Aero Research has played an important part in the reconstruction of the Royal State Coach. The late King George VI found the iron tyres both noisy and uncomfortable and inquired if it would be possible to fit rubber tyres without changing the traditional appearance of the coach. After 200 years of use the wheels had changed and were no longer truly circular. The firm needed to build up the wheels to their original shape by applying a thickness of synthetic resin to the existing tyres.

1953 04 03
Professor Testo's flea circus is currently featured in the Easter fair on Midsummer Common. There are jugglers, tight-rope walkers and acrobats all of whom live in a felt-lined cigar box. It is rather difficult to get fleas these days, he says. "They must be human fleas. Animal fleas don't live long enough and they're not as strong. Usually we advertise for them, but if I get really short I get them sent from the College of Entomology. By looking after them carefully, and feeding them regularly on my own blood, I can keep them alive for about three months. I will pay sixpence each for them. But I don't want any of your thin, half-starved ones. They must be fat and well fed".

1953 04 04 c
Outside the Cambridge Labour Party Hall large posters announced that "Syncopating" Sandy Strickland, the Bolton musician, had started his attempt to play the piano non-stop for 132 hours. But the doors of the hall were locked and people who were curious to see the start of this unusual marathon were refused admittance. For Sandy had met a serious obstacle in the shape of the local licensing laws which have ruled out his plans for throwing open the hall to the public as it is only licensed for music between 7 pm and midnight. People living nearby have protested against the endurance test with the piano tinkling on all night.

1953 04 06
Huntingdon expansion, p4
Mill Road Hospital struck, p5

1953 04 07
About one in every 20 acres of fenland wheat sown last autumn has been destroyed by the grub of the wheat bulb fly. In the Isle of Ely, which is worst hit, the proportion of destruction is as high as one acre in ten. Very badly affected fields may have to be ploughed up and re-sown. Added to the losses sustained by sea flooding in the same district this will mean considerable reduction in the wheat production in a year when the demand is for more cereals

Hemingford Abboys meeting, p5
Edward Russell photographer, p6 # c.65.5

1953 04 08
After an all-night search a Meteor jet fighter from R.A.F. station, Bassingbourn, was found near Field Barn, Orwell. The pilot's body was found in the wreckage. At midnight last night the BBC broadcast an appeal for the plane when it was reported missing on a routine flight. Police were asked to look out for the aircraft which was eventually found by an R.A.F. search plane. Mrs D.L. Hallett of Orwell said she was watching her television set when the house was shaken, but she did not hear what had happened until morning. Elsewhere in Orwell nothing was heard. # c.26.1

1953 04 09
A goods engine crashed through the buffer stops at Coldham's Bridge, Cambridge. The buffer stops were completely demolished and the engine buried itself up to the footplate in soft earth. The driver and fireman were both admitted to Addenbrooke's Hospital with slight injuries. Before the engine could be moved the boiler had to be emptied to lessen the weight. A 45-ton crane was needed to drag it backwards across a platform of sleepers until it was replaced on the rails. Work was hampered by the soggy ground and the presence of overhead telegraph wires. # c.26.2

1953 04 13
The Cambridgeshire Divisional Magistrates Court sat for the last time in the old Shire Hall Courts, where justice has been meted out for over 100 years. It is just over eight months since it was found that the building was infested with dry rot and since then all courts, save the County Bench, have been accommodated in the Guildhall. Since then there have been many arguments in the County Council Chamber but the only solution they could find was that the building would have to be demolished. # c.34.9

1953 04 14
An impressive ceremony was enacted at Swavesey parish church in the laying-up of the village's British Legion men's and women's section standards. Rain poured in torrents as a large procession of British legion members from various branches headed by a combined band from the R.A.F. stations Oakington and Upwood marched to the church where the congregation included children and First World War veterans

1954 04 15
Shippea Hill estate, p8

1953 04 16
The problem of litter being deposited on the roads in Newmarket resulted in five lorry drivers being summoned. The business involving the movement of stable manure had increased considerably and caused great concern. The council engineer said he was travelling along the Bury Road towards the Clock Tower when he saw a lorry carrying a load of manure leaving a trail of litter and straw along the road. The driver said his load was securely raked down and netted as far as possible. His vehicle had no sideboards and the net did not reach the bottom of the load. He was fined £2

Assize Court figures demolished, p6

1953 04 17 ES
Old windmill on Mill Hill between Lt Downham and Ely is being pulled down; was damaged during the war when much of the hand-beaten iron was removed to make fragmentation bombs for the R.A.F. Mill owner, Mr Cobbin, has already started to pull it down but demolition paused until a tractor could take off the wooden top of the structure. Is smock mill with wooden top. No nails used in construction, instead the top is pegged from the outside, making demolition difficult. At one time had been turn by a fan on the outside but was finally driven by an inside cog. The mill was lasted worked in 1932. Has a stone dated 1728 in brickwork but had been altered three times. Mill was worked by Mr Cobbin's grandfather and he bought it in 1921. For the first two years he had a good season but things got worse as the larger combines took over and in 1932 it was decided to stop milling – 53 04 17ES

1953 04 20
The circus has come to town – and it was greeted by thousands of smiling Cambridge faces. Six of Bertram Mills' Burmese elephants marched from the railway station, trunk to tail as the midget clown, Nikki, distributed leaflets about the circus from the basket of his fairy cycle. Elephants Lechney and Company did not lose their way – they've taken the same stroll for the last 18 years. Crowds covered the roundabout at Hills Road. The one at the Four Lamps was unrecognisable, the circus-gazers had swept half-way across the road. Soon afterwards the 'two-ton-tessies; were under canvas, chained to a platform. # c.76.2

1953 04 20
The Minster of Education opened a new primary school at Waterbeach. From the stage of the comfortable and colourful school hall the Minister spoke of the need for new schools and told members of the County Education Committee: "When you go on building schools in this authority, please try to build them more quickly". She asked them to combine "push, driver and quickness" to the task of building them in time.

1953 04 22
With the advent of nationalisation it was found there were 157 villages without electricity in the Cambridgeshire area and now some 71 have been supplied. Work will soon commence on an extension of the 132,000-volt grid supply from Little Barford to Fulbourn. In addition to village development, electricity has been taken to 1,340 farms and isolated premises.

Cottenham plane crash, p8 # c.26.1

1953 04 23 c
A gleaming new R.S.P.C.A. clinic in Great Eastern Street was opened at a simple ceremony, a memorial to Sir Arthur Eddington. Dr Rattray traced the history of the clinic from its beginnings in a small house in Covent Garden to the adequate and modern building being opened where hurt and ill animals will be treated with the latest equipment. Last year 2,248 animals were treated by the Cambridge branch but after returning from doing splendid work in the East Coast flood areas Inspector Bartlett had developed pleurisy. The Great Yarmouth branch wrote that his work was wonderful.

1953 04 25
A Fiat crawler tractor has been adapted to pull a Fowler eleven-tine cultivator at the NIAB experimental farm at Lolworth. With this implement 85 acres of Kimeridge and Ampthill clay were cultivated to a depth of 14 inches. The cultivator was originally designed for cable operation between two steam ploughing engines and was adapted for use with a crawler under the supervision of Mr F.H. Spieer, bailiff of the farm

1953 04 25
Does anybody want the façade of the Old Shire Hall, which is being demolished? The County Council has asked the City Council of they would like it, but the reply is 'No, thank you'. It will be interesting so see if the County offers it elsewhere. Erection of new street lighting on the main roads is proceeding apace and is to be extended to Queen's Road, better known as 'The Backs'. This new lighting should add to the attractiveness of this famous beauty spot.

1953 04 25
In February 1920 Dr Glover was on duty as Proctor outside the Union, waiting for undergraduates offending against University regulations when one of the bulldogs, Lavis, stopped the Duke of York, later King George VI, who was seen smoking in academic dress. The price's equerry dashed over and said he could not have it, but Glover insisted. Next day he sent Lavis round with the usual fine notice when he met the Prince who gave him a drink. Some years later the King recalled the incident and referred to the cigarette as the most expensive one he ever smoked! – 53 04 15 # c.02

1953 04 28
Cambridge council approved building licences to Mr E. Maloney for five shops, twelve flats and a garage at the junction of Perne Road and Radegund Road, at a total cost not exceeding £29,300 & to the Norwich Union Insurance Societies for a block of 20 flats at Pinehurst, Grange Road. A tender is being negotiated for building 24 three-storey concrete flats on land fronting High Street, Cherry Hinton and 72 three-storey flats overlooking the Coleridge Road recreation ground. The names of Nightingale Avenue, Almoners Avenue and Kinnaird Way have been suggested for streets on the Netherhall Estate

Zebra crossings, p10

1953 04 29
On May 2nd the W.V.S. Anglo-American Service Club on Castle Hill, Cambridge, will be one year old. Activities include two dances a week; there are now 125 lady members who serve as dance hostesses and a waiting list has been opened for further applicants. Tours are arranged for all the American bases and there is a monthly party for convalescent patients from Wimpole Park Hospital and occasional teas for parties from Ely R.A.F. Hospital.

1953 04 29
An Arrington man applied for permission to allow his sitting room to be used as a café. Next door there was a transport café but private motorists seldom used it. He had seen them draw up at the café and then drive on without entering. He would pull down a garage at the side of the house to provide a suitable approach and convert his orchard into a car park for 50 cars. The room would accommodate 20 people with any overflow in the garden. There were no adequate sanitary arrangements but he would install a septic tank. But there was already a general café, a hotel in Arrington where meals were served and 'Daleview' tea rooms 200 yards away – 53 04 29

1953 04 30
Railway bridges, p6

1953 04 30 c
While on a football visit to Cambridge three Oxford undergraduates took a 4ft by 2ft sign valued at £50 from outside the shop of a Cambridge outfitter, intending to take it back to Oxford as a souvenir. Two girls saw a crowd outside Messrs Johnson & Sons shop in Sidney Street. A man was bending down and another balancing on his back was unhooking the sign. The police were informed and Sgt Ellison of the Bedfordshire Constabulary, after receiving a telephone message from Cambridge, stopped the undergraduates' coach outside Bedford and retrieved the sign.

May 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 05 01
Thirteen attractive young ladies paraded before judges at the Rex Ballroom, Cambridge for the title of 'Miss Cambridgeshire'. Dressed in gold net over taffeta with black Miss Eileen Gatwood of Histon was proclaimed the winner. She has already gained the titles of 'Miss Pampisford' and 'Miss Harston'. Second was Mrs Maureen Oliver who was 'Miss Manchester 1952' and third Miss Janet Waller who has been 'Miss Hunstanton'. The winner was presented with a three-guinea cheque and the runners up with boxes of chocolates by the promoter, Mr Billy Pearce.

1953 05 01

Cambridge councillors approved a scheme for replacing gas lamps with sodium lighting along 'The Backs'. Ald Hickson wanted assurance this would not be a prelude to Queen's Road becoming a trunk road. It was becoming more frequently used. But the beauty was only apparent during daytime and at night it was only a blur of trees. The same arguments were probably put forward when the present gas standards were installed and in ten year's time the university would say what a lot of fools they were to oppose the scheme # c.24.8

Rifle range, p8

1953 05 01 ES
Littleport bridge needed – is antiquated; but now say only deepening of waterway required; however approaches very bad – if two vehicles met one had to back away to allow other to cross; scheme to prevent flooding Station Road by raising earth bank of Holmes River – 53 05 01(2)ES

1953 05 02
The Post Office Television Detector van is commencing a tour of the Cambridge district as part of an intensive 'comb' to find illicit television receivers. At the moment there are 8,750 television licences in the Cambridge area but it is known there are still a large number of people who have bought sets but not taken out licences. The equipment in the van is so sensitive that the position of the houses containing working televisions can be pinpointed even when the van is moving down a street. Portable equipment allows for detection of receivers in blocks of flats.

1953 05 05
St Martin's church dedicted, p7 # c.83

1953 05 06
For the past 27 years one of the very active of the militant suffragettes has been living quietly at Castle Camps and has written a book about her experiences in those bygone days called 'Laugh a defiance'. Miss Mary Richardson slashed the famous Rokeby Venus in the National Gallery as a protest against the further imprisonment of their leader Mrs Pankhurst, planted a bomb which practically demolished a new railway station at Birmingham and set fire to a big, uninhabited country house. She served many sentences in Holloway. Yet when she came to settle at Castle Camps & decided to keep ducks 'to provide birds for the tables of the Cambridge colleges', her heart failed her when it came to killing them. In the end there were over three hundred birds. – 53 05 06

1953 05 07
"I think it is a lot of hooey", said Coun Cox when the Cherry Hinton firing range was discussed. He thought complaints of the amount of vibration from a six-pounder gun – not much larger than an anti-tank rifle – which was fired at the range, were "stupid and fantastic". But Coun Finbow said that recently the whole of the ceiling in one of his bedrooms collapsed because of the vibration. One neighbourhood should not be subject to range firing morning, noon and night. The council approved the use of the site by the Ministry of Supply for a period of three years # c.45.8

1953 05 07 c
Sir –Some of the explosions from the six-pounder gun at Cherry Hinton firing range did crack walls, move brickwork, bring down plaster, crack windows and scare children, adults and animals. Now two schools are to be built almost on the doorstep and if we have similar explosions there will be damage done. When doors rattle, knockers chatter, cracks appear and are repaired, only for the plaster to be shaken out again we are at liberty to be concerned. – J.S. Read

1953 05 08
Army accident, p9

1953 05 08 ES
Pymoor proposed new Methodist Church: architect's drawing – 53 05 08ES

1953 05 09
The television broadcast of the Coronation ceremony will be shown to some 250 people on big screen projectors in Cambridge Guildhall. The projectors are specialised television receivers and produce a picture four feet wide. The picture quality is remarkable but much depends on the signal strength and the co-operation of motorists and other persons who cause T/V electrical interference is invited in keeping away from the vicinity of the Guildhall on Coronation morning. Seats will be allocated to pensioners, wounded ex-Servicemen and similar deserving cases.

1953 05 11
The new branch church of St Andrew's Street Baptist Church built in Dudley Road, New Barnwell for the people living on the new housing estates was opened on Saturday. The church was filled to capacity. It took about a year to build & seats a congregation of 150 in the main hall; there is a junior room for Sunday School meetings large enough to accommodate 100 children, and a primary room for the under-eights. # c.83

Whittlesford Congregational Church jubilee, p7

1953 05 12
After Reach Fair was proclaimed with all the pageantry and ceremony which has survived the years since medieval times the Mayor of Cambridge (Ald. S.T. Bull) toured the stalls and sideshows. He invested three shillings at the coconut shy and came away with two coconuts. At the rifle range he tested his skill as a marksman and came away with a glass sugar basin, then went aboard the 'Jollity Farm' roundabout for two whirling trips. At the Mayor's luncheon it is the tradition that any newcomers to the ceremony, known as 'colts' and 'fillies, have to pay a crown or be imprisoned in the stocks. But Lady Bragg protested at being called a 'filly'.

Elsingham Hall lead, p14

1953 05 13
Dr A.L. Peck lectured to Cambridge Antiquarian Society on old street lamps of Cambridge, using a collection of lantern slides to illustrate many of the distinctive types of lamp standard, most of which can be date back to 1840 and can still be seen in the streets. They are some of the finest and most varied to be found in any part of the country and merit preservation as valuable examples of the iron founder's work. The most remarkable is one in New Street which for over 50 years stood in front of the Pitt Press in Trumpington Street # c.24.8

1953 05 13
An eager group of schoolboys armed with autograph albums were among the first to welcome the Australian cricketers when they arrived in Cambridge for their match with the University. The youngsters crowded round Arthur Morris, who is captaining the side because Lindsay Hassett is unfit, and then hurried on to Ray Lindwall, young Ian Craig, Neil Harvey, Don Tallon and the others. The Australians signed their names cheerfully; they are soft-spoken, unexcitable men, whose appearance and manner off the field give no hint of the devastating ability which has already humbled Yorkshire and Surrey. # c.38 : cricket

1953 05 15
Australian's bats, p4

1953 05 18
Boer War memorial, p7

1953 05 20
A dress to be worn in Westminster Abbey on Coronation Day by a Cambridge resident has been sold by Vogue's of St Andrew's Street. An afternoon dress of pure silk its price was 65 guineas. "We are absolutely thrilled, it is a great honour", said Mr M. Harris, the proprietor. They have also sold three evening gowns to be worn at Coronation balls in London connected with the Court. White is proving to be the most popular choice this year for May Ball dresses; the off-the-shoulder style is in demand and the average price is 15 guineas

1953 05 21 c
Cambridge shops report that many of the Coronation souvenirs now in such profusion are selling quite well. The pottery mugs and beakers (from 1s.11d to 4s.) are again proving one of the best sellers. Framed photographs and statuettes of the Queen are proving popular, as are key rings with a tiny replica of the Coronation chair on its chain. It is anticipated there will be a revival of interest in Coronation souvenirs long after it is over. People will suddenly realise that a great historical event has taken place and they have not got a memento of it so they will rush to buy before it is too late

1953 05 22
The Playhouse Cinema on Mill Road, Cambridge, celebrates its 40th anniversary as a place of cinematic entertainment. It opened at Whitsun 1913 when there were two shows per evening with a children's matinee on Saturdays. Nowadays we are used to newsreels which are distributed on a national basis but then their own cameraman took the pictures for a newsreel of local interest, including the Cambridge Police Sports and Juvenile Fishing Match. Music was supplied by the Playhouse's own orchestra under Musical Director Max Bennett # c.76.9

1953 05 22
Histon's new post office, gleaning in the spring sunshine, was officially opened by the Head Postmaster of Cambridge (Mr D. MacGregor). The substantial brick building, bright and commodious, replaces the wood and corrugated iron structure which residents had visited in the centre of the village for many years. It is not a Government scheme. It is entirely the project of the sub-postmaster, Mr Fred Brown, who runs the Post Office in connection with a general stores.

1953 05 22 ES
Bishop Moore's skeleton discovered in Ely Cathedral – 53 05 22ES

Ely Stretham church restoration needed; photo with Rev Foulds who to become Vicar of Littleport. 65 12 02ES
St Audrey's School opened – 53 05 22(4)(5)ES

Coronation celebration plans – 53 05 22ES
Ely Standard Coronation Commemoration – 53 05 22(7)ES

1953 05 23
A Cambridge butcher's Coronation sausages have caused a stir. Derek Traylen of Newmarket Road was painting his shop front blue, with a white and red fascia when his wife commented on the pleasing effect. "Pity we can't apply this colour scheme to the something else"" she said and Mr Traylen looked hard at the strings of sausages. "Why not the sausages. We could dip the skins in vegetable dye and have a special Coronation line". He advertised them in the CDN and received a phone call from a journalist in Glasgow. Then came other enquiries from Manchester, the 'Daily Mirror' and 'Empire News' while the 'Meat Traders Journal' came out with a cartoon. Customers were delighted, but somewhat apprehensive with regard to the blue sausages.

Coronation look, p9

1953 05 26
People of the parish of Lode celebrated their church centenary with a service at which the Bishop of Ely preached followed by a supper. Every seat was filled in the little church, described as one of the most beautiful of the time. It was the work of the Rev John Hailstone, vicar of Bottisham who instigated the building. Before that the people of Lode had been some miles from their parish church

1953 05 27
The 700 scouts from Cambridgeshire who travelled by train to the Queen's estate at Sandringham for the Coronation Jamboree experienced one of the finest Scout camps that has ever been held in this country, with bright sunny weather which seemed to arrive just when it was wanted. There were shops, a tuck shop, ice cream and mineral stands. Many of the gateways were gaily decorated and flags of many nations were flying. The 7th (Cambridgeshire High School) troop erected a gateway representing their school crest whilst the 26th Cambridge made their gateway from the detachable handle of their trek-cart and made a two-tier table of the wheels. – 53 05 27

1953 05 27
Flags fluttering in the breeze, decorations in traditional colours lining the streets, special shop window displays – these are but a few of the features which have given the city of Cambridge the Coronation look. The city centre, already a scene of gaiety and colour, heralds the approach of next Tuesday's great event. In roads radiating from the centre, decorations to shops and other buildings are being arranged. The majority of householders prefer to wait a little longer. For them D-Day, with the 'D' standing for Decoration – will be some time this weekend. The cost of decorations is an important consideration for many and consequently the emphasis is on effect rather than on elaboration. – 53 05 27 # c.02

Shops go gay, p5

1953 05 28
Prince Akihito, the Crown Prince of Japan arrived in Cambridge on a short private visit to the University. He visited the University Library where he was shown the signatures of his father, the present Emperor, who came to Cambridge in 1921, and the Japanese collection of 30,000 volumes, one of the best collections outside Japan. The 19-year-old Prince had lunch with four undergraduates and chatted about student life. # c.02

Albert Butler, proprietor of Messrs Haslop & Co, butchers of Silver Street, Cambridge, retired after 53 years in the butchery business. He recalled going to market to buy his first bullock – the dearest one he ever bought - & remembered when families ordered 8 lb joints and rump steak was 1s 2d a pound. He prophesised the end of meat rationing within a year but thinks the trade would find itself in a serious position: while boys were not entering the business as they used to, even those who did received no slaughtering experience. "I don't know where our slaughtermen of the future are coming from", he said. # c.27.2

1953 05 29 ES
Ouse River Board payments to staff for work during flood emergency; War Department grant for removal of defence posts that hinder bank work; 21 in South Level; work by Darby's on Low Bank, Sutton; work started on Old West between Stretham Wooden Bridge and Stretham Ferry on trimming the spoil dredged from river to fill low places at base of banks caused by previous scradging operations. Reconstruction works with clay from Stretham Ferry Pit adjacent to Hoghill Drove were completed during April; work to form a puddle trench in right bank were now in hand – 53 05 29ES

1953 05 30
Agriculturists attended the opening of the Owen Webb House, Cambridge, which perpetuates the memory of the well-known farmer at Streetley Hall who died in 1951. It had been his wish that various agricultural interests should be centred in one building. There are club facilities where meals will be provided, a licensed bar and a fair-sized car park, a necessary requirement in Cambridge. Outside organisations connected with agriculture can take advantage of the facilities and hire the conference room

June 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 06 01
Coronation supplement

Coronation – impressive parade – 53 06 01

Knighthood for Jack Hobbs, cricket – 53 06 01

1953 06 03
In cold, blustery weather the City of Cambridge put on a brave show in celebration of the Coronation Day of Queen Elizabeth II. Despite the almost wintry conditions the extensive and varied programme was carried through practically unchanged. Everything testified to the magnificent spirit of the occasion and the unanimous desire of the people of Cambridge to make their contribution to the world-wide acknowledgement of this great day. For much of the time it was a matter of celebrating briefly and then dashing for shelter under the trees or in marquees from another downpour # c.02

1953 06 03
On Coronation Day Pye Ltd of Cambridge operated the first colour television outside broadcast ever done in this country. It was seen in a well-known Children's Hospital and several other selected places. Three colour cameras used in transmission were sited on top of Government buildings facing Parliament Square and Whitehall. Hundreds of people assembled in Cambridge Guildhall to watch the ceremony on television. The latest television screens were used. The picture was clear and precise but there was, of course, no control over the usual interference from electrical appliances which all TV owners are forced to suffer in silence. Six domestic TV sets were installed in the Corn Exchange and because of the bright light, shields were fitted around the screens – 53 06 03 # c.27.82

1953 06 03
In every main road and in narrow backstreets in Cambridge the flags are flying & pictures of the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and their children are in every other window. Union Jacks and the flags of the Commonwealth make a vivid splash as they flutter in the wind and at least one American family joined in the display with a huge, brand-new Stars and Stripes. Silver Street Bridge blossomed out in red, white and blue stripes – an unofficial decoration scheme believed to the work of students – 53 06 03 # c.02

1953 06 03
The special prize of £5 for the best decorated private house competition in Cambridge was won by Mrs M. O'Dell of Staffordshire Street who beat her nearest rival, Mr A.A. Cox of Victoria Road by one point. The standard was high and points awarded for each ward were very close. Winners included: Abbey Ward Mr R. Runham of Wellington Street; Castle: Miss J. Bowers, Windsor Road; Coleridge: Mr Blows, Cherryhinton Road; Cherry Hinton: Mr R. Abraham, Chalmers Road and Market Mr W.G.D. Clee of Union Road. – 53 06 03

1953 06 04
Nehru degree, p6 & p8

1953 06 05
Lode plane crash, p8 # c.26.1
Old folk parties, p9

1953 06 05 ES
Rain did not dampen Ely's enthusiasm – 53 06 05ES
Magnificent procession of Tableaux: aspects of city's history come to life – 53 06 05(2)ES
Mepal Red Lion Inn closed – 53 06 05(3)ES
Coronation celebrations: Downham, Haddenham, Hillrow, Aldreth, Wicken – 53 06 05(4)(5)(6)ES Coronation celebrations: Pymoor, Sutton, Stretham – 53 06 05(8)ES

1953 06 06
Crowds of Cambridge people went to London for the Coronation. On Monday there was an appreciable increase of London-bound travellers at Cambridge Railway Station and on Coronation Day about 700 caught the two early morning 'specials'. On Coronation Eve the Eastern Counties Bus Company carried several coach loads of visitors, arriving in London about 9.30 pm, giving the passengers a chance of finding a place along the route of the procession. Many of the larger wine-stores enjoyed almost a Christmas rush. There was a fairly large sale of champagne and an unusual demand for port, sherry and table wines with which to drink the Queen's health. Many of the customers were obviously people who do not usually buy wine. This was a special occasion and they intended to celebrate in the proper way.

De Freville party, p4
Bancroft Close party, p5

1953 06 08
The Shirley School was the scene of festivities on two days when 900 children of Old Chesterton gathered for their Coronation party. There was a fancy dress and vehicle parade and a film show, but the highlight was tea in the tastefully-decorated dining room. The tables were laden with sandwiches, sausage rolls, trifles, fruit-jellies and fancy cakes. Both soft drinks and tea were available. Need it be said that all these goodies disappeared rapidly.

1953 06 09
There was a Coronation motif in the decorations at the May Balls held at six colleges. Red, white and blue predominated in floral designs and the coronation flags and bunting still to be seen in the streets, together with the floodlighting of so many buildings lent the various dances the aura of "a very special occasion indeed". The Backs offered a subdued fantasy in colour but a chill wind gave the night a wintry nip and dissuaded many couples from 'sitting-out' their dances in the open

1953 06 09
People of all ages went to see the film "Elizabeth is Queen" at the Regal Cinema, Cambridge. Hundreds of youngsters queued along St Andrew's Street for instead of going to school they were to see the coloured Coronation film. The contrast of the children's noisy chatter during the supporting film and the deep silence through most of the main film was remarkable. It lasted about 50 minutes – a long time for some of the youngsters to sit still – but there was scarcely a movement in the downstairs part of the cinema.

Greens Road party, p5
Stanley Road picture, p9

1953 06 10
Sir – the Shire Hall assize courts were closed on my order in July last year because the structure had become dangerous. Dry rot had been rampant for at least 50 years and the improvised repairs had done nothing to eliminate it. During the work of demolition fragments of newspapers dated 1922 and 1925 have been found that were left by workmen repairing the dry rot in those days. The council had to decide whether to save the bare walls of the old building and rebuild the roof and the whole of the interior, or to demolish it. The extent of the damage is now clearly revealed and confirms the necessity of demolition – Wilfrid Wingate, County Architect.- 53 06 10 # c.34.9

1953 06 11
A House of Commons committee considered the question of allowances for naval students at Cambridge University. Officers go to Dartmouth for two terms and then go to sea before being sent to Cambridge where they read the Mechanical Sciences Tripos for three years. During the long vacation they are put to work in industries around the countryside. On the completion of their Cambridge course with a degree they enter the electrical school at Farnham. The Chairman asked how their pay was affected when at Cambridge and did they receive an allowance in addition, so they did not become 'broke'. They must have something in the way of an allowance.

Godwin Way children, p10

1953 06 12 ES
Burnt Fen's activities – 53 06 12(2)ES
Ely historic fire appliances to be loaned to Fire Service – 53 06 12(6)ES
Ely automatic telephone exchange to open – 53 06 12(7)ES
Hillrow Coronation celebrations – 53 06 12ES

1953 06 13
A spy wandering the streets of Cambridge on Thursday night would not have stood a chance. Three patrols, each in charge of an officer and NCO of the Cambs Home Guard patrolled the East Road area and collared five suspects, amongst whom were two spies. A slenderly-built, quietly dressed brunette was stopped by a patrol who found a flaw in her identity card and she was taken away in a car to Battalion H.Q. This was, of course, an exercise but in a real emergency Cambridge people need not worry about spies wandering the streets of the city. # c.45.8

Queen crowned at Rex, p9

1953 06 15
Lolworth café, p10
Cavendish Avenue elms, p11

1953 06 16
In spite of dull conditions members of the firm of Messrs Kerridge Ltd and their children turned up in force for the Coronation sports and party on Pye Sports Ground. A parade was led by the Boys Brigade band and there was a whole range of side-shows which were free to the children with roundabouts for the toddlers, real ponies and miniature train rides. After tea 'Len' Palmer and his accordion was supported by his three charming daughters in delightful sketches and dances, culminating with the youngest in Coronation robes and a crown. # c.02

1953 06 16
Polish 'squatters living in a hutment at Mepal will soon want new homes. Huts accommodating 10 families are now nearing the end of their useful life and Cambridge councillors have been asked to accept 47 of the families on their housing list because the husband is employed in the city. They will accept them 'but they will have to take their turn'

1953 06 17
At Ditton Fields Coronation Party 228 children wearing fancy hats and carrying flags and streamers marched to Priory School where they sat down to a grand tea catered by Messrs Hawkins Ltd. Afterwards there were musical games and sing-song and a fancy-dress competition whilst entertainment by Mr F. Cross kept the party spellbound. At the end each child was presented with a small souvenir, sweets and ices. # c.02

Assize demolition photo, p12

1953 06 18
Water company centenary, p6 # c.24.2

1953 06 19
An open verdict was recorded at an inquest into the Venezuelan pilot of a Meteor jet plane which crashed near Pasture Farm, Caxton. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area. PC Leonard from Caxton described how he was awakened at 1.20 am by the roar of a low-flying aircraft. From his window he saw a red flash and heard an explosion. The pilot had taken off from Oakington just before midnight. He was in Britain as head of a Venezuela training mission. # c.26.1

1953 06 19 ES
Chatteris Burnsfield School opened – 53 06 19(2)ES
Ely Cambridge Road camp coronation party – photo – 53 06 19ES

1953 06 22
Mothers at Papworth Everard want a traffic warden to see their children safely across the main London Road to and from school. But the County Road Safety Committee does not consider the road is dangerous enough. "If you appoint a traffic warden whenever any Tom, Dick and Harry say there should be one and from their parish pump point of view … well we shan't stop anywhere", Ald Watts said

1953 06 22
A chapter in rowing history was written when members of the Rob Roy Boat Club initiated their first boat, the 'John Collin' clinker eight to the river with a champagne send-off. It commemorates a man who for nearly 60 years had a brilliant record with the Club. He coached the Robs when they held the Head of the River plate on 22 occasions, and from 1914 to the present day they have always been in the first three boats on the river. # c.38 : rowing

1953 06 23
A miniature town of tents, side-shows and enormous gaily-coloured structures housing a thousand thrills for the venturesome has made its annual appearance on Midsummer Common. But this year the Fair seems to be bigger and brighter than ever; it offers a more animated scene than in the past and there is an air of friendly gaiety, shared by showmen and their patrons which suggests the influence of Coronation year. The Town Clerk read the proclamation then all members of the Mayoral party threw handfuls of half-pennies among the crowd. The many children present were in their element and scrambling amongst the feet of the adults made a fair harvest of this welcome crop of shining coins. The Fair is the biggest in the Eastern Counties and can boast no fewer than 24 roundabouts. The 'Dodgems' are a special feature, reputedly amongst the best of any fair in England. # c.27.31

1953 06 24
Over 100 cadets of the Cambridge District of the Order of the Sons of Temperance took part in a Coronation demonstration parade along Mill Road, headed by the Boy's Brigade Band. They were from the Hope of Cambridge, King's Own, Chesterton United and Beacon Societies. Several entered for the fancy dress competition which was judged by Mr & Mrs David Moore. The winners were, girls – Marjorie Mason (Spanish Lady), boys – Norman Knight (Guardsman). Decorated vehicle – Catherine Newman, doll's pram (golden coach).

1953 06 24
There is no need for Cambridge people to be stingy about water, said the Chairman of Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Company. "The company in all its 100 years' history has never had to tell people that they must not water their gardens", he said. But he also stressed the need for consumers to avoid wastage. With an average of four people in each household domestic water cost each person about 1d a week – half the cost of one cigarette. # c.24.2

1953 06 25
Customers calling at the grocery department of Matthew and Son in Trinity Street, Cambridge, have been startled to find, in the midst of all the food displayed – a caravan! Strictly speaking, 'caravanette' is a more accurate description, for it is not much larger than an ordinary farm-car trailer. It can be hauled behind an 8 h.p. car or even a motor-cycle combination, yet provides ample sleeping accommodation for two people and has a miniature kitchen. Moderately priced, it is likely to prove one of the most popular models that Cambridge Caravans Ltd have produced.

1953 06 26
The last batch of over 2,000 schoolchildren attended a special showing of the Coronation film, 'Elizabeth is Queen', at the Kingsway Cinema, Newmarket. Originally it was planned that the town's two cinemas should arrange special performances for the children but a last minute hitch prevented the Doric from taking part. The renters of the film objected to the children being admitted free and desired the management to make a charge of 1s. a head. But the directors of the Kingsway offered to provide four special performances and all members of their staff gave their services free

1953 06 26
A recent decision by St Ives Council to break up and dispose of an historic Fenland lighter – presented last year – has had serious repercussions. Before donating it as a museum-piece Mr R. Cory of Brinkley had received several offers for its purchase from people wishing to convert it into a house-boat. The hatches were not perfect but it could easily have been repaired. There was a considerable 'bash' in the bow as a result of an accident on its last trip when carrying sugar beet. It had sunk because of heavy rain, strong winds and a lack of interest and attention. A half-hearted attempt had made to raise it at the worst possible time. The barge is at present a total wreck outside the Norris Museum – 53 06 26

1953 06 26
Many people know something of the good work done by the 'Food Flying Squads' known as the 'Queen's Messengers' during the last war. But these convoys must be ready to go anywhere where an emergency has arisen and W.V.S. members must be trained. Thus providing the mid-day meal for youngsters at Cherry Hinton Day Nursery provided practical experience for the crew of the convoy maintained at Cambridge. They provided minced meat, potatoes and cabbage, followed by rhubarb pastry and custard for the 60 under-fives which was cooked on Soyer-boilers. # c.45.8

1953 06 26 ES
Mepal airfield – County agreed to closure of old road at Mepal airfield subject to provision of a new road; Ministry will only sanction a footpath and cycle track – 53 06 26(3)ES
Ely telephone exchange opened – 53 06 26(5)ES

1953 06 27
Racegoers at several local meetings have noticed a film unit hard at work. Ealing Studios are 'covering' the meetings to obtain background shots for the next Michael Balcon production, tentatively titled 'Newmarket Heath'. The film itself will go into production in August with much of the location work taking place at Newmarket. The only casting so far announced is that of the noted actor Edward Underdown, who will be seen as a trainer. John Hislop, the well-known amateur rider and racing correspondent is working on the picture as adviser.

1953 06 30
"Downing College now stands essentially complete" remarked the Lord Chancellor, when he opened the new Greystone buildings. Remarking on the generosity of the many benefactors, he said it was only recently due to the bounty of Sidney Greystone that it was possible to complete the wing and chapel now opened. They were still left with a gap but all that was needed to raise £24,000 was for 1,200 Downing men to contribute one shilling a week under covenant for seven years. Otherwise the college would have to dip into its capital, which was already perilously small. # c.44.5

Sir Jack Hobbs, p8
Ely Octagon, p11

1953 06 30 c
Cambridge Labour Party view with alarm the proposal to grant the tenancy of a Council house to the priest-in-charge at Cherry Hinton who had taken precedence over 5,000 others on the waiting list. New Council houses were allotted to those in housing need who had been waiting longest for them but this was given to a complete stranger. The church had asked to buy a Council house for the priest but had been told they were only sold to sitting tenants. The priest was to be given a privilege that was denied to the very people he was supposed to be looking after and it could hardly help him in his work. People will complain that the way to get a house quickly was to join the church and jump the queue.

July 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 07 01
Holiman's sale, p9

1953 07 03
Botanic Garden expansion, p9
Murrow-Tait, p11

1953 07 03 ES
Ministry increase grant for water supply, no to Sutton sewage at present – 53 07 03(3)ES
Papal delegate visits Ely Catholic Church – 53 07 03ES

1953 07 04
The pressure of 200 people waiting outside Rose's Fashion Centre in Sussex Street, Cambridge broke one of the shop windows. The sale was a real family affair, the husbands standing for the wives from the early hours until the woman of the family herself arrived to try and grab some of the bargains. There were four gabardine suits reduced from seven guineas (£7.35) to 15s (75p) and a grey Melange coat at £1 (original price £8.8s.) Many bargain hunters have been reaping the reward of the disastrous summer weather. At Tobin's of Mill Road they were clearing summer frocks for 10s (50p) which originally cost up to five times as much.

1953 07 07
If a vital target in Cambridge, such as the gasworks, received a direct hit during an enemy air attack, the Civil Defence Experimental Mobile Rescue Columns would swing into action. It has its own kitchen and communications system, including wireless and telephones and is equipped to deal with any emergency. It consists of 150 men split into 15 rescue parties, each having an up-to-date rescue vehicle. Their visit was only an overnight halt but many members of the public were attracted to the scene and it was obvious they had not expected to see such up-to-date equipment and quiet efficiency. # c.45.8

1953 07 08
Chesterton and Coleridge schools may adopt a two-shift system operating from 8.30-1.30 and 1.30-6.30 pm as means of relieving difficulties arising from the large number on the school rolls with 553 boys and 450 girls at Chesterton and 562 boys and 540 girls at Coleridge. It would not adversely affect the character of the schools, as all pupils would have normal facilities for the use of laboratories and practical rooms. But there were social consequences which would create difficulties. The schools should make full use of hall and dining rooms for teaching purposes and hire additional accommodation. # c.36.5

1953 07 09
Building operations are in progress to modernise the garages at the Hills Road depot of the Eastern Counties Omnibus Company and give appreciable increase in accommodation. A modern canteen and new offices and cycle racks are to be constructed. With commendable optimism, the Company are demolishing a bomb shelter which was installed during the war. Luckily it was never put to the test, but workmen are finding it a difficult assignment – an indication of the strength and protection it would have afforded. At present only one third of the garage space can be used. Buses which are now without a home are being parked in railway sidings nearby. # c.26.46

1953 07 10

Cambridge housewives are taking advantage of the opportunity of buying any surplus meat which is being sold off the ration and most local butchers have found themselves serving new customers not registered with them. Rump steak is much in demand, but practically unobtainable. The additional meat available is having its effect on the fish trade and fishmongers are experiencing a somewhat quiet time. Consequently fish is both plentiful and reasonable. Good quality eating gooseberries are two shillings per lb and as well as the abundance of home grown soft fruits there are fresh arrivals from abroad including oranges from South Africa and Brazil.

Hunstanton sea defences, p9

1953 07 10 ES
Housing of Polish families – local needs must come first – 53 07 10ES

1953 07 11
Murrow-Tait jailed, p7

1953 07 13
Seven months ago the Duke of Edinburgh opened the new wing of Cambridge University Engineering Laboratory and stopped to examine equipment in the Heat Engines Laboratory. It was an historic moment and yet not a single cameraman was there to record it. Instead, unobtrusively sketching the scheme was a well-known artist, Mr Terence Cuneo and now the painting has been unveiled in the entrance hall of the new Baker Building. The engineers felt it was completely worthy of the great occasion it recorded and when told that Mr Cuneo had been commissioned to paint the official picture of the Coronation scene in Westminster Abbey this did not surprise them.

1953 07 15
What should a motor-cyclist's headgear be called – crash helmet, safety helmet or skid-lid? Riders prefer 'skid-lids' because of the unhappy connotation of the word 'crash'. Cambridge Centaur Motor-Cycle Club had spent an entire evening debating the merits of the skid-lid. They should be complimented on the rapid way they have set about sinking their pride and putting skid-lids on. A crash helmet would make a splendid present for a young lady to give her young man and would help encourage the use of this essential headgear.

Advert control on roundabouts, p8

1953 07 17
There should be nothing elaborate about a milk churn stand, but the majority leave much to be desired. Stands badly sited, flimsy stands leaning drunkenly to one side, stands with platform boards gone inviting a leg to go through, slimy platforms as slippery as a skating rink. If churns have to be out when the sun is well up some form of protection is necessary during the summer. Accessibility to the farm vehicle and collecting lorry is important and it must be big enough. A 10-gallon churn needs 14 inches square, and don't forget to give the lorry driver some standing room when he is handling it

1953 07 17
The Minister of Agriculture was asked In Parliament why Adventurers Fen in Burwell, which was derequisitioned last year, is to be handed back to the National Trust in view of their expressed intention to flood it. How much public money has been spent by the Agricultural Executive Committee and how did he justify making derelict good agricultural land by flooding? He replied that the research work done at Wicken was enormously important. The National Trust land covered about 280 acres and only 120 acres of the poorest and wettest land would be flooded

1953 07 17 ES
Ouse River Board problem pumps at Welches Dam pumping station; Fish & Duck to Braham Docking Scheme approved, Stretham work on banks completed – 53 07 17ES

1953 07 20
Popular flying group, p11

1953 07 21
Cambridge City Councillors recommended the partial demolition of the Conduit Head in Market Square. Due to inherent defects and deterioration much of the stone has given way or has fractured. Rebuilding would cost some £2,200. It could be strengthened with steel rods or demolished to the level of the granite plinth. The Conduit was erected in 1855 at a cost of £554. The steps, plinth and base are granite and the structure itself of Ancaster stone # c.61

1953 07 22
Pest Control's scheme of re-development at Harston which includes an administration block, extensions to the chemical and engineering stores and a drum-filling establishment, has been allowed by the Minister of Housing and Local Government. It will enable them to rebuild the factory as appropriate to a scientific industry located close to Cambridge, with contemporary architecture & give their hard-working workpeople and staff in the chemical works the facilities and amenities they deserve

1953 07 23
Littleport scramble, p5

1953 07 24
Cambridge City Council debated whether a council house in Cherry Hinton was suitable for a Baptist minister. At their previous meeting they agreed to allow an Anglican minister to occupy a council house. "But there are at least 20 recognised religious denominations in Cambridge and we are opening the door rather wide", said Ald Mrs Rackham. It was most undesirable that a man should seek for himself privileges which were denied the people he was to serve and it would create a sense of injustice amongst people on the waiting list. But the application had come from a group of people who already had a church and were now anxious to have a minister

1953 07 24
Cambridge City Football Supporters Club members gathered to witness the opening of their new headquarters. The Supporters Club was founded 25 years ago and several of the original members were present, including R.J. Wadsworth, the first President. The new building is constructed of brick and wood and decorated in blue and white, with check curtains to match. It has a bar, committee room and other amenities together with a canteen. In the main room hang photographs recalling the early days of the club. Players' wives and young ladies are welcome. # c.38 : football

Conduit demolition, p9
Swim through Cambridge, p12

1953 07 27
Chesterton RDC opened their new £15,000 store and depot, part of a 15-acre Oakington Estate scheme. There is a site for housing, a recreation ground, a site for a village hall and one for a burial ground for the parish. Three tiers of local government had contributed to it but there had been a lot of objections from Whitehall. It was an extraordinary attitude and one that was quite deplorable. The new building was of considerable architectural merit; it was by no means a horror

1953 07 27
A case of the "full-time" dentist who wants to do part-time work provided a lively debate at the County Council. The School Dentist asked permission to apply for a position at Addenbrooke's Hospital involving work on Saturday mornings and Monday evenings. The School Dental Service has been looked upon as rather the Cinderella of the profession, partly because of the salary involved and he had been granted permission to take a number of private patients each week. It was already the practice for school teachers to undertake part-time work. Ald Watts said: "We can't officially allow him to do it; but delete it from the agenda and then he will do it. Lots of people do."

West Wickham plane crash, p5 # c.26.1

1953 07 27 c
Cambridge Police have issued a warning that it is essential in the public interest that there be strict compliance with the order prohibiting vehicles whose weight exceeds two tons from using Silver Street Bridge. They particularly seek the co-operation of road users making deliveries to premises in Silver Street and suggest that whenever possible light vans only should be used. Failure to observe the Order renders the person concerned liable to prosecution. # c.44.7

1953 07 28
Oddfellows surplus, p11

1953 07 29
Coton show, p10
Divorce petition, p12

1953 07 30
South Cambs RDC agreed to borrow £310,360 needed for a comprehensive water scheme designed to supply 17 parishes. At present the east area receives its piped water from Linton and the western area from the village of Croydon. The problem was to find a means of supplying the villages in the centre where eleven of the parishes including Barrington, Duxford, Fowlmere, Foxton, Shepreth and Whittlesford have no piped water at all. A bore was sunk at Dottrell Hall, near Fowlmere, and they were rewarded with a source which will yield a million gallons a day.

1953 07 31
All work at the Pye Factory ended early and the employees dined off sandwich instead of their customary hot meal as they crammed into the works canteen for a visit of the BBC "Workers' Playtime" broadcast. The entertainment featured the close-harmony quintet 'The Coronets', Lionel Saxon, 'genial host of the Winkle Club', who put plenty of energy into his comic impersonations & Monica Owen with her intimate songs. The broadcast ended with Beryl Reid, who was greeted with shrieks of laughter when she appeared in black stockings and green gym tunic with her handkerchief tucked away in the traditional schoolgirl place for her caricature of Monica, the awful child. # c.27.8

1953 07 31 ES
Sutton-Mepal Road reopening meeting; Ministry propose by-pass to avoid villages from old road at top of Mepal Hill along main runway to Ely Road; but reject call for non-classified road on site of old road to connect two villages for local traffic – 53 07 31ES

August 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 08 01
A Pageant for Coronation year is to be performed in the grounds of St John's College in aid of the Cambridge Residential Home for Old People. In this enterprise Town and University combine. About 150 people take part from a distinguished historian to a little girl of six. It includes a genuine ancient broadsword lent by Prof G.M. Trevelyan, Master of Trinity and greatest of living historians. Amongst those taking part are Michael Cogman, a nine-year-old pupil from Milton Road School, Charles Batts, Timothy Roach and David Bartlett.

1953 08 01
The Cambridge Mass Radiography Unit is to carry out a large-scale chest X-ray survey during August. It will be the first such survey for the benefit of members of the general public and aims to examine everyone over 14 years of age. X-raying is the surest means of detecting the presence of T.B.

in the lungs. It costs nothing and is speedy – twenty persons being X-rayed every ten minutes – and is confidential. And there is no undressing.

Overhill 'Miller of Trumpington', p9
Spy wedding, p1

1953 08 04
To the everyday passer-by the tall stately elm trees in Brooklands Avenue, Cambridge, give the impression of being sound and sturdy. But some have now been cut down and it can be seen that sections of their trunks are hollow! Six have been taken down and there are a further 20 which have serious defects and decay. It was in April 1950 that the City Council decided to remove all the trees and replant the Avenue with new ones, but owing to public opinion the decision was reversed. If the present disease continues it will not be many years before most of the common elm trees in Cambridge have been removed. # c.18

1953 08 05
Warren Tower sale, p9

1953 08 06
Wimbish Hall, near Saffron Walden, was gutted by a sudden fire which had gained a firm hold by the time fire-fighting units arrived. Firemen were kept busy preventing the outbreak from spreading to the village church, which stood not more than 50 yards away, but were powerless to confine the fire to one section of the house. Helped by volunteers, the occupier spent the afternoon sorting out clothing and other property rescued from the premises. In the front of the house piles of charred, water-sodden magazines were jumbled up with partially-burnt furniture and soaked carpets. All that was left of the Hall was part of one wing and the roofless wall of the remainder.

1953 08 07
A tour of the extensive orchards of Messrs Eastwood's at Barrington was given by Farm Manager, Mr A.S. Baker to demonstrate important operations in modern orchard management such as pruning, soil-management and grassing-down. The visitors were impressed by the very heavy crop of apples, plums and greengages and on the improvements made on the fruit farm as a whole. At the end of the tour refreshments were served in the new packing shed

1953 08 07
"Man in the dark", the first feature-length three-dimensional film to be shown in the Eastern counties was screened at the Rex Cinema, Cambridge, to an invited audience. They went away feeling they had witness the most exciting event in screen history since 'The Jazz Singer' introduced sound in 1927. Mr R. Halliwell, the manager, said the extra charge for admission covered only the cost of hiring the Polaroid spectacles. The three-dimensional film holds such possibilities of screen terror that the deepies may tend at first to be creepies. To what extent Cambridge will succumb to third-dimentia remains to be seen but the pre-view audience spent an enjoyable time – 53 08 97 # c.76.9

1953 08 08
For over a century lettering stencilled in black reading 'Henslow Common Informer' was to be seen on the walls of Corpus Christi College. It was a reminder of a violent political controversy over bribery in elections which took place in 1825. Recently the face of the college was cleaned and in the process all trace of the lettering was removed, but now it has reappeared – not in black but in white!

Mystery man, p9

1953 08 10
The first question asked by the pilot of the Meteor aircraft which crashed near Bourn village was "Did it hit any houses? Was anyone hurt". Wing Commander Leonard Trent, V.C., had bailed out; many people saw the parachute and gave the alarm. The plane plunged into the earth in a field and buried itself; fuel escaped and set fire to the standing barley but farm workers beat it out with branches and sticks # c.26.1

1953 08 12
Sir – I paid a visit recently to the new Egerton Estate, Cambridge & had occasion to visit Fen Ditton along a footpath known as Ditton Walk, but which ought to be named Ditton Cycling Track. I thought how dangerous it was for pedestrians, as one had to be continually getting off the path into the grass to avoid being knocked down. Such a practice would not be allowed here – A. Newman, Sheffield

1953 08 13
Fire calls, p7
London pensioners, p10

1953 08 14
At Turner and Hore's Hyde Park Corner Service Station, Cambridge, people are talking about a new member of staff who cheerfully stands for hours at a time saluting passing motorists. Weather doesn't worry him and he doesn't even ask for wages. This amazing character is a mechanical robot and 'he' only salutes when cars pass by him on the road. How the robot works is the inventor's secret but as soon as a car approaches, the arm swings upwards smartly in a salute. The lucky motorists who guess its name will receive a memento of the occasion.

Ealing film, Newmarket, p7
Hulbert, p8 & 15th p9

1953 08 15
Grevillea Road suicide, p8

1953 08 17
When the City of Cambridge Rowing Club holds its first open regatta for generations, the least expected of the Clerk of the Weather was that he should keep it dry. He cannot be a rowing man. But with 30 events completed at the rate of one every ten minutes for five hours the sport was there both in plenty and variety # c.38 : rowing

1953 08 18 c
Over 100 old-age pensioners from the Incorporated Cambridge University Settlement, London, visited Cambridge to see the city which has meant so much in their lives. Trinity College started the Settlement at Camberwell in the late 19th century, when their graduates lived as a settlement in the slum district and helped to raise the standard of the neighbourhood. After three years Trinity invited the other colleges to join them and the name was changed to Cambridge House. Today it has many branches including an old people's club, boys' club and legal aid centre.

1953 08 19
Forty flying pigs from Sweden circled Cambridge airport and then came in to make a perfect landing. Their first sight of England on the ground was the front end of a BBC TV newsreel camera as the doors opened and the pigs stepped unceremoniously from their two aircraft on to waiting trucks. They were the first consignment of Swedish Landrace pigs being imported for breeding purposes by the National Pig Breeders' Association. They had to be flown because of very restricted shipping space and have to be out of quarantine in time for the Peterborough Autumn Sales

1953 08 19
There have been several important archaeological finds of the Roman era on the Arbury Road building site. Traces of the Roman Road, Akeman Street, a cemetery, a building and extensive rubbish pits have all been unearthed. Two waterworks engineers found some pottery and a quantity of glass which had been imported from the Rhine. But some of this has been lost; it was left on the edge of a trench and has been taken by someone not knowing its historical value

Decorated pubs, p8

1953 08 20
Remember that cricket match at the Oval and the history-making sweep by Denis Compton that carried a ball from Morris, the Australian Vice-Captain, to the long-leg boundary? Sixteen-year-old Billy Evans, freckled-faced son of Newmarket's Australian jockey, W.T. Evans, has the bat, signed by Compton. His mother bought it back when she returned from watching the thrilling match. Young Billy was busy fielding in the covers for Newmarket Town Second XI when a substitute was sent out so he could be told his mother had the bat. He already has one given him by Keith Miller.

Chesterton coronation gardens, p10

1953 08 21
An ever-increasing number of Vespa Clubs is being formed as more and more people from all walks of life decide to solve their transport problems by becoming owners of Vespa two-wheel runabouts. The latest in this international league is the Cambridge Branch. A large number of onlookers was attracted by the sight of a fleet of Vespas parked outside The Anchor, Silver Street while the owners met. The first outing will be a run to the Ferry Boat Inn on Sunday. # c.26.485

Flood protection scheme, p6

1953 08 21 ES
Ely police motor patrols; first motorisation was 1930 when Austin 12 car stationed at Ely, followed by March and Wisbech. Traffic department started 1946, first recruit P.s. A.W. Wilson … expect make running repairs and handle cine-projectors, cameras and specialised electrical equipment. Today has one sergeant and 10 constables and soon a 24-hour motor patrol. Five police officers equipped with near-silent Velocette 'Ghost' motorcycles – soon all men in out-stations should have them and be equipped with wireless like the patrol cars. Operators can follow progress of chase … 53 08 21

1953 08 22
Ealing Studios are getting into full production of their new Technicolor film, tentatively called "Newmarket Heath". The location unit has been filming scenes in the yard of Kremlin Stables, loaned by Mrs Lambton. To Newmarket's undying shame the unit has brought its own string of a dozen horses complete with six lads from Mr Vic Smyth's stable at Epsom. On location were Bill Owen, who plays the part of a warned-off jockey, and well-known character actor Charles Victor. Next week heralds the serious business of getting shots in the ring at the Rowley Mile racecourse.

Television aerials, p9

1953 08 24
Swavesey plane crash, p6 # c.26.1

1953 08 25
While the National Radio Exhibition at Earls Court offers the best in radio and television under one roof, Cambridge's own exhibition goes on throughout the year in the windows and showrooms of the city's radio stores. Langham Radio Services of Mill Road have the Sobel 14-inch tv for 64 guineas or the Cossor 12-inch at 50 guineas. Morley & Duke offer a free demonstration in your own home of the Pye V4 television with automatic picture control which costs £64.18.0 or on H.P. at 15/- weekly. # c.27.8

1953 08 26
Waterbeach RAF station which had a distinguished record as a Bomber Command base during the war and is now in the forefront of Britain's fighter defence system, was presented with its station badge. It depicts part of the station's history with a motif of a rose and a sprig of gilliflower which were at one time the rent paid for Waterbeach Manor and Abbey, which forms a large part of the airfield. The station was formed in 1941 for bombers; in 1945 it was taken over by Transport Command and in 1950 became part of Fighter Command

1953 08 27
Fountain beheading photo, p27

1953 08 28
The incidence of suicide at Oxford and Cambridge is higher than at other universities in the U.K. Some years ago the proportion of the population which constituted sound University material was thought to be over 40 per cent. Now that percentage was no higher than 15. "I believe a great deal of frustration, unhappiness and waste is caused by forcing students into University courses when they have neither the intelligence, training, personality or mental fibre to meet the standard of such education. Many breakdowns arise because men are forced into work against their true inclinations, often for family reasons. Sexual disturbances are not important causes of failure, though from time to time students seek refuge in drink or drugs", said the senior tutor of St Catharine's College.

1953 08 28 ES
Coronation Close Old People's Home, March … luxurious carpets, private room – 'almost too good for the likes of us' … not a dumping ground for old people who are just not wanted. Furnished in style of a guest house with single rooms with hand basin, wardrobe & chest of drawers. The lounge would do credit to many hotels with wireless in addition to the communal wireless system. Men have a smoke room to puff their 'baccy' … books from the county library … good meals. Most residents will be O.A.P.s paying 26/- a week – leaving 6s 6d from their weekly pensions. 53 08 28(2)ES

1953 08 29
The Eastern Region Food Office is to cease to function in Cambridge after 14 years. It opened in Corpus Christi College at the beginning of the war and remained there until November 1945 when it moved to its present offices in Brooklands Avenue. In December 1946 the Essex and Hertfordshire region was also brought under Cambridge – 53 08 29 # c.45.7

September 1952 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 09 02
After pouring thousands of gallons of water on to a fire at Great Sampford the brigades ran short of water and had to fall back on the river to supplement their supplies. The outbreak started in a barn at Stow Farm beside the High Street and flames swept across the street, which was blocked for more than three hours, and set fire to a cottage. The fire also reached a converted windmill but local workmen put out the flames before they could do any serious damage. Lots of old wartime members of the A.F.S. left their work and 'mucked in' with the fire brigade. The fire cut telephone wires and a fireman had to borrow a private car to dash to Radwinter to call for more pumps.

Linto foot check, p5

1953 09 03
During the War British scientists worked on a secret project for destroying the enemy crops by means of chemicals dropped from aircraft. The method was never used but the discoveries made by the research workers at a "hush hush" plot in East Anglia have since made possible one of the selective weed-killers which destroy the weeds and leave the crops unharmed. In Cambridge dinitro compounds were used to kill some weeds and out of a very nasty idea meant for our enemies came another project – plant hormones, the director of Pest Control told Cambridge businessmen. – 53 09 03 # c.45.7

1953 09 03

Two-and-a-half-tons of freshly-picked Victoria plums were destroyed when a fruit lorry from Chiver's farm at Hazelstub, Haverhill, came into collision with a coal waggon from the Haverhill depot of Moys Ltd. The impact of the crash, near Castle Camps caused the coal waggon's petrol tank to explode, sending both vehicles up in flames. Both drivers scrambled clear in time to escape being burnt. The plums were being taken to the Histon jam-making factory, having been picked that morning.

1953 09 04
Cambridge housewives have responded "very soberly" to the chance of buying white bread again for the first time in 13 years. Mr J. Markillie, president of the Cambridge Bakers' Association says demand for the small white loaf is now growing daily once people had "a taste of it". Sales have been affected by the price – it costs 6d as against 4½d for the national loaf but the demand seems to be for the large loaf, which bakers are not yet making. Loaves have to be ordered in advance as bakers are "cagey" about the quantity they make and do not want stocks left on their hands.

1953 09 04 ES
Frederick Houghton, Isle County Librarian, has seen fourfold jump in library issues … a meteoric rise quite out of tune with rest of the country … village libraries with their army of volunteers … Fenmen handle their books very gently … books on Japanese prison camps always snapped up … loan technical volumes to university students – 53 08 04(2)&(3)ES
Plane crashes at Upwell after hitting H.T. cables – 53 09 04ES

1953 09 05
A large congregation gathered at Histon Baptist Church for the induction of the new minister, the Rev David Jackson. The service also marked the reopening of the church after interior renovations which included the redesign of the front of the church and the introduction of some beautiful panelling from Impington Hall. The renovation scheme was first drawn up seven years ago and is now almost completed.

1953 09 07
Work on the excavation of the small Roman house on Arbury Road, Cambridge, has continued and a Roman well with its oak linings in perfect condition discovered. It reached down to the water level 11ft below the surface and was in a good state of preservation due to debris from the older Roman house being thrown down into it and the whole thing sealed when a later building was erected over it. The well was cleared by a Clare College student and Mr Alan Watt, a schoolboy, and the lining removed to the Museum of Archaeology. # c.41

1953 09 08
Pye Ltd of Cambridge are showing on their stand at the Radio Show a 27-inch direct view cathode ray television receiver with automatic picture control. It is the largest ever seen in the country and will allow at least 200 people to watch in comfort. Pye have also provided a miniature 'staticon' television camera which is being used on the Celebrity Dais, the pictures being relayed throughout the exhibition.

1953 09 08
Not enough time to finish new sea wall at Hunstanton before hight tides. Repeated fire siren blasts will give flood warning at King's Lynn – Lnn News

1953 09 10
The drainage rate to be levied on the Allottees of the Cottenham Inclosure Award has been reduced by ninepence now that the Old West Internal Drainage District Scheme has been approved. It provides for the abolition of the Cottenham, Rampton and Willingham Drainage District but there is no provision for the disposal of surplus moneys and is unlikely to commence before 1st April 1954.

1953 09 11 ES

Little Ouse W.I. Garden fete: feature – 53 09 11(4)ES

1953 09 12
Fire call-outs, p6
Old West IDB, p7

1953 09 14
For the first time in the history of the National Federation of Anglers' All-England championship the individual title has come to Cambridgeshire. The proud winner is Neville Hazelwood, an R.A.F. Sergeant at Waterbeach, who was in the Cambridge Albion Society team. Fishing in the Nene he landed 27lbs 14 ozs of bream, the best of which was about 3 lbs.

1953 09 15
The 1,429-acre Heydon Estate, the property of Mr C.H.A. Butler, and once the home of Lord Braybrooke, has been sold to a private trust who are to retain the estate. The property comprises the Manor, a medium-sized house in seven acres of timbered grounds, and practically the whole of the village of Heydon, with five important farms and holdings, a Post Office and shop and a number of houses and cottages.

1953 09 15
After a road test by courtesy of Messrs King and Harper I was able to form definite ideas about the new Standard Eight. It has been built at a price of £481 to compete with the Austin A30, Morris Minor and Ford Anglia and has been stripped of every luxury and driver's pet toy. On the standard model there are no wheel discs, the minimum of chrome plating, only one windscreen wiper and no door pockets. Optional extras are air conditioning, radio, oil bath air cleaner and roof rack. Acceleration to 50 mph takes 25 seconds and top speed is 62 mph. It corners well and the brakes are good; I pulled up from a steady 35 mph in only a foot or so more than 30 feet. Petrol consumption is about 45 mpg for the normal touring owner.

1953 09 17
A Cambridge builder said there was a crying need for lock-up garages in Cambridge & he wanted to build 14 in Bermuda Road. At present the roadway was blocked by standing cars. But residents told and Inquiry they would be hemmed in and planners feel the site would be more suitable for house building.

1953 09 18
Sir – for six years German students have been visiting Britain to help with the harvest. One who stayed near Cambridge wrote: 'This week in an English family is what I value most of all … and the friendly reception I got'. Next week about 800 students from universities all over Germany will be coming to help farmers harvest potato and sugar beet crops. If you can help offer hospitality please contact the German Student Harvest Scheme – Lord Pakenham

1953 09 18 ES
Ely fire training tower opened; memories: originally just little leather hose and old manual engine, then steam engine pulled by horses – 53 09 18ES

1953 09 19
Fulbourn Hospital Management Committee were concerned with rising costs; whereas the hospital used to buy the rations, they must now buy only what was needed. But the patients are not overfed and do not have a great variety. They must remember they had people shut up on there. Whilst the cost of provisions supplied to patients had increased considerably, the cost of provisions to the staff had decreased. The main reason for the over-spend was the increased consumption of meat.

1953 09 21

Newmarket Chamber of Trade are concerned that more and more local people seem to be going out of the town to do their shopping and have launched a shopping week. Messrs C. Watson is the complete house furnishers and has a high reputation. Chadwick's are the premier florists and greengrocers, while well-known 'Skeets' Martin has gone from strength to strength since he started his own shoe repair business and now employs people like Harry Price, who had his own business for 40 years.

1953 09 21
Ashfords is a Newmarket business well-known for value and variety which retains its distinctive family atmosphere while Ron Langley is a local boy who made good. Starting from scratch he has built up a business which caters for all classes of taxi and private hire work. F.W. Hobbs are theoretically ironmongers but seem to sell everything. They cater for the professional man like the decorator and builder but the average handyman can spend hours looking at their range of tools and garden implements.

1953 09 21
Horace Hawks sends his famous port sausages all over the world from his shop in Wellington Street, Newmarket. This week he offers a leg of pork to the oldest married couple in Newmarket or Exning, the eldest married couple whose wedding anniversary falls this week and the eldest lady living alone. Moons Cycle Depot is an enterprising combination of youthful endeavour and experience and is expanding its stock of cycles.

1953 09 21
Sheila Gay, Old Station Road, Newmarket caters exclusively for the lady who likes to be fashionably dressed and has frocks, suits and evening gowns of the highest quality whilst at Quant's you can get the best boots and shoes and they are displaying Moorland's sheepskin footwear. Goldings are bespoke tailors in the real sense of the word. They have made Jodhpurs and hacking jackets for most of the leading jockeys.

1953 09 21
The Matchless Motor Cycle Club brought their scramble season to a close with a meeting at Balsham. International riders were in every event in which the experts were not barred, the course was in fine condition and the largest crowd ever to attend a scramble meeting in the district were entertained with a display of riding which produced thrill after thrill. Brian Stonebridge was enthusiastically cheered as he completed the final circuit of the "Devil take the hindmost" – the final event

1953 09 23
Joshua Taylor staged a Fashion Parade, a popular event to which the womenfolk of Cambridge look forward with keen anticipation. One of the mannequins modelled clothes for the woman with the larger figure whilst another showed teenager styles from the "Young Cambridge" department. There was no sign of M. Dior's new shorter skirt – this will not reach the provinces until next Spring, so women need not rush to turn up the hems of the clothes they are wearing in order not to give away the fact that they are not new. Drain-pipe corduroy slacks in navy and red vertical stripes were worn with an off white wool and mohair jacket and there was a beautiful fur coat in Russian ermine, priced at only £1,195 – pity I hadn't got my cheque book with me!

1953 09 23
Cambridge Women's Physical Culture Club has now reached the mature age of 21 years during which hundred of women have benefited by the teachings of the Misses Marjorie and Mary Vinsen. In its early days the club received support of eminent local gynaecologists. Teenagers, young mothers, housewives, businesswomen and "young grandmothers" exercise at the Dorothy Café, building health and improving their figures.

1953 09 24
With many new houses being erected and the old craftsmen passing out of service, the Britain of tomorrow will be a nation of tumble-down houses unless more young people come forward to be trained for a career in painting and decoration, said H.O. Lagden. Apprentices could earn up to £2 a week at 15, and £10 as full craftsmen. The standard of home decoration before the war was the highest that has ever been reached but many of the trade today were very crude and at best semi-skilled. As a result there was a great nation-wide 'Do it yourself' movement but many might just as well have thrown their money in the street because they have not done it properly and it won't last. White lead paint was the most durable on the market and it was to everyone's advantage to use only the best materials. – 53 09 24

1953 09 24
Don Arrol, the star of "Coronation Scots" at the New Theatre, officially opened the new showroom of Messrs W.I. Cullin in Rathmore Road Cambridge. They have been appointed Austin agents and the showroom has been built to exhibit and sell Austin products. The garage, repair and servicing of commercial and private vehicles will still continue. Guests were invited to the Goldsborough Hotel for cocktails where everyone was given a souvenir propelling pencil. # c.26.48

Marshall ambulance, p4

1953 09 25 c
In a hundred Victorian houses landladies are renewing notices in the bathrooms. Along Sidney Street a young man in a yellow polo-neck sweater trundles a handcart bearing a tin trunk, two leather bags, a violin case, a worn armchair, and a gaily-painted bird-cage. His un-oiled hair slips sideways towards his ears as he pauses to allow a busload of office workers to hurry by. Gently rumbling towards Magdalene comes a mechanical horse towing twenty-two identical cabin trunks. A new term has begun

1953 09 28
Papworth Everard traffic warden, p12

1953 09 29
Sugar rationing, p4

1953 09 30
Queen Edith's School, p9

October 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 10 01
Gt St Mary's bells, p7
A.A. uniform, p9

1953 10 02 ES
Mepal Polish Hostel disturbance at dance, man mounted stage; knife attack – 53 10 02ES

1953 10 03
The fund for re-hanging the bells of Cambridge's widely famed Great St Mary's church has raised under £1,000 of the £2,600 needed. The bells were taken down last year because of the ravages of a wood-destroying parasite and now the CDN has decided to open its own Bell Fund to supplement that sponsored by the church. All contributions will be acknowledged in our columns and whether large or small they may be handed in at our office. The CDN is opening its fund with a donation of £25 and hopes there will be a satisfying response. # c.69.6

1953 10 03
Girton has seen a terrific growth in the last 30 years and the village might have been swamped had not the Town and Country Planning people stepped in just in time, said H.J.C. Bashford. The population had grown from 534 people in 1911 to about 2,000 in 1940. The building of a laundry in 1896 had provided more work and Cambridge itself had been making demands on Girton. In 1930 came the first policeman and in 1933 street lighting was introduced, despite opposition from the villagers. The last 30 years had seen the start of the Women's Institute and the opening of the first infant welfare centre.

1953 10 05
Ninety British schoolchildren got an inside view of a U.S. Air Force base at a special "National Kids' Day" open house at Mildenhall. The all-day programme included a sight-seeing tour of base headquarters, technical sites and runways. At the base fire department the children tried on fire helmets, asbestos fire-fighting suits and rang the bells of the big fire trucks. At the control tower they listened to radio directions to pilots and a full day of entertainment was topped-off with group singing and refreshments in the Service Club.

1953 10 06
Cambridge new leaf, p8

1953 10 07
For four years Mr Ken Allen had had his name down on the waiting lists for a council house. After all that time he decided he would wait no longer – and he set to work to build his own home. On Monday he stood under his own roof. Inside and out nearly a score of self-builders, members of the Cambridge Self-Build Housing Association were putting in the window frames, hammering home the floorboards, measuring here, sawing there and generally completing the interior of his house in time for moving in before Christmas. The six-roomed semi-detached dwelling on the Arbury Road housing site will have cost £1,300 – and for that he gets a house worth £2,000. – 53 10 07# c.23

1953 10 08
Soham fire, p7

1953 10 09
An unusual feature – for Newmarket at any rate – of the West Suffolk County Council election is the fact that the two candidates in a straight fight are both receiving official political backing. The Newmarket Labour Party has often sponsored candidates but in officially backing Mr E.A. Dunham, the local Conservative party embarks on comparatively new tactics. A well-known businessman he was chairman of the U.D.C. and is one of the most active members of the Chamber of Commerce. His opponent, Mrs Constance Barnard was a founder-member of the Newmarket Labour Party and is a prominent member of the Co-operative movement.

1953 10 09
A former Witcham Toll boy, aged ten, who appeared before Ely juvenile court was said to have earned £2.5.0. a week looking after children's roundabouts at Hunstanton. He lived there with his parents and seven other children aged from three to 15 years in two small tents and a number of corrugated-iron sheds roughly knocked together and they had to crawl on all fours. It was altogether deplorable that children, man and wife should be permitted to live in such primitive circumstances.

Advertisements, p10

1953 10 09 ES
Due to housing problem at Witchford, Ely RDC relax decision not to re-let temporary Nissen Hut dwellings on Witchford airfield; huts are better than barns; 80 huts converted for homes – 53 10 02(2)ES

1953 10 10
Square cap no longer official – cartoon, p8 # c.36.9

1953 10 12

The condition of the stone of the conduit head on Cambridge Market Hill has been found to be much worse than anticipated during recent demolition work and so the Council will be recommended not to rebuild it. The condition of the stone was such that the only part which could be safely re-used was the four pillars and the cost of restoration would be at least £4,000, double the previous estimate. They propose to loan the carved figures from the conduit to the Folk Museum. # c.61

1953 10 12
A decision not to rebuild the Conduit head in Market Hill, Cambridge was described as a retrograde step by Ald James. "I know it is the fashion to run down Victorian architecture but I think it was very seemly. I think we should rebuild it in the same style". But Ald Priest said "If in ten years' time people see pictures of the Conduit as it was, there will be nothing to prevent them from replacing it by photographs. The majority of people are quite satisfied and the Secretary of the Preservation Society has written to say how nice we have made it".

More Arbury land, p4
Sqwston church hall, p7

1953 10 13
Magdalene Bridge weight, p3
Newmarket Road estate, p11

1953 10 14
Mr Brin Newton-John, headmaster of the Cambridgeshire High School for Boys is leaving after eight 'very happy and very cheerful years' to become Master of Oremond College in the University of Melbourne, Australia. His three children, including daughter Olivia, are tremendously excited about their voyage. Music is one of his foremost interests and Cambridge will remember him for founding the Combined Choir concerts in co-operation with the Girls' County School.

Newmarket photo, p12

1953 10 16
While Bassingbourn Village College was being built last winter, 2,250 bricks used in the foundations disintegrated, accompanied by another 2,000 stand in stacks. They were common wire-cut bricks from a firm in the Midlands and seemed not to have been properly baked. They looked fit to be used and had been submitted to the County Architect. The brick-makers said they would not have supplied such bricks for foundations, but the architect had specified them. The site was open and bricks were affected by frost. Other bricks had been supplied by the National Coal Board.

Conduit head, p9
Backs lighting, p10

1953 10 16 ES
Pymore Methodist Church dedication – 53 10 16(2)ES
Lt Ouse vicar, Rev Isaac Reynolds killed when motorcycle hit American lorry – 53 10 16ES

1953 10 17
Bottisham balloon, p6

1953 10 19
For as long as Ely Cathedral stands so will the memory remain of 1,700 men and women of Cambridgeshire who gave their lives in the last war. Over 3,000 people joined in the dedication of the County War Memorial. Earlier hundreds had packed themselves four deep to watch one of the most impressive displays this ancient city had ever seen including a yellow and blue mass of 100 British Legion standards with 900 men and women from practically every branch in the county.

1953 10 20
This is Home Guard recruiting week with the object of increasing the size of this vital branch of our reserve army. When the Government decided it was necessary to resuscitate the Home Guard it was appreciated that the task was a difficult one. The appeal was directed towards middle-aged men who had previously seen service. The exceptional commitment of the Regular Army abroad made it imperative that there should be an organised body trained and ready to cope with emergencies in the event of war. It must contain people who know the local geography of their area intimately, in every parish and hamlet. # c.45.8

1953 10 21
Arts Theatre, p9

1953 10 23
A portrait salvaged from a workmen's rubbish dump at Corpus Christi College, said to be of Christopher Marlowe, bears a resemblance to an engraving of Shakespeare which appeared in the First Folio of the plays in 1621. No other portrait of Marlowe, who was at the college from 1581 to 1587, exists. American experts have little doubt that it is of Shakespeare which could mean that the descriptions of the countryside described in his plays are really based on Cambridgeshire scenes and not around Stratford. The portrait, on a wooden panel & split almost in three, is now being restored. # c.64

1953 10 23
Children playing in a hut at Wimpole Park found some tins of a poison used for killing vermin and opened them with axes. The poison is only dangerous when made moist and then it gives off a deadly fume. On Wednesday night the atmosphere was moist and the fumes filled the hut, killing five ferrets which were caged. Yesterday a doctor from the American camp smelt the fumes and called the fire brigade. Firemen using breathing apparatus and wearing rubber gloves removed the poison and buried it with the ferrets in the middle of a wood.

1953 10 23
London County Council proposes to settle 5,000 Londoners in Sawston, parish councillors were told. They would be a cross-section of the community and their employment would be arranged in various light industries that would be established. There was certain to be further industrial development in the village over the next 20 years and it would be better if the development could be orderly. The proposals would be bound to cause some dislocation in their life but if the national interest demanded the growth of Sawston it was the duty of the Parish Council to press for the development of amenities.

Obsolete sewage, p11

1953 10 23 ES
3,000 at dedication of County War Memorial, Ely Cathedral – 53 10 23ES
Isleham school blaze – 53 10 23ES

1953 10 24
Not one village in Newmarket RDC area is now without a main water supply after the formal opening of Chippenham pumping station. It is the first rural authority in East Anglia to succeed in taking a piped water supply to every parish. Previously three villages had no piped water at all and on occasions water had to be taken to the towers in the high level by the fire brigade, at a cost of £100 a time. They are now able to supply farms and industrial undertakings for the first time. But the scheme was not cheap and the main pumps alone used 11s. 6d. worth of electric power every hour – 53 10 24

Austin brass band, p9

1953 10 27

Cambridge citizens were shaken to hear rifle fire in the city and see groups of khaki-clad men dashing about on Jesus Green and Parker's Piece. Members of the Cambridge Home Guard were carrying out exercises, culminating in an attack on Hobbs Pavilion where the 'enemy' was wiped out. The exercise served the purpose of bringing the Home Guard to the notice of the public. # c.45.8

1953 10 29
An old-established ironmongery and harness business at Melbourn, J.E. Hagger and Son, has finished trading because of the increase in the use of motors and tractors and the consequent decline in the demand for harness work. It had been founded at the end of the 19th century. Before the war two harness makers and two apprentices were employed but now there was scarcely sufficient work for one man. At the small Bassingbourn branch, opened in 1911, one man worked on making and repairing harness.

1953 10 29
There is a big demand in Cambridge for caravans – but there is nowhere to put them, two Milton caravan site proprietors told an inquiry. "Young couples have the deposit but they won't have them because we cannot guarantee them a site in the area, near their work". There is a large site at Gt Shelford but when people buy a caravan on the hire purchase they just cannot afford £1 a week rent for the site. They proposed to have 14 caravans adjoining the White Horse and 30 alongside the Milton Laundry. The Parish Council had no objections.

Pampisford station crossroads, p5

1953 10 30
Cambridge Women heard that television would be one of the most powerful social influences in years to come and although only a minority of the ladies had sets that was no reason why they should be indifferent. The BBC had done a wonderful job over the years but sponsored television would bring the sensational, the tawdry, sex appeal and false glamour.

1953 10 30 ES
Newmarket regional water scheme completed; not one village in area without a main water supply – 53 10 30(2)ES

1953 10 31
The Headquarters of the U.S. Army's 32nd Anti-aircraft Artillery Brigade has moved from Mildenhall where it has been since 1951. The Commanding Officer wrote to the Mayor of Cambridge to express appreciation for the splendid hospitality shown; many personnel have resided in the area and lasting friendships have developed which will contribute to a closer relationship and stronger bond of understanding between the British people and the American forces. # c.45.8

November 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 11 02
The new Shire Hall court will not be an 'extravagant' but 'a fine utility' building, councillors were assured. They did not want panelling in every room and expensive carpets on the floor. Some wanted to build the new Court with an open frontage to the street, but it could not be done, as the site was not big enough. If they pulled down the existing police station and played 'Old Harry' it might be possible but on one side is the Castle Mound and there would be trouble galore they interfered with this.

1953 11 02
Will there be "another Morris Oxford factory" on the doorstep of Cambridge University? Under proposals to send London 'overspill' population to Sawston the village would be expanded from its present 2,000 population to 7,500; it is simply a case of bringing out groups of people with industry and putting them into the country. When local people realise that it is a national problem they will either decide for or against, in which case as far as Sawston is concerned the matter will cease.

Knocking horse, p5

1953 11 03
A wartime German bomb was discovered 30 feet from the Mildenhall railway line at Exning Halt, near Burwell. For over 11 years trains had passed the spot, blissfully unaware that hidden less than a foot beneath the ground was a bomb large enough to cause an unpleasant explosion. It was found by John Debenham who was ploughing a field when he struck something which broke a peg in his plough. "We soon realised it was a bomb and thought of pulling it out with a chain", he said. But instead he reported it to the police.

1953 11 05
The navigator of a RAF Canberra jet bomber was rescued when the plane crashed into a café at Beck Row, near Mildenhall. The pilot was killed. The proprietor of the café said the plane destroyed the back of his premises, smashed his kitchen table, flattened his car and plunged the whole place into darkness. The jet finished up in his back garden, straddling a chicken run and churning up his vegetables. It must have missed the roof by inches and it was a miracle no one in the café was killed. # c.26.1

Newmarket fire, p6

1953 11 06 ES
East Coast floods threatened St Germans pumping station, pumps ran for 920 hours; dredging works completed – 53 11 06(2)ES

Lt Downham field 'the worst there is' in Frith Head Drove subject of agricultural tribunal; allegations of poor husbandry – 53 11 06ES

1953 11 07
Bathyscope in Cam, p7

1953 11 10
One hundred years of cricket was celebrated at Sawston. T.F. Teversham said: "Thomas Sutton Evans was rather an unpleasant individual, but in 1853 he bought a field, Spikes End, and thanks to him Sawston's cricket stands high". He went on to mention Bill Warren, Jim Sunshine and Bill Cockell, all Cambs men who by their ability had given something to local cricket and together with Mr Peter Taylor, a perfect model for all young batsmen, and Mr 'Shine' Ridgeon of St Giles cricket club joined in the celebrations

1953 11 11
A new agency on the lines of the successful "Universal Aunts" in London has opened in Cambridge. It is fully prepared to undertake any job, large or small, including travelling arrangements for children, transport to dancing classes and catering for their parties. The care of invalids will also be undertaken for certain periods, as well as shopping of all kinds. Any domestic emergency will be catered for and there will be a bachelor mending service. After Christmas interior decoration and catering of all kinds will be undertaken. Charges will be moderate. # c.27

1953 11 13 ES
Inquest on man from ex-Land Army Hostel, Witchford Road, Witcham – 53 11 13ES

1953 11 14
'America roadhouse', p7

1953 11 16
The Cambridge Daily News made their own news when a fire broke out in the front office of the St Andrew's Street premises which are immediately opposite the Fire Station. P.C. Roberts noticed smoke coming from the building and smashed the front doors. While he was under a table smothering the flames the rising heat brought the sprinkler system into operation, preventing the blaze from spreading. The Fire Station send over a pump escape and turntable ladder and the fire was under control within four minutes. A number of replies to advertisements were damaged and it would be advisable if readers who have answered adverts within the last few days would write again. # c.04 # c.34.75

1953 11 16
Premier Travel and Percival Motors have applied to combine their express carriage services from Cambridge to Oxford. They have been competing on the route since 1951. During term time there was mostly University traffic and in summer a great deal of tourists. The University World Service, said the new service would be of great convenience to students from abroad, many of whom toured England after coming to Cambridge to study. The Eastern Counties, Associated Motorways and United Counties bus companies and the City of Oxford Motor Services opposed the application as did the Railway Executive who said the bulk of the Cambridge-Oxford traffic was moving by rail via Bletchley.

1953 11 17
Reach's oldest inhabitant, 84-year-old Mrs Badcock, leaned across a table in the lamplight and pulled a switch to turn on the village's electricity supply. The lights blazed and a six foot sign of red, white and blue bulbs glowed 'Welcome to E.E.B.' "This is a great day in the history of the village", Mr B. Day, chairman of the parish council, told the enthusiastic audience which packed the school to overflowing. A large number stayed to watch a television that had been installed, others went home to find their houses brightly lit by electricity and others went to the hostelries across the green to celebrate in the traditional way. – 53 11 17

1953 11 18
Twelve years after a high explosive bomb partially destroyed the Sturton Street Methodist Church plans are now complete for the building of a new place of worship. The original chapel was built in the 1820s but in August 1941 a bomb dropped within a few feet of the west wall, removing the greater part of the roof slating, opening a large hole in the external vaulting and causing severe damage to the fabric. The whole of the roof lifted and many of the roof timbers were fractured. The building was of no use for public worship which had to take place in the Assembly Hall.

1953 11 19
Far too many people are getting far too excited over reports to make Sawston an overflow town for London, says the chairman of South Cambs R.D.C. Despite newspaper headlines there has been no application to build houses and the London County Council have not decided whether they want to go to Sawston. As regards housing the R.D.C. have already built some 226 post-war houses with a further 80 under construction and 14 in contract. This may be a record.

1953 11 20 ES
Wilburton School – no practical steps to prepare way to build school – letter – 53 11 20ES

1953 11 21
Cambridge is fortunate in having the chance to see the film of the 1953 Everest Expedition so soon after its world premiere. Through the generosity of Associated British Cinemas nearly 8,000 schoolchildren will see it at a special morning performance at the Regal and groups will come in from Newmarket, Saffron Walden, Huntingdon and Royston to see the only pictorial record of a magnificent British achievement. Councillors, Justices and Masters of Colleges have also been invited

1953 11 25

Plans for the development of Fulbourn to provide accommodation for an overspill population of up to 4,000 have caused strong opposition from the parish council. But a sewerage scheme had been installed it should be used to capacity rather than to provide for a small number of persons in other parishes, necessitating additional expenditure on development works. However the sewage scheme was planned for a maximum of 2,500 people and now was to take sewage from Teversham as well; how can this be carried out? The only sensible thing if to postpone the decision.

1953 11 27
A Cambridge brush manufacturer was ordered to disclose a 'secret formula' for dressing hair for brushes, which had been used by his father. He had started business on his own in School House Lane in 1947, making brushes for one wholesale firm on terms which proved unprofitable. He became insolvent, but had kept no books. He'd been offered £1,500 for the 'secret formula' and should reveal it to the Bankruptcy Court as there must be some value in it. # c.27

1953 11 27 ES
Friday Bridge Volunteer Agricultural Camp, by far the largest and most successful in the country, is to close down after one more season of use. This year over 4,000 volunteers were accommodated over the five months' season and the labour allocated to 110 farmers and growers. When one considers that there are 1,800 commercial holdings in the Wisbech district and 1,200 in the March/Chatteris district it stands out a mile that the percentage of labour users is very small indeed. The whole future of the camp had been considered but Treasury approval had not been obtained for a limited number of volunteer agricultural camps in 1954 and Friday Bridge would be one. The closing of the Friday Bridge would also affect the continuation of the nine tented fruit growers' camps which they supplied with equipment as there will be nowhere to store it during the winter months. The Government could no longer support organisation and continuation of the Camps. Camp labour had been available since 1943 but the time had arrived when farmers and growers should shoulder their won responsibilities. The camp is built on requisitioned land which must be handed back to rightful owners – 53 11 27(3)ES

Friday Bridge Volunteer Agricultural Camp, largest in the country, is to close down – this year had over 4,000 volunteers; Government could no longer support organisation … is built on requisitioned land which must be handed back to rightful owners – 53 11 27(3)ES

Haddenham charities past and future – talk by Charles Bester – 53 11 27ES

1953 11 28
Mr W.A. Munford, Cambridge City Librarian for the last eight years, has been appointed to one of the great national library posts, that of Director-General of the National Library for the Blind. He is one of the best known librarians in the country and was chosen for a total of 300 applicants. He will continue to live in Cambridge, which he describes as "too good a place to leave unless you have to". # c.77.4

1953 11 29 c
Firemen spent three hours fighting an outbreak in Air Ministry premises in Houldsworth Valley, Newmarket. They found a Nissen hut, used as offices, well ablaze. Office equipment and files were destroyed and the actual building was virtually gutted. The cause of the fire is unknown.

1953 11 30
Sir – the trees which were the focal point of Victoria Park, a pleasant cul-de-sac of urban Cambridge, are now lying on their sides awaiting removal; one or two were diseased and some of the roots were interfering with soil drains. By a happy combination of simple group planning and the breaking down of the artificial barrier between home and green caused by the removal of the railings during the war, the Park was something quite unique. To plant replacement anaemic flowering sticks of trees with 'touch me not' flowerbeds will turn it into another piece of suburbia. – D. McLeod. # c.18

1953 11 30
Barton inhabitants have long felt the need of a children's corner in their recreation ground where youngsters could enjoy themselves without harm. Now the children have swings, a sandpit, a new type of 'horses' swing, see-saws and various other popular playthings. And practically every member of the village has given some sort of tree or shrub to surround it. David Kindersley, a sculptor who lives in the village, has made a beautiful plaque in the form of a sun dial.

December 1953 CDN & Ely Standard

1953 12 01
Residents petitioned against proposals for the conversion of a house in Church Lane Girton into a shop. It had been used as a nursery and there was ample room for parking goods vehicles. Mr A.D. Truelove said a shop was needed to serve the area; he had been given to build one on a site 100 yards away, but was unable to purchase the land. But the Lane was residential and a shop would detract from the character. There was a post office stores nearby and a Co-operative Society shop within half a mile. Girton was one of the villages designated to take 'overspill' from Cambridge and the population would rise from 1,290 in 1951 to 1,750 in 20 years.

1953 12 02
Representatives of the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers Association whose members have subscribed £72,000 to ensure the perpetual endowment of the chair of Electrical Engineering presented the University Vice-Chancellor with a rosewater dish. He told them that the electrical industry has grown to one of great eminence and importance; there is an urgent need in the industry for advanced men and specialists and the University is working to provide the men we need. # c.36.9

1953 12 02
Sir – I wish to protest against the use of the Via Devana for organised motor and motor-cycle rallies. This track is one of the few where one can obtain a long walk through open countryside and is spoilt by the thoughtless and selfish actions of those driving along it. All motor traffic should be prohibited other than farm vehicles - J.H. Preston

1953 12 02
Doubts were expressed whether Newmarket's allocation of 50 houses for 1954 was sufficient. There was a continued demand and the proposed derequisition means additional houses have to be provided for additional applicants. Some kind of allocation had to be maintained; the Ministry aimed to build 300,000 houses and to construct a greater number might halt progress because of a shortage of materials. But if the Council were in a position to build more the Ministry would probably make them an additional grant.

1953 12 04
Cambridge councillors approved a £22,000 scheme for the improvement of Jesus Green Swimming Pool despite fears that this might prejudice chances of an indoor pool. It was an outdoor pool, used for about 110 days a year; last year 55,000 people used it but it ran at a loss and each one cost the City sixpence. It would be filled from the mains & filtered to remove impurities. More would use it if they could go into water that looked like water and not soup. Others thought they ought to enclose half the present bath so it could be used all year – but this would make it look like a shed and bring criticism # c.38 : swimming

1953 12 04
The possibility that Marshall's airfield might be used by jets and other high-powered aircraft provoked a vigorous debate at Cambridge City Council. Coun Warren protested at the construction of a hard landing strip: "The town is going to be menaced by high-powered aircraft which we know nothing about". But Coun Collins suggested that more powerful aircraft must come in time and added "The aircraft now landing there will soon be obsolete". Ald James asked: "If it is essential should the ground have not been moved further out into the country?" # c.26.1

1953 12 04 ES
Death of Major Gordon Fowler, antiquarian and sportsman; formerly of Beet Factory, archaeologist and local historian – 53 12 04(3)(4)ES
Littleport Band history recalled – 53 12 04&(2)ES
Mepal Polish Hostel residents' dispute – 53 12 11(2)(3)ES

1953 12 08
Granta Swimming Club considers that any expenditure on Jesus Green pool would be a complete waste of money; it would never be any good for serious competitive swimming. The money should be put towards an indoor pool. The club has the use of the Leys School heated bath and five swimmers had reached the gold medal standard in proficiency. There would be a 'splash night' with games, races and two polo matches, one for ladies. The Mayor said he had been present at various 'Swims through Cambridge' and wondered how the tough-looking girls he saw dragged from the water after the swim could be the same attractive young ladies facing him at the annual dinner.

Arts revenue, p9
Jets at Marshalls, p10

1953 12 09
Mr R.J. Green appealed against the refusal of permission for the extension of his existing gravel works at Milton. He had occupied the site in 1946 and never received any complaints. The land was first-class for gravel, poor for agriculture and not suitable for housing. But County planners said that under the development plan the population would increase to 1,700 compared with 750 in 1951. If the population is to be doubled the people coming into Milton should be considered from now on. If granted it would bring the gravel workings right up to the village street in Fen Road & be a serious loss of land for housing.

Leaves in roadway, p4
Cambridge City stand. P9

1953 12 10
Two frogmen are inspecting the bridge at St Ives and making minor repairs to the foundations for the second time – the last being in 1947 after the floods damaged the concrete base of the piers. Underneath their two-piece suit, flippers and helmet the men wore Naval jerseys and long pants & the only parts of their bodies exposed to the water were their hands. One was reported as wearing gloves, but this was treated as a joke. Last week they were working on the Huntingdon bridge where they carried out similar work.

1953 12 10
A house has been erected in Cambridge using 'Niblock' mortarless concrete block units for the external and internal walls. Patented by a local man and made by Messrs Jackson Bros of Coldham's Road, they are hollow, allowing a high degree of thermal insulation and the actual building of the walls can be carried out quite quickly, largely by unskilled labour saving cost. Other buildings such as boundary walls or pigsties have proved singularly dry and warm and without doubt 'niblocks' will figure greatly in future building activities. – 53 12 10 # c.23

1953 12 11
St Ives borough councillors are to inquire into the costs of buying robes to attend official functions. To go with the robes there would be ceremonial hats and the cost of 'good class' items would be about £24; gear of a lesser quality might cost £17. But they needed young people on the council who might find this a great deterrent and the proposal was ill-timed because with the Government going out of the market for uniforms the price of clothing might drop.

1953 12 11

Linton cricket club proudly celebrated their centenary surrounded by relics of days gone by. Mr S.A. Taylor recalled when the football club shared the same ground & Mr Chalk reminisced on the games of his youth, including a visit to Duxford in 1896 when there were about 400 turkeys running about the cricket ground. T.F. Teversham said: "If your grandfathers turned up today in this lovely old town all they would miss would be the tinkle of the sheep's bells. I am pleased to see you are still free from the clutching hands of the interfering busybodies of the Town and Country Planning"

1953 12 11
A St Ives councillor complained that he was not allowed to inspect the borough's ancient documents relating to the charter fair; as a ratepayer he had a right to consult public documents. But the Town Clerk said they were going into the question of the fair very carefully and it was inadvisable that too much information should get around the town. Private information had been leaked out of the council chamber before.

Frost aeroplane – detailed feature, p14 – 53 12 14 # c.26.1

1953 12 11 ES
Ely Lynton Drive plans 'agreed by mistake' – road from Lynton Drive to New Barns estate extension – 53 12 11ES

1953 12 12
Nearly 500 people attended one of the most looked-forward to and popular functions of the year, the Dustman's Christmas Ball in Cambridge Guildhall. Dustbins were displayed on the stage behind the Astrals All Star Dance Orchestra, reminding the dancers of the occasion. Miss Daphne Frostick of East Road was chosen as the new "Queen of Scavengeria". The cabaret was amusing and skilful with four men and four girls entering into a ballet. Although the men were a little less graceful than their partners they gave a performance that will long be remembered, but whether for its precision or other factors we will not say

1853 12 14
Young Street nursery, p5

1953 12 15
Mr Robert Stewart Whipple has died at his home in London, at the age of 82. In 1898 he became private assistant to Horace Darwin, the founder of the Cambridge Scientific Instrument Company, later becoming a joint managing director until his retirement in 1935. Noted for his studies of the history, development and manufacture of scientific instruments he presented his large and varied collection of instruments and books to the University of Cambridge. This formed the nucleus of the Whipple Museum of the History of Science that opened in 1954 # c.03

Building wages, p8

1953 12 16
Four meteor jet fighters crashed in the Duxford area; three pilots parachuted to safety and one was pulled from his wrecked plane by farm workers. They were on a training flight from Waterbeach airfield and were not in collision in the air before crashing. It is possible the pilots abandoned their machines after running short of fuel. It is the second time that a plane has crashed at White House Farm, West Wickham; a Meteor came down at the back of the farm just before harvest. # c.26.1

1953 12 16
See that trim piece of glamour, tripping along on three-inch heels? She's probably wearing darned or holey, faded and ancient undies. Girls have a 'don't care' attitude about what goes underneath and put all their money into top clothes. Underwear took a back seat when clothes were rationed and it has never regained its importance. Even quickly laundered and long lasting nylon has not made her change her outlook enough to suit the undies manufacturers.

Ribbon development, p4

1953 12 17
Paston House School, p10

1953 12 18
Third womens' college, p10
Newmarket RDC overbuilding, p13
Girton golf club, p14

1953 12 13
Hinton Hall sale, p7 22nd p7

1953 12 22
For unrestrained Yuletide abandon you have to go a long way to beat the Christmas parties held by the U.S. Army at Lakenheath for children in local homes. When 300 British youngsters join forced with 300 uninhibited G.I.s and embark on a festive warpath they simply love every hectic minute of it and the breathtaking pace of the joviality saw them coming back for more. Each child is allocated a buddy – a soldier whose duty it is to see his young charge goes short of nothing. This year they had ham sandwiches and ice-cream, as previous experience has shown you can't expect a young child to sit down and eat a supreme dinner of high quality and gigantic proportions.

1953 12 23
Older people, p9

1953 12 25 ES
Archaeological finds exhibited – 53 12 25(2)ES
Coronation celebrations: Downham, Haddenham, Hillrow, Aldreth, Wicken, Witchford, Black Horse Drove – 53 12 25(4)ES
Little Ouse schoolmaster and schoolmistress, Mr & Mrs Harry James retire – 53 12 25(5)(7)ES
Bronze age rapier found at Lt Thetford – 53 12 25ES

1953 12 26
The old Manor House at Papworth St Agnes was severely damaged by fire on Christmas Day. The staircase, sitting room, the kitchen ceiling and two cupboards were burnt and other rooms were affected by smoke and heat which was so great that it blistered paint on the beds. A fireman said: "If the fire had really got going the whole house would have gone, as it is largely constructed of wood"

1953 12 28
At Winston House Boys' Hostel, Brooklands Avenue, Cambridge each lad had presents sent from "Fairy Godmothers" who invited a number of them for dinner. For those who remained there was roast chicken and Christmas pudding. At The Grange Children's' Home, Swavesey the children hopefully hung up their stockings at the foot of the bed and on awaking found they had been filled. There was no shortage of presents at the Little Shelford Children's' Home, partly due to the generosity of the American servicemen station in the vicinity. An American 'Father Christmas' arrived from Wimpole Park bringing tennis racquets, bagatelle, darts, dolls and tea sets.

1953 12 28
The Town Clerk of St Ives, Mr G.L. Day, is to present the council with a mace by the chief designer of the Goldsmiths and Silversmith Company of London. A model of modern art, it will include four greyhound heads, the Day family crest for more than 400 years. His family has been connected with the Borough for many years and his great grandfather was instrumental in getting it incorporated in 1874. Unfortunately he died before the town's inception and it fell to Mr Day's grandfather to become the first Town Clerk until 1890, when Mr Day's father took over. He succeeded to the job in 1940

Christmas fire, p8

1953 12 29
When the Mayor of Cambridge visited Brookfields Hospital he made a special point of talking to one little boy who has been in an iron lung since August Bank Holiday. It was quite a Christmas for this little patient as Wilfred Pickles had promised to play a record of his favourite tune – 'The Changing of the Guard' in his programme 'Where Are You Now'. The boy is again lucky in that his parents were the only ones allowed to visit him at the hospital during Christmas. Because of the nature of their illnesses visitors may not see the other patients. Every child was given a pillowcase of toys on Christmas morning and their dinner included the traditional turkey and pudding.

Regal organ, p5

1953 12 31
"There are cities with rotten cores and bad outsides and Cambridge is in danger of that" said the Vice Chancellor of the University and Chairman of the Preservation Society adding: "I would not be averse to a certain number of four-storey flats rather than development spreading further and further out". Cambridge was probably the only town in England which was now more beautiful than 30 years ago. But in Northampton Street was a 'horrid desert' only adorned by a small brick-built convenience; now the land has been acquired for 19 old people's cottages in a delightful architectural scheme.

St Ives spy, p6
De-icing mixture, p7

Please make what use of this you may. Kindly remember where it came from – www.mikepetty.org.uk

1954 Cambridge Daily News & Ely Standard

I have copies of stories dated at end – eg 54 01 27
I have copies of Ely Standard entries

January 1954 CDN & ES

1954 01 01
A building in Cambridge that probably started life as a private house has just been rejuvenated at a cost of several thousand pounds. Number 70 Regent Street will be remembered as the wholesale warehouse formerly used by Barwells, the tyre company. It is now the Co-operative Permanent Building Society, a luxurious block of offices with the latest in equipment and a full-length plate glass window, complete with neon sign. In the past Cambridge has been neglected by building societies. Until recently there was only one but there are now four more.

St Ives garage, p6

1954 01 01 ES
Wilburton Carpond Lane dangerous. 54 01 01ES

1954 01 02 c
An appeal was heard against refusal for a bungalow on a two-acre site on the A45 near Hardwick. The Council said: "This is a most unsatisfactory form of ribbon development. Many of the buildings already there are most insubstantial and of unsatisfactory type, lacking full public services". If the appeal were allowed it would be difficult to resist further applications. But the owner said she had bought the land in 1946 & foundations had been laid prior to the passing of the Town and Country Planning Act. The area was one which required complete re-development. As the Inspector left to inspect the site he walked into one of the thickest fogs in recent years, reducing visibility to less than 15 yards.

1954 01 08
Motor cycle scrambles have gradually caught on and last year the number of spectators has reached 10,000, the Centaur Motor Cycle Club were told at their annual dinner dance at the Dorothy. Mr L.W. Hallen, who was celebrating 21 years of business, welcomed a local prodigy, Mr Tommy Price the former World Champion speedway rider. Mr George Savage, 'Dickie' Davies and Aubrey Thompson – men whose names are bye-words in the motor cycling world – were also present. Highlights of the year included trick riding events arranged as part of the Coronation celebrations and the revival of the old game of grass track racing

1954 01 09
A large meteorite is believed to have been seen over Cambridge. Following reports that an explosion, thought to have been due to a meteorite smashing into the earth's atmosphere, had rocked Dieppe about 160 miles from Cambridge, several members of the City Police Force have claimed to have seen the object. P.C. R. Barlow, on duty in Drummer Street described 'a meteorite of exceptional size, oval-shaped and green in colour' falling in a south-east direction. Other policemen claim to have seen the flash as it apparently struck the earth.

Lay readers, p9

1954 01 13
A crowd of about 100, including a fair sprinkling of undergraduates, saw Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret arrive at Stanley Woolston's antique shop in St Andrew's Street, Cambridge on one of the private shopping visits which they so often make while at Sandringham. The Royal Party remained inside for an hour and during this time one of the biggest crowds to be seen had collected. The pavements on both sides of the street were a solid mass of people and shop assistants took up vantage positions in windows overlooking the scene. The mid-day meal must have been late in many homes judging by the number of housewives with heavily-laden shopping baskets who stood in the crowd. # c.02

Night telephonists, p9

1954 01 14
Pampisford timber merchants, p6
Gordon Fowler will, p9

1954 01 15 c
Part of the pavement has been roped off after a finial stone fell from the top of St Ives Free Church. While it is not expected that any more of these stones – placed under the weather vane – will fall, no risk is being taken. A steeplejack from the famous Larkin firm climbed to the top of the steeple and examined the damage, which was due to both age and weather. The last full-scale inspection of the 95-year-old steeple was made in 1929 when a 'big job' was done on it.

1954 01 15
St Ives council were told that the 'rival' fair supplied by the Showman's Guild in opposition to the 'official' fair supplied by Mr S. Smart, did not infringe upon the Corporation's rights. The Clerk said that when he heard the 'rival' fair was to be held on Anderson's field he wrote a threatening letter, hoping it would be abandoned. It was not a proper fair, only a pleasure fair and the only things that could be bought were sweets. The council could apply to the Government for an order to exclude it.

1954 01 15
Cambridge Waterworks is to supply the Ramsey and St Ives Joint Water Board with a quarter of a million gallons of water a day until 1965. The Board was created in 1937 but its initial plans for abstracting water from the River Ouse had to be abandoned because of 'gross pollution' from untreated sewage. They have bored four wells at Earith but other sites did not produce results so the only alternative was to buy water in bulk, although this means laying 12 miles of mains.

1954 01 15
The Great Ouse River Board hopes to borrow £750,000 for the first part of the flood protection scheme. This includes purchase of land for the construction of a tail sluice at King's Lynn and sites for bridges over the relief channel. Ten inhabited houses are scheduled for demolition. The Pollution Officer says samples of effluent from Ely sewage works were found to be of a highly polluting character and had caused a heavy mortality of fish. # c.29

Water supply, p13

1954 01 16
George Robey, knighted in the New Year's Honours, appeared at Cambridge Guildhall with a variety company in the 1920s and made his last appearance at the New Theatre in September 1933. The Daily Express asserts that he took a science degree at Jesus College and was an engineer for four years. In his autobiography Robey claims to have had part of his education in Cambridge but says his father's speculations went wrong and his undergraduate dream had to be dropped. Now Dr Brittain, keeper of the records at the college, has proved that he never was a member of Jesus, although he had once hoped to become one.

1954 01 19
Cambridge councillors recommend the purchase of half-an-acre of land fronting East Road owned by Herbert Robinson Ltd for £5,420. Jesus College lands, consisting of a reading room and 59-63 East Road (lock-up garages, stable and land off Staffordshire Street) will be bought for £5,710. The trustees of John Stanley have inquired whether the council desires to purchase vacant land in Gas Lane and Jesus College has asked about nos.18-28 Staffordshire Street. An architect with experience of the type of development contemplated will be asked to prepare plans of the detailed lay-out of the area

1954 01 20
Cambridge planners are contemplating the rebuilding of premises in Sidney Street to complete the road widening between Petty Cury and Holy Trinity Church. In 1939 the Essex Insurance Company agreed to rebuild nos 62-64 Sidney Street but owing to the war the scheme was postponed. Then in 1943 they sold no.64 to Messrs Boots who are now seeking planning permission for change of use and this is an opportune time for the scheme to go ahead.

1954 01 21
Cambridgeshire is not a county where woodland areas predominate and the preservation of outstanding trees has long been the concern of the County Council. They have made a tree preservation order covering the double avenue of elms which runs for two miles south of Wimpole Park, one of the finest in England. In recent years some of the trees have been affected by disease but most are in good condition. An avenue of beech trees of great distinction at Hildersham Hall and a line of horse chestnuts at Harston together with trees in the grounds of the Manor House are also covered.

1954 01 22
Proposals to erect traffic lights at the junction of East Road and Newmarket Road, Cambridge were debated by councillors. One said: "Lights are not needed here; they are an obstruction and an annoyance to drivers, another added: "The speed of traffic is about half of other towns and now we are proposing to slow it up still further". A roundabout would be better than lights. But another said: "As a cyclist I am conscious of danger every time I pass the junction, which is blind in more than one direction, you have to be darned quick or you are dead"

1954 01 22 c
A tenancy variation of a shop on King's Parade, Cambridge, is a rare occurrence and rarer indeed is the appearance of a new trade to this world-renowned street. From being used as premises for University outfitters A.R. Crossman, no.12a will become K.P. Camera Shop and promises to become as well-known as its parent, Campkins of Cambridge. The firm was established in 1800 and has remained in its present premises at Rose Crescent since 1867 # c.27.2

1954 01 22 ES
Cawdle Fen drainage, proposed new drainage plant. 54 01 22ES

1954 01 23
Pye Ltd of Cambridge has set up the first television station on the African continent, at Casablanca. It has also received another substantial order for cameras and equipment from the Japanese public service broadcaster. During last year alone Pye delivered equipment to many countries including the U.S.A., Italy, Belgium, Norway, Germany and France and the continuing expansion of television throughout the world promises to bring even more valuable export orders.

1954 01 25
Phone complaints, p6

1954 01 26
Messrs Vicom Ltd appealed for the development of Bourn aerodrome as a factory for light engineering. They were incorporated in 1951 to manufacture electronic equipment for high frequency radio for use in military aircraft. Their current contracts were for the Canadian and United States Air Forces and were of great importance. County planners say there is a danger of labour being attracted from the land in an area where it was scarce but only four of their 110 employees had ever had any connection with agriculture and a high proportion of the new employment could be female labour.

The land was some of the poorest, there was a great deal of concrete on the site and it would take three years to produce anything. Bourn was a picturesque village with building sites for 77 houses and was an ideal place for the centre of employment.

1954 01 27
The extension to the nurses' training school in Owlstone Road, Cambridge has everything for the convenience of the nurses. There are two shampoo rooms where the girls can wash their hair, two ironing rooms and a drying room for doing their washing and provision may be made for a small kitchen so they can fill a hot water bottle at night. Each bedroom has its own washbasin, while the dressing tables are really dressing-tables-cum-writing desks. A games room has been provided where they can enjoy table tennis or listen to the radio. There is also a piano so they can hold dances there if they wish. With such ideal conditions it will not be surprising if would-be-nurses will want to come to Cambridge for their training. – 54 01 27

1954 01 28
Parts of the river Cam were frozen over this morning after a night of extremely cold conditions. The maximum temperature yesterday was 31 degrees F. but last night it dropped to 18 degrees. The severe weather had caused all previous output records to be broken at the Cambridge Gas Works.

1954 01 28
Some people have the idea that it will cost £4 a week to obtain admission to the Cambridge Residential Home for Old People when it is built. "But", said the Mayor, "I would like to make it clear that this does not mean everybody will have to pay that sum and whether or not they have the full means they will not be excluded from the Home". Each resident will have a bed-sitting room with running water and will share the dining and sitting rooms. There will be a small sick bay and a guest room where elderly people can stay for limited periods. All meals will be provided and there will be central heating throughout

Rural electricity, p6

1954 01 29
It is possible that the bar floor of the Ferry Boat Inn at Holywell may be raised to find out whether a skeleton lies under it or not. Mr A.L. Cornell of the Society for Psychic Research wants to prove that he has had a conversation with a spirit who told him she was buried in a spot only a foot or so away from where the piano now stands in the bar. The alleged ghost is Juliet Tousley who makes an annual visit to the inn every March 17th, the day when in 1050 she committed suicide because she was jilted. She is said to be 'perfectly happy' to be buried in the pub and has no wish to be moved to consecrated ground.

1954 01 30
Mitcham's sale, p14

February 1954 CDN & ES

1954 02 01 c
The skating championship of the fens was held at Cambridge Sewage Farm when the Ralph Moore Cup was won by D. Beba of Moulton Chapel. As temperatures dropped still further last night, pipes became frozen up and water engineers were inundated with calls for aid. The new electrical apparatus for thawing pipes is intended primarily for use at institutions where a large number of people are deprive of water. There is only one machine operated by a skilled electrician who can deal with perhaps a dozen cases a day. No more orders can be accepted for three days.

1954 02 02
Cold spell, p6

1954 02 03
Mr Charles F. Morley, who died recently, was a cyclist who won the Eastern Counties championship for every distance from sprint to fifty miles. He was truly a great little sportsman. He was a founder member of the Granta Cycling Club & many of his successes were gained on the quarter mile circular dirt track of the University Bicycling Club off Grange Road. As a speed skater he was up with the amateurs of his day; he was elected chairman of the National Skating Association Fen Department and presented a handsome challenge cup. He was the sole survivor of a quartet of friends who made local and national history at the turn of the century including J.H. Priest, one-mile cycling champion, F.J. Christmas, cross-country champion and A.E. Tebbutt, amateur skating champion of Great Britain. – 54 02 03 # c.38 : cycling

Psychic investigations at Ferry Boat, Holywell – letter – 54 02 03

1954 02 03
Before the war the Post Office was able to provide a telephone within a few days of an order but with the outbreak of hostilities the Government decided it should concentrate on the provision of telephones needed for the Defence of the Country. No reasonable person would question that decision. When the war finished it was seriously short of plant and equipment but the demand increased rapidly with a growing list of applications for telephone service. This together with Government limits on expenditure has led to a delay in the installation of new equipment # c.27.75

1954 02 03
A stained glass window was dedicated at Balsham parish church to the memory of the late Canon H.J.E. Burrell who was rector for 24 years, his mother and sister. Ordained in 1890 he came to the village in 1910 and retired to Cambridge in 1934. He had a great knowledge of architecture and was a talented wood carver who spent eight years working on a superbly carved font cover for the church.

1954 02 04
Pye's new underwater television camera has been rushed to Italy to aid the search for the Comet airliner which crashed into the sea. It is more sensitive and much smaller than any previous model and had at the time of the crash hardly gone beyond the drawing-board stage, many of the parts had not even been made. Within six days a casing had been built for operation at a depth of 250 feet, all the parts had been made and the camera assembled. Information was then received that the Comet was probably lying 600 feet below the surface and consequently a much stronger case of different design was required. It was completed in seven days and flown out.

1954 02 05 ES
Skating championships Earith – 54 02 05ES

1954 02 06
The landlord of the Baron of Beef does not mind how much money he spends to make it the brightest public house in Cambridge. Music is the order of the day and this certainly suits his customers, many of whom are American servicemen. A large white organ arrived on Monday but was too big to go through the door and had to be taken away. His latest brainwave is to install an electric Hammond organ worth £2,000 and an experience man, formerly a cinema organist, has been engaged to play it. # c.27.4

1954 02 08
A large new railway depot is to be established at Chesterton sidings. One area equipped with two Goliath cranes will store new and second-hand rails and emergency stock; another will refettle serviceable switches and crossing units while a third will be equipped for the mechanised pre-assembly, loading and despatch of complete lengths of plain line for permanent way renewals. There will also be dismantling and sleeper areas together with a chair and smalls area and a flash butt welding plant. New access roads will be built together with a canteen. – 54 02 08 # c.26.2

1954 02 11
Councillors discussed the delay in the installation of a water supply for Longstowe. One said: "During this spot of bad weather I was ashamed to see children going along before school early in the morning, carrying sacks containing bottles of water for cooking and for washing. Some are having to walk over a mile". It had been hoped to start the scheme in 1952 – were they going to have to wait another six years. If the consulting engineers were no good why not throw them out and get some new ones, they asked. But the scheme had been changed so many times it was not fair to blame the engineers

1954 02 12
The elm tree on the pavement near the junction of Drummer Street and Emmanuel Road, Cambridge, is probably 250 years old. It is a little over 70 feet in height and sixteen feet in circumference. In the 1940s some of the lower branches were removed to prevent contact by omnibuses but now extensive rotting has taken place in the main branches. These should be removed and any hollows scraped out and filled with concrete, but in view of its scientific interest as much as possible should be retained. The Botanic Garden hopes to perpetuate samples from the old tree by grafting some of its twigs on to young elms – 54 02 12 # c.18

1954 02 12
In order that the chaos of last year's St Ives fair should not reoccur, the Council is to obtain an order making it illegal for any rival operator to set up a pleasure fair within two miles of the Market Hill within 21 days of the Michaelmas Fair. It will exclude Warner's Park, the Car Park, the Market Layers and other council-owned property which may be used for the storage of caravans and other fair equipment.

Pigs floating, p8
RFS to close, p15

1954 02 15
New street light photo, p6
Newmarket Road traffic islands, p9

1954 02 17
Extensions to the Owlstone Road training school for nurses in Cambridge will provide accommodation for 70 more nurses in a fine new building with all the advantages that new methods in architecture can produce. In the nursing career there is none of the 'too old at 40' business. The fully qualified nurse has a secure career in a variety of appointments until she chooses to leave at the retiring age. But she must always remain receptive to new ideas and changing methods

1954 02 19
As a result of the Air Ministry decision to close Reserve Flying Schools the V.R. Social Club bar at Cambridge Aerodrome is to shut. It provided recreational facilities for R.A.F. Reservists in training and since 1947 has hosted an annual ball and Christmas party. Many members loaned Squadron crests to decorate the Club premises and a fine array of silver and pewter pots adorn the bar shelves; these should now be reclaimed. . The lounge, television room and billiards room will still be available for use by Reservists until the end of April. # c.26.1

1954 02 19 ES
Slum cottage, Victoria Square, Ely – 54 02 19 &(2) ES

1954 02 22
The home of a Swavesey couple was completely destroyed by a fire, which is believed to have been caused by a faulty flu. Green Cottage was originally of plaster and thatch and had once been used as a public house, but it was recently converted to brick construction. The fire started in the roof, which was thatch covered by corrugated asbestos and it had partially collapsed by the time firemen arrived. A floor also collapsed but they were able to save the outbuildings and salvage a small quantity of furniture.

1954 02 22
A 45-roomed mansion at Ashdon owned by Mrs Tansley Luddington was completely gutted. By the time firemen arrived the fire was well out of hand and the roof had fallen in. There was little that could be done to save the house or its contents. A suit of armour was amongst the few things recovered from the mansion, which dated back to the 15th century.

1954 02 22 c
An Irish lorry driver employed as a scavenger on the Mildenhall U.S.A.F. base was fined for stealing a chicken. When seen plucking the bird on the air base he told police that the fowl had been caught by his Alsatian dog. But he told the court that the bird had escaped from its owner's premises through a hole in a fence. "I'm afraid it will be an expensive chicken", the magistrate told him, "You will have to pay £5 for it"

1954 02 22
Reception of voluntary female patients at Fulbourn Hospital is presenting difficulties owing to a large number of non-voluntary patients. It is unfortunate that people wishing to enter the hospital for treatment have to be kept waiting and staff are doing all they can to speed up admissions. Many older persons who were quite well should be found accommodation outside the hospital, but no such accommodation existed. Hospitals all over the country are experiencing the same difficulties

1954 02 24
Chesterton's has been a beautiful village but during the past 20 years it has been spoiled by neglect and the erection of ugly buildings. Now its ancient village green site, the only remaining 'pleasant corner' would be spoiled by the erection of a public convenience, say residents. But the city council plan to improve the island with a cycloramic wall and flowers round the convenience. Only five houses overlook the site and the existing police box would be removed. It was in a development area where 200 houses and an old people's home were to be erected.

Rocket battery celebration, p13

1954 02 25
The fight by farmers in the Swaffham Prior and Burwell Fens to stop the Government from compulsorily purchasing their land reached a public inquiry. It had been pasture until the Second World War forced the landowners to turn it into arable; much of the land had to be drained and concrete roads added. The Ministry claim the farm buildings were very poor and ought to be rebuilt but it was sheer madness to erected brick buildings because the land would not stand it, being black peat. It was not unknown for vibrations caused by passing lorries to cause buildings partially to collapse. – 54 02 25

1954 02 26
The death of Mr John Berry Walford, founder of the Ortona Motor Company has recalled memories. He bought up the old Cambridge Motor Omnibus Company; its double-deck vehicles had swept down lamp-posts, been involved in several accidents and were continually breaking down. The Ortona service started in August 1907 with four single-deck buses, but ran at a considerable loss because passengers felt safer in the old horse trams. When the First World War broke out a number of bus chassis were commandeered, the bodies were stored and later re-mounted on other chassis. In 1936 they became part of the Eastern Counties Omnibus Co. – 54 02 26 # c.26.46

1954 02 26 ES
Turf Fen, Doddington, taken over by Agricultural Executive Committee, owners seek compensation – 54 02 26(2)ES

Manea funeral Miss E.M. Softly, former postmistress – 54 02 26ES

March 1954 CDN & ES

1954 03 01
The Cambridge Water Company is to start work immediately on a new five-million-gallon reservoir on Lime Kiln Hill which will double the reserves of water. Rainfall during the winter months had been substantially below average and the replenishment of underground water storage severely diminished. A low rainfall next year might endanger their ability to maintain supplies during periods of peak demand. Improvement had also been made to the Fulbourn Pumping Station where new machinery would soon be installed; this will afford temporary relief from the situation where demand for water had equalled their maximum yield # c.24.2

1954 03 01
County councillors voted to proceed with their original plan for the new Shire Hall courts building. They also need to get their Town Planning people transferred from Hobson Street and must have further accommodation for the County Library, which is one of the finest – if not the finest – in England. Suggestions for putting another floor on the present Shire Hall would never be satisfactory. Services would be upset for about two years, the whole of the heating apparatus would have to be altered and it would cost nearly £70,000. There were plans for the basement to be used as offices but to put clerks down there would be like putting them in prison. 54 03 01 # c.35.1 # c.77.4

1954 03 03
By the death of Miss Kate Borne another pioneer of Papworth has passed into history. She worked with Dr Varrier-Jones when he was Tuberculosis Officer for Cambridge and when he conceived the idea of establishing a Settlement in a house in the village of Bourn she became its first Matron. When in 1918 it moved to Papworth Hall she arranged for the care of 20 patients who made the journey by horse transport. It was her suggestion that a Hospital was built for nurses who had broken down with tuberculosis in the course of their work and Borne House for nursing staff grown old in the Settlement. – 54 03 03

1954 03 03
Haddenham windmill, a landmark in the fens, may become a dangerous structure if it is not repaired soon. Experts estimate it would cost about £2,000 to put it into a sound condition. It was last in use about nine years ago and is still owned by the miller who worked it then. It is scheduled as an historic building but the Ministry will not make a grant to aid its preservation. In a letter to The Times, Mr P.G. Norman, secretary of the Friends of Haddenham, says it was built in 1803, its machinery and sails are intact and it is not beyond repair

1954 03 05
The blitzed Sturton Street Methodist Church – the only religious building in Cambridge put 'out of action' by the Luftwaffe in 1941 – is to rise again. The Master of Downing College laid the foundation stone of a new church to be built on the site. They had begun to fear it would never be rebuilt - the War Damage Commission had given them a very raw deal, only offering £800. But had perused their resolution in the face of frustration to which all were accustomed in dealing with Government Departments and got £1,170 # c.83

1954 03 05
An application by the owner of the Mountford Café, Horseheath for a licence to serve beer with meals was refused. He had to deal with about 50 meals even in a slack period, and there was a big demand for alcoholic refreshment. The other public houses could not accommodate the number of coaches he did. But the manager of Benskin's Brewery said they proposed to make extensive alterations to the Red Lion public house and they served snacks; children could either stay in the coaches or play on the lawn. The landlord of the Green Hill Inn, Linton said he could accommodate six coaches and there was a restaurant opposite which could take four.

1954 03 05 ES
Ely Rural Council have some 300 houses still to have water closet conversions and it would cost £3,000 to do 36 of them. They considered plans for extending the sewer at Wilburton Road, Stretham to connect the drains of 36 houses in Cambridge Road and for the conversion of their earth closets to water closets. It was a lot but tenants are paying about 15 bib a week rent. They cost about £310 each to build. As long as the Council could afford to bring the rents down on bungalows where there were two lavatories they should do something for those people who had lived 20 or 30 years with no conveniences at all. But how were they to deal with the effluent from the new sewer. The scheme was deferred until a comprehensive scheme was presented. 54 03 05(2)ES

1954 03 09
Mr L.W. Hallen started his motor cycle trading 21 years ago in a low-roomed malting shed opposite Union Lane corner and shortly afterwards acquired premises in Hawthorn Way. During the war Government contracts for repair work on RAF vehicles helped the firm to expand and premises which were a dance hall were converted to the use of the business. They have now opened a spacious new showroom on the site of former almshouses that jutted on to Union Lane. Their empire now occupies an extensive stretch of Chesterton High Street.

1954 03 08
Huntingdon cinema fire, p8

1954 03 09
Sir – although I call myself a robemaker I do not personally make gowns. This is done as it has been for hundreds of years by operatives working in their own homes and many of them can trace back a couple of centuries. One of the best known names in Cambridge is that of Maltby, a member of which family is still active and busy in that occupation. Any unfamiliar details which we require we can generally obtain from this source with its accumulated knowledge – A.R. Almond, Sidney Street, Cambridge.

Hallen showroom opened Union Lane, p10 – 54 02 09 # c.26.46

1954 03 10
Matthison artist death – 54 03 10 # c.64
Cambridge United cup run, p11
Hallens coming of age, p9 & p13 # c.26.48

1954 03 11
The plight of 200 isolated deaf and dumb people was revealed by Bishop Gordon Walsh. About half live in Cambridge and they were the lucky ones: they had club facilities at Hope Hall where they could relax after work, but the remainder lived in country villages. They hardly ever met other deaf people and were cut off from the outside world.

1954 03 12
The Mayor said that 1,000 council houses had been built in Cambridge in less than two years but the waiting list continued to grow so that today we have more people waiting for houses than we had at the start; the list stands at over 5,000. How many will get council houses within the next two years is hard to say; the land in the Council's possession is sufficient only to build another 1,800 houses and flats. Replying to criticism of 'housing foreigners' he said that applicants of foreign nationality had been given council houses but they were naturalised and had a right to be considered in their turn. It is imperative that the fullest use be made of the accommodation at their disposal # c.23

1954 03 12

Report on work needed until Flood Protection Scheme commences; on nine miles of bank the freeboard margin was quite inadequate. In January 1949 reported that owing to continuous sinking of the Fen banks it will never be possible to achieve the full standard of safety at any one time. Are many miles which unsound. Owing to severe frost South Level rivers were not navigable for some weeks but work previously undertaken by barge was done by lorry. Temporary stoppage during thaw when labour was diverted to faggot cutting. 54 0312&(2)ES # c.29

1954 03 12 ES
Haddenham windmill may become a dangerous structure if not repaired soon; would cost £2,000. Hope to raise public subscription. Mill was built in 1903, the machinery and sails are intact and it is not beyond repair – 54 03 12(3)ES

Soham: death of Thomas Barnet Hunt, 94. Son of the late Thomas Hunt of Waterside, he carried on business for many years as a mill-wright and agricultural machinist. His main interest was the building of and repairing and maintenance of windmills. He had built windmills in this district and done Mothers' Unionch work for the National Trust – 54 03 12(4)ES

Mepal Airfield: draft order for stopping-up of part of the old roadway and part of the rushway; a new road to follow mainly the line of the existing roadway, a combined cycle track and footpath from the new road to follow mainly the line of the old road to Sutton and a footpath from the rushway to the new road near Mepal. 54 03 12(6)ES

Ouse River Board. Engineer's report on South Level Banks: nine miles without adequate freeboard margin. 54 03 12(8)ES

1954 03 15
Properties in Corn Exchange Street may be demolished to increase parking space in the Lion Yard. It could then accommodate another 60 cars. This would bring in an increased revenue of about £1,360 per annum, but be offset by a £1,286 loss on rental from the demolished premises. Councillors were considering the early provision of a multi-deck park but until the Minister had made a decision on the development plan it would be impossible even to proceed with sketch plans. Sites have also been cleared in the Park Street area, but in view of the extremely poor access they decided to take no action to form a car park in that area. # c.49.62

Ely Hospital pervert, p1
Regional stationmasters' lunch, p7

1954 03 16 c
A labourer who figured in a daring escape from the cells beneath Cambridge Shire Hall courts two years ago was arrested in London. He made his escape with two other men sentenced for housebreaking. In their getaway from the Shire Hall Courts – since demolished – the men forced up a grating weighing about one-and-a-half hundredweight in a nine-feet high ceiling near the detention room in which they had been placed pending their removal to Bedford Prison. Through this they climbed into the yard outside. The grating was not cemented down but its great weight and height above the floor made the lifting of it a considerable feat.

1954 03 18
The proposed arrangements for an alternative television programme will not give a satisfactory signal in the Cambridge area. Multi channel convertors now being incorporated in some makes of set may be outdated and unserviceable when the Cambridge viewer wants to use them. Our advice is to have the convertor fitted when – and only when – Cambridge comes within the range of the proposed new stations. To buy a set with a convertor at present means paying 5-7 guineas more for what is, to the Cambridge viewer, a useless article. – H.W. Peak, Radio & Television Dept, King Street – advert. # c.27.82

1954 03 18
Eye-witness accounts of the Ferry Boat ghost at Holywell state that 'some contact' was made with the lady in white, named Juliet Tewslie. More than 400 people went down to the inn and hundreds were turned away. There were infra-red cameras in the bar, tape recorders to take down any noise and thermometers to check any sudden drop in temperature. After the hullabaloo of the sightseers had died down the Psychic Research Society's team got down to serious work. They used an upturned glass on a smooth table which had letters of the alphabet on it. In answer to the question 'Is anyone there?' the glass spelled out 'Juliet'. Asked when she had died she replied '515 years ago'. Thus it seems that the local legend that she died in 1050 was wrong. – 54 03 18

1954 03 18
The bells of St Mary's will soon ring out again due to the famous peal of 12 bells at Gt St Mary's Church, Cambridge, being re-erected after a two-year absence. A new steel frame has replaced the 200-year-old wooden frame which was eaten up and diseased by woodworm. The Coronation was the first that has not been hailed by the early 18th-century peal; they are rung for all national events and used to be rung for new and old masters of Cambridge colleges. There is a 13th bell in the tower; during the First World War it was used as a fire alarm at the First Eastern General Hospital # c.69.6

1954 03 19
Closing Young Street nursery in Cambridge would be disastrous for the children, and mothers unable to go out to work would have to go on National Assistance, city councillors were told. But running costs were 9s.6d. a day for each child and there was a private day nursery in St Matthew's parish room which would costs mothers 12s.6d. a week. Working mothers could put a child there and still reap a handsome profit from their week's work. Coun Mrs Henn said she had spent some time at the nursery and referred to people she labelled 'Communists and those with foreign accents'. "If ratepayers have to pay to provide trained staff to look after toddlers in perfect health we are suffering from a flight into unreality", she said.

1954 03 19
At Oakington RAF station one of the runways is being re-surfaced with a one-inch topping of asphalt – good for 10 or 15 years even with the harsh treatment it will get with the jet engines of the Vampire T-11s which are due when the flying school re-opens at Easter. Taxpayers will be glad to hear that little is being wasted on the job – even the old runway surfacing is being used for the working course on new landing strips at other airfields

1954 03 19 ES
Ely Cathedral railings may be replaced. 54 03 19(2)ES

1954 03 22
The problem of overcrowding in the female wards at Fulbourn Hospital was described to the Management Committee. Mr Stubbs said: "There have been only 80 beds installed since the turn of the century. Patients are so crammed together in one ward that they have to go outside to change and then go back to bed. It is a matter of a few inches between one bed and another. We have people in here and really we have not enough room for them. They say we have to have them. We shall arrive at a point where we shall have to put them in passages."

1954 03 22
Mr A. Rutherford Almond, head of the old-established tailoring and robe-making firm was awarded an honorary M.A. degree by Cambridge University. The Orator said: "We attach great importance to the correct and traditional academic dress and the Proctors are watching with eagle eye for any breach in sartorial regulations. There remains a great many uncertainties about the different varieties of academic vestments but Mr Almond had a deeper knowledge than anyone else and was always ready to put it at the disposal of the University"

1954 03 22

Papworth Everard will not get a warden to guide children to the village school. Traffic was reasonably heavy & is faster than it need be but there is a speed limit on the road which can be enforced. It is also intermittent; you can wait ten minutes without anything passing through at all. Every village wanted a warden and many, such as Willingham, had more need of one. They should be encouraged to provide their own voluntary wardens.

1954 03 25
Mr John Gambling of Milton Road Cambridge who has died at the age of 82 was the oldest active magician in the British Isles. A member of the Inner Magic Circle since its earliest days he first became interested in 1881 when he acted as assistant to 'Signor Bosco' and later performed on land, sea, in the air and down a coal mine. During the First World War entertained nearly every evening at the First Eastern General Hospital. After retirement from his post of Borough Road Surveyor he lived a life of adventure. He made many trips to Morocco and was the only white magician known to have performed in a harem. The Moors learned to recognise his pointed moustache and would gather round him clamouring for an on-the-spot show.

1954 03 26
It is 50 years ago since Alderman Mrs C.D. Rackham became the first woman member of the Cambridge Board of Guardians. Then applications for outdoor relief appeared in person, stood in front of the Chairman and answered questions directed at them from all quarters. If their replies were regarded as satisfactory an allowance of 2s.6d. or 2s. and a load of bread was granted. The scale for widows was 1s.6d. a week for each child after the first, the widow being expected to maintain herself and one child. – 54 03 26

1954 03 26 ES
Wilburton Manor records found in New York. 54 03 26(3)ES

1954 03 29
Haverhill National Farmers' Union protested against the proposal to build a new town there. If they were forced to take in some of London's overspill population it would have a disastrous effect on local agriculture. There was a reasonable supply of agricultural work in the district but the introduction of industry would mean that it would dwindle. There were more suitable places to house the overspill population: the 'scrublands' of Thetford and Mildenhall and at Harlow New Town there had been difficulty in keeping the Londoners from going back to London

1954 03 31
Bolton Brothers' steam traction engine was the first steam-driven road vehicle to make its appearance in Cambridge. It was in 1902 that the enterprising Boltons decided that more power was required in furniture removals than could reasonably be expected even from two fine horses and that on a long run the traction engine was then peerless. Bolton's business of removal contractors and furniture depository has now been acquired by the Cambridge Co-operative Society and will be carried on with the same care and enterprise that has typified its activities for more than 50 years. # c.26.4

April 1954 CDN & ES

1954 04 01
At the moment many Soham people work outside of the parish and the Parish Council are investigating the possibility of introducing light industries. It had been called 'a land of milk and honey' and it was a very prosperous agricultural area, even in times of depression, but every morning traffic left conveying people to work outside. The Downfields area was thickly populated and every one of them were exported elsewhere. For years the parish had up to 300 unemployed in the winter and it was time the Planners be asked to consider provision of light industry.

Water supply, p13

1954 04 02
Corn Exchange roller skating, p13

1954 04 04 c
Newmarket council has granted the Jockey Club £736, part of the cost of improving two tied cottages. But some councillors disagreed: they were a vastly wealthy body and yet were asking for assistance whereas there were many people in the town who had improved property and met their own costs. They were tied cottages and part of the business of the Jockey Club so they would not help the housing problem. "Are we going to subsidise a body which can well afford to pay for its own repairs – repairs which should have been done long before?" But Canon Scott denied the Jockey Club had been "frightfully cunning" about the matter

1954 04 05
The 'birth' of the Parish of Reach was marked by a ceremony in the schoolroom when the Chairman of the County Council formally handed over to the new Chairman of the Parish Council (Mr A. Housden) a copy of the Statutory Order and a minute book. The people of Reach felt they had lost their identity by being swallowed up by Burwell and Swaffham and recognised that a small unit of local government, if it adopted a method of 'give and take', could be a benefit to everyone concerned. There were no worse quarrels than those which took place over neighbouring walls and it was the spirit of forgiving neighbours which was so necessary to make life enduring in Reach.

1954 04 07
The eagerly-awaited telephone chess match took placed between Oxford and Cambridge City Chess Clubs. The Mayor recalled there had been a previous telephone match in 1933 which had been won by Cambridge. Many spectators came in the course of the evening and there was an atmosphere of mounting excitement. The final score was in Cambridge's favour by five to three. The match was much enjoyed by all taking part and Oxford immediately challenged them to a return next year

1954 04 10
The days of 'cost plus' production of more food at any cost are over. In future we must aim at higher quality and lower costs; this will be good business both for the farmer and the nation and will widen the market for home-grown produce and make agriculture less dependent on the Exchequer. The national achievement of a net output of 60 per cent above pre-war was a major objective but at present prices the market couldn't take much more of our milk, eggs or pig meat. However the market requires a lot more beef and some good quality mutton and lamb and we need to make better use of our grass and forage crops as these will help cut the bill for imported foodstuffs.

1954 04 10
Ely Rural Council proposed a sixpenny increase on pre-war and a shilling increase in post-war council houses. Tenants of old style houses would be only too pleased to pay extra when their earth closets had been replaced by modern conveniences. Some haven't even got a drain and it is a disgrace to the council. Houses being built at present were too elaborate and were being let too cheaply. At Brick Lane, Mepal, there were ten houses at 19s a week; twelve others, with lavatories up and down and hot and cold water, were still let at the same rent. Pre-war houses were built at a cost of £300-£500 and originally let at 6s to 7s a week. Now they were up to 15s and no extra amenities had been provided. Post-war houses cost perhaps £2,000 and were being let at about £1.

1954 04 10
The Headmaster of Chesterton Secondary Modern School, Mr G.W. Manfield, has left to take up a teachers' training post in Malaya. He had been appointed in 1935 when the school was just being built and gradually its reputation had grown. Chesterton was known as a school of scholars and boys can obtain a very good situation. It is doubtful whether any other school is sending as many boys to training colleges to become teachers themselves.

Cambridge decay, p13

1954 04 12
Every seat in Great St Mary's church, Cambridge, was occupied when the Bishop of Ely rededicated the recently-reconditioned bells. A procession of bellringers, representatives of the bellfounders, the clergy, the Archdeacon of Ely and churchwardens went with the Bishop to the bell tower during the service. The bells were handed in to the custody of the Vicar to be used only with his authority. Then for the first time in two years the clamouring of 12 bells was heard over Cambridge # c.83 # c.69.6

Scrap theft, p8

1954 04 13
The inaugural meeting of the Cambridge Flower Decoration Club was held in the Guildhall with an audience of several hundred people – almost entirely of women. The Mayor said the city council was fully alive to the value of floral decorations. On one roundabout alone as many as 4,000 plants were used. There was criticism of the money spent on floral decorations but residents and visitors appreciated the added beauty they gave the city. The new Club could bring Cambridge extra fame by becoming one of the centres of floral art. No fewer than 143 people have now joined.

1954 04 13
The old Seven Holes Sluice at Earith which dates from 1824 will soon be demolished. Work has started on the new sluice bridge which will consist of three gates 22 feet wide with six feet piers separating them. The bridge, which will take about nine months to complete, will be 33 feet wide including roadway and sidewalks. – 54 04 13 # c.29

1954 04 14
Since the inauguration of the C.D.N. Snooker Cup for the amateur championship of Cambridgeshire in 1946, only three names have previously been inscribed on this coveted trophy. Now that of L.T. Ambrose has joined the names of P.G.T. Hughes, A.L. Batterbee and R.E. Williams. In the final he beat W. Philpott through superior tactical play. Philpott played the bolder type of snooker and at times got in some delightful pots. He was always prepared to go for 'near impossible' shots and twice got two glorious pinks only to see the white disappearing also. But Ambrose relied on the 'safety first' motto, which in the end paid dividends.

1954 04 17
A new experiment in children's entertainment, the Roy Rogers Riders Club, is being launched at the Rex Cinema, Cambridge. It will be among the first British cinemas to use the scheme which provides first-rate Saturday morning entertainment for the under 16s. The charge for enrolment and a badge is 1s and admission to the shows is 6d per week. The clubs are under the direct guidance of Roy Rogers himself who formulated the club rules; its objects are to ensure that young cinemagoers see only the most wholesome entertainment and meetings begin with a special film of Roy Rogers saying the "cowboy's prayer. # c.76.9

1954 04 20
More than 13,000 spectators flocked to Elsworth to create an all-time record for a scramble meeting held by the Cambridge Matchless Motor Cycle Club. A programme which included Moto-Cross, international and works team riders together with the new course at Lawn Farm allowed riders to return particularly fast times. Local international Brian Stonebridge provided the fastest lap while Phil Nex recorded a six-lap record. Eric Luck of the Hunts Falcon Club was one of the local men who put up a brave performance against the internationals.

1954 04 21
During the early years of the war when the Government was encouraging people to spend their holidays at home the Cambridge Entertainments Committee organised August Bank Holiday athletic sports meeting, swimming sports, baby shows and other attractions. They obtained permission to open the Corn Exchange as a canteen for troops stationed in the area; later alterations were made, music and games provided and it became a social centre for thousands of Servicemen and women, a very useful contribution in the dark days of war. It could still, in the hands of an imaginative architect, become the much-needed concert hall Cambridge needed – 54 04 21

Hone Guard shot, p8

1954 04 21 ES
Inquest plane crash, Chittering Farm Estate, Stretham Fen. 54 04 21(4)ES

1954 04 22
The residents of Heath Lodge Estate, Newmarket's first post-war housing estate, may be 'lost of the church', the Rector feels. When he visits houses on the estate he is often kept standing on the doorstep – something he had never come across before. But the Houldsworth Valley estate was different, people were friends and the children attended Sunday School enough times to qualify for a stamp album and a book in which to do their work. It was essential he have a curate who could, by working continuously on the estate, win it back for Christ in 18 months.

1954 04 22
The Automobile Association has announced a scheme to direct and control A.A. Patrols and night break-down vehicles by means of a greatly extended radio network. It involves erecting transmitters at various places, including Cambridge from which a wide area of the Eastern Counties will be directed. In addition many more Patrols attending important meetings will be equipped with 'walkie-talkie' apparatus to keep them constantly in touch with Mobile Headquarters. The immense advantages of a direct radio link in dealing with abnormal traffic and car parking arrangements have been proved again and again.

1954 04 22
Cambridge Coun Mrs Phyllis Clarke told a meeting: "One hears a lot about the big housing rate, but it is only 8d in the pound –the same rate as the Library service. Do we hear of book borrowers being jeered at because they take home subsidised books, or properly owners complain about the cost of a subsidised policeman guarding his property". The housing programme should be expanded but she condemned the "little rabbit hutches masquerading as houses on the Arbury Road Estate"

1954 04 23
Three Wicken almshouses in a good state of repair have been allowed to remain empty because of the provisions of a Trust. One house has stood empty for 18 months and the other two a year. They are available to widows or single women aged 60 or over and are each endowed with an annual sum of £20; the occupants also receive 2s.6d. But they must be regular communicants of the Church of England. The Vicar has done his utmost to get the houses occupied and says if the Charity Commissioners would omit the clause about communicants or allow a man and his wife to have them they could be filled within a week. – 54 04 23

1954 04 23 c
County Councillors say that as the Girton-Earith Road across Oakington airfield is now permanently closed, and the need for a by-pass has gone then the land at Girton purchased for a by-pass should be sold. Owing to the expansion of Bassingbourn aerodrome and building developments between Bassingbourn and Kneesworth, the route for a future by-pass has now been transferred to the eastern side of Kneesworth

1954 04 26
Corn Exchange parking, p8

1954 04 27
Charles Raven life income, p8

1954 04 29
Gogs estate future, p8

1954 04 30
A new tower being built at Christ's College, Hobson Street, Cambridge was slightly damaged by fire. It is believed to have been caused by heat from a small fire used for copper soldering which ignited the scaffolding and the base of the new tower. The builders working on the tower could not get down. It was well alight and the fire was beginning to spread into the college when the brigade arrived. A major pump, pump escape and turntable ladder were used to extinguish the blaze and they had it under control in eight minutes # c.34.75 # c.44.5

1954 04 30
Three men were charged with entering offices at Cuckoo Pastures Experimental Farm at Boxworth and stealing a safe, camera exposure meter and stop watch. P.c. Lockwood said he was on motor cycle patrol when he stopped a car and three men ran off. He immobilised the vehicle by deflating the tyres and phoned for assistance. A taxi driver said he received instructions from a phone box to pick up a fare but he was stopped by a police car and two officers got into the taxi. He continued until he was flagged down by three men. The policemen jumped out and arrested them – 54 04 30

1954 04 30
A councillor opposed spending money on armour plate non-splinter glass at the Cambridgeshire High School for Girls, saying there is far too much glass in far too many places in Cambridge. The number of accidents caused by glass should not be soft-pedalled. One child had severed an artery in its wrist, another had cut arteries in thighs, legs and knees. However if they were to say that wherever glass constituted a danger it should be replaced by very expensive non-splinter glass they were going to involve themselves in totally unjustifiable expenditure. It should be replaced by wood. But they would lay themselves open to a charge of vandalism if they spoiled the architecture of a very fine building.

May 1954 CDN & ES

1954 05 01
Three farmers from Swaffham Prior Fen, who have for five years been living and trying to farm under the threat of Government acquisition of their land have been reprieved. Altogether 588 acres were involved but the Minister of Agriculture has decided only to acquire 312 acres at Hundred Acre Farm, Burwell Fen. The Rev Eric Marsh, formerly Vicar of Over urged the Ministry to speed up such decisions: no man was going to develop his land or improve it if he through it would be taken from him. Mr Harold Sennitt, whose family has farmed in the district since 1927, had been threatened with the loss of 39 of the 45 acres of root crops he farms, Leonard Folkes five acres and Ernest Garner 90.

1954 05 01
Government Inspectors have turned down an application from Cambridge city council to build a public convenience on the island at the junction of High Street and Chapel Street, Chesterton. It is the site of the old village green and in its centre stands a fine old ash tree encircled at its base by a seat much used in summer evenings. The Council contended that only five houses overlooked the site and they would improve the island with a cycloramic wall and flowers. But the Preservation Society said it would destroy the pleasantest survival of Old Chesterton and there were three alternative sites. # c.29.8

Bull's dairy, p5
Great whale, p5

1954 05 03
The general trend at the moment is to keep old people in their homes as long as possible and to provide services to keep them happy and comfortable. Housing Societies will no longer give money to the provision of residential homes for old people. They have three different kinds of schemes. The able bodied are being provided with flats, bungalows and converted flatlets with a residential warden, the slightly less able need residential clubs or hostels where meals and staffing is provided and the really old inform people require more in the way of care and attention. The important thing is that the needs of their minds and spirits, as well as their bodies, were thought of, the Cambridge Central Aid Society was told

1954 05 03
County planners say that the object of Sawston's development plan is to assist in the distribution of Greater London population and to provide a 'safety valve' for industrial growth in the Cambridge area, otherwise expansion within the city might have to be accepted. If market towns such as Royston and Haverhill had been in Cambridgeshire the policy for expansion could be controlled and the Sawston plan could be dropped. It was in the best interests of the County to leave the matter open. But Coun Burkitt said they had no intention of suggesting London come to Sawston.

1954 05 04
Cambridgeshire Police have been experimenting with a radio equipped motor cycle. The wireless equipment supplied by Pye Telecom gives the same facilities as that fitted to police cars. A patrolling motor cycle officer hears his call on the set; pulls up and then can receive his message through a loudspeaker, or alternatively through the hand microphone he uses for his own transmission. The range of the radio is sufficient to cover any part of the county. If adopted it would enable motor cycles to be used for many duties which at present require radio cars. # c.34.7 # c.27.8

1954 05 05
Barton bungalow fire, p9

1954 05 06
Fenners new score box, p9

1954 05 07
Gt Abington bowls, p9

1954 05 08
Membership of the Automobile Association has increased by a million since the end of the war and now totals 1,400,000. Nearly 30,000 of these live in the Cambridgeshire district and for their benefit a new area office has been opened at Hills Road Cambridge with a cocktail party. It was first envisaged 20 years ago and will become part of their national radio network by which patrolmen were sent to motorists in distress.

1954 05 08
Histon Football Club celebrated 50 years of football when 200 members attended a dinner at the Dorothy Café together with celebrities such as Sir Stanley Rous, Secretary of the English Football Association, the original secretary, A.T. Rogers and one of the original players, V.A. Peck. The club's history, team spirit and organisation were all praised by speakers who added the right amount of joviality to this historic occasion.

1954 05 10
Longstanton's new school for five to 11-year-olds was opened - its gay colours and ultra-modern interior flooded by sunlight. It has been built on the latest lines at the lowest cost with wide windows providing natural lighting, three classrooms, an assembly hall, staff room and kitchen. Children of airmen stationed at the neighbouring Oakington will go there and it will also take in pupils from the overcrowded village Church of England school. Lord Tedder, Marshall of the R.A.F., said: "I envy the children. It really is a beautiful place".

1954 05 12

A baby girl born in Cambridge has the distinction of arriving in the world with six of her eight great-grandparents still alive. Susan Carole Fuller is the daughter of Mr & Mrs D.J. Fuller of Halifax Road. Her great grandparents on her father's side are Mr & Mrs W. Fuller aged 83 and 76 who now live in Wrexham, and Mr & Mrs B. Ager of Blinco Grove. On her mother's side they are Mr & Mrs V.F. Pursey of Mill Road. She also has 18 great aunts and uncles. This is most unusual and may be a record for Cambridge

1954 05 14
The pilot of an R.A.F. Swift jet aircraft from Waterbeach airfield was killed when it crashed within 200 yards of a group of houses in Stretham fen. Had the blast from the aircraft, which exploded, gone in the direction of the houses then wreckage would most certainly have struck them. As it was pieces of the aircraft were strewn in a half circle for about 200 yards. Eye-witness Mr Leslie Pinion said: "the plane dived straight down in the field and exploded". It left a crater about 15 feet deep. Waterbeach was the first unit to be equipped with Swift jet fighters and the lightning-fast silver machines with their distinctive swept-back wings have become a familiar sight. – 54 05 14 # c.26.1

Fen protection scheme, p7

1954 05 14 ES
Electricity switched on to Mepal, Witcham, Coveney & Wardy Hill. 54 05 14&(2)ES *

1954 05 17
An important stage of the life of the new church of St James', Cambridge will be a social to 'kick off 'the Building Fund. The first building will serve both as a church and hall and be in a central position in Wulfstan Way, almost adjoining the shops. Despite the absence of a church there is a very live congregation which meets in school hall and the Sunday School averages 145 as the majority of families in the parish have very young children # c.83

1954 07 17
There were strong protests at plans for new offices at Shire Hall Cambridge. The new building would contain Assize and Quarter Sessions courts, offices and accommodation for the County Library. The courts at Linton, Caxton, Melbourn and Bottisham were 'shockers', housed in old police stations and the magistrates would be only too happy to do their work in an up-to-date building. Architects had strongly advised against cheese-pairing costs of the assembly hall: Cambridge's lovely college buildings had been the best and had stood the test of time and the costs of labour and materials were rising. But a new plan for one-tier local government might mean the doom of County Councils and the scheme should be deferred. # c.35.1

Lynn Poly, p5
Chittering plane crash, p9

1954 05 18
Walford will, p9

1954 05 19
The Morris Oxford saloon, the first new model produced by the British Motor Corporation, was shown to Cambridge motor dealers at a pre-view at King and Harper's showroom in Bridge Street. It costs £744 17s.6d including purchase tax which is a moderate price for a car which incorporates many striking new features. The gear lever is mounted on the steering wheel and there is synchromesh on third and fourth gears. There is plenty of room for four people with a bench front seat while a built-in heater can supply a warm current of fresh air. Curved windscreen, deep rear window, receding bonnet and a wing line carried through from front to rear are the most prominent design features and they all add up to beauty of line.

1954 05 21

People passing Cambridge airport were intrigued to see the arrival of a German-built ultra-light aircraft, the Zaunkoenig. The tiny plane which can land and take off from the proverbial sixpence and is virtually 'unstallable' is the only survivor of a group of ten; the others were destroyed in Germany towards the end of the war. It is present on loan to the Cambridge Private Flying Group, but the members hope to make it their property. With a cruising speed of only 56 mph it is an ideal aerial runabout and can be hired out for a mere 30 shillings an hour. # c.26.1

1954 05 22
The official opening of Barrington sports ground had to be held in the village hall, owing to rain. As recently as 1950 the site was a wilderness complete with pots and pans, but it has now been transformed & should be a delight for many years to come. It consists of a full-size bowling green, two tennis courts and a roller-skating rink; this was unique and would protect the children from the dangers of the road. In the near future they hoped to get a cricket pavilion on the village green

1954 05 22
Sir –Thousands and thousands of pounds have been spent at Histon: we have had a canteen at the Junior School, new houses for Impington College, new Police houses & a sewerage scheme which does not work. More has been spent on the road near Histon station which appears to have narrowed rather than widened it and the road to Cottenham, where no building is allowed, has been beautifully tarmaced. We are very grateful but the paths have potholes and we really need a bridge over the railway at the station for cyclists and pedestrians – a Mere Ratepayer

1954 04 24
Teversham people turned up in substantial numbers for the opening of their new recreational ground, Queen's Playing Field. Villagers had worked hard to get the land but this was just a start. They should have a children's adventure playground. These are quite small and very informal. You can have all kinds of junk, as children will be far happier playing with a lot of old junk rather than with the ordinary swings and slides. There are a lot of youngsters and adolescents getting into trouble because they have nowhere to play and it would keep them off the roads helping reduce the appalling number of accidents.

1954 05 24
Newmarket Town's new sports and social club was opened by the manager of West Ham United Football Club. Their first aim was to be a place where people interested in any kind of sport could meet and talk over a glass of beer. Secondly they wanted to put Newmarket Town Football Club back on its feet financially and in sporting glory. The past seasons had not been as successful as they would have liked, but they always tried to play good football.

1954 05 26
Only a fenman can portray the fens as they are and capture their atmosphere and the characteristics of the people. To anyone else, says James Wentworth Day, 'It looks like mile after mile of black damn-all'. But they are rich in tradition and in his latest book 'A History of the Fens' he has tried to give a 'human' history before the 'spitting of the tractor' when it had a magic enchantment and fish were taken by the hundredweight from the lodes and drains. He describes the average fenman as 'still sturdily independent, often narrow-minded &, suspicious of strangers'

1954 05 27
Sir: - at Histon there are hoards of men digging out trenches to say nothing of the shoals of men from the Electricity and Gas Boards concerned in this wild-cat scheme of wasting the ratepayers money. On top of all these men getting in each others way there are the visitations in highly polished cars, twice daily, of the 'top dogs' just to see that in refilling the trenches they don't bury any of the pick and shovel men. I wouldn't care less what the authorities are doing was it not for the disfigurement of the road and the colossal cost of the scheme which has to be met by yours etc – Poor Ratepayer

1954 05 27

The owner of historic Milton House was granted possession and awarded £2,500 damages and the tenant of the house, said to be in "an absolutely shocking state", must quit in three weeks, Cambridge magistrates decreed. The house, once owned by William Cole, was of antiquarian interest. King's College had owned it and spent £899 on it in 1932; now it was almost derelict and the garden a wilderness. A tree fell on part of the building in 1946. There was valuable panelling in the building rotting in places. An estate agent said it did not look as if it had been painted for about 20 years. Repairs would cost £2,432 at least and its value in the present state was about £1,250

1954 05 27
Chesterton Rural District Council has completed 187 houses during the last year, the highest since the war, although the target of 200 was not reached. The main reason were the shortage of bricks and roofing tiles and the fact that substitute materials had to be used for internal work. Considerable progress has been made in rehousing tenants occupying converted huts: 52 families have been rehoused and the huts pulled down. Agreement has been reached with county planners on the development of a number of villages.

1954 05 28
A new female tuberculosis wing has been opened at Fulbourn Mental Hospital. Bright and airy, with beds for 14 patients, it is the first completely new building there since the war. Modern treatment has done much to reduce the menace of TB but sudden and instant tragedy can spring up, especially in the young from transmission of the disease from an adult. Infection diseases was one of the nightmares in hospitals, especially those in which there was likely to be a prolonged stay, and it was frustrating not to have the proper resources for preventing the spread of infection. In the past the mental hospital service has been somewhat isolated but it is now becoming part of a fully-integrated service. But East Anglia is the only region without a costly neuro-surgery unit.

Bassingbourn rogation procession, p6

1954 05 31
Fervid Peterborough football supporters, led by their own 'Mr Posh' (Tom Keeble) wearing top hat and tails, paraded outside the Café Royal in Regent Street, London where Football League chiefs were meeting. The fans were trying to impress on officials their claims to have the club admitted to the Football League, but failed. Five hundred supporters had wanted to join the march but it was decided to limit the party to fifty to maintain dignity.

1954 05 31
A total of 29 cottages at Great and Little Abington were put up for sale, and the majority were purchased by the Cambridgeshire Cottage Improvement Society to ensure the preservation of the character of these two charming villages. Much will have to be spent in necessary repairs and rethatching to preserve them, as many are in the protected occupation of tenants who pay a rent of less than three shillings a week. The Society owns 22 cottages in Grantchester and elsewhere and has decided to embark on a policy to preserve what is still basically good, but in danger.

June 1954 CDN & ES

1954 06 02
Mill Road cemetery chapel dismantled, p6 # c.21.2 (see photo)

1954 06 03
Standen and Son, the manufacturers of Sugar Beet Harvesters, appreciate the needs of the small grower for a compact harvester costing about £300. Prototype machines were built and put to work in the fields where they operated for weeks on end. Often they were taken back into the workshops at night for modification and be in the fields again next morning. So the 'Junior' harvester was born and the firm's works at Ely and St Ives are busy producing the machine for this year's crop.

1954 06 03
Eastern Electricity says that more villages in the Ely area are to be connected to the public supply in the next six months. Already Mepal, Coveney, Pondersbridge and Ramsey Heights have been connected and Prickwillow, Barway and outlying parts of Haddenham and Littleport will follow. But it can only be economically justified if farmers recognise that electricity be used to the fullest extent as an aid to production and not just for lighting, radio and television. It increases their output and hastens the day when electricity can be made available throughout the whole of the countryside.

1954 06 04
Would-be pilots can now learn to fly for as little as ten shillings a week. A scheme introduced by Cambridge Aero Club now brings the cost within the reach of most pockets. For an initial payment of £1 plus the weekly amount they can then carry out one and a half hours flying in a four-week period, or more if they pay extra. The Club has been operating continuously – except war years – since 1929 and offers training facilities for the Student Private and Commercial Pilots' licences including instrument and night flying # c.26.1

1954 06 05
Cambridge University scientists are helping in the construction of Britain's first cobalt beam machine – the latest and most powerful weapon in the fight against cancer. Centrepiece of the machine is a tiny piece of cobalt the size of a pile of six halfpennies which has been activated by two years' exposure to atomic radiation inside the Atomic Pile at Harwell. It is only half the size of other machines because of the use of uranium shields instead of lead & will emit a beam equivalent to 3,000,000 volts. # c.36.9

College gate in river, p9

1954 06 07
Oppenheimer not coming to Cambridge, p3

1954 06 08
Heavy traffic, p8

1954 06 09
Fulbourn church, p6

1954 06 10
The Air Ministry is being blamed by farmers for the flooding of the land between St Ives and Wyton aerodrome. They say that heavy rains were made worse by the aerodrome's extended runway that shot the water on to hundreds of acres of land. In the old days the water on the hill seeped through slowly or went into the normal ditches. On Chivers' farm at St Ives some 3,000 chickens were in danger of drowning and elsewhere water came up to the stomachs of cattle. Orchards were flooded, fields of beans had 23 inches of water in them & swans were swimming in a field of brussel spouts. The floods have done more damage than those of 1947. – 54 06 10

1954 06 12
Is Cambridge the coldest town in England? A speaker told the Co-operative Union Congress: 'There are more frosts in Cambridge than in any other town'. Meteorological records from 1914 show that on average there are 62 frosts every year compared with 51 in Aberdeen, 40 in Birmingham and 12 in Falmouth. He urged that the domestic coal ration in East Anglia should be increased because of the weather conditions here

Pye workers photo, p10

1954 06 14

Despite continuous rain a large number of spectators watched the Cambridge Centaur Club's grass track meeting at Cottenham. It is doubtful if such an impressive array of established grass track riders had ever been assembled at any one meeting. The local scramble star from Girton, Andy Lee, fell from his machine in the path of a following rider who was unable to avoid him and the race was stopped while Lee was borne away by stretcher. After medical attention he was able to return and rode in a later race when he received an ovation from the spectators.

1954 06 15
Cambridgeshire band master, [7

1954 06 16
Abington potatoes, p13

1954 06 18
The new Mayoress, Mrs H.R. Mallett, came to Cambridge during the Great War as a young nurse at the First Eastern General Hospital and there she met her husband who was a sergeant-major in the Medical Corps. Nurses in those days received £10 a year, plus £3 beer money but the uniform, lodgings and washing were all found. They mostly lived in their uniform and had nothing to spend the money on except a few clothes. The beer money went in afternoon teas and cakes on their off-duty days. The job was fun but the discipline strict. – 54 06 18 # c.45.5

1954 06 18
An inquest was held on a London shipping clerk killed when the bridge of a motor cruiser he was piloting along the New Bedford River struck the underside of the bridge at Earith. He was in one of two boats hired from Banham's that had left from Denver Sluice. There was a high tide but the sluice keeper had said they would be able to get through to Earith that evening. The river was in flood and he might have made an error of judgement in estimating the clearance or failed to see beams under the bridge because of fading light. Dr Fairweather said he'd suffered from a depressed fracture of the skull.

1954 06 18 ES
Pymoor's new Methodist Church is built on a reinforced concrete raft with load bearing brick walls finished externally with golden brown facing bricks. The timber framed roof is covered with Anglia pattern antique covered pantiles. The layout of the new building consists of a church to accommodate about 100 people, a vestry and a bookstore. There is also a hall for Sunday school work to accommodate 75 scholars. A kitchen and pantry adjoin the hall. The church furniture is in oak. Many welcome gifts have been received including a baptismal font, table vases and a communion rail carpet. One trustee has given a row of chairs and another the fence around the ground on which the church is built. Several local trustee have worked hard planting trees shrubs and flowers to make the surroundings as beautiful as possible ready for the formal opening. 54 06 18(3)ES

1954 06 22
The usual crowd of Saturday shoppers saw a colourful poster parade through the centre of Cambridge with some 15 people carrying posters bearing the slogans 'You can ban the H-bomb – public protest counts' and 'Make the powers agree to ban the H-bomb – sign the national protest'. The petition, which is supported by the Cambridge Peace Council, seeks to demonstrate the great strength of public opinion. More than 100 signatures were collected while the parade circled the Market Place. – 54 06 22 # c.45.8

1954 06 22
Haverhill Town Hall Improvement Committee will be starting its most ambitious project, the extension of a lecture room on the third floor. This will involve added a new wing to the rear of the building at a cost of £2,000. There will also be cloakroom facilities and a service lift from the kitchen below. Previous improvements include the laying of a new dance floor, provision of new chairs and stage curtains but this will be their most ambitious project so far. Much of the money raised comes from the popularity of the dances they run.

1954 06 24
Fen Ditton inglenook, p5

1954 06 25
People living near Cambridge Gas Works have suffered long enough and the council should take more determined action to get rid of 'smog', say councillors. Residents could not open their windows without getting smoke on their bedding and furniture and could not hang out their washing. Six years ago they had been shown elaborate plans for future buildings that would do away with the dust and smoke. It had been said the cause of the trouble was bad coal but even if good coal were used there would be smoke and ash due to the old methods in use. The output of the gasworks had doubled to eight million cubic feet and there had been no complaints recently – but that was probably because the residents were too bogged down with soot and grime to make any.

1954 06 25
RAF authorities are investigating reports that two parachutes were seen to appear from a Canberra jet bomber shortly before it crashed in a sugar beet field near Six Mile Bottom. It had taken off from Bassingbourn a few minutes before. The three crew, who include a Royston man, have been reported as missing believed killed but only one body has yet been found. Mystery surrounds the crash but the finding of the aircraft's cockpit canopy in the Melbourn area indicates it might have become detached and been the cause of the accident. The plane hurtled into the ground in a field half-a-mile from the railway and made a hole about 40 feet deep, the sides of which collapsed almost burying the aircraft. # c.26.1

Eaden Lilley excursion, p9

1954 06 25
The staff of Messrs Joshua Taylor with their husbands and wives left Cambridge in five coaches for Clacton-on-Sea. A halt was made at a Sudbury hotel for tastefully-arranged refreshments and on arrival they dispersed until lunch after which Mr H. Griffiths conveyed their appreciation to Mr J.K. Taylor, the Managing Director, for making the happy day possible. The afternoon was spent in sampling the various amusements and attractions before high tea was eaten with relish. The return journey commenced at 7pm. A halt was again made at Sudbury and the party arrived back in Cambridge, rather tired but sun-tanned, voicing the unanimous opinion: 'A jolly good day'

1954 06 25 ES
Mepal Roll of Honour dedicated. 54 06 25(2)ES

Slip on Forty Foot bank near Horseway Bridge becoming urgent. 54 06 25(3)ES

1954 06 26
An unsuccessful attempt was made to make the Cambridge Corn Exchange available for roller skating during the winter months. A petition with 900 signatures had been prepared. The people affected were between the ages of 10 and 25. In summer they could pass their time in the evenings by swimming, cycling and other outdoor amusements but in winter they needed the opportunity for healthy exercise as an alternative to dances and public houses. Many had invested in skates, the cheapest of which cost £7. But it was the only place suitable for badminton and was also used for boxing.

1954 06 28
US bases, p4

1954 06 29
Canberra inquest, p6

1954 06 30
Work at the King's Head, Fen Ditton, has exposed an ingle nook fireplace. The inn is some 700 years old and the landlord, Mr Fraser, intends to restore it to its original state by removing two tons of rubble. It was probably covered in over 100 years ago. The main support is a blackened-by-smoke huge oak beam and high up in the chimney can be seen the hooks from which hams were suspended.

1954 06 30
Chippenham village school – closed because it was unsafe – has been scheduled for repairs since the beginning of the year but no workmen has yet been there. About 500 villagers are worried about their village hall, temporarily in use by the school, and the School Managers want to get out as it is quite inappropriate. The problem lay with the Ancient Monuments Division of the Ministry of Works; they preferred to have their own alterations put into operation as the school was an ancient building. "The Ministry ought to be brought to book by dynamite, or the school building will fall down before anything is done", said one councillor

Shire Hall palace, p8

1954 06 30 c
An undergraduate who tore down a small signboard from the outside wall of the Cambridge Daily News office and then waved it in the road to stop traffic, was fined a total of £2 and ordered to pay 10s., the cost of replacing it. Pc D. Murfitt said he was in St Andrews Street at 11.10 pm and saw a group of undergraduates coming towards him. One of them was trying to stop traffic in the centre of the road by waving a blue board. When the lad saw him he tried to conceal the board under his gown. The undergrad wrote admitting the offence adding: "I am afraid I behaved very foolishly. The exams were over and this was a stupid way of letting off steam".

July 1954 CDN & ES

1954 07 01
Some villages have been 'jumping the queue' with main sewerage ahead of Cottenham, a councillor claimed. They had been promised a main drainage scheme some 25 years ago and the drains are in such a deplorable condition that nothing can be done. Their only sanitary accommodation is an open cesspool a few feet from the kitchen door. With all the new development sewage was the utmost priority. But there were major problems at Lt Shelford where 47 per cent of people don't have sinks in their homes and this was a matter of urgency on public health grounds. Pampisford was promised water seven years ago but the village is still not supplied & now Whittlesford parish council has also asked why slow progress was being made there

1954 07 02 ES
Pymoor Methodist church opening. 54 07 02(2)ES

Death John Holland, Ely baker. 54 07 02(3)ES

1954 07 03
Huntingdon will probably lose one of its oldest industries with the cessation of the brewing of beer. For more than 300 years the brewery in the High Street has been active. Now it will stop. The score of women in the bottling department and the men on the brewery staff will be found other employment. None of the office staff will be affected and the off-licence premises will carry on as usual. Malting will also be continued and the dozen lorry drivers and loaders will not be affected. It will be used as a distribution centre for the Ely produced beers. Throughout the century many amalgamations have taken place but in 1950 they culminated in the combination between the Huntingdon Brewery and Messrs Hall, Cutlack and Harlock of Ely to form the East Anglian Breweries ltd.

1954 07 06

De-rationed meat, p9

1954 07 07
Would anyone living near Addenbrooke's Hospital feel disposed to take in a nursing mother now and again at very short notice? Miss P.D. Langley, the Head Almoner, says that it is sometimes necessary for the children's specialist to admit a small baby who was still being breast-fed by the mother. If she did not live in Cambridge she had to come and stay and they were very anxious to find a friendly and sympathetic landlady leaving nearby who would be remunerated at a reasonable rate. The doctors feel it is much better for such mothers to live outside the hospital rather THAN inside while they are anxious about a sick baby.

1954 07 07
The old-established department store of Laurie and McConnal of Fitzroy Street, Cambridge has been purchased by the London firm of Shirley Bros, but they say the public will not notice the changes. The store was opened by Mr James Laurie and in recognition of advice given by his friend Mr McConnal he decided to use both names as a trading title, though only members of the Laurie family actually held shares. It prospered as an ironmonger's shop but following a major fire in 1903 was rebuilt as one of the biggest departmental stores in East Anglia, increasing its scope to include almost everything for the home and garden. # c.27.2

1954 07 07
South Cambs RDC proposed a development which would change the face of the old-world village of Litlington, They want to develop a nine-acre ex RAF Communal Site as a permanent housing site and replace hutments which are classed as sub-standard accommodation by 50 non-traditional homes, mainly to rehouse the 'squatters'. The site ia an eyesore but it has sewers, water pipes and foundations. Building would be fast and easy and the houses would be finished in about six months. But it is outside the village area, there were alternative sites and the land was needed for smallholders after clearance. It would destroy the character of the village and clash with the landscape. – 54 07 07

Newport footpath, p4 & p13

1954 07 08
Tom Abbott is one of the best-known heel and toe walking experts in Cambridgeshire. He started in 1925 when he saw an advert about the Cambridge Walking Club seven-mile road walk and by 1937 he held every walking record in the county – and still does. He has also won 30 championship medals. There was the E.H. Church Handicap Cup, a two-mile race in the Cambridge Railway Orphans Sports – he won it over a dozen times - the Royston to Cambridge road race held annually on Boxing Day, the ten-mile course along Newmarket Road and inter-county meetings without number. During the last war Army service races were won in Belgium and the Shetland Isles. Now he helps youngsters of the Coleridge Athletic Club.

Fulbourn electricity station, p9
Filming Road Safety film – pic, p11 # c.65.6

1954 07 09
Real American softball came to Cambridge Football Club ground when the US Air Force Hospital Wimpole Park beat a team from USAF Molesworth entirely against the formbook. But for British spectators the game was a succession of shocks. They saw an umpire hustled and pushed by players disputing a decision, two players somersaulting as they tried to catch a ball and some magnificent hits and catches that made it look like cricket. The game seems to be a glorified rounders akin to baseball. There was 'strike one', 'ball one', 'blunt' and a host of other expressions which are difficult to explain but easy to follow on the diamond-shaped field before the victorious team had notched up their win and were cheered again and again.

1954 07 10

The Robin Fellowship is now 25 years old. It was started as the children's organisation of the 'Cambridge Independent Press and Chronicle' and was carried on for many years by Mr Morley Stuart whose enthusiasm made it an instant success; in the first six months 4,300 children were enrolled. It endowed the Robin Cot at Addenbrooke's Hospital – the result of a stream of coins that has flowed every since into the coffers of the Fund which has paid out over £4,800 to scores of different charities and good causes. The first member was Sybil Rayner of Cherryhinton Road as it was her who suggested the name; there are now 17,026.

1954 07 11 c
Len Tibbs of Gt Shelford is well-known as a pianist and comedian and has now been invited to appear at London's Windmill Theatre where he will present the characterisations which have delighted audiences locally. He started his career as a comedian during the war, helping out with troop shows, and has appeared in most parts of the Easter Counties. Unbeknown to him his work was drawn to the attention of Mr Van Damm and he was surprised to receive an invitation to attend an audition. He has also accepted the offer to appear on Television's variety show 'Show Case'

1954 07 12
Highfields is a new hamlet in the valley but planners have banned all permanent developments and people living in shacks have been unable to build anything better. They wanted Highfield to be allowed to rot and all the people drift away. Now an Association has been formed to stop the breaking up of what is growing into a virile and active community and they would continue the five-year battle to build up this new village, which is the main residential area of Caldecote. The R.D.C. realise the village needed homes and it would be a simple matter to approve them; but large-scale development would be followed by serious drainage problems. The erection of council houses was very expensive and it was more economical to group together those required by two or three villages, as at Bourn.

1954 07 14
Major E.A.H. Legge-Bourke, Conservative M.P. for the Isle of Ely, took the dramatic step of resigning from the Conservative Party as a protest against the Government's policy over Egypt and the withdrawal of troops from the Suez Canal Zone. His action is quite unexpected and it is not thought others will follow his example. But Major Legge-Bourke, who is tall, slim and upright with auburn-tinged hair and moustache, says he intends sitting as an Independent Conservative member in the House of Commons.

Motor-racing cars, p14

1954 07 15
The Post Office is to experiment with pedestrian-controlled electric trucks for its parcel delivery service to determine whether they can be operated economically in areas where traffic conditions make the use of motor vans rather difficult. The trucks have a normal speed of 3½ mph on the level. Cambridge is one of the first provincial towns to have them. # c.26.48 # c.27.7

1954 07 15
Members of the Band of Hope Union visited the East Anglian Egg Packing Station at Soham which collects eggs from producers over a large area, graded them for quality and distributed them to retailers. The station had started with very little money but by 1953 had a turnover of a third of a million pounds and handled over 11 million eggs. They watched skilled inspectors checking every egg under artificial light, modern machines grading them and stamping each with the official number and saw the electric incubators which can turn out 2,500 chicks a week

1954 07 16
Big exercise, p7

1954 07 16
Early jet tests at Newmarket 1942 – 54 07 16 # c.26.1

1954 07 16 ES
Pymoor death J. Wiseman, baker and licensee of 'Knife and Steel'. 54 07 16(2)ES

Isle MP Legge-Bourke resigns from Conservative Party. 54 07 16(3)ES

1954 07 19
The Minister's decision on the County Development Plan has been announced. The only major Cambridge items not approved are the site of the bus station between Christ's College & Emmanuel and the proposed development for residential purposes of the smallholding land north of Arbury Road. All the central area road proposals including the 'spine relief road', the new Guildhall Street and a cross-town route joining Emmanuel Street with Downing Street have been approved together with the new Chesterton Bridge over the Cam near Walnut Tree Avenue, a multi-storey car park in Corn Exchange Street and a subway at the railway station. – 54 07 19 # c.49.4

1954 07 19
The Minister has approved a western by-pass for Cambridge using the northern leg of Storeys Way and a link from Barton Road through Chaucer Road to Trumpington Road. There will be a road from the end of Brooklands Avenue across the railway sidings and joining Station Road opposite the end of Tenison Road. This means it will be possible eventually to have a complete ring road near the centre of the city. # c.49.62

1954 07 20
Planners have approved a new development between St Andrew's Street and Emmanuel New Court, Cambridge. There will be shops on the ground floor and offices above and the building will be of a high architectural standard in keeping with its position in the centre of the city. Provision must be made for a widening of Emmanuel Street and be sited to allow for a free circulation of the shopping traffic generated. Car parking facilities are advocated, either by way of a basement or by access to a space on the roof. # c.44.6

1954 07 21
The attention of county planners has been drawn to a press report setting out proposals by the British Transport Commission to establish a new railway depot at Chesterton. At no time have they given any indication of these intentions; indeed the council has pressed for the reduction of railway activities on this site. It is clear that the arrangements are so far advanced that there is no likelihood of them being held up or abandoned at this late stage. When completed the depot will require a large additional labour force, which is clearly in contradiction to the agreed industrial policy for Cambridge. Future schemes should be discussed well in advance with the planners and the matter will be placed in the hands of local Members of Parliament. # c.26.2

1954 07 21
Not since the 14th-century has Isleham Priory Church heard such music as that sung during a unique service. The Priory, which is only used for the week in the year in which St Margaret's day falls, was illuminated by candles. There were over 100 people present as 50 servers from around the area walked in procession from the Parish Church singing the hymn 'O Son of God goes forth to war'. The other music, called plainsong, was that used regularly at the Priory before it was closed in 1325. Next Sunday Parish Communion will be held, probably the first occasion on which the Holy Eucharist will have been celebrated there since the suppression of the Priory. – 54 07 21

1954 07 23
Various Newport people gave evidence at the inquiry into a footpath crossing the railway line. Mr George Poulter who had lived in the village since 1892 said he had been along the path with a horse and cart many times and never found the railway gates locked. Joseph Moule, 73, said it used to be a noted walk for parents and children while George Webb, 77, said lots of people used the path. But

Mrs Myrtle Gentry said she had been stopped in 1940 and told it was not a public footpath. It was clearly marked on the OS map but the owner of a bungalow and the railway authorities had raised objections. – 54 07 23

1954 07 27
Membership of the Cambridgeshire Local History Council has increased, attendance at meetings and excursions is higher than ever & the Bulletin had been published more or less on time, but there is still much to do. Local History groups in Sawston and Fulbourn are flourishing but there are large areas of the county that are sadly undeveloped as far as local history is concerned. They needed more village correspondents and anybody with old pictures of their village should notify them. There would be a room built at the Shire Hall in the future for the archives and it would be a good thing to get the interest of school children. 54 05 27 # c.43

1954 07 27
City planners discussed 13 acres of land to the east of Milton Road which had been earmarked to meet the needs of industrial concerns whose existing premises were incapable of expansion or intended for residential use. The land, owned by Trinity Hall, was on the market in 1951 but the council could not acquire it at the time. It was bought by Mr Stokes but he was refused permission for it to be used for industrial purposes. The council envisaged that two or three acres should remain in his ownership but that they should acquire the remainder and divide it into plots for sale or lease to industrialists – 54 07 27 # c.49.64

1954 07 28
An unknown little boy was the first person to give the alarm about a blaze at Rich's car-breaking yard in Coldham's Lane, Cherry Hinton. Burned stock included 10 cars, approximately 200 wheels complete with tyres, four steel motor can containers, a brick and asbestos carbide storage shed and a paraffin tanker. Luckily no petrol was stored at the yard. Flames leapt up as high as the houses and there was so much smoke it looked like a burning oil well on the films. Car batteries exploded as hundreds of people watched the inferno. Firemen had the blaze under control after an hour but it started again and they had to be re-called. # c.34.75

1954 07 29
The Ministry of Housing have overruled the RDC and allowed the erection of a dwelling house on land at Main Street, Highfields, Caldecote. This has opened up a new page in history for a number of residents anxious to improve their properties. They had acquired smallholdings on which they wished to build a house in which to live. It was a community which could not just be wiped off the map and they would do what they could to develop the place. The making up of the back road would enable frontagers to sell off plots for development.

Mystery apparition, p8

1954 07 30
Cambridge councillors discussed the impact of any explosion of a hydrogen bomb on the city. There would be an area of total destruction three miles immediately below the bomb burst with a radius of ten miles of lesser destruction. Civil Defence was a misnomer: they would not seek to construct a deep shelter to provide protection for the people of Cambridge in the event of war; it was not 'protection' but 'rescue and aftercare'. It was obvious that local telephone communication between the Controller – if he still existed – and the locality would be useless. The only way Cambridge would be helped was by a rescue column arriving from another part of the country. – 54 07 30 # c.45.8

1954 07 31
Cambridge city council attacked the County Council's cavalier attitude over their grandiose scheme for the replacement of the demolished Shire Hall Courts on Castle Hill. They can no longer tolerate the attitude of a powerful section of the County Council who seem bent on pursuing their own course with all the insensibility of a bureaucratic bulldozer. The Government has indicated it is likely to introduce Local Government reform and it is foolhardy to proceed with a scheme for more office accommodation when certain functions might transfer to the City Council and thus make the extra offices unnecessary. City residents provide 75 per cent of the county rate and should have a fair say in any such scheme. # c.35.1

August 1954 CDN & ES

1954 08 02
When the Rev Eric Graves unwrapped a small brown-paper parcel which was delivered by post to the Haverhill Vicarage he was more than a little surprised to find it contained £100 in £1 notes. It was accompanied by a letter signed 'A well-wisher' which read: "Please find enclosed £100 to get something required for the church. Let me know if you received the money by a notice in the Parish Magazine". Apart from the fact that the parcel was posted in Haverhill the Vicar has no idea as to the identity of the person who made the generous gift and has no intention of trying to find out. It will be used on the church's beautification scheme.

1954 08 04
Newmarket General Hospital's new student nurses cadet training scheme offers a golden opportunity to girls who desire to take up nursing as a career. Many who wanted to become nurses when they left school often found different work so that by the age of 18 they became lost to the profession. While they would do no actual nursing duties they would assist in the work of the Hospital. As salaries and general conditions improved nursing still offered the finest career a girl could undertake and one which was held in the highest esteem by everyone.

Teachers & officials – too many officials to every teacher, p11 – 54 08 04

1954 08 06
Atom bomber crash, p3
Littleport shotgun, p7
Emmanuel Street offices on Prudential site - proposals, p9 – 54 08 06

1954 08 10
Myxamatosis, p7

1954 08 11
The combination of perfect weather conditions, a record crowd of 4,000 people, an extended and improved circuit and some first-class riding made the scramble held on the Old Bank, Littleport the most successful yet staged by the Ely Motor Cycle Club. Jack Hubbard was a firm favourite as were Bud Ekins and Vern Hancock, two Americans riding under the Ely colours. John Baker, fast making a name for himself, also rode quite well

1954 08 11
Another milestone in the trading history of Cambridge was reached when the Danish Bacon Company opened modern premises in Cherryhinton Road. The main feature is the mechanical plant for smoking bacon, something new in the industry. The metal alloy chamber in which sides of bacon absorb their colour is a striking contrast to the old sooted kilns in which many curers have set to work. The smoke is produced by burning white wood sawdust which takes 4½ hours against 36 to 48 hours by the older methods. The company came to Russell Street 20 years ago.

Robin Hood crossroads, p7

1954 08 12
For the time being the proposal to expand Haverhill to take in 10,000 of London's 'overspill population has been shelved by the Government. There were difficulties getting the industry necessary for so large an expansion and doubts whether it could eventually pay its way so it will not be amongst the first series of town expansions to be undertaken. But the Council still hope to accelerate the development of the town even though this may be smaller than at first envisaged.

Myxamatosis, p7

1954 08 13
Mr Leonard Dix told the enquiry he had bought land on both sides of the railway track at Newport in 1924 and built a bungalow. There was no public right of way and no stiles. He received keys for two gates adjoining the railway track and padlocks on the gates were supplied by the railway company. Postmen used to climb the gates to take letters but one day a new postman brought a bicycle and asked that the gate be unlocked. In 1928 a man walked over the crossing; he told him it was not a right of way and he did not come again. But the inspector judged that there was nothing to stop people from using the path; the evidence was complicated but by usage it had become a public right of way

1954 08 13
This year marks the 150th anniversary of Lloyd's Bank in Cambridge. In 1804 two bothers named Foster who were already trading as millers established a bank in Bridge Street. In 1835 they transferred to the Turk's Head in Trinity Street and opened branches in St Ives, Saffron Walden and Ely. In those days two members of staff were boarded on the premises, one sleeping on a bed in front of the strong room armed with a rusty sword. At no time was the building left unattended. In 1890 they acquired a site at the junction of Hobson Street and a new building in Renaissance style was opened in 1894. The Capital and Counties Bank took them over in 1904 and 14 years later they amalgamated with Lloyd's. In 1919 the two offices were merged and the Sidney Street premises chosen as the main branch. In 1935 a considerable extension was built on the corner site. – 54 08 13 # c.32.8

1954 08 14
New petroleum depot, p5
Canberra crash, Wyton, p6 # c.26.1

1954 08 16
The pilot of an RAF Vampire jet trainer from Oakington airfield was killed when his plane crashed into a cornfield at Dry Drayton. He succeeded in missing 18 Council houses and women picking fruit in a nearby orchard before the plane – smoke pouring from its tail – crashed into a field off the Oakington Road. It is thought the pilot might have been attempting to make a forced landing and crashed through a hedge before skidding along the ground for some distance. The engine and tail-plane were 40 yards apart but still intact after the crash # c.26.1

1954 08 17
Home Guard to move, p4
'Cambridge byways', no.1 by Lewis Todd – Lt St Mary's Lane # c.64

1954 08 18
Tunnelling railway photo, p9

1954 08 19
St Edwards Passage picture, p10

1954 08 20 ES
Fenland Engineering feature. 54 08 20(2)ES

1954 08 21
Wrays court, p4

1954 08 25

Messrs Kerridge of Cambridge staged a combined horticultural show and sports day on Pye's Sports ground when 100 children and 200 adults gathered from all parts of the Eastern Counties. A varied programme of races continued throughout the afternoon and there were also sideshows, including bowling for a pig. There were pony rides arranged by the Harston Riding School, a chair-o-plane roundabout and various other attractions including a comic cricket match. Mr P.D. Kenzie of Royston took eleven first prizes at the horticultural show

1954 08 25
The first demonstration in Britain of 3-D television attracted large crowds to the Pye Radio works stand at the Radio and T.V. Exhibition at Earls Court, London. From a miniature studio built on a raised platform in the middle of the stand 3-D television pictures were being screened on experimental sets a few feet away. The viewers had to wear polarised spectacles. Pye do not expect sets to be on sale to the public in the near future; as a home entertainment 3-D television is a very long way off yet. At the moment they are perfecting it for use in industry. # c.27.82

1954 08 27
Cambridge Civic Restaurant has a new cafeteria counter which keeps food clean and will save labour. Mrs C. Howsen, the catering manager, said there is anti-sneeze glass which protects the food from germs and infra-red lamps not only heat the plates but keep the food warm. There is also a refrigerator top that makes its own snow and maintains the salads and ice cream at a low degree. The added cupboard room for plates helps the staff as they can store the made-up plates under the counter instead of having to leave them in the ovens. # c.26.47

Pinion 'receiving', Stretham, p9

1954 08 27 ES
Doddington Hospital progress since 1948. 54 08 27&(2)(3)ES

1954 08 28
Sir - The best part of our charming city of Cambridge is the Abbey Estate as during the past few weeks No.1 Retort House at the Gas Works has been out of commission. No dust; No smoke; No fumes; No hauling lumps of coke out of your eyes. All is peaceful. The old grinding noise and clattering of the elevator has stopped. Washing can be hung out free from grit and blacks and you can see the spire of St Andrew's church nestling among the trees. Delightful – but how long will it last? – J.E.S. # c.24.4

Flying saucers, p6
Sugar Beet bricks, p4

1954 08 30
Thatcher, p1
Soham band, p5

1954 08 31
Flying saucer, p4 & p7

September 1954 CDN & ES

1954 09 02
'Tinkler', p6

1954 09 03
Library, p14

1954 09 03 ES

Ely 'Kum-in-Café' sold. 54 09 03ES

Should council bungalows go to old folk? – Victoria Street, Littleport. 54 09 03(2)ES *

Vintage cars to visit Ely. 54 09 03(2)ES

1954 09 04
The Cambridge-built two-litre Lister-Bristol sports car in which Archie Scott-Brown had such success at Silverstone has been tested by a journalist. "It is a well-built competition car with superb handling and very high performance. I felt no qualms in driving at 130 mph with one hand while operating the stop-watch with the other", he wrote of this product of the Cambridge firm of George Lister and Sons.

1954 09 04
In the 1920s Canadian wheatfields were being attacked by insects. The use of spray was not satisfactory as thousands of square miles were involved & the obvious answer was a biological control, but what? Then in the fields near Cherry Hinton University scientists discovered a similar problem and noticed that a group of parasites accumulated keeping a large number of the pests in check. Great quantities of stubble were collected and stored; a number of women joined in sorting and packing and the resultant collection was shipped to Canada. When the parasites emerged they attacked the pests there. This is part of the research undertaken at Cambridge University, Dr G. Salt of King's College told a meeting. – 54 09 04

1954 09 06
Rain. Steel slivers of relentless ran beat into the track anxious officials had nursed for Great Shelford's Special Sunday. Then the sun blazed for the War Memorial Hall sports day and carnival. More than 2,000 were there. Actress Jessie Matthews arrived quietly in her silver Bentley and was welcomed by the Chairman of the Parish Council. A carnival march heralded the arrival of the procession headed by a break-down truck towing a model of the present hall and the one villagers want to build. But then the breakdown truck had to leave for an accident at Foxton Station.

1954 09 06
Sir – the majority of people in Cambridge are simple working people but the wages are lower than in many other towns, whilst the cost of living is proportionately high. It does not help to be told 'But this is a University Town, why not go to an industrial town if you wish to earn higher wages'. If a family decided to do this it is immediately confronted with housing difficulties so great that few can overcome them and must crawl back with their tails between their legs to contemplate the beauties of Cambridge and ponder over the coal bills. Buildings designed for light industry need not be eyesores and would lead to increased earnings. – J.P. # c.23

1954 09 07
A crowd of over 5,000 turned up at Hill Farm, Arrington, to watch the Cambridge Centaur Motor Cycle Club's Autumn 'Scramble'. The rains had left the course in a slippery, muddy and extremely hazardous condition and provided the spectators with thrills galore. Experts like Monty Banks and Andy Lee showed their paces but the 'mud hole' saw some slips and mishaps. Terry Connor had a spectacular 'coming-off' but got up none the worse for his tumble.

1954 09 07
The 'Kum-In Café' sited on the Cambridge Road corner at Ely has changed hands as a result of an auction at the White Hart Hotel when it was sold to Mr F.C. Leavis of Cambridge for £1,650. The café premises, 43-47 St Mary's Street were offered together with a flat and houses with a large walk-in yard. But a modern residence, 'Balmoral' at Newmarket Road, Fordham including a garage, garden and engineer's workshop was withdrawn from sale at £2,700

1954 09 08
Vintage car rally, p9

1954 09 09
Senior school pupils from the Caldecote and Childerley Gate area who cannot now attend Cottenham School owing to overcrowding are due to start in temporary school buildings on the Bourn aerodrome site. But their parents will refuse to allow them to attend; they say there is a pig farm less than 30 yards away and when it rains the site is absolutely marshy. Derelict buildings nearby have broken windows, it is surrounded by rubble and more squalid than a bomb site. A new senior school should be erected next to the existing Childerley Gate Primary School for £5,500 if built with pre-fabricated material – 54 09 09

1954 09 09
Freddie Pope, 83, is a remarkable countryman who does a full day's work on the harvest field, working for his nephew, Mr Harold Driver, of Huntingdon Farm, Sawston. He looks after 60 head of cow stock and one day this year fed them in the morning, drilled ten acres of corn with his horse and fed the stock again in the evening. He went to live at Mill Farm, Pampisford in 1939; before that he farmed in the Ely district and was for a long time licensee of the 'Fish and Duck' near Stretham. This was in the Pope family for so long that the place is still known as Pope's Corner – 54 09 09

1954 09 10 ES
Lt Ouse fete a huge success. 54 09 10(2)ES

Future of Oxlode Memorial Hall. 54 09 10

1954 09 11
The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr R.A. Butler, received the Freedom of the Borough of Saffron Walden before a crowded audience and newsreel, television and press cameramen. It was awarded in recognition of the 25 years he has represented the town as Member of Parliament and his eminent services to the nation during that time. He had shown a never-failing interest in the welfare of the Borough and given willing help to the constituents. – 54 09 11

1954 09 11
Mr Harold Macmillan, Minister of Housing, has approved the County Development Plan. He has decided to leave in the proposed spine relief road intended to relieve traffic pressure in the centre of Cambridge but there will be no firm decision about the road for at least five years when the matter can be considered further. But the proposal to establish a bus station between Christ's and Emmanuel Colleges should be deleted due to the effect of noise and movement of traffic on the colleges and doubts about the adequacy of the site for the size of the station which would be needed.

1954 09 13
Simplex football, p6

1954 09 14
Flashing indicator lights on motor cars are no a new idea. They were invented and patented in 1922 by Mr Harold Wheeler son of the Over schoolmaster A.G. Wheeler. When he bought his first car he felt the need for an efficient signaller and flashing lights seemed to be the answer. The invention was perfected, patented and submitted to the public carriage office of New Scotland Yard. It was hailed as 'ingenious but impractical' and legislation would be needed before it could be used. He had several enquiries from the Continent but finally removed the gadget and stored it away in a cupboard. Now flashing indicators have arrived from American but his patent has run out. – 54 09 14

1954 09 15
Debden RAF, p9

1954 09 17

Newmarket's King Edward VII Memorial Hall which for ten years following the bombing of 1941 served as the town's General Post Office, has re-opened for public use. The town had been without the amenity for 13 years and few people under 18 had ever been inside it. The Council had reconstructed the old building, modernised and decorated it but it still remained inconvenient. The alterations had cost almost as much as the original building. The actual dance floor was acknowledged as one of the best in East Anglia. One day they hoped to build a supper room alongside the present hall.

1954 09 17 ES
Littleport: future of Sandhills Bridge. 54 09 17ES

Ouse River Board Flood Protection Scheme. 54 09 17(2)ES # c.29

1954 09 18
The new beacons guarding pedestrian crossings have begun flashing in Cambridge. The flashing beacons which continue their winking by day and night make the crossings they serve official ways for pedestrians which motorists must observe. But some say that the flashing lights are not easy to see in daytime when a great deal of traffic makes them useful. Quite a few motorists are opposed with opinions ranging from 'not worth a light' to 'just another thing to look for' # c.26.48

1954 09 18
It may interest readers to know that the short thoroughfare from St Andrews' Street to Drummer Street, now known as Christ's Lane, has changed its name more than any other in Cambridge. Old maps show it as Hangman's Lane, St Nicholas' Lane, Rogis Lane, Rogues' Lane, Hinton Lane and George Street. Downing Street has been Dowdivers Lane, Langrith Lane, Hogshill Lane, Bird Bolt Lane and Plot and Nuts Lane.

1954 09 20
A perfect black smoke ring topped by a mushroom cloud hung in the air over a bombed fort hit by Meteors highlighted Waterbeach 'Battle of Britain' Saturday. Small boys clutching identification manuals pestered their less knowledgeable fathers with technical questions or casually recognised jet planes and provided exact data for ignorant mothers. They elbowed their ways into the cockpits of fighters on display – except the Swift, which was closely guarded. A mass scramble split the eardrums as the jets roared down the runway in pairs but most impressive was the tight formation flying of the modern fighters at low level. Stateliest aircraft were the long-range submarine killer Shackletons while 'Old Faithful', the Vampire V flew some skilful aerobatics.

1954 09 20
A new Civil Defence rescue training centre was opened in Newmarket Road, Cambridge. There are two tumble-down structures – a façade and a rescue set – and volunteers set to work showing rescue attempts in an Atomic-bomb war. Major-Gen Bruce said: "In view of the present threat, where we needed one volunteer before we now want 100. It is un-British to have the attitude of mind that we are going to be frightened and blackmailed into putting up with might". Heavy explosives and incendiaries are likely to go out of business, but not in the first two years of another war, because our enemy has a tremendous amount of aircraft and bombs that he will want to use. – 54 09 20 # c.45.8

1954 09 21
A man was killed when two 1,000-lb bombs exploded at RAF Marham. The bombs were being moved in preparation for an exercise when they fell from a trailer he was towing with a tractor. Five other airmen were injured and nine Canberra twin-jet bombers and one Anson aircraft were damaged. Eight of the Canberras can be repaired on the station. – 54 09 21

1954 09 22
Oakington and Westwick Recreation Ground was opened in the shadow of the airfield as a memorial to the fallen of the last war. Hubert Doggett, chairman of the parish council said: "We have been up against terrible expense and the Council have been almost afraid to look at the figures." Many of our social evils arise because of the lack of playing fields and the appalling amount of deaths which occur to young children on the roads today could be avoided if there were somewhere they could let off steam. The children of the future would say 'thank you' to those who had carried out the work. It is also planned to erect a Memorial Hall facing Queen's Way

1954 09 23
Bassingbourn Village College has just been completed and for generations to come young and old will have every opportunity to meet for study, self-expression, practical work or simple relaxation in a building which is delightful in itself and in its surroundings. Its Hall is designed for high-quality acoustics and will be the cinema, theatre, dance and concert hall of the village. There is a splendid gymnasium, a workshop, and a domestic science laboratory complete with a model flat. Courses include farm machinery, advanced pig keeping and gardening on chalk. Miss Julia Lang, of 'Listen with Mother' on the radio, will speak on 'Telling Stories to Children'. The school is already in operation and some 315 children from 14 villages have settled in. 54 09 23

1954 09 24
The new Methodist church in Sturton Street, Cambridge was opened and dedicated at a largely-attended ceremony. It is of pleasing, simple design and replaces the building damaged by bombs in 1940. The Mayor, Coun Hallett, said it was the only here to have been completely bombed and it was encouraging to know that the congregation had come to the rescue and rebuilt it in a most impressive style. The architect, D.C. Denton-Smith acknowledged the work of the builders, Eric Kidman, Mr Linsey foreman; Messrs Cooks plasterers; Messrs Pratt builders' merchants; Messrs Scotts electricians & other associated with the re-building. – 54 09 24 # c.83

Gas theatre, p5

1954 09 25
Fulbourn waterworks pumping station was reopened. Beneath the pump and control rooms is a 60,000-gallon tank. The pumps are driven by direct-current motors capable of pumping 90,000 gallons an hour to a jet chamber where dissolved carbon-dioxide is released, reducing corrosion. An efficient electricity supply and the duplication of all plant renders any breakdown almost impossible. A five-million gallon reservoir is under construction at Cherry Hinton which will bring water reserves up to two days instead of one as at present.

1954 09 27
A 78-year-old gardener was cycling across the perimeter track at Oakington RAF Station when he was struck by a Vampire jet plane that was taxi-ing before take-off. The pilot saw the cyclist crossing the dispersal area when travelling at 25 mph. He assumed the man would look to see if anything was coming and would certainly hear the plane. It was a rule that aircraft always had the right of way. He added: "the cyclist took a 90 degrees turn towards me suddenly. I turned slightly to the right and my left wing caught his neck". All employees were required to sign a document that under no circumstances could claims be made against the Air Ministry in the event of accidents to and from work. – 54 09 27

1954 09 27
Over 1,000 Civil Defence volunteers took part in Exercise Challenge on Midsummer Common, Cambridge. The Home Secretary, Sir David Fyfe told them that if a hydrogen bomb should fall there would be a great deal to do in the perimeter zone and the country beyond. People who lost their homes must be fed, housed and catered for. But outside the common a dozen members of the Cambridge Peace Front held banners saying: 'There is no defence against the H-bomb' – 54 09 27 # c.45.8

1954 09 28

The crowds who queued up for tickets outside Cambridge's New Theatre put paid to the story that Music Hall is dying. There was slap-stick comedy, Eddie Arnold with his variety of voices, Brian Andro on the high-wire, a strong-man acrobat, Rusty – a dog of mathematical powers, Bobby Collins – a first-rate whistler and the Lee Youngsters, a trio of singers. The star attraction was Tony Brent, a crooner of promise, but surely there will come a time when we shall have heard his songs just once too often. Forthcoming attractions include Don Saunder's Circus and Don Lammaree and his Lone Star Road Show, Phyllis Dixey and Cinderella on Ice. If the Cambridge public give it support then even bigger names will be attracted from London. # c.76

1954 09 29
David James Scott, a one-time photographer whose shop became part of the Cambridge Daily News building, has died aged 97. A partner for a time in the firm of Scott and Wilkinson, he later became the owner. In business for 50 years he did a large amount of work for the Cambridge and the Leys School. Mr Scott painted in oils and watercolours; he was a keen fly fisherman and staunch Conservative Party worker. His son, William, managed the CDN process-engraving department until his death. – 54 09 29 # c.65.5

Bus depot reconstruction photo, p5

October 1954 CDN & ES

1954 10 01
The old Royston Brewery premises in Baldock Street, used until recently by an engineering firm, have been acquired by Messrs Barratt's, the well-known confectioners. The firm say they will start in a small way by packing goods made in their factory at Wood Green but will develop the site if the demand for their goods continues. The initial requirements will be for women labour for packing but men will be required if they start manufacturing there. "We like the look of Royston and feel sure we shall soon settle down and become accepted as one of the family", they say.

1954 10 02
Gisborne Street, p13

1954 10 06
A new chapter in Cambridge University history has opened on an informal note at New Hall, the third foundation for women, where the first 16 students are now in residence. They drew lots for the rather Spartan bedrooms while a 'combination' room is being used for (voluntary) morning services – there is no chapel - and other activities. A rather gloomy downstairs study room is well-equipped with desks and chairs and nearby is an out-of-doors wringer of hefty make. "We can do our own washing and save on laundry bills", said Miss Angela Holder, a petite, attractive Freshman, giving the handle an experimental turn. Miss A.R. Murray, the tutor, says she welcomes the building – a converted guest house - as a temporary home but looks forward to moving to Byron House in 1960 – 54 10 06 # c.44.5 # c.36.98

1954 10 06
The Minister of Education has refused to allow funding for a new school for Milton, but one new classroom will be built. There will also be building at Babraham, Histon and Cheveley while Harston is growing fast and a pre-fabricated classroom would be constructed. The position at Kennett shows how quickly a development plan was out-dated. The roll at this single-roomed school has risen from 14 to 27 and would continue to increase. Negotiations would start to purchase the premises now held on lease and plans for an extension prepared.

1954 10 07
Robinson Rental tv, p4
Rambroke organ rebuilt, p9

1954 10 08
Floodlit Civil Defence, p9

1954 10 08 ES
Stretham man burned saving farm buildings: Eric Wright on Stowbridge Farm, workshop, tractor shed, carpenter's shop. 54 10 08(2)ES

1954 10 10
University drugs, p5
Granta film club, p13
Cinemascope, p13

1954 10 11
The new Church of England School at Elsworth was formally opened. It consists of three classrooms, a hall, staffroom, kitchen and offices and stands on a site of over two acres where a large playing field is being laid out in a setting of particular charm. A building of attractive dimensions and pleasing appearance in brown brick and timbered roof, outstanding features include maximum window lighting and excellent practical furnishing. It replaced old parish schools at Boxworth, Conington and Knapwell where children from the age of five to eleven had been taught by only one teacher. This was not a good thing; there should be two or three to make teaching efficient.

1954 10 13
An attractive demonstration theatre is now in full operation at the Eastern Gas Board's headquarters in Sidney Street, Cambridge where gas consumers will always be welcome to see the latest developments in gas appliance design. Demonstrations will be conducted by the Home Service Adviser, Shirley Snow, whose advice is readily available either in person, by post or telephone.

Peggy Auton, p5

1954 10 14
Meldreth shop fire, p9

1954 10 15 c
P.C. Newling said he was on duty outside the Rex Ballroom in Cambridge when he saw two U.S. military policemen come out of the ballroom with an American serviceman in civilian clothes who they wanted to interview in connection with an incident inside. Then another man came out who started to intervene and became argumentative. This man told the court: "I had a drink or two and was talking to an American and it got a bit arguey. Then two military policemen came and took the guy out for no reason at all. I wasn't going to fight, I just went to explain". He was fined £1.

1954 10 15 c
Cambridge housewives are looking forward to their first unrationed Christmas for 14 years, but there may still be a few shortages. Currants will be as expensive as sultanas but raisins, up to one shilling and fourpence a pound will be plentiful. Those who remember Valencia's, those luscious raisins from Spain will welcome their return. There will be plenty of glace cherries for the cake but they will cost a little more. Almonds are the nuts to be snapped up as soon as they appear. For those who can afford the luxury there will be real butter in the cake and rum and brandy butter for the pudding. Americans are willing to pay more than we are, and that explains the Christmas shortage.

1954 10 15 ES
Whittlesey Sir Harry Smith School opened. 54 10 15(2)ES

1954 10 16
Shelford school, p9

1954 10 19
Emmanuel Street plans, p4
Cinemascope, p6

1954 10 20
There is a pressing need for better slaughtering facilities in Cambridge; in 1953 the Ministry approved the provision of a municipal slaughterhouse to be operated by the council in co-operation with the University and the Department of Scientific Research whereby facilities would be made available for lecturing and research. But there was opposition to the proposed slaughtering charge of £1.10s per cattle unit. Now there is a proposal for the formation of a private company to erect and operate a municipal slaughterhouse

Coffee pot club, p5

1954 10 21
Hamilton Kerr, p12

1954 10 22
The Emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie, watched excitedly as a Hunter aircraft did a 705 mph speed run 50 feet above him at Duxford. Without a word the phantom-like plane dived over the Emperor, and then came its booming report which clearly startled him. Earlier he had inspected a Spitfire used in the Battle of Britain but was far more interested in a modern Meteor; he insisted on climbing into the machine and asked many questions. After the display and much saluting and handshakes, the Emperor, a quiet and retiring figure, got into his car and headed for the Imperial Ethiopian Embassy. – 54 10 22

1954 10 22
A new pumping station was opened at Kingston. The first bore hole had been sunk by the old East Hunts Water Company in 1934. It was altered for R.A.F. purposes at the beginning of the last war and in 1943 the Chesterton and St Ives Joint Water Board was formed. Three years ago permission was obtained from the Ministry and the present buildings started. The original water supply came from Bourn from a station that was built in 1900 and the next erected at Longstanton in 1930. Now with the ever-increasing demand for water had come the new station.

1954 10 23
Those tiresome meddlers, the planners, are in full cry again. Now signs outside businesses – some of which have been in position for many years – are being challenged. The trouble arises under that wretched 1947 Planning Act whereby certain parts of a town can be scheduled an Area of Special Control. This limits the size of outside advertisements. No one would wish the City centre to be a Piccadilly Circus but I see no reason why a recognised commercial section should not have these cheerful aids to business. This ‘planomania’ is becoming unreasonable.

Library improvements, p6
Shop signs, p13

1954 10 24c
Imagine a Hydrogen bomb has been dropped on Cambridge. In a five-mile radius from Great Shelford to Histon everything is just rubble. In a 12-mile radius, including Saffron Walden, Newmarket and Huntingdon, there is severe damage and for 20 miles, as far as Bishop’s Stortford, there is minor damage. Blast and heat flash from the bomb could also cause severe burns to people exposed in the open and if the bomb exploded on the ground or in water mud thrown up would be very radio-active and would be carried for many, many miles. But if an ‘ordinary’ atom bomb was dropped the centre of destruction would be only a half-mile radius.

1954 10 27

Railway engines seem to be making a habit of running off the lines into the cottage garden of the crossing keeper at Coldham's Lane, Cambridge. For the second time in recent months a goods locomotive has gone astray there when the engine travelling light (without wagons) made a mess of his well-kept plot. The large crane used in lifting the heavy vehicle was brought to the scene and the engine was lifted back on to the line. Dislocation to other traffic was very light. # c.26.2

1954 10 28
There has been some loss of historic buildings in Cambridgeshire, especially the medieval Beaupre Hall near Outwell. Messrs J.W. Green has uncovered the fine medieval timber frame of the Royal Oak public house at Barrington, though they took away the Jacobean bay window which had been added when the hall was divided to give an upper floor. The post mill on Madingley Hill has been taken over by David Robinson and would form a charming centre to his racing establishment. Bourn Mill has been very carefully repaired and braced by the Cambridge Preservation Society

1954 10 29 c
The Cambridge Adventure Playgrounds Committee was launched. Children spent too much time idle. There should be a revival of interest in playgrounds which were what the children really wanted and not what the parents though they should have. The space should be used to best advantage, but there was trouble with the planners who, with their passion for tidiness, ironed out the places where the children could play and planted geranium beds there instead. Children needed an indefinite number of different types of playground for there was a variety of things they wanted to do, from free activity to pulling things down and building them up again.

1954 10 29 ES
Comins erect pig certification centre – photo. 54 10 29ES

Stack-thatching competition. 54 10 29(4)ES *

1954 10 30
An inquiry was held into plans for a 14-acre pit at Milton; it would produce much-needed gravel and the workings would be useful as rubbish tips. The owner had taken it to provide sand for his roofing tiles business and owned it for 25 years. He would keep it under agriculture as long as possible and it would take 20 years before the mine covered all the land. But the county council said Milton was an expanding village and needed a recreation ground. Householders petitioned against it saying the pit was not wanted at Milton

1954 10 30
The ultra-modern Bassingbourn Village College which will be the focal point of cultural and social life for 11 Cambridgeshire villages was officially opened by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr R.A. Butler. It is the first village college to be opened since the war; seven more are planned and sites already acquired at Swavesey and Soham. It would help to stop the drift away from agricultural to industrial areas which might seriously upset the economic balance of the country. A crowd of villagers gathered to watch the arrivals and a detachment of police were on duty to deal with about 250 cars which choked the entrance to the school and overflowed on to the approach road.

November 1954 CDN & ES

1954 11 01
Miller's music shop has transformed its Sidney Street Cambridge premises with an up-to-date, spacious and extremely attractive front of an entirely unique design. The windows are non-reflective and the lower ground floor, which is so popular with record lovers but previously almost completely hidden way, now has a mirrored view from the street. You can now pause in your shopping and look in the window, whether it be the television set your husband has promised the family for Christmas or one of the many different instruments on display. – 54 11 01 # c.27.2

1954 11 01
The old Shire Hall Assize courts no longer existed; it had been pulled down. That could not be altered; it was down and a new one had to be built, councillors were told. The Judges appreciate the temporary accommodation but occasionally inquire when the Assizes are expected to be held once more in the re-built Courts; they might get tired of waiting for them. We did not want to lose Cambridge as an Assize town. A proposal to defer their erection for two years was withdrawn but tenders will not be submitted for a year.

1954 11 05
Flying saucers on Parker's Piece and water-skiing in academic dress on the Cam. These are part of the many weird and wonderful things that will happen when the University Poppy Day raggers get going. Saturday is always an important shopping day in Cambridge and all shoppers are advised to carry large amounts of coppers with them – just in case they are stopped by the revellers.

1954 11 05 ES
Water in milk. 54 11 05(ES)

Ely veterans offered use hut on Barracks Field. 54 11 05(ES)

1954 11 06
Police helmets will be treasured possession in the homes of undergraduates and Cambridge 'Teddy-Boys' who contributed to the Guy Fawkes Night high jinks. One police constable, helmet-less, went back to base for another. But in double-quick time this went too! Frequent clashes broke out between police and revellers. In Market Square a crowd of more than 5,000 screamed, shouted, pushed and laughed but it was 'good natured fooling'. "Teddy" girls screamed at each bang, unsuspecting undergraduates were pounced on by Proctors and 'Bulldogs' and there were boos and hisses each time an untidy-looking urchin was led away, and each time the urchin would protest his innocence of throwing any fireworks.

1954 11 06
There was absolute chaos in Cambridge as traffic was held up to allow Dick Turpin, complete with Bonny Black Bess, to go galloping through the streets. Outside Emmanuel College a Flying Bedstead made periodical attempts to get airborne while a gent dressed as an arm of the law directed traffic into Downing Street, whether cars and cyclists wanted to go or not. In Sidney Street traffic was halted when the "Vice-Chancellor's" procession walked slowly down the centre of the road, complete with pick-axes and shovels slung over their shoulders. It was part of the Poppy Day Rag.

1954 11 06
Impington Village College has been open for 15 years; there are now 460 pupils with new buildings including a fine new music room and engineering workshop. A new block of classrooms was being added and there was to be a dining room and kitchen. Soon it would possess the finest buildings of any school in the English countryside. Beautiful buildings were a necessity Henry Morris, the Chief Education Officer, told their Speech Day. Leisure had become one of the great problems of our lives. Passive amusements such as television and football pools were not a good thing. He hoped boys and girls would come back to the college in the evening and do things with their own hands.

Cambridgeshire House, p13

1954 11 09
Sir – as one who wishes to guard the 'Backs' from the abuses of motorists may I draw attention to that stretch of Queen's Road from Burrell's Walk to St John's Wilderness? On both sides of the road are grass margins which motorists use for cheap parking. One individual has the cool cheek to park his car at the corner at 9 a.m. and it is still there four hours later. Recently a heavy lorry drove off the road, crushing the verge flat, so that the driver and his mate could have their midday meal and on several occasions I have seen this side full of cars. Wooden rails have been erected on the other side of Burrell's Walk and I hope these will be continued along the stretch in question – 'Non-collegiate' Shire Hall courts, p7

1954 11 09
British military officers and civilian personnel from the Lakenheath air base witnessed a 'Skysweeper' firing demonstration at Weybourne range, Norfolk. This is the U.S. army's largest calibre automatic anti-aircraft artillery weapon – an artillery machine gun. It is the first weapon with radar, computer and gun on one carriage with fully integrated gun and fire control. The units are designed to spot and track with radar and aim and fire the gun semi-automatically at enemy aircraft flying near-sonic speeds at low and medium altitudes.

1954 11 09 c
Sir – there is no doubt that Cambridge is well-equipped with cinemas but why is it that the two largest endeavour to attract more patrons by boasting a so-called 'wide screen'. All this does is slice a strip off the top and bottom of the picture. Surely the producer bases his composition on the dimensions of a normal screen so why are we not allowed to see what he intended. It is considered that the removing of hats, heads and feet from people are an advance in film presentation? – W.R. Johnson, Magdalene College

1954 11 10
A police officer began an inquiry after his curiosity aroused by seeing two boys' bicycles lying on the grass verge beside a fenland road near Soham. As a result 14 children, six girls, appeared in court. A thirteen-year-old girl was charged with having had relations with at least eight boys since 1951, mostly on the way home from school. "This sort of thing seems to be so rife in this district as to show a deplorable state of affairs", the magistrate said.

1954 11 10 c
A television service for East Anglia and improvements in sound broadcasting by means of Very High Frequency transmissions from a station to be built at Tacolneston, Norfolk, have been announced by the B.B.C. Television services will begin in February and will cover the greater part of Norfolk and Suffolk. The V.H.F. service will be completed by 1956. The Midland Home Service which already includes news, weather forecasts and other programmes reflecting the Norwich area will extend its range to Cambridgeshire.

1954 11 12
Haslingfield mill, p4

1954 11 12 ES
Death F.J. Lincoln, Riverside Boathouse – river memories. 54 11 12ES # c.26.3

1954 11 15
Corn Exchange floor, p9

1954 11 16
It is said that nude shows are killing the variety theatre. Well now the Cambridge New Theatre gives you a chance to form your own opinion. The leading lady is none other than 'Jane', the famous strip cartoon character; we catch glimpses of her flitting behind illuminated screens or lying on discreetly lighted couches. There are also a variety of young ladies performing weird and wonderful gyrations in varying stages of dress and undress – all for the sake of art and culture no doubt. In my opinion nude shows are becoming too frequent and the novelty is beginning to wear off somewhat.

1954 11 17
The Automobile Association has put into service a new radio transmitting station from their Cambridge headquarters in Hills Road which gives continuous communication with 'A.A.' patrols with a radius of 40 miles. There are six radio-controlled motor-cycle combinations together with a Land Rover to provide prompt assistance for motorists whenever a breakdown occurs on the road.

Tv reception, p9

1954 11 18
Councillors discussed the problems of building a new school on Cherryhinton Road, Cambridge. It was known that the site was water-logged and deep piles would have to be provided for the foundations. Chesterton Library which had been built on deep piles was already cracking up and for the same thing to happen to this expensive school would be disastrous. These difficulties had been pointed out to the Planning Officer but they supported the 'green field' site that was now developing into a 'green G-string'

CD feeding, p6
Tv reception, p9

1954 11 19
Cambridge Marriage Guidance Council last year saw 145 new cases. 66 of them were of marital disharmony, the rest being preparation of young people for marriage and help in marriages already happy but needing guidance. Since its formation in 1946 1,029 people have been seen and helped. Now they are seeking offices and consulting rooms rather than working in private houses.

1954 11 19 ES
Prickwillow new Methodist schoolroom. 54 11 19ES

Death Frank Howe, Soham, secretary Ely Cinema Company. 54 11 19(3)ES

East Anglia T.V. station coming. 54 11 19(4)ES

1954 11 20
Thirty-seven gold coins – a sovereign and 36 half-sovereigns – were discovered by Cambridge corporation workmen, 23 of them in the sludge taken from the emptier at Swann's tip, Newmarket Road. This had come from the Birdwood Road and Norfolk Street area and when they investigated the gullies in the area thirteen further coins were found, two in a drain in Burleigh Street. These were heavy coins; they were unlikely to have been lost through a hole in a pocket; more likely they had been wrapped in something and disposed of by somebody who did not want to be found with them in his possession. Eight years ago a man in Long Road had been robbed of 100 sovereigns and 30 half-sovereigns – but there were more than this found.

1954 11 20
"The introduction of electronic accounting machines into the office will revolutionise accounting procedures and within a decade a managing director will be able to press a button and receive an up-to-the-minute balance sheet". This is the logical development of the punched-card system, a representative of Powers-Samas Accounting Machines told Cambridge accountants.

1954 11 20
Charles Woods of Cambridge has attended 500 performances at the Arts Theatre since it opened in 1936; he has also patronised the New Theatre for over 45 years and has a collection of over 1,000 programmes. Many people were not aware that in 1910 it was possible to listen-in to plays at London West-End theatres by telephone. The system was known as the 'Electrophone'. This had advantages over the present radio as you could choose your theatre and listen to the whole evening without interruption.

1954 11 22
Eastwood Cement's development programme includes the construction of a new rotary kiln at the Barrington Cement Works which is expected to be in production by next summer. It will then have three rotary kilns and necessary ancillary plant, all in first-class condition and having ample reserve of excellent raw materials for the manufacture of the highest grade Portland cement.

King & Harper, p14

1954 11 23
The Cambridgeshire Regiment is very much 'a family affair'. Three families were represented at the Sergeants' annual dinner. There were the Stubbings – Major Walter, his brother P.J. Stubbings and son 'Freddy', Mr William Whitby and his son Michael and Mr J.H. Kitson and his son Ron. Some say the Regiment has changed because it has become Ack-Ack, said Major Few. "But if you look at the list of Regiments which have been converted from Infantry to Ack-Ack you will find some of the pick of the London Territorial units. The units who were bound a make a good job of it were called in. That is why the Cambridgeshires are no longer infantry"

1954 11 24
Lister racing, p7

1954 11 25
A startling saga of the mysterious vehicle which will be used for the conveyance of nurses and laundry around Peterborough district was related at a meeting of the Hospital Board at Papworth Hall. The old vehicle had been involved in an accident and was so damaged that the cost of repairing it was too high - its scrap value was only £10. A new one was needed and it was proposed to buy a new Bedford Utilecon 'All Purpose Ambulance'. But it was not clear whether they wanted an ambulance or a vehicle of another sort; members tried to explain the difference but no one seemed really clear as to the definition of 'ambulance'

Jimmy James dies, p8
Tv reception, p9

1954 11 26
The women of Cambridge on the whole seem to prefer casual clothes although these can look smart, said the Vogue Pattern Stylist who is at Eaden Lilley's all this week helping people with their fashion problems. This is beneficial to the home dress-maker who saves a lot of expense by making her own clothes. If she is in need of any help or wants to know some trade hints she cannot ask a professional dress-maker but can ask her. Some cannot summon up enough courage but they need not be timid. She advises women to buy patterns one size smaller because they allow two inches on all their patterns. "It is not the amount of money you spend that makes you well dressed, but good taste and knowing how to wear your clothes", she said.

1954 11 26
Haverhill National Farmers' Union is tackling the problem of marketing pork, which has been a worry to pig producers all over the country. There has been a glut of pigs on the market and poor prices were paid to the farmer, yet the price was correspondingly high. Their idea is to persuade local fish friers to start a new line in 'Fried pork and chips'. It will be a popular change for younger people after the cinemas and make a nice addition to the tea table.

1954 11 26
Jimmy Young, one of Britain's most successful singing stars is certain to prove a big attraction as 'top of the bill' at Cambridge's New Theatre. His recording of 'Too Young' was launched in August 1951 and within a week reached unprecedented sales figures. Since then he has made over 300 radio and tv appearances and toured theatres in Britain and America. He has a legion of ardent followers, many of them middle-aged, who knit him pullovers and socks. Some even bake him cakes.

1954 11 26 ES
Prickwillow Methodist stone-laying. 54 11 26(2)ES *

1954 11 27
Cambridge Assize Courts should be moved to the City Library site at the Guildhall, councillors suggested. There might be some overcrowding on the first day of the Assize when all the prisoners, witnesses and jurymen in all cases had to be present or if there was a case that attracted particular public interest. But there would be a substantial saving in capital expenditure. For some time they had wished to provide new premises for the library as the Central Lending Library and Reading Rooms were no longer adequate; before the war there had been proposals to move it to the old Post Office building in Petty Cury. # c.77.4

1954 11 29
Police in the Haverhill area used loudspeaker cars on Saturday to warn the public of the danger of lighting fires near the river. The danger of fire and explosion arose when about 8,000 gallons of jet fuel got into a stream at Withersfield. As this leads into the River Stour farmers were told not to allow cattle to drink from it. On Sunday the danger of fire was much less but there was still a smell of petrol and oil vapours. The alarm was raised after a lady noticed that her dog was covered with oil.

Assize courts

1954 11 30
Victoria Road, p8
Lighting, p8
Milton Army camp, p11

1954 11 30 c
So many members of the public attended a meeting of the Newmarket Urban District Council that additional chairs had to be brought into the council chamber. Even then about 30 people were told they could not attend because standing orders laid down that members of the public should be seated. Those who did get in heard a lengthy debate on light industry and a proposal by Messrs Alperson's, the local caravan manufacturer, to take over Harraton House Exning for light industry. Proposals to convert Harraton House stables and build 12 houses on an adjoining paddock had previously been agreed.

December 1954 CDN & ES

1954 12 01
The Government is prepared to increase Cambridge's allocation of houses from 200 to 250 in 1955. The Council has already agreed to the erection of 100 houses by the Hundred Houses Society and a minimum of 100 houses a year should be provided for rehousing families displaced as a result of slum clearance. The City Surveyor drew attention to 12 houses in Victoria Road and 20 in Stanley Road which have no hot water supply, no bath or lavatory basin, nor a deep sink with trapped water. Hot water can only be obtained by means of solid fuel or gas copper.

1954 12 01
Cambridge councillors suggest that 20 cottages fronting to East Road, 18 of which are empty, should be developed as soon as possible by the erection of flats. Under the new Development Plan East Road would become a trunk road and with the construction of the Chesterton Bridge the amount of traffic would greatly increase. This would cause a considerable widening and the possible construction of dual carriageways which would leave very little of the site of the cottages available for development.

1954 12 01

The Ministry of Housing is prepared to hand over the emergency housing units on Donkey Common to Cambridge city council. Planning permission for the continued use of the huts as living accommodation has been given until 30th September 1957 or until such time as major repairs are required. The huts can then be removed and the land reinstated as a public open space.

Question time, p9
Julia Gray, 109, p9

1954 12 03
A Vampire jet aircraft from RAF Oakington attempting to land on a disused runway at Bourn aerodrome overshot and crashed across the main Cambridge to St Neots Road. It landed in a field and burst into flames. The pilot managed to pull himself clear of the wreckage suffering from severe burns and was given first aid by Sister Joan Webb of the Medical Research Department of Bourn Pest Control. All that was recognisable of the wreckage was the tail assembly and jet engine propulsion unit. The pavement on the other side of the road was smashed and crumpled by the impact when the plane crashed. # c.26.1

Victoria Cinema standing, p12
Council house sales, p15
Water supply, p16

1943 12 04
Public orator, p7

1954 12 06
Cambridge Sanitary Inspectors applied for payment of overtime in respect of duties carried out at slaughterhouses outside normal hours. As from next January officers with a salary of less than £640 pa would be entitled to overtime but some payment was needed in respect of work already done. Their work was different from others as they were liable to be called out at six in the morning or on Sundays. Overtime payments would be about £100, the alternative was to appoint an extra man knowing he would not be fully employed, which was ridiculous.

1954 12 06
The Government has partially allowed an appeal by Moss (Cambridge) Ltd over two advertising boards displayed at first floor level on a shop in Hills Road. It says that one of them seriously detracts from the appearance of the building. The premises are at a busy junction in a mixed locality. On the opposite side are two large garages and a parade of shops. To the north the road crosses over the railway and adjoining the bridge are the rail goods yards and the market. There are large advertising hoardings on each side of the bridge and numerous other advertisements on buildings in the vicinity

1954 12 09
Home Guard party, p5
Storm, p9

1954 12 10
Cambridge M. P. Hamilton Kerr has received numerous letters from occupiers of shops and offices anxious about the effects of re-valuation. These are going to be assessed on present-day values whereas dwelling-houses will be based on 1939 values. This is because owing to the acute housing shortage since the war there has been no normal market in houses to give a reliable indication of true values. In some areas houses are deliberately undervalued and industrial premises assessed on a favoured basis to attract industry. It is 20 years since the last valuation and further delay will prolong countless anomalies and blatant injustices.

Littleport farm sale, p7

1954 12 11
Caius war memorial, p13

1954 12 13
Barton school extension, p9

1954 12 14
It was a really grand and successful annual show and sale organised by the Cambridge Fat Stock Show Society, but typically it had to rain. Nevertheless farmers and visitors kept up a steady attendance. By far the most outstanding entries were in the carcass competition – the first held outside Smithfield. The champion prize was won by Stanley Hoy of Holland Hall, Melbourn, with an Aberdeen-Angus polled steer while Messrs L. Shepperson of March won the class for the best heifer, horned or de-horned with no more than two broad teeth.

1954 12 15
Trumpington industrial hostel is one of the few remaining hostels opened in 1947 to accommodate Poles from the Polish Resettlement Corps on the transfer to civilian status. It has continued as an industrial hostel with Polish residents numbering more than half the total. The 130 residents are employed locally but it is a costly business and it will shortly be closed. Many of those displaced will probably find lodgings with other Polish workers who have homes in the neighbourhood.

1954 12 17
Electricity supplies have been inadequate in the Newmarket area for some time but now a large bulk supply point has been installed at Fulbourn Old Drift and fed from the Barford Power Station. For months the huge overhead lines have been making their way across country. Previously the initial 132,000 volts supply had to be transferred down to 33,000 volts and carried overland but now with the new high tension system it will reach Fulbourn at the maximum level. It will help areas that have previously suffered from a serious drop in voltage during winter months.

Newmarket lights, p17
Kerridges, p17

1954 12 18
Dustman's Ball, p8

1954 12 20
Henry Morris retires, p4

1954 12 21
Canberra explosion, p8

1954 12 22
Village collegs, Swavesey & Soham, p8

1954 12 23
One cold December night just before Christmas 1933 a dozen motor cycling enthusiasts gathered in a room over a public house in Chesterton and decided to form the Centaur Motor Cycle Club. Pre-war it was mainly a social club catering for the weekend rider. With war came petrol rationing and shortage of oil but the club somehow kept going. In 1945 it began to get back on its feet, organising the first scramble at Caxton. They then pioneered events such as trials, grass track racing and sidecar events. Now, 21 years later, over 160 members crowded into the Dorothy Restaurant to celebrate the club's coming-of-age

1954 12 23

Saying farewell to Mr Henry Morris who is retiring from the post of Chief Education Officer after 34 years the County Council presented him with a portable typewriter and a filing cabinet. He had seen that modern transport which would otherwise transform the countryside into a widespread suburb and the rural hinterland into a cultural void, could be harnessed to create a rural region for the provision of educational and social amenities. He created the Village College as a rural community centre providing facilities for the countryman as good as those offered in towns. He had reinvigorated the school curriculum, improved the quality of teaching and established school gardens at Bottisham and Bassingbourn. – 54 12 23

Flood alert, p1
Centaur Motor Cycle club, p4
Soham Grammar School hall, p5
Bourn school, p8

1954 12 24
About 400 youngsters crowed into the Rex Cinema, Cambridge, to enjoy a special party for members of the Roy Rogers Club. After seeing a rip-roaring six-shooting picture of cowboys and their hosses the delighted youngsters raced into the Ballroom for the grand party. Everyone received a special Christmas letter from their cowboy hero: 'Howdy Boys and Girls. It sure is swell to send you personal greetings from Dale, Trigger, Bullet and the whole gang. Wishing you wagon loads of fun and a happy trails in the coming year'. The letter was signed by Roy and his 'four-legged friend', Trigger

1954 12 28
For 240 patients at Addenbrooke's Hospital Christmas was anything but a disappointment and one man said it was one of the best he had ever spent. All the wards were decorated on different and original themes; Bowtell Ward had been transformed into a zoo, an animal guarded each bed and there were pink elephants in the corner. Griffiths Ward depicted almost every kind of winter sport, Albert was a mass of inn signs with a stuffed fox suspended from the ceiling, and there were gay coloured candles round a red brick fireplace in Tipperary, which was turned into 'Fallow Wick Inn'.

1954 12 28 c
Although there were four babies born at the Cambridge Maternity Hospital on Christmas day, not one was given a seasonable name. The first to arrive was Susan Ellis of Beche Road, then Graham Child of Cherry Hinton followed by Peter Michael Jones of Sawston and Jeremy David Pratt of Hills Road, Cambridge.

1954 12 28 c
The Mayor of Saffron Walden made a public 'draw' for tickets for the Wilfred Pickles' "Have a Go" radio show. Fifty people sat and shivered in the Corn Exchange; the wind blew and frequent bursts of rain through the roof damped the clothes if not the spirits of those who sat waiting expectantly. The BBC had issued 300 tickets for the Town Hall and 200 for the Corn Exchange and the best thing was to draw for them. Lists of successful applicants will be displayed outside the Town Hall and the town office of the CDN

1954 12 29
After the best-selling year for nylons there are even better prospects for 1955. Sales for Christmas were colossal, as stockings were a favourite present from men to women. By the spring one will be able to walk into a shop and ask for the brand we like in the colour, denier and leg length. The 12 denier 'invisible' stockings will be joined by a new luxury kind called 'super-invisible. They are nine denier but don't expect to see many because there are only a few machines in this country on which they can be made

1954 12 30
Student inquest, p4

1954 12 31
Stolen bus, p9

1954 12 31 ES
Thetford Christmas Day fire, Halfway House. 54 12 31ES *

Soham Grammar new Assembly Hall sanctioned. 54 12 31ES

1955 Cambridge Daily News & Cambridge Independent Press & Ely Standard

January to December 1955

Note: CDN articles were copied digitally. The dates for the stories are given at the end of each entry

January 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 01 03
Henry Wilkin, chief clerk of Cambridgeshire County Council, has retired after 55 years' service. At the age of 13 he had entered the office of a solicitor who in 1899 became Clerk to the Council, starting his career with local government and receiving five shillings a week out of which he had to hire a barrow to take books to the council office. He had served under three clerks, Samuel Ginn, Ashley Tabrum and Charles Phythian. He was presented with a small walnut bureau and a Westminster chiming grandmother clock. # c.35.1

1955 01 05
Wilfred Pickles' "Have a Go" radio programme was broadcast from Papworth when he probed into the private lives of six of the inhabitants of the Settlement. It was the first time the programme had visited a tuberculosis centre and the most memorable interview was with the Matron, Miss Robinson, who told of her work; her great sincerity and understanding must have impressed many people. Also on the programme were Jackie Hobbs, John Mead, Joseph French the transport manager, David Wilkie and Charles Benstead who had been in the Settlement 26 years to the day. He won the jackpot of £2 15s.5d. and a Papworth pullet.

1955 01 06
Nearly 50 strangely-clad figures could be seen in gas masks and yellow capes at the University Laboratories in Pembroke Street. All were highly qualified chemists and scientists, members of the Civil Defence Corps receiving instruction in a mobile gas chamber where paralysing nerve gas was sprayed on them and they made various tests, fully protected by special protective clothing. Unprotected persons would be sick and the gas would cause blindness. They also received instruction in atomic warfare and chemistry. – 55 01 06 # c.45.8

1955 01 07 CIP
Have a go visits Papworth p1
Review of 1954 property p8
Dr Adrian becomes a Baron p13
Nerve gas instruction p13
H.W. Wilkin retires as Chief Clerk, County Council after 55 years p15

1955 01 07 ES
National Provincial Bank Ely to open. 55 01 07ES

1955 01 08
Two social functions at Dale's Brewery, Cambridge tempted hard-headed businessmen to drive twenty miles through snow. They were beer-sampling evenings. Now that draught been is no longer brewed there Whitbread made arrangements for members of service messes, clubs and university bars to taste their best ale, bitter and Burton draught beer. Other arrangements will be made for licensed houses. The famous Gwydir Street premises with its landmark of a Gold Cup on the roof will now only be used as a free trade bottling store.

1955 01 10
The old dramatic clubs are faced with serious competition with the formation of the Magpie Players who presented their first play at the Queen Edith School. The play was not a particularly good one and depends on swift production. That it was not produced with the necessary speed was partly due to the direction and partly to one player who was not quite at home with his words. But this was the only fault.

1955 01 11
Mustard gas exploded at Lord's Bridge RAF station after fire broke out in a hangar. The gas, left over from the last war, was being used for experimental purposes. It was being disposed of gradually with the last 125 tons stored in a sunken concrete container. An area was cordoned off and fire tenders were quickly in attendance. It is anticipated that the fire would have destroyed any effects of the gas but medical authorities warned local civilians that if they suffered any reddening of the skin they could obtain immediate medical attention from the RAF. – 55 01 11# c.45.8

1955 01 12
A builder appealed for permission to erect a house on land adjoining Willingham Green, Weston Colville. There had been cottages on the site that were demolished some time ago. He was willing to give a piece of land to construct a lay-by so that vehicles could park off the road, which was not a busy one. But the planners said that it was on a dangerous bend, if granted they could not refuse permission to anyone else and houses would spring up on either side.

Christ's Pieces tree, p9
Cambridge United stand, p11

1955 01 13
Complaints of hooliganism and late-night disturbances were aired at a stormy meeting to discuss parking arrangements for Magrath Avenue, Cambridge. The longest tirade came from one lady who said her husband was a working man and unable to get a proper night's sleep as the men outside were half drunk and the women a darned sight worse. New proposals would create parking spaces in front of the Rex Cinema and in Clare Street so as to avoid people blocking the back entrances to houses.

Canberra crash, p4

1955 01 14
Cottenham tour, p12

1955 01 14 CIP
Mustard gas explosion, Lords Bridge p1
Draught beer no longer brewed by Dales p11
Canberra crash Bassingbourn - inquest p20

1955 01 15
Complaints of flooding in the Hauxton Mill to Shelford area have been investigated and the River Cam will be dredged to eliminate the risk of summer flooding. No such scheme for improvement has previously ever been undertaken by the Great Ouse Catchment Board. The proposed by-pass at Barton Mills would involve a dual-carriageway bridge directly over the lock gate and reduce the length of the lock by 25 feet. But there was no active navigation on this part of the River Lark and a combined bridge and sluice structure could be built.

1955 01 17
Road conditions were so bad on Sunday night that all Cambridgeshire police cars were called in and this morning the roads were still very dangerous. At Earith the road is flooded to a depth of ten inches. There was one early-morning bather at Jesus Green swimming bath, but he declined to give his name. He took his dip in water which was just four degrees above freezing!

1955 01 17
Mr Ernest Saville Peck, a former Mayor of Cambridge, has died. He had a long and distinguished career in all those spheres in which he chose to work. He adorned all offices he held and some of his activities reached the very top rung of the ladder. Born in 1866 he entered the old-established pharmaceutical business owned by his father. During the first War he inaugurated an anti-gas school and having studied gas warfare in France was sent to America to assist in the training of gas defensive measures there. He was the first President of the Cambridge Rotary Club and founder member of the Air Training Corps

1955 01 17
A Cottenham man, H.A. Harvey, is planning to run a 'Poor Man's Tour' to the Continent by luxury coach. A Belgian tour will cost £22 and people could be picked up at Histon. This will save having to make a horrifying journey across London to reach the coach station. But Barton Transport, Eastern Counties and Mr H. Richmond objected. One said that in spite of wide advertising last year they had only received six firm bookings and there was not a great deal of Continental traffic from Cambridge. British Railways say that they would not expect a great demand for excursions in this area.

1955 01 18
Members of the Labour Party fought their way through a snowstorm to get to a ceremony at which the Labour Hall was re-named the Alex Wood Memorial Hall in memory of one of Cambridge's most prominent socialists. Speakers paid tribute to Dr Wood, who was bracketed by Mrs Leah Manning – founder member of the Cambridge Labour Party – with Dr Albert Schweitzer and Mahatma Gandhi because of his 'overwhelming love for humanity'. In the early days the Party was not in very great repute and many who belonged to it were not held in great repute either, she said. # c.33

Street lighting, p10

1955 01 19
Arbury land, p12

1955 01 21
Ely is the only town which has done nothing at all in the way of providing parking facilities and motorists should boycott it in order to get the situation improved, the Chief Constable said. On Market Day the High Street was choc-a-block with cars parked bumper to bumper down both sides, leaving a narrow channel for vehicles to pass down the middle. It was very dangerous for ladies with prams and pedestrians trying to cross. It was the same in Market Street and in Nutholt Lane, the main approach to the sugar beet factory, they found cattle floats parked forcing many drivers to get on the pavement when meeting approaching vehicles. "Half of Ely is taken up by the Cathedral and its grounds and I have only the other half to use for parking and this is comprised of narrow streets", he complained. 55 01 21c

1955 01 21
A proposal to sell up to 300 plots of the Arbury Road housing estate for private building was question by City Councillors. Messrs Mowlem had asked for plots for 100 houses and William Sindall were interested in another 29 fronting Arbury Road. The council was faced with slum clearance and would have to buy land to re-house the people displaced. The Housing Committee existed to provide as many houses for people as possible and if builders offered to erect 300 houses with subsidy, without adding to the rates or national taxation then they could to welcome them. But people affected by slum clearance would not be able to afford these houses. 55 01 21 # c.23

1955 01 21 CIP
Fen skating p1
Canon Stockwood appointed vicar GSM 1
Death E.S. Peck, former Mayor p13

1955 01 21 ES
Parson Drove vicar, Fred Halliwell, death. 55 01 21(3)ES

1955 01 22
Cambridge has a new publishing company. The Golden Head Press has been formed to promote the production of fine books with original subject matter that for economic reasons would normally fall outside the province of larger publishers. It has been run on a limited scale by Mr Raymond Lister but with its formation into a company the scope may be widened. The Chairman is Dr Philip Grosse, a Trinity don well known for his 'History of Piracy' and the secretary A.K. Astbury is a London journalist. 55 01 22a

1955 01 26
Pye Telecommunications has just despatched the first consignment of equipment to the Sui Gas pipeline in West Pakistan. It includes an extensive communications system providing speech and teleprinter channels, a fixed-to-mobile scheme giving complete coverage of the pipeline route and a duplex HF radio-telephone between Karachi and Sui. Last year a team of Pye engineers completed a survey of the route and in a few weeks the installation team will be flying out for the final stage of the contract. 55 01 26

E.S. Peck, p6

1955 01 28
The Bishop's Palace at Ely was requisitioned by the War Office in 1943 for use as a convalescent home and since then the Bishop has been living in the old Deanery. Now the Church Commissions have agreed to purchase the Deanery and make it the official residence. They will also take over full responsibility for the Palace, now used as a school for crippled girls. There will be regrets but it is no longer appropriate for a Minister of the Gospel to live in such as house as the Palace. 55 01 28

1955 01 28 CIP
City bid to quash County Development Plan fails p10
Attempt remove US Hospital from Wimpole Hall p13

1955 01 28 ES
Prickwillow fire. 55 01 28ES

1955 01 29
Cambridge and District Co-operative Society has introduced flavoured milk. Though not an entirely new drink the local Co-op is the only Society to produce it at present. It is produced at their Sleaford Street dairy and is made from 86 per cent full cream pasteurised milk, sugar and flavouring. It is available in strawberry, banana, orange, raspberry and pineapple flavours and contained in third-pint bottles which sell at fourpence each. 55 01 29

Bourn Home Guard, p9
Teversham Road, p9

1955 01 31
Sandy Floral and Horticultural Society is to be wound up after 80 years due to lack of interest and rising costs. It had a wonderful name throughout the county but the number of members kept dropping and it would be a waste of time and money to hold further meetings. Now was the time to wind up while they were still solvent. It had enjoyed a glorious existence. Hardly a catalogue of any sort was produced nowadays without something which had first been shown at Sandy show appearing in it. They had had some wonderful shows and magnificent exhibits. The cups which were valued at £190 should not be disposed of as scrap 55 01 31

February 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 02 02

Plans are going ahead for the new Arbury Road Estate which should in time take a large bite out of Cambridge's 4,337 housing waiting list. Stage one will include about 240 houses, flats and bungalows; a shopping centre; two churches (Church of England and Methodist); a cinema and a public house. Already roads and sewers have been laid and it is hoped to start building some of the houses this year. But the shops will be a longer-job and will be built to keep pace with the demand. The new Primary School should be occupied this September. The land to the south of Arbury Road will ultimately accommodate 1,600 families in Council and privately-owned houses and it is possible the land to the north may be developed along the same lines. 55 02 02

1955 02 02
Flames shot 30 feet into the air as a Vampire Jet aircraft crashed in Landbeach, narrowly missing the church, school and rectory. Villagers crowded round the Rectory paddock where the plane fell. The crash stopped at meeting of the Women's Institute in the Rectory; the ladies ran out and saw the planes in flames but when they found they could not help they resumed their meeting. The body of the pilot was found almost at the door of the church, about 50 yards from the aircraft. 55 02 02a

1955 02 04 CIP
Plane missed church and school, Landbeach p1 & p11
Home Guard Bourn HQ opened p16
Cambs & Hunts population increases - greater than rest country p9

1955 02 05
Magistrates were told that the Royal Hotel, Trumpington Street, Cambridge had been granted a restricted licence in 1938, permitting them to sell drinks to residents and persons partaking of meals, but no person could go in solely for a drink. This could now be waived. It caused the management some embarrassment. The hotel was a convenient place for motorists and passers-by and to go to other hotels a driver had to plunge into the centre of the town with its maze of one-way streets. Guests came from Addenbrooke's Hospital and Brooklands Avenue. It would not become 'a drinking house camouflaged as a residential hotel'. 55 02 05

1977 02 07
The Persian Ambassador visited Cambridge to mark the inauguration of the University Iran Association which aimed to introduce undergraduates to Iranian culture, politics and social structure. People had heard of Persian carpets and Persian cats and some were aware of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, but that was as far as it went. Iran's own university had established scholarships for Persians who wished to study in Cambridge & he expressed gratitude for the facilities provided for Iranian studies. 55 02 07

1955 02 07
Customers at the 'Three Tuns', Willingham continually asked for 'shorts', the licensee, Percy Collett, told magistrates when applying for a full licences instead of his existing beer-only one. It was one of the better houses and the demand for wine and spirits justified it. The application was granted after police had no objections. The licence for the 'Ringers Rest' in the village was temporarily transferred from Vivian Hadden to Arthur Sewell. 55 02 07a

1955 02 07
The Seaber Café at Red Lodge, Freckenham, a well-known roadside 'pull-up' on the main Norwich to Newmarket Road was almost gutted by fire. Just after eight o'clock Mr Reynard of the Road House Café opposite heard a loud explosion and saw the café was ablaze. It had been open for business during the day but was closed early that evening and the manager was away in Norwich. The explosion blew out the front and part of the side walls of the café and furniture was strewn across the car park. The cause of the explosion is being investigated 55 02 07b

1955 02 08

The number of dwellings in Cambridgeshire has doubled in 20 years, figures from the 1951 census show. Most areas have seen increases of between 20 and 30 per cent but Cambridge has increased its dwellings by 49 per cent and the adjacent Chesterton Rural District by 32 per cent. Cambridgeshire administrative county had 50,595 structurally separate dwellings including four houseboats and 259 caravans, the Isle of Ely had 27,043 including eight houseboats and 14 caravans and Huntingdonshire 19,293 including 31 boats and 132 caravans. 55 02 08

1955 02 09
When the 1951 census was take a record was made of birthplace and nationalities. From a total population in Cambridgeshire of 166,887, 158,383 were English born while 2,112 came from Scotland, 1,613 from Wales and 1,151 from the Irish Republic. There were 318 people born in the colonies and 6,476 from foreign countries including 3,757 aliens. Whereas 63 per cent of the population of the Isle of Ely were born in the county, only 47 per cent of Huntingdonshire residents were actually born there thus illustrating the expansion of the population by immigration 55 02 09

1955 02 09
The 'character' of Grange Road was an elusive quality a planning inquiry was told when a retired scientist applied to build a house in Grange Gardens, Cambridge. But the planners say the house, which is comparatively small, would not harmonise with the neighbourhood. The applicant owned one plot of land but the planners would only consent to her building on two. 'We cannot afford large houses these days; many of the existing houses had been converted into flats and were mediocre from an architectural point of view. Land is increasingly difficult to get and large and small houses should be developed, provided they were well designed', she said. 55 02 09

1955 02 11
Jawaharlad Nehru, Prime Minister of India was admitted to honorary membership of the Cambridge Union Society. He had earlier visited Trinity College where he was an undergraduate 45 years ago; since then generations of graduates had come and gone and there had been two great wars; the world had changed greatly and he wondered how people at Cambridge were changing. He was here to receive an Honorary Degree but the honorary membership of the Union Society was in a sense more precious, he said. 55 02 11

Deisel unit, p6
Lakenheath at home, p18

1955 02 12
Home Guard rocket

1955 02 14
The most 'revolutionary' and up-to-date coach in Cambridge was given its first official run. The new coach is owned by Progressive Coaches. Everything is done for passenger comfort. 'Sorbo' rubber seats have special headrests, two heaters supply warm air and radio loudspeakers are fitted along the roof. Fully-laden it travels for over 20 miles on one gallon of diesel oil as it has a two-speed electrical rear action gear device. At the flick of a switch the automatic overdrive comes into operation, reducing gear changing and wear and tear. Mr 'Paddy' Harris hopes to have a fleet of these outstanding vehicles. 55 02 14

1955 02 14
The Bishop of Masasi presided at a High Mass in the Chapel of Trinity College organised by the Cambridge branch of the Universities Mission to Central Africa. It was the first High Mass to be held there since the Reformation and the chapel was well filled by undergraduates and a large number of city people. The U.M.C.A. Missionaries originally settled on Zanzibar Island and then moved to Rhodesia, Nigeria and Tangyanika. The Diocese of Masasi was where the much-criticised ground nuts scheme started and failed because of the very poor soil. 55 02 14a

1955 02 15
It wasn't actually snowing when Jack Ellis had his swim: it was also rather warm for him at 36 degrees in the water and 30 degrees on the bank. This was nothing compared to January 29th when the temperature was 16 degrees and he had to get into the river to keep warm. Jack is 74 and the oldest of the three all-year-round bathers at Sheep's green baths. He has been swimming every day, except Sundays, since he was 65 55 02 15

1955 02 16
A Vampire jet aircraft on a training flight from Oakington crashed and exploded at Comberton, killing the pilot. Flaming twisted mangled parts of the plane carpeted a 500 yards radius, a bullock was badly injured and chickens were killed. A car was badly damaged. Pieces of the plane wreckage went through the roof of the kitchen of Fox's bridge Farmhouse where the farmer's wife was working. She described the noise as a 'terrific tornado' and flung herself down for safety. She tried to dial 999 but the telephone wires had been cut by the crashing aircraft. 55 02 16a

1955 02 16
A Meteor jet aircraft made a successful forced landing at Newmarket. The pilot informed his companion that he had run out of fuel and had to attempt a landing. He missed the racecourse runway at his first approached and was compelled to land on the Heath. The landing was perfect and the aircraft came to a halt at the finishing post on the Rowley Mile course, immediately opposite the photo-finish camera. A guard was mounted round the plane all night and the pilot took off next morning. 55 02 16b

1955 02 18
Houses in York Street were "drab and monotonous"; they were typical of the "very densely populated part of Cambridge and the sort of house you visualise when you talk of slum property", a Judge was told when a man claimed possession of a property in Milford Street. He had bought it in 1944 and now wished to live there; he'd offered the tenants alternative accommodation in York Street. But they objected to the move saying it was "a most unattractive and drab street" and that changing houses would put them "down the social scale". The Judge agreed saying the two streets were entirely different in character and the houses not in any way comparable". 55 02 18

1955 02 18
A scheme for the re-development of the Fitzroy Street area as the main commercial centre of Cambridge has been submitted by a London Architect. It is a counter-proposition to the official Development Plan which could only result in the eventual complete destruction of the essential character of the city. The greater part of the area consists of out-dated two-storey cottages with extensive yards and is largely a slum. Re-development is due and can be done without the restrictions of historical associations and high land values. There would be a series of attractive courtyards unencumbered with traffic, one of which is large enough to take the place of the present Market Hill. An essential feature of the scheme is a new thoroughfare to link Gonville Place with Victoria Avenue and complete the inner Ring Road. 55 02 18a

Comberton crash inquiry

1955 02 18 CIP
Jet crashes Comberton p1

1955 02 21
Policeman found coke in car. Two men appeared in court charged with the theft of 112 lbs of gas coke valued at 6s 6d from Mildenhall Gas Works. Police told how they stopped a car and found three bags of coke; the men claimed it was 'breeze' – a residue of coke that is sold in bulk for hardcore, but it was found to be good clean coke. Defendant said he left three empty sacks with a gas foreman on Friday and collected them again – full - on Sunday mornings. Both were convicted. 55 02 21

1955 02 23
Foxton snow photo, p7

1955 02 24
American authorities at Lakenheath and Mildenhall are to be asked to take steps to minimise the number of road accidents involving American car owners. The stretch of road from Barton Mills to Brandon has the blackest record of any in England. The hazards have been increased by Americans would are not conversant with road conditions in this country and drove left-hand drive vehicles. A number were being summonsed for road offences. A Brandon man was run into by an uninsured American. He had received £5 compensation and did not look like getting any more, yet he was incapacitated for life. None of this is calculated to improve Angl0-American relations. 55 02 24

1955 02 26
More than 100 local oarsmen gathered at the Lion Hotel to pay tribute to two Cambridgeshire Rowing Association officials, Mr Briscoe Snelson and Mr Red Alsop. They both came on the rowing scene about 1910 when there were nine clubs and 18 crews in the bumping races. At that time the Rob Roy Club had been head of the river for 14 out of the previous 15 years. From 1914 the Association was dormant for five years. It was in 1930 that the Oarmen's Service was originated; Snelson said: "I went along to see Canon Church, Rector of Fen Ditton and fixed it up. I told him we wanted to come in blazers and he replied: 'That's all right, my dear boy, come in pyjamas if you like!' 55 02 26

New Post Office, p8

March 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 03 01
Newmarket housing, p1

1955 03 04
Messrs Burtons of High Street Huntingdon applied for an off-licence in respect of wines and spirits. The branch had existed for over 50 years and because of the increasing popularity of television people spend more time at home leading to a greater demand for wines and spirits in the house. The wages of workers have increased quite a lot and they are now in a position to have the odd bottle of wine – perhaps for medicinal purposes or for a birthday. They look to their grocer to supply it on the few occasions during the year when then need it. But it was opposed by Messrs Hunter and Oliver who had an off-licence: usually when a person wanted a bottle of wine they would telephone or write a letter and it would be delivered. 55 03 04a

Ely Rural Council has received a letter from Schweppes, the London mineral water manufacturers asking whether there were any suitable sites for light industrial purposes. They are interesting in acquiring a factory in the Cambridge area and had been advised by a Board of Trade official that Ely would be a suitable place. They would require approximately three acres of ground suitable for erecting a single storey factory to bottling and distributing soft drinks. The Vice Chairman asked any member with any suggestions to let the Clerk know before he sent a reply. 55 03 04b

British Railways had considered closing the Cambridge-Mildenhall line because of its steady loss in revenue and uneconomic running costs. But now they hope that by the introduction of two-car diesel units and cheaper fares they can make the line a paying proposition. But people in Isleham had to walk to the station and in some instances this was three miles away; others had to go to Kennett station. They wanted convenience and had petitioned for a bus service. Messrs Murfet's would provide a bus into Cambridge for those who wished to shop or visit the cattle market; it would also serve Chippenham and Snailwell. 55 03 04

Beat tax – wedding, p5

1955 03 04 CIP
"America risking war in Far East" p9
Diesel cars to be introduced Mildenhall line p26 & high on branch line list 11th p16

1955 03 05
Sir - While surveying the exterior of premises over the Mac Fisheries in Petty Cury, Cambridge, I observed a row of iron spikes attached to the fascia board of the guttering. I presume they were fixed for the purpose of breaking up the large banks of snow leaving the roof and ensuring a more 'equitable distribution' on pedestrians using the pavement below. Such fittings must be something of a rarity – perhaps more observant readers can mention other buildings still retaining these spikes and enlighten me on their history – D.W. Overhill. 55 03 05

1955 03 07
A strong bleak wind driving the flames on two of a row of four thatched cottages at Fisher's Lane, Orwell, made operations difficult for the firemen. But by their combined efforts they confined the blaze to the roofs and upper rooms and completely saved the rest of the row from damage. The damaged cottages were occupied by 80 year-old Mrs Waldock and Mr & Mrs Titchmarsh. They were able to escape without injury and a band of willing helpers did what they could to rescue belongings until the arrival of the appliances. 55 03 07

Saffron Walden school open, p5

1955 03 11
Cambridge University Airborne Club organised a parachute jump from a balloon on the Pemberton Estate. In the first cage for jumping, which took place from the usual height of 800 feet, were four regular soldiers; they were followed by 28 members of the Airborne Club in drops of five, all of whom were attached to regiments of the 16th Parachute Division, Territorial Army. The wind was quite sharp and gusty and most of those who landed were dragged yards by their inflated canopies. Quite a crowd of spectators gathered to watch the descents and many cars and lorries were drawn up on the Trumpington Road. All ended happily, with a cup of tea. 55 03 11

A scheme for setting back and improving the banks of the Ely Ouse and Ten Mile River should be finished by 1958 and coincide with the completion of the Relief Channel. Homes accommodating 53 people are scheduled for demolition at Littleport and it is imperative that steps now be taken to provide new housing for them. If farm buildings are to be demolished early in 1956 farmers should be given notice so they have time to make alternative arrangements. 55 03 11a

Dimock, Stretham hairdresser, p19

1955 03 11 CIP
"Towards European unity p18
The Chesterton RDC "Kremlin" [21

1955 03 14
Sandy McPhearson, p5

1955 03 15
With the big top a blaze of coloured lights, people streamed to Midsummer Common to fill Chipperfields' Circus to capacity. It is the first time any circus has presented such a varied collection of animals, which include camels, llamas, zebras, a giraffe and Indian pythons. Polar bears are difficult to tame but Ricardo gets them to waltz, the black and grizzly bears delight the children, especially when one drinks a bottle of milk. The African lions were a little restless and snarled at Ricardo, but he made them form a pyramid and then lie at his feet. The seals balanced balls, the poodles rode a pony and one of the elephants even did a handstand. 55 03 15a

Plans for a new assize court at the Cambridge Guildhall would entail the entire rebuilding of a large proportion of the existing structure; there would be parking and traffic problems, though these would be eased with the Lion Yard multi-deck car park. The Council would be prepared to lease the premises occupied by the Library Department and the city sessions court could be used on payment of an agreed sum. 55 03 15 c

1955 03 16
The Belfast Linen shop is celebrating its jubilee. 50 years ago a young man of 23 cycled into Cambridge with £100 in his pocket and an ambition to start his own business. He was Harry Nichols. He took an empty shop in Regent Street and Belfast Linen Warehouses had begun. It was not all easy going and there were times when he could not even afford to buy a new suit. It is still a family concern. Royalty, famous hotels and colleges are among his patrons and the R.101 airship on its ill-fated flight had sheets and towels supplied by the firm. 55 03 16a

At present there are three factories in Haverhill but they used mainly female labour; now the council is seeking to attract industries which employ men. They will develop two industrial sites and provide homes for key workers. Aware the under the County Development Plan new industries are limited in Cambridge they have suggested to the City Council that any suitable applications be referred to them. This approach has been welcomed. 55 03 16b

Cambridge Gas Works is progressing with its new retort house near the Newmarket Road end of River Lane. The interior of the old disused retort house has been completely demolished and the new one should be completed by 1957. Coal will then flow into the retorts through closed hoppers and the coke will be extracted already quenched, eliminating a prolific source of dust and grit which has caused complaints from nearby residents. 55 03 16c

W. James leaves City Library, p11

1955 03 17
Cambridgeshire Regiment airborne

1955 03 18 ES
Ely photographer L.H. Salmon, proprietor of Starr & Rignall president EA Centre of Institute of British Photographers. 55 03 18ES *

Stretham Labour Party formed. 55 03 18(2)ES

1955 03 19
Three cottages in Gloucester Street have been purchased by the County Council who will demolish them to facilitate access to the land at the rear of Shire Hall. The cottages would shortly come outside the control of the Rents Act and they wanted to obtain possession. Until ready to start the proposed improvements they will use one of the cottages as temporary office accommodation. The present occupants will be rehoused in a Council house. 55 03 19

1955 03 20
Cambridge's New Theatre has introduced stereophonic sound for a production of 'Las Vegas'. There is nothing really revolutionary about the system which consists of a series of loudspeakers hung in various parts of the auditorium through which the voices of American singing stars are relayed as a background to the action on the stage. But it does show enterprise on the part of the producers and enterprise of any kind should be encouraged. 55 03 20

1955 03 21
The reflection of the sun's rays from a mirror upon some curtains, causing them to smoulder and ignite, is thought to have caused a fire which broke out at The Towers at Seward's End, Saffron Walden. Appreciable damage was done but it was confined to one of the towers. Some firemen entered the turret and pulling the plaster from the walls found a beam alight. They put it out with a patent extinguisher. 55 03 21

1955 03 22
Cambridge will be the first city to show Marlon Brando's new film 'The Wild One', which looked as if it would not be seen in Britain at all. The film censor refused to give any certificate saying was too brutal and might have a bad effect on young people. But the proprietor of the Rex Cinema, Mr George Webb, asked the film people to send him a copy of the film and invited Cambridge magistrates to view it. They have granted it a local 'X' certificate. Columbia Film Company will ask British Railways to arrange special trains to Cambridge during the run. The story concerns a gang of young hooligans who terrorise a town because of the weakness by the local policeman. 55 03 22

The new Highway Code – a penny-worth of multi-coloured good advice to all road users – had its official regional launching at Cambridge Guildhall. It took ten months to print the 10,000,000 copies which have started to flood the country; each copy cost the Ministry of Transport 2½d to print which meant a loss of 1½d a copy. Highlight of the evening was the presentation to the Mayor of Cambridge by two local schoolchildren, Gillian Layton and Peter Bowles, of copies autographed by the Minister of Transport. 55 03 22a

1955 03 24
Obscene publications, p9

1955 03 25 CIP
Cambridge to be first place to see Brando film "Wild One" which looked as if might have been banned
No earlier opening p15
New Highway Code regional launch p18
Bill Whittaker resigns as player-manager Cambridge United p19
Local sappers in Korea p28

1955 03 26
Cambridge Folk Museum Council have made attempts to make the long-delayed move to Abbey House which was purchased for the Museum in 1946, but have found it quite impossible to proceed on financial grounds. So they have decided to give the tenants a five-year lease, as it was obvious they could not move there for some time to come. The Museum has received a gratifying number of accessions including a fine collection of 150 photographs taken by the late Dr Frank Robinson. 55 03 26a

1955 03 27
Rail changes, p3

1955 03 28
Stationmasters were told that they have been Cinderellas for long enough and should take everything that is coming. It would take some time before modernisation could fully come into being but next year a scheme will start in Cambridge for a diesel yard. Electrification will take place in due course, but must take its place with other urgent schemes. People were always complaining about the lack of courtesy on the railways and very few letters of appreciation were received. 55 03 28

1955 03 29
With the installation of Perspecta Stereophonic Sound, a vivid realism hitherto unknown in film entertainment is to be introduced to the patrons of Cambridge's Regal Cinema. Chosen to introduce this very latest development in the cinema world is the film 'Seven Brides for Seven Brothers'. Until now the Regal has been equipped with loud speakers behind only the centre of the screen. Now the sound will come from the exact places on the giant screen where the action indicates them and will give a new and higher quality of sound reproduction. 55 03 29b

April 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 04 01
Paxton Park Maternity Home is to close in September. It was taken over as an emergency war-time measure but does not provide suitable accommodation and has inadequate sewage disposal arrangements. It is hoped to erect a maternity block at the Huntingdon County Hospital but in the meantime they will use the Isolation Hospital. In the event of an emergency they can call on the facilities of the Huntingdon General Hospital. 55 04 01

On the four main roads leading into Ely are 'Welcome to Ely' signs but some practical joker has decided to give a different twist to two of them. Immediately above the 'Welcome' sign has been hung a cardboard notice bearing the words 'If you want it you are'. Below it another sign reads 'We are fed up with it'. The notices have been removed by the police 55 04 01b

1955 04 02
Clay pigeons, p10

1955 04 05
Cambridge City Chess Club celebrated its Diamond Jubilee. It was formed in 1895 by an amalgamation of the senior University Club, the Dons' Club and a group of town players centred around Mr E.H. Church at the Conservative Club. When in 1941 it was bombed out of its temporary playing quarters in Mr Church's house the Mayor arranged for it to meet at the Scouts' Headquarters in Grafton Street. In 60 years it had only had three Presidents: Mr Gunston, Mr Church and Mr H.B. Coulson. 55 04 05

The death has occurred of Mr Meridith Watling of Cambridge, a well-known landscape painter. A native of King's Lynn he developed his interest in art during early boyhood. His intense love for the grandeur of the East Anglian skies enabled him to depict many simple subjects with characteristic individuality and were it not for his innate modesty which prevented him from exhibiting at major exhibitions his work would have become more widely known. His paintings have been frequently shown in Cambridge and sent to many parts of the Commonwealth 55 04 05b

Laurie's advert, p11

1955 04 06
One of the most remarkable developments in film technique is Perspecta Stereophonic sound which was displayed to invited guests at Cambridge's Regal Cinema. This new and revolutionarily piece of equipment marks yet one step further in the development of film technique as an art. The visitors were also initiated into the mystery of how the size of the screen is changed to allow for the showing of popular Cinemascope films. 55 04 06

1955 04 07
A Gamlingay councillor asked whether South Cambs RDC had powers to refuse permission to a horde of caravanners who had managed to beat the Planning Committee. They were told that their site should be hidden from the road and then put up ten feet of zinc which made it even more hideous. He referred to a bungalow they had built with their own labour which he called 'a monstrosity'. Now two more parties have pitched into fields and are going to be as much nuisance as the others. 'If we allow two more places like the one we have got then Gamlingay will not be worth living in', he complained. But the Council's Sanitary Officer said that provided they complied with Public Health regulations they were obliged to issue a licence. 55 04 07a

Cambridge Chamber of Commerce is concerned over the 'No Parking' signs which have appeared in the vicinity of Market Hill. They have been erected to discourage stallholders from using the roadway opposite their stalls as their own private parking space. There were lines of lorries monopolising this part of town and used as temporary warehouses for supplying the stalls. But it also greatly inconvenienced shoppers who wished to leave their cars for a short time and some form of restricted parking would be better. 55 04 07b

1955 04 08 CIP
Protest at No Parking signs Market Hill p1
Move to increase minimum bus fares p1

1955 04 09
When Sir Winston Churchill came to Cambridge in June 1946 to receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters, the Public Orator saluted him as the greatest man of his age and the shaper of its history. Now on his retirement as Prime Minister that appraisal has been echoed around the world. Tributes have come from all parties but London newspapers, which have been critical of him on many occasions, could not report the news because of a dispute. I suspect the puckish side of Sir Winston derived a certain amount of secret amusement at their plight. 55 04 09

1955 04 11
A woman and two children were injured at the Cambridgeshire Hunt Point-to-Point Races at Hemingford Abbots when Beacon Ring failed to jump a fence and went into a crowd of 100 spectators. The race is recognised as being hard and gruelling and was made more so due to recent heavy rains. As the race went on several horses fell and others dropped out so there were only four as the winning post came into sight. 55 04 11b

Stretham accident, p5

1955 04 13
Police Sergeant Harold Holden was on the Cambridge traffic patrol when it first started and was in charge until wireless was introduced into police vehicles. In 1946 he passed the 1st Class Police Driver's Test and has been instructing and examining police drivers. Now on his retirement he will run his own Driving School using a Ford Anglia with dual controls. His mother was one of the first women to hold a driving licence in 1908 and taught driving during the First World War. 55 04 13

Elsworth scramble, p4

1955 04 15
Two men were fined £10 each for stealing 16 sacks of Brussels sprouts from a field at Ashwell. When the field was ready men were engaged as pickers on piecework. Each 20 lb bag was weighed, piled in the field and then taken by tractor to the roadside where it was removed by lorry. As the result of information received police stopped their van and caught the men red-handed. They had taken the sprouts from a field at Moggs Hole and were going to sell them to a man in Beeston 55 04 15a

Royston is to have an important new industry. Messrs Johnson Matthew & Co., engineers in and refiners of precious metals in various forms, propose to establish a chemical centre on the industrial site. This must be encouraging to all those who wish to see the town develop in the best way, for such an undertaking must bring many benefits in its train. They will employ some 250 some of whom will be local people. Roystonians will welcome the Company and receive their employees into the family community. 55 04 15b

Cambridge fish and chip sellers have called the national newspaper strike 'a catastrophe'. Many London chippies are running a 'bring your own paper' campaign. Comics are no good as they are too small. The C.D.N. is in great demand but chip shops say they are fighting a losing battle with the housewife who relies on it for her fires, and things are getting difficult. Mr W. Wade of Mill Road says he can visualise people coming to collect fish suppers in a soup tureen or saucepan. 55 04 15

1955 04 15 ES
Pymoor new council houses. 55 04 15(2)ES

Two Meteor jet planes from Waterbeach collide mid-air at Thorney. 55 04 15(3)ES # c.26.1

1955 04 16
Following a six-week run at London's Windmill Theatre, Mr Len Tibbs of Cherryhinton Road, is to make his first television appearance. He is a very popular pianist and concert arranger but will appear in the role of comedian in 'Show Case', a most popular show for artists who have not previously appeared on tv. Cambridge audiences who have long laughed with this clever and perceptive comedian will wish him luck and will be in front of their screens when he steps before the camera. 55 04 16

1955 04 19
Fred Emney, p5

1955 04 21
After completing his visit to Aero Research Ltd of Duxford the Duke of Edinburgh had a big surprise for his hosts. As he walked towards the 'Whirlwind' helicopter which was to take him back to Windsor he invited them to take a joy ride in the aircraft. The Duke, smiling broadly, stood by as Dr de Bruyne, the managing director and Mr Needham the chairman climbed aboard with their wives and then watched as it took off in a huge cloud of dust and circled the area. They declared the 'flip' a wonderful treat and the Duke appeared thoroughly pleased. 55 04 21a

1955 04 22
Stansted is the nearest international airport to Cambridge and serves as the operations base for many passenger and troop charter flights. Air Charter, Skyways and Scottish Aviation have large maintenance facilities there. But one of the saddest sights is the line-up of long-fuselage Tudor airlines; ominously marked 'slave only' these impressive machines have reached the final resting-places in their sad careers. Based upon the Lincoln bomber it was found uneconomical to operate because of its high fuel consumption. 55 04 22

Chesterton R.D.C. received a letter from Addenbrooke's to say that cases of diphtheria would no longer be admitted to the hospital. There were outbreaks at Impington and Trumpington, the fourth in the village. The provision of an isolation hospital had been postponed for a long time, with the object of avoiding expense but was now imperative. They could erect one at a cost of about £650 which would meet the needs of the district for a long time to come. 55 04 22b

1955 04 22 CIP
"Glen Miller" film band coming to Oakington p5

1955 04 22 ES
Sedge Fen Social Centre reopens. 55 04 22ES *

Stretham:
Village Memorial Hall: after war scheme begun to build Village Memorial Hall; public meeting; £1,000 must be raised before a grant. Hoped to have hall Lt Thetford. As school might become vacant in few years it suggested to raise money for purchase and convert into hall at less cost. Had been various schemes over recent years but difficult to use that money for anything else, namely a Village Hall. 55 04 22(2)ES

Parson Drove vicar's death: Fred Halliwell. 55 04 22(3)ES

1955 04 23
Thirty-four zebra crossing beacons have been damaged or stolen in Cambridge since the beginning of the year. Police saw an undergraduate jump into the air and pull a beacon towards him, and it broke off. When questioned the lad had said, “My name is John Smith. Can we fix it between us so the college doesn’t get to know?” He told the court “I suppose I did it; but I had too much to drink that night”. He was fined £2. 55 04 23

1955 04 25
Swimming baths, p8

1955 04 26
At the last two sales of machinery at Cambridge Cattle Market there has been considerable congestion in all the main roads and residents complained that nearly 600 cars had been parked in the streets in addition to more than 1,000 in the market car parks. The City Surveyor suggested demolishing loose boxes and a Nissen hut to provide 250 more spaces. The machinery sales were probably the largest in the world attracting buyers from overseas. About 250 tractors were refused for sale owing to the lack of space. 55 04 26

1955 04 27
Arbury new school, p9

1955 04 29
No. 7963 is the number which Mrs Claudette Kennedy of Eltisley Avenue, Cambridge will always bear as a reminder of four terrible years spent in the concentration camp of Auschwitz-Birkenau. At this camp alone four million people died. She survived because of her knowledge of biology and was put to work in a large synthetic rubber factory, extracting rubber from dandelions. She escaped after guards took fright at the advancing allied armies and made her way to Paris where she was reunited with her small son. After the war she came to Cambridge for an International conference on biochemistry where she met her husband. 55 04 29a & b

A mixed throng of 1,400 people revelled to non-stop music by the U.S. Air Force ‘Glenn Miller’ Band in the N.A.A.F.I. canteen at Oakington R.A.F. station. It was this band that starred in the film hit ‘The Glenn Miller Story’ and many of the players were recognised. From the moment the band struck up it made an enthralling impact on the audience with the old favourites including ‘String of Pearls’, ‘In the Mood’ and ‘Night and Day’. The audience was one of the warmest and most receptive the band has met in their travels. 55 04 29 c & d

Cambridge City Council has decided to proceed with the erection of an indoor swimming bath on Donkey Common. It is to be used for swimming only and not for dances, concerts or meetings. But some objected as they wanted to preserve all the open spaces they could. There were sometimes as many as ten cricket matches on Parker’s Piece and Donkey common was a place where mothers could allow their children to play in safety avoiding the flying cricket balls. The huts had been placed there as a war-time expedient and it should be returned to its former state. 55 04 29e

1955 04 29 CIP
Guildhall for assize court not practical p1 & p17
Toll of Zebra beacons p7
Soham new fire station to open p8
"Non-smokers should have alternative" - WI
New Highway Code in brisk supply p26

1955 04 29 ES
Squad Leader Ken Wallis of Ely force-lands plane in Mill Hill. 55 04 29ES

Prickwillow Methodist Church schoolroom opening. 55 04 29(2)ES

Ely West Fen camp fire in kitchen hut. 55 04 29(4)ES

1955 04 30
Gibbs book, p18

May 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 05 02
The County Council agreed that an assize court on the Guildhall site was not practical. When the City had suggested the adapting the Central Library site they must have known it was inadequate. Some of the supporting columns of the Lending Library could have to go and hardly any of the reading rooms would be retained. Cambridge needed a new Central Library but this would not be sent from Heaven. It would have to be paid for and that was behind it – the City wanted someone else to pay for it. 55 05 02b & c

The stretch of Newmarket Road between East Road corner and Ivett and Reed's shop has high accident rates and publicity is being given to the dangers of the road. 'Accident Area' and 'Caution' signs are being displayed and posters and leaflets distributed. Last year in Cambridge 604 people were injured and a total of 1,540 accidents were reported to the police. 55 05 02a

1955 05 03
Cambridge University Officers Training Corps is to have a wing of the Women's Royal Army Corps with most of the recruits coming from Girton, Newnham and New Hall. All work would come after the prior claims of their courses and no decisive steps would be taken until after they have graduated. The main object would be to produce good officers but driving, vehicle maintenance, radio and photographic interpretation may also be available. However large the numbers it will have to face a considerable drain on the 'marriage market'. 55 05 03a

Soham's new County Fire Station opened in Fountain Lane. When the County Council took over fire services in 1948 the resources were lamentable. They decided that the rural district must be served first and so had erected the first new fire station there. With this up-to-the-minute building goes a modern type of water tender equipped with a short-wave radio and a device for control of fires in standing crops. The old appliance did not carry any water at all. 55 05 03b

1955 05 05
A storm of brown dust is blowing high into the air over the Swaffham Fen area. Growing seedlings have been uprooted and plants torn from the ground by the near gale-force winds that have been raging in the past few days. It has caused serious damage to crops and important drainage ditches have been filled in. Farmers are now faced with replanting their crops. In recent years some of the landowners have been putting layers of clay on to the open fields to prevent any dust being blown about. 55 05 05a

Within ten years working hours in industry may be cut to no more than four a day and we shall all retire at the age of 40. Machines will soon replace the human element in many industrial concerns & there could be automatic factories without human hands touching anything. Electric brains can now replace men's work and are getting near to being 'thinking machines', the Cambridge Business Men's Club was told. 55 05 05b

1955 05 06
Firemen were called to Earith when fire broke out at the Boat inn. Its thatched roof was completely destroyed and the rest of the premises severely damaged. The licensee, Mr Darby, was away at the time and a passer-by who saw smoke coming from the building gave the alarm. Villagers removed a large quantity of furniture. The thatched roofs of a group of nearby houses were ignited by flying sparks but firemen prevented serious damage to these buildings. The cause of the fire is not known. 55 05 06b

A new room for exhibitions and storage of water colour paintings was opened at the Fitzwilliam Museum. It consists of a gallery and a small reference library for the benefit of serious students of art. It was largely funded by a gift of £10,000 from the executors of the late Walford Graham Robertson who was one of the greatest collectors of the work of William Blake and gave the museum six important works by him which are now on show. 55 05 06a

1955 05 06 CIP
Dust storm sweeps Swaffham area p1 - worst blow for 5 years p4
Stretham rector to take over large parish in London - George Loughborough p13
H. bomb manufacture essential - p20
Guildhall site proposal turned down - assize courts p21
Railway "platelayers friend" - weed-spraying train p5
Mustard gas - George Medal for RAF corporal p20

1955 05 06 ES
Electricity scheme switched on serving Adelaide & Prickwillow. 55 05 06ES

1955 05 09
The annual punting race between the Oxford University Charon Club and Cambridge Damper Club is a relay with the lady member of the team acting as baton and hastily jumping from punt to punt at the end of each ‘leg’. For the eight gentlemen on each side it was a perspiring afternoon; both wind, water and pole were playful and both of the ‘batons’ nearly suffered a ducking. Gradually it developed into a cross between a water-polo match and a life-saving exhibition. 55 05 09a

1955 05 10
‘Blow’ photos, p9

1955 05 11
The Arts Theatre unveiled an extension to its Roof Garden restaurant, decorated in gay modern style and complete with the latest Espresso Coffee equipment. Some regretted the reduction of the outdoor terrace space but with the fickle English climate the new area would prove an agreeable amenity both for meals and during theatre intervals. Losses in the theatre could only be made up by profits from the Cinema, scenery studio and catering activities. Once the novelty of television had worn off an increasing number of people would again seek the solid satisfaction of live performances. 55 05 11

1955 05 12
A gaping hole, nine feet in circumference and about a foot deep, was blown in the path beside Trinity College Bridge last night. It is believed that a stick of dynamite was used as a student said he heard a terrific explosion and the building shook. The explosion caused leaves to be blown off trees nearby. This is the third time within a year that a deep pit has appeared near the bridge and last week it was decorated with planks and trowels. But two porters and a gardener denied all knowledge and the college spokesman had nothing to say. 55 05 12a

A Grantchester landlord told the bankruptcy court that when he took the pub in 1951 he had spent £185 on a domestic refrigerator, £75 on one for ice-cream and £203 on a cooling plant; a glass-washing machine cost £90; such expenditure could not be justified. The summers of 1953 and 1954 had been very wet and some days there were no takings at all, though fires were lit and waitresses employed in expectation of trade. Then the barman pilfered £300-worth of stock. But he had acquired a Laguna motor car costing £902 on hire purchase. 55 05 12b

Ansells garage, p6

1955 05 13
The County Council, who took over liability for the Upware-Swaffham Road in 1949, would be prepared to take over Upware Lock Bridge provided the Great Ouse River Board brought it up to standard. The bridge rests on the walls of the lock which will remain the liability of the Board. It was originally constructed of timber joists and decking but during the war was strengthened by adding two steel joists. Traffic has increased since the war and loads of up to ten tons were regularly taken over the bridge. 55 05 13a

The County Council wrote to the Great Ouse River Board over the cost of metalling Fen Bank Road, Isleham. The road is used by their lorries in connection with the maintenance of the flood bank, this caused damage to the road and inconvenience to the farmers and tenants of houses to whom it was the only means of access. The cost of constructing a nine feet wide reinforced concrete road with passing places would be about £7,000. But the Board says their workmen had filled up potholes and left the road in a better condition. 55 05 13a

Work on raising the Middle Level Barrier Bank from Seven Holes Sluice Earith to Welches Dam has been in progress for three years but cannot be completed at the original price owing to increased wage rates. Serious erosion on the face of the bank between Sutton Gault and the Gull occurred during the floods last November; this section is liable to damage by erosion because of the low level of the foreland which should be made up. 55 05 13d

British Railway's new weedkiller train can cover up to 100 miles of track a day and recently made the Ely-March run handing out lethal doses of weed-killing concentrate at up to 20 mph. It is operated by two Cambridge men, Bob Lee and Jack Aldhouse. Working away from home has its disadvantages but their living accommodation is as luxurious as any caravan with interior-sprung mattresses, dining room, galley and chemical lavatory. Jack attends to the living accommodation and Arthur keeps an eye on the machinery. 55 05 13 b & c

Isleham fen bank, p8
Mrs Rackham, p5

1955 05 13 ES
Dust storms cause widespread damage; farmers loses 50 acres of beet. 55 05 13ES

1955 05 14
Longstanton church rethatch photo, p10

1955 05 17
The Minister has overruled the County Council and allowed a small extension to the gravel pit at Milton. Part of the site was allocated as a recreation ground and it was undesirable to permit gravel working near existing and proposed residential development. The gravel was of good quality, greatly in demand for building purpose. 55 05 17a

1955 05 18
A judge was asked to decide who was liable for the cost of repairs to the chancel of Oakington church. It was damaged in the winter of 1948 and the repairs cost £80. Messrs Chivers had paid but claimed the Air Ministry should contribute £14 towards the cost. But they said it was the responsibility of Queens' College who had sold them the land in October 1940. It was a very small matter but of great importance. 55 05 18

1955 05 19
The Minister has refused appeals for dwellings on land fronting Newmarket Road, Stow-cum-Quy. The owner said he had bought the site in 1938 intending to erect a bungalow and sell the rest for building. Plans had been postponed because of the war and subsequent shortage and high cost of building materials. It is a rural area of agricultural land but not cultivated for 30 years. But the County said it would constitute ribbon development and would be dangerous particularly on Newmarket race days when the traffic was heavy. 55 05 19

Folk museum cooker, p9

1955 05 20
Thaxted gas works are to be closed down due to the high cost of gas manufacture and small output. The works manufacture three million cubic feet a year. However the familiar gasholder is in good condition and will remain in operation. It will be supplied from Bishop's Stortford through a new main to be laid from Dunmow whose own gas works closed a year ago. 55 05 20

1955 05 20 CIP
Oakington church repairs - who liable p1
Longstanton church rethatched p9
Development plan for villages p17

1955 05 23
Fulbourn Hospital is faced with the serious threat of a shortage of trained and experienced mental nurses, although French girls have been employed as assistants. A new programme of occupation has been developed; the wards are now empty by day with many men employed on the farm, in the gardens and in the works department doing meaningful work. A 'Darby and Joan' club formed for unemployable old folk has proved a great success. 55 05 23a

Linton's new fire station has all 'mod cons' to delight a fire fighter with a huge shining red fire engine replacing the old ex-Army lorry and trailer they used until a few days ago. Although the firemen work in places scattered throughout the village they can be on their way to a fire three minutes after receiving a distress call. When the County Council took over the old National Fire Service in 1948 it was in a moribund condition but a lot of money has been spent in modernisation and the new station is much better than the previous old makeshift one. 55 05 23b

1955 05 24
Cambridge was 'invaded' by nearly 600 London Auxiliary Fire Service men and women. They travelled in 80 green emergency fire-fighting vehicles for a large-scale exercise. The new radio control system worked perfectly and only one small group of vehicles managed to get lost. Some vehicles went to the old 'Shorts' factory at Madingley Road, the others to Wisbey's gravel pit Hauxton for pumping exercises. 55 05 24

1955 05 25
Cambridge councillors are considering two sites for a new indoor swimming pool. One is Donkey Common; years ago this land was subject to common rights but they have not been exercised for 50 years and can be regarded as lapsed. The other is the Gothic Street clearance area; it was acquired with a view to rebuilding but could be extended by purchasing other property to provide space for building and increased parking facilities. 55 05 25

1955 05 26
Francis Sidney Campkin was born 80 years ago in Rose Crescent, above the chemist's which became his whole life's work and hobby. He first helped in the shop when a boy of nine and later qualified as a pharmaceutical chemist. He also took the first examination held by the Spectacle Makers' Company. His keen interest in the optics of photography led to the development of the camera side of the business. He will be greatly missed by his staff who knew him as 'a very fine and kind gentleman'. 55 05 26

Barnwell bowling green, p7

1955 05 27
Election results, p12
Stretham crash, p16

1955 05 27 CIP
Wimpole Hospital plays host p1
Linton new fire station opened p22
County show programme p24
Large scale AFS exercise - Cambridge invaded p28

1955 05 27 ES
Stretham
Feast: owing to repair damage caused the showmen decided to stay for the week, instead of usual three days. There was great excitement among the children on Friday when for two hours the fare on the Dodgem cars was reduced to one penny

1955 05 28
Judgement has been given on who is liable for repairs to the chancel of Oakington church which was damaged in the winter of 1948. Messrs Chivers have paid but claimed that the Air Ministry should also contribute. But they said it was the responsibility of Queens' College. However the judge said the college had sold the land in 1940 and had no further liability for repair. The Ministry should paid £14 towards the costs. 55 05 28

June 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 06 02
The first service was held on the site of the new church at Arbury Road, Cambridge. As a procession from parish church of St Luke's Chesterton, made its way to the site a congregation from the estate, St Augustine's and St George's was assembling. At the time of the building of St Luke's there were many who expected it to be a failure; the same was being said today but they hoped to have a church erected on the site fairly soon. 55 06 02

1955 06 03
The latest car being offered for sale by Brian Lister Light Engineering of Cambridge is a Lister-Bristol which costs £2,150. They are sold as chassis or complete vehicles and fitted with disc brakes. Already more than a dozen are running in the hands of private owners. Meanwhile a racing car has been rebuilt at Parkside from an original 'Iota' chassis by Tony Crosse and Jim Denholm. It is intended for sprints and speed trials and has a maximum speed of 105 mph. 55 06 03a 55 06 03b

1955 06 03 CIP
Oakington church - Air Ministry to pay share p7
23,000 went to county show p8
Rail strike hits postal service p15
Tories retain city and county - Hamilton Kerr majority 7,127 over Leslie Symonds (city), Gerald Howard nearly 4,000 more than H.D. Walston; Legge Bourke 6,000 majority A.F. Gray; R.A. Butler 6,400 over Rev H.N. Horne (Lab) & Miss Carson (Lib) in Saffron Walden; D.L. Renton (National-Liberal Conservative) 6,000 majority over J.A. Franks, Hunts p30

1955 06 07
A 'hide' at the Old House, Histon is believed to be the nearest 'priest hole' to Cambridge. It was covered over and forgotten for centuries until rediscovered when electric light was installed. A hat the size of a bicycle wheel and with a high crown was discovered but fell to pieces on being touched. The hide was entered from what was probably a chapel under the eaves or from the floor below; it was also possible to get out into the garden where a horse-ring is still to be seen. 55 06 07

1955 06 09
The 'Travellers Rest' at Baythorne End, Haverhill is to close; it is extremely close to the Swan & now not needed. The landlord, Frederick Pizzie is retiring and the brewery does not feel they can get anyone else to take it on. It was opened by a relative of Mrs Pizzie's about 100 years ago to serve refreshments to travellers and carriers on their way to Bury market and her mother and grandmother were tenants. The last pint of beer was served on Monday night when several old customers went along to wish them a happy retirement. 55 06 09

1955 06 10
Quy can now boast one of the finest village recreation grounds in the county. After months of hard work by the football and cricket clubs the ground complete with its new one-and-a-half acre extension is now in daily use. This will allow games of cricket and football to be played at the same time. One-third of the cost was paid by the National Playing Fields Association who handed a cheque of £150 to the chairman of the parish council. 55 06 10

1955 06 10 CIP
Priest hole found at Histon p1

1955 06 10 ES
Little Ouse bungalow fire. 55 06 10ES

W.I. pageant on history of fens, Chatteris; 500 take part. 55 06 10(2)ES *

Cathedral memorial window to Bomber Command to be unveiled. 55 06 10(3)ES

1955 06 15
May Balls are with us again. At Trinity Nat Temple and his band played for a large number of dancers, at St John's guests danced to the music of Hedley Ward and his orchestra while at Clare Tommy Kinsman provided music for everyone – one room being set aside for jiving! Downing had a marquee setting where two hundred couples danced to the music of Chappie D'Amato, who also played at Christ's. 55 06 15

1955 06 17 CIP
"Anglo-American relations" talk p5

1955 06 18
The level of employment in manufacturing industries continues to rise while the number of unemployed men and women become steadily smaller, Cambridge Employment Committee reported. But there is an urgent national need for recruitment to the coal-mining industry with men from Saffron Walden and St Ives going for training. Young men registered for National Service should also consider it as enlistment notices would not be sent so long as he remained employed underground. 55 06 18a

Cambridge City Libraries are celebrating their centenary with an exhibition in the Guildhall which will look at the past, consider the present and glimpse into the future. This may include a branch library at Newmarket Road, a Mobile Library service, a new Central Library – all projects which from time to time receive consideration. 55 06 18b

1955 06 20
The Bishop of Ely dedicated the building which is to be known as St James' Church in Wulfstan Way. He said that later they would need a new church and the present building would become the church hall. It was part of the challenge of new housing estates; in St Paul's parish they were trying to build another church and there was magnificent evangelistic work in the Coldham's Lane area which rendered another one necessary. 55 06 20 & 20a

1955 06 21
Teddy Boys who come before the Cambridge courts will be given no quarter, a magistrate has warned. "We do not intend to have any trouble from this little group; if they challenge authority, we shall put our foot on them", he said. A 15-year old engine cleaner who admitted receiving £10, knowing it to be stolen was told: "We are going to put you on probation for two years. Keep away from the Teddy boys". 55 06 21a

Esso Petroleum's new distribution depot in Cromwell Road, Cambridge is a marked transformation of an area formerly used for allotments. The Mayor ascended to the cat-walks overlooking the eighteen large cylindrical storage tanks which have a total capacity of 216,000 gallons brought from the Purfleet terminals. The neat lay-out and appearance of the depot were admired as were the office block and vehicle maintenance garages. 55 06 21b

1955 06 23
Hundreds of excited youngsters crowded round one of the large 'jollity farm' roundabouts for the traditional proclamation of Cambridge Midsummer Fair after which out came the blue paper bags full of brand new halfpennies and up went the youngsters' hand as the coins were tossed into the crowd. Then it was free rides for everybody. All the old favourites are back again – the 'Moon Rocket', 'Octopus' and 'Galloping Horses'. "'Ere only a tanner a bash, keep all yer knock down" yelled the man at the coconut shy while the carpet and lino sellers competed to see who could shout the loudest. 55 06 23

1955 06 24
Cambridge Central Cinema has installed a wide screen which allows a perfect view from any angle & is a vivid contrast with the former 'postage stamp' model. It has now come into line with the other main cinemas and is fully equipped for the showing of CinemaScope. The first film will be the new Technicolor musical, 'Three for the Show' starring Betty Grable. 55 06 24

Wimpole Park blood, p17
Montgomery to Saffron Walden, p19

1955 06 25
Members of the Amateur Radio Club visited the University Mathematical Laboratories to see the electronic calculating machine, EDSAC 1, popularly known as the 'electronic brain' which was built in 1949 from Government surplus equipment. It is capable of doing 40,000 calculations a minute and uses 3,800 valves. When they arrived Fred Hoyle, the famous cosmologist and broadcaster was using it for calculations on the evolutions of the stars. It also plays noughts and crosses. 55 06 25a

Sawston residents objected to the 'obnoxious smell' that would be caused if a sewerage disposal station were constructed near their homes. One said that he had never known a sewerage works not to smell and referred to the 'terrible stink along the Milton Road'. Experts said the smell did not come so much when the winds blew as in wet, warm muggy weather. 55 06 25b-c

Cambridge came out in the sun for the visit of the Regimental Band of the Coldstream Guards. Crowds lined the market square for the high spot of the day, a march past the Guildhall, and then jammed the roads as they marched to Christ's Pieces for a concert. The purpose of the visit was 'Good will and courtesy – with recruiting into the bargain'. Asked if there had been any results so far an official from the Mill Road recruiting office said 'Not yet, but we have a feeling there will be'. 55 06 25d

1955 06 27
Opening an exhibition celebrating 100 years of public libraries in Cambridge, the Master of Pembroke College, F.C. Roberts, said he was proud to have been chairman of the Library committee for some years adding: "I should have been even prouder if my first name had been correctly spelt! But these occasional mistakes show librarians have humanity as well as scholarship". There are books of every description, a machine through which microfilm copies of newspapers are shown and a cartoon by Ronald Searle. 55 06 27 a-b

1955 06 29
Officers of Cambridge Home Guard were told that the county had a good chance of surviving the dropping of a hydrogen bomb as it did not present a target worth the expense of such a bomb. But it would undoubtedly be cut off from the rest of the country so it was important they have Civil Defence in addition to small arms training 55 06 28

1955 06 29
Cambridge has 1,350 dwellings unfit for human habitation including 100 in the East Road, Gothic and Doric Street areas. The Council is to submit proposals for the demolition of 500 dwellings in the next five years and the remainder within the following seven. But three condemned cottages at Brookside in Toft have been reinstated by the Cottage Improvement Society and now make a charming group in this beautiful yet little known corner of the village. 55 06 29

1955 06 30
Lloyds marked the 125th anniversary of their bank in St Ives. The first bank was opened by Foster and Company in Bridge Street in 1830, transferring to new premises in Crown Street in 1872. They were taken over in 1904 by the Capital and Counties Bank which amalgamated with Lloyds in 1918. The present Crown Street premises were rebuilt in 1923. 55 06 30

July 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 07 01
An inquiry considered whether to reinstate the old Sutton-Mepal Road which was closed during the war for the construction of the now disused airfield or to construct a new by-pass road utilising the no.1 runway. This would divert traffic from the sharp corner at the Brook and be cheaper. But it would mean a slightly longer journey between the two villages and Mepal was dependent on Sutton for its doctor, nurse and butcher. If it was one or the other they wanted the direct route back. 55 07 01

Emmanuel Street demolition photo, p12

1955 07 01 CIP
City Libraries centenary p5
Second warning to Teddy Boys p15

1955 07 01 ES
Sutton-Mepal road dispute, across airfield. 55 07 01ES

1955 07 02
Miss Kathleen Payne, 76, is retiring after a lifetime in the newsagents' business as her shop in Emmanuel Street is to be pulled down. It marks the end of one of Cambridge's familiar landmarks. The business was started by her father who remembered selling his first C.D.N. in 1888. Miss Payne has lived there all her life & recalls when chickens used to run down St Andrew's Street before the days of super shops, large cinemas and motor buses. 55 07 02

Siren test, p13

1955 07 05
The Mayor cut the first sod for the building of the Cambridge Residential Home for Old People to be known as 'Langdon House'. It will take 37 residents with special provision for elderly married couples. Each will have a bed-sitting room with running water and they will share dining and sitting rooms. It will cost them £4.10s a week, but inability to meet this charge will not debar worthy residents from being admitted as it will be open to all without distinction. 55 07 05a

Contrary to rumour, there is no danger of parish councils being swept away in the near future. People felt that power was with the County Council or Whitehall but the parish council's most important power was that of complaint – a power not exercised sufficiently. The danger was the apathy of residents: there were some parishes in which no one under 30 had ever voted. Many councillors did little but deplore what local youth does & thought their major responsibility was to see no money was spent. That was wrong, they should spend up to rate limits. 55 07 05b

1955 07 07
Operation 'Air raid siren' went off without a hitch in Cambridge. In the underground control room at the Guildhall the Civil Defence controller threw the switch which started the well-known high-pitch whine of the 'All Clear' from ten sirens across the district. All schoolchildren, hospitals and public bodies had been warned but one or two people looked skyward and said it was 'Just like old times'. Home Office rulings prevent the testing of the wail of the warning for fear of upsetting people. 55 07 07a

1955 07 08
Godmanchester county junior school was opened by the Countess of Sandwich. Construction commenced in December 1953 and the school was brought into use after the Easter holidays. It has been built to ease the overcrowding of the old building in St Anne's Lane & sited to allow a maximum area of playing fields. A complete Roman skeleton which was discovered during excavations is now in the Huntingdon museum. 55 07 08a

Albert Grainger, the Burwell photographer, has died aged 69. A cheerful character he had made a host of friends during his 31 years in the photographic business. He worked as butler-valet for Lord Glanely at Exning House until in 1923 he set up in business at Burwell. His first job was a wedding the day after the shop was opened. Throughout his career he was assisted by his wife, Dorothy, who carried on the business for some time after his illness. 55 07 08b

A youth dressed in a dark grey 'Teddy Boy' suit pleaded guilty to two charges of assault following a fight between two 'Teddy Boys' at the Embassy Ballroom in Mill Road Cambridge. "I had a row with my girlfriend and started swinging out at everyone until somebody said the police were coming and I got frightened and ran away", he said. 55 07 08c

A sculling boat to the memory of Mr Roy Burrell, a member of the '99 Rowing Club for over 30 years was named at Banham's Boatyard. He was a great sportsman who had done much for the rowing in Cambridge and a schoolmaster who had given every encouragement to youth. He would never be forgotten in the annals of the club and the records of the Cambs Rowing Association. 55 07 08d

1955 07 08 CIP
Hills Road extension to Addenbrooke's approved p15

1955 07 08 ES
'Century of fen life' talk by Mrs F. Marshall. 55 07 08&(2)ES

1955 07 11
The most disastrous fire at Haverhill for many years swept over a large area of the timber yard of Messrs J. Bradman of Withersfield Road. Fire brigades worked in blistering hot conditions to stem the flames but the fire completely gutted the long wooden building containing mechanical saws and also damaged a large crane used for hauling huge logs of wood. Part of the town was without water as the supply was diverted to give the firemen more pressure. 55 07 11

1955 07 12

Just as hundreds of Cambridge office workers were about to leave for home down came the rain in one of the most unusual thunderstorms. Only parts of the city were affected, in others there was mild drizzle. At Coton lightning struck a transformer under which an eight-year-old lad had been playing, close by a television aerial was struck and split to pieces setting the tv on fire and at Comberton the chimney stack of a house was struck, causing serious damage to the roof. 55 07 12

1955 07 14
Seventy-year-old Bert Martin and his lifelong friend, Fred Peppercorn, have between them worked for nearly 50 years at the Grange farm, Lolworth. In recognition they received a Royal Agricultural Society medal from the Queen. When they were young they regularly worked 12 hours a day and during harvest worked from five in the morning to nine at night – all for sixpence a day. But a pint of beer was two pence and tobacco a penny-halfpenny an ounce. Such men are the backbone of British agriculture. Perhaps the hairs have turned a little grey and their backs are a little bent but their fire and enthusiasm are still there. When are they going to retire? Never: they want to keep on working as long as they can. 55 07 14

1955 07 15 ES
Theft of copper cable from Mepal airfield. 55 07 15(2)ES

1955 07 16
The Plant Breeding Institute's new buildings and experimental grounds at Trumpington were opened by the Minister of Agriculture. It investigates the improvement of spring and winter wheat and breeds oats adapted to climatic conditions of the Eastern counties whilst in potatoes its chief concern is the battle with blight, eelworm, wart and virus diseases. A pathological section has recently been established. 55 07 16a & aa

The windmill at Adventurer's Fen, Wicken stands on a very isolated very isolated spot. The whole direction of the drainage was changed when the fen was brought back into cultivation during the war. It could never again work in that position and may have gone the way of its neighbour in Sedge Fen. But thanks to Rex Wailes and Mr Doran of the Great Ouse River Board it is to be repaired and moved to the entrance of Wicken Sedge Fen where it will be seen by visitors. The work has been entrusted to Mr C.J. Ison of Histon who himself moved the post mill at Madingley to its present site. The cost will be borne by Lord Fairhaven. 55 07 16c

1955 07 19
Motor cycle side-car scrambling came to the area for the first time on Sunday – and what an exciting debut it made! The Matchless Club event at Elsworth proved so exciting and such a spectacular attraction that a special handicap race was held. Brian Stonebridge, the 25-year-old scramble star from Rampton won both. Nothing could touch his B.S.A. 500 combination; he roared into every turn and jumped the bumps at full throttle. 55 07 19

1955 07 21
The County Library has issued far more books this year. The new branch library at Bassingbourn is well used and library centres were provided for the first time at Papworth Everard. The Matron of the Settlement provided accommodation in the Welfare Hut and the stock of the existing library was handed to the county authorities for amalgamation with the new books. A small library was also provided at the school. 55 07 21

Marshalls planning, p8

1955 07 22
Jacqueline Elliott won the Granta Swimming Club's annual ladies' swim through Cambridge beating her own record time; second was Joan Hill while Margaret Coe and Pat Gough won the under 16 and under 14 cups. The cup for the youngest member competing went to nine-year-old Lesley Robinson.

The barge on which the officials and timekeepers stood decided to sink and they had to make a hurried dash for the shore! 55 07 22a

Newmarket is unique and needs unique planning. Racing is more than the basic industry, it is the be-all and end-all of the town. Land used by racing came right into the centre and it would be at the peril of their lives if they tried to take it. Many people travelled into Cambridge to work but it was difficult to find sites for factories. Laureat Paddocks has been zoned for industrial development as has the area between Granby Street and the railway. Some allotment land could be used to provide homes but modern municipal houses with extensive gardens meant that demand for allotments was decreasing. 55 07 22b & c

1955 07 22 CIP
European University heads in Cambridge p1
New Plant Breeding Institute HQ opened p8
Wicken mill to be moved p14

1955 07 22 ES
Land wind pump to be preserved – Wicken. 55 07 22ES # c.29

1955 07 23
Housewives turning on their taps in Fulbourn, Teversham and the Wilbrahams found the softened water, for which they have asked so long, flowing into their sinks, baths and washtubs. Cherry Hinton water softening station opened in 1935 but the laying of a new main from Fleam Dyke Pumping Station was stopped by the war and finally finished only four days ago. 55 07 23

1955 07 26
Cambridge police may use 'Vespa' motor cycles to combat the shortage of officers and reduce overtime. They are currently under-strength but by using police on Vespas on the outskirts of the city could increase mobility at a reduced cost. It would cost £1,440 to purchase eleven machines together with £300 for clothing and equipment and £600 for petrol but would enable a saving of £4,000 a year. 55 07 26

1955 07 27
The Medical Officer for Cambridge says houses in Trinity Place together with warehouses to the rear of King Street are unfit for human habitation; they are dangerous and injurious to the health of the inhabitants & should be demolished. People living there will be asked to quit within two months with the Council finding alternative accommodation. 55 07 27

Barrington estate, p9
Blackmore head Stretham, p9
Newmarket Road library, p11

1955 07 28
Patrick Conway told magistrates he was driving a bus on Newmarket Road, intending to turn right. He gave a hand signal and pulled into the centre of the road. A car behind began to overtake forcing a motor cyclist to swerve. The motorist said he thought the bus had stopped for passengers. Conductors in Cambridge buses should give hand signals from the rear of the bus to supplement those of the driver, as they did in London. 55 07 28

1955 07 29 CIP
Melbourn congregational meeting house reopened p5
Cherry Hinton water softening station opened p9

1955 07 30

What's all this about people getting married at Shire Hall not being allowed to park their cars in the Council car park? Have the County Council no romance in their hearts and do they want to lose custom? People will be saying "Don't go to the Shire Hall for your wedding; if you do you'll be chivvied out of it pronto". Some say park in front of the County Police headquarters – but this will stop patrol cars getting out of the police yard. Who occupies the Council car park anyway? Members of the Council and staff. Are there too many of these and too many cars? I only asked! 55 07 30b

Marshalls, p13

August 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 08 01
Electricity has now reached parts of rural Huntingdonshire. The new supply would be made available to ten villages and hamlets and 65 farms, a total of 360 consumers. By bringing modern amenities to the rural communities it helped arrest the drift from the land and assisted in agricultural production. It was a very difficult one to farm without mechanisation, but this needed electrical power the benefits of which would be felt both by the farmer and his wife. 55 08 01 & 01a

1955 08 02
Electriciation, p4
Pageant, p14

1955 08 04
Dalham Hall, one of Britain's stately homes, was threatened with destruction when fire broke out in the roof. Built in 1705 the mansion is one of Suffolk's best-known beauty-spots and was once home to Cecil Rhodes. Despite working in intense heat with lead from the roof melting round them firemen confined the blaze to the roof but damage was caused by water which eventually seeped through to the basement. Furniture, paintings and carpets were piled on the lawn where they were guarded by police throughout the night. 55 08 04a

Men of the 629 Airborne Light Regiment R.A.T.A., formerly known as the "Cambridgeshires", have completed their first parachute training course. In just two weeks the men who come from all walks of life have been transformed into fully-fledged parachutists and 140 of the volunteers will receive their wings. They include Captain L.S. Brown who as headmaster of the Chesterton School had decided to set the boys an example. But he landed awkwardly and became a visitor to the therapy centre for treatment. 55 08 04a

A Linton timber merchant told the bankruptcy court that he had started as a haulage contractor in 1942 and done well carting sand and gravel to aerodrome sites. When that stopped in 1945 he was in charge of the saw mills at Linton until a serious accident to his left hand left him unable to work for nearly two years. Later he dealt in pit timber for the Coal Board but had to install new sawing machines at a cost of £700 on hire-purchase. Last year he was disqualified from driving and ceased trading the same day. 55 08 04b

1955 08 05
With 126 babies a lot of noises is to be expected but they were surprisingly good and few cries could be heard at Cambridge's bonniest baby exhibition. For the most part they sat contentedly on their mother's knees waiting to be judged. Winners of the various age categories were Teresa Murray from Byron Square, Joy Quinney of Queen Edith's Way; Linda Barker of Canterbury Street and Gerald Peachey of Sedgwick Street while Patricia and Jacqueline Hooks of James Street won the twins competition. 55 08 05c

After vigorously debating for over ninety minutes Cambridge councillors voted to protest to the Minister of Housing about plans for the erection of a hangar at Marshall's airfield. It would be a "fearful monstrosity being shoved up within 50 feet of peoples' back gardens". Having lost their planning powers to the county in 1947 they were perhaps impotent to help residents but should register their views. 55 08 05a & b

1955 08 06
Marshalls, p9
Glynn Daniel, p9

1955 08 09
Memories of Detective Ives who was with Willis – 55 08 09

Cambridge abattoir suggested – 55 08 09b

1955 08 12
The opening of the Anglo-American Memorial Playing Field at Saffron Walden marks the completion of a project to commemorate 359 men of the 65th Fighter Wing which had its headquarters at the Grammar School. A Memorial Apse also contains the names of local British service personnel who gave their lives. The original scheme included a Memorial Hall, tennis courts, bowling green and playground but these were curtailed following a great increase in price. It is hoped these can be added later. 55 08 12 & 12a

1955 08 13
The National Skating Association tests for figure, dance and pair skating were held at Cambridge Corn Exchange. All the candidates were pupils of resident instructors, Brian and Mary Jackson. Those successful included Alan Southgate (inter-silver figures), Mrs Bundy, Pat Reynolds and Myra Ellis (preliminary dance) and Ivan Ayres (bronze dance). During the evening a roller dance contest was staged between teams from U.S. Forces, St Neots and Cambridge. 55 08 13

1955 08 15
Lewis Todd 'Know your Cambridge', p8

1955 08 16
Messrs W.J. Unwin, the Histon seedsmen, have now established an all-time record at the British Gladiolus Society's international show held at Westminster. They took the large gold medal and silver trophy for the best flower exhibit and also won the Daily Mail gold vase together with 20 other prizes. Unwin's are pioneer breeders of the new graceful miniature gladiolus which claimed so much interest at the exhibition. 55 08 16

1955 08 18
Thatching is a fast-dying craft and in 50 years thatched houses will be a thing of the past, claims Basil Rackham. There are no younger men coming to learn the craft as it is too hard work for them. Before the war he did jobs all over the country but now can get as much work as he can cope with in this area. At present he is putting new roofs on cottages at Snailwell using wheat straw which should last 20 years. It is difficult to get first-class straw nowadays as too much artificial manure is being used by farmers. 55 08 18

An old grain store in Mill Lane is being converted into the new premises of the Cambridge University Assistants' Club. It is hard to realise that the spacious lounge and dining hall once accommodated bags of golden corn brought up from the river to feed the mill. It will become one of the most modern and comfortable social centres in Cambridge. The polished floor of the dining room may do service as a ballroom whilst the common room above gives a unique view of the river and Coe Fen. 55 08 18a

An 80-year-old Cambridge man returned to his native city from which he left for Canada at the beginning of the century. His verdict: "I don't like it so much today – it's too crowded". A.H. Hardwick called into the Little Rose in Trumpington Street alongside the tailoring and gown-making business which his father ran. He had 11 brothers and sisters, one of whom also emigrated to Canada. 55 08 18b

1955 08 20
Workmen engaged on the restoration of Isleham church have made an interesting discovery: the solid oak beams in the roof are riddled with lead shot. Carved figures that could be reached from the ground were defaced by the Roundheads but since the angels in the roof are 60 feet above floor level they fired at them instead. A number of dead bats have been found in the roof but no beetles. However they have been there as some of the wood crumbles at the touch 55 08 20a/aa

Pye has produced a radio clock. It incorporates an electric alarm clock with a 5-amp socket so that either an electric fire or a tea maker can be set for the same time as the alarm, which switches on the radio automatically. It operates on the medium waveband with one pre-set long wave station and has a 'sleep switch' to enable it to be turned off automatically when the owner falls asleep. 55 08 20b

1955 08 23
Sappers of the 250 Field Squadron Royal Engineers (Territorial Army), Cambridge, carried out an interesting exercise at Cley-Next-the Sea. They demolished a brick and reinforced concrete structure which was formerly a battery observation post. It remained after the war as an observatory for the Norfolk Naturalist Trust but became unsafe due to erosion. Two substantial pillboxes at Satlhouse were also blown-up. 55 08 23

1955 08 24
A swimming pool may be built at Huntingdon using money collected for a memorial hall in 1945. Although a site had been acquired and designs approved building restrictions had held up work and the costs had almost doubled. It was legally possible to spend the funds on a pool although some of the donors might withdraw their monies saying it was not being used for the original purpose. 55 08 24

1955 08 26
Many Fordham residents have been unable to sleep because of an ever-increasing swarm of noisy crickets: in some houses forty have been caught a night. They are everywhere – in the living rooms, bedrooms, kitchens and pantries. One was even found drowned in a dish of beetroot and vinegar. The worst affected area is the R.D.C. refuse pit. Now officials have started spraying and it is hoped they will soon be exterminated. 55 08 26

1955 08 26 CIP
Cottenham sapper in Cyprus p9

1955 08 26 ES
End of three old warriors: portable steam engines at Ely station goods yard, used in driving pumps. 55 08 26ES

1955 08 30
Wings Day gave a memorable send-off to the 629 (Cambridgeshire) Parachute Light Regiment R.A. (T.A.) regiment in its new role. The first presentation was to its Commanding Officer, Lt.-Col. J.G.A. Beckett whilst Major J.H. Sanders, at the age of 52, completed the course along with his younger colleagues. Thirty of the new parachutists will stage a mock attack at Duxford on Battle of Britain Sunday. 55 08 30 & a

1955 08 31
Sir - Many cottages in our villages have recently been demolished and others are marked out for removal in the near future but there is no involvement with local history organisations. At Sawston a row of 18th-century cottages have been demolished revealing remains of the old Black Swan public house for the first time. Such items ought to be recorded – T.F. Teversham 55 08 31a

September 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 09 01
Night signals, p11

1955 09 02
The Government has approved Haverhill's town expansion scheme which involves the transfer of 5,000 of London's 'overspill' population. Now planning can begin for the additional plant needed at the waterworks and sewage farm to deal with the increased population and demands of industry. 55 09 02a

In opening their enormous new showrooms in King Street Cambridge the firm of H.W. Peak have passed another milestone. Everything for furnishing a home is here in astonishing array. Apart from furniture there is electrical equipment such as vacuum cleaners and washing machines together with televisions and Hi-Fi sound equipment. They started just under 50 years ago selling second-hand furniture and opened a large branch at King's Lynn in 1937. 55 09 02b

Sawston Hall, p5

1955 09 02 ES
Preparing for cruise on fenland waterways. 55 09 02ES

1955 09 03
Fireworks and flying saucers celebrated the opening of the new showrooms of H.W. Peak in King Street, Cambridge. Giant rockets were released from the roof of the floodlit and gaily decorated building and the city was 'bombed' with balloons released from aircraft. Each contained a numbered card and winners will share in the distribution of £200 worth of furniture. 55 09 03

Longstanton station, p9

1955 09 06
One of the finest clubrooms for civil servants opened next door to the bowling green in Brooklands Avenue, Cambridge. It is within easy reach of the officer and membership is one-penny a week. It would enhance the civil service's reputation for high standards of integrity and once members entered they should completely forget about rank. 55 09 06

1955 09 08
Baby body, p8

1955 09 09
A Chippenham girl told an inquest she was playing on the disused aerodrome at Snailwell when she went into a dugout and found a cardboard box tied with string. She opened it and saw it contained the partly decomposed body of a child. It had been there several years and it was now quite impossible to find the cause of death. 55 09 09

A scroll authorising personnel of RAF Wyton to march through Huntingdon on ceremonial occasions with bayonets fixed, colours flying, drums beating and bands playing was presented to the Commanding Officer during celebrations to mark the 750th anniversary of the granting of the town's first royal charter. A parade of 700 officers and men headed by the Central Band of the Royal Air Force marched past as 12 Canberras and two Valiants flew overhead in salute. 55 09 09a & b

Ely High Bridge, p7

1955 09 09 ES

Ely proposed new bridge Soham road. 55 09 09ES

Stretham fire Thomas Brown's farm, Stretham Fen – peat; fire Gravel Farm due spark locomotive. 55 09 09ES

1955 09 10
Pye demonstrated their new aircraft instrument landing system with a series of flights in Dakotas between Cambridge and the De Havilland works at Hatfield. The trips are also open to factory staff so they can see how the system allows the pilot to land without having to be 'talked down' from the ground. They had barely time to unfasten the seat belts, say 'Thank you' to the air hostess for packets of 20 cigarettes and the treble scotches before a loudspeaker commentary was started on the landing. 55 09 10a-b

The Cambridge Express Printing Company has been acquired by W. Heffer & Sons. The 'Express' works have a long history. At one time they published a weekly newspaper which was eventually incorporated with the 'Cambridge Weekly News' which in turn amalgamated with the 'Cambridge Independent Press and Chronicle'. 55 09 10e

Jack Hulbert, p4
Soham gas, p6
Cambridge station improvements - cartoon – 55 09 10aaa

1955 09 12
An old thatched cottage at 81 High Street Cherry Hinton was deliberately set alight by the Fire Service. The site has been acquired by Messrs. Dickerson for a modern Esso service station and garage. In view of the age of the cottage and the lack of any materials worthy of salvage it was decided that burning down was the most expedient way of disposal. The previous owner said: "I've had it insured against fire all these years and the policy doesn't expire until Christmas!" 55 09 12

Isleham bus, p13

1955 09 13
A 'flying saucer' object – one of which has been seen in the vicinity recently – will make an appearance at the Battle of Britain Show at R.A.F. Debden along with Hunters, Sabres and Shackletons. The Valiant and Vulcan 'V' bombers will also fly over. There will an attack by Meteor fighter-bombers and the R.A.F. Regiment will deal with the 'flying saucer'. There are strong rumours that 'Dan Dare, Special Agent' will help the Regiment. 55 09 13

Trumpington bungalow, p6

1955 09 14
Proposals to close Foxton railway station whilst keeping Harston open – which was used even less – drew protests from Councillors. During September 60 passengers used the station each week but this was a bad month for travel and prohibitive fares were the reason for the small number of passengers. Alternative bus services were far from adequate and there would be no prospect of halting the drift from the countryside to the town if the station closed. There was a great deal of development planned, which would result in a growth of population. 55 09 14

Whitings Farm, Holywell Row, Mildenhall had been in size reduced when 60 acres were acquired by the Air Ministry. It was full of weeds and rubbish, some of the fields were sour and the hedges and ditches in need of attention. The tenant was a poor farmer and it should be returned to the landlord who would farm it better. But he had lost barley seed and four inches of topsoil in dust storms & was making the best use of inherently bad land. He was a Grade 'A' farmer and should be allowed to continue, an inquiry decided. 55 09 14a

1955 09 15
Chivers have installed one of the most modern milking machines at their farm at Haslingfield. It was built to their specifications by Simplex Dairy Equipment of Cambridge. Now two men can deal with up to 80 cows in ninety minutes in a building near the pasture with the milk being transferred direct to the dairy by a pipeline arriving completely untouched by hand. 55 09 15a

Police Vespa picture – 55 09 15bb

1955 09 16
Alperson's caravan manufacturers have found a new permanent home at Oaks Lodge on the Fordham Road, Newmarket. It will enable them to increase production and concentrate on the overseas market. There is a huge demand by the family man in the big industrial areas who finds it economical to buy a caravan and leave it on a site near the coast where he can stay every weekend. 55 09 16a

On the map in 10 weeks. The first completed dwelling on the Arbury Road estate extension, designed and built by Monkman of Halifax Road, Cambridge was started on 1st July 1955 and occupied on the 17th September. – Advert. 55 09 16b

1955 09 16 CIP
Foxton station closure inquiry p1
I.T.A station test - strong signal in Cambridge p1

1955 09 21
Baby found in disused air raid shelter, Chippenham Park, Snailwell – 55 09 21
Clare Memorial Court, p9

1955 009 24
An inquest heard that a 50-year old organist and cleaner at Elm parish church fell down from a step-ladder when cleaning a window, breaking a leg-bone. He dragged himself to the bell rope and started to ring an alarm. But when he realised nobody would answer he crawled 40 feet to the west door of the church, managed to open it and attracted the attention of a passer-by. He was in hospital for three weeks but collapsed and died. 55 09 24

Police issued with motor scooters – cartoon – 55 09 24a

1955 09 26
One glance at Midsummer Common, Cambridge was enough to dispel any suggestion of public apathy about Civil Defence. Hundreds of blue-uniformed figures took part in the finals of 'Exercise Challenge'. It tested their skill and knowledge and rescue teams had the difficult task of retrieving a severely-injured casualty on a stretcher while a stream of 'distressed' people were treated at a rest centre. 55 09 26a

1955 09 27
The dedication and opening of an extension of Clare College Memorial Court was performed by the Master, Sir Henry Thirkill, in the presence of nearly 1,300 scholars and relatives of the Clare men who died in World War II. The new Court which has room for 44 undergraduates was designed by the architect Sir Giles Scott who was amongst the congregation as he had been when the first portion was dedicated 31 years earlier. 55 09 27

1955 09 28
Mother found, p5

1955 09 30

When a Hawker Hunter jet fighter crash-landed near Upware pumping station the pilot was pulled from the aircraft and taken to the Ely RAF Hospital by a helicopter which had taken off from Waterbeach airfield carrying the Station Commander, Gp Capt Chackfield, to the scene of the crash. Units from Cambs and Fordham fire brigades were called but the aircraft did not catch fire. 55 09 30a

The idea of a recreational club and canteen for University Assistants was first suggested in 1946 and eventually a 'disreputable warehouse' was acquired in Mill Lane. It has now been transformed into a magnificent club that was officially opened by the Vice Chancellor. It will be managed by the Assistants themselves; they have called innumerable meetings choosing decorations, furniture and china and also acquired a piano and a radiogram. 55 09 30b & c

1955 09 30 CIP
Big Civil defence exercise Midsummer Common p28

1955 09 30 ES
Three killed when Landrover hits towed jet plane at Waterbeach airfield. 55 09 30(2)ES, funeral 55 10 07ES

Ely St Mary's gravestones removed. 55 09 30ES

October 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 10 01
The Bell School of Languages in Cranmer Road, Cambridge was opened by the Chancellor of Cambridge University, Marshal of the Royal Air Force, Lord Tedder. This term 50 men and women from 22 countries including Germany, Cambodia, Saudi Arabia and Finland are studying there. The Principal, Mr Bell, said the aim was not only to teach the way we say things but the way we do them and warned students not to be 'a little colony of foreigners in England'. 55 10 01 & a

1955 10 05
A 19-year-old caravan dweller told Newmarket magistrates that her father-in-law was a rag merchant and she helped to distribute tickets and collect articles from houses. She had been going from house to house selling lace and pegs and had knocked at a door in Falmouth Avenue when she saw some blouses and a towel on a window-sill. She thought they had been left for collection. But the householder said she had left them in an annexe to dry. When stopped by police the girl claimed they had been given to her as a wedding present. She was fined £3 10s. 55 10 05

Queen Ediths school, p8
Milton school, p8

1955 10 06
The number of children attending Stetchworth Heath Controlled School has more than doubled recently and this number is unlike to decrease. In view of this the School Managers have asked the County Education Department to let the school stay open after all and to consider erecting a dining room. 55 10 06

Scrambling, p7

1955 10 07
Felsted Sugar Beet Factory has begun to receive beet for processing into white sugar. Amongst the first to send a consignment was Audley End Farms. Their Home Farm has obtained a good yield by means of a system of irrigation, unique in the district. A tractor-powered centrifugal pump distributes water down a network of aluminium pipes to 20 sprinklers up to half-a-mile away. Without it the crop would almost certainly have been a failure. 55 10 07

Clara Lines travelled by train to Chivers – 55 10 07

Romsey School celebrated its 50th birthday; past and present scholars viewed photographs of bygone days and recalled events from the past. The head, Mr S.J. Granfield was joined by Mr S. Cannon who spoke of the first headmaster, George Flavill. Then the old boys gathered round the piano to sing 'Forty Years On' and other old songs he had taught them. 55 10 07b

1955 10 07 CIP
Ultra-modern type Queen Edith's Way school approval sought p1
Eastern region Labour rally - Harold Wilson report on failure at election p12

1955 10 07 ES
Upware crash of jet fighter, helicopter takes pilot to Ely RAF Hospital, first such rescue. 55 10 07ES

Ely switches over to electricity in place of gas lighting. 55 10 07(2)ES

1955 10 10
Mr C. Gatward has won his appeal to continue making concrete roof tiles at Button End Harston. He had purchased moulding machines from a manufacturer who had gone out of business and as a number of houses in Cambridge were roofed with these tiles there was a constant demand for replacement. Maximum output was 4,000 tiles weekly and there would be no dust and little noise. The county planners said that the unsightliness of stacked tiles and heaps of raw materials would be detrimental to residents and the road was unsuitable for industrial traffic. 55 10 10

1955 10 11
A Waterbeach smallholder & member of the British Soil Association is convinced that the increase in cancer is due to synthetic chemicals used in soaps and detergents and the use of artificial fertilisers on the land. He deplores the burning of waste straw which makes good a compost producing healthier and better flavoured vegetables and throughout the long dry summer his crops have continued to thrive. 55 10 11

1955 10 12
Baby's body in air raid shelter, Newmarket - 55 10 12a

Shippea Hill football treasurer sent to prison – 55 10 12c

King Feisal of Iraq paid a private visit to Cambridge as the guest of the Vice-Chancellor of the University. He arrived late because of fog and after lunching at Christ's College visited the Wren Library at Trinity and the Fitzwilliam Museum. He then travelled to Marshall's airfield where he displayed keen interest in a Venom IV jet aircraft and the Comet jet and Viscount turboprop airliners. In the Royal party was Mr Tariq Al Askari who was at Cambridge as a student. 55 10 12b

1955 10 13
For the passengers on the Cambridge to Kettering train it was a normal journey; but for the guard, Archie Sear of Cambridge it brought an end to a career lasting 50 years on the railway, 23 of them on the Kettering line. He became a familiar figure to regular travellers and gained the title of 'The Varsity Guard'. He has had a remarkably smooth career and has never been asked to look after anything more unusual than dogs, kittens and schoolchildren. The train has remained accident-free and he has never had anything unusual to report – which in itself is extraordinary. 55 10 13

1955 10 14
A dispute over the use of a roadway alongside Barway parish church was settled in court. The owner of Pembroke Farm claimed his neighbour had nailed up a gate and cut a trench across a road that he used to drive his cattle to his land. It was agreed he could use one side of the road provided he erected a moveable hurdle fence to keep cattle away from the house. Almost all the inhabitants of the hamlet appeared on one side or other. 55 10 14

1955 10 14 ES
Wilburton Manor School opens. 55 10 14(2)ES

1955 10 15
Two brothers, both of whom carry on house furnishing business in Cambridge, brought their fourth High Court action against each other. A woman customer had gone to buy a refrigerator, saw a shop named Peak's in King Street and assumed it was the same as Peak's Furnishers of Fitzroy Street where she had an account. It was delivered to her house but then she went to Fitzroy Street to pay for it. The judge said this was a case of the utmost triviality and it was surprising it had not happened many times before. 55 10 15

Cherry Hinton British Legion opened their new headquarters. The old building had been a source of very great worry and eventually a portable building was bought. It was stored free of charge for two-and-a-half years until a suitable site on Fisher's Lane came on to the market. They bought it using funds raised from whist drivers. 55 10 15a

In 1950 the Shelford scout troop and cub pack reopened after a break for the war years but had nowhere to meet. The Guides and Brownies had kept going in a barn which was too small. So they decided to pool their resources to erect a joint HQ. The prospect of dozens of children making merry in their vicinity appalled some local residents but Mr Williams of 'Southernwood' offered the use of his garden where a hut was erected. Now it needs repair and a fund has been opened. 55 10 15a

The condition of the huts on Donkey Common has steadily deteriorated and they should only be let to families requiring emergency accommodation who can be rehoused by September 1957. Some are so bad they will have to be closed before that and when the worst of them become vacant they should not be re-let. The Council should purchase 50 premises due for demolition and carry out minimum repairs to allow them to be occupied temporarily. 55 10 15b

1955 10 17
St Edward's church memorial, p4

1955 10 18
Chivers sale yard, p16

1955 10 20
A tremendous welcome greeted the Queen as she arrived at Cambridge station. Crowds had been waiting in the rain for over two hours and school children were tired of the delay. The glass roof of the station platform sprang a leak and a man was sent aloft to cover it with green waterproof. Exactly on time the train drew in and Her Majesty stepped gracefully onto the platform. The women onlookers gasped as they took in the details of her dress, a fitting emerald green coat with black fur collar, green hat and black handbag. 55 10 20a

A crowd of several thousand massed in Cambridge Market Place as the Royal procession moved slowly towards the Guildhall. The Queen looked radiant as the Mayor (Ald E. Halnan) presented her with an Electryte Cardiograph adapted by a local firm to monitor the heart of her thoroughbred racehorses. She thanked him warmly saying "this ingenious machine will be put to good use". Then she made an appearance on the balcony, waving to the crowd who cheered back. 55 10 20b

1955 10 21
There was heavy rain as the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh arrived for the ceremonial opening of the new Veterinary School where a batch of undergraduates lay down their gowns in a Sir Walter Raleigh act. The Queen was much taken and amused but her private detective, fearing that Her Majesty might trip on the loose gowns, asked for them to be taken up. But a loud cheer greeted her smile at the gesture. 55 10 21a & b

1955 10 21 ES
Relief Channel scheme: visit of inspection, photos. 55 10 21&(2)(3)ES

1955 10 24
Dr Albert Schweitzer, the famous 80-year-old philosopher, received an Honorary Degree in the University Senate House. He was warmly applauded by a large gathering with people even climbing on the window ledges in the hope of witnessing the ceremony. Hundreds waited in the rain to cheer him as he entered and left. 55 10 24b & c

Ely Sailing Club's timber-built headquarters on the Prickwillow Road was completely destroyed by fire together with chairs and crockery which had been loaned for a supper to celebrate the end of the sailing season. This is the second time the club has lost its building. During the bad weather of 1949-50 it disappeared through the subsidence of the bank on which it was standing overlooking Roswell Pits. 55 10 24d

Since 1952 Cambridge has sold 84 pre-war and three post-war council houses. They were going to be lived in whether they were bought or rented and people ought to be able to buy them if they wanted. They had plenty of money to spend and wanted to use it for repayments on house loans instead of frittering it away. If we can sell the whole lot, we shall", declared Ald Langden. But pre-war council houses sold for £400 and it cost about £1,300 to replace them at present day prices. To say that encouraging people to own the houses would make more them responsible citizens was a most unworthy argument. 55 10 24a

1955 10 27
Fulbourn has been developed as far as it can be and if a further 500 houses are put there it will be tighter still. It was never intended that we should be packed together like sardines in the way planners are intending today, an inquiry was told. "If we carry out this scheme of infilling we shall never be able to build a house without it overlooks a neighbour's kitchen or the washing on the line", Mr W.J. Taylor complained. 55 10 27

1955 10 28 CIP
Ely cathedral RAF window opening soon p1
Owen Webb House extension opened p1
Undergraduate took Belisha beacon p7
"Packed like sardines" in Fulbourn village p17
Albert Schweitzer hon degree p20

1955 10 28 ES
Queen visits Cambridge Guildhall, Vet School. 55 10 28ES

Wimblington spire reroofing will cost £1,000: shock report. 55 10 28(2)ES

1955 10 31
Cambridge Reference Library is normally well used – on average over 200 people each day consult material. But last week has seen it fuller than normal; additional tables and chairs have been brought in and frequently all are taken. This is because the Reading Room is being divided to create a new Junior Library. A number of the more serious periodicals will be transferred to the Reference Library where book cases will be removed to make more space. 55 10 31

Parking difficulties in the centre of Cambridge have begun to drive shoppers elsewhere. One councillor said: "I am always hearing people complain that they cannot find room to park. The re-development of the Lion Yard car park is probably the most important thing that can possibly be done, otherwise shopkeepers will suffer. My wife now shops in St Neots where she can park easily, another friend goes to Saffron Walden." 55 10 31a

November 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 11 02
She was only about eight but she looked far more confident than many of the car drivers who edged their way out of Downing Street at lunch time. Unescorted she steered her conveyance neatly through the traffic and with a satisfied shake of her head rode off on her little black pony down St Andrew's Street. The cars were left behind at the junction. 55 11 02a

Ida Maxwell, well-known for her stage, film and photographic work, is to open a Mannequin Academy at Overstream House, Cambridge. The course will last 12 weeks and include tuition in etiquette, make-up, hairstyles and general appearance. Students who pass an examination will receive a certificate to say they are a professional model which will help them find jobs in London. The course is also suitable for mature women wanting to acquire a well-groomed appearance for social or business reasons. 55 11 02b

A roll of honour compiled in memory of the citizens of Cambridge who lost their lives in the last war will be unveiled in the Guildhall. It is written on two skins of vellum with raised gold lettering and also commemorates the Women's Forces and all the civilian casualties. It was executed by Miss G. Horsley, a designer at the Technical College and School and is a poignant reminder of how modern wars have involved the very homes of the people. The first name is a woman's and the names of children killed in one of the air raids also appear. 55 11 02c

1955 11 03
The Cambridge Preservation Society applied to have allotment land it owned beside the Coton footpath earmarked for housing. But the County Planners said the footpath was of very great importance to the amenities of Cambridge and they were anxious to prevent the spread of development. The Society was in it for financial reasons - it would raise the value of their land to £4,000. The proposal was also opposed by Coton Parish Council who said there was a waiting list for allotments and it would prove a hardship for present tenants. 55 11 03

1955 11 04
Tenants of council houses at Westmoor Common, Little Downham, have to look for rat holes to pour waste water in because they have no sink or drains of any description. All that was needed were a few glazed pipes as there was a septic tank. But there was no way of installing them without a comprehensive scheme which would be too expensive. Seven years ago a similar scheme was proposed at Lt Thetford but nothing had been done there either. It was wrong that there were council houses without sinks when they were spending money on modern houses. 55 11 04-a

1955 11 04 CIP
Shoppers being driven from Cambridge by parking difficulties p1

1955 11 04 ES
Last fen wind pump preservation details. 55 11 04ES

1955 11 07
In the dark days of the last war Ely Cathedral stood out as a prominent landmark for returning bombers. Thus it was fitting that it should be chosen as the place for a memorial window to remember the 19,000 airmen who did not come back. High-ranking officers and some 2,000 relatives of the fallen joined in the commemoration during which four rolls of honour containing the names of fallen aircrew, many of them New Zealanders, were presented for preservation. 55 11 07a

Freak storms were reported in various parts of the county with thunder, lightning and huge hailstones. Mrs Sadler of Whittlesford reported that hailstones the size of walnuts fell in the village and there was hardly a house without windows broken. At Burwell hailstones larger than billiard balls shattered windows with 28 panes of glass broken in one house. 55 11 07b

A roll of honour to the memory of the men and women from Cambridge who lost their lives in the last war was unveiled at the Guildhall. It is five feet high with a heraldic illuminated heading and raised gold lettering and is a companion to the one already erected to those killed in the First World War. After the ceremony the Mayor processed to Great St Mary's which was packed to capacity with townsfolk, University and other organisations who had gathered to pay homage to the dead. 55 11 07c

Five thatched cottages at View Road, Boxworth were badly damaged by fire believed to have been caused by lightning. The whole of the roof was destroyed and the interior of two badly damaged. An 82-year-old woman was hit by a piece of falling timber but the occupants left safely and most of the furniture was saved. The three families who occupied the cottages were boarded into the village old school, the village hall and with neighbours. 55 11 07d

1955 11 11
Alderman F.M. Warren, a member of St Ives Borough Council for 51 years and twice mayor has announced his retirement at the age of 85. He would like to see the council transform the inadequate sewage system as they cannot increase the number of houses without adequate drainage and improve the drainage system to get rid of the danger of floods. They should recondition the old bathing place and provide a sale ring for tuberculosis tested cattle at the market. Council house rents would be a problem but he was sure tenants do not want to live on subsidies provided by the rest of us. 55 11 11 & a

1955 11 11 CIP
Roll of honour unveiled Guildhall p8
Billy Graham's Cambridge mission p11 & 18 p17
Ely bomber command window unveiled p22

1955 11 11 ES
Cathedral memorial window to airmen unveiled. 55 11 11ES

Witchford transformer struck by lightning, village glowed with brilliance of short-circuit. 55 11 11(2)ES

1955 11 12
The G.P.O. has connected over 6,300 new telephones in the Cambridge area during the past year. Although this is a record achievement the demand for new connections has also exceeded all previous figures. Seven new major exchanges and 30 minor building extensions are planned. During the past year the called handled each day by the operators has approached half a million. 55 11 12b-c

Gas works boundary wall, River Lane, collapses – 55 11 12a
Archibald Rayner, dentist, dies – 55 11 12a

1955 11 14
Dr Billy Graham said his Cambridge mission had been one of the most rewarding of his life. It had won people to Christ, got the University talking about religion and started a revival among Christians. Every available inch of space in Gt St Mary's was filled and many had to be re-directed to Holy Trinity where the service was being relayed. It also went to the universities of Aberdeen, Durham, Manchester and four others. Now he has started his journey back to America. 55 11 14

1955 11 15

A Vampire jet from RAF Oakington skimmed over Rampton before crash-landing in a field. The pilot managed to miss council houses and touched down, bouncing over and ditch and hedge before coming to rest in an orchard. Several villagers did not hear any explosion and only realised a plane had crashed when the saw the flames. 55 11 15

1955 11 16
An Agricultural Land Tribunal was told that land at Drages Farm, Woodfen, Littleport was full of weeds and crops were poor and light; thorn hedges were overgrown and fences non-existent. No drainage work had been done and the land was waterlogged. The buildings were in a very bad state of repair and a cottage was unsuitable for a worker to live in. But the buildings were just as bad in 1935 and were ready for demolition then, crops had been drilled late because of the weather and gave a fair return in the circumstances. 55 11 16-c

1955 11 17
Cambridge Boys Club in Wellington Street is meeting a real need since it opened six years ago. Councillor Burkitt said the first time he went there the noise was terrific, there was not a single pane left unbroken and the club was very disorderly. Now it was well-run and had established a tradition of decent behaviour and loyalty; the boys took pride in making it a credit to the community. 55 11 17a

Cam valley water supply scheme – 55 11 17b

1955 11 18
Cheveley Park water supply, warning – 55 11 18

1955 11 18 CIP
Plane lands field Rampton p1

1955 11 18 ES
Proposal to replace Ely High Bridge. 55 11 18ES

1955 11 19
Local councillors were told that in terms of houses and jobs the only hope for thousands Londoners was to leave for localities beyond the green belt. This could be advantageous to county towns as well as the families and industries which moved out. Essex County Council had already helped a great deal and when they had solved their own internal overspill problems they would see what might be done to assist still further. 55 11 19

The farmworkers' case for a £7 a week minimum wage was irrefutable, a trade union official said. A number of influential farmers were saying it should not be opposed. If the present drift from the land continued – 25,000 workers had been lost in the last year – there would soon not be enough to properly manage the farms. It is reaching a critical point when the deficiency cannot be made up by the ever-increasing use of machines. There are now more power units on farms than there are men and women to work them. 55 11 19a

1955 11 22
Hauxton, a beautiful village, has been ruined by industry, a parish councillor told planners. Residents were troubled with noise, dust, smell and smoke from the Camtiles factory and the increase in the number of workmen had encroached on their privacy. Many industries had sprung up in the village but there had been no council houses built since 1938. Thirty years ago the village was wholly agricultural, now there were only two people employed on the land. 55 11 22a & b

St John Ambulance Brigade has been given a new headquarters building in memory of the later Rev. Dr T. Fitzwilliam, President of Queens' College. It is one of the most marvellous things that has ever happened in the history of the organisation and when finally opened next year Fitzpatrick House will be something to be proud of. 55 11 22c & d

1955 11 25
A 69-year-old Haddenham man appeared in court charged with wrongly drawing a retirement pension of £2 7s 6d when he was earning more than 41s a week. He had been a roadman until March 1954 when he claimed a pension saying he had been born in 1886. The clerk told him that once a man reached 70 he could work and earn as much as he liked and could also draw his pension in full: 'You have to wait until you are too old to work, and then you can'. 55 11 25

1955 11 25 CIP
"Hauxton ruined by industry" p17

1955 11 29
Mr Peter Scott, the artist, television personality and authority on bird life, came to Adventurers' Fen, Wicken to open an artificially-constructed mere. Years ago the fens contained many such meres but the requirements of agriculture and drainage had resulted in their gradual loss. He said 'When the skies are full of jets and people are buying plots of land on the moon it is important to preserve ancient fen land'. The rights of farmers have been preserved and the mere will be a source of pleasure to bird watchers; hides should be erected and visitors admitted during the summer season. 55 11 29 & a

1955 11 30
Undergraduates going to early lectures in thick fog were surprised to see a Commer van resting neatly in a large hole in the road in front of King's College with just the front two wheels sticking up to greet the morning. A breakdown van managed to pull the van out to the accompaniment of cheers from student onlookers. Later workmen were back digging the hole even deeper. 55 11 30

December 1955 CDN & CIP & ES

1955 12 01
The culvert under the footpath at Caxton End, Bourn, has collapsed and is a danger to pedestrians. But nobody can decide who is responsible for repairing it. The Parish Council cannot afford it, Chesterton Council deny its them and the County Council say it is not an awarded watercourse. Already one child has fallen in and been washed through when the floods came along and it was time somebody did something. 55 12 01a

1955 12 02
The Woodpecker Café in Butchers Row, Ely, has again been refused a music licence. It was thought to be too near the Cathedral precincts but the Dean had no objection. Even on fair days the noise from the amusements was barely audible and the sound from the music making machine would not be heard by residents. There would be a volume control that could only be touched by the staff and be kept to a modified pitch. 55 12 02a

A portrait of Thomas Hobson, the Cambridge carrier who gave the world his 'choice' may find a quiet resting place at the Guildhall, rather than be moved to the Corn Exchange. But the ageing portraits of other former city dignitaries are never again to adorn the decorated walls of the Large Room. They are all in need of renovation and were removed before the Queen's recent visit. Two may be hung in the members' retiring room. 55 12 02b

1955 12 02 CIP
Russian teachers visit p11

1955 12 02 ES
Peter Scott opens Wicken Fen mere. 55 12 02ES

1955 12 03
The first of the new M.G.A. 1½ litre sports cars has appeared in Hallens showrooms, Union Lane. It combines traditional craftsmanship with modern race-bred performance and in racing trim can reach 112 mph. At a price of £595 plus £299 purchase tax it is an attractive proposition to any enthusiast and it is unfortunate that there is a long wait for those who wish to enjoy it. 55 12 03

1955 12 06
Four modern bungalows have been erected at Castle Camps for use as almshouses. It is a story of inspiration and generosity which had brought as much happiness to the four aged people who are now comfortably settled to spend the eventide of their lives as it has to the benefactor. Tom Haylock of Moat Farm, a Methodist local preacher and chairman of the parish council built them on a piece of his meadow and said he had always promised himself to do something for the aged people of the village. 55 12 06

1955 12 08
Sir – three years ago the elm on Shelford Recreation Ground where children play and adults congregate was found to be in a bad condition. There was a large hole, full of water in the tree trunk and bottles and old cartridge cases taken out. The council called in a tree expert and decided to have it felled. Had the two heavy branches which came off a few weeks ago have fallen a foot nearer the bowling green we might be mourning the loss of the groundsmen. Think what torrent of abuse the council would have received if somebody had been killed. A few children's lives are worth far more than all the elms in Shelford – Horace Reed. 55 12 08

1955 12 09
The U.S.A.F. and United Kingdom civilians at Wimpole Park Hospital have broken their record of 151 pints of blood. The Mobile Blood Transfusion Service team arrived and by nine were ready for action. It was like a well-organised Christmas rush, ten pints being donated continually except for a short lunch break until 168 pints had been taken. 55 12 09a

Mrs Glover lived a full life. She was born in 1875 at Willingham and was entered for Girton College but instead went to Berlin and studied German and music. She married Terrot Glover, a Fellow of St John's College and entertained undergraduates to large tea parties, as was usual at that time. She helped start the Tipperary Club for young mothers during the Great War. Later she developed a special tenderness for the old and forgotten. She also worked with the Cambridge Tapestry Company and won high praise from Queen Mary. During the war she was a billeting officer and found room in her own house for many evacuees. 55 12 09b-d

1955 12 09 CIP
Four new almshouses Castle Camps - farmers gift p22

1955 12 10
Mr G.B. Halls, the first clerk to the Cambridgeshire Executive Council of the National Health Service, has retired. The first meeting under the National Insurance Act was in July 1912 and he took over in 1926. During all his long service he was a contributor to the scheme but never found it necessary to claim benefit. 55 12 10 & 10a

1955 12 12
The new extensions to the Paston House School, now called St Mary's Convent School, in Bateman Street were dedicated, marking an important milestone in its 50 years' history. It began in one little house and now had 370 pupils. Speaking of the value of independent convent schools the Bishop spoke of 'the unfriendliness of Mr Butler, who won't let us build schools as we should like to". But the religious orders managed to carry on and there was something about convent schools that make parent want to send their pupils, although there were good, efficient and free, schools elsewhere. 55 12 12 & 12a

1955 12 13
The clock that changed places – St Giles' church – 55 12 13a

Current trends in two-wheeled transport seem to be moving in favour of the motor-scooter. Now Hallens have opened a new showroom in Fitzroy Street, Cambridge devoted solely to scooters and 'mopeds' (known to the uninitiated as auto-cycles) which illustrates the increased public demand for this form of transport. 55 12 13

1955 12 14
The petrol station of today fills the place held by the blacksmith 50 years ago argued the company appealed to put up a petrol service station opposite the White Hart public house, Cambridge Road, Barton. It was of the utmost importance but small villages could not always afford to have one of their own. But the parish council objected and the County said it was the wrong place; Haslingfield or Comberton would be better sites. 55 12 14

1955 12 15
An 18¼ lb female pike was landed from the Ouse near Over Staunch. It was taken on live bait by Bert Ball of Sandy and broke his road as it was being landed. When it was deposited on the bank a large eel popped out of its mouth. It was the largest from this stretch of water for many years, some say the best since a 20-pounder was landed by Mr Cooke in 1910. 55 12 15a

Stapleford villagers crowed into the general store to see the 'door-bell-that-would-not-stop-ringing'. It began when the storekeeper removed the electric door-bell and put it in a bucket. He received the shock of his life when it began to ring and continued for two hours, even though it was not connected to anything. Soon the store was crowded with sightseers and many views were put forward as to the cause. The mystery was only solved when a CDN reporter dismantled the bell and discovered a small battery neatly concealed in a compartment thought to house the mechanism. 55 12 15a

1955 12 16
The world-renowned firm of Grays of Cambridge was founded 100 years ago by H.J. Gray who, with four other brothers, held the racquets championship of the world for several years. They started as boys in the racquets courts of St John's College where they strang the racquet hoops, which led to the founding of the firm years before the game of lawn tennis started. Afterwards they produced cricket bats. 55 12 16a & b

1955 12 17
Unicam Instruments celebrated its 21st birthday; it had started in a stables on St Andrew's Hill, Cambridge. Despite setbacks, when paying the staff became a problem, the firm thrived. At the outbreak of war, after a skirmish with the Ministry of Aircraft Production, they acquired Riley House opposite the Tivoli Cinema. Finance problems arose again and they established a relationship with Pye Ltd. 55 12 17a

Cambridge Association of Organists gave a recital in Trinity College Chapel to mark the centenary of the birth of Dr Alan Gray, the great musician. In 1892 he became conductor of the Cambridge University Music Society and was also borough organist. He wrote several services and anthems of great beauty, which are regularly sung in cathedrals and churches 55 12 17b

Stanley Matthews, the greatest soccer player of the century made his first visit to Cambridge. Local football officials and celebrities laid aside the rivalries of the field for the opportunity to shake his hand. At the end a schoolboy collared him for his autograph; Stanley said: "When I was your age I was always in bed by eight o'clock". He then left for his hotel and bed – dead on 9.30 pm. 55 12 17c

1955 12 18
The little church of the Holy Trinity at Heydon stands in a tree-screened churchyard on the hills near Royston. It is a quite an isolated spot but by freakish chance an odd enemy bomb fell on it during the 1940 raids and did considerable damage. The five bells were blown out of the tower, one bounced across the road into the schoolyard, without cracking. Parishioners have continued to worship in the rectory, the organ, altar and pews to seat 70 people being accommodated in a suitable room. Eventually the War Damage Commission agreed to meet the cost of re-building and it is hoped to be ready by summer. 55 12 18c

1955 12 21
Employees of Messrs R. Buttress & co, shirt makers, tailors and robe makers, gathered in their workroom for a presentation to Mr J. Hewish who is retiring at the age of 83. He has been a tailor for 65 years; he was apprenticed at Newmarket where he helped to make riding breeches and started in Cambridge for fivepence an hour. 55 12 21

1955 12 23 CIP
Heydon church rebuilding after bomb damage 1940 p15

1955 12 28
Its panto-time again and comedian Danny Kaye heads the cast at the New Theatre, Cambridge. This time he has chosen 'Cinderella' in which he plays the loveable 'Buttons. He has assembled a good cast which keeps up the tradition of making the people (especially children) happy. Fenella Fielding plays Prince Charming with vim and vigour and no pantomime would be complete without the Brokers' Men, in this case Cleef and Ball, two riotous knock-abouts. 55 12 28

1955 12 30
It was a Black Friday for six Black Horse Drove men stopped for cycling without lights. It was almost daylight on a dead-end road right out in the fens on which motorised traffic is absolutely nil. They only used the last half-mile for getting to work. But P.C. Miller said it had been a particularly foggy morning with very restricted visibility; some of the men did have lights on their bikes but they were not turned on. They were each fined. 55 12 30

1955 12 30 CIP
1955 property review

1956 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

January to December 1956

January 1956 CDN

1956 01 03
Cyril Bailey, partner in the well-known building firm of Johnson and Bailey, spent the whole of his life in Cambridge. He was apprenticed as a carpenter and joiner, working on aircraft production in the First World War and founded the firm in 1919. He devoted his life to the business up to the time of his death and was a past President of the Master Builders' Association. A man of pleasing personality and of a charming and unassuming manner he will be greatly missed. 56 01 03

The Mayor of Cambridge met people aged from two hours to 100 years during his New Year's Day tour. The baby was Nicola Mansfield and the centenarian Mrs Eleanor Clarke at Chesterton Hospital where the official party went round the wards handing out cigarettes and chocolate to the patients. 56 01 03a-b

1956 01 04
Trinity College is to enquire into the average price of a Winchester Bushel of good marketable wheat in Cambridgeshire over the last 14 years. Once the price has been fixed the people of Barrington will have to pay. Under the terms of the village Enclosure Act of 1802 the church tithes were commuted into annual money payments calculated according to the price of cereal. It is the only local village affected by this particular form of corn rent. The last time it was fixed was 28 years ago when the price was 83d per bushel; now it will be nearer 131d. 56 01 04

1956 01 05
A practice bomb, inadvertently released from an American B47 bomber, fell in a ploughed field near Newport and buried itself in a crater 15 feet deep and 20 feet wide. It caused hundreds of pounds worth of damage to Biggs' nurseries; one man was wounded when sheets of glass were blown out and five other men ran clear. The crater was surrounded by large sheets of metal which was burned and twisted and scattered over a wide area. A lorry-load of RAF men wearing bow ties and white gloves with Wellington boots collected the fragments and men with picks and shovels removed a large container from the bottom of the crater. 56 01 05

1956 01 06
A policeman told the court he had seen lights in the window of the Railway Tavern, Littleport at 12.10 am; inside were three men playing dominoes and drinking from beer glasses. The landlord said they were friends who had got off the train after watching the England-Spain football match at Wembley and stopped to tell him about it. They had taken a glass of beer at his invitation without paying for it. They were each fined. 56 01 06a-c

1956 01 11
'The Coffee Anchor' down Laundress Lane is an innovation: the first licensed coffee bar in Cambridge. The new rooms, delightfully done out in contemporary style on the second floor overlooking the Cam, were opened by the President of the Cambridge University Boat Club with a flourishing swish of the magic machine that drew out the first official cup of hot coffee. 56 01 11

1956 01 12
Of course it was too easy in the Central Library reading room. Periodicals were on the tables clearly labelled. Far too convenient - one could actually see at a glance where everything was. Now all that has been improved. We are set to work. No longer does one look for one's periodical, one 'finds the number'. This is great fun especially if short-sighted, for the charts are cunningly devised in small blurred type. After much searching however, you may quite possibly find a number. Then comes the rack – and here a word of warning. In your excitement don't rush it, or you may pinch your fingers. Because the dividing slats have been expressly designed to prevent grabbing. One finger should be inserted and the periodical gently edged out. This needs practice. But it can be done. Don't be discouraged too if, for example, you are looking for the 'Economist' and you find yourself with 'Cage Birds. This may be a blessing in disguise and prove that your eyes need testing. Perhaps the most amusing thing of all is, when having searched diligently in the Reading Room one discovers that what one seeks has been moved to the Reference Room. This is a clever move indeed for the fresh air during the journey down the street stimulates one for the search when one gets there. The only danger is that having taken so long to track down one's quarry, it may be closing time before one has time to look at it. Yours etc F.D. Cross, St Barnabas Road, January 10th, 1956 –

1956 01 14
For many years the Salvation Army at Histon has laboured under difficult circumstances because of the smallness of their hall. Now a new Citadel is to open in Impington Lane when the key will be turned by Mrs Stanley Chivers. It has been built by Messrs F.L. Unwin at a cost of £5,100 and will seat 200 people. The present hall is to be used as a Young People's Hall. 56 01 14a

All previous records were beaten at the National Boat Show, Olympia. Granta Floating Boats of Cottenham have taken an order from a Finnish company for 100 of their new outboard motors and also sold 50 of their canoes – the works should be busy for a long time to come. Appleyard Lincoln and Co boat builders of Ely booked their entire hire fleet for most of the summer and a revolutionary new boat developed by Aero Research of Duxford is to be mass produced in America.56 01 14a & b

1956 01 18
Crowds several hundred strong massed to see the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret as they visited Stanley Woolston's antique shop in Cambridge. As news of the surprise visit spread hundreds of girls from shops and offices set out to cheer the Royal visitors. Police fought to keep the road clear but every time they cleared a space another group of women moved in. The Queen Mother expressed concern about the future of the business – he must leave by June because of building plans for the site – saying "We want to know where we can come and visit you". 56 01 18

1956 01 19
To the accompaniment of enthusiastic cheers and the loud roar from the exhaust Mrs Lawson Campbell snapped a blue ribbon with the first modern car – a jet-black Vanguard – to be driven from Mr B.J. Powell's newly-opened Sawston Garage. Situated off the High Street, tall and gracious, it is a fine example of modern building. The showroom is bright and stocked with a magnificent array of new cars. 56 01 19a

The new choir vestry of Holy Trinity Church, Cambridge, was dedicated. Using materials of old Cambridge brick and stone it fits well with the existing buildings. It has folding doors leading into the older vestry, making a useful room for meetings. Now urgent repairs to the organ can be undertaken. 56 01 19b

1956 01 20
Many people who joined the large crowd outside Mr Stanley Woolston's antique shop did not know who they were waiting for but were quite willing to tag on the end. The minutes ticked by and a group of shop assistants who were due back on duty and had missed their lunch in the hope of seeing the Royal visitors had to leave. The tension was made worse by the frequent appearance of the chauffeur who carefully stowed small packages away in the boot of a maroon limousine. When the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret finally appeared it was a wonder they were not crushed. Within two minutes the street was deserted. 56 01 20a

Kelsey Kerridge said his father had acquired land at Hangman's Corner, Barton Road, Cambridge in 1934 and gained approval to build eight houses. Now there were proposals to build a western by-pass here but it was a dangerous spot; there was a brook which was liable to flooding and any roundabout would have to take it into consideration. The County Surveyor said the proposed by-pass would carry up to 5,000 vehicles a day and benefit city traffic and delivery vans. 56 01 20b

Proposals for a mobile library service for Cambridge failed by a single vote. The present service was hopelessly inadequate; the Newmarket Road area had a population of over 10,000 with only the difficult-to-find Ditton Fields branch library. The council would not become bankrupt by buying a lorry for a mobile library. But maintenance would be £1,000 a year and they should not spend such a large amount on a service which was not a necessity. 56 01 20c

W.C. Squires had been a founder-member of the Cambridge Camera Club; he was a master of the technique of bromoil, his work being exhibited overseas, and an enthusiastic lantern slide worker. But he refused to lecture and many of his slides had never been shown. His speciality was the portrayal of open landscape and he aimed for a natural effect, be the conditions stormy or sunny. He loved the fen country round Reach. 56 01 20d

1956 01 31
When Addenbrooke's Hospital was opened in 1766 it had no kitchens and some time later the Governors bought a small adjoining tenement. But now they celebrate the opening of new spacious and luxurious kitchens. The large dining room is artistically decorated with red curtains, yellow walls and blue Venetian blinds with separate spaces for medical and nursing staff. 56 01 31a

The Sisters of Saint Margaret, East Grinstead, an Anglican community founded a century ago by Dr John Mason Neale of Trinity College, have opened a centre in Huntingdon Road, Cambridge. The small number of Sisters in residence must endeavour to make their house self-supporting, in accordance with their Community's rules, and plan 'open teas' on Sunday afternoons. 56 01 31b & c

February 1956 CDN

1956 02 01
A planning inquiry into who owns a garage in Castle Street, Cambridge, came to an abrupt end when an agreement was reached. Mr L.N. Reynolds will be allowed to pull down two condemned cottages and erect a paint store. The whole of the site was ugly and it would not destroy the amenities of the area. The County was interested in it for 'local government purposes' as it allowed a clear view of Castle Mound. 56 02 01

1956 02 03
One of Britain's best-known figures, Sabrina – TV's 40, 22, 26 dumb blonde – made a personal appearance at a Mildenhall air base dance in aid of polio relief. She attended free of charge for she had been a polio sufferer herself and nearly lost a leg as a result. She sang four songs, surprisingly well, and autographed photographs for a host of admirers. 56 02 03a

Life becomes difficult for the motorist with temperatures below freezing but the Cambridge Automobile Association operates a weather report system. In the morning patrolmen report conditions either by two-way radio or telephone and any member can ring for details. A peak period for calls is at 12.30 when people return home for lunch. 56 02 03b & c

1956 02 04
Importance of field drainage – 56 02 04 & a

1956 02 06
The British Amateur Ice-Skating Championship held at Bury Fen, Earith, was attended by eight skaters who had received trials for the British Olympic team. The entry of 32 was the largest ever known but the bulk of the competitors were London rink men and local skaters had little opportunity to shine. The Drake Digby Memorial Shield for boys resident within a 40-mile radius of March was won by A Bloom of Bressingham. 56 02 06

1956 02 07
A revolutionary new kind of rail transport has been the centre of attraction at Cambridge Railway Station. The huge shining dark green diesel-engined unit is unlike the traditional train. It has higher speed, greater comfort and a complete absence of smoke. The drivers cab looks more like a scientist's workshop than the dirty, greasy footplate and the carriages resemble long-distance buses with electric devices which circulate hot air during cold weather and cooling breezes in the summer. 56 02 07a & b & c

In 1955 the Co-op bought the shop formerly known as Jacksons in High Street, Fowlmere. There were four shops – grocery, furniture and butcher's in a row – and extensive alterations would be made so they could be worked together. One had an 'off' licence for wines and spirits but customers also liked to buy beer and have it delivered. There were objections from the landlords of the Chequers and the Queen's Head and the owner of the Variety Shop so the licence was refused by magistrates. 56 02 07d-f

1956 02 08
An 82-feet long bog oak has been unearthed at Chear Farm, Stretham. The trunk was over four feet wide and weighed over eight tons. It was cut into four sections before being removed by tractor to Turpin's woodyard in Cambridge where it will be cut and dried. It will then be used to make specimen items of Old English joinery. Only once before has bog oak been used in this way and the experiment was not very successful. 56 02 08, 56 02 18b

1956 02 10
The first instalment of the new 'St Ivo School' was opened. It comprises an assembly hall, library, ten classrooms, science laboratory and specialist rooms for art and craft, woodwork and housecraft. When completed it will accommodate 600 boys and girls and provide ample accommodation for games and agricultural instruction. 56 02 10

The persons in Saffron Walden most unpopular in police eyes are the motorist with his car and the tradesmen with his van. During the past year traffic has increased and the streets in the centre are too narrow and busy for the police to permit obstruction by vehicles belonging to local businessmen and tradespeople who expect to be able to park near their premises. As soon as the police clear one street motorists obstruct others instead of using the car parks with which the town is so adequately supplied. 56 02 10c & d

East Road demolition – 56 02 10a & b

1956 02 11
A rent collector told the court he called at one hut at Bourn aerodrome and found the meter had been broken open and some cash taken; more cash was missing from other huts but at the hut occupied by the defendant's mother, all was in order. A coalman said he climbed through the windows of empty huts and took money from the meters which he spent on chocolates and cigarettes. But Chesterton RDC should not have left the meters in disused huts unemptied. 56 02 11a

Pye's new television camera is the first of its kind anywhere. It's designed to see inside a nuclear reactor and much ingenuity has gone into its manufacture. The camera will not become radio-active, but the dust it collects from the inside of the pile will be dangerous so it will be washed with detergent after use. 56 02 11b

1956 02 13
Restorations to the sanctuary of St Andrew's church, Cherry Hinton were dedicated by the Bishop of Huntingdon. The oak reredos behind the altar has been removed and the masonry restored. Memorial posts have been erected and altar curtains of blue and gold hung and the strong-course has been restored. The work has cost £600. 56 02 13

1956 02 14
Since 1947 the Great Ouse River Board has spent £950,000 on strengthening and heightening the banks in the south level in their aim to prevent a recurrence of disastrous floods. Part one of the scheme involved the cutting of a relief channel from Denver to King's Lynn. Part two: the strengthening and heightening of the banks of the Ten Mile River and the deepening of the river will begin this summer and part three, a cut-off channel around the edge of the fens will start a year or two later. But engineers are still not satisfied that if the same conditions reoccurred there would not be a break somewhere. 56 02 14c

Cambridgeshire regiment history and future – 56 02 14& a

1956 02 18
W.B. Chivers death – 56 02 18a
Roy Meldrum exhibition, artist - 56 02 18c

1956 02 20
A Roman 'rubbish pit' has been unearthed in The Stacks field at Willingham. Michael Hopkins made the discovery when fragments of pottery were brought to the surface by a tractor-drawn plough. The dumps or pits are where the housewife of the day would dispose of broken earthenware. It is the sixth to be found on the site and has yielded pottery of various types. 56 02 20

Cambridgeshire was hit by the second arctic spell over the weekend. Snow, ice and biting winds brought treacherous conditions to many of the roads, but no major accidents were reported. Last night the temperature dropped to 18 degrees, at 9am today it was 25.7. The Waterworks Company dealt with over 1,000 burst pipes over the last cold spell and expect there will be many more when the pipes thaw out after the present freeze-up. 56 02 20a

1956 02 21
The names of Cambridgeshire civilian casualties from the last war are included in a roll of honour which was handed over for safe-keeping in Westminster Abbey. It has been placed in a memorial case within a few paces of the Unknown Warrior's Grave and a page will be turned daily. It includes the names of T.R. Samsen who was killed near Oakington, Pamela Turner, an evacuee of Old Bank Prickwillow, Fred Stanley of the Hone Guard who was killed at Pampisford and Albert Stones of March. 56 02 21a & b

Fire seriously damaged Laurie and McConnal's warehouse in Willow Place, Fitzroy Street. Children and old folk were evacuated as over 50 firemen fought Cambridge's biggest fire for years in near-arctic conditions. They were taken to the Church Army Hall where, huddling round a blazing fire, they wondered what would happen to their homes. Volunteers from the Hopbine public house assisted firemen to save their furniture. 52 02 21c & d

1956 02 24
Great Eversden church was in a sorry state of repair. An anonymous visitor gave £100 towards restoring the chancel ceiling where there was woodworm and death watch beetle. Then parishioners realised there were people in the village who had built their own homes and did their own repairs, as well as a number of young craftsmen. So they borrowed scaffolding and did the work themselves, filling in cracks in buttresses and transforming its appearance. 56 02 24

1956 02 25
Mill Road Library has been transformed from 'a barn of a place' to a branch library in keeping with the present-day idea of the service. The Reading Room that occupied more space than the lending library, which issues over 1,000 books on peak days, has been reduced in size yet will still accommodate more than 40 readers and the newspapers will be displayed on slopes and tables. 56 02 25c

Shire hall court tenders deferred – 56 02 25a, 56 02 26a & c
Guilden Morden clock and rood screen – 56 02 25b

1956 02 28
Demolition is taking place in Corn Exchange Street as part of the final scheme for the redevelopment of the area. Although final plans are as yet unsettled empty offices are being demolished and the land will be used as an extension to the Lion Car Park. A number of dilapidated houses in Park Street that were condemned before the war are also being pulled down. 56 02 28b & c

Cambridgeshire regiment history – Japs – 56 02 28 & a

March 1956 CDN

1956 03 01
The National Savings Committee says 880 new street savings groups are needed and village postmasters and shopkeepers should be approached. In the last six months many groups have closed down. Savings must be made: in the 1930s when there was no money available for industry, factories closed down and there was a serious unemployment problem. We do not want that to happen again. 56 03 01d & e

A fire-eating gargantuan of a bygone era made its last journey when a steam-powered 'Super Sentinel Wagon' completed its last run at the end of a degrading tow from another vehicle. For the monster, which started service with the Gas Company in 1928, is no longer able to run on its own steam. It carried coal from Coldham's Lane sidings to the works but today stands in Messrs Silverman's scrapyard in Ditton Walk awaiting the oxy-acetylene cutters which will render it a heap of metal. 56 03 01f

Storm over ploughed-up land Quy fen. 56 03 01a-b
City police inspection. 56 03 01c

1956 03 02
Plain-clothes men filtered among the packed crowd which had gone to the Lion Hotel, Petty Cury, to hear the boss of Britain's Fascists, Sir Oswald Mosley. But the atmosphere was very different from when he came two years ago. Then it was trouble all the way. This time there were more cheers than jeers. He argued that armed war was now impossible due to the H-bomb. 56 03 02

1956 03 03
A new villa to accommodate 40 female patients at Fulbourn Mental Hospital was opened by the Minister of Health. It will be used as a social therapy unit. He referred to the 'terribly cramped conditions', saying 'if you had 900 villagers living like this you would say the Government must take immediate steps to put in right. That is the problem at Fulbourn and is typical of what is happening all over the country'. 56 03 03b & d

A neighbour complained about noises from the gentlemen's toilets at the Grasshopper public house on Mill Road and ash falling from their dustbins into her garden. But she had a grudge against the brewery & had complained about various things since 1935. The brewery had built a higher wall between them and tried to reduce noise by putting down rubber floor coverings. The license was renewed. 56 03 03c

Fulbourn hospital villa construction. 56 03 03a

1956 03 06
The Lord Mayor of London visited Cambridge to open a new block of flats for old people at Honey Hill, Northampton Street. It was the first such visit and brought a glimpse of the pageantry in which the true Londoner takes great pride. In 1936 the frontage had been bought by the council with a quarter of the cost paid by Cambridge Preservation Society and Magdalene College. But the war intervened and the site was a blot for many years. Now the Mayor presented the keys to the first tenants, Mr & Mrs H.C. Rogers. 56 03 06a-d

A captive balloon will be used for parachute jumping at Trumpington. Although intended primarily for members of the University Parachute Club, 50 'chutes have been allotted to the Cambridgeshire Regiment Parachute Light Regiment. All men now have a reserve parachute strapped to his middle as a second line of defence. 56 03 06e

1956 03 08
The lease of 'The Spindle', a little shop selling scarves, woollen items and glass animals in Downing Street, Cambridge has been extended. But the rent will increase from £150 to £260 a year. Miss Maud Pattinson said she took the premises in 1935 and converted storage space above the shop into living accommodation. During the war years – 'the American invasion' – she made a good profit. But it was a 'poky little place and Downing Street was a 'dead street' for shopping. 56 03 08

1956 03 09
An elderly spinster living alone in one room of a six-roomed house in Beche Road, Cambridge is an 'unpardonable extravagance in these days of shortage' said a judge who ordered her to leave. The rooms were in a filthy state, with four cats in one room. The kitchen was indescribable, one of the bedrooms bunged up with rubbish and builders had refused to go inside to assess the repairs needed. The owner wanted to regain possession so his newly-married son could live there. 56 03 09b & c

The East Anglian Egg Packing Station at Soham handled 27 million eggs last year. It started in 1935 with one lorry for collecting; now it has seven, covering the whole of the county. It is producer-owned and profits go back to members as a dividend and bonus on the eggs supplied. 56 03 09d

1,400 went to King & Harper film show. 56 03 09a

1956 03 12
The Cambridgeshire Orchestra, a newly formed group conducted by Ludovick Stewart, the County Music Advisor, gave its first concert. It has talented string musicians led by Anne Macnaghten and hope to add woodwind and other sections later. Arnold Ashley gave an accomplished performance of Vivaldi's concerto for cello, never faltering even in the most sprightly passages. 56 03 12

1956 03 13
Marshall's Flying School were granted permission to double the width of the 'hard land strip' on the airfield and extend it from the boundary of Coldham's Lane to the boundary of Teversham Road provided they erect suitable fences to prevent the possibility of jet slipstreams from reaching the roads. However planners feel the aerodrome is wrongly sited adjoining a residential area and that no further development should be given approval. 56 03 13a

Christ's Pieces bandstand to go. 56 03 13b

1956 03 15
Cambridgeshire Cottage Improvement Society has repaired & rethatched three cottages at Toft that were under threat of demolition. At Abington a derelict bungalow was reconditioned and a beautiful thatched cottage will be repaired. Eight of their 33 cottages are still without any interior water supply. There were always many applicants for vacant cottages but not all were suitable. 56 03 15b

1956 03 16
On Thursday Clifford Birchall recorded a programme of popular music at the Hammond organ of the Cambridge New Theatre. Although the theatre is closing, the melodies will linger on, for this recording, arranged by King and Harper, will be played during the evening performance on Sunday at the Playhouse Cinema. 56 03 16b

Swaffham Prior old clock. 56 03 16a

1956 03 17
New Theatre closes in Jubilee year – review performers. 56 03 17

1956 03 19
Chesterton Men's Club celebrated its 25th birthday. In 1931 Mrs R. Clark decided to purchase the then Mission Hall to provide men with a means to meet socially. It started off with one billiards table and facilities for darks and cards. 72 members joined on the first night and it soon had football and cricket teams. Ladies were admitted as honorary members in 1952 and the cycle accommodation was improved, a much-needed feature. 56 03 19a

The 'Slap Up' corner at Waterbeach is not as dangerous as many road users think: in the last four years there have been only six accidents and improvements are not high on the priority list. If a roundabout were built motorists would not like it, as it would mean their having to slow down. The large aerodrome had increased traffic but the road from Milton was in process of being widened and it is possible that a lay-by for lorries would be built. 56 03 19b

1956 03 20
Hallens presented a feast of films to suit the taste of motor cyclists. Most were manufacturer's promotions but it was the film produced locally which aroused the most interest. It presented an entertaining picture of local scramble scenes with shots of local characters and celebrities. Those attending can also inspect the improvements to the workshops with special stands for the repair of the increasingly popular auto-cycle and scooter forms of transport. 56 03 20a

Civil Defence welfare teams staged a Food Flying Squad Emergency Feeding demonstration. Each squad is a self-contained mobile motorised unit capable of turning out 4,000 meals at one cooking. The Cambridge unit set up an emergency kitchen to feed visitors. It was well worth queuing for: a hot and sustaining stew of meat, vegetables and potatoes followed by steamed suet pudding. 56 03 20b & c

1956 03 21
Councillors want to acquire land at Coldham's Lane to resite existing industry from the East Road and Lion Yard area. Previously the land's only use was agricultural but there would be no difficulty in selling the land for industry. There had been plans for housing development on the north side of Church End but would probably now never take place. The present houses in Rosemary Lane were on cesspools and the council put in a foul sewer. 56 03 21a-d

1956 03 23
The bell of Willingham county school, silent since 1939, will again summon pupils to their lessons. Its tolling will mark the centenary of the opening of the school built in 1856 by voluntary subscriptions and labour. An exhibition will be staged contrasting modern teaching methods with those of bygone days. The school is appealing for old exercise books or class photographs that shed light on its history. A new flag has been designed and will be flown on a new mast that is being erected in the ground. 56 03 23

Globe public house restructured. 56 03 23a

1956 03 24

The University Pakistan Association celebrated the country's first Republic Day with a visit to the Cambridge cemetery to lay wreaths and say 'Fateha' (Moslem funeral prayers) at the grave of Chaudhri Rahmat Ali, the man who first coined the word Pakistan (meaning 'the Land of the Pure'). Mr Ali lived here for a number of years and died about five years ago. The day was rounded off by a Grand Mogul Dinner at the Taj Mahal restaurant. 56 03 24c

Miller's Music Shop began a 100 years ago when Mr A.T. Miller opened a workshop in Hobson Street as an organ builder and piano repairer. The family home was above his wife's millinery shop in Sidney Street and one of the rooms was opened as a pianoforte showroom. His son introduced the sale of instruments and sheet music and later came harmoniums, gramophones, radio and television and now electronic organs and tape recorders. 56 03 24d

Camden cricket club history 75 years. 56 03 24a & b

1956 03 28
Proposals to purchase a caravan for use as a staff room at Gamlingay school were described as an insult to the whole parish. An alternative was to use a disused Isleham hut; it needed a new floor and new sides but would cost £200, a third of the price of the caravan. The village had already sacrificed two badly-needed council houses for teachers. 56 03 28a

1956 03 29
Waterbeach airfield to receive standard, history 56 squadron. 56 03 29

April 1956 CDN

1956 04 05
Bridge Street is usually one of the most congested points in Cambridge but even the pavement suffered from overcrowding when pedestrians stopped to look at a television camera which had appeared in King and Harper's showrooms. The firm has arranged demonstrations of domestic appliances and for the first time Pye industrial television equipment, operating on a closed circuit, is being used to relay them to other audiences. Everybody is assured of a clear view of what is going on. 56 04 05

1956 04 06
Maisons-Laffitte schoolchildren who have been spending 12 days in Newmarket found a BBC recording unit waiting to tape their views on their stay. It was a fitting climax to a grand holiday and will be broadcast on 'Radio Newsreel'. The most memorable event was a party arranged in the Memorial Hall when 350 French, English and American children joined in games. It was one of the best parties that Newmarket has seen for a long time – and one of the noisiest! 56 04 06a

Royston Egg Packing Station, which has been operated by R.P. Kennedy and Sons for 24 years, has been acquired by United Dairies who will collect the eggs and take them to London for retail through their 600 branches. They will be available to customers within 48 hours of grading and testing and each egg can be traced right back to its original depot. 56 04 06b

There was good news for residents of Sutton and Mepal when the War Works Commission announced they had upheld the petition against the closure of the road which runs across Mepal airfield. It was closed when the land was taken for an aerodrome during the war and will now be reopened. 56 04 06c

1956 04 10
Station masters were told that the railways had suffered from lack of capital. Following nationalisation far too much power had been taken away and there should be a closer integration of the operating, commercial and motive power departments. It was 'unfair' to the public for railways to close certain branch lines that were a 'dead weight' on their financial resources, but you can't have it both ways. There had been a number of complaints and they had become the subject of music hall jokes on the wireless, lasted in the press and lampooned in cartoons. 56 04 10a

The resignations of Mrs and Mr Ditchburn as matron and secretary of Cambridge Maternity Hospital were accepted with regret. They were jointly appointed in 1934 when it was a ten-bedded public assistance institution and during the war became a transit hospital. Now it had grown to a 100-bedded institution and maternity training hospital of high repute and much of its success was owed to them. 56 04 10b

1956 04 11
The death has occurred of Elijah Moore, one of the best-known figures in the Newmarket racing world. He opened his commission agency in 1890 at the Three Tuns before moving to Kingston Passage before the Great War. He owned some very useful racehorses including Lembach who won a number of races in the 1920s. His shooting activities made him internationally famous and he won the Monte Carlo Grand Prix for live pigeon shooting in 1911. 56 04 11

1956 04 12
A house in Primrose Street, Cambridge was damaged by a three-tonner lorry belonging to the London Brick Company that had been taking bricks to the Council building site at the Croft. It crashed into the front of the house and bricks in the front room began to split through the wallpaper. Then it hit again and cracks appeared in the wall of an upstairs bedroom. The owner rushed out and shouted "You're knocking my house down" at the driver. Builders from the nearby site arrived to bolster up the front with struts. 56 04 12

1956 04 13
St Ives council agreed a five-year slum clearance programme. Seventeen houses in Green Street will be followed by others in Cumberland Place, Woolpack Lane, Nicholas Lane and Church Street. When they become vacant they should not be re-let but be demolished. When a house in Botchergate Buildings becomes vacant steps will be taken to ensure it is not again used for human habitation. 56 04 13a

Huntingdon Coursing Club had arranged wonderful meetings. The world of coursing had experienced its ups and downs and members had been confronted by the 'anti blood antagonists' who had managed to gain the support of a section of the Press; but at present these people appear to have quietened down. Soon enthusiasts could attend a three-day classic meeting at Huntingdon. 56 04 13b

1956 04 14
A robot cigarette lighter which works when it is whistled to has been installed in the Earl Grey public house by a Pye research engineer. For those who cannot whistle it will oblige when the word 'light' is spoken to it; it will even light a cigar, but puts its foot down when confronted with a pipe. The small, one-valve gadget, is also a money collector for the blind people of Cambridge. 56 04 14a

An enthusiast group of people has been busy digging out a Roman well found at the Hamilton Stud, Exning. The first seven feet consisted of rubble used to fill it in but then every pailful of soil contained fragments of pottery. Some coins, several bones and the horn of an animal have also been found and sent to the University for identification. 56 04 14b # c.41

One of the old properties just demolished in Park Street, Cambridge – no.60 – has a famous connection. Back in1853 a young schoolmaster called Charles Haddon Spurgeon who lived there put an advertisement in the paper saying he intended to take six young gentlemen as day pupils. Teaching would include arithmetic, geometry and mensuration, scripture, Latin and Greek at a cost of £5 per annum. He became an eloquent preacher and, after doing great work in Waterbeach, was called to London where he addressed a gathering of 23,000 people at the Crystal Palace. 56 04 14c

1956 04 16

Is the old-style village hall dying? Many say the coming of Village Colleges is sounding their death-knell and television has reduced attendances. But you watch tv in the dark and people think the village college rather snobbish and are afraid to go there. If the youth are moving to the big towns for their entertainment this did not matter, for the really important people in the village are the young married who cannot get away so easily and they need a cheerful place to go to. 56 04 16

1956 04 18
Three new almshouses built under a bequest from Miss C.L. Elbourn were dedicated at Bassingbourn. They are of bungalow type, well-built and pleasant, with a sitting-dining room with an all-purpose stove, a bedroom, kitchen and bathroom. The first occupants are Mr & Mrs A.W. Billett, aged 75, Miss Elizabeth Chamberlain (88) and Arthur Loates (83). 56 04 18

1956 04 19
An enquiry heard that Cambridge City Council had wanted to purchase land at the junction of Fitzroy Street and Wellington Street, pull down the old houses and use the land to re-site industry displaced from the East Road area. They offered to pay the current price but the owner, a former chairman of the Council's Finance Committee, said that if the land had potential for light industry then the price should be higher. Eventually negotiations broke down. Now he applied to redevelop the area, but the council opposed his plans. 56 04 19a & b

1956 04 21
Moving Bertram Mills circus from town to town is a massive undertaking. The catering manager has a real problem. Practically every human mouth in the show is his responsibility and he works a week ahead, buying all his supplies from the tradespeople in the place the circus is to visit. Imagine walking into a grocer's shop and demanding a half-ton of potatoes, or calling on the local dairy for 77 gallons of milk. But the well-fed, contented faces on the show ground are a testimony to his efficiency. 56 04 21a

The demolition of the bandstand on Christ's Pieces jogged memories for Robert Austin who played on it as a band-boy, bandsman and conductor for over 45 years. It was originally built for the Royal Show on Midsummer Common and afterwards re-erected on the Pieces. It was lighted by naked gas jets which usually blew out and had to be re-lit several times during a performance. The Volunteers, Police and Town bands - between all of whom there was intense rivalry – played there. It was also used for mass meetings and an annual open-air service of Cambridge Men's Brotherhood. 56 04 21c

The origin of Thoday Street – 56 04 21b

1956 04 24
'Spare-time soldiering goes back to Napoleonic days – detailed review article – 56 04 24a –b

1956 04 25
S.E. Pennell, Coach driver of the year – Premier Travel – 56 04 25 & a

1956 04 26
Since the Cambridge sewage purification works at Milton Road were first built, over 60 years ago, treatment has consisted of settlement in tanks followed by passing the sewage to land areas from which is drained into the river. Now new extensions are being built, all sewage will be properly purified and land treatment will be ended for ever. At a later stage gas driven off during the drying process will be burnt to drive electricity generators for the works and for a new pumping station at Cheddars Lane. 56 04 26a

A Central School girl claims to have seen a flying saucer over Milton and Impington. "It came towards me at a very fast rate and disappeared back in the direction it had come. There were little windows all round it", she said. Asked whether it could have been the airborne elephant from Bertram

Mills circus straying slightly off course she laughed and said “That is impossible”. Nothing would shake her belief that this was a flying saucer. 56 04 26b

1956 04 28
Christs Pieces bandstand from Royal Show 1894 – 56 04 28c

The Duchess of Kent visited RAF Waterbeach to present it with its Standard, the greatest honour to be bestowed on 56 Fighter Squadron in its lengthy history. It is awarded only to squadrons of 25 years’ standing or with a history of special outstanding operations. Afterwards she had difficulty signing the visitors’ book because of cold fingers; the signature looks a little indistinct and shaky 56 04 28a

May 1956 CDN

1956 05 01
The Christian Brethren opened their new Queen Edith Hall in Wulfstan Way. It is an undertaking of faith and cost a great deal of money but now they have a splendid position in the centre of what would be the ultimate building estate. 56 05 01

1956 05 05
The Diocesan Ringers rang the first peal since the war on the beautiful bells at Soham church. It was J. Burford’s composition of 5,040 changes of Cambridge Surprise Royal in keeping in complexity with the methods rung by the famous Soham Youths nearly 150 years ago. They commenced in 1790 and rang until 1830 after which nothing more was heard of their exploits and by 1874 ringing had practically ceased. It restarted in 1924 when, after renovation, a Cambridge Band rang a peal of Bob Major. After the war the bells were condemned as unsafe. Now much has been done to repair dilapidated fittings and no member of the band was unduly distressed on completion of the task, which occupied three hours 10 minutes. 56 05 05b

Britain is on the brink of war. Enemy forces are massed against us and it appears only a matter of hours that the first attack of World War Three will come. Although the man in the street is unaware of it the Army and Civil Defence are taking part in the biggest defence exercise the world has yet seen. It envisages evacuation of 800,000 people from London and authorities have joined together in the war room at Brooklands Avenue to assess the situation. 56 05 05a

One of the burning subjects of the day in Cambridge is the problem of parking cars. Council officials should visit the Mechanical Handling Exhibition at Earls Court at which will be demonstrated an entirely new approach to car parking in congested areas. The system makes use of a fork truck adapted for picking-up all types and sizes of cars and placing them on the top two shelves of a three-tier scheme. It is cheap to erect and two or three times as many cars can be parked within a given area. 56 05 05c

1956 05 07
An auction of ‘Maypole Farm’ Orwell, being sold on behalf of the Ministry of Agriculture, collapsed after an 87-year-old farmer protested. Mr Richard Long told bidders: “I claim this farm is mine. I owned it for 33 years, then the Ministry took it away from me by compulsory purchase. If anybody buys it he has got me to deal with". It was illegal for a Government department to sell property acquired by compulsory purchase, he said. After the protest there were no bids from the farmers present and it was withdrawn. 56 05 07a

Biggest combined Civil Defence and military operation seen anywhere – co-ordinated from Brooklands Avenue – 56 05 07

1956 05 08
Addenbrooke's Hospital Home of Recovery at Hunstanton is used for pre-convalescent and post-operating patients. Cases can be sent down much sooner than to their own homes; hospital beds are cleared quicker and they are able to take in other patients. In 1955 687 patients stayed at the home which has now been extended with a new sitting room and sun lounge. 56 05 08 & a

1956 05 09
The manager of Cambridge's Regal Cinema, Mr C.G. Mangold, won a glittering emerald-green Messerschmitt three-wheeler presented by 'Kinematograph Weekly' in conjunction with Columbia Pictures for arranging publicity for the film 'A Prize of Gold'. He organised a car rally, window displays and a personal visit of Andrew Ray. Mr Mangold is one of the outstanding managers in A.B.C. and has won a host of distinctions. 56 05 09

King's Parade was chosen to demonstrate how an ordinary Austin saloon car fits comfortably in the cargo carrying space of the British Straddle-Carrier, a heavy transport vehicle manufactured at Bourn. Because of its peculiar shape it easily handles awkward loads, obviating the need for cranes and overhead gantries. It can be seen at the Mechanical Handling Exhibition at Earl's Court. 56 05 09a

1956 05 10
Cambridge University is to lease the R.A.F. station at Lord's Bridge as the site for a new Mullard Radio Astronomy Observatory. Planning permission has been obtained for the aerials and a building will be erected to provide a laboratory. Costs will not exceed £180,000 much of which will be met by a generous benefaction from Mullard Ltd. 56 05 10

1956 05 11
Cambridge Instrument Company history – 56 05 11a, b, c.

1956 05 12
The Cambridge Employment Exchange at Newnham used to be a school and the exterior is a little drab. But inside an astounding transformation has taken place. Now it is bright and pleasant, with pastel shades and the setting up of cubicles in which business may be conducted with a welcome degree of privacy. The Women's Section too has been decorated. 56 05 12

No houses at Hangman's Corner – 56 05 12a

1956 05 14
Milk bottles shattered in crash outside Folk Museum – 56 05 14

1956 05 15
Danny Kaye, the world-famous comedian visited Cambridge Guildhall and in the 50 minutes he occupied the stage he promised to 'liberate' the wives of University Dons and sang popular songs such as 'Ugly Duckling'. But his visit had a more serious purpose. He is on a world tour with a camera team making a film about the children of the world for U.N.I.C.E.F. His arrival and departure caused a minor riot. Crowds besieged his car, seeking autographs. 56 05 15a & b & c

Cambridge Technical college new block handed over – 56 05 15d

1956 05 16
The White Horse Riding Establishment in Barton Road, Cambridge, has been used as a riding school for 35 years and has stabling for 24 horses. Much of the teaching takes place on land down Grange Road and it would reduce the dangers for inexperienced riders taking horses down Barton Road if they had an Indoor Riding School. But neighbours complained that it was noisy and smelly and a relic of the past. Horse boxes unloaded on the pavement and children stacked their bikes against the wall when they popped in to give the horses tit-bits. 56 05 16a

Some 250 boys travelled to the Abington Camp to celebrate the 40th birthday of Cubbing. The Union Jack was ceremonially broken and the Grand Howl taken by the Cub Master, A.W. Rider. Then came events including tossing the caber, throwing the plate and tug of war. Each cub had brought sausages and each pack prepared its own fire and cooked for themselves. 56 05 16

Is the installation of television in a public house beneficial to the licensee or appreciated by customers? It may attract people to the pub when there is a big sporting programme but has not much use generally. Mr Ecclestone told Licensed Victuallers: "It is a menace and a curse of the 20th-century". It ruined the atmosphere and took the place of conversation There should be notices outside pubs saying 'No television here, we are civilised'. 56 05 16b & c

The first Cambridge Committee for National Savings was formed in December 1916 and two of the first workers still living are R.P. Thorne and Mrs Widdison. In 1919 the Chairman was persuaded by the head of the Cambridge School of Flying to drop six War Bonds together with lots of leaflets from a low-flying aircraft. He suffered only temporary discomforts from stunt flying in the open type of aircraft of those days. 56 05 16

1956 05 17
Danny Kaye at cinema – 56 05 17

1956 05 19
Cambridge Albion Angling Society celebrated its 50th birthday with a dinner at the Dorothy Café. They owed much of their success to the work of the late Jack Cartwright, the 'Grand Old Man' of the Albion during the difficult years of two world wars. Since the war no sport had recruited the vast numbers that angling had done. They now had more than 1,500 members. 56 05 19

1956 05 22
Homerton college students of every generation gathered to present, Miss A.H. Skillicorn, with a pair of wrought iron gates to mark her 21 years as Principal. They were designed by Miss M.R. Harrison, one of her first students. The new wing was an outward sign of its growth and development. Miss Skillicorn had been responsible for an era of great achievement and enhanced its strong traditions. 56 05 22

Mepal bridge scheme deferred – 56 06 22c

1956 05 23
Cambridgeshire Agricultural Society was formed in 1863 and held its first show in a field between St Paul's Church and Station Road, Cambridge. Today the County Show requires 70 acres of land with covered accommodation for stock, displays and catering to cope with an attendance of some 20,000 people a day. Apart from 1924 when there was an outbreak of foot and mouth disease it has been held every year except during the wars and when the Royal Show was held in Cambridge in 1894, 1922 and 1951. It is a shop window for agriculture and enables the farmer to keep abreast of modern developments in mechanisation. 56 05 23a

Ely Sailing Club has opened its third new clubhouse on the on the site of one that was burnt down. Its original headquarters disappeared into Roswell waters during the winter of 1950-51. The Commodore, Dr K.S. Maurice-Smith, said "It is only five months since we were paddling here in charred wood and rubble". Now they have a well-equipped and comfortable building which has taken all their available resources. 56 05 23c

1956 05 24
Princess Alexandra was fascinated by a close-up view of a Vampire training aircraft when she visited RAF Oakington Flying Training Command Station and asked if she could have a ride. She burst into laughter at the sight of the pilot wearing the latest type of space-man crash helmet. It was her first visit to the Royal Air Force and she was Reviewing Officer at a passing-out parade for 15 newly-qualified pilots. 56 05 24a b c

1956 05 25
A Cambridge man was injured when he fell with a rotten electricity pole on which he had been working at the Milton Road Army camp. Several poles had blown down in a storm in March 1953. The Clerk of Works said that as that one had withstood the gale he had assumed it was safe. 56 05 25a

Through winding country lanes, townspeople and rural folk went to Ely for the opening of the first two-day county show for 50 years. As they travelled they passed fields of growing crops urgently in need of rain. The show has a reputation for being one of the finest in the agricultural calendar but had become so vast that visitors have found it difficult to take in all aspects. Now they have much more time and over 20,000 visitors attended the second day. 56 05 25b, 56 05 28a, 56 05 28b

Territorial Army – 56 05 29a

Civic history was made when Councillor Mrs M. Hudson was elected Mayor of St Ives. She is the first woman ever to hold this high position. She came in 1920 with her late husband, an artist on the staff of Enderby and Company, and was elected the first lady councillor in 1945 with more than 1,000 votes, a record. She must have wished for the company of another lady whilst being 'smoke-dried' by a lot of men in the committee room, now Miss Grove has joined her. 56 05 25c

1956 05 29
Joseph Lucas appealed against the County's refusal to permit them to erect a service depot on 'virtually derelict' land at Milton. The back part was gravel pits, now worked out and it had been used for breaking up of army vehicles. It was too small for agricultural purposes, but not zoned for industry. Planners were looking forwards 25 years when further development had taken place in Milton and Cambridge: it would be desirable to separate the two entities and have an open patch in between. But it was an objectionable site and nobody would want to go there for pleasure. 56 05 29b & c

1956 05 30
Rain a 'godsend' to farmers – 56 05 30a
Johnnie Johnson revisits Marshalls where he learned to fly – 56 05 30b

1956 05 31
Sanitary arrangements at Great Shelford School are in a deplorable condition. The first part of a scheme to enlarge the school was carried out in 1954, including modern sanitary accommodation but the managers were advised to retain the existing lavatories instead of building a septic tank for the new one since a main sewer was expected. But Chesterton RDC had not acted and the increased number of children now made new lavatories urgent. 56 05 31b, 56 06 05 & a

Butchers making little more than a bare living – 56 05 31a

June 1956 CDN

1956 06 06
The pilot of a Mark 5 Vampire training jet based at R.A.F. Oakington was forced to bale out of his machine while flying over Littleport. He landed safely in Camel Road and the plane crashed at the side of a cornfield at Black Bank, Lt Downham causing a crater 15 feet deep. Norah Garner and Neville Constable ran to the wreckage and could see there was no one in it. The nose was sticking up in the air. 56 06 06a

Mr Giddens of Gwydir Street cannot claim to be Cambridge's oldest allotment holder, but few will dispute that he is the oldest active gardener locally. At the age of 92 he has potatoes ready for digging and peas for picking, with broad beans in flower and runners, onions and carrots coming along nicely. On top of this he looks after a few chickens. 56 06 06b

1956 06 12
Territorial Army sappers erected a bridge across the Cam to act as a substitute for the Jesus Green footbridge which is temporally closed for repairs. A large crowd watched them build the floating bays made up of folding boats, road bearers and decking. The folding boat equipment bridge is normally used by 3-ton military lorries but the City Surveyor has added additional handrails for public use. 56 06 12

1956 06 13
Three optimistic young undergraduates from Downing College – one on roller skates, one on a child's bicycle and a third on a scooter - departed on an all-night journey to Oxford. Looking bronzed and fit they thought this a better method of recovering from the strain of examination that a night at the balls. In the twilight the three heroic figures could be seen silhouetted against a red-streaked sky over Huntingdon Road, followed by a band of cyclists giving moral support as they swept into the gloom. 56 06 13

1956 06 15
Residents of Hale Street, Cambridge, petitioned against the large numbers of cars parked in the street every evening, sometimes bumper to bumper along both sides of the road. Their evening television entertainment has been ruined by continual interference from the vehicles and children woken up late at night by revving car engines and slamming doors. An elderly lady in a corner house recently had a bedroom ceiling fall down. She claims excessive vibration from the cars helped it to collapse. 56 06 15

1956 06 16
Isle MP, Major Harry Legge-Bourke opposed the Rabbits Bill: whenever man tried to upset the balance of nature he created as many troubles as he solved. Because of a lack of rabbits foxes were feeding on animals they had never troubled before. He wanted to prevent further breeding of rabbits, but this was not the way to do it: it would over-burden the police constables and be unenforceable. 56 06 16a

1956 06 18
Herbert Robinson's contemporary-style filling and service station has opened on the London Road at Trumpington. It is one of the most up-to-date in the country. All groups of Shell petrols are supplied from the latest type pumps and an Avery Hardoll 'Petroiler' for two-stroke motor-cycles is also available while the latest type Weaver auto-wash equipment will clean any car in 15 minutes. 56 06 18a

Continual rain affected attendance at the Hunts Agricultural Show, held at Houghton Hill, St Ives: only 6,000 visited, compared to 10,000 at St Neots last year. The Combined Royal Marines Bands arrived seemingly unperturbed by the downpour and marched through the town's main streets to the showground where they presented a programme of music including selections from 'South Pacific' as the rain became even more heavy. 56 06 18b

1956 06 22
Following a nuclear attack on the Midlands, a 20-kiloton bomb burst over Cambridge, causing moderate to severe damaged for a radius of two miles and many casualties. This was the scenario for a combined army and civil defence exercise. Reinforcements were badly needed but the convoy could not pass through the city because of the 'damage' and had to follow a complicated route around it. 56 06 22a

Colourful 'statues' filled the arched niches of Neville's Court, Trinity College: they were part of an original, costumed masque performed by members of the Women's Institute. Entitled 'Garden Vistas' the pageant was written by Mrs Joshua Taylor of Abington. Some of the dialogue was lost against the vastness of the court and the echoed murmurings of casual visitors under the colonnaded cloisters but the colourful costumes ensure delighted viewing. 56 06 22b

1956 06 23
Crowds swarmed around the 'Jollity Farm' for the traditional opening of Midsummer Fair by the Mayor. Excitement rose as Mr S. Thurston announced that all rides on the 'Dodgems' would be free. The music started and 'Davy Crocket' blended happily with 'Sugar Bush' from the other side of the fairground. Space rockets and high-powered machines have been introduced but they will never outdo the old favourites such as the ghost house, the mat and the horses. 56 06 23a

A wall of a house at Parker Terrace, East Road is in such 'alarming condition' it is in danger of collapsing on nearby property. There was a large bulge in the centre of the wall, hanging five inches over the foundations, but the elderly lady occupying it is unwilling to move. The owner was ordered to have it demolished or repaired within 21 days. 56 06 23b

1956 06 25
Cambridge Business and Profession Women's Club opened their block of flats on Harding Way and handed six lucky women their keys to brand new self-contained homes. They have coal bunkers and Ascot hot-water heaters for sinks and baths. Faced with the overwhelming need for accommodation for single ladies in Cambridge, when it proved impossible to find a house, they had the braveness and energy to find £1,000 to form their own housing society. 56 06 25

1956 06 26
The National Hospital Service Reserve competition for mobile first-aid units was held on the City Football Ground. It trains men and women to deal with the emergencies of everyday life and in wartime provide an immediate medical service in the field for walking casualties, relieving pressure on the hospitals. It has over 43,000 members. 56 06 26

1956 06 29
Special precautions were taken by the BBC to avoid disturbance from the League of Empire Loyalists when 'Commonwealth Town Forum' was broadcast from Cambridge Guildhall. Four stewards and a plain-clothed detective stood by for possible annoyance and a special microphone was ready to cut out audience noises. But the only trouble was a small outburst from obvious members of the party which passed almost un-noticed. 56 06 29a

Cambridge councillors rejected proposals for a larger roundabout at the Four Lamps, Victoria Avenue. It would involve taking land from the corner of Butts Green which would lead to protests. In due course bridges would be erected across the river to take much of the traffic. But cars often smashed traffic bollards because they could not get round. Traffic lights were the best solution. 56 06 29b

Something must be done about the 'intolerable stench' from the Milton sewage farm; the recent smells were the worst for 24 years; perhaps disinfectant could be used to tone them down. Farmers wanted a plant to convert the sewage sludge into compost – many were buying it from places like Manchester. 56 06 29c

1956 06 30
Lightning struck a farm building containing valuable implements at Hall Farm, Barton Mills. The thatched roof caught light and £2,500 worth of equipment was destroyed; only one tractor was saved. A life insurance agent who was at the farm at the time used a fire extinguisher while the owner summoned the fire brigade. A Mildenhall man saw the flash of lightning and thought 'a ball of fire' had fallen on the farm. 56 06 30a

If the number of cars increases motorists won't be able to get in to Cambridge very easily because of all the stationary cars cluttering up the streets and the whole problem of parking is extremely frustrating. It is time to get tough. If we must set up car parks outside the city and run the people in by special buses then we mustn't hesitate. But the land once occupied by the old Shire Hall courts on Castle Hill would make a good site for a multi-deck car park. 56 03 30b

Woolworth's application for a licence for a pet shop met criticism from councillors. Everyone knew the vast crowds who went into their Cambridge store and the noise made there - conditions which would worsen as even bigger crowds would be attracted. The animals would be kept in the same premises as food, much of which was open. People who kept pets under these conditions should go out of business. 56 06 30c

July 1956 CDN

1956 07 06
An ancient certificate will stir memories of older readers who remember the Mammoth Shows. It was presented to Alphonso Smith, a boot and shoe maker, and records that he ascended in balloon 'Enchantress' from Cambridge on August 7th 1911 and descended at Exning one hour later. It is signed by Percival Spencer, aeronaut of Highbury whose other activities included parachute descents and airship flying. 56 07 06a

A Lyndome twin caravan has been specially designed for Gamlingay County School. When joined together on site it will have a main staff room in one half and a private room and kitchenette in the other. BBC Television visited the school to record the opening of a new play corner and paddling pool created on a rubbish heap by headmaster J.T. Robinson and the woodwork master, Mr N. Freeman. It will be shown on Children's newsreel. 56 07 06b. 56 07 11

1956 07 07
A Chivers bus which has covered over one million miles since 1929 has been handed over to the British Transport Commission museum. It is a Leyland Titan petrol-engined double-deck vehicle acquired from by the National Omnibus Transport Co., London in 1937 to transport fruit pickers. It has an outside staircase by which passengers made their way to the fully enclosed and comfortable compartment above. 56 07 07a

1956 07 10
Naylors, the hardware dealers and ironmongers have replaced two shops at 38 Hills Road, Cambridge, with one new one with three times as much store room. It was designed by Ellis and Macleod and built by Johnson and Bailey. There are several unusual features including the window glass of the demonstration frontage reaching right down to the pavement where there will be demonstrations of paper hanging and paint scraping. 56 07 10

1956 07 14
Mr Stanley Woolston has removed his antiques business to Pembroke Street. It is a wrench to leave his former premises in St Andrew's Street after 30 years where he has been honoured by the gracious patronage of members of the Royal Family. But the buildings have been affected by the redevelopment of Emmanuel Street and plans to link Drummer Street with a shopping arcade. He will retain his warehouse at the end of Bradwell's Yard until the area is ripe for rebuilding. 56 07 14

Sir - Outside the 'university' area, Cambridge is as ugly and undistinguished a muddle of streets and buildings as can be found anywhere in England. In large areas you could think yourself in either a mining town (smoke and all) or the suburbs of East London. Shopping is universally dreaded especially at weekends when the entire population within a radius of 25 miles converges on half a dozen shabby little streets and the tourist invasions on Sundays turn the place into a sort of Southend, though without its amenities or gaieties – Guardian. 56 07 14a & b

1956 07 16
The Princess Royal visited Ely R.A.F. Hospital. She toured the operating theatre, chapel, television room, library and wards, where she spoke to Mrs Eliza Bowles and Hilda Joyce of Ely. In the children's ward three small patients played contentedly with their toys; the youngest was three-year old Geoffrey Beswick, son of a sergeant stationed at Upwood. When reporters entered he called out 'Hello, mans. Look', holding up a rubber toy. 56 07 16a

Cambridge is beginning to taste the bogey of a serious traffic problem for the first time. The council has tried roundabouts, one-way street and traffic lights but the situation will worsen unless some drastic is done soon. It takes so long looking for a parking space that it would be quicker to leave the car a mile away and walk. It is better to ban all traffic from the city centre than to knock down buildings to accommodate new relief roads. Maybe this answer is too easy and not costly enough for our planners! 56 07 16b

1956 07 17
Distinguished statesmen gathered at the Madingley American Cemetery for the dedication of the outstandingly beautiful chapel. There were messages from the Queen and President Eisenhower whose wife was amongst the guests. Air Chief Marshal 'Bomber' Harris said it marked the centre of the area from which American bombing planes operated during the war. Nearly 90,000 American Servicemen who lost their lives had been commemorated by the chapel. 56 07 17 & a

1956 07 20
Samples of water taken from the River Ouse at Huntingdon after many fish were killed on the Newton stretch of the river contained traces of cyanide. It came from the normal effluent discharge from Huntingdon Council's septic tank at Hartford. No other sources of pollution were found and the only chemical spraying was using a non-toxic weed killer. It was important that the district pollution prevention officer should be on the telephone, but the Post Office did not have the necessary equipment. 56 07 20b

Since the Queen had her ears pierced there has been a tremendous increase in the wearing of earrings. George Pickering of King Street Cambridge has been piercing ears for nine years. His clients have ranged from three years old to 85, although there are not as many tiny children as there used to be. Just recently he had a queue of girls from a Haverhill factory. He started his watch repair and jewellery business after the war in a little shop where the Home Guard used to clean their rifles. 56 07 20a

1956 07 21
A cantata 'Fen and Flood' for soprano, baritone, chorus and orchestra composed by Prof Patrick Hadley with words by Charles Cudworth will receive its first public performance at the King's Lynn Festival. It was originally performed privately by the Gonville and Caius Chorus and has been rearranged by Dr Vaughan Williams. The orchestration includes a wind machine. 56 07 21 a & b

1956 07 23
The Cambridge Marbles Championships held in the grounds of Mansfield Hall, River Lane, had an international flavour with entries from Germany and France. It was opened by Wilfrid Mansfield, leader of the New Street Men's Bible Class, who was challenged by the wife of an RAF chaplain. The champion was James Howlett who beat 12-year-old Frank Heryet in an exciting contest. 56 07 23b

Councillors received a report on the redevelopment of the East Road comprehensive development area. The first stage provides for 51 dwellings – maisonettes, flats and houses – to house 206 people, as well as six shops and seven garages. Two more stages will see 212 dwellings, housing 737 people. There will be a district heating scheme from a central boiler house for the supply of hot water throughout the estate. 56 07 23a

1956 07 24
Isolated & tranquil, the little village of Heydon stands high on the hills overlooking Royston. But one night in 1940 a stray German bomb fell at the base of the church tower and the building was practically demolished. After the war the parishioners held their services in the Rectory and negotiated with the War Damage Commission over the rebuilding. On Sunday a crowed congregation attended the official re-dedication service. 56 07 24 & a

1956 07 26
As part of the 21st anniversary celebrations of Chesterton Boy's School 320 boys and staff travelled by special train to London for a pleasant day's outing. The visited London Airport, Kew Gardens and Westminster Hall where they were guided by local MP, Mr Hamilton Kerr. Others went to the Zoo and on a river trip to the Maritime Museum at Greenwich. 56 07 26a

St James church extension dedicated. 56 07 26b

1956 07 28
All four members of the crew of an American B.47 strato-jet were killed when it crashed a caught fire at Lakenheath air base while practising landings and take-offs. American fire-fighters were joined by the Mildenhall Fire Service in extinguishing the blaze and personnel working in buildings nearby were evacuated because of the danger of fuel tanks exploding. The B.47 is a swept-wing medium bomber designed to carry a bomb load of 20,000 lbs and can carry an Atomic Bomb. 56 07 28a

Non-Cambridge users of the City Library service will have to pay more to borrow their books. The annual subscription is to rise from five to ten shillings to take account of the increasing cost of providing the service. It seems unlikely that many will discontinue their subscription as last month nearly 60,000 books were issued. Another change sees the scrapping of tickets on which only 'non fiction' books could be borrowed. Now readers can have three tickets for any books. This will help readers who do not remember on which particular ticket a book has been issued. 56 07 28b

Robinson Crusoe footbridge linking Sheep's Green with Coe Fen was built years before Fen Causeway Bridge and was then the only way across the river. But it was now structurally unsound and should be closed. Coun A.C. Taylor said he once used it three times a week to go to the Sheep's Green bathing shed but now few people knew where it was; Coun Mrs Henn said she'd lived in the area for 30 years and never had occasion to use it. 56 07 30

August 1956 CDN

1956 08 01
Proposed alterations to the interior of St Andrew's church, Soham have led to the resignation of the clerk to the Parochial Church Council. He feels it wrong to bring the choir from the chancel into the transept. "The choir is very small and I think the Vicar should have a go at getting a choir before tackling these alterations", he said. It could be heard better in the new position but the seating was uncomfortable. He was the only one with the courage to speak out, others were against but they voted for the changes, said a parishioner. 56 08 01a

1956 08 04
A whale's jawbone was amongst items discovered in a dig to reveal the exact lines of the medieval castle at the County Hall site, Cambridge. It dates from the Victorian period and may have been discarded by a museum and thrown upon the site when it was used as a rubbish dump. 56 08 04a

A ten-year old boy from No.7 hut, Carlton Green was drowned when he went, with other children, swimming in an emergency water tank at the old W.A.A.F. site at Weston Colville. The Fire Brigade was called and recovered the body after pumping the water from the tank. The coroner will hold an inquest at Linton police station. 56 08 04b

1956 08 08
An American airman from RAF Mildenhall appeared in court. He had been driving his powerful American car along the Bury Road when he suddenly swerved, demolished the A.A. box at the Tollbar and went along the grass verge before continuing on his way. He was fined £12 for driving in a dangerous manner and £1 for parking at Snailwell without lights. 56 08 08

1956 08 10
Messrs Alpersons purchased Oaks Lodge in Fordham Road, Newmarket in 1955 and obtained planning permission to develop it for light industry. They were now building a considerable factory to manufacture caravans on an international scale. At present they made 2,000 a year and hoped this would double. They wanted to erect a filling station to meet a public need. But fumes from petrol had a detrimental effect on sensitive brood mares; it would impact on the bloodstock industry and be quite out of place, an inquiry heard. 56 08 10

1956 08 13
The Lord Bishop of Ely, Dr Harold Wynn, has died aged 67. He studied at Trinity Hall and Ely Theological College and his ordination at Jesus College in 1912 was the first there since the Reformation. He was a chaplain to the forces in France and Italy during the Great War, being mentioned in dispatches and awarded the Croce di Guerra. Afterwards he was vice-principal of Westcott House and Dean of Pembroke College, where he abolished compulsory chapel, before being appointed Bishop in May 1941. 56 08 13

1956 08 16
The pink-overalled corps of women known as the 'Home Helps Service' are available to homes where there are expectant mothers, elderly people, those who are ill and small children in need of care. The 250 ladies cook, clean, shop, wash and iron, receiving 2s 10d an hour. One helper isn't exactly a housewifery expert but was always in some small trouble of her own. 'We like having her', the old people said, 'she brings us a bit of excitement!' 56 08 16

1956 08 17
Tucked away in the bustling heart of Histon stands an enchanting medieval house steeped in history, and overrun with spirits. The ghosts of this quaint house include a debonair cavalier, a copper-haired Puritan, a malevolent Roundhead and a solemn but kindly priest. 'We treat them like old friends', says the lady of the house. 56 08 17 & a

1956 08 18
Rev R.L. Hale became vicar of Longstanton in 1950 where in addition to his spiritual duties he took a great interest in young people's activities and two years ago conducted a service which was broadcast from All Saint's church. He has been officiating Church of England chaplain to RAF Oakington where in an unobtrusive way he made his presence felt at ceremonial services, passing-out parades and prayers. Now he is leaving for a large housing estate at Sheffield. 56 08 18

1956 08 20
Sir – my father, J.R. Bennett, a master builder, constructed a chimney for the Star Brewery at Newmarket Road, Cambridge. Boy-like I used to play round the site and one day about 1889, when the work was almost complete, he made me climb the ladders up the scaffolding and stand on the extreme summit, saying 'You will be the only one who will ever stand there' – G.A. Bennett, Wisbech. 56 08 20

1956 08 21
When the Suez crisis threw the country into turmoil it meant there were no Regular Army personnel to assist the Cambridgeshire Army Cadet Force. Their annual camp was cancelled but instead 200 boys moved into the Coldham's Lane Territorial Training Centre. They had to beg, borrow or steal all sort of equipment but a full programme of training was carried out with shooting on the Barton Road range and trips around the colleges. 56 08 21

1956 08 24

When Hadstock airfield was constructed as a wartime measure it lay directly over the public highway to Little Walden. Post-war motorists were allowed to use part of the perimeter road at their own risk but now, after ten years, work has finally started on a replacement road across the fields. 56 08 24

1956 08 29
The Observatory domes on Madingley Road house the most up-to-date astronomical instruments. Dr D. W. Dewhirst said the 36-inch reflecting telescope cost around £40,000; it has a mirror accurate to two-millionths of an inch that has to be kept at constant temperature with fans drawing cool night air over it. Various pieces of apparatus are designed and constructed in the workshops to measure the brightness of stars. 56 08 29

1956 08 31
Sir – I went to Longstowe School where I took a shilling to help buy a spinal carriage for a sick village child. After she recovered the carriage was taken to the vicarage to store. During the Great War my dear sister was stricken with poliomyelitis. After a long time in bed I took her out each day in that same carriage. I remember the teacher saying 'You never thought when you gave up that shilling that you would one day be helping your sister' – M. Sewell. 56 08 31a

At Oakington airfield there is a station cinema, the NAAFI provides television and haircuts and shoe repairs are free. A civilian tailor comes every week to fit the men for their uniforms and pyjamas are part of the Service issue. There is one full armed parade a month but most time is devoted to teaching young pilots to fly. It has enough ground staff for a large village since it takes from 50 to 80 people to keep one plane in the air, most are fitters and mechanics who tend the Vampires. 56 08 31d & e

September 1956 CDN

1956 09 01
Last year Cambridge station sent over 900,000 people safely on their way, another 1,000 a day were transferred from one train to another without passing through the ticket barriers. During rush periods they can send 'The Fenman' on its way only two minutes after arriving although hundreds of passengers get on and off and scores of parcels taken from brake vans. In the telegraph office where the most up-to-date teleprinters and signalling equipment are installed, 1,300 telegrams and 1,200 phone messages a day are dealt with. 56 09 01-a-b

1956 09 05
Histon ghost stories – letters – 56 09 05a & b

1956 09 06
Messrs W.J. Adkins have been granted permission to build a slaughterhouse at Rosemary Lane, Cherry Hinton. The proposal raised strong controversy among local residents but the land was already allocated for industrial use. The firm operate three pork product shops and their existing slaughterhouse was cramped and badly located, there would be little nuisance and it would not awaken the morbid interest of children. 56 09 06a

The old brick windmill in Hurst Park Avenue was built in 1855 by J.M. Mann and ended its working days some 60 years ago when the sails were removed. The mill was last operated by William French from Hildersham whose family have been millers for four generations. It is now used as storage by S.A. Rose, the butcher, whose slaughterhouse once stood close by. 56 09 06

1956 09 07
Portugal Place Lewis sketch – 56 09 07

1956 09 08
Great progress has been made since the devastating fire which destroyed more than half the factory of Corrugated Fittings of Burwell last April. Temporary buildings and even a marquee have been utilised, printers have dug ditches, engineers have loaded lorries and girls have taken apart and repainted machinery, redecorated and helped in cleaning up. Messrs MacKay of East Road have soured the country for sufficient steel sections to allow rebuilding in time for new machinery. 56 09 08d

Baron the famous photographer (Mr Stirling Henry Nahum) commenced his career in Cambridge after his mother gave him a £16 camera. In 1935 he started a correspondence course with the Mallinson School of Journalism and Photography in Rose Crescent and had his lessons posted to Monte Carlo where he was living. He already showed promise and the School sold several of his photographs during the two years he was with them. 56 09 08e

Ambulance men are quiet men. When things are really busy a normal day brings in 60 to 70 calls and requires 1,000 miles driving in the eight ambulances and five sitting cars that serve Cambridgeshire. It is a point of pride in the ambulance service that there is no office staff. Everyone from the Superintendent down to the most recent recruit is operational and likely to be called out at any moment. They go out in pairs - driver and attendant always working in the same couples since the business of carrying a stretcher needs perfect coordination between two men who know each other's movements from long practice. It is easy to jog the patient or fall foul of the ambulance man's occupational diseases - rupture and strains - in picking up the stretcher in the first case and finishing with a straight run up the steps into the ambulance without the slightest pause. There is no lack of recruits to the ambulance service. Cambridgeshire is limited to a strength of 24 and if only someone would retire there would be room for at least one of the 13 eligible men on the waiting list. But no one ever does except for reasons of age. It must be the variety or simply the promise of action and service that they find attractive. Their jobs may vary from carrying a patient down the twisting staircase in a country cottage to delivering a baby while the mother is on way to hospital. About once a month, one the ambulance men must turn midwife. There is a gentleness about these men that belies their strength. They will tell you about the way they helped a mother and then mention the 19 stone patient who had to be bought downstairs at his home in Willingham in the usual carrying sheet and then placed on a stretcher to be brought into Cambridge for hospital treatment. The distress or pain they have to witness plays no part in their conversation. Their pride in the job leads them to keep the ambulances in a spotless condition. The floor was polished, the woodwork shone like a mirror and the metal fitments glistened with hard polishing. Long distance ambulances are really stripped cleaned and disinfected after every journey and a short distance one is gone over thoroughly every day. Three-quarters of an ambulance man's work consists of taking patients to hospital for treatment, either in an ambulance or in one of the dual-purpose cars that sitting cases can use. Seventy percent of the night time calls are maternity cases and most of the street accident happen between 12:30 and 2 in the afternoon and 5 and 6:30 in the evening went the cyclists are about. Then there are cases who suffered seizure in shops and who collapse in the streets. At this time of year, the weekends are the worst time for car crashes with people going on holiday. In the winter months, it is rugger and soccer casualties. There is an allied service even more unobtrusive which outpatients at Addenbrooke's Hospital will know well - the laying-on of ambulance cars, luxury taxis and private cars to bring them to hospital and take them home after treatment. In Cambridgeshire there is a whole corps of volunteer unpaid drivers who put their cars at the disposal of patients, driving them in to the hospital then wait for perhaps a whole morning and take them home again. They are part of the whole ambulance system, which whether its men are professional and trained or simply public-spirited car owners who have time to spare is devoted wholeheartedly to the care of the sick. 56 09 08a,b,c 1956 09 10

The garden in front of St Philip's Church, Mill Road, has been transformed into a Field of Remembrance by the Romsey British Legion. It is the only one in Cambridge and will give people the opportunity to place a cross in memory of those who gave their lives in two World Wars. A parade marched through pouring rain for the dedication service. 56 09 10b (photo 56 09 10a)

1956 09 12

The windmill on Station Road, Willingham has been demolished. The owner, Tony Manning, was reluctant to have this well-known landmark destroyed but it had become unsafe. It was offered to various organisations concerned with ancient monuments but without success. The main sail was about 35 feet long and nearly 18 inches thick at the centre. 56 09 12a

Lewis sketch of chimneys – 56 09 12

1956 09 13
It is a 'black harvest' year as adverse weather has put paid to many crops. Where farmers in sheer desperation have tried to get their combines working many have found them bogged down and have to be pulled out by crawler tractors. The pea crop is practically a total loss, blight has affected potatoes and scab and brown rot have hit apples and pears. The tomato crop is almost a failure but sprouts look well. 56 09 13

1956 09 14
One marriage in six breaks down and the emancipation of women has contributed to the rise in divorce figures, the director of the Cambridge Marriage Guidance Council said. During the last ten years they have helped 500 couples training for marriage and of these only 50 had their own homes. The rest were living with in-laws and in rooms. But wilful refusal to consummate a marriage, artificial insemination of the wife by an unknown donor without the husband's permission or if one partner is mentally defective should be grounds for divorce. 56 09 14a

Lewis sketch of Wray's Court – 56 09 14b

1956 09 15
Soldiers to help with the harvest – 56 09 15

1956 09 17
Thousands of visitors to the Battle of Britain airshow at RAF Waterbeach saw Peter Twiss demonstrate the Fairey F.D.2 high speed research aircraft in which he set up the world air speed record of 1,132 mph. Individual aerobatics displays came from Vampire, Meteor, Hunter, Provost and Chipmunk aircraft and members of the Cambridgeshire Regiment, T.A., demonstrated parachuting from a balloon. 56 09 17 & a

1956 09 19
Millers music shop has been reshaped, redecorated and reorganised from top to bottom. There are spaces where walls used to be and the radio department is where the pianos were. Frank Chacksfield, the television and recording star, was the first person to make use of the special record booths built into the record departments downstairs. There is now a 'browsery' where 'discophiles' may browse through records. Long playing records are played over high fidelity equipment and there is a section for 45 rpm records with remote control. 56 09 19 & a

1959 09 21
High-ranking Service officials, including some from Russia, went for a 20-minute helicopter ride over Cambridge without moving from the comfortable dining rooms of the University Arms Hotel. They watched one of the first-ever air to ground television transmissions carried out by Pye Radio from a Bristol Sycamore. The pictures were broadcast to several 21 inch screens and showed the view from 1,100 ft. before zooming down to catch an express train just leaving the station. 56 09 21

Air to ground helicopter picture– 56 09 21a

1956 09 22
A fen drainage windmill has been re-erected in Wicken fen. Norman's Mill stood in Adventurer's Fen, a mile to the south, and was operating until the early 1930's after which it fell into disuse and suffered considerable interference by people visiting the fen. The restoration was undertaken by C.J.

Ison of Histon. They discovered the right way to go to work by trial and error, guided by what they found when they dismantled the old structure. Little more than the iron parts of the wheelers and gears remain from the original mill. 56 09 22a & b

1956 09 24
King's College chapel was the setting for a big gathering of choirs numbering about 400 singers drawn from local churches. A large congregation filled the ante-chapel and overflowed outside the open west door. With the rays of the declining sun streaming through the magnificent west window and the candles inside already alight, the entry of the long procession of choirs and clergy, led by the choir of Saffron Walden church, was most impressive. 56 09 24

1956 09 26
The annual Hawkey supper organised by Trumpington Young Farmers' Club was a real harvest supper in the old-fashioned spirit. Mrs V.C. Pemberton described how 70 years ago when hired themselves to farmers who took them on for a year, paying wages at the end of the engagement. In 1922 shepherds wore a piece of wool in their buttonhole, horsekeepers a piece of whipcord and men who were not much good for anything a piece of cow's tail. The bargain was sealed by both parties shaking hands on the 'luck penny' which was as good as an oath. 56 09 26 & a

1956 09 27
A piece of ground on the corner of Vinery Way and Coldham's Lane described as ' waste ground for 30 years', 'a free open-air car park and ' the place where people from all over Cambridge dump their rubbish', may be used by a haulage contractor for the erection of petrol pumps and lock-up garages. Planners say the site should eventually go for housing and the scheme is a good idea. 56 09 27

1956 09 28
The ordinary motorist, the Sundays-only-man' would never dream of entering his vehicles for anything so nasty and horribly sporting as a motor rally. But the RAF Association rally is suitable for all ages and makes of car. Starting from Royston one veteran car came to rest half way up a steep hill and the driver hopefully prodded the grand old monster with a starting handle. But our new Standard 'Sportsman' with its three-speed gearbox fitted with overdrive on second and third, behaved splendidly. It costs just £1, 231. 56 09 28

1956 09 29
The pilot and navigator of a Venom night fighter taking part in the Air Defence Exercise, 'Stronghold, were killed when it crashed in a sugar beet field near Sutton. Portions of the aircraft were strewn over a large area and flames were still visible in the bottom of a large crater some times later. 56 09 29a

The new organ at Cambridge's Holy Trinity church will cost approximately £6,000 as compared with the £300 spent on the original organ built in the 1850's by Messrs Walker of Ruislip, who are carrying out the present installation. The original two-manual organ was rebuilt in 1904 by Messrs Bedwell of Cambridge who moved it from the north transept into the organ chamber. 56 09 29b

October 1956 CDN

1956 10 03
Maureen Jackson, the 21-year-old Cambridge girl who has been British Roller-Skating Champion for the last three years is to compete in the World Championship in Barcelona. She only started reluctantly after the war but when her ballet dancing ambitions faded she became more engrossed in both roller and ice-skating. Her father is the instructor at the Cambridge rink. 56 10 03a

The Ferguson tractor has been a familiar sight since production started nine years ago and the introduction of a new model has been long awaited. It is built by the Standard Motor Company and costs £558, £25 more than the old model. It has a choice of three engines, petrol, Diesel and vaporising oil and a double gearbox providing six forward and two reverse gears. The man behind the wheel will appreciate the comfort of an upholstered seat. 56 10 03b

1956 10 05
Mr & Mrs Ditchburn have seen many changes at Mill Road Maternity Hospital in the 22 years they have been Senior Administrative Officer and Matron. When they came in 1934 it was the County Infirmary and was mostly for old people. During the next five years a new wing was built, together with a new ward and theatre. Gradually the chronic patients became fewer and now there are only 23. During the war it was an emergency Medical Services Hospital with only one bed left for maternity patients. In 1934 there were only 56 births at the Hospital but 1,831 were recorded in 1954. 56 10 05a & b

The old heating system in Swaffham Bulbeck church installed in 1924 was out of order and they could not get anybody to stoke the boiler. So during the cold weather they installed electric fires, attaching them by 'collars' to the pillars. But they had not applied for a faculty and a Consistory Court ordered them to be removed as they looked ugly and clashed with the architecture. 56 10 05c & d

Fisons new pest control research station at Chesterford Park was opened where in the rambling old house which has been converted into laboratories with an entire new wing built at the rear. The old wine cellars have been transformed into hot, warm and cold rooms for studying different forms of plant and animal life. 56 10 05e

1956 10 06
The Cambridge lodging-house landlady is part of the education of every young man who comes to study at the University. She is part-mother, part-landlady & part-disciplinarian who must maintain a difficult blend of deference and firmness in dealing with her young gentlemen. He is told how much rent he must pay, that he pays extra for a piano, hot water for his bath or a scuttleful of coal. But unless lodgings are peaceful and conformable men will not study well. 56 10 06a & b

A tattered and broken reel of film recently recovered from a cellar at King and Harper's garage in Bridge Street has been overhauled by the chief projectionist at the Playhouse Cinema. It was taken around 1932 and shows scenes in the firm's depots and features a man in an up-to-the-minute sports car, which appears very comical to modern eyes, whilst a lady is shown over the latest in six-seater saloons. The price ticket attached to the roof gives its price at £205 – brand new! 56 10 06c

1956 10 09
Cambridge Licensing Magistrates have asked Associated British Cinemas not the show the controversial American musical film 'Rock Around the Clock'. The film features a new style of dancing known as "Rock'n'Roll". It is a rhythm similar to some of the African native 'beats' and is alleged to have a startling effect on young people who like 'hot music'. In London dancing youngsters have caused trouble in the streets and assaults have been made on the police. 56 10 09

1956 10 12
Sir – my wife and I thoroughly enjoyed 'Rock Around the Clock' which we saw at Northampton. It gave us old age pensioners a taste of the vitality of youth and made a change from the 'Western' and 'sob-stuff' type of film. There was no rowdyism shown by any of the patrons in the cinema. It is a disappointment to read that it has been banned by magistrates and will not been shown in Cambridge - we should have made an effort to see it again – 'Two O.A.P.s, Vinery Road. 56 10 12g

To some he is an enemy, to others a music-hall joke but to the vast majority of the public the village constable is a familiar and reassuring figure – the man who knows what to do when things go wrong. He attracts little of the glamour usually given to the C.I.D. or the high-speed radio-controlled precision machinery of his fellow-officers, yet he remains the most important man in the police service. But although he is so often seen pedalling along a country lane, the public idea of his full duties is very scanty. 56 10 12a b c

1956 10 12
Men who never sleep – illustrated feature article.
Fifty-six officers and men man the two Cambridge fire stations - the headquarters at Newmarket Road and the subsidy station in Saint Andrew's Street. In addition, there are eight stations situated in larger villages managed by part time firemen who are paid an annual retaining fee and a fee every time they turn out to a fire. They keep three watches – three days on, three nights on, three days off. Everything is geared to the instant answering of the alarm bell. When it rings the fireman's place is on the engine. The whole system of training drills and exercises is directed to this point of duty. There are two drills a day. Often, this means a complete preparation for a turn out short of actually leaving the engine house and driving out into the street. When it is not this is it is exercises in topography, the rehearsal of knowledge of the city's buildings, drill in the use of appliances or train crash procedures with mobile surgical units. The men are pretty fit. The Fire Service prefers its new recruits to be between the ages of 20 and 25. They must retire at 55. Cambridge has just had four recruits and the youngest is 20 the oldest fireman just turned 50. It is very difficult to get men of the calibre, they want. The main deficiency is men of the right educational standards. It is a job so complex and highly technical that a man must have a basic education to fit him for it. He must measure up to physical standards, which are fairly high. He must be of an impeachable character because of the hundreds of thousands of pounds worth of stock, he may have to salvage. They are looking forward to the discontinuance of national service, so they can receive hear the young men of 19. They are the ones who train most readily. Throughout the County there are on average, two or three calls a day. The sort of emergencies that characteristic arise in the area are floods and crop fires. Hundreds of acres of corn have been saved in fields bordering the railways. Peat fires in the fens, those insidious spontaneously burning hidden fires underground are another peculiar of the area. The danger is that one day a farmer is going to drive a tractor over one of these peat fires and fall into a hole. It is difficult to say which have been the worst fires in living memory. One of the most difficult and dangerous was the fire at Laurie & McConnell's when 13 appliances were brought to bear within half an hour and when the water froze on the hoses. From the point of view of damage the fire ay Pye's with its destruction of a third of a million pounds worth of property was undoubtedly the worst. A fire in a College brings its own troubles: it is especially difficult to get the appliances into the courts. Two officers are continually on fire prevention and five buildings in Cambridge have automatic alarm, which in the event of fire set off bells at the first brigade headquarters. Sub Officer Bert Odell is 45. He had a short period in the A.F.S. at the outbreak of war, then joined the police fire service in January 1940. He had a good trade - carpenter and joiner - but preferred to make firefighting his job. And when his service merged into the local fire brigade at the end of the war he took his place in the fire brigade without question. "There is no dull routine. You do PT each morning, which in a normal job you certainly wouldn't." Talking to firefighters is to learn again that the bravest men don't wear their courage on their sleeve. A fireman to be successful must enter buildings. He must get in below, above, on every side, from opposite houses, over back walls, over side walls, through panels of doors, through windows through loopholes, through skylights, through holes cut by himself in the gates, the walls, the roof. He must know how to reach the attic from the basement by ladders placed on half burned stairs, and from the basement from the attic by a rope made fast on the chimney. His whole success depends on his getting in and remaining there. 56 10 12d e f

1956 10 16
Councillors say that multi-storey car parks should be provided at Lion Yard, Saxon Street, Park Street and New Square and 170 cars should be parked on the site of the existing police flats at Parkside. But traffic congestion in Cambridge has become so acute that 'No Waiting' restrictions should be imposed in the central area and King Street made one-way. 56 10 16a

Proposals for more car parks – more multi-decks suggested – 56 10 16

1956 10 18
Frogmen, called in by Scotland Yard detectives, have carried out diving operations in a large drain about a mile away from Crowtree Farm, Farcet Fen, Huntingdonshire, the home of a missing 53-year-old farmer. Raincoated detectives also searched adjacent fields after bloodstains were found in his house and in his van which was discovered on a lonely cart track. Neighbours describe him as a quiet man, wrapped up in his work. 56 10 18

1956 10 19
The Blue Lion at Fen Ditton is the first public house to be built in the area since the war and set back just across the road from the old pub of the same name. It presents a bright, colourful and very pleasant appearance. Furniture in the saloon bar comes from Denmark, there is a mural painting of oast houses by a London artist, T. Gibbs, and carvings by Miss Madge Whiteman, an actress. The car park has two stone heraldic lions obtained from a gateway in Buckinghamshire. 56 10 19 & a

1956 10 20
A most thoughtful exhibition called 'Wonders of the Bible' is housed in a giant pantechnicon whose sides hinge down to provide a room as big as an averaged-sized village hall. It was built by two pastors who have spent two years working on it in a disused hangar at Graveley. It is standing at the moment in Oakington RAF station and the first visitors were the officers and men. After three weeks there it will move to … where? 56 10 20a & b

The Lord Nelson inn at Upware, better known as the 'No Hurry' was badly damaged by fire which destroyed the roof and charred timbers in the bedrooms. Charles Jolley who has been licensee for over 30 years said fire crews found the roof well alight and difficult to extinguish due to the covering of corrugated iron on top of 18 inches of thatch. The bar and downstairs rooms were saved from bad damage and it continues to function. Earlier in the day painters had been at work on the inn. 56 10 20c

Cartoon – Cambridge parking – car on spike – 56 10 20d

1956 10 22
A new library in memory of Herbert Martin Loewe, Honorary Fellow of Queens' College and a Reader in Rabbinics was opened in the Cambridge Synagogue, Thompson's Lane. He had worked hard for the many displaced refugees fleeing from Nazi armies and kept open house for students. The family had been honoured for their scholarship and respected for their public works and the library was a happy choice to commemorate his life. 56 10 22

1956 10 23
Sawston Telephone Exchange has been converted to automatic working. Mrs Susannah Ward has been the caretaker-operator since the exchange first opened in 1923. She is now 89 years of age and has rendered yeoman service to the subscribers. When it first opened she performed all the operations throughout the 24 hours of the day with the assistance of her daughter, Mrs W. Bebee who is now the supervisor. The staff have now been transferred to Cambridge. 56 10 23a

Under the Cambridge Award Act of 1856 responsibility for weights and measures in Cambridge passed from the University to the Town authorities. The Vice-Chancellor agreed to loan the University's standard weight and measures provided the corporation kept them in order and returned them on demand, subject to a £400 bond. Now the University has decided to make the arrangement permanent and cancel any payment due. 56 10 23b & c

The Cambridgeshires had their first test as an infantry battalion; now no longer airborne gunners the joined other units of the 54th East Anglian Division in an exercise on the Stanford battle area. They practised the carriage of weapons, camouflage of vehicles, messing arrangements and sleeping in the open – though most were in action continuously. Sergeant Roff experienced field cooking for the first time but provided three excellent meals. 56 10 23d

1956 10 30
In their determination to keep the Church School at Teversham, the Managers collected part of the money needed to bring it up to requirements with social functions. They were rewarded when the new school was blessed by the Bishop of Ely. It now has an up-to-date assembly hall, two new classrooms and cloakrooms and while it takes 40 children at present, numbers will increase with the building of new houses in the village. 56 10 30b

The 162nd Field Ambulance is one of the oldest in the British Army and served with distinction in both World Wars. At one time it was the only medical unity in this part of East Anglia and in the future it would be of the greatest importance in Civil Defence at time of disaster. It has now been adopted by the City of Cambridge and the Mayor presented a plaque to commemorate the occasion. 56 10 30a

November 1956 CDN

1956 11 01
Ald F. Doggett, chairman of the Cambridge National Savings Committee, purchased the first Premium Bond at a special counter set up at Cambridge post office. The Head Postmaster, C.A. Plouvier, later reported that bonds sold steadily during the morning with many customers taking the full over-the-counter quota of £10 worth of bonds. 56 11 01d

Great St Mary's church has been connected with the University since very early times and was used in the past not only for religious services but for academical proceedings. Under an agreement of 1843 the University and parish met the costs of repair and maintenance, but most of the terms are now out of date. Now they are being urged to meet the sole cost of maintaining the clock and the University organ at the west end, and sharing costs of insurance, heating, repair and cleaning. 56 11 01c

1956 11 02
W. Holliman and Sons, the well-known Cambridge firm of removal contractors have again chosen a Morris vehicle for their fleet of pantechnicons. Every vehicle since 1926 has been a Morris, proof of their faith in this make. They are also house furnishers and their showrooms, the King Street Furniture Galleries, were the first 'Walk Round Showrooms' in Cambridge, dating back to 1923 when they moved from Mill Road. 56 11 02a

A new telephone exchange to be built in St Tibb's Row will one day house the equipment for Cambridge's link-up with the rest of the country on a national trunk dialling system. Old cottages used for storage, small office units and workshops facing on to Post Office Terrace will be demolished for an extension of the present telephone exchange and in early 1961 engineers will install equipment to meet the needs of 3,000 new subscribers. In 1935 there were 2,700 telephone subscribers on the Cambridge exchange; now this has trebled to 7,700 and will reach 10,000 by 1960. 56 11 02d & e

A Lambretta Service Station has been opened by King and Harper at their Milton Road branch. It features all the necessary service tools and equipment. Now routine checks can be completed in a matter of minutes with even the most extensive overhaul carried out within a week. Cambridge people have been quick to adapt to this modern form of transport and already own many hundreds of machines. For many housewives, typists and office workers the scooter is here to stay. 56 11 02b

Premium bonds rush – post office stays open late – 56 11 02c # c.32.8

1956 11 03
Six hundred undergraduates demonstrated at a 'No War on Suez' in one of the rowdiest meetings ever held in the Union Debating Chamber. Every inch of space was occupied and scores of people piled up on the window ledges to hear two MPs, Kenneth Younger and Anthony Wedgwood Benn who were the butt of deafening ridicule, shouting, catcalling, hissing and yelling from supporters of Prime Minister, Sir Anthony Eden. 56 11 03a

Young people from both the city and university have formed a club called 'Stan Kelly's Skiffle' at the Dog and Pheasant, Newmarket Road. Each Thursday evening the rafters ring with folk tunes, work songs, ballads, blues and the like. It has a membership of 80 and anyone who can sing or play an instrument is welcome. Stan Kelly himself leads the group which comprises guitar, bass, drums and a wash-board. The beer crates which form the furniture help add to the atmosphere. 56 11 03b

1956 11 05
A Suez protest rally was held on Parker's Piece. The back of a lorry provided a speakers' platform and round it was ringed an audience of some 1,500 people who attempted to listen to the arguments through the constant hubbub of a group of dissenting undergraduates. They carried slogans tacked on long-handled brushes saying 'Eden acts where U.N.O. fails' and 'Non-intervention is Suez-cide'. Scuffles broke out and a lone firework was lobbed on to the platform. 56 11 05a

Smoke bombs, water from upstairs windows and counter-cries from undergraduates accompanied the "Stop Eden's War" procession organised by Cambridge Labour Party. Eighty people carrying placards set off from the Alex Wood Memorial Hall but were joined by a second, less orderly procession of undergraduates shouting "Eden Must Stay" to counter the Labour cries of "Eden Must Go". 56 11 05b

1956 11 06
A proposal to spend £1,750 on a new bedroom and bathroom for the teacher's house at Coton Church of England School was ridiculous, councillors said. The house was an integral part of the school building and needed a new bathroom and kitchen. But the present school was inadequate and the only alternative was to build a new one. 56 11 06

1956 11 09
If the water level at Earith Sluice were lowered it would reduce the flooding of agricultural land bordering the river between Earith and St Ives, farmers claimed. But it would need to be dropped by at least four feet to have any real effect and this would destroy the value of the grazing of 5,000 acres of marshland between Earith and Welmore Lake Sluice. Little benefit would be derived upstream whilst the value of the land now protected by the sluice would be destroyed. 56 11 09

1956 11 14
American farmers visit Cambridge – Teversham – 56 11 14

1956 11 16
G.F. Levitt, a haulage contractor of Russell Street applied for permission to transfer his business to Hall Farm, Cherry Hinton. He had 14 vehicles and six of his 17 drivers lived in the area. The site had been used for haulage work in 1932 and for storing paper since 1954. But it was not a suitable site in a residential village High Street. 56 11 16a & b

There is one tree left on the new St Andrew's housing estate at Stapleford, a 65 foot elm which stands at the junction of Priam's Way and Hawthorne Road and is a beautiful landmark. But the neighbours who live nearest want it cut down because they think it is dangerous; they produced a five-foot long branch which had fallen on top of an inhabited caravan. But their house had not been erected in the agreed place and the tree was in good condition. 56 11 16c & d

1956 11 19
The inaugural meeting of the Cambridgeshire Naturalists' Trust formed a limited company to record, study and protect the chief places of natural history and encourage nature conservation. Lord Fairhaven was unanimously elected president. 56 11 19a

Two of Cambridge's long-established cinemas, the Playhouse and the Tivoli, will close after the last performance on Saturday. Associated British Cinemas say the heavy burden of entertainments tax has made them uneconomic. The majority of the 35 staff will be absorbed by the other cinemas in the group and others will join the private cinemas run by Mr George Webb. 56 11 19b

1956 11 22
Several hundred civil servants at Brooklands Avenue will be out of work as a result of the Government's decision to close down this regional centre. Nine departments will be affected and only a very small nucleus will be retained at the site. It is more economic to have them operate from London. Cambridge sprang up as a Regional Centre during the last war. 56 11 22

1956 11 23
A Sentinel steam wagon has been recommissioned at the Cambridge Gas Works as a means of conserving petrol. It has been out of action since May when it was taken off the road because of its age. It is the only vehicle of its type now working in the country and will be used for conveying coal from the Coldham's Lane sidings to the Gas Works. 56 11 23

A 15-minute car washing service is a feature of the new car valeting station opened by King and Harper in Cherryhinton Road. Now the farmer who arrives at the Cattle Market with a muddy car will have little excuse for returning home with it dirty. The new station has been growing rapidly; the latest island type petrol pumps provide a full range of fuels and an up-to-date greasing bay can cope with lubricating problems. 56 11 23a

1956 11 24
An application by Whippet Coaches of Hilton to operate a summertime Saturday express coach service to Margate and Ramsgate was supported by several parish councils. They would start from St Neots at 6.10 am and be back by 9.30. They had a fleet of 15 coaches ranging from 29 to 41 seats and could run six 36-seaters on this service at a time. But Eastern Counties, Premier Travel, the East Kent Road Car Company and British Railways objected. 56 11 24

1956 11 27
A proposal to close Christ's Lane and provide an alternative footway between Drummer Street and St Andrew's Street was approved in 1954. But now Christ's College have proposed an alternative consisting of an arcade leading into a central courtyard then through another arcade to Drummer Street. The council would be responsible for maintaining, cleaning and lighting it. 56 11 27a

Two sections of army cadets searched an area of land near Wood Ditton for enemy outposts. These proved to be numerous and several attacks were carried out before the troops, accompanied by cadets from the Newmarket platoon, who had acted as the enemy, returned to their billets at Ditton Green to clean their weapons. Despite the cold weather and being covered in mud from head to foot, they all agreed it was a wonderful weekend. 56 11 27b

1956 11 29
Preparation for petrol rationing began in mid-November and thousands of applications for supplementary rations are arriving at the Ministry of Fuel and Power at Brooklands Avenue. Local garages say there has been little panic buying as most motorists already have their tanks full and merely call in for the odd gallon to remain topped up. But when rationing is introduced garages will only be able to obtain supplies on production of coupons handed to them by customers. Should a garage run out of petrol they will have to go without for as long as the rationing continues. 56 11 29 a & b

December 1956 CDN

1956 12 01
Henekeys of Alexandra Street, Petty Cury give one shilling in the pound discount on three bottles of wines and spirits during December. A selection of prices: H.R.H. White Seal whisky 34/- (£1.70), Cognac 41/- (£2.05), Amontillado sherry 18/6 (92p), Liebraumilch Superior hock 10/10 (54p) and Veuve Grenier champagne 21/- (£1.05). 56 12 01a

New equipment developed by Pye of Cambridge means that six times as many people can use radio communications and foreshadows immense developments. Telephones for the use of the travelling public in aeroplanes, railways and road services are now a possibility and a radio-telephone could become a standard fitting in all road vehicles, C.O. Stanley predicted. 56 12 01b

Councillors decided not to increase the salary of the Lending Librarian to £780 though NALGO had protested that the grading was not high enough, and warned the post would be blacklisted. But if one librarian was regraded then his deputy would also want an increase and things would go on one above the other. No library assistant needed more than a good pair of feet and courtesy towards the public. But in a University city the service should be first class. 56 12 01c

1956 12 03
This is a bad time for motorists. Not only are we faced with a meagre petrol ration but it is likely to cost more as (because of the Suez conflict) every gallon of Middle East oil has to be brought by the long route via the Cape. The Chancellor should reduce the tax on petrol to keep the price the same. Many people depend on a motor car for their livelihood and why should they have to use their allowance of 200 gallons a month to travel to work. But Marshall's report a good response to their economy tune-up service. 56 12 03b

Fire severely damaged a workshop at the Star Brewery in Auckland Road but the prompt arrival of the Fire Brigade prevented the outbreak from spreading to adjoining garages. Mr Harold Jones, a mechanic, was welding when the fire started and raised the alarm. Young art students who were sketching nearby buildings when the fire started were able to make drawings of the damage. 56 12 03

Fairbairn cup start – rowers across river – 56 12 03a

1956 12 04
If you have seen a street fight and want to report it or are a motorist lost in Cambridge and want to know your way, it is simple. You go to the nearest Police Pillar, open the door and pick up the telephone inside. At once you are in touch with the information room at police headquarters. The Mayor made the first 'emergency' call from the Police Pillar in Drummer Street and within minutes a sleek black saloon containing two stalwart policemen drew up. 56 12 04

After 25 years and nine previous meeting places, Cambridge Christian Spiritualist Church moved into their own permanent home. The former Crown and Harp public house, John Street, can hold 100 people. The church had its beginning in July 1931 and met at 11 Ram Yard which was hit by a bomb and totally destroyed on 27th July 1942, a brass cross being the only thing saved. 56 12 04a

1956 12 06
Petrol rationing effects on Isle of Ely county council meetings – 56 12 06

1956 12 08
London County Council does not intend to build Overspill developments in the Isle of Ely owing to the high fertility of most of the land. It would also have a detrimental effect on manpower resources available for farming which are already seriously depleted by demands of industries outside the county. But new industries complementary to agriculture might counteract emigration from the area. 56 12 08

Christmas tree in railway station entrance – 56 12 08a

1956 12 10
Hundreds of people daily pass the unobtrusive grey brick Festival Theatre building in Newmarket Road, but few are aware that some of the foremost names in British acting began to learn their art there. Now used as a wardrobe and for scene painting by the Arts Theatre, the footlights have been dimmed and the seats are empty. But the stage and auditorium are in good condition and one day the curtain may rise again. 56 12 10

1956 12 11
Stan Kelly's Skiffle club, which meets at the Dog and Pheasant on Newmarket Road, has grown in popularity and threatens to become one of the outposts against the mass entertainment media of film and television. Stan is a mathematician working in London who says only a few traditional folk songs have yet found their way into print and the only way to preserve them is by singing them. Now the BBC may feature it in one of their programmes. 56 12 11

1956 12 12
Newmarket All Saints' Infants School closed after three children were found to be suffering from polio and the pupils will not be attending Sunday School until further notice. When the news first broke rumours spread that there were a dozen suspected cases, but the Medical Officer says there is only one more, a mother of four living at the Houlsworth estate. 56 12 12

1956 12 14
Burwell is being visited by the new 'Community Survey' Mass Radiography Unit which hopes over 2,000 people over the age of five, will enter the large mobile van containing the X-ray equipment. The unit will remain for a week to examine the X-ray photographs and recall any that are unsatisfactory. 56 12 14a

Bill Oliver has been a Cambridge dustman since 1928, the year before mechanical transport came in. There are 33 such men, together with nine drivers for the nine lorries and a foreman at the Mill Road depot to act as a first-line peacemaker between them and the owners of dented dustbins. In all districts there is forbidden garden rubbish, brick rubble, hot cinders, sump oils and liquids that make an untippable mulch of the refuse. 56 12 14c & d

The Low Temperature Research Station was set up during the Great War to investigate problems of preserving the freshness of food supplied to forces overseas and imported from abroad. They started with retaining the freshness of apples throughout the winter and have moved on to the storage of potatoes for the outdoor clamp, though the blackening of the fenland potatoes remains a baffling mystery. The most recent developments have been the radiation of foodstuffs to destroy bacteria. 56 12 14

1956 12 15
The County Council intend to clear all the hutments, service camps, Nissen huts and disused storage depots – relics of the late war – "as soon as possible". They hope that the time will come when the scene will relate to its pre-war standard. Fifteen service airfields and numerous military depots were established; some had already been dismantled and others taken over to alleviate the housing shortage with 247 huts currently occupied as dwellings. 56 12 15

A thousand schoolchildren were invited to look round the Cavendish Laboratory and some of the things they saw hidden away behind the unimposing walls made laboratories in the 'Frankenstein' films look like primary school games rooms. Scientists can send a million-volt electrical flash cracking like a rifle shot across a hall at the press of a button or reproduce brilliant electrical 'thunderstorms'. But there were no flying saucers. 56 12 15

1956 12 21
Dry Drayton Mothers' Union will soon receive a new banner thanks to a Royston girl. Margaret Williams is a keen and able needlewoman who when she puts the final stitch will have spent 700 hours carefully embroidering the banner made of blue brocade with gold silk lettering and white cross surmounted with a sheaf of lilies. It is nothing less than a work of art. 56 12 21

1956 12 22
Raymond Bennett, the talented comedian and theatre manager laments the closing down of the Playhouse in Mill Road. It was there he made his debut as a single-turn music hall artiste. In those days it had a small orchestra and had one turn each week with the pictures. They included Godwin Hunt, baritone and humorous vocalist, George Gass, comedian of 'The Magpies' concert party and Sydney Pratt the conjurer. 56 12 22a & b

1956 12 28
Hilda Paine is leaving the Cambridgeshire Home Help Service. It started in 1948 when she was appointed to organise the service in the rural area and later took over the small Cambridge service which had been run by the W.V.S. and combined the two. From small beginnings the service is now a flourishing and important concern. There are now 275 home helps with a 'case load' of about 590 people a week. 56 12 28

1957 Cambridge Daily News

I have digitised copies of these article

January to December

January 1957 CDN

1957 01 02
Lieut-Col. John G.A. Beckett, former Commanding Officer of the Cambridgeshire Regiment, has been awarded the O.B.E. in the New Year Honour's List. He commanded a company during the battle at Singapore and was a prisoner-of-war until the end of hostilities. He rejoined in 1947 & was in charge of 'Q' (Ely and Chatteris) Battery before becoming C.O. in 1952. 57 01 02

1957 01 05
Pye has designed a special camera to enable engineers at Calder Hall to carry out an extremely complicated inspection inside a nuclear reactor. It has been reduced to under 24 inches in length so it can form part of a mechanical grab which will be lowered into the fuel channels of the graphite core to remove obstructions. 57 01 05 & 05a

1957 01 07
Melbourn parish church has been broken into and silver plate stolen from the vestry. The loss includes three chalices, two platters, a Georgian salver, a service plate, 12-inch high flagon and a wafer box. Rev H. Jukes said "The vicar of a parish is bound to have enemies but I can't think of anyone who could have done it apart from gain". He had to use his own personal 'miniature' Holy Communion set so he could hold a service for nine people, using a chalice only meant for three. 57 01 07

1957 01 08
Cyril Ridgeon and Sons staged a gala night for their 160 employees at Cambridge Guildhall. The company began in 1911 and in 1913 took a small piece of ground in Tenison Road for their first depot and in 1922 bought their first solid-tired lorry. During the second war they worked with the Ministry to get materials off to the bombed areas quickly. Now they had a staff of 160 with 28 lorries and vans and 13 cars. 57 01 08 & 08a

1957 01 09
The skiffle playing craze is attracting teenagers to youth clubs all over the country. If you want to make yourself popular, unearth grandma's old metal washboard and take it along. Skiffle groups use them with thimbles for making music. Empty Christmas cigar boxes for turning into box fiddles, tea chests used with a broomstick as a base and clothes brushes which produce a swishing sound on an old suit case are also welcome. 57 01 09

The John Hilton Bureau was started by a professor to help people resolve some of their social problems during the war. It is now linked to the News of the World, which finances its work, employing about 120 people at four centres in Cambridge. They receive 200,000 inquires a year. Many are problems that would formerly have been dealt with by the local parson but they are now so complex that people prefer to consult professional authorities. 57 01 09a

1957 01 10
The Oyster House in Garlic Row was named after hundreds of oyster shells found in the garden. It dates from 1707 and was originally known as the Tiled Booth in which the Mayor and Vice Chancellor would feast at the traditional opening of Stourbridge Fair. The house was bought for a small amount by John Lee, a coprolite digger, whose initials can be seen on a plaque on the building. Now it is scheduled for demolition. 57 01 10

A Cambridge Christmas card publisher told the Bankruptcy Court that he went into business in 1951, designing cards that proved very popular. Next year the cards were despatched by the printer direct to his customers. But some were sub-standard and he lost orders. In 1955 he hired a printing works in Baldock but the press broke down. Then the bank restricted his overdraft. His skill as an artist exceeded his ability as a businessman. 57 01 10a

1957 01 11
The Middle Level barrier bank on the north side of Mepal Bridge is to be lowered by three feet to improve visibility for traffic approaching from Chatteris, following a fatal accident last year. In the event of a high flood there would be ample time to construct a sandbag wall on the lowered portion of the bank, the River Board was told. 57 01 11

Fison-Airwork of Bourn have ordered their third Westland Whirlwind helicopter. It will join others which are on charter to the Shell-BP Petroleum Exploration Company of Nigeria. These are engaged in ferrying men and materials over the heavy jungles and swamps of the Niger delta to various drilling sites. 57 01 11a

1957 01 14
Sportsmen paid tribute to Stanley Martin who is retiring as secretary of the Cambridgeshire Amateur Athletics Association after 25 years. In that time nine members have represented their country, five of them in the Olympic Games, and 13 Cambridge University Blues have also come from the Association's ranks. In 1925 they went to Joshua Taylors to buy coloured vests but found they had only white ones in stock. So they had to buy some blue and green straw-hat ribbons to use as distinguishing sashes - colours they have used ever since. 57 01 14 & 14a

1957 01 15
Fewer people are attending Cambridge Corn Market because of the difficulty of finding car parks and it will cease to exist if it is not moved to the Cattle Market, merchants fear. It would relieve traffic congestion in the centre of the city. But a building of the same area as the present Corn Exchange would cost £32,000 and councillors recommended no action. 57 01 15

Firemen called to the Dorothy Café took one look at the amount of smoke pouring from the upper floor windows and immediately sent for reinforcements. The fire started under a sideboard in the second floor Oak Room and flames spread up the walls to the ceiling, damaging the floor of the Cromwell Room above. But business carried on as usual and management say they will honour all obligations. The usual dances will be held. 57 10 15a

Farcet fen murder – 57 01 15

1957 01 17
The "Dolphin" pub at Linton has closed as it would cost too much to put in a new bar, sewage system and hot-and-cold water. It comes as a blow to licensees Annie Kidman and her bachelor brother Fred. Their father Alfred took it in 1896 after eight years at the "Axe and Straw" in High Street. They will continue to live at the premises; Annie has converted one of the rooms into a confectionery shop and Fred will continue to keep the hardware store in the village. 57 01 17

Newmarket council has plans to build 50 houses, but the tenders are not worth the paper they were written on. The cost of materials was rising and there was an increase in haulage charges. Building wages had also increased and contractors had the right to claim for these. If a two-bedroomed bungalow was built at a cost of £1,300 the economical rent would be £1.6s. (£1.30). But for every extra £100 it cost the rent would increase by 2s.3d. (16p) a week. Houses were wanted in the area, but you can buy gold too dearly. 57 01 17a

1957 01 18

Cambridge councillors argued for 40 minutes over whether to regrade the post of Lending Librarian. When advertised the Library Association had advised against its member applying and there had been no suitable candidates. They were dictating to the council who should be masters in their own house. They decided to keep the present salary of a little over £12 a week. 57 01 18

The Cambridge Design Society considers the proposed new street lamps unsuited to the city. It is basically a glass cylinder five feet high, enclosing fluorescent tubes and mounted on fluted cast-iron columns. The design was adapted by a member of the Royal Fine Arts Commission from one used extensively in Birmingham. But a proposal of this scale should be brought to the notice of a wider public. 57 01 18a

1957 01 19
Trams memories – sold by Gray, picture by J.W. Rignall - 57 01 19

1957 01 23
Ald Mrs Clara Rackham retired from local government work having served on the city council for 40 years and the county for almost 30. Her greatest interest was education, especially the Open-Air School. She was always forthright in debate but recognised the arguments of others and would be remembered with affection by fellow councillors, the Mayor said. 57 01 23

1957 01 25
An inquest on a sergeant at RAF Stradishall heard that a Meteor jet aircraft had returned to the arming-up area after a firing sortie with a stoppage in one gun. The detonating mechanism had jammed with a live round in the chamber and there was no response when the trigger was pulled. The gun had been taken to the safety range and was being worked on when an explosion occurred, killing him instantaneously. 57 01 25

French Hall, Moulton is for sale by auction. It extends to over 230 acres with an attractive farmhouse, comprehensive buildings for an attested dairy herd and bloodstock, pasture and easy working arable land, together with five cottages. In view of the scarcity of such agricultural properties in West Suffolk it is anticipated the sale will arouse considerable interest. 57 01 25a

1957 01 26
Cambridge Civil Defence ambulance section carried out a successful exercise in rendering first aid to the injured. It was assumed a serious railway accident had taken place near the Eastern Gas Board sidings in Coldham's Lane. Casualties were evacuated to Swann's Yard Civil Defence Rescue Site where the Hospital Nursing Mobile First Aid Unit, under Dr C. Attwood, set up a Receiving Centre. 57 01 26

1957 01 28
In the last year, 43,000 men left farms in Britain. Unless farmers improve wages and conditions the situation will become even more serious, the Agricultural Workers Union warn. Fifty years ago wages were around 15s, now they seek a minimum of £8 for a 44-hour week. Almost half of farm workers lived in tied cottages, a social evil which should be abolished. They must also make sure that no foreigners are employed in preference to British workers. 57 01 28

February 1957

1957 02 01
Elsie Cousins of Histon works as a switchboard operator at the Guildhall. She really enjoys her job with hundreds of calls daily. With 94 telephone extensions and 13 exchange lines she is pretty busy. She can remember over 100 telephone numbers including those of the homes and offices of most councillors. She cannot remember when last a caller was difficult. Many ask her questions like 'Where can I get married' or want directions to the colleges. 57 02 01

Cambridge was visited this week by a flying saucer that appeared to be about 500 feet above the ground, says a reader from Fanshawe Road. It had a dome-shaped structure on top with a series of windows around the edge, one of which was blacked out while the base glowed with a vivid green fluorescent colour that seemed to be bubbling. He contacted the University Observatory who says it might have been a meteor. 57 02 01a

1957 02 02
Cambridge University Ceylon Society celebrated Independence Day at the Koh-I-noor Restaurant when the Deputy High Commissioner was the chief guest. The function was lent a splash of colour by the attractive saris worn by the ladies. Mr George Thambyahpillai presided. Momentous things had happened in Ceylon; they had many lessons to learn in managing their own affairs and the favoured few who have the opportunity to go abroad should qualify to serve their country well when they return. 57 02 02

1957 02 04
In a ceremony steeped in tradition, the Rt Rev Noel Baring Hudson was inducted, installed and enthroned as the 64th Lord Bishop of Ely. There were scenes of great dignity and solemnity while the magnificent robes of ecclesiastical dignitaries presented a vivid and colourful picture. Crowds watched the arrival of the Chairman (Coun W. Ruane) and members of Ely Urban Council formally received by the Dean (the Very Rev C.P. Hankey) before the procession of 230 parish priests from all corners of the diocese. 57 02 04

1957 02 05
Motorists should be charged for parking on the road as a way of reducing traffic chaos in the centre of Cambridge. People who wanted to pay visits to shops or offices could pay to park for short periods but a car park would be cheaper for stays of more than one hour. At present motorists take little notice of the 15-minute only restrictions, many staying for two hours. People will not walk a quarter of a mile if they can find a space closer to the centre, planners claim. 57 02 05 & 05a

1957 02 07
Flight Lt David Norman Jones, aged 23, of Waterbeach Aerodrome, was killed when his Hawker Hunter crashed at Barway. Verdict: misadventure. A Hawker Hunter of No. 59 Squadron from RAF Waterbeach crashed on open land at Fordy Farm. Barway at the approach to the runway. He ejected and landed, but died of his injuries almost immediately. He had married only 5 months before, at SI. Mary's Church. Slaugham, on Saturday 8 September 1956, to a Miss Margaret Lily Jakes, who was a Lieutenant in the Guides and involved in Youth Hostelling. They don't appear to have had children. He was the only son of Mr & Mrs WP Jones of 1 Stammerham Farm Cottages, Rusper, Sussex. His commanding officer declared him a hero as he avoided crashing into a hamlet 57 02 07 p8

1957 02 08
The National Industrial Fuel Efficiency Service at Brooklands Avenue has doubled its strength since 1954 and has now moved to Queen Anne Terrace. It was set up to investigate the tremendous amount of waste of fuel through poorly insulated buildings or by untrained stokers. They help bring industrial plants up to high standards of fuel utilisation enabling savings of 15 per cent during 1955-56. 57 02 08

1957 02 11
Restoration of the Round Church began in 1951; the ‘Round’ and the interior has been done, now it is the turn of the three gabled roofs. A month ago the Vicar could see the sky through the tiles of the choir roof and the church through the medieval wooden ceiling. Now work is nearly finished. Only one piece of decayed woodwork was found and no ravages of the death-watch beetle. 57 02 11

1957 02 12
Apples fall from lorry – photo – 57 02 12

1957 02 13

A remarkable and widely admired artist, Mrs Gwendolen Raverat, of The Old Granary, Silver Street, has died aged 71. As a wood engraver her work was both decorative and illustrative; technically she was an excellent craftswoman who chose to engrave without the aid of fancy. She was one of the earliest members of the Society of Wood Engravers founded in 1920. 57 02 13

The bells of St Andrew the Great returned to the church after being away for re-casting and re-tuning at Taylor's Foundry, Loughborough. The oldest was installed in 1660 when the new church was built. They are being re-hung and a full peal will be rung after they have been dedicated by the Bishop of Ely. 57 02 13a

1957 02 14
Six girls dressed in attractive costumes acted as hostesses as Dutch Dairy Week was launched at a reception where members of the local grocery fraternity they tasted a variety of cheeses. It was a pity that so many famous cheeses had gone out of production, among them the local 'Double-Cottenham'. A Dutch caravan will be stationed on Peas Hill where people can sample as much as they could take. 57 02 14

1957 02 15
Mrs Nina Beynon of Gt Shelford left the Central School for Girls and went to the Eastern Gas Offices as a junior. Now she is a senior shorthand typist and secretary to the Divisional Accountant. Her work is very varied and involves a lot of figure typing which she finds very interesting, though she prefers shorthand – she can do 140 words a minute. There are also a number of letters dealing with consumers' queries. 57 02 15

A husband and wife had a 'very unfortunate beginning' to their marriage when he forgot to bring the banns to Stetchworth church and as a result kept her waiting for an hour and a half. Then when they were alone in the reception room she slapped her husband's face because he was intoxicated, the divorce court was told. She claimed he had committed adultery, he alleged desertion. The commissioner said they may not have been too well suited from the start. 57 02 15a

1957 02 16
At long last there is a street in Cambridge where cars can be parked during the hours of darkness without lights. Eleven lamp-posts in Station Road bear a special sign that mean motorists can park without even switching on the new 'clip-on' parking lights. Police say this is for the convenience of car owners who wish to travel by train and live some distance from the station. 57 02 16

The closing of two Cambridge cinemas has made us aware of the difficulty they face. One major problem is Entertainment Tax. Out of every pound paid at the box office, 6s.5d. (33p) is taken for this tax and after film hire and wages the exhibitor gets only 5½d (2.5p) out of which he has to pay rent, depreciation and living expenses. No wonder 180 cinemas were forced to close last year. 57 02 16a

1957 02 18
Cambridgeshire Harriers held their annual Point-to-Point meeting at Cottenham. The rain clouds rolled away to provide a sunny, smiling greeting and despite petrol difficulties the attendance seemed unaffected. The going was very sticky; of the six horses that started the first race only one reached the finish. 57 02 18a

A farmer from Craft Hill Farm, Dry Drayton probably saved the life of a pilot who crashed in a Vampire jet aircraft in a field. He gave first aid to the airman who'd been thrown from the wreckage and was unconscious. He removed his harness, helmet, leggings and the watch from the pilot's swollen and discoloured arm. Then when an ambulance, a Jeep and a fire engine became bogged down he got a tractor and pulled them out. If the plane had exploded he'd have been blown sky high. 57 02 18

Cottenham point-to-point – 57 02 18a

1957 02 19
Trumpington Boy Scouts' new hut marks the culmination of the hopes of the troop which had long desired to establish its own headquarters. The Village Hall Trustees helped find a site, their parents provided voluntary labour, the Lay Committee worked market stalls to augment the 'Bob-a-Job' ventures of the boys; it was 'jolly good teamwork', said the Mayor. 57 02 19a

1957 02 21
A new shelter has appeared on the towpath near the Pike and Eel. From the beautifully executed Latin inscription it is clear it has been built in memory of the late Roy Meldrum who devoted his considerable rowing knowledge and coaching skill to Lady Margaret and the Cambridge University Boat Club. This simple, dignified tribute will do a service to all who love the river, especially those who coach on the exposed banks of the Cam. 57 02 21

1957 02 22
The long association of Pye and King and Harper of Cambridge will be celebrated in a 'Pye Parade' exhibition at Harper's Bridge Street premises. The highlight will be a specially-erected television studio and each evening programmes of local interest will be transmitted. The shows can be viewed on receivers in many parts of the premises with a limited number of seats in the studio itself. 57 02 22

An inquiry was held into the conversion of an 18-roomed house into three self-contained flats. In 1955 permission had been given for Galewood, a large house in 19 acres on the crest of the Gog Magog Hills to be split into eight units. What had then been the stable block is now owned by the Clerk to the County Council who objected to the conversion. However the house was too big for the present owner who only needed one-third of it. The alternative was to let the rest go derelict at a time when families were homeless. 57 02 22a & b

1957 02 25
The Cambridge Waterworks Company announced two new developments. Zeolite, which removes the hardness-forming calcium from water, is to be replaced by a new plastic material which is expected to double the output of softened water. Then a new pumping station at Wilbraham will pump up to 1,250,000 gallons a day. Although some consumers have seen the cost of water increase by more than £1 a year it still represents outstanding value for money. 57 02 25

Keys to a bungalow at 246 Green End Road House were officially handed over to its first occupants, Mr & Mrs L. Hart, by the Mayor. It is the 4,000 council house completed since 1945- an average of 353 houses each year. The 1000th was opened in Peverel Road in December 1948, the 2,000th in Whitehill Road in May 1953 and the 3,000th in Colville Road, March 1952. The site had been an eyesore, now it is a tremendous improvement. 57 02 25c

1957 02 27
Writing in an American magazine, Marianne Hudec describes domestic life in Cambridge. There is no central heating, coal and gas are very expensive and most Cambridge flats are in huge divided mansions of 1875 vintage. The average English housewife works harder and finds more drudgery than the average American housewife. She seems resigned to her role and does little to diversify her interests. Social moves do not encourage her to develop interests outside her home. The society feels that it is essential for a family with means to send its sons to university, but the girls who are more interested in marriage than a career are often discouraged. A friend tells her the life of a housewife in England would deteriorate the mind of an educated woman. She could never be truly happy. Few English homes have refrigerators so shopping becomes a daily pilgrimage. Shopping takes more time here and paper napkins are found at the stationers, eggs at the butchers and flowers at the greengrocers. There are few elaborate food displays, carrots are passed across the counter caked in mud while untrimmed celery droops beyond recognition. Butchers' shops have sides of meat hanging from the rafters and half-plucked poultry, complete with heads, dangling by their feet. But, she says; "It's all picturesque and I'm enjoying housekeeping in this delightful English village". 57 02 27

Writing in an American magazine, Marianne Hudec describes domestic life in Cambridge. Few homes have refrigeration so shopping becomes a daily pilgrimage. There are few elaborate food displays, carrots are passed across the counter caked in mud while untrimmed celery droops beyond recognition. Butchers' shops have sides of meat hanging from the rafters and half-plucked poultry, complete with heads, dangling by their feet. But, she says; "It's all picturesque and I'm enjoying housekeeping in this delightful English village". 57 02 27

Pye exhibition celebrates 21 year of tv, King & Harper – 57 02 27b

March 1957 CDN

1957 03 01
Miss Frances Todd has always wanted to be a hairdresser. She keeps up to date with the latest methods and feels a sense of achievement when she creates a hair style that pleases her client. Just before Christmas her Cherry Hinton shop was very busy; one day she did 17 washes and sets and two perms, normally it's about ten sets and one perm. 57 03 01

Huntingdonshire county council is to purchase accounting machines to cope with the growth and complexity of their finances. The statistical requirements of Government departments cannot be met by old-fashioned methods. As well as the £9,536 machines they will need card filing cabinets, chairs for operators and other equipment. In the first few years they will need to pay three machine operators as existing staff will still be required to wind up the manual records. 57 03 01b

City police force inspected – photos – 57 03 01a

1957 03 02
A new public house, The Weathervane' can be built on Perne Road but the Star brewery must transfer the licence from The Crown and Compasses in George IV Street and will close the Crown, Wellington Street and the Star on Newmarket Road. People living in the new houses in the area objected, one lady saying she'd saved her money to buy a house there to be away from pubs. Pupils at Coleridge Evening Centre, one of the finest institutions in the country, might be degraded while people who drank were more likely to catch disease than those who did not. 57 03 02

Plans were agreed for a new public house, 'The Robin Hood and Little John' to be built on land adjoining a pub of the same name at Cherry Hinton. Designs originally submitted two years ago had been revised and a small smoke room omitted. There was also a large car park. 57 03 02a

Thurston Dart of Jesus College has a clavichord amongst his collection of 20 musical instruments. They include a harpsichord, viola da gamba and an 18th-century Dutch pipe organ brought from a cottage at Milton. He began to collect them in his undergraduate days, put them in store while he did his R.A.F. service, then brought them to college when he came to teach music. His students play them as part of their studies. 57 03 02 c & d

Sir - For the past one hundred years Swaffham Prior has had a fountain of pleasing and unusual design. It was circular, built of brick and crowned with a steeply pitched conical roof. Generations used it for the refreshment of men and beasts. Sheep-dogs lapped up water, wayfarers stopped to admire it. But a few days ago, with no warning, it was demolished and the materials carted away. Who is responsible for this vandalism? – Aquarius. 57 03 02b

Music museum - 57 03 02e
Cameras film Cambridge from rooftops – photo – 57 03 02f 57 03 13

1957 03 05

When the Singapore Memorial was unveiled in the Kranji War Cemetery a wreath was laid in memory of over 370 former members of the Cambridgeshire Regiment who perished during the Malayan campaign or in subsequent captivity. After the formal ceremony, when the Guard of Honour had marched away, the relatives laid their personal wreaths and found the names which they had made their pilgrimage to see. 57 03 05a

A record crowd of 10,000 witnessed some exciting racing at Moulton when the Newmarket and Thurlow Hunt organised their most successful point-to-point meeting. 98 runners competed over the three-and-a-half mile all-grass course. The only really serious casualty occurred when Mr G. Mason's grand old horse, Treasure, dropped dead after throwing his rider near the finish. 57 03 05

1957 03 06
A hundred undergraduates who gathered on Magdalene Bridge to see the inaugural Shrove Tuesday Pancake Race run between the porters and bulldogs of three colleges were the victims of a joke. But not entirely. Diminutive, cheerful Horace Reed, who is 56 and works in Magdalene kitchens, appeared alone, aproned and carrying a frying pan. He ran the course, tossing a pancake from time to time. The event was arranged by the Pitt Club, who have inaugurated several successful hoaxes recently. 57 03 06

1957 03 08
Waging a constant battle against rabbits has proved profitable to Gerald Fairey who farms 2,000 acres at Linton. One rabbit can breed 200 progeny in a season but farmers get 50 per cent grants to destroy them. He is using gassing methods, then destroying the burrows to see they are not reinfested. Over 400 rabbits were discovered in one small area of land. 57 03 08

Barbara Gordon is the schools meals supervisor at Burnside Central Kitchen who has to organise lunches for city schools without their own kitchens. Often she works out a small recipe so it can be made up in 900 portions. The lunch only costs the child 10d (4p) a day – the parents pay the cost of the food and the Ministry pay for staff wages and other overheads. 57 03 08a

1957 03 12
Hundreds of aviation enthusiasts both young and old crowded into the Cambridge University Engineering Laboratories for the inaugural meeting of the Cambridge branch of the Royal Aeronautical Society. Some people claimed that aircraft as we knew them were on the way out, but the next 25 years will see great developments in flying and this country will stay in the forefront of this development, they were told. 57 03 12

1957 03 13
Cambridgeshire Cottage Improvement Society is planning to recondition and restore the Old Manor House at Fen Drayton, the most remarkable property it owns. They hope to turn it into three homes with amenities. The beautiful old house was bought cheaply in 1938 to save it from destruction and the good work must be completed. They will also purchase three cottages at Willingham made out of a fine old thatched house dating back to the time of Charles I with wonderful chimney stacks and thick red brick walls. 57 03 13a

Soccer Cuppers procession – 57 03 13

1957 03 14
Gilbert and Gladys Bradley were appointed to Linton Hospital in 1939 and during their long stay have seen many changes. Very few of the old patients know of the impending departure of their beloved Master and Matron – many of them call Mrs Bradley 'Mother'. Telling them will be one of the most difficult tasks of Gilbert's 40-years work in the medico-social services. 57 03 14

1957 03 15

Cambridge will soon have 141 new specially designed street lamps of the 'vertical fluorescent' type after consultations with the Cambridge Preservation Society, Royal Fine Arts Commission and College bursars. For some months several different types of lamp were erected along King's Parade to test public reaction. The only strong objection has come from the Design Society. 57 03 15

George Sheldrick was restoring his cottage in Priory Close, Swaffham Prior when he forced a crow bar into a hollow space and discovered a well-preserved ingle nook fireplace. Now after careful removal of old stones the original has been revealed. It has a small salt cupboard and a place for shelves. Carved in an oak door which was once part of the dairy are the initials R.W. with the date 1766, but they've also found a penny dated 1606 and a token from 1609. 57 03 15a & b

1957 03 16
Swaffham Prior Reading Room was filled to capacity for a meeting to discuss the vexed question of the fountain. It was conducted with an element of good-natured chaff, an evening of entertainment as well as inquisition. Not all the remarks were good-humoured. There was plenty of hard-hitting criticism with responsibility for the removal of the landmark laid at the door of Mr Charles Allix, whose father had it built, and Mr Woollard, the chairman of the parish council who carried out the orders for its demolition. 57 03 16

1957 03 26
New Hall's Appeal Fund has reached a quarter of the £500,000 target set in November 1955. Donors visited the pleasant old house on the river bank where the college's silver was on display including a replica of a 15th-century coconut cup and a handsome new Jubilee Cup presented by Cambridge Rotary Club. The library has 7,000 items from a 1515 edition of Dante to a book on human anatomy. 57 03 26

1957 03 27
Death W.G. Witherow, auctioneer, Swavesey – 57 03 27

1957 03 29
Nurse G.A. Dorrington of Coleridge Road is a midwife who has brought over 3,800 babies into the world. For 30 years she has been on call night and day, attending women in their own homes across Cambridge. Occasionally she visits a woman having a baby and finds she actually delivered the mother many years ago. Now she has been awarded the M.B.E. 57 03 29

Swaffham Prior may have lost its fountain but it may gain a new playing field. At last year's annual parish meeting there was an apathetic response with only twelve present – 10 from the parish council. This year there were 100 who went on to talk about the general welfare of the village and formed a committee to find a site. They hope the bricks of the old fountain can be used to build a new one on the ground. 57 03 29a & b

April 1957 CDN

1957 04 01
Despite a vigorous protest, magistrates agreed the erection of a new public house, 'The Weathervane' on Perne Road. There was a definite need; since 1936 around 2,500 new houses had gone up in the area with about 9,500 professional and working people. It was a respectable middle-class area and scholars would not be tempted to enter it. 57 04 01b & c

Cambridge Folk Museum has been considering the need to improve its present quarters in Castle Street. Abbey House is now let with the rents from tenants forming a substantial part of its income and another property put on the market was beyond their means. It had been suggested they might move to St Michael's Church but even if permission was granted the building was not really suitable. 57 04 01a

1957 04 02
Bandmaster A.E. Tucker took the post on joining the Cambridgeshire Regiment in 1922, serving to the outbreak of War. He was taken prisoner in Singapore where he maintained the regimental records and was able to bring home a complete list of the casualties. Discharged in 1946 he assisted in the band and was re-appointed bandmaster in 1954. It is a record of which he must be justly proud. His successor is Mr G.R. Ball, Music Master at Ely King's School. 57 04 02

Television sets are to be installed at Chesterton Secondary Modern School in an experiment to assess the value of this type of visual aid. In the years to come they may be as common as radios. However Coun Gardner-Smith claimed children spent a lot of time watching television: "Is it any wonder they are illiterate. This is simply another way of wasting time". 57 04 02a

1957 04 03
The opening of Herbert Robinson's new Sales and Service department on Newmarket Road, equipped with every aid to modern truck servicing techniques, marks another important step in the development of the company who are Rootes Group dealers for Cambridgeshire. From a cycle shop bought in 1905 has grown the present concern embracing the motor, cycle and radio industries. 57 04 03

Sir – in Coton the rectangular parcel of grass land in the centre of the new housing estate was some years ago planted with four saplings which have flourished. But now it seems they must be encased in stout timbers and barbed wire to protect them against the ravages of the Coton 'Commandos'. At the same time a tree was planted in the middle of their football pitch. In the future can we expect to see them all protected by sandbags, barbed-wire entanglements or an electric fence? - Gaza C Strip. 57 04 03a

1957 04 04
Jimmy Edwards, complete with the famous moustache, performed the opening of Herbert Robinson's new garage at Newmarket Road. 'A few jocularities and not all of them in good taste' was how he introduced his remarks, observing somewhat ruefully that with the rate of present development the new premises might eventually be quite near Cambridge. After the inevitable disparaging comments about his radio colleague, Dick Bentley, he commented on the number of cars now fitted with radio – 'a good sign we will not be thrown out of work'. 57 04 04

Bulldozers are clearing the ground for house building in Hurst Park Avenue where the hundred foot windmill and Mill Cottage are to be pulled down. There has been a mill on the site since the 16th century although the present building is about 120 years old. It has been a landmark for aircraft from local aerodromes and for many years has been a home for pigeons. 57 04 04a

1957 04 06
In 1956 Messrs Holland was refused permission to erect a petrol filling station on the junction of Mill Road and Ross Street as was another in the area. This was obsolete, they claimed, with a limited forecourt. But its owner said there was no need for another – some evenings he did not have a single customer. Protestors fear it would attract additional motor traffic into a residential area, with noise, television interference and the smell of petrol. 57 04 06 & a

A Penguin Bookshop has opened opposite the University Press in Trumpington Street. This is an innovation by Heffers for they will devote the entire shop to the display and sale of the thousand titles at present in print. The shop has been designed by Peter Bicknell who has preserved the pleasant original stone front whilst making the inside both gay and light. 57 04 06b

1957 04 10
A butcher appealed to use the former Crown public house on the corner of Cross Street as a butcher's store, cutting room and office. He had 150 customers and delivered about 900 lb of meat a week. The van would use the back yard. But it would be difficult to convert the premises which stood on the boundary of the working class area to the north and the better area of Glisson Road to the south. 57 04 10

1957 04 12
Anna Gordon Gosse – Anna Gordon Keown, poet and novelist of Grantchester Street – dies 1907 - 57 04 12a

1957 04 13
Great St Mary's church has a new mace which depicts the Virgin Mary resting on the arms of the University. It was made by Loughborough Pendred, the Cambridge woodcarver and magnificently gilded and decorated by Mr B. Winterton. There are other examples of Mr Pendred's work in Stretham, Teversham, Sawston, Cheveley and Great Shelford churches. 57 04 13

1957 04 16
Cambridge city council may purchase the 350 temporary bungalows from the Ministry of Housing for £150 each. They are suitable for elderly couples and can be kept sound for another ten years. They could also purchase big houses to let as flats to business people, starting with no.20 Beche Road which has already been converted into five flats. 57 04 16

The central island containing the underground public convenience at Hyde Park Corner is to be removed to make way for new traffic signals. The toilets might be resited on Lensfield Road where trees and a fence will provide a screen from the Scott Polar Research Institute. But the University suggests that Parker's Piece would be a better location. 57 04 16a

1957 04 18
Archaeologists led by Prof. Grahame Clark are excavating a Neolithic site at Mildenhall. Hurst Fen is a wild and desolate stretch of boggy heathland not far from the man Brandon road. Lady Briscoe of Lakenheath Hall investigated pieces of pottery and now polished flint axes, arrowheads and scrapers have been found, proving that 4,000 years ago there was a small community living in primitive huts. But the fen soil has destroyed all traces of bones. 57 04 18

1957 04 20
It had been planned to make a car park on the site of the proposed County Fire Station at 44 Parkside. But as this is to be built sooner than expected the site for the new Police Station should be used instead since it would not be needed for another 15 years. But this was a residential area, the Chief Constable had dozens of complaints regarding even a police garage there. There were other sites: New Square could take another 90 cars very easily and there is plenty of space round the backs of the colleges. 57 04 20

Fen Ditton church people have an attractive new publication. 'Life' is a handy-sized magazine full of parish news which is distributed to 2,000 houses in the area. Since the war the population had grown to about 8,000 and they cannot hope to have personal contact with the majority of parishioners. This is a way of communicating the Christian faith. 57 04 20a

1957 04 26
The Appointments Board in Chaucer Road is the undergraduates' "labour exchange". The Secretary, J.G. Davies interviews 1,500 students every year, some after they have done National Service or after a year's not-to-successful search on their own. A small intake, a dozen each year, go into atomic research where the standards are very high. There is a demand for mathematicians because of the development of automatic computers and economic analysis in Government offices but a desperate shortage of teachers specialising in science. 57 04 26

Grantchester is famous worldwide and its picturesque main street brings gasps of wonder from many a visitor. It presents a picture of centuries ago but its sewerage system is just as antiquated. It smells. A council sewerage scheme must wait because it has a comparatively small population and other villages have first claim. But attempts to build more houses are virtually at a standstill because there is no sewerage system. 57 04 26a

Five oak trees standing on Comberton recreation ground have become the major topic of conversation in the village and have led to the retirement of one long-standing parish councillor. The suggestion that three of them should be cut down because they are unsafe had aroused a storm of controversy. A 'Save the Trees' petition, signed by 200 villagers was sent to the Parish Council, who turned it down. 57 04 26d

Grantchester – the forgotten village – 57 04 26b, c, 57 04 29

1957 04 29
Countess Mountbatten of Burma visited Cambridge to receive the gift of Fitzpatrick House in Barton Road and declare it open as the new county headquarters of the St John Ambulance Brigade. Then on Lammas Land she inspected more than 300 men, women, boys and girls who make up the Brigade and presented the Grand Prior's Badge to nursing cadet Averil Turville. 57 04 29a & b & c

Two Cambridge girls were taken to Newmarket Hospital on Saturday night after an American Service Jeep in which they were travelling crashed through the Mill Street Bridge in Mildenhall and fell into the river. Five American servicemen who were also in the vehicle were taken to a base hospital at Lakenheath. The bridge has only recently had temporary repairs carried out after an American truck damaged it in two places. 57 04 29d

1957 04 30
In Thriplow the Post Office and village shop are together and their telephone is connected to the phone kiosk. This meant that if the shop were using it the kiosk would be engaged, and vice-verse. The ladies of the W.I. do not think the postmistress has the inclination to listen to their conversations but it was not nice to know that other members of the house might. The telephone lines between village Post Offices and local kiosks should be made separate. 57 04 30

Mrs Gwendolen Mary Raverat of The Old Granary, Silver Street, engraver, artist and granddaughter of Charles Darwin died in February, leaving £1,000 to her housekeeper, Florence McMonagle, with another £1,000 to her indoor and outdoor servants. But Cottenham WI feel that such wills should not be published in newspapers without the executor's consent. To the strain of bereavement is added the embarrassment that your private business is an item of news and probably gossip. 57 04 30a

Three oak trees standing in Comberton recreation ground will be felled as they have been infected with rot and could blow over. Timber merchants have offered a reasonable sum for the trees as they now stood. If they were left to deteriorate they would become a dead loss. One of the trees is probably 300 years old but the wood could have another 300 years of useful life as timber in a church or college. 57 04 30b

May 1957 CDN

1957 05 01
Feelings have been running high in the ancient village of Reach over the break in tradition with the date of their fair. It has always been opened on Rogation Monday by the Mayor of Cambridge but this year the date of Mayor-making has been changed so it has been brought forward. Villagers are concerned a precedent would be established and it would be on Christmas Day next! This is the only social event in the village and coincides with the Chapel Anniversary when locals parade their new spring clothes. 57 05 01

1957 05 03
Margaret Gracie finds work as a bartender interesting and the long hours, from 10-2 and 6-10 go quickly. Americans like salt in their beer and their latest craze is lager and lime. "It seems horrible to me, but they nearly all ask for it", she says. She meets interesting characters; Steve Donoghue always drank peach brandy, the late Arthur Lucan (alias 'Old Mother Riley') preferred champagne and boxer Larry Grains drank beer. 57 05 03

Sir – Town and County planners want Grantchester to be left 'unspoilt' but Road planners want tear the guts out of the village and remove the Orchard House to allow more traffic to roar through. Household refuse is cleared normally once every four weeks and the absence of sewage is a problem. But if the price of modern drains is a vast expansion of housing, it will not be worth it – A.V. Watson. 57 05 03a

1957 05 04
A Pye Magnetic Tape Data Store will be shown at an Exhibition at Olympia. It is the first to incorporate electro-pneumatic tape control allowing very high-speed movement. They were commissioned to produce six special units for experimental work in computer design and development. One has been delivered to the University Mathematical Laboratory for use with their new powerful computer EDSAC II. 57 05 04

1957 05 07
Canvassing voters for the City Council election means knocking on the doors of hundreds of houses. Reporter Colin Moule went out with two councillors, C.A. Mole, Conservative and Robert Davies, Labour. Reactions on the doorsteps varied but both candidates were optimistic that people would support them. 57 05 07a

Reach fair proclaimed – 57 05 07

1957 05 08
James de Rothschild, the elder son of Baron Edmond de Rothschild has died. He was well-known in racing circles as the 'millionaire sportsman': when his horse Brigand won the Cambridgeshire in 1919 he won £250,000. He was elected Liberal MP for the Isle of Ely in 1929 being returned in 1931 and 1935. But in the 1945 election he was beaten by Mr E.A. Legge-Bourke. During his parliamentary career he represented Jewish opinion being particularly interested in the settlement in Palestine. 57 05 08

1957 05 009
When the last train from London arrived at Whittlesford airmen rushed out of the station to get onto a Premier Travel bus. The top and bottom decks rapidly filled up, people were standing up the stairs and on the platform. When it was stopped by police there were 76 men and one woman on board. The conductor said he hadn't wanted to leave them behind at that time of night. The company, driver and conductor were fined £1. 57 05 09

1957 05 10
Nearly everybody who travels on the buses knows Gladys Hughes, the helpful and friendly conductress. One young man told her he'd just bought a goat at the Cattle Market as his baby had to have goat's milk, but had no way to get it home. They managed to get it on the upper deck though passengers were amazed to see a goat coming down the stairs. Her husband is a driver, they always work together and the job is very well paid for women. But the main thing was that she likes people and loves to laugh. 57 05 10

In 1941 common land known as 'Quy Fen', was given over to grazing. When the war finished it was re-seeded and hired by a local farmer. Then three years ago 50 acres was ploughed up, causing an uproar. Now the 'Quy Fen Enquiry Committee' wants the County Council to investigate the actions of Horningsea parish council where three councillors and the chairman have resigned. 57 05 10a

The coffee habit has grown up in the last ten years out of the need which young people have to talk without interruption. Beer-drinking is too absorbing an occupation and the tankard has to be refilled.

But a single cup of coffee will last a whole night. One public house has converted two former billiard rooms, where everything is provided from the serenity of the shaded lights to the stimulus of Espresso Coffee. People come from places as far apart as Moscow and Addis Ababa, Hong Kong and Puerto Rico. 57 05 10b

A farmer from Wayhead, Coveney said he'd started as a smallholder in December 1947 with two acres from his father, £10 in cash and implements lent him by relatives. He sowed an acre of sugar beet and an acre of potatoes and got on nicely making £5 a week. But he suffered bad harvests and the wheat was overrun with rabbits. He'd bought a second-hand tractor for £30 but had sold it for £5. Now he had a £500 overdraft. 57 05 10c

1957 05 11
A Government White Paper proposes wider powers for councils such as Cambridge City who wish to be free from the control of the County Council. It says they should be entrusted with responsibility for services such as health, education, roads, town planning, libraries and licensing waste food boiling plants. But the city will still press for county borough status. 57 05 11

1957 05 13
Shudy Camps' bright clean, one-roomed school, which houses 20 children, means a lot to the inhabitants. They have a good teacher in Doris Edwards but no mains water supply. Now it may close with the pupils sent to Castle Camps. But with four new council houses and two more being built there will be more children. In these modern days you must have community spirit. Take the school away and what focal point is left? Just the church and the pub. 57 05 13 &a –b

In the early days in Cambridge a scout would buy a broomstick, which cost 2d, and a billy-can and spend weekends in the woods and country places round the city. Later such boys became scoutmasters but during the Great War troops had to run themselves. Then in 1925 they secured headquarters in Grafton Street which they'd sold to the Co-operative Society. Now the new Scout Headquarters in Perne Road was opened. 57 05 13d

1957 05 14
Rance's folly demolition photo – 57 05 14

1957 05 15
A revolutionary – even fantastic – scheme has been put forward to use Cambridge Castle Mound as a multi-deck car park. Tunnels would be driven into it to provide space for hundreds of cars with be entrances from Chesterton Lane, Huntingdon Road and Magrath Avenue. The dirt excavated could be used for filling in Coldham's Lane pit, providing more parking spaces or building land. There will no doubt be many objections. 57 05 15

1957 05 17
Proposals have been announced for an underground car park at Parker's Piece capable of accommodating about 5,000 vehicles. When complete it would be unaltered on the surface but beneath would be many acres of car parking space with four sloping entrances. It will take two years to build and be cheaper the present scheme for a multi-deck park on Lion Yard a councillor claims. 57 05 17a

1957 05 17
"It is very rewarding to help children to find their books as there is such a wealth of children's literature these days and he's quite an experience to help them discover the best". So said the Children's Librarian at the Cambridge Central Library, Miss Barbara Sandall of Arbury Road.
She is in charge of the junior section which has grown considerably since it moved from a few shelves in the Lending Library to its own department at the beginning of 1956. Figures show a remarkable increase in the children using the library now they have a room of their own. As soon as children learn that books are to read and not to fear they can come to the library and often they have three and four-year-olds coming in with their parents. They type of books the children choose is interesting. There is still a demand for the classics, nature study and animal books, with boys preferring books on planes, trains, space travel, adventure, mechanics and model instruction. Girls like career novels especially about ballet and nursing and pony stories. The time the children take to select their books varies considerably. Some might take two hours whereas others a few minutes. Her job also includes buying the books. "I try to interest them in certain subjects but it is difficult to get them to read books about real people, they nearly all prefer fiction. It is a pity because they do lose a lot by doing this", she says To try and encourage them she arranges special displays and puts the wrappers of the new books on display in the department. "Publishers and booksellers now have more idea of the demand especially for younger children", Miss Sandall added– 57 05 17

1957 05 22
Mr C.B. Kenzie junior won the 'coach driver of the year' competition. He and his father operate a compact fleet of six coaches at Shepreth, specialising in private hire. In their 24-seater Bedford Duple motor coach he had to demonstrate his skills in acceleration, braking and reversing and also broke the day's record by 'quick starting' in 16 seconds. 57 05 22a

Linton football club results – 57 05 22

1957 05 23
Messrs C. Holland won their appeal to erect a petrol filling station on the corner of Ross Street and Mill Road. The site is at present occupied by a house and garden, the surrounding area is predominately residential but with some schools, shops, social clubs and industry. In such areas motorists prefer to fill their tanks locally at the start of the day & it would not increase traffic risks to children. 57 05 23

1957 05 24
The Night Climbers of Cambridge are at it again. At daybreak two objects had been placed on the spires of King's college chapel. One is the globe of a Belisha beacon, the other a nylon stocking. There was a turret-climbing episode in May 1932 on the eve of Empire Day when a Union Jack was flying from the north-east turret. Two nights previously the pinnacles were decorated with open umbrellas. 57 05 24

1957 05 25
Gallyon – Henshaw gunsmith – 57 05 25

1957 05 29
Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother opened a new wing at Homerton, a women's training college which prepares students for teaching in primary and secondary schools. She walked along the main entrance driveway passing groups of pretty girl students making a gay sight in their brightly-coloured cotton frocks. 57 05 29 & a

1957 05 30
Everyone in the Norfolk Street area know "Charlie the Cheerful Milkman" – Charles Short. Even the children at St Matthew's Infants' School give him a friendly shout as he passes. In his years as a milk roundsman with his little motorised trolley he has helped take out dustbins or put coins in gas meters. But now the Co-op Dairy want him to drive an electric van and change his rounds. 57 05 30

That feature of modern shopping, the self-service store, has been adopted by the N.A.A.F.I. at RAF Bassingbourn. Service wives were present at the opening ceremony of the shop, which caters for 230 families. A fully automatic cash register has been installed, doing away with hand-written invoices, and a covered perambulator park added just outside the door. 57 05 30 & a

1957 05 31

A tiny notice banning games has angered dozens of families on the Silverdale Avenue Estate, Coton. They say the old 'Village Green' makes an ideal playing field now barbed wire has been removed from around trees – the boys had their footballs punctured on them. The District Council says little toddlers can still go on the green but youngsters will have to travel half a mile to the recreation ground. Parents will organise a petition to get the notice removed. 57 03 31

There are 33 council houses in Grantchester and 26 still have pail lavatories. One resident said: "Us people, we have a sense of decency, and when we have friends call we blush from head to foot. They have been used to flush lavatories". But private houses are in the same position, it is a national problem. Villagers called for some form of night soil collection and a small sewage disposal scheme. 57 05 31a

June 1957 CDN

1957 06 01
Sawston Hall was left in a terrible state by troops who were billeted there during the war. Much of the panelling was split, many doors were off their hinges, the ceilings were cracked. The electric wiring was dangerous, the heating system destroyed and pipes freezing and bursting all over the house. Then there were three bombs and two landmines in the garden - and three cesspools. The owner, Captain Huddleston, thought he would have to abandon it but then decided to open the house to the public. 57 06 01 & a

1957 06 04
Stan Kelly and his skiffle group transformed one of Banham's craft into a full-blown Mississippi boat. Singing "We're Alabama Bound" they set off for Clayhithe. Despite playing all the way there and back they still had energy to provide a lively beat on the Bridge Hotel lawn. In no time there was jiving on the grass. 57 06 04c

Commonwealth Youth Sunday photos – 57 06 04 & 04a
King and Harper boat trip on Viscountess Bury – 57 06 04b

1957 06 06
Rev A.C. Moule death – 57 06 06

1957 06 07
A Cambridge biologist found radio-active particles in samples of air he took near his house in St Barnabas Road. He claimed it was contaminated by smoke from the railway and contained minute particles of dirt which harboured germs. He sought a reduction on his rating assessment from £46 to £35. 57 06 07c

The Minister has approved plans to reduce the rate of growth of Cambridge but increase the development of nearby villages like Histon, Girton, Milton and Coton. However no deliberate expansion will take place at Teversham, Hauxton, Madingley or Grantchester. Villages can only preserve their identity and character if they remain physically separate from each other so a Green Belt will be introduced. 57 06 07a

St Ives Employment office closure protest – 57 06 07b

1957 06 08
The vestry door of Melbourn church was forced, the safe opened and the communion silver stolen. Later it was found in a cardboard box in a ditch. PC Everett questioned two men and was helping to push their car, which had broken down, when they threw an overcoat over his head and made their escape. Inside he found a wrecking bar that had been used to force the lock and a piece of paper with an address on it. 57 06 08 & a

Hugh Woodhouse of St John's, playwright – 57 06 08b

1957 06 11
Scrambling, Elsworth – Stonebridge – 57 06 11

1957 06 12
Daphne Harrington suffers from 'fragile bones' which means she must spend her days in a plaster cast and be moved about in a wheeled bed. But she runs an active Brownie company, earns money by typing, designing knitting patters and making small household articles. So she was not going to let her disability prevent her going on holiday. She left her Selwyn Road home in an ambulance to journey to Norway where she will join other handicapped girl guides in a camp halfway up a mountain. 57 06 12a

James de Rothschild, Isle MP, will – 57 06 12

1957 06 13
Hamilton Kerr made baronet – 57 06 13

1957 06 15
Council house tenants in School Lane, Fulbourn protested about plans to shorten their gardens to provide space for new homes. But their gardens were much larger than average. It worked out at seven houses to the acre, whilst today it is necessary to build 10 or sometimes twelve. If the Council didn't take the land there would be seven new houses without any gardens at all. 57 06 15 & a

Coton villagers were woken by a big explosion. On investigation a small hole was found beside the Grantchester Road about half a mile from the village. The Bomb Disposal Unit from Feltwell was called to the scene. It is known that eight bombs fell in the area during the war, of which four did not explode. It is understood that the explosion was caused by one of these bombs. 57 06 15b

Cambridge Night Climbers spend the small hours of the night among the college piers and pinnacles. They work in groups of two or three and their equipment is a pair of soft shoes and gloves with sometimes a punt cushion for crossing the spikes and broken glass set in concrete. They climb for the love of climbing and regard the leaving of flags or underclothes as an error of taste bordering on exhibitionism. 57 06 15c

Walter Morley Fletcher – biography – 57 06 15d

1957 06 17
Since the formation of the Romsey Town Branch of the British legion in 1950, the clubroom of the 'Grasshopper', Brookfields, has been used as its headquarters. But now it is too small as membership has risen to over 200 so have decided to move to the 'Jubilee' in Catharine Street. They presented their old hosts, Mr & Mrs Arnold, with a pipe and a broach in thanks for their help. 57 06 17

1957 06 18
It could cost less than £400,000 to build a car park for 800 vehicles under Parker's Piece. This is less than a multi-deck on the Lion Yard site that could only take 500 cars. The charge would be 1s 3d (07p) a session, whereas Lion Yard would be at least twice that sum. If motorists are going to be charged half-a-crown (12p) a time for the 'honour' of parking in the centre they will leave their cars outside the city or not even come at all. Then local trade would suffer, councillors' claim. 57 06 18

Main line trains were diverted through Saffron Walden while the iron bridge near Great Chesterford was replaced. For weeks the road under the bridge has been closed while the steel girders were built into the form of a pre-fabricated bridge. Then by an ingenious piece of engineering the entire section, weighing many tons, was trundled forward on two specially-laid sets of rails. 57 06 18a

1957 06 21
Rance's Folly, the large redbrick house now being demolished in St Andrew's Street once had several lifts, four bathrooms and central heating – as well as a swimming pool. Guests even played tennis on the roof. It was built by Henry Rance who was Mayor in 1878 and 1882 – when he held council meetings in his dining room - and included a ballroom whose floor was laid by experts brought specially from Germany. Here his granddaughters were never at a loss for partners. 57 06 21 & 21a

1957 06 26
United States servicemen contributed £3,500 to the University Department of Pathology in thanks for the specialised laboratory services provided to their military medical authorities. The American Hospital at Wimpole Park, which re-opened in 1952, had only limited facilities but Sir Lionel Whitby had offered what professional help they required until his death last year. It was a voluntary contribution from all branches of their personnel and not an attempt to 'pay an account'. 57 06 26

1957 06 27
Grantchester housing and sewage report – 57 06 27

1957 06 29
When returning from Ely Fair after a 'good night out', three Mepal landworkers saw Marcus Darby's tractor standing on the grass verge at Sutton with the ignition key in place. When one of them suggested "Let's have a taxi home" all three piled on to it and took it four hundred yards to the aerodrome, where they left it. The lads were of good character and had been well behaved in the village. They were fined £1 each and had their licences endorsed. 57 06 29a

J.D. Livingstone retires as head of Central School – 57 06 29

Alice Reynolds made her first appearance as a trained singer at a concert in the Guildhall in 1916 when, according to the News, 'she created a sensation'. During the war her 'Variety Highlights' party gave 1,000 concerts for troops around Cambridge, making a real contribution to morale. Now although still in good voice she feels it time to make way for younger people and can sit back 'with a song in her heart', knowing she has entertained so many. 57 06 29

July 1957 CDN

1957 07 01
Last year an Adventure Playground started on a patch of rough ground bordering Newmarket Road. Cambridge council gave a generous quantity of odd timber, other people provided tree trunks and old motor tyres. But it all vanished during the winter. Now they are seeking more together with an old motor car chassis, corrugated iron, bricks, pick-axes, hammers, nails and other lumber. They also need a strong lockable shed to keep it in. 57 07 01

A 19-year-old was registered as a conscientious objector, relieving him from National Service, provided he worked as a ward orderly at St James Hospital, Saffron Walden. But he refused. He had a certificate, issued when he was 12 years old, saying he had been duly ordained as a Minister of the Jehovah Witness Society to carry out duties as a minister. If he took up shift work he would be unable to attend meetings in the evening. 57 07 01a

The rector of St Peter's Church, Duxford, sat on the Coronation seat on the green with a top hat for donations. RAF men in full flying kit arrived in the station fire engine, bowed low and made their contributions. They then received a certificate granting them permission "to fly Discreetly and Warily over ye precincts of ye Holy Shrine of St Peter's without incurring ye customary Curse of Anathema of ye church". 57 07 01b

Master and matron of Linton hospital retire – 57 07 01c

1957 07 03
The A14 at Kisby's Hut is now open after three months in which through traffic has been re-routed through Eltisley and local motorists have used private bye-ways. Papworth Everard residents will long remember the respite from thundering night lorries and the revival during the day of the almost-forgotten privilege of strolling along the Queen's Highway with the main stream of traffic fenced off. 57 07 03

1957 07 05
The Waggon and Horses in Newmarket High Street was a well-known coaching inn famous for its cooked hams which it baked in special boilers on the premises. In recent years however it has become just another hostelry. Now Messrs Whitbread's are making efforts to restore it to its former glory. It has been redecorated and enlarged and was reopened by Newmarket trainer, Jack Jarvis. 57 07 05

The motor vessel 'Phosphorous' lazily riding at her moorings off the 'New Spring' pub is the perfect answer to Cambridge's housing difficulties. It does have disadvantages: all the washing-up water must be pumped from the river and boiled while drinking water has to be obtained and conserved in a tank in the bows. But when the owners are cruising the river it is not an empty house that callers see, just a clear view of the opposite bank. 57 07 05a

County Landowners Association 50th birthday – history – 57 07 05

Fifty years ago landowners were passing through difficult times with some land more valued for its sporting amenities than for the food it could grow and there was a threat it might be nationalised. So a Cambridgeshire branch of the Central Land Association was established to represent all interests – owners, farmers and workers. Now more than 40 percent of the farms are occupied by their owners who bought them on favourable terms after the wealthy families died and the land was sold to pay death duties. 57 07 05b & c

Jack Hulbert at Arts Theatre – 57 07 05d

1957 07 07
The water situation in Duxford is critical. Last year 40 of the 63 satisfactory wells dried up. Miss Harriet Hewitt, 74, says her well had dried up and she has to go to a pump 250 yards away to fetch water. Mrs Pamela James in St John's Street who has two small children has to get her water from a pump 200 yards from her home four times a day. The District Council says a piped supply from Dotterell Hall is expected in autumn. 57 07 07 & a

1957 07 11
Miss C.E. Willers has been ringing Trumpington church bells for nearly 40 years; now she is paying for two new bells as a memorial to her family who have been in the village for generations. She cycled to Loughborough from her home in the High Street – and did the 85-mile journey in one day – to see them being cast. "Trumpington church is so old and beautiful it's a privilege to do anything for it", she said. 57 07 11 & 11a

1957 07 12
Lamp standard replaced by traffic bollards at corner Petty Cury – photo – 57 07 12

1957 07 13
Railway modernisation plan – photos – 57 07 13 & a
Duxford water cartoon – 57 07 13b

1957 07 15
Histon has had a fortnightly refuse collection since the war, but other villages had one every week. In some parishes the workmen collect refuse bins from the doors, in Histon they had to be placed in the road. Every village should have the same service. But at Haslingfield the refuse was collected every four or five weeks. A resolution calling for a fortnightly collection throughout the district was carried unanimously. 57 07 15

A coloured film based on Rupert Brooke's 'The Old Vicarage Grantchester' is being made. The Marlowe Society provided many of the actors and a local girl was persuaded to jump into the Granta 'with practically nothing on' for one verse. Producer John Stewart will have to be tactful during the filming of the lines "Ditton girls are mean and dirty, And there's none in Harston under 30". 57 07 15a

1957 07 17
Cambridgeshire Women's Bowling Association was founded in 1937. Now their new flag in the County colours of light and dark blue and old gold was hoisted for the first time at a bowls drive at Brooklands Avenue to celebrate its 21st anniversary. 57 07 17

1957 07 18
Teversham villagers standing on the parish recreation ground turned up their coat collars against the wind and rain as they watched their new 'do-it-yourself' sports pavilion opened by Mr A.G. Marshall. Three years ago the recreation ground itself was opened – again in the pouring rain. Then an anonymous donor offered considerable financial help if villagers erected the building themselves. Teversham now has one of the finest-equipped sports fields in the county. 57 07 18a

Meldreth butcher history – 57 07 18b
School House Lane off East Road garage appeal – 57 07 18

1957 07 19
There will be a lot of sadness at Richmond Road School when Miss Chandler retires after 22 years as headmistress. Scores of children owe a great deal to her care and devotion. The other day a young boy gave her sixpence and said 'This is for making us work so hard'. Now she is going to learn to use the typewriter that was presented to her but will be going away for a few days when the children start school again as she will feel her retirement more acutely at that time. 57 07 19

Lloyd Gibson, aged 12, has won 102 painting competitions in four years. In his house in Isaac Walton Way are a television set, a portable wireless, three bicycles and a camera together with a pair of roller skaters and a set of hair brushes which he has won by his entries in boy's magazines. His pictures depict Red Indians, knights in armour and Spanish buccaneers but he would like to be a commercial artist when he grows up. 57 07 19a

1957 07 20
A giant super-modern heated indoor swimming pool with a roof-top restaurant may be constructed on Donkey common. It would have space for 230 bathers with 600 spectators, parking for 35 cars and 200 cycles and a view across Parker's Piece from the restaurant. Changing rooms for footballers and crickets could be installed later. It could be in use within three years. 57 07 20a b & c

King's college Gibbs building roof – first repairs – 57 07 20

1957 07 22
The Adventure Playground off Newmarket Road does not seem to be wanted, judging from a lively meeting. Residents said was being used by hooligans who broke up the equipment and should be moved far from homes where a nuisance is likely to be caused. They called for the area to be used as tennis courts instead. 57 07 22 & 22a

1957 07 23
Plans for a new car park at Parkside should be deferred until the proposed underground park at Parker's Piece is debated, councillors say. But they would deplore anything which would affect its amenities. The ground would take three years to be 'reinstated' ready for playing and there would be an area of the Piece which would be permanently sterilised by the construction of entrance and exit ramps, emergency escapes and ventilation apparatus. 57 07 23

1957 07 25
Miss Lilian Clarke has left all her books on Cambridge and her pamphlets, pictures, maps, newspaper cuttings, lantern slides and negatives to the City Library with the request that all duplicate items be sold and applied towards the publication of her book 'Cambridge Calling'. She also left all her papers relating to the Clarke family to the County Library at March and her blankets and pillow cases to the Evelyn Nursing Home. 57 07 25

John Mowlem, 'a famous name in building' have a number of houses in Tedder Way, Hurrell Road and Harding Way on the Arbury Road Estate ready for immediate occupation. First class construction, part central heating and decorations to the purchaser's choice. Prices from £2,550 on easy purchase terms: deposit £255 and repayments from £3.9.6. per week. You are cordially invited to inspect the show house at 42 Hurrell Road which is open daily – advert. 57 07 25a

1957 07 26
The new Radio Astronomy Observatory just opened at Lord's Bridge was made possible by a grant of £100,000 from the Mullard Company. Prof N.F. Mott praised the work of the engineering and electronics companies of D. Mackay & Morley and Duke. It was fortunate for radio astronomy that there were in Cambridge firms led by men who were able to understand quickly what the scientists wanted and had the skill and enthusiasm to provide it rapidly and cheaply. 57 07 26

1957 07 27
The drainage of the fens moved into a new era with the opening at Upware of a fully automatic electric pump. Lord Fairhaven pressed a simple button to start it in motion. It is the first electric pump in the South Level and can move 125 tons of water a minute from Burwell Lode into the Cam. The existing pumps were 18 years old, were efficient and worked very well. But they would be unable to cope under abnormal conditions. 57 07 27

Wicken Fen bird hide opens – 57 07 27a

1957 07 29
Plans for a new fire station at Parkside met with criticism. £15,000 seemed an 'absolutely incredible' amount to spend. There seemed to be a lot of windows – did vehicles need to see out? But there would be a howl of protest if they put up a cheap industrial building. It would be the Fire headquarters for the whole of the county and everything would be under one roof. Earlier plans to include a police station had been turned down by the Home Office. 57 07 29

1957 07 31
Princess Margaret left the Arbury Estate several minutes late after laying the foundation stone of the new church of Nicholas Farrar – because a large wasp found its way on to the back seat of her car. She got in and quickly jumped out again. Her private detective spent several minutes removing it before she drove off to a garden party at St Luke's vicarage amid cheers from the huge crowd. 57 07 31

August 1957 CDN

1957 08 01
Two groups of Cambridge people, one small and ageing, the other large and young will always carry vivid and happy memories of Princess Margaret's visit. One are the happy band who are passing away their 'twilight years' in the comfort and beauty of Langdon House, which she officially opened. The other are the young families who live on the new housing estate at Arbury Road where the foundation stone of a new church was laid. The Princess came into their midst, laughing, joking and chatting with them, radiating her charm and personality wherever she went. 57 08 01c

Four men employed by Tanner and Hall of Cambridge have been endeavouring to save the spire of Wimblington church. Stan Spaxman, Len Crowe, Bill Barratt and Frank Large have been stripping the old stone tiles and fixing new battens on the 95-foot spire, originally built in 1874, preparatory to re-roofing with new Stamford tiles. 57 08 01a

In 1950 Huntingdon Brewery amalgamated with Hall, Cutlack and Harlock of Ely to form East Anglian Breweries. Now it will merge with Stewart and Patteson. There was disagreement over payment to four directors for loss of office. But they were entitled to compensation for fees they would have received but for the reorganisation. 57 08 01g

Coton notice board at Silverdale Avenue to go – 57 08 01b
Langdon House foundation stone laid by Princess Margaret – 57 08 01d & e & f # c.23 # c.32.9 # c.02
More refuse collection in Chesterton villages? – 57 08 01

1957 08 03
The Eastern Electricity Board has installed V.H.F. Radio control in its mobile vehicles which range from heavy field vehicles to vans used by electricians engaged in house repairs. One lady from Bassingbourn telephoned to report a fault but before she put the receiver down the electrician was knocking on the door! The main transmitters run night and day allowing communication between vehicles and there is a portable transmitter that can be taken home by the controlling engineer in case of an emergency during the night. 57 08 03a

Rance's Folly door knocker – 57 08 03b
Eastern Electricity radio-controlled vans – photos – 57 08 03

1957 08 08
An old Balsham bakehouse with its oven, which has stood for 50 years at the entrance to the Bell Inn yard and used to provide the whole village with bread, has been demolished. . Some villagers who have very sentimental memories of it and organised a 'save the oven campaign. Mr Arthur Gray, who lived at the Bell until 1935, used the oven, built by his father, until he built a more modern one elsewhere. It used to be heated by a furnace at the side until it was hot enough to put in the bread. 57 08 08

1957 08 09
Cambridge residents watched a short aerobatics display and heard a radio commentary by the pilot of the aircraft at the same time. It was the first such broadcast. The commentator was Raymond Baxter, the aircraft a Tiger Moth of the Cambridge Private Flying Group. This was formed in 1953 to bring private flying within the reach of the man in the street. One of the lady members, Betty Willink, hopes to qualify for her Private Pilot's licence soon. 57 08 09

The Mayor of St Ives said it was high time something was done to prevent stallholders on its market from opening until a late hour at night. During the August Bank Holiday Monday market the town was in a shocking state and council employees had to work late to clear up the rubbish. Traders should clear their own or be charged a levy of ten shillings. 57 08 09a

1957 08 13
Men and machines leave their mark: aerial view of work on Flood Protection scheme; shows bridge on road from Setch to St Germans – Lynn News

1957 08 14
Scouts from 84 parts of the world attended an International Conference in Cambridge, following the World Jubilee Jamboree. The bright blue caps from Finland, flowing white kaffyeh and agae from Lebanon, broad hats from Mexico and the red tarbouch from Morocco were a colourful sight in the Guildhall where they were welcomed by the Mayor, Councillor B. White. 57 08 14a & 17

1957 08 19
'Footballer of the Year', Tom Finney, has been signed to write for the popular 'Cambridge Daily News Football and Sports Review' each Saturday evening. He has been capped 67 times since 1946 and is one of the most versatile forwards of the post-war period. Tom was offered a huge sum to sign for an Italian team but declined, saying he was happy to remain with Preston North End for whom he scored 22 goals last season. He knows the game inside out and will present a lively commentary on the soccer scene each week. Do not miss them. 57 08 19

1957 08 21
University Aunts offer a wide range of services from their offices in Wheeler Street, including arranging accommodation, escorting foreign visitors, typing theses, personal shopping or finding people to look after babies. Students form a large part of their clientele seeking bachelor mending, quick laundry or girl partners for dances. The Head Aunts depend on a network of part-time helpers and need women with initiative to act as emergency housekeepers. 57 08 21

1957 08 22
Congestion by road – space by water; aerial photo of Kings Lynn river – Lynn News

1957 08 23
Mary and Jennifer Copleston have returned from Moscow to Cambridge after two hectic weeks at the World Youth Festival. The enjoyed free tickets for the Bolshoi ballet and said the food was good with caviar and smoked salmon for breakfast. "Russian women were mostly wearing cotton skirts and dull sorts of blouses; they questioned us about our clothes and shoes and were deeply attracted by our skiffle groups and jazz bands. Homes were very small and crowded, but they had television", they report. 57 08 23a

Plans have been announced for a modern shopping arcade linking St Andrew's Street and Drummer Street bus station, replacing the Christ's Lane. There would be a two-storey block of shops facing an open court together with a waiting room for bus passengers and basement parking for 21 cars and 100 bicycles. 57 08 23b & c

1957 08 24
National Benzole want to open a three-pump filling station on Newmarket Road opposite the junction the Coldham's Lane. The property belonged to Mr West and was used for the maintenance and storage of motor vehicles with three pumps behind a screen wall. They would knock down two adjoining properties to widen the frontage. But planners say the city fire station was across the road and it would hold up the flow of traffic. There were eight other petrol stations on the left-hand side of the road as far as Bottisham. 52 08 24 & a & b

1957 08 27
Magistrates heard of a scene between two prominent Abington Pigotts people. The daughter of the owner of the Hall claimed a retired Army Captain had struck her pony with a stick while she was riding across his land: "He was laughing and giggling and said why hadn't daddy got the police on to him". Her mother went to remonstrate with him saying, "The real truth is that you are jealous of my children who ride – and yours don't". Then he struck her on the wrist. The Captain said it was private land. The case was dismissed. 57 08 27 & a & b

1957 08 28
All over the country the Women's Institutes are busily recording the history of their villages, questioning old residents and collecting old deeds, photographs and paintings. Documents found in a fireplace recess in a Comberton cottage include an invitation to a 'farriers feast' at Bassingbourn and a horse doctor's bill. They were lent to a Cambridge personality with the intention that they reach the Folk Museum, but were somehow mislaid. 57 08 28

Young people from all around the world come to Cambridge to learn English and enjoy themselves. But they are bored stiff. No special provision is made for them. They can go to the cinema, go dancing twice a week or to the International Club. There is roller-skating, punting and swimming but you cannot do this for two months. They come to a city renowned around the world for a vital student life and find a city asleep. Many will never come here again; their numbers will not go on increasing for much longer. 57 08 28a

1957 08 30
Arthur Rayner of Balsham was one of the workmen who helped when the beautiful carved font cover in the village church was installed by Kidman and Son about 30 years ago. It is the work of a former Rector, Canon H. Burrell who taught some of the parishioners wood-working. Now it is carefully cleaned by the present rector's wife – by vacuum cleaner. 57 08 30

1957 08 31
The landlord of the Green Man in Trumpington is Charlie Shadwell, the well-known conductor of the BBC Variety Orchestra which has made over 11,000 radio broadcasts, many of them in the 'Itma' series that were so popular during the war years. He also conducted the Cambridge New Theatre orchestra during 1930. He makes regular trips to London to arrange music for the BBC television shows. 57 08 31 & a Great Shelford's new Village Hall will open in December, but should it include a bar selling beer and spirits? Judge Lawson Campbell was opposed, feeling young members of the club would be tempted to indulge in drink and this would be a bad influence on their morals. But another villager said if he invited his friends to come along to the new hall and told them they would have to eat biscuits and drink lemonade they would want to go to the nearest public house instead. 57 08 31b

A four-storey hostel for Clare College between the Shire Hall mound and Chesterton Road will provide the most modern accommodation in the University. Each of the 40 students will have his own bed-sitting room with adjoining washroom and clothes cupboards and central blocks of bathrooms and w.c.s. During vacations it will be used by delegates attending conferences. When the proposed Spine Relief Road is constructed the North side will face an up-to-date motorway. 57 08 31c & d

September 1957 CDN

1957 09 03
Haverhill parish church hopes to raise £700 to repair the floor which is affected by dry rot and death watch beetle. Parishioners were invited to buy the wooden blocks at one shilling each. There are still a number of 'Bob-a-Block' cards to come in and the Rev Eric Graves hopes to have extra money for the north aisle too. 57 09 03

1957 09 04
Milton Women's Institute has two 14-year-old members. One is Jean Pearson, daughter of Milton's President, who is following the membership footprints of her two grandmothers. The other girl is Maureen Smith, daughter of the Institute's treasurer. 57 09 04

The Cambridge Dunkirk Veteran's Association held their inaugural meeting at the 'Hopbine' in Fair Street. The evacuation bought out the best in all three services in adversity but they should remember those who died on the beachheads. Close on 40 members are expected to join and it is hoped their name will soon command the same respect as that enjoyed by the Old Contemptibles who are now very old. 57 09 04a

1957 09 05
Plans to use five two-storey dwellings in East Road for storage and business purposes were turned down. The buildings were occupied and producing an annual income of £60 but the Council wanted to serve demolition orders to get the site for road improvements without fair compensation. The Minister said that East Road was narrow and attracted heavy traffic. It was to be widened but such use would add seriously to the present congestion. 57 09 05

Chesterford Park Estate comprising 2,366 acres including Hall Farm, Little Walden, together with eight other farms, small holdings and cottages producing rentals of over £4,000 was offered for sale. But only one lot reached its reserve price. It will now be offered privately. 57 09 05a

R.W. Suttle has been connected with the motor industry since serving his apprenticeship with Cambridge Automobile Engineering Company. In 1912 he drove an army staff car when Lord Roberts took the salute during the Army manoeuvres. He later moved to Detroit where he worked on Henry Ford's Model 'T' on which he had his first driving lesson. Now he is in charge of the Cambridge branch of the British School of Motoring. 57 09 05b

1957 09 06
You would hardly expect to find flowers and plants high above Cambridge in the land of roof tops and chimney stacks but among the slated slopes of 4, St Andrew's Street Mrs P. Southgate has created a roof garden. She has turned a small lobby into a conservatory with trailing plants and ferns, tubs and boxes of earth making an attractive relief to what can so easily be a dismal scene. 57 09 06

1959 09 11
A caravan parked at the Plough Inn, Grassy Corner, Fen Ditton was the subject of a planning appeal. The owner said it was almost concealed from the river. But it was within a green belt in an area known nationally and internationally for its special landscape value. There had been chalets on the site, but they had been removed. 57 09 11

The new clubhouse and sports field for employees of Fison's Pest Control was officially opened at Harston. The company chairman said no organisation could be really successful unless it created a spirit of comradeship and good feeling. The pavilion included a dance hall with stage and a large dug-in bath in the men's changing rooms. It was a place where friendships made in the factory and office could be cemented. 57 09 11a

1957 09 12
Stephen Lucas of the County Surveyor's Department must know more about Cambridgeshire than any other man alive. He has walked every yard of the 830 miles of footpaths that run like a secret network between villages, recording them in detail on six-inch maps with notes of the owners of properties and which footbridges or stiles need to be maintained. Parish councils have confirmed the details are correct. Now the monumental work is finished and public rights are secure. 57 09 12

1957 09 13
A mystery explosion resulted in a £1-million Valiant bomber being completely destroyed at R.A.F. Wyton. A number of technicians were working on the aircraft in one of the hangars; most had left for a tea-break but two stayed in the cockpit, working on the compass when it burst into flames. 57 09 13

Residents living near the 'adventure playground' on the Whitehill Estate, Newmarket Road have protested against the things that happen there. Bad language – really filthy barrack room stuff – is a constant annoyance, noise is at a high level with children beating on drums and fuel tanks and the staccato bark of the old motor cycle housed on the ground, especially when it is running without a silencer. It is a place where parents of decent families prevent their children from going, attracts the wrong type of youth and encourages the formation of gangs. 57 09 13a & b

1957 09 14

Trinity College has started its first large-scale works this century. They will reconstruct nos.29-34 Trinity Street with hardly any alterations to the facade. The shops will remain on the ground floor but everything above is to be reconstructed to house 43 undergraduates in a small new court. This will reduce the overcrowding resulting from the termination of military service. 57 09 14 & a

1957 09 16
The owner of a house at 'A' Furlong Drove, Little Downham, appealed against its valuation. He had converted a drawing room to a bathroom but this did not increase the letting value because its isolated location – only his son would live there at all. But the valuation officer said a bathroom was of inestimable value in such a property – probably more so than a house in a town. 57 09 16a

1957 09 18
I had always thought of old peoples' homes being sad places where equally sad old people spend the end of their life. But Primrose Croft stands in a lovely garden filled with flowers backing onto school playing fields. Each of the 35 residents has an airy room with attractive curtains and a lock-up cupboard. The women were busy doing knitting and crocheting, the wireless in the lounge is also enjoyed and the matron hopes one day to afford a television set. 57 09 18

1957 09 19
Cambridge scientists are perfecting a new instrument at the University Observatory which will help in the study of sun 'spots' and 'flares'. Housed in a special 100-foot long building, the Magneotgraph is the most advanced in Europe, capable of detecting solar electrical and magnetic impulses which play havoc with radio and television communications. 57 09 19

The new self-service food store opened by the Co-op at Histon is their second such store within a year – the first opened at Histon Road last December. It has been created from the former grocery and butchery branch premises. The lay-out is extremely attractive with contemporary colourings, cream tenazzo floor tiles and a practically all-glass frontage. It has two check-outs and a cash office. 57 09 19a

The Cambridge Christian Spiritualist Church held a service of spiritual healing at the Guildhall to commemorate their 25th jubilee. Mr Gordon Taylor lead the demonstration, treating a man with rheumatoid arthritis: when he walked onto the stage he was unable to comb his own hair, after Mr Taylor had manipulated his joints he could. He also improved hearing and restored sight. 57 09 20 & a

1957 09 20
Most Cambridge people are aware of the Gog Magog hills and remember the legend of the two giants whose graves they are said to represent. But until T.C. Lethbridge arrived on the scene no one thought of actually looking for the figures of the giants which were once visible from Sawston. Then in 1954 he started probing one side of the hill with a stainless steel rod and found not one giant, but three! Now in his new book 'Gogmagog, the buried gods' he explains his techniques and discoveries. 57 09 20b

1957 09 23
The bells of Harston church have been unused for many years. The peal of six were recast and rehung in 1937 when they were rung for the first time in living memory. But it was not possible to train a team of ringers and the bells remained silent throughout the war. Now at last the vicar, Rev. R.H. Williams, together with 14-year-old Graham Turner, George Bell of the 'Coach and Horses' and others have been practising and they will now be heard on many Sundays. 57 09 23

1957 09 24
Eastern Electricity's rural development is almost completed. Apart from some farms and isolated buildings, all hamlets and villages have been connected but in the fens less than half the new houses built have electric cookers. They have been experimenting with helicopters to survey high tension lines and use a 'pole-hole borer' followed by a compressor rammer to push the poles into place, meaning 42 poles can be erected each day. 57 09 24 & a

1957 09 25
Joshua Taylor fashion show – 57 09 25a
Retirement W. Kingsnorth, linotype operator, CDN – 57 09 25b

1957 09 26
Little Shelford was an unspoilt village – it was a miracle it had been spared in view of its proximity to Cambridge – and with careful planning it could be kept a 'picture village', an Inquiry was told. A building firm withdrew its plans for the erection of 92 houses but appealed for 13 others, however the 'Black Ditch' was over-flowing and could not take even one more house. 57 09 26

1957 09 27
The Witchford House estate of Major Harry Legge-Bourke, Conservative MP for the Isle of Ely, failed to reach its reserve when put up for auction. The fully-modernised country residence was withdrawn at £6,500. It was in 1945, the year of his election, that he moved into the constituency. Previously it was the wartime home of the ex-Queen of Jugoslavia. 57 09 27

The Stokes Motor Company have bought the former mineral water works in Park Lane, Newmarket, where they will tune and maintain sports cars - not ordinary run-of-the-mill vehicles – and might build a sports racing car for next season. There is one problem: hundreds and hundreds of broken empty bottles are crammed between the ceiling of one building and the floor above! 57 09 27a

1957 09 30
Cottenham's new fire station is the third to be opened by the County Council since 1948, following Linton and Soham. They also have a new fire engine with four-wheel drive, now all that is needed is a drill yard and training tower. 100 years ago the village had its fire brigade with an appliance pulled by horses. Now they have the most modern machinery manned by volunteers who could be called away from their work at any minute. 57 09 30 & a

One of the first steps was taken to persuade the Ministry of Transport to allow the Cambridge – Huntingdon road to be rebuilt as a dual carriageway trunk road. Already two people from Swavesey had been killed in accidents and four others seriously injured. The Chief Constable said that more accidents had occurred on the Newmarket and Stetchworth Toll since it had been turned into a three-lane road than when it was a normal highway: no one can say who has got the right of way. 57 09 30b

Hundreds of Civil Defence workers moved in on a devastated Cambridge which had been the target of an atomic guided missile. The southern part of the city was devastated as far as the River Cam. The streets were a blazing inferno, heavy dust and smoke swirled everywhere; thousands were rendered homeless with injured victims lifted from the ruins and ferried across the river to safety. Thankfully it was only an exercise. 57 09 30 c & d

October 1957 CDN

1957 10 01
Work has started on the reconstruction of the kitchens and an additional dining room at Emmanuel College. The work has become imperative because not only have the number of students increased greatly but where a man used only to take dinner in Hall he now commonly takes three meals a day. Staff have to prepare two sittings each evening in term, in two separate dining halls. 57 10 01

The removal of the mighty organ from the pit of the Victoria Cinema illustrates graphically how far this kind of musical entertainment has fallen from public favour. The only other cinema organ in Cambridge – that at the Regal – is never seen without its dust cover. The management says it is kept in good order and could be played at any time. However it would need a travelling organist to come up from A.B.C. headquarters in London. If the truth be told it is in permanent retirement. 57 10 01b

1957 10 03
The tallest residential block in England may be erected in Hills Road. It would tower 135 feet high and, with a series of smaller blocks, accommodate 161 families. The 15-storey building would be of slender design, using modern materials to create homes for today, not pale imitations of the past. It will provide homes for the middle classes who have been saddled with houses at a cost beyond their means which, on re-sale, show a loss of hundreds of pounds. 57 10 03 a & b

1957 10 04
A mannequin parade at the Dorothy Café ballroom attracted over 300 women. They were shown clothes stocked in the Cambridge Mayfair store modelled by seven girls. But they were not all the slender, willowy types. Two larger models – one a 42 hip – wore some of the most attractive creations ranging from evening dresses to winter coats. 57 10 04

A new effluent purification plant at Spicers factory, Sawston, not only makes waste water drinkable but the sludge which is left behind is pumped out and converted into a paper mache texture which is used to make egg packing cases. It is the first system to achieve complete recovery of valuable raw material which would otherwise literally go down the drain and prevent river pollution. 57 10 04a

1957 10 07
Cambridge Observatory obtained the first reading from the Russian satellite on Saturday night. Bruce Elsmore and George Whitfield worked feverishly to construct a suitable type of aerial to pick up the signals. When the first faint 'peeps' began they knew they had been successful. On Sunday they improved the aerial system and that night the Observatory was crowded by pressmen as further readings were taken. The satellite may be visible tomorrow morning, shining like a tiny star in the dark sky. 57 10 07 & a

1957 10 11
The opening of the West London air terminal at Cromwell Road, West Kensington, means that passengers can check in without delay; their baggage is passed on a conveyor to a central sorting room and transferred to coaches for the twelve-mile journey to London Airport which takes 40 minutes. Mr K. Hirons of Histon, who was on his way to Brussels, said the system was remarkable - his check-in had taken less than five minutes. 57 10 11

A builder appealed to develop a site at St John Street, Duxford. It has been the site of the village fair for many years and was also used as a caravan site for causal labour. Both caravan dwellers and showmen were frequently a nuisance. A former Chairman of the Parish Council said it was absolutely ideal as a building site and he was disappointed that he'd not bought it himself. Many people working in the village had to find accommodation elsewhere and others wanted to move from council into private homes. 57 10 11a

1957 10 12
Cambridge dancers will learn with pleasure that the Ken Stevens Orchestra have been engaged as the new resident band at the Rex Ballroom. It features singing star Jimmy Cross, sax players Don Jenkins, Mike Waller, Bert Smith and Denis Range with Barry Mason (trumpet), Ken Southee (bass), Bernie Stubbings (drums) and Ken Stevens (piano). 57 10 12

1957 10 14
Proposals for a 800-space car park under Parker's Piece are technically impossible, opponents say. There are 'certain unsound features', it would be detrimental to the area and it would take years for the ground to be reinstated. The cost would probably be as great as that of the planned scheme in Lion Yard, though no car park of this nature has yet been constructed. But Labour councillors want it carried out as a matter of urgency. 57 10 14

Cartoon, Kapitza Cavendish crocodile – 57 10 14a

1957 10 15
Flats on Arbury Road estate – 57 10 15

1957 10 16
Is a university education wasted on a woman? Many people are convinced that for a girl to have a long and expensive education, only to get married at the end, is a waste of time and money. Now Cambridge graduate, Judith Hubback, has interviewed married university women for a book 'Wives who went to college'. It is impossible to forecast who will marry and who will not: if a woman never marries she will have to compete with men in her profession, but if she has a family she will need education of other skills. 57 10 16

1957 10 17
In the 1920s when Col. W. Whitbread was at Cambridge University he was Master of the Trinity Foot Beagles which hunted in the Swavesey district. A public house called the New Inn on the Huntingdon Road was well known to him so when his brewery bought it from Greene King they decided to rename it the 'Trinity Foot'. Now it has been completely renovated with a new sign. It was delayed when the van carrying it broke down but was quickly erected just before the unveiling 57 10 17

1957 10 18
Dior creations at Sawston Hall – 57 10 18
Water-powered computer – 57 10 18a
Parker's Piece scheme rejected – 57 10 18b

In 20 years' time Lion Yard car park will be outdated as the centre of the City will eventually have to be roped off from traffic, Canon Mervyn Stockwood told the council. He had frequently been up to the top of Great St Mary's and seen the appalling havoc of the central area in recent years. Now they proposed to put up a 'cheap and efficient sort of skyscraper'. He continued: "We are custodians of one of the most famous cities in the world. That sort of building cannot add to the dignity and loveliness of Cambridge" 57 10 18c

CDN editor lectures – 57 10 18d

1957 10 19
Adventure playground abandoned – 57 10 19
Trumpington petrol station appeal – 57 10 19a

1957 10 21
Half Moon, Lt St Mary's Lane for sale – 57 10 21

1957 10 22
New gas plant for Cambridge – 57 10 22
Ely High School for Girls opened – 57 10 22a

1957 10 23
Derek Jacobi, a St John's College Freshman, will take a part in a new production at the ADC. He played 'Hamlet' at the Edinburgh Festival this summer and is to have a film test with 20th Century Fox. It is possible, to judge from the identity of one member of the audience in this his first play of his student days, that the West End may be interested in him too. 57 10 23a

1957 10 24
On Midsummer Common tents are mushrooming in readiness for Billy Smart's Circus. The show promises plenty of interest, thrills galore, glamour and excitement. In the Big Top 23 acts of superlative ability will perform twice daily. Amongst them are Tagora the sword-swallower, the Flying Lunasz trapeze stars, the Atlas Sahara Troupe of tumblers and the Larenty Troupe of trampoline artistes. Then there are the clowns led by Sasha Coco. The Wild West Show is a fast-riding affair of cowboys and Indians featuring Davy Crockett and the 'Cisco Kid. 57 10 24a & 23

Cambs sober – drink – 57 10 24b
Methylated spirits drinkers – 57 10 24c

1957 10 25
Burwell factory Corrugated Fittings opens – 57 10 25

1957 10 29
Amethyst sailor – 57 10 29
Billy Smart's circus show started with a parade of elephants, camels, seals, horses, chimpanzees and the artistes themselves. Then came his Arabian and Palomino horses, dancing, prancing and galloping around the ring, performing amazing tricks. The Rock 'n' Roll Elephants nearly brought the tent down with laughter: attired in jeans, one of these intelligent creatures expertly imitated Elvis Presley. To see the beautifully-groomed polar bears glissading down the slides with every evidence of enjoyment made one realise how the animals can find fun pleasing the audience. 57 10 29a

1957 10 31
St Andrew's Catholic School was established 111 years ago and was the only Catholic school in the whole of Cambridgeshire. They had been in their new building for 21 years but now a new school would be built in the Birdwood Road area to accommodate more than 300 pupils and the existing premises would become a primary school. During the war it had housed 50 evacuated people: they slept on the stage and the balcony but the school carried on. They were shut only two days, for police reasons. 57 10 31

November 1957 CDN

1957 11 01
British Railways modernisation plans involve conversion from steam to diesel traction. A diesel instruction train has come to Cambridge where it will be open for inspection by drivers, firemen and fitters. It consists of two coaches including a complete set of driver's controls and a room with cinema projectors where lectures are given by the Resident Instructor. When it was at March 523 people visited with a record attendance at one of the lectures. 57 11 01

1957 11 02
Thompson's Lane, p7

1957 11 03
Shire Hall – new storey proposed – 57 11 03
Gale damage – 57 11 03a

1957 11 05
Preservation Society views on 15-storey flats – 57 11 05
Sputnik II seen at Cambridge – 57 11 05b
Colonel Clayton death, p11

1957 11 06
Dual carriageway Alconbury to Stilton opened – 57 11 06
A cottage known as 'Long Thatch' at Lt Eversden was severely damaged by fire last night. The blaze was visible for several miles. The Fire Brigade raced to the fire, which affected the thatched roof and had the flame under control after an hour, but they had to work all night to erect a temporary canvas roof. The first floor and roof of the cottage was severely damaged and there was damage to two rooms on the ground floor. About 50 per cent of the furniture was affected by heat, the remainder being saved.– 57 11 06a

Noisy rag, p10

1957 11 09
Poppy Day photos, p5 & p8

1957 11 12
Tribute to Col M.C. Clayton, a leader who inspired confidence and loyalty – 57 11 12 # c.45.7
Barnwell Abbbey, p17

1957 11 13
Robinson Crusoe Bridge, p12

1957 11 14
Isleham market dealer charged with stealing vicar's conckerels – 57 11 14
Telephone call charges will reduce when new scheme for automation starts in January – 57 11 14a

1957 11 15
Gilbert and Sullivan Society newly formed in Cambridge – 57 11 15
New bridge over River Lark to be contructed as part of dual-carriageway at Barton Mills – 57 11 15a
Sawston proposed industrial development on Babraham Road opposed by parish council – 57 11 15b

1957 11 18
Bus stop near Brooklands Avenue is a danger – claim – 57 11 18
The Goons appointed Royal Tiddly-Winks champions by Prince Philip – 57 11 18a

1957 11 19
Trumpington bells dedicated, p9

1957 11 20
Pampisford 17th-century cottage reprieved from demolition – 57 11 20 & a Park Street car park inquiry at Shire Hall – 57 11 20b & c # c.26.48

1957 11 21
Selwyn College undergraduate dieas after polio – 57 11 21
Distinction between Thornton Way, Thornton Road and Thornton Close at Girton are not clear enough – 57 11 21a

1957 11 23
Central High School plans for new buildings – to be renamed Central Grammar School – 57 11 23 # c.36.5

1957 11 26
Earith bridge station to close – 57 11 26
Green Dragon footbridge repairs – 57 11 26b
St Andrew's Street development photo, p7
Canham's stable yard, p14

1957 11 27
Teenages' musical tastes – interview with Marjorie Chapman, supervisor of popular record department – 57 11 27

1957 11 28

Hobson's Conduit channels down each side of St Andrew's Street to be cut off, allowing road to be made wider – 57 11 28 # c.24.2

1957 11 29
The Mayor of Cambridge reminded two councillors that it had been the custom for 400 years that councillors should wear black gowns. He asked them to conform. But Coun Edwards said he was allergic to wearing a uniform of any kind and could do the job as well without a robe. The Mayor told him it was not optional and no one had refused in the past. 57 11 29

Thornton Estate street names not to be changed at present – 57 11 29d

1957 11 30
An inquest into a Littleport man heard he lived alone, was something of a recluse and anti-social. He was 'uncooperative' 'very awkward', 'strong-minded' and 'stubborn' and had insisted on leaving the Tower Hospital as he said doctors were giving him too many pills and were making him worse. He clearly knew what he was talking about. He'd told the matron "This place may be all right for some, but I can't stop here". 57 11 30

A new Supermarket in Fitzroy Street was picketed by shop workers protesting against late opening. Fine Fare has a policy of opening until eight o'clock on Friday nights for the convenience of the public and the shop was full of people. But the Union of Shop, Distributive and Allied Workers see this as leading to a return to the twelve-hour days shop assistants used to have to work. 57 11 30c

Soham fire fatality, p4
Newmarket fire inquest – 57 11 31

December 1957 CDN

1957 12 02
The Senate House has been restored and redecorated. The roof was strengthened, large chandeliers removed and soft diffused pink coloured electric lighting installed in alcoves around the balcony to shed a clean warm light over the whole building. It now looks very similar to how it was nearly 130 years ago.57 12 02a

1957 12 04
An Oakington farm has been judged the best of its kind in the country. It stands within the boundaries of the Royal Air Force base and is looked after by its civilian manager, 'Mac' McAvoy, assisted by the wives of service personnel and by children who are fascinated by the 250 pigs when the food bucket is clanged. Enough potatoes, greens, carrots and turnips are grown to supply the winter needs of the entire airfield. 57 12 04

Four youths were convicted of stealing two packs of playing cards from the Old Rectory, Heydon. Jean Burroughs, the village schoolmistress, said that when she entered the room that was for some years used as the church, and was still the parish room, she found packs strewn across the floor. A teapot was also missing. The house was 'fair game': a number of people had been looking over the place, so the door was left open. It was a boyish prank. 57 12 04a

1957 12 06
A Greville Road resident gained a rate reduction because of the railway. He complained of "great clouds of belching smoke, very unpleasant to breathe, at all hours of day and night". Shunting noises during the night woke residents and the obnoxious smells coming from trucks left standing in the sidings were especially objectionable at mealtimes. The "sooty and sulphurous atmosphere" made the properties deteriorate before their time and layers of soot in the gardens choked plants. 57 12 06a

1957 12 07
Landbeach used to have four public houses – the Red Cow, British Queen, Bower and Black Bull. They have now all closed. 'Snowy' Collins says he went to the Black Bull every day for 20 years. It is now stripped of its signs and illuminations and a peep through the dusty windows reveals that all the furniture has been removed. Freddie Fromant had the last drink on the night it closed. The Rector, Rev F.O. Sanders, said he always went down to the pub and was on good terms with the publicans: "It think it is better that people should know how much the parson drinks". 57 12 07a

Footman reminisces – 57 12 07

1957 12 10
Falklands battle 57 12 10
Brewery amalgamation, East Anglia Breweries & Steward & Patteson - 57 12 10a

1957 12 11
New Court, King Street, p8
Gt Ouse flood scheme details – 57 12 11 # c.29

1957 12 13
Golf, p19

1957 12 14
Stapleford church is perhaps unique in having a coke-fired boiler with a band of eight men who act as voluntary stokers to tend it between November and April. The exorbitant price of coke deters them from lighting it for longer than really necessary but the temperatures average about 55 degrees. They also have gas lighting, which adds to the warmth and cosiness of the church. 57 12 14b

1957 12 17
Meredith and Drew's biscuit factory on the Newmarket to Fordham Road will cease production in March, the staff of 135 women and 70 men have been told. Built originally as a flax factory, the Fordham premises were later used by a woodworking firm until Meredith's purchased it nearly six years ago. 57 12 17

One of Cambridge's most famous pubs, the "Still and Sugarloaf" on Market Hill has been so completely modernised that it bears no resemblance to its former self. The only old part is the floor and even that has been sanded down and polished. The new lounge bar is the last word in luxury, warmth and comfort and features a brand new games room. 57 12 17a, 14 & a

St Peter's church, p21

1957 12 18
Dorothy Sayers found dead – 57 12 18

Listeners to the BBC "Women's Hour" heard Doris Foster, of Occupation Road, talking about her job as radio receptionist at a Cambridge taxi firm. She handles hundreds of calls a day with fantastic speed and ease. Most drivers memorise landmarks such as pillar boxes but one knows practically every street, the position of each house and can go straight to any number in the pitch dark. 57 12 18a # c.26.47

Oakington was not a village which was going to increase, because of limited access and the proximity of the airfield, planners told an inquiry. But a petition backed proposals for new housing and a little light industry: it would improve amenities and move the centre of gravity of the village away from the airfield. The noise of aircraft taking off across the village made telephone conversations difficult, residents complained. 57 12 18b

A.G. Emburey former city treasurer dies – 57 12 18c

1957 12 19
Turkey farm feature – 57 12 19

Great Eastern House, the new British Railways office in Tenison Road, is a functional modern building with the high standard of architectural design necessitated in a University city. Shaped like a vast cube, its tiers of windows catch the light row upon row. Inside is the railwayman's dream. Gone are the rickety stairs, the walls in green or chocolate and cramped offices with old-fashioned coal fires. Instead there is light, ivory-coloured walls and glass partitions, a lecture room, bar and two billiard tables. 57 12 19a, b, c, d

Railway modernisation means that steam-hauled passenger services will soon be replaced with modern two-car diesel trains. They will be maintained at a new up-to-date diesel depot being erected in Coldham's Lane. In addition to great efficiency this will eliminate the smoke nuisance in built-up areas. 57 12 19e & f & g

Horseheath blacksmith, Ernest Ruffle, has retired after nearly 60 years. The last of the thousands of horses he has shod was that of Miss Dulcie Taylor of West Wickham. Agricultural mechanisation has caused a decline but although horses for land work will disappear, but there will still be horses to be shod for hunting, he says. Blacksmiths have to be strong: "I have been kicked, pushed and trodden on dozens of times by wayward horses", he declares. 57 12 19h

1957 12 23
Blue Lion, Fen Ditton – 57 12 23
Motoring – Tibbs, p4

1957 12 30
William Layton Biggs was Cambridge's first Labour Party Mayor during 1936-7 and served again during the difficult war years, 19433-44. One of his treasured memories was of talking on economics to Princes George and Edward when they were up at College. They did not believe him when he said that more money was being paid in the coal industry in dividends than in wages. 57 12 30 & 58 01 04

1958 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

January 1958 CDN

1958 01 01
Two houses are being built in Cambridge that will have electrically warmed floors for space heating. This new method of heating uses cable that is wound back and forth between wooden battens and then buried under a screed of sand and cement. Almost any normal floor finish can be put on top. The cost of installing is cheaper than any other system, the cables have no wear so last the life time of the building itself. But it does require specialist knowledge and each installation must be 'made to measure'. 58 01 01

American's first satellite is circling the earth after being launched in the nose cone of a Jupiter rocket. It comes 17 weeks after Russia raised her first Sputnik. The director of the Cambridge radio observatory, Dr Martin Ryle, said "It's a fine show they have got it up at last" but they would not be listening to its radio signals, as they did in the case of the Russian satellites. 58 01 01 & a

1958 01 03
Cambridge artist Mrs Pamela Townshend had been commissioned to paint a portrait of Princess Margaret to commemorate her visit to open Langdon House. This young and vivacious woman has quickly become established as an artist and the Queen has bought one of her views of a French street scene. 58 01 03

1958 01 08
Cambridge farmers met a group of housewives to address points of friction between producer and consumer. Why do farmers breed animals with a lot of fat on them when the housewife wants lean meat? Because during the war it was the Government who bought meat from the farmer and they always required a good fat animal. Why are potatoes so dirty? Because if they cleaned them we could see the blight and would not buy them– was one reply from the ladies! 58 01 08

Cambridgeshire Fire Brigade has called in a 'scientific adviser' after a quantity of what is believed to be old phosphorous caught fire on the old RAF site at Lord's bridge. Three engines were sent after reports that 'some bombs were going off'. A foam blanket was laid over the blaze which kept flaring up. Firemen are still standing by on the site, watching carefully. 58 01 08a

1958 01 09
Sandhill Bridge at Littleport is to be demolished and replaced with a wider one. Footpaths will be added to both side of the road over the bridge but the Ministry will not accept the cost of providing them. Now the Great Ouse River Board, which is responsible for the existing bridge, will meet County Councillors to see whether they would pay for them. 58 01 09

George Shelbourn, sub-postmaster at Dalham for 41 years, has died aged 84. He was also the local merchant, village baker and the carrier with a 'taxi' service of ponies and carts. A stonemason, he came to the village in 1900 and married the postmaster's daughter. He only retired last year. The post is now filled by his daughter, Mrs Catt. 58 01 09a

A man told the bankruptcy court he had rented the Kinema Café, Mill Road in 1956 paying £12 a week which included everything. He worked hard to build up the business, taking about £8 a week for himself. But there was a fire in August 1957 which forced him to close for ten days and he was then hit by a rates demand. He was now employed as a kitchen hand at Waterbeach airfield. 58 01 09b

1958 01 10

Henry Twinn carried on business as a building contractor at Great Eastern Street, Cambridge, for over half a century. A very active senior partner in the firm of Twinn Bros, he was a very familiar figure in the city. A quiet unassuming man always ready to help those in trouble, he will be greatly missed. 58 01 10

1958 01 11
Newmarket Judo Club, which was started by Les Bonwell in 1955, has been struggling to survive after its headquarters – Churchill Hall in Queen Street – were badly damaged by fire. But Lord Derby allowed them to use the old RAF gymnasium at the Snailwell Camp, which was in bad condition. Now it has 20 members some of whom cycle from Waterbeach. They include two ladies: it is a surprising sight to see a young girl throw a man much heavier than herself. 58 01 11

1958 01 13
Great Shelford Memorial Hall was officially opened after twelve years of planning and hard work. The project began in 1945 but building restrictions made it difficult so they decided to investigate pre-cast building. Apart from a Ministry grant the whole cost was met by voluntary contributions and support from the people of the village. It was a fitting memorial to the war dead of Shelford. 58 01 13

1958 01 14
Cambridge Folk Museum revived an ancient custom when workmen, having completed the re-roofing, joined the Curator (Miss Enid Porter) in 'toasting' the building in beer. This is the first time the building has been re-roofed completely since the 16th-century and its appearance now differs very little from that time as old tiles have been used. The beams were in a good state of preservation and required little attention. 58 01 14

1958 01 15
Ely Cathedral has now raised the £60,000 it needs to pay for the cost of repairing extensive death watch beetle damage. After six years the last of the sixty 'wooden beetles', each representing £1,000, was removed from the board at the West Door. But another £2,000 is required due to rising costs in wages and materials and work still continues to re-cover the Lantern with lead. 58 01 15

1958 06 16
William Coles of Cottenham, the oldest active lay preacher in Cambridge Methodist Circuit, has celebrated his 90th birthday. He began preaching 68 years ago in the Cottenham Circuit and has continued ever since. During the past year he has preached in Histon and Willingham chapels as well as the Salvation Army hall in Cottenham. He has also presided at Rampton Mission Hall. 58 01 16

Percy John Todd was apprenticed to the scale and weighing machine trade at the firm of Headley and Edwards. In 1931 he started Todd's Scale Work on East Road and was the senior partner until his death. In his younger days he played for the Cambridge Victoria and Cambridge Hotspurs Football Clubs and ran with the Albert Institute Harriers. 58 01 16a

1958 01 17
Stumps Cross, one of the most dangerous cross-roads around Saffron Walden is to get its roundabout after years of public protest. Since January 1951 there have been 37 accidents reported with an average of one death every two years. A year ago two 'strangely shaped 'islands' appeared in the mouth of the Cambridge Road which added to the confusion. The roundabout will be the best present local motorists have had for some time. 58 01 17a

Should Hobson's run be preserved – 58 01 17 and history – 58 01 31a

1958 01 18
University v goons tiddlywinks match – 58 01 18

1958 01 22

Fitzroy/Burleigh Street is easily the most convenient shopping area in the city, handy to the bus station and enjoys ample parking facilities. There is one car park at New Square and another in Burleigh Street. It offers the widest variety imaginable with two department stores and 39 specialist shops. You can get everything from fish cakes to furniture. Two good reasons why you should do your shopping there – Advertisement by the Fitzroy/Burleigh Street Traders Association. 58 01 22

During 1940 Glyn Daniel, the Cambridge University archaeologist and internationally famous television personality, lived a 'nightmare existence'. As a photographic interpreter he viewed pictures from photo-reconnaissance Spitfires and Mosquitoes showing hundreds of German war barges being readied to invade England. Another was Miss Constance Babbington Smith of Newnham who is to publish a book telling the full story. 58 01 22a

1958 01 23
Dr W.G. Humphrey, who has been Headmaster of the Leys School since 1934, has resigned. He feels to continue on until the normal retiring age would be too long for any Headmaster to stay at one school. On three previous occasions he has told the Governors of his feelings, but on each occasion they persuaded him to reconsider. Now he will work for Fisons. 58 01 23

1958 01 24
W.J. Adkins, butchers and provision merchants announce the opening of their new modern abattoir at Cherry Hinton with stunning pens, humane slaughter, mechanical handling of carcasses and hygienic condition. Adkins will purchase and collect animals from farmers at market prices, accept commissions from butchers and sell direct to retailers. (Full-page advert with photos of slaughter hall and carcasses). 58 01 24

A derailment in the Coldham's Lane arrival sidings, visible from Mill Road bridge, attracted a good deal of public attention yesterday. Engine, tender and three wagons of a goods train came off the rails while the train was moving at reduced speed into the sidings. The driver and firemen got clear but the guard suffered some facial bruises. 58 01 24a

Aviation at Hardwick, 1911 – exploits – 58 01 24b and 58 01 31c

1958 01 25
Crashed aircraft in Cambridge WWII – Bowyer – 58 01 25 & a

1958 01 28
Six Cambridge churches are redundant, according to a committee appointed by the Bishop of Ely. St Peter's presents no pressing problem, St Michael's has for long been an embarrassment and should be converted into a parish hall, St Clement's is clearly redundant with few worshippers. With active evangelisation All Saints could justify its purpose as a parish church but St Botolph's would probably be taken over by Corpus Christi as a library and Great St Andrew's might be bought by the City to develop, they speculate. 58 01 28

1958 01 31
The level crossing at Low Fen Drove, Quy is to be reduced to an accommodation crossing so British Transport will no longer have to employ a crossing keeper. There will be unlocked gates for pedestrians with locked gates for vehicles for which keys will be supplied to the occupiers of land served by the drove. The same will apply to the crossing at Haycross Road, Burwell. 58 01 31b

New bowls club for ladies – 58 01 31

February 1958 CDN

1958 02 01

Harry Ingrey was the first monotype operator in Cambridge in 1904 and apart from the Great War has been at the keyboard ever since. In the early years people from the University Press would call into the Cambridge Express Printing Works in King Street to see things new in the printing line. Harry recalls the pleasure of printing 'Granta' and its undergraduate editors – "everything always went nice and smooth with them", he says. 58 02 01b

Table tennis HQ needed – 58 02 01c

1958 02 03
Several people have been killed on the A604, Huntingdon Road, for no apparent reason. The undulations and dips were the main cause and they would be filled in. But although traffic was heavy it was not as bad as elsewhere and grants for a dual carriageway were not forthcoming. A three-lane road would be cheaper but this increased the danger. Even a little bit of dual carriageway would be better. 58 02 03

Shire Hall is to be enlarged by an additional storey, increasing office accommodation by 20 per cent. Several councillors argued this was unnecessary in times of financial stringency when secondary education had to reduce its expenditure. But builders are short of work and will do it at a competitive figure. It was a long-term policy to achieve centralisation of the council's administration. 58 02 03a & b

1958 02 06
Elfleda Road residents complained that when they bought their houses Cambridge United was a little football team with about 200 spectators playing on an open ground with no banking. Now the ground had been built up with floodlight pylons and there were 3,000 at matches. There was the noise from the loudspeaker equipment, the shouting and even beastly cigarette smoke. The Supporters Club was a nuisance – 'having finished their evening, these boisterous individuals, fortified by their beer, make their way down the unmade road to the Council estate', one resident said. 58 02 06

1958 02 07
Proposals to demolished 'slum' houses were attacked as 'pernicious' by a South Cambs councillor. At a time when the country was advising economy they were committing themselves to knocking down 68 houses and building new ones. Nothing had been said to owners and occupiers. But the Public Health Inspector reported there were 427 dwellings unfit for human habitation and not repairable at reasonable cost. 58 02 07a

Stapleford water borehole – 58 02 07

1958 02 08
Stapleford Strict Baptist Chapel has been done out in the contemporary style. Yellowed, pitted plaster walls have been papered over in ivory white, dreary woodwork has been painted a deep royal blue, the ceiling done over in a warm cream colour – and the pulpit is blue and gold. Most striking of all is the end wall which is covered in bold squares containing a pattern that suggests spiders' webs. It was very depressing before, a 'dreadful place', said the man who designed it. He did wonder what the old people would say about it. 58 02 08

1958 02 10
Whippet Coaches were refused permission to use Drummer Street. Eastern Counties had paid for improvements to the bus station and 85 per cent of their country services were not remunerative. This would add to competition. The Chief Constable said it was already filled and if granted other operators from the Northampton Street terminus would also apply, leading to increased congestion. 58 02 10

1958 02 12

The Central School was founded in 1873; it became the Central Technical School in 1953, a Grammar and Technical School in 1954 and a full Grammar School in 1956. Now that the Boys' School was moving to new premises the Girls' School would develop and expand with a new library, laboratories and classrooms for specialised subjects. Miss Irvine was retiring as Headmistress after 24 years. 58 02 12

1958 02 13
Miss Florence Ada Keynes, a former Mayor of Cambridge and a noted historian and social welfare worker, has died aged 97. She was one of the earliest students of Newham College and one of the first women members of the Borough Council and old Board of Guardians. She started the Cambridge Juvenile Employment Exchange – the first in the country - and was the first secretary of the Cambridge Charity Organisation Society. 58 02 13

1958 02 14
Greene King's Panton Brewery is no more. The modern machinery at Bury St Edmund's is capable of meeting requirements so the premises in Panton Street will be used as a storage and dispersal depot. It was a small brewery but had been producing very good beer for more than 60 years, latterly turning out 15,000 barrels a year. Greene King acquired it in 1925. It is a pity that such long-standing traditions must be broken and the beer connoisseur will mourn its loss. 58 02 14a

WI village scrapbook competition – 58 02 14

1958 02 15
Fire seriously damaged the Garden House hotel; part of the roof and several bedrooms were damaged. Hundreds of people lined the banks of the Granta watching while thick white smoke gushed from under the roof. But within an hour Angela Parfitt and her 'groom Michael Lean were celebrating their wedding reception there. 58 02 15

Mrs F.A. Keynes appreciation – 58 02 15a

1958 02 17
Garden House fire – 58 02 17

1958 02 18
Sixteen years ago Singapore fell and the survivors of the fighting went into captivity. So it was appropriate that members of the Cambridge Yasume Club, a Far East prisoners of War organisation, assembled for their annual reunion. They enjoyed a meal that bore no comparison with the meagre fare they had to exist on during their period as P.o.W. of the Japs but the company was the same with the usual yarning over old times. They hope to have a dinner annually on this appropriate weekend. 58 02 18

Civic leaders have backed the News' appeal for emergency funds for Edwinstowe Old People's Home in Chaucer Road. It needs money to replace furnishings, including mattresses and the hot water system. This pioneer Home has catered for 90 elderly people since it opened in 1946 but rising costs have made it impossible for money to be found other than by an appeal to the warm-hearted generosity of local people. 58 02 18a

1958 02 19
A new W.V.S. Out Patients' canteen opened at Addenbrooke's Hospital. It supplies light meals and refreshments to 2,000 people a week. The welcome food and hot drinks help reduce tension and enable patients to be ready to benefit from medical advice and treatment. The canteen was started in 1911 by members of the British Women's Temperance Association and Miss Olive Golding who began the work, still does three shifts a week. 58 02 19

When Charles Leeson joined the Cambridgeshire Technical College in 1925 there were six staff and a few hundred students. When he retired there were nearly 100 staff and 5,000. Until 1947 he was Responsible Master of the Day Trade School, then took charge of the Secretarial side of the Commerce Department which won a record number silver and bronze R.S.A. medals. 58 02 19a

1958 02 20
James Nicholson, the metal worker, of Swans Road has just completed a chandelier for an Edinburgh hotel. It was designed by his brother Robert with 37 bulbs and at 14 feet high is the biggest job of its kind he has done. It is a remarkable piece of craftsmanship but the beautiful swirling work will present a problem when it comes to transporting it! 58 02 20

1958 02 21
Soham – Cambridge bus service proposed – 58 02 21

1958 02 22
Cambridge Boys Club in St John's Hall, Wellington Street is flourishing under the leadership of Chris Silcock. Despite the volume of noise the youngsters are not idle. In well-equipped workshops they are taught woodwork and metalwork while the more artistic are instructed in modelling and painting. There is table tennis, P.T. and boxing along with photography, chess, talks and trips abroad. Parents attend on open nights when the fun is shared by all. 58 02 22

Landbeach 'Black Bull' memories – 58 02 22a & b

1958 02 25
Snow blanketed the county as Cambridgeshire experienced the worst conditions of the winter leaving many people without electricity. There were treacherous conditions with bad blizzards. A bus carrying children became stick in a ditch between Hare Street and Barkway, the Newmarket Road was blocked at Bottisham and snow ploughs were called out to clear the road. 58 02 25

1958 02 26
Wamil Hall which stands beside the River Lark at Mildenhall was badly damaged by fire. About two thirds of the building was destroyed. A Newmarket fire engine equipped with skid chains completed the journey in 15 minutes, a remarkable feat in view of the state of the roads to this isolated spot. The Hall contains a secret passage and a 'ghost-walk'. "Old Lady Rainbow" haunts the house and neighbouring plantations. It was built about 1570 and has suffered other disastrous fires in 1895 and 1912. 58 02 26a

Cambridge University's Department of Engineering came to its present site behind Scroope Terrace in 1920 and building has been going on ever since. Now a new wing has opened with a steel frame designed by the plastic method developed in their own laboratories. The original residence, which used to occupy the site exclusively, now looks dwarfed among the great laboratory blocks which surround it. One day it will have to come down but for the moment it is used for offices and lecture rooms. 58 02 26

Snow blocks roads – 58 02 26b & c # c.12
Manor school heated pool plans – 58 02 26d & e

1958 02 27
There are more foreigners in Cambridge than ever before who were often her for months without getting to know any English people. There used to be an international clubhouse part of which was divided into flats to help finance it but the present premises in Falcon Yard were inadequate. A group of foreign students had formed the Overseas Club which had a membership of 400 with a meal service, newspaper, dramatic society and travel bureau. 58 02 27

1958 02 28

Shuttleworth Trust aircraft collection – 58 02 28
Police inspection pic – 58 02 28a

March 1958 CDN

1958 03 01
Harry Newell has served as a special policeman since the time of the General Strike in 1926. He has been on call at any time of day or night, has attended parades and been liable to mobilisation in time of national emergency. Now, at 68 years of age, he thinks it time to hand in his uniform. He still works regularly in his cycle and car hire business. 58 03 01

The Duke of Edinburgh sent a message regretting that he was unable to take part in a tiddlywinks watch at Cambridge Guildhall: "While practising secretly I pulled an important muscle in the second or tiddly joint of my winking finger. But wink up, fiddle the game and may the Goons' side win"". In his absence the Goons team, including Spike Milligan, Harry Secombe and Peter Sellers were defeated by Cambridge University. They were not helped by an eccentric uniform and intervals for refreshments such as leeks, sticks of rhubarb and glasses of Champagne perry. 58 03 01a

Stan Kelly, skiffle musician biography – 58 03 01b

1957 03 03
Cambridge Water Company originally hoped the new Great Wilbraham pumping station would help meet the ever-growing demand, even in times of severe drought, until 1965. But the experiences of last summer have prompted a less optimistic view and they were sinking a trial bore near Stapleford. They are also moving from Bene't Street, where they have been since 1866, to new offices in Rustat Road. 58 03 03

1958 03 04
An exceptionally large number of shags have been seen in Cambridge recently, probably driven from the East Coast by the spell of cold weather. One bird, which has a silky green and brown plumage, was photographed at Newnham Mill. Another that was found dead was taken to the University Department of Zoology where it has been skinned in preparation for research examination. 58 03 04a

Addenbrooke's Hospital WVS canteen opened – 58 03 04

1958 03 06
The owner of Searle's Stores in Searle Street told the bankruptcy court he was making a profit of £8 a week until July 1956. Then the business started to decline. People moved from the area to council estates and he could not compete with the prices of cut-price shops. In addition his rates had increased from £5.6s.3d to £20. 58 03 06a

A March grocer told the bankruptcy court that at one time he had branches of his business in St Ives, Littleport & Downham Market. He also owned and ran a wholesale grocery business to keep his own shops supplied. He had been successful during the war due to assured profits and the absence of competition but now had a deficiency of £4,784 and was living on National Assistance. 58 03 06b

Soham Fordham road building site appeal – 58 03 06

1968 03 07
An act of bravery by two schoolboys in rescuing a child from the River Lark at Prickwillow was recognised by the presentation of Royal Humane Society certificates. John Brooks and Neville Benstead of Lark Bank plunged in to the river to save a five-year-old boy and Derek Lock applied artificial respiration on the bank side. He had never been taught to do that but had read it in a comic. 58 03 07

Huntingdon magistrates turned down requests by the Fiesta Coffee House and the Nickel Coin Restaurant to allow them to play juke boxes on Sunday. The Chief Constable thought they would attract 'undesirable types' and such music should not be encouraged on the Sabbath. In London they were being placed in the better class of hotels and clubs and cafes at St Ives and St Neots had them so lads from Brampton and Wyton now went there. 58 03 07a

A Coveney farmer blamed his failure on the water-logged state of Poole's Land, an area of 26 acres which he took over in February 1955. Next year it was completely flooded and he lost about £850 because of the failure of the sugar beet crop. He did not know the land was as bad as it actually was when he took over the tenancy. 58 03 07b

1958 03 08
'The Racehorse', a new public house, is to be erected on the corner of Newmarket Road and the ring road to serve the growing population on the new estate. There are now 5,000 people in the area, many of whom have to travel over the Barnwell Bridge to the Dog and Pheasant for a drink as The Globe gets so crowded people have to wait a long time. 58 03 08

1958 03 11
King's Lynn flood relief channel new tail sluice construction – 58 03 11a
Arbury Road to be home for replacement slum houses – 58 03 11b
1958 East Road district heating plan abandoned – 58 03 11

1958 03 12
Tyrell's Lodge, a picturesque country restaurant near Shepreth, first served teas in 1956. Now it provided attractive meals to people who wished to have wine with their meal. Military attaches, Harley Street doctors and tourists had signed a petition. But there were ample facilities already and if visitors to the restaurant wanted drinks there was the Green Man only 400 yards away. 58 03 12b

University soccer 'cuppers' final – 58 03 12a

1958 03 13
The foundation stone was laid of the new Roman Catholic Church of St Laurence the Martyr in Milton Road, Cambridge. Since the Rev Father P. Oates was appointed in 1951 he has worked hard to make the building possible. Already £4,000 has been raised, but there is still a long way to go. 58 03 13

The Soham Egg Packing Station handled a record 30 million eggs during 1957. Property in Brook Street is being developed to comply with the Factory Act as the present station was overtaxed. Producers should support such societies: there is a need to increase the consumption of eggs and imports could have a very large bearing on the price. 58 03 13a

1958 03 15
Newmarket Road library opening postponed – 58 03 15
Eastern General Hospital reunion – 58 03 15a # c.45.5

1958 03 17
A Hawker Hunter jet aircraft from RAF Waterbeach crashed into a ploughed field at Hinton Hall, Haddenham. It was seen to dive 'straight into the ground' and an explosion followed the impact. The pilot baled out and landed at the back of some Council houses at Wilburton, 800 yards away. 58 03 17

1958 03 18
Police radio messages – 58 03 18
Newton post office reopening – 58 03 18a
Stretham Old Engine filmed – 58 03 18b

1958 03 19
Cambridgeshire Cottage Improvement Society has its properties thatched, rather than tiled, whenever possible. But they have to face the fact that there is a shortage of straw – and of thatchers – in certain parts of the county. The problem of decaying houses is constant: they are embarrassed by people wishing to sell picturesque old properties to them. Now they are raising money to improve the Old Manor Farm at Fen Drayton to provide economic dwellings for three families. 58 03 19

1958 03 20
Folk Museum annual report – 58 03 20

1958 03 21
Neale House, the Cambridge base of the Society of St Margaret, was opened in December 1955. It is a small hostel for young professional or University women of any denomination and the chapel is open all day for private prayer. The Anglican sisterhood was founded by John Mason Neale of Trinity College, widely known for his English versions of Greek and Latin hymns. 58 03 21

1958 03 22
Huntingdonshire school meal prices – 58 03 22

John Cornwell established a unique record at the finals of the Cambridgeshire Table Tennis Association's championship. He was successful in every of the six events he entered, including men's radius singles and doubles, mixed doubles and men's handicap singles. This is the first time this feat has been accomplished since the championship commenced in 1936. 58 03 22

1958 03 27
Permission has been granted for the construction of a car park for 146 vehicles in Park Street, Cambridge. The site ranges from cottage and three-storey houses to warehouses and sheds. When financial conditions permit a multi-storey building will be constructed, probably with shops on the ground floor. A new access road will be made from Bridge Street along the present line of Round Church Street. 58 03 27a

Dry Drayton bus shelters – 58 03 27
Alex Wood pub licence granted, Arbury – 58 03 27b

1958 03 28
The Koh-i-Noor restaurant has been in St John's Street since 1936, the owner, Krishna Vir, told magistrates. Now they wanted a licence to sell beer and cider. They provided 700 meals a week and to send out for drinks from the Mitre or Baron of Beef took too much time. Dr Glyn Daniel, a Fellow of St John's College, said he occasionally visited and would like to be able to get a drink of beer 'when the curries are very hot'. 58 03 28

Sir. The majority of Cambridge ratepayers earn much below the average national wage of £12 a week yet have to pay annual rates of £22. The Lending Library Service is one where economies could be found. Every ratepayer is currently entitled to three library tickets, so an average family can borrow twelve books. If the number were cut this would save money - Councillor A.W. Arundale. 58 03 28 a & b

1958 03 29
Newton new Walker Bros shop – 58 03 29
Newton Road flats advert – 58 03 29a # c.23
Perse School plans, Hills Road – 58 03 29b & c

April 1958 CDN

1958 04 01
Horace Stanley started in the Cambridge gas industry in 1905 when as a boy of 12 he was engaged as a messenger, which covered a range of duties from running errands to scrubbing floors. He then became a gas fitters apprentice, working 56 hours a week, but made time to study to gain his City and Guilds,. He moved to the sales staff and was promoted to sales superintendent before now retiring after 52½ years. He was presented with a tea service. 58 04 01

1958 04 02
Young violinist Miss Jean Berry is leader of the Cambridgeshire High School for Girls orchestra and is a member of the Cambridgeshire Philharmonic and Schools Holiday Orchestras. Now she has been chosen to join the National Youth Orchestra of Great Britain. It is a major step to fulfilling her ambition of joining a large symphony orchestra when she leaves school. Her violin teacher is Mrs Hoffman. 58 04 02

1958 04 05
Old Chesterton Methodist Church was established in 1951 and has not been big enough: dances and Sunday School sessions have had to be carefully timed so as not to clash. Now their Boy's Brigade have erected a large hut to be used for drills, meetings and physical training as well as the Teenagers Club where 50 youngsters enjoy in a "rock'n'roll" session. All look forward to the day when there will be a permanent Church to cater for the new housing development in Scotland Road. 58 04 05a

Dutch dairy week – 58 04 05

1958 04 08
About 30 Cambridge people were at Aldermaston on Easter Monday for the rally protesting against the use of nuclear weapons. Seven car loads joined the final stage of the march to the Atomic Weapons Research Establishment. Amongst them was Robert Davies, the Labour Party prospective Parliamentary candidate and city councillors Reilly, and Ash. 58 04 08b

Stonebridge at Elsworth scramble – 58 04 08
Death of Ald George Wilding, former Mayor 1944-45 – 58 04 08a

1958 04 09
The Independent Television Authority has received approval for the erection of a television station at Mendlesham, near Stowmarket. A directional transmitting aerial will beam the maximum power in a north-westerly direction and will reach practically the whole of the area out to Peterborough, bringing Cambridge and King's Lynn into the reception area. They hope to have it open in the autumn of 1959. 58 04 09

Selective chemical weed killers have played a great part in the encouraging increase in crop yields. Today a very large area of farm land is sprayed each year and the practice is increasing. But great harm can be done. 'Self-inflicted' damage caused by spraying one's own crops is quite common. Growers have lost tomatoes when the fine mist has drifted into glasshouses and contamination of grass by arsenical weed killers is a menace to livestock. 58 04 09a

Are you looking for an elegant, spacious, contemporary flat in Cambridge? Situated at Newton Road, a first-class residential district, and designed by a leading domestic architect, this flat is civilised. It is acoustically insulated, thermally insulated, light, labour-saving and spacious. There are two bedrooms, a most un-British kitchen and bathrooms, your own drying balcony, space heating and a garage if you want it. Price £3,200. Span Developments advertisement. 58 04 09b

CND march memories – 58 04 09a # c.45.8

1958 04 11
The Hundred Houses Society hope that most of the hew properties being built at Scotland Road will be occupied before the end of the year. Rents for houses at Eastfield and Fallowfield have increased by five shillings to about £1.6.0 (£1.30) a week. This was the first rise since they were built in the 1930s and was necessary because of increased maintenance costs. 58 04 11

Residents of New River Bank, Littleport, face14 months without a means of crossing the river while Sandhill Bridge is replaced. They will not be able to get to their allotments and asked the Great Ouse River Board for a temporary footbridge. But this would be extremely expensive. The alternative would be to have a man and boat on duty. This would not be cheap, costing £750 a year, however one could be provided at pre-determined times each day. 58 04 11a

Haverhill is noted for its agricultural, dairy and shoemaking industries. A lot of the old houses are over 100 years old. It has a Mayor and its own newspaper, the 'Haverhill Gazette'. Silver is mined in the hills and in the sheltered valleys there are large apple, peach and pear orchards. The favourite sports include hunting and ski-ing. Many of the highways are four lanes wide, the best in Essex County – said an American talking of his home town in Massachusetts, USA. 58 04 11b

1958 04 14
Goggo – German bubble car review – 58 04 14

1958 04 17
The sewage position at Newport Avenue, Fordham is a disgrace, councillors heard. Effluent runs on the tops of the gardens as the existing plant is overloaded. The position was a 'real shocker'. It's as bad as it can be. But now the Ministry had approved plans for two pairs of bungalows. Something should be done but there was not sufficient space for septic tanks. The only solution was a permanent sewerage scheme. 58 04 17a

Jack Branch demonstrates tractor device – 58 04 17

1958 04 18
Two new aircraft have arrived at Marshall's. One is a Druine Turbulent ultra-light monoplane belonging to Miss Joan Short. Its flying qualities are good and fuel consumption around 1.75 gallons per hour at a cruising speed of 70 knots. The other is a Jackaroo, a conversion of the de Havilland Tiger Moth to an enclosed four-seater. The dual-control version sells at £1,095. 58 04 18

Stereophonic sound on disc sold at popular prices and played on equipment within the reach of most people – that is the revolutionary event just announced. The first public demonstration will be given at the London Audio Fair using equipment specially designed by Pamphonic Reproducers Ltd and Pye who are to issue both popular and classical stereophonic records. In the home loudspeakers can be placed about the width of a fireplace apart and listeners sitting more than nine feet away will get the full 3D effect. 58 04 18a

1958 04 19
'Safe journey home' novel by Elisabeth Hargreaves - 58 04 19
Cambridge United turning pro – cartoon – 58 04 19a

1958 04 22
Scotland Road estate road names – 58 04 22

1958 04 23
Miss L.J. Ottley was appointed matron of Addenbrooke's Hospital in January 1944 when the war-time annexes at the Leys School and Examination Halls were in full use, giving a total complement of over 800 beds. A year later these were closed, adding to the waiting lists. The Hunstanton Home of Recovery was opened in 1947 and an unoccupied ward at Brookfields Hospital opened for medical cases. She has worked tirelessly for the betterment of the hospital and many will miss her now she is retiring. 58 04 23

Boys Brigade hut, Chesterton Methodist church – 58 04 23b

1958 04 25
A councillor expressed disbelieve that the reconstruction of Silver Street Bridge would take 12 months. "When I was in China I attended the opening of a bridge completed in one year which was 300 yards long over a very fast flowing river", he said. "This bridge will only be 25 yard long. Is there a mistake? Should it be twelve weeks and not twelve months?" But Cambridgeshire County Council are rebuilding this bridge. 58 04 25b

Isle County Council first woman alderman – 58 04 25a

1958 04 26
Burwell policeman Sirett death – 58 04 26
Miss Cambridgeshire competition – 58 04 26a

1958 04 28
William Haslop, Rattee and Kett, Honorary degree – 58 04 28

1958 04 29
St Andrew the Great was rededicated by the Bishop of Ely after a restoration costing thousands of pounds. The church has undergone a complete transformation: the bells have been recast and rehung, the pulpit moved, the East End renovated and a new altar built. The lighting has also been modernised. 58 04 29

The 60 miles, six-lap Gog Magog cycle road race started from the Red Lion, Cherry Hinton. It was neutralised over Limekiln Road but then three of the Cambridgeshire Road Club team, J. Morley, D. Cook and M. Pilsworth, made a break. Before Sawston, on the second lap, Mick Ward from Haverhill had to make mechanical adjustments but he was in fourth place by the time they came over the Gogs for the last time. 58 04 29a

May 1958 CDN

1958 05 01
Should there be a footpath between a new estate off Doggett's Lane in Fulbourn and Ludlow Green? That is the question to be decided by a Government inspector. It is the last remaining place of real beauty in the village and people do not want to see a wooden fence there. The owner of Flendyshe House said the path would run alongside her property and people who had to suffer wooden fences alongside should have some compensation. 58 05 01

Scheme to bridge Whittlesford level crossing given high priority – 58 05 01a
Renaming of Histon streets – Kingsway – 58 05 01b

1958 05 02
Cambridgeshire Fire Brigade demonstrated its new extending ladder, which is designed in three parts and can be used to reach awkward places and corners. It can reach a maximum height of 45feet and is worked into position by means of tormentor poles. The firemen showed they had learned how to get it erected in the shortest possible time and in the most cramped of conditions. With further practice no doubt even swifter erection can be possible. 58 05 02

Pampisford is to keep its parish pumps until they fall into a state of disrepair even after the village gets a mains water supply. Some people think the pump water is better water and there is a good supply. They were put in in comparatively modern times and are in good working order. They might be extremely useful should there be another war and bombs hit the mains. 58 05 02a

1958 05 03
Mr E.F. Sheldrick took over Manor Farm, Fowlmere, in 1939, two years after the land had been requisitioned by the Air Ministry. When, in 1946, it became surplus to their requirement, it was taken over by the Agricultural Executive Committee to farm. The land was obstructed by buildings, runway and perimeter tracks and they handed it over to Mr Wedd, the present tenant. Now Mr Sheldrick wanted it back. 58 05 03

1958 05 05
An extra storey was urgently needed at Shire Hall, councillors were told. In the Treasurer's Department the staff were sitting on top of one another. In the Registrar's Office, people had to wait in a passage if there was a wedding on. And the County Archivist, who really needed four rooms, had only one. But at Linton Hospital they had been asked to economise and the cost of the new Shire Hall must not interfere with works of that kind. They voted to go ahead. 58 05 05 & b

1958 05 06
Death of Henry Obadiah Langdon, former Mayor – 58 05 06

1958 05 10
Cambridge United's development – enters Southern League – 58 05 10
Reston House, Fitzroy Street – John Reston, Master of Jesus 1546 bequeathed land which sold in 1956 to fund building - 58 05 10a

1958 05 12
Radar trap meters have been in action in Cambridge during a speed checking programme. Results showed the majority of motorists were travelling at 36 mph with 276 vehicles going 40 mph or over and the highest recorded was 52 mph. The police say the use of the radar instrument was not publicised so speeds were what was normally experienced. They have no intention of using it to bring offenders to court at present. 58 05 12

1958 05 14
Charmain Burn has no difficulty in getting into the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, where the fabulous musical 'My Fair Lady' opened at the end of last month. For she has been fortunate in being accepted as a member of the chorus, being selected from 900 men and women who applied for 48 vacancies. She started dancing with the King Slocombe School of Dance and after leaving Cambridgeshire High School for Girls trained at the Ballet Rambert School. 58 05 14

Restoration work has been undertaken at Little St Mary's church. The interior had to be re-plastered, rainwater was seeping into the walls and new gutters needed. The roof timbers were suffering from the ravages of death watch beetles. These have all now been completed. But the crypt is in need of restoration too. 58 05 14b

A proposal for a new college for men, to be called Churchill College, is announced today. Sir Winston himself will donate £25,000 and an appeal has been issued. It is needed as the University has embarked on a scheme for an extension of research in scientific and technical fields but existing colleges are already beyond their maximum size. 58 05 15a & b

1958 05 17
A Cambridge man, Barry Mason of Huntingdon Road, is a trumpeter in one of the bands travelling to New York and back on the Queen Mary liner. An old Perse School boy, he first started playing the trumpet in 1949 with Freddie Webb and Ken Stevens' bands. He enjoys life on the ship, although it does mean working irregular hours, sometimes until 3.30 in the morning. 58 05 17

1958 05 20
New headquarters for the 14th detachment of the Cambridgeshire Red Cross were opened in a prefabricated building at Great Shelford. Mr Woodbridge had lent them the ground and members worked hard to get the interior neat and attractive. The walls were painted white and deep red curtains hung beneath neat pelmets. Miss C.J. Gaskell, the Divisional President praised their excellent work during both world wars. Lady Spens presented proficiency badges to Gillian Cann, Marion Robinson, Elizabeth Morley and Christine Ryder. 58 05 20a

1958 05 21
Assize judges at Trinity – photos – 58 05 21

1958 05 22
The new Cambridge Mayor is Leonard Wordingham, a respected member of the Labour Group. His employers, British Railways, have granted him a year's leave. Educated at Soham Grammar School, he had been one of the best half-backs at Cambridge Town Football Club. He also achieved fame as a cricketer for Trinity Rovers – in his Bible Class days. He is the third Labour Mayor, the others being T.H. Amey and W.L. Briggs. 58 05 22 & a

Since May 15th ten outbreaks of fowl pest have been confirmed within a radius of eight miles of Ely in the parishes of Little Thetford, Wilburton, Coveney, Witchford and Manea. An order under the Fowl Pest Restrictions now comes into force and poultry may not be moved except under licence. The holding of poultry store markets is also prohibited. 58 05 22b

1958 05 23
The future of Papworth Hospital is assured, even if the present decline in tuberculosis continues, causing the closure of other chest hospitals. The surgical block has been extended and equipped to provide a regional service in thoracic and cardiac surgery. The nearness to Cambridge facilitates co-operation with the University on research work and is a matter of some importance to the further development of the post-graduate medical school. 58 05 23a

Sno-cat on Market Hill – photo – 58 05 23

1958 05 24
Castle and District Darts League involves about 30 teams and incorporates the majority of the darts experts so a high standard of play was witness at the Rex Ballroom when both the men's and women's finals were held. Arthur Fordham (Jubilee) beat B. Smith of the British Queen in the final while the ladies' singles champion was Mrs Asby (Brewers Arms) who overcame Mrs Dickson (Robin Hood). Twenty games were played after which the company of 500 enjoyed dancing for three hours to the music of the popular Ken Stevens band. 58 05 24

A large crowd gathered outside the Guildhall to welcome the newly-knighted Sir Vivian Fuchs back to Cambridge after his gruelling first surface crossing of Antarctica. It was heartening to know their activities had been followed with such interest throughout the world, particularly by thousands of children, he said. They then inspected a 'Haywire', one of the four Sno-cats which played such a vital part in the expedition. 58 05 24a

A bible class founded 84 years ago by the late A.C. Mansfield in the old 'Ragged School' in New Street has changed its name. But although it is a men's service the name 'class' will be retained as originally it commenced as a class of eight boys. It will now be known as Mansfield Hall Men's Bible Class. 58 05 24b

Fordham Abbey estate sale – 58 05 24c

1958 05 27

It is difficult to know who showed the most interest in one of the 'Sno-Cats' of the British Antarctic Expedition when it appeared in Cambridge. Small boys gazed in awe whilst their fathers showed equal interest. But I climbed the tremendous height up to the driving cab door and sat behind the controls. It was not much different from a heavy-duty lorry, though it didn't seem to possess a brake. There was no need: there was so much friction that it stopped as soon as you took your foot off the accelerator. – Rodney Tibbs' motoring notes. 58 05 27

Early reports of Archie Scott Brown's tragic accident gave the erroneous impression that a mechanical fault in his Cambridge-built Lister-Jaguar had resulted in the crash. This was not true: the car was performing as well as ever. Archie was fighting for the lead in the Grand Prix of Spa when he hit the wall just before the La Source hairpin. Snetterton Motor Racing Club has announced that a Memorial Trophy Race will be held in his honour. 58 05 27

1958 05 28
Bachelor of Hearts filming – photo – 58 05 28
Doddington history – 58 05 28a

1958 05 29
"The Freshman", a light-hearted film about life at Cambridge University, will bring in all the well-known local angles – the May Races and balls, chases by Proctors and their 'Bulldogs', visits to coffee bars – and of course, a local romance. It will star Hardy Kruger and Sylvia Syms. But they have had a mishap. While a motoring scene was being shot along Trumpington Road the crankshaft of a vintage 1927 Bentley car suddenly snapped. Now mechanics are searching for a spare, or a new car! 58 05 29a, 58 05 28

Fitzwilliam House new building starts 1961 – 58 05 29

Landbeach Sand and Gravel Company appealed for a new pit near the junction of Waterbeach and Ely Roads. Mr Arthur Dickerson said it had lain derelict for 25 years, it grew nothing but rubbish and scrub and was infested with rabbits and vermin. If it were used for gravel workings the resulting pits could be left open for the tipping of refuse, the topsoil put back and the land eventually made available for agriculture. But neighbours said it was a peaceful area and their property would be devalued. 58 05 30 & b

One of the most outstanding features of the Botanic Garden is the new rock garden by the lake. Designed and built by the staff it is composed of Westmorland limestone and sandstone from Sussex so that plants which enjoy both these conditions may flourish. The limestone section is not yet completed but one can see the many alpine treasures which grow at its edge. 58 05 30a

June 1958 CDN

1958 06 03
Addenbrooke's Hospital Governors say it is 'reasonable' for the Eastern Counties Omnibus Company to buy land opposite the proposed new hospital in Hills Road for a bus stop. But they will provide a stop near the main entrance with parking room for three buses and a shelter for passengers. The Bus Company should consider additional services along the Perne Road – Fendon Road route to save passengers from Newmarket and Mill Road from having to travel by way of the city centre. 58 06 03

1958 06 02
Addenbrooke's Hospital bed as Scott Brown memorial – 58 06 02

1958 06 04
King and Harper founder, H.H. Harper, 80th birthday – 58 06 04

1958 06 05

Christ's College's Milton Society processed at a suitably dignified pace to the west door of Great St Mary's where the President, holding a bust of John Milton, denounced 'the dangerous and damnable works' of T.S. Elliot. He placed a selection of Elliot's books on the pavement and, after a libation of petrol had been poured on to them, applied a match. The Secretary read aloud some passages from the work of John Milton and with a cry of 'Paradise Regained' the procession returned to Christ's. 58 06 05

1958 06 06
Six members of the Order of the Irish Christian Brothers lived together in a Victorian house in Hills Road. There was a retired teacher in charge, a practically bed-ridden man, one who acted as a general factotum, one who did the cooking and two members they were sending to the Technical School and University. The house closed in the vacation. The Valuation Panel decided it was not a hostel but a private house, which reduced their rating assessment. 58 06 06

1958 06 07
A large contingent of residents in Elfleda Road appealed against their rating figures which they claimed were excessive. Mr P. Dillon cited a council house in Stanesfield road which had four bedrooms against his three and two toilets but was £3 cheaper. The Adventure Playground had also caused problems, householders complained. But most assessments were upheld and two were increased. 58 06 07

Trinity Hall Farm appeal – needed for displaced industries – 58 06 07a & b

1958 06 09
A unique answer to the Cambridge traffic problems was found during the weekend. Somebody, obvious with an acute parking problem, decided that all the flat apace on top of the Senate House was going to waste – so they decided to park an Austin 7 van there! Early-morning passers-by goggled and stared in amazement at the strange sight of hefty firemen and policemen struggling to make the van safe from the wind. Nobody seems to know who put it there. The big problem is: how to get it down. 58 06 09a

1958 06 10
Members of Cambridge Civil Defence Section will have some unusual practical experience tonight: they have been asked to remove the Austin 7 van, deposited by practical jokers, from the roof of the Senate House. 58 06 10a

Cambridgeshire Regiment's band – March Railway Band mass enlistment – 58 06 10

1958 06 11
Hundreds of students watched – and offered advice – as Civil Defence volunteers tried to remove the Austin 7 van from the roof of the Senate House. It was moved on to the parapet, but it would not pass between the legs of a derrick. Men hammered at its jutting corners and thudded upon its protrusions before deciding that it must come down in pieces. A good deal of parts were lowered on a pulley and stored in a rescue vehicle. Then they drove away. Despite the real courage of the Civil Defence men, the day went well for undergraduate Cambridge. 58 06 11 & a

St Matthew's Junior Mixed School to close – 58 06 11b

1958 06 12
Civil Defence men have succeeded in bringing down the van from the Senate House roof. It was cut in half with the aid of an oxy-acetylene torch, then cut up again, and again, until all the parts were of a suitable size to be lowered, starting with the bonnet and wings, then the radiator and steering column. Part of the roof and a side were the last down. The proceedings were watched by the Vice-Chancellor of the University and two or three students who climbed on the roof of the Old Schools building and offered suggestions as to how it should be dismantled. 58 06 12a

The Ely Diocesan Conference heard of hardships incurred by parsons and their families. The sum provided for augmenting clergy stipends was low but the Church could no longer, as in the past, rely upon endowments. A number of schemes for replacing obsolete parsonage homes had been considered but in many cases all that could be done was to reduce the size or modernise the existing house. 58 06 12

Senate House van pics - 58 06 12b

1958 06 13
A B45 Tornado light bomber crashed almost immediately after taking off on an unauthorised flight from the USAF base at Alconbury. The man flying the aircraft, who was killed, was a mechanic who had had no flight training. Wreckage from the aircraft blocked the main railway line at Abbots Ripton. The incident occurred ten minutes after a USAF jet trainer, also from Alconbury, and an RAF Canberra bomber collided in mid-air and crashed near Spaldwick. 58 06 13

'The Freshman' film has already established itself on the Cambridge scene. The appearance of cameras, technicians, stars and generators at various locations still causes a stir and there is never any lack of people watching the action. German film star Hardy Kruger, who plays an undergraduate, has had a bewildering initiation into real student life. He has seen the May Balls swinging on till dawn. And he has seen that car park on the Senate House roof. No wonder he looks worried! 58 06 13c, 58 06 12

Sutton sewage scheme approved – 58 06 13b
St John's College new gates – 58 06 13d

1958 06 14
The Haverhill Town Expansion Scheme, which is aimed at producing new homes and industry for 1,500 London families, was officially inaugurated when the Minister of Housing and Local Government, Mr Henry Brooke, toured the town. In Hamlet Green he laid the foundation stone of a new factory for the Mount Furniture Company, then cut a tape to open a new 14-acre industrial estate in Bumpstead Road. Later he saw progress in the erection of the first 100 houses which will accommodate workers moving with the new industry. 58 06 14

Two former employees of the Hide and Skin Market Company of Cambridge appeared in court accused of the theft of 'sheep runners' (intestines used for making sausage skins. They had taken 10 sacks of runners, hidden them under the seat of their lorry and sold them in Letchworth for ten shillings. One said he was short of money, he felt envious when other friends went for drinks and had cigarettes and he could not afford them. The other said his wife had recently had a baby and this had 'gone to his head'. 58 06 14b

Cambridge theatregoers will mourn the death of that so-likeable actor, Robert Donat. He was last here in person at the Arts Theatre in 1940 in Shaw's 'The Devil's Disciple' but first appeared at the old Festival Theatre where he came in 1929 as leading man with the Liverpool Repertory Company. His most famous part was the gentle schoolmaster in 'Goodbye Mr Chips', a character based by James Hilton on two masters of yesteryear at the Leys, the author's school. 58 06 14c

1958 06 16
Fen Road estate houses – advertisement – 58 06 16
Rev Edward Chisholm Dewick killed – 58 06 16a, obit – 58 06 23a

1958 06 19
Market Street fire – 58 06 19

1958 06 20

Netherhall School, the first new secondary school in Cambridge since the war, was officially opened by Lord McNair. The smaller the class, the more effective the teaching and they should do all they could to reduce sizes, he said. The 300 children under the headmaster (Mr Holden) and the same number under the headmistress, Miss Wilkinson, was correct. They should cut time spent on administration and teach as much as possible. In this way they could consolidate the staff. 58 06 20a

A new 43-foot tower was opened at Linton Fire Station, marking a new development in the training of the county's retained firemen. It will solve three problems faced by rural firemen - lack of hose-drying facilities – all are at present dried in Cambridge - lack of ladder practice and poor siren coverage and make country fire stations far more self-contained and more effective. 58 06 20b

1958 06 23
A familiar sight in the streets of Cambridge on fine days is Joey, a parrot, who accompanies his owner, 84-year-old Miss E.L. Heffer, shopping, perched on the handle of her basket. Miss Heffer is the daughter of the late Mr William Heffer and sister of Mr S. Heffer (Chairman of the Board of Directors of Messrs W. Heffer and Sons). 58 06 23

Work is in process on re-hanging the bells at the parish church of St Nicholas, Great Wilbraham. The peal of five bells, cast in 1709, which have not been rung for over 50 years, have been re-cast and repaired. Completely new fittings and framework have also been necessary, the clock has had to be moved, a belfry tower provided and a ringing gallery installed. The total cost of the work is about £1,300 or which £200 is still required. 58 06 23b

1958 06 24
The Duke of Edinburgh visited RAF Wyton for his first flight in an operational H-bomber. He was given a secret briefing, saw a Megaton bomb then drove to the dispersal point to give the signal for a practice 'scramble' of five Valiants. Finally he flew to Farnborough in the co-pilot's seat of a Vulcan, watching the operational techniques at first hand. 58 06 24

1958 06 25
A beautiful window above the altar of Orwell church was dedicated by the Bishop of Ely. It was erected in memory of the Rev. R.W. Whiston who was Rector from 1896 to 1917 and left money for the window. It depicts stages in the life of St Andrew and has been cleverly painted by L.C. Evetts to complement the old church and at the same time maintain the originality of contemporary work.
58 06 25

1958 06 27
At Haverhill 40 people were evacuated after flood water poured through their homes following a night of torrential rain. People were warned to boil all water as a precaution against contamination of the town's water supplies. Passengers arriving at the railway station were stranded as part of a wall along the River Stour had fallen; as it continued to rise, police sealed off the town centre. Flooding stretched for a radius of two miles and many cars were submerged in their garages. 58 06 27

E. Clarke, picture framer, retires after 40 years, Free School Lane – 58 06 27a
Leys School scouts jubilee – 58 06 27b

1958 06 28
Haverhill is virtually at a standstill following the floods with the Bury St Edmunds road still blocked by 3ft 6 inches of water. Coal lorries, farm wagons and tractors were used to reach people stranded in the town centre and a meals on wheels service was laid on for people marooned in the upper storeys of their houses. The market place was full of stranded cars and lorries; as it was market day two lone stallholders set up their stalls in a dry spot, but had no customers. 58 06 28

1958 06 30

While hoeing sugar beet at New Fordy Farm, Barway, a farm worker came across two coins. He took them to his employer, Stanley Randall whose son, Philip, found a further six then decided to dig the land. Altogether 227 coins were discovered, two gold and the others silver. It is thought a pot containing them was broken while the land was being ploughed. It is not uncommon to find pieces of Roman pottery on the farm. 58 06 30

July 1958 CDN

1958 07 02
Floods, Cottenham – 58 07 02

1958 07 03
German-build lightweight diesel engines will shortly go into service on Eastern Region branch lines. Based at Cambridge they will be used initially on the Witham-Maldon, Witham-Braintree and Audley-End- Bartlow services. Each rail-bus provides seating for 56 passengers and standing room for a further 40. Powered by a 150 h.p. engine, it has a six-speed gearbox and can attain a speed of 55 mph. 58 07 03

1958 07 04
Farmers and smallholders are facing serious financial losses caused by flooding at Cottenham fen. About 400 acres are under water and crops worth thousands of pounds have been ruined after a large public field drain on the boundary with Rampton burst its banks following days of heavy rainfall. Farmers say the drain had not been draglined for ten years but that the River Board had adopted a 'Blow you Jack' attitude and refused even to loan their pumps. 58 07 04

1958 07 07
Drummer Street instead of Merton Arms for Whippet coaches – 58 07 07
Territorial Army 50th years – 58 07 07a

1958 07 09
Netherhall School governors are to be asked to reconsider the sale of ice cream during break periods. Coun. Kedge was in favour of the sale of ice cream and added that at some schools ice cream carts waited outside to sell to the children. But it might introduce a class distinction in that some children would be able to buy ices and others would not. 58 07 09

Cantabrian Athletics equipment made by the London Instrument Company of Newnham Mill will be used at the British Empire Games at Cardiff. It includes pole vault standards, hammers, javelins and gauges for the high jump. Much of it was designed by Henry Rottenburg, the owner of the firm which moved to Cambridge in 1910. They have also supplied the Olympic Games and European Championships. 58 07 09a

An inquiry was held into proposals for 20 bungalows for retired people on farm land at Shepreth Road, Barrington. It was a pleasant village around a green but the population was almost static as it was too far from Cambridge for people who worked in the city to live there. Any development should take place near the church, school and shops. 58 07 09b

1958 07 10
CND protest march to Mepal planned – 58 07 10

1958 07 12
The four bells of St Michael's church, Cambridge, which have not been rung for many years, are going as a gift to the church of St Augustine, Cashmere Hills near Christchurch, New Zealand where they will be in regular use. They date from the seventeenth-century prompting great excitement that bells of such antiquity should be going out there. Financial responsibility for the removal and shipping has been assumed by New Zealanders. The project was initiated by Michael Stewart-Smith of Fitzwilliam House which used St Michael's as its chapel. 58 07 12

Barbecue planned Coe Fen – 58 07 12a

1958 07 15
The work of the Mullard Radio Astronomy Observatory – where the Sputnik signals were tracked – is to appear on television films in three countries. Television experts saw the radio telescopes which move on rails and visited the small bungalow that houses the receiving instruments on which it is possible to hear sounds generated 3,000,000,000 years ago by radio transmissions on distant stars. 58 07 15a

A new addition to the forecourt of Addenbrooke's Hospital is causing a certain amount of mystery. The back portion of the lower deck of an Eastern Counties omnibus made its appearance on Monday morning. It was given to the Occupational Therapy Department for use by patients. But how was it moved there: it could not have gone through the hospital corridors so must have been brought round to the front in the dead of night via the highway. 58 07 15b

Parish Councils should be notified of any building development in their area, a meeting was told. At Sawston "some of the finest places are desecrated by factories. It's not a pretty parish by any means but what there is we would like to conserve", a delegate observed. But the planners complain that when they were consulted some parishes took rather long and some don't even reply at all. A builder said if parish councils were to decide sales of land they would be still more unpopular than they already were. 58 07 15

1958 07 16
Linton Hospital was formerly a workhouse but it is amazing what can be done to brighten such a place. Masses of vivid flowers in the garden detract from the austere front and the high walls separating each of the four quadrangles have been taken down to knee level. The corridors are decorated in gay colours with bright chintz curtains and the small paned windows are being replaced by large airy ones. The one-time long dormitories have been split up, where possible, into bedrooms. There are televisions and bright bedspreads and residents seem happy and contented. 58 07 16

Bourn / Longstowe development appeal – 58 07 16a

1958 07 17
The new Principal's Lodge at Newnham College is a showpiece of design. It features sheets of glass, said to be the tallest in the world, and includes three bedrooms so arranged that if there should be a married Principal a husband's sitting room and dressing room could be provided. It is little wonder that Miss Cohen is delighted. The garden, while immature at the moment, is spacious and has the promise of great beauty. 58 07 17b

A bicycle, the Jolly Roger skull and crossbones, and a board advertising ice cream were all suspended from the 200-foot high mast at Pye's radio works in St Andrew's Road during the night. A man phoned the News office and claimed three people spent three hours putting them there while the works police went on their rounds. The bike belongs to Bruce Cooper who thinks it looks far more expensive on the mast than it does on the ground. 58 07 17a

Cottenham flooding – 58 07 17

1958 07 18
Two residents appealed to develop land they owned at Water Lane, Oakington; it was near the shops and schools and was one of the finest sites for building. But the County Council say that since 1948 there have been 24 private houses built and there were 17 acres for which development had already been agreed. "One has to be realistic and face the fact that Oakington is not going to expand" If anybody wished to build a house in the Cambridge area they would not go to Oakington to do it. 58 07 18.

Albert 'Tiny' Tarry has settled down nicely as landlord of the Red Lion, Ickleton. But standing in his cellar he was amazed to see a large slate suddenly hurl itself to the floor, landing several feet away, an incident witnessed by village butcher, Bill Griggs. Later a barrel-tapping mallet picked itself up and crashed to the floor. There was no traffic passing by and nobody was moving about. Mrs Tarry now no longer tarries in the cellar longer than she has need. 58 07 18a

1958 07 19
'Bees in the Wall' Whittlesford – 58 07 19

1958 07 21
The Limes, at Bourn, was seriously damaged by fire when struck by lightning. Villagers described how a ball of white flame hit the roof between the two main chimney stacks, and then a dense billowing smoke went up. Neighbours formed a chain to clear all movable objects and firemen removed the refrigerator, cutting through the cable. Later when the village electricity supply was restored, the fuse box was still intact and some of the people on the roof received shocks. When the roof dropped in two firemen were pinned in a corner and had to be extricated through a tiny window. 58 07 21

1958 07 22
Motorists in Cambridge are unlikely to have their speeds regularly checked by radar for at least another year. Manufacturers have demonstrated a number of existing instruments which councillors consider 'not entirely satisfactory' at present. There is hope their efficiency will improve in time. But radar has been used by the Chief Constable to check speeds in Queen's Road and Trumpington. 58 07 22

Mr Walter Pearson was one of the first milk roundsmen to be employed by the Cambridge Co-operative Society and took out the first load of milk after the dairy was opened in 1927. In those days it was quite a small affair comprising seven or eight rounds, now it has 51 rounds and an annual gallonage of 2,100,000. He likes the modern electric vehicles but says the old horse-drawn ones would follow him down the street whilst he made his deliveries. He was presented with a set of pipes, pouch and tobacco. 58 07 22a

1958 07 24
Should there be shops on the corner of Coldham's Lane and Vinery Road? Two local shopkeepers, H. Wilson and H. Sykes, said there was no room for more shops in the area. Mill Road, East, is quite a substantial shopping centre; there are 80 to 90 shops at present with more planned. The houses in the area were built between 1928 and 1940 and that site was bought in 1924 for possible development as a public house. The owners had tried for shops, houses, flats and garages. Now they wanted a chemist's shop, fish shop and newsagents. 58 07 24 & a

Shire Hall new storey tender – 58 07 24b

1958 07 25
Cambridge milk bottling works washes 65,000 bottles every day. Out of the empties come notes, thimbles, teaspoons, dead flowers and even bicycle brake blocks and dead mice. People use them as containers for paraffin, paint brushes, home perm solutions and creosote. Another tiresome business is the punching in of foil tops, squashing them down into the bottle. Some people hoard them: 672 were found in a house in Chesterton High Street and dozens are found down wells. 58 07 25

A little two-bedroomed cottage should be built for Enid Porter, the Curator of the Folk Museum, councillors agreed. The five-bedroomed flat they'd allocated as emergency accommodation was condemned property; it was just a mass of corrugated iron which spoils the beauty of Northampton

Street. It would be an insult to offer it to her and should be used to relieve the housing problem for a larger family. 58 07 25a

1958 07 26
Britain's first Game Fair in opened at Hall Farm, Stetchworth. The most famous 'gamekeeper' present was Tom Forrest, of 'The Archers' who made a recording for the BBC serial on the spot. This was rushed back to London and used in the programme. The BBC newsreel cameras were also there. Two game vans, designed by Percy Heaton, an agent of the Stetchworth Estate in 1905 were on show and Gunmakers' Row had a wonderful exhibition of models dating back to 1600. 58 07 26

1958 07 28
Cottage Improvement Society Fen Drayton scheme – 58 07 28

1958 07 30
Addenbrooke's Hospital new site work starts August – 58 07 30 & a

1958 07 31
At Stapleford the Peploe Estate of some 100 houses has been fully developed for nearly two years. At present 58 houses are connected to public sewers and the remainder drain into septic tanks. Since February some gardens of houses off Hawthorne Road have been permanently under water but after the rainfall on 26th June foul sewage was standing up to the damp proof courses of several houses. Planners should consider the drainage difficulties which arise when permission is given for the development of low-lying land. 58 07 31

Teversham further 38 houses – 58 07 31a
Oakington sewage scheme – 58 07 31b

August 1958 CDN

1958 08 01
Mr Wright of Riverside Works, Walnut Tree Avenue has designed a six foot clock to keep the public up-to-date with competitors' times in various events. It runs perfectly and with extreme accuracy. The timing equipment is completely portable and can be carried in the back of a Ford Zephyr estate car, including the collapsible clock face. It was first demonstrated at the Huntingdon Show and has now aroused interest from South Africa. 58 08 01

St Faith's School has a new swimming pool built by voluntary labour. The Headmaster, Mr F.M. White, says it only cost £280. They were encouraged by the success of a small primary school in Huntingdonshire which was funded by their Parent-Teach organisation three years before. The basic requirements are an enthusiastic staff, an able school handy-man and above all the technical advice of an enthusiastic expert. He must remain nameless, otherwise he'd be inundated with similar requests. 58 08 01a

1958 08 02
Farmers and smallholders who suffered as a result of the recent flooding around Cottenham were visited by an official from the National Farmers' Union. Many have lost up to 75 per cent of their total crops. F. G. Ambrose suffered damage to his potatoes and strawberries while D.C. Worland's pyrethrum crop was badly affected. The Great Ouse River Board has built a new bank at the bend in the Cut where the water overflowed but ditches nearby were still choked with weeds and foliage. 58 08 02

Sir. In 1950 Mr T.E. Brew was redecorating a pub at Whittlesford when he discovered that bees which had lived in different sections of the walls for many years were interfering with repair work. The hives were cleared as thoroughly as possible, 25lbs of honey was extracted and Mrs Brew made some mead. The wall was sealed up and the pub name changed to 'The Bees in the Wall'. But it May 1952 the bees returned and were allowed to remain – Lindy Gerard. 58 08 02b

Changed scene in Silver Street: work on new bridge – 58 08 02a
Audley End floodlighting – 58 08 02b

1958 08 04
I journeyed to Cottenham recently and was mentally steeling myself for that endless succession of right-angled bends through Histon village. Instead I found a well aligned bypass starting a short distance on the Cottenham side of the 'Chivers' railway crossing and missing Histon village completely. Whoever built this wonderful stretch of road must have kept it very quiet for not even the gas, water and electricity people have dug little holes in its virgin surface. It will make the task of those hauling guided missiles into the secret depths of the Fens much easier! Until now those Histon bends must have looked formidable. 58 08 04

1958 08 05
Sappers' aerial ropeway across the Cam at Fish & Duck – 58 08 05

1958 08 08
The Bell School of Languages held a garden party in the spacious grounds of their newly-acquired premises in Red Cross Lane, the former St Anne's House. Three hundred guests attended the 'house-warming', giving them the opportunity to celebrate the move to the splendid building in large and lovely grounds. It was the first social occasion at the new premises hosted by the Principal, F.E. Bell and the eighty students. 58 08 08

1958 08 09
Gothic Street Clearance. Work is under way to clear sub-standard houses in Gothic Street and Doric Street, Cambridge. The site will soon be in use as a car park and will accommodate about 150 cars. It will have a temporary surface which will later be replaced with a permanent surface of tarmac. 58 05 09

Messrs Coads' department store in Sidney Street will cease trading on September 27th with a special feature sale prior to closure. It is intended to replace the Cambridge store, which has limited accommodation, by the acquisition of premises nearer London. The site has been acquired by F.W. Woolworth as an extension to their existing store which adjoins it. 58 08 09a

1958 08 14
The Corporation Storeyard, Mill Road was severely damaged by fire. The alarm was raised by storekeeper, Mr Frederick Tungatt, who lives at the yard. Employees brought their own fire-fighting equipment into operation but as fast as the hoses played water on it the blaze spread rapidly and soon a large section of a store roof became an inferno of flames. More men rescued equipment including 'No Waiting' highways signs. The way they went about it – just as if the property were their own – earned the admiration of the City Surveyor, T.V. Burrows. 58 08 14 & a

1958 08 15
Every day newspapers carry reports of gangsters holding-up wage clerks and getting away with thousands of pounds. Now a Cambridge concern has invested in a 'thief-proof' wages bag. If it is snatched siren lets out a piercing scream and blinds the thief with a stinging spray of tear gas or thick choking smoke. The shock is enough to make such even the toughest of the 'snatch-boys' forgets his intentions and decided in future only to break the law by leaving his get-away car parked without lights. 58 08 15

St Ives will see more than 2,000 more inhabitants during the next 10 years, the newly-formed Town Development Committee was told. At their first meeting they had the plans of no less than 237 houses before them. This shows that their wish that St Ives should be developed privately was beginning to come true and they should give every assistance to the developers. They have the responsibility of making it appear in 100 years' time that something was done right in 1958. 58 08 15a

1958 08 18
Sunday was a big day for the parishioners of Great Wilbraham, marking the end of a lot of hard work, of saving and worry. It had started many months ago when an appeal was launched for the re-casting and repair of the parish church bells. The church was packed to capacity and a full choir moved into the belfry to sing praises before the bells, now renewed and in fine condition, rang out across the village streets. 58 08 18

1958 08 19
RAF Waterbeach has the rare distinction of holding two squadron standards. They are hard-won honours: not only must the units have outstanding records but they must have 25 years operational service. One is No.25, the oldest-established night fighter squadron in the world, formed at Melrose in 1915, and the first to be jet-equipped in 1954. The other is no.56 which destroyed more than 150 enemy aircraft during the last war. 58 08 19 & 19a

The Gray Club began in 1955 for ex-pupils of the Open Air School but now works with handicapped people organising a programme of outings and competitions. Long lines of cars, invalid carriages and the occasional ambulance can be seen outside the City Football Club ground where they meet. Lady Adrian, herself physically handicapped, is its President and the search for new members goes on. There is a very real need for a permanent club building open every day where they could find companionship while their carers go shopping. 58 08 19b

1958 08 22
The new Roman Catholic Church of St Laurence at Milton Road is one of the most modern Catholic buildings in the diocese and replaces the existing church in Chesterton High Street. Heating is of the 'underfloor' electrical type and the lighting is also by electricity. The pews are of polished mahogany and the altar is made of stone. Much of the money has still to be raised and a local football pool is being run between the parishioners. 58 08 22a

A portable short-range guided missile intended to be used against armoured vehicles has been produced by Pye Limited. It incorporates rocket motors with a new jet steerage system and is guided to its target by thin wires which carry signals from a controller's "joystick". It can be fitted with periscopic binoculars which switch from low to high-powered magnification as the missile travels away from the launcher. Many successful test firings have taken place and it can go into production on receipt of orders. 58 08 22c

Nearly 300 people took part in a six mile march from Ely to a rocket base at Mepal. Young or old, MP, clerk or labourer, all had one purpose - to denounce the Government's decision to establish rocket sites. Labour candidate Robert Davies said it was absurd to make a secret of where the bases are. Rocket hide-outs are open secrets. You may not be able to mention them but you can go and see where they are. But MP Major Harry Legge-Bourke said it was running very close to official secrets and nobody knows what Mepal might be used for. 58 08 22b, 58 08 25 & a

Isle's first detective to be superintendent – police – Macer – 58 08 22

1958 08 23
James Ison of Girton is a well-known stonemason who has worked on many college buildings including King's college chapel, where he made the pinnacles, and Caius where he assisted William Topper with the carvings on the Gate of Honour and Gate of Virtue. He also made the foundation stone for the new Catholic Church in Milton Road. Now he started his own business and has carved the gargoyles and medallions that are going to help restore the second court of St John's. 58 08 23a

Cambridge Co-op ventured into the specialist field of gramophone records with the opening of a modern record bar in its Burleigh Street department store. Recordings are filed in classified order to make for ease of selection of the standard L.P. and E.P. records. Six sound booths give superb reproduction for customers who wish to hear the recordings. It also stocks a selection of record players, radiograms and tape recorders. 58 08 23b

Cottenham area flooding – 58 08 23
King's College railings – 58 08 23c

1958 08 25
St Laurence's church dedicated – 58 08 25b

1958 08 26
Harvey's coaches fined – 58 08 26 & a

1958 08 27
Edith Morrison, vergeress, St Botolph's church – 58 08 27 & a

1958 08 28
Changing face of Cambridge – Stetchworth diaries Market Street shop – 58 08 28

1958 08 29
A Victorian archway is now being re-erected at Park Paddocks, Newmarket. It was built in 1865 when Messrs Tattersalls moved their saleyard from Hyde Park Corner to Knightsbridge and formed the main entrance for carriages until the buildings were demolished to make way for a new block of offices. It has no particular architectural value and is rather too narrow for horseboxes to pass through but will serve as a memorial of the old London saleyard. 58 08 29

1958 08 30
Memories of R Vaughan Williams & Cambridge – 58 08 30 f & g

Restoration work has started on the Gate of Honour at Caius College where the ornamental stone on either side of the arch is to be entirely replaced with clipsom stone. The work has been entrusted to two highly skilled craftsmen, both well advanced in years. William Topper aged 78 (mason) and carver Charles Whitaker (85) have worked together before and are much respected and revered by other members of their trade. 58 08 30 & a & b

British Railways Eastern Region announces the closure of Earith Bridge Station on the St Ives to Ely line from Monday October 6th. Alternative facilities for parcels and freight traffic are available at Bluntisham, Somersham, Sutton and Haddenham stations. 58 08 30d

Bassingbourn RAF Station is destined to become the world's first jet bomber conversion unit. All RAF crews throughout the world operating bomber, long-range photographic reconnaissance and jet transport aircraft have undergone training there. Two years ago it formed a Canberra formation team, carrying out a complete routine of aerobatic flying and considered one of the finest ever produced. 58 08 30d

September 1958 CDN

1958 09 01
Dr Henry Roderick came to Cambridge as police surgeon and surgeon to the post office and was present at the last hanging at the old Cambridge Gaol. He came particularly interested in the treatment of crippled children in the 1920s though some parents refused to have their children treated by what were then new methods of surgery. He started the first orthopaedic out-patients sessions at

Addenbrooke's Hospital together with country clinics where nurses visited people in their own homes. 58 09 01 & a 58 08 30c

A 70 year-old Cambridge grandmother was the oldest of 18 Jehovah's Witnesses who received baptism by total immersion at the City Football Ground, Milton Road. They radiated confidence and seemed in very high spirits as, wearing bathing costumes, they stepped into a bath which contained two feet of luke-warm water and were immersed one at a time. It was part of a three-day Assembly attended by over 700. 58 09 01b

1958 09 02
Last week's rain caused flooding at Horningsea because the ditches could not cope with the excess of water. One farmer, Mr H. Lewin, had to plough in 30 acres of sugar beet as it could not get through the ground. Every storm or shower brings the water back to clog the land and conditions are very bad. More than a quarter of the barley and oat crops have been lost already and the wheat harvest has not yet started. Men aged 70 cannot recall such a poor harvest in their lifetime. 58 09 02

The old smock windmill at Willingham is grinding corn again whenever the wind blows strong enough to send the big sails on the move. For the last two years Ray Cattell had despaired of finding someone to make the necessary repairs to the back of the two remaining sails, for such craftsmen are practically non-existent. But the problem was dealt with by young Graham Wilson, one of the many visitors, who has just spent his holiday doing the job. 58 09 02a

1958 09 03
Saffron Walden has a new health and beauty saloon which offers a variety of treatments from face and body massage to electrolysis and ear piercing. Mary Moran says that the stimulation of shaving each day does wonders for men's faces and makes sure their muscles are used regularly. Women can improve theirs by chewing gum on their back molars. "It is a horrible habit, but really does improve the jaw line", she claims. 58 09 03

1958 09 04
Lightning struck the century-old parish church at Reach. The roof was stripped of tiles and there are three gaping holes letting daylight through. Inside the church, masonry and roof timber litter the floor, many of the seats are broken and the stained glass windows blown out. The chapel clock was struck and stopped at 7.34 am, the pendulum was blown away and stuck in one of the rafters. The Vicar has pinned a notice saying 'Any persons entering this church do so at their own risk' All lights in the village went out. 58 09 04

1958 09 06
Theft from Linton church – 58 09 06

1958 09 08
Esso Petroleum appealed for a new filling station on the site of the old King William IV public house opposite the present Lolworth Service Station. Its owner said there were 14 filling stations in the 15 miles between Cambridge and Huntingdon and he had lost a good deal of his petrol business since Suez when lorries were fitted with long-distance diesel tanks. Mrs Robinson of Lolworth Grange gave a long list of accidents near the site which supported the County Council's objections. 58 09 08 & a

1958 09 09
Cambridgeshire Regiment soldier killed at annual camp – 58 09 09

1968 09 10
Ronald Jackson is a locomotive fireman who lives in a house between the railway lines at Shepreth Junction. Although it has no gas or electricity and only well water it has very deep foundations and is absolutely solid. I watched as a passenger train rolled up as if it was heading straight through the sitting-room window, but it swung off towards King's Cross without a quiver from the contents of the china cabinet near the window. His family would not change it. 58 09 10

1958 01 12
Attendance was very poor indeed at a meeting called to hear how women could take measures in their own households to protect families in the event of nuclear war. The WVS had invited 130 women, but only nine turned up. However the three speakers explained how to shelter from the atom bomb's heat flash and how the thick whitewashing of windows could stop penetration of radio-active dust. 58 09 12

1958 09 13
An Adventure Playground run at Newmarket Road attracted 60 youngsters. There was bad language at first, destructive activities by local roughs created great difficulties and neighbours objected. The children tunnelled, built huts and dens, made swings of ropes and tyres, lit fires and roasted potatoes. They also made boats, guns, swords and a puppet theatre. Some put an old motor cycle into running order. 58 09 13 & a

1958 09 15
Soham fire Clark and Butcher mill – 58 09 15

1958 09 17
Light industries are needed to stop young people leaving the area. The rate of migration from Isleham had been amazing and 75 people leave Dullingham to work each day. The biscuit factory at Fordham has closed down because transport facilities were so bad that the cost of bringing materials more that outweighed the cheaper cost of labour. There were factory sites at Soham and the council was prepared to assist any firm wishing to move in. 58 09 17

1958 09 19
The Great Ouse River Board's flood protection scheme between Ely and King's Lynn is nearly at the half-way stage. Work started in 1954 and part one, including an 11-mile long flood relief channel from Denver to Lynn controlled by a head sluice is nearing completion. The deepening and widening of the Ten Mile River and Ely Ouse over a length of 19 miles has been going on for a year but the flood diversion channel has not yet been put out to tender. People in the fens will feel a lot safer when it is completed. 58 09 19 & a

1958 09 20
Cambridge Water Company opened its new office block in Rustat Road. It was formed 106 years ago by twelve townsmen and ten prominent members of the University and now supplies 120,000 people. There was an exhibition of nylon sink tops, Perspex baths and fibre glass cisterns instead of the old-fashioned ones made of galvanised iron. 58 09 20a

The re-introduction of professional wrestling to Cambridge by Dale Martin Promotions proved very popular. Large crowds filled the Corn Exchange to watch an international heavyweight contest between Tibor Czakacs (Budapest) and Joseph Zaranoff of Russia. Spencer Churchill (London) lost to Charlie Fisher of Eltham and Tommy Mann of Manchester beat Al Nicol of Nottingham by two straight falls. Then Mick McManus knocked-out Packie Pallo with a flying shoulder charge. 58 09 20

1958 09 24
More than 200 people crowded into the WI Hall when the BBC's "Have a Go" programme was broadcast live from Ely. Wilfred Pickles met contestants including Clifford Cousins, Raymond Bailey, William Rayment, Mrs Florence Oakey and Colonel J.G.A. Beckett, chairman of Ely Urban District Council. 58 09 24a

Miss Mary Cattley was Headmistress of the Perse School for Girls from 1926-1947. She introduced the house system, saw the building of the new school block in 1930, the establishment of the games field and the river bathing place which was acquired in 1934. During the war the school welcomed refugee girls from Europe, many of whom have married and settled down in Cambridge. 58 09 24

1958 09 25
An inquiry into plans for the compulsory purchase and clearance orders affecting 67 houses in East Road, Fitzroy Street, Adam and Eve Street and Gloucester Terrace heard from three objectors. Mr J.N. Baldry had plans to develop his site in connection with his mineral water business. But the Medical Officer said the area contained some of the worst houses in Cambridge: they were all unfit and clearance would serve the interests of public health. 58 09 25

1958 09 27
A new Cambridge Gardening Club held its inaugural meeting. They would have 'Club Nights' for the discussion of gardening problems and exchange cuttings and plants. Gardening was not just perspiration: the greatest joy was to sit in it and see what you have done. The use of mechanisation made gardening easier but it was considered an unnecessary extravagance to buy such items. The club could provide machines which they could hire. 58 09 27

Newmarket Road branch library was the first to be opened in Cambridge for 21 years. "That is the progress in this enlightened City in providing the citizens with books", commented Ald. Howard Mallett. The premises were of a temporary nature and later another building would be erected when finances permitted. The librarian would be Mrs M.A. Traviss and it would open every weekday from 10 am to 7pm, (1pm Wednesdays). 58 09 27a

Parking facilities in Cambridge were inadequate, said the Chief Constable. With more than 600 vehicles passing over Magdalene Bridge each hour, Park Street was a convenient site for a car park. Saxon Street park had been finished last week, work on King Street had not started and the Parkside car park was only a small one. Park Street was the one that should have first priority as a surface and multi-deck car park. But a thatched house in Clement Street built about 1700 should not be destroyed by 'this cement desert'. 58 09 27 b c d

October 1958 CDN

1958 10 01
Ten years ago Eastern Electricity's Fens sub-area had been faced with a back-log of work. Some 171 villages and about 4,000 farms had been without a mains supply – but now all had been connected. They had enlarged sub-stations at Bassingbourn, Histon, Chatteris and March and erected new overhead power lines. There was an increasing interesting in floor warming equipment which was very much a 'coming thing' and improvements had been made in meter reading. 58 10 01

1958 10 02
"The reputation of Soham is getting shocking and it is time that the young people learned to behave themselves", a magistrate remarked. "It is getting to the state of a lot of Teddy Boys; if you had differences to settle, instead of creating this awful maul and fight, you should have gone with your father and talked the thing out", he told a couple summonsed after a dispute at the Chequers public house, Fordham. 58 10 02 & a

1958 10 03
There were cries of 'shame' when Peter Cadogan of Cambridge told the Labour Party Conference that since a march from Ely to the rocket base near Mepal, Americans alarmed by the demonstration had 'given certain English employees to understand that if they want to hold their jobs they cannot be members of the Labour Party'. It was apparent that the marchers had the company of the American F.B.I.: English people demonstrating on English soil were under the hostile surveillance of the secret service of a foreign power. One man, the organiser of the march, had already resigned. 58 10 03

Standen's factory, Ely opened – 58 10 03a
Trevor Hughes jailed for theft of newspapers – 58 10 03b

1958 10 06
RAF Waterbeach's dining hall has been judged the best in the UK. It gives the impression of a first-class cafeteria with crème garbure, sliced pressed beef, braised rabbit jardinaire with buttered cabbage and sherry trifle with cream on the menu. There is no queuing and the airmen can sit at tables amid pleasant greenery and decorative iron work. The luxury does not end there; in the entrance hall airmen may smoke, drink coffee and read papers. 58 10 06 & a

1958 10 07
County Boys school new wing – 58 10 07

1958 10 08
Messrs F.A. Burling, builders of High Street Over, told an Inquiry he had planning permission to replace an out-of-date workshop with another across the road. Then in November 1957 the old building was gutted by fire and he was allowed to enlarge the new one. No residents had objected. But then the Planners stopped him installing his machinery in it, saying it was a residential area. 58 10 08

1958 10 09
Residents in Beaumont Road off Queen Edith's Way Estate appealed for a reduction in rates to bring them into line with houses on Montgomery Road near the Arbury Estate. They enjoyed fewer nearby amenities – the shops were half-a-mile away whilst residents in Montgomery Road were near one of the most modern shopping centres in Cambridge. Beaumont Road had larger gardens and backed on to open land but Montgomery Road properties were intermingled with Council houses. 58 10 09

A new high in circus history will be reached when Chipperfields open at Midsummer Common. That fantastic character, "Mr Pastry", international star of stage, screen and television, following terrific success on the Ed Sullivan TV shows in America, bounces into the sawdust ring to become an even greater name as Star of the Circus. There will be side-splitting yells when he joins the Western Rough Riding Routine. 58 10 09b, 58 10 14 & a

Gothic and Doric street demolished for new car park – pic 58 10 09a

1958 10 11
New extensions at Cambridgeshire High School for Boys were something of a landmark in its history. The physics laboratories, medical room and gymnasium with its internal jumping pit in the floor were long overdue but the post-war years have been marked by shortages of every kind. They were part of a larger scheme but it would be rash to suggest what the next stage would be. The last major improvements had taken place in 1938 when the hall was opened together with the art room and chemistry laboratory. 58 10 11

1958 10 13
Robert Barrick, a farm worker, was hoeing a field of sugar beet at Barway in June when he came across Roman coins. He handed them to Mr Ralph Randall who farmed the land and carried on working. Mr Randall and his brother later found a further 227 coins which he handed to the police. Mr Graham Pollard of the Fitzwilliam Museum dated them back to Mark Anthony and Nero and now a jury have declared them to be treasure-trove. 58 10 13

1958 10 17
Soham Village College, the sixth of its kind in Cambridgeshire, was officially opened. The idea of a building which is a school in the day and a centre of activities in the evening and weekend was developed by Henry Morris, former Chief Education Officer and has helped to shape education throughout the country. The ultra-modern buildings serve a population drawn from eight parishes. The day school provides instruction for 460 children aged 11-15 who are taught by 19 specialist teachers. Further educational studies commence this month. 58 10 17 & b

1958 10 18
Millers may be the oldest music shop in Cambridge. They started trading as music and musical instrument dealers about 1886 when the late A.H. Miller joined the firm. Now they have taken over the business of Messrs Murdoch. In the 1920s Murdoch took over Leavis and Bedwells who had a retail shop on the corner of Glisson Road before moving to Regent Street. 58 10 18

An articulated tanker lorry carrying nine tons of liquid propane gas overturned & caught fire near the Falcon public house at Littlebury. Half of the pub was severely damaged and nearby cottages evacuated. The gas is highly explosive and lethal so firemen could do little about extinguishing the blaze. It had to be left to burn out and surrounding property was protected by spray jets of water. 58 10 18a photo 58 10 20

1958 10 21
Landbeach Sand and Gravel Company has lost its appeal to open a new gravel pit at Waterbeach Road, Landbeach. It was undesirable to open a wet pit so close to houses and the existing wilderness of trees and bushes would be lost forever. There might also be difficulty in getting enough suitable material to fill it; the use of domestic refuse would be unpleasant for householders, an Inspector decided. 58 10 21

1958 10 23
Sir – There are a considerable number of car owners living on the Arbury Estate who have to travel a considerable distance to obtain petrol so it is very important that a garage and filling station should be erected on land fronting Arbury Road and Alex Wood Road. Arrangements have already been made to provide shopping facilities for the growing population and a service station is essential – Norman Lee, Harding Way. 58 10 23

Isleham teenagers monopolise telephone kiosks – 58 10 23a
Royston youths take banner from Priory Cinema – 58 10 23b

1958 10 24
Bird's Chemicals works at Duxford was founded in 1937 to produce artificial feeds for agriculture. They want double the labour force to 35 people and build six bungalows for their workers, many of whom live on a caravan site. But Duxford is an important airfield for fighters and this would interfere with the safety of aircraft. The site was also outside the limits of the village and would constitute ribbon development, an Inspector was told. 58 10 24

A new Occupation Centre for mentally handicapped children was opened at Coldham's Lane to provide daytime accommodation for the youngsters and give their parents a respite from their responsibilities. A small centre had opened in Hope Street in 1929 under the old Voluntary Mental Welfare Association. After the County Council took over responsibility in 1948 it moved to St Giles' parish rooms at Pound Hill. 58 10 24a & b

1958 10 25
Car parking should not be allowed in Cambridge city centre and motorists should be compelled to leave their vehicles on the outskirts. Parking should be banned from an area bounded by Castle Hill, Grange Road, the Catholic Church and Mill Road. If this 'perimeter parking' could not be introduced then there must be an effective underground and an overhead car park, the Mayor, Coun. L.D.V. Wordingham told police. 58 10 25c & d

The era of smoky trains has gone and the "dieselisation" of Cambridge railway services comes into operation today. Passengers will travel in fast, clean and comfortable two-car light-weight diesel trains with accommodation for 103 second-class and 12 first-class passengers. The return fair to Peterborough has been halved and journey time reduced. For too long railways have suffered from old equipment and services planned for the steam age; it is not 'jam tomorrow', it is jam today, a rail official promised. 58 10 25 & a

Death of Professor G.E. Moore – 58 10 25b
Cambridge music firms history – 58 10 25e

1958 10 28
Cambridgeshire Women's Institutes fear the history of our villages will soon disappear in the welter of new housing estates. So they have organised a Village Histories Scrapbook competition to tell their stories from earliest times up to the present day. The histories have been compiled into books, many of them lettered and illustrated by hand. Cherry Hinton's scrapbook was awarded top prize, followed by Soham and Papworth Everard. A special award was given to the small isolated Institute of Chrishall which made an outstanding effort. 58 10 28a

1958 10 29
Cottenham Labour Party marked its 40th anniversary with a dinner addressed by F.T. Willey, MP, who had taken up the cudgels on behalf of villagers who had lost fruit in the floods and tried to persuade the Minister of Agriculture to give some assistance to those who had lost their all. In his speech he compared the flooding this year with the disaster of 1947 when a Labour Government had acted to help those who had suffered. 58 10 29 & a

Four of the eight houses in Hinton Road, Fulbourn were condemned as 'unfit for human habitation' by the RDC who told the owner they could not be let unless they were bought up to standard. They then bought them from him at a low price and now proposed to make minimum improvements and rent them to 'problem families. It was a bad thing to move such families and re-house them en block in what would soon degenerate into slum property, the parish council claimed. 58 10 29b

1958 10 31
St Mary's Convent School started in Park Terrace in 1898 and during the 1914-18 war many Belgian refugees were taught there. Since then its story has been one of cultural progress made possible by the generosity of nuns, teachers and parents. Last year 21 pupils received a needlework certificate and many girls had gone in for nursing and the various therapies. 58 10 31

November 1958 CDN

1958 11 03
The first college boathouse to be built in Cambridge for more than 25 years was formally opened by the Masters of Corpus Christi and Sidney Sussex colleges whose Boat Clubs will share the facilities. The land had been earmarked by Sidney as a boathouse over 50 years ago. Until work started it had been used by college gardeners as a delphinium bed. 58 11 03a

Women's Institute history scrapbooks praised – 58 11 03

1958 11 04
Diesel trains inaugural run Cambridge to Peterborough – 58 11 04 & a

1958 11 05
At Swaffham Prior a small dilapidated building standing in a walled enclosure is the old village pound and lock-up where strayed cattle were confined and disturbers of the peace detained to cool their heels and sober up. Not many similar relics remain and this one is unique because for 150 years it served as prison, pound and fire station. The fire engine, presented in 1791, still kept in the building, is capable of pumping a jet of water through its leathern hose. 58 11 05b

Cambridge Instrument Company proposed new laboratories, Chesterton Lane – 58 11 05 & a 1958 11 06

Princess Margaret was described as a person who could 'blend approachability with majesty in a wonderful way' when she received an Honorary Degree in the Senate House. Looking radiant and beautiful, dressed in a brilliant mauve velvet coat, she was given a rousing welcome by thousands of cheering schoolchildren as she drove from the station. Later she opened the new Chemical Laboratories in Lensfield Road. 58 11 06 & abc, 58 11 07 & bc

1958 11 07
Newmarket UDC commemorated the completion of its 1,000th house with a brief ceremony when the key of no.10 Bahram Close was handed to the new tenant, Mr J.P. Stafford. A great deal of thought had gone into the planning of the Heath Lodge and Houldsworth Valley Estates with their wide roads and tree planting schemes. Shops had been provided and the post office had been persuaded not to erect unsightly poles. Their first council house was built in 1921 and 311 had been completed before the war. 58 11 07e

Churchill College funds for 300 students – 58 11 07d

1958 11 08
Many householders opened their doors early to a young man in pyjamas or an undergraduate turbaned like a caliph and bought a poppy, then poured into Cambridge to see the fun. Every entrance was barricaded, every vehicle stopped, and toll demanded. Progress was difficult in one street because Mr John Day of Trinity was having breakfast with Miss Alexandra Hearnshaw, a Newnham mathematician, on a Belisha crossing. In Petty Cury two rival dragons occupied most of the road – a dinosaur quite 70 feet long and containing numberless undergraduates of whom only the feet were visible and a toothy monster centipede writhing from the direction of the Senate House. 58 11 08

Coleridge Girls' School celebrated its 21st anniversary; the girls were now much more lively, efficient and adaptable than those of 21 years ago headmistress Miss D.M. Howlett said. Then there had been no playing field and the school children had worn far too many clothes. Boredom was the main cause of juvenile crime so they had instituted leisure time work for the girls evacuated from Islington during the war years. The idea had been that children in modern schools were only intelligent enough to read picture books but in both academic and practical work Coleridge was achieving good results. 58 11 08a

The Ministry of Fuel and Power which administered fuel rationing during the war has moved its regional headquarters from Brooklands Avenue to London. At first there were two offices: the petroleum office in Chaucer Road and a general office which started at Corpus Christi college and late removed to Trinity dealing with coal, gas and electricity. At its peak 300 people were employed but now a very small staff will remain to ensure that gas and electricity meters are working efficiently. 58 11 08c

1958 11 10
Foxton Hall, which had been used by the Air Ministry as a hostel and is fully equipped for use as a school, guest house or residential club and stands in its own grounds of about six acres, was sold by auction for £8,100 by order of the Secretary of State for Air. 58 11 10

1958 11 12
A Chesterton Bridge was proposed over 50 years ago but no work had been started. A Ministerial ruling had decided in favour of the route from Milton Road to Trumpington Road via Haig Road, Cam Road and Walnut Tree Avenue and this would be designated a Trunk Road in due course. However funds were limited and other works had priority. 58 11 12

1958 11 13

The BBC have opened a new sound broadcasting studio in Cambridge to give better coverage to the city, University and county and transmit programmes with more local appeal. The studio, which is 'unattended' – there is no resident engineer – occupies part of the ADC Theatre buildings. It can be operated by BBC staff-men and other broadcasters without any technical wireless knowledge. All they have to do to broadcast is press a switch to be in contact with the BBC's engineers in Birmingham. 58 11 13

1958 11 14
Mrs Veronica Volkertz and Mrs Anne Duncan, two women who spent the war years ferrying aircraft of all types, flying more than 4,000 hours between them are now back at Marshall's Flying School – learning to become instructors. Both learned to fly under the short-lived Civil Air Guard scheme in 1939 when one could qualify for an A Licence for about £2.10.0. Nowadays the equivalent Private Pilot's Licence costs pupils around £100! 58 11 14

1958 11 15
Cambridge Preservation discussed the chalk figures excavated by Mr T.C. Lethbridge on the Gog Magog Hills, about which there has been considerable controversy. They sought the advice of the Council for British Archaeology who have been unable to agree: some consider nothing had been found that was evidence of human activity, others are not sure. Expert geologists had also examined the chalk figures. It has now been decided to allow grass to grow over them. 58 11 15

Miss Lake's toy shop closes – history of shops – 58 11 15a

1958 11 16
The new Swavesey Village College is the seventh to be completed. During the day it is used as a secondary modern school for 330 children and in the evening is attended by 900 people as a further education centre. The college possesses a gymnasium and special rooms for English, geography and music together with a science laboratory, a wood and metal workshop, rooms for cookery, needlework and other household craft. The assembly hall seats 300 people and has a well-equipped stage. 58 11 16

1958 11 20
Peterhouse is the main beneficiary from the estate of Mr William Stone "the Squire of Piccadilly" who has died aged 101 leaving an estate worth about £1 million including chambers in the Albany, one of the most exclusive addresses in London. If only he had made this generous gesture before August 1957 it would not have attracted any duty. As it is the liability will take all the liquid assets and may mean that some of the property has to be sold. 55 11 20

Norwich terrier dog originally bred by Jodrell Hopkins and 'Doggy' Lawrence – 58 11 22 & a

1958 11 24
Papworth Village Settlement Borne chapel dedicated – 58 11 24a

1958 11 26
Flood scheme phase three starts – 58 11 26

1958 11 27
Mervyn Stockwood, Gt St Mary's, appointed Bishop of Southwark – 58 11 27

1958 11 28
The City Council approved a scheme to cut back three edges of Parker's Piece to make it possible for at least 150 cars to park along the roadside. The land outside the line of trees along Parkside, Gonville Place and Park Terrace will be taken, the footpaths moved inwards and the extra land added to the road as space for diagonal parking. They were 'nibbling away' at the city's open spaces and exhaust fumes and puddles of oil would cause problems but they had to face up to absolute facts otherwise the whole life of the city was simply going to come to a standstill, councillors felt. 58 11 28b & c

An aeroplane on your farm! For the first time you can have guaranteed service for spraying and top dressing from the air. P.B.I. Aviation Division moves aerial farming from an asset for the few into a practical, reliable service for most of the intensive farming areas of Britain. Details from The Farmers Fertilizer Company, Royston - advert. 58 11 28d

Complaints about the proximity of a proposed slaughterhouse to a school for mentally defective children in Cambridge were raised by councillors. They referred to the bad psychological effect the sight of animals being slaughtered would have in the minds of any young children who saw it happening. But there were no grounds for refusing the licence. 58 11 28

Ald William Luard Raynes councillor since 1908 – tribute – 58 11 28aa

1958 11 29
The Cambridge Plate Glass Insurance Company was founded in 1851 to provide economical insurance for tradespeople. Its committee has always consisted of members of the leading firms. An early claim was for glass broken by overheating from the newly-installed gas lighting. Fireworks have always taken their toll and more recently a man deliberately knocked his head through six large windows before he was stopped. 58 11 29b

If nothing is done the problem of parking will steadily get worse; the main streets will continue to be cluttered up with cars and Cambridge will have such a reputation for traffic stagnation that people from outside will stay away – to the consequent detriment of our business health. The latest proposal to remove the pavement around Parker's Piece and use the space for diagonal parking of more cars has met with a mixed reception. 58 11 29a

Ernest Hilton art gallery, King Street – 58 11 29

December 1958 CDN

1958 12 01
Arrington court house and police station has been the setting for countless human dramas since it opened in the 1840s and is a memorial to the patient deliberations of public-spirited magistrates of several generations. Now it is to close and a chapter in the history of local justice ends. The new police station is a smart building just around the corner and the Melbourn courthouse has been improved and is more accessible. 58 12 01b

Putting the park in Parker's Piece – 58 12 01 & a

1958 12 03
Fen Ditton is a village that should remain static in population, councillors say. Sufficient provision has been made for necessary housing development and it would be wrong to allow the erection of nine houses at Horningsea Road. Valuable agricultural land would be lost and it would case a traffic problem. But there was already a police house there and alternative sites would not be available, the developer claimed. 58 12 03

1958 12 04
New Hall to have 300 students in later years – 58 12 04

1958 12 05
Two airmen from Oakington airfield had miraculous escapes when their Vampire jet trainer crashed on the main railway line bordering the airfield and skidded 200 yards across a ploughed field. The plane had taken off from the main runway when its engine failed. It rapidly lost height and at 100 mph hit the main 'down' Cambridge-Huntingdon railway line, shedding its undercarriage before knocking down fences and coming to rest. Both lines were blocked for half an hour but workmen soon had the damage repaired. 58 12 05

1958 12 09
Two neighbours at West End, Somersham appeared in court over a boundary dispute. Thomas Meadows claimed that when he bought his bungalow in 1945 his boundary was defined by the back of a railway coach. He had planted trees near it but the owner of the Filling Station next door cut them down and blows were struck. Ernest Hazel and Arthur Oldfield gave evidence about an old dyke that had now disappeared. If it was a natural watercourse it would prove the case. 58 12 09 & a

A County report on advertising signs says flank wall and gable advertisements were not usually permitted in villages as they spoil the appearance of a residential building and break up the continuity of a street. But poster hoardings in commercial or industrial areas which hide some temporary activity, unattractive feature or badly developed non-residential site should be allowed. 58 12 09b & c

1958 12 12
A few years ago the Methodist Chapel at Freckenham had to be sold because of lack of support. The sale raised £600 and the money has now been used towards the building of a new chapel at Red Lodge where for the past ten years Methodists have worshipped in a little wooden hut by the side of the main Norwich Road. Although not pretentious the new chapel is a very great improvement and will be opened by Mrs Russell Spooner of Tuddenham, whose husband gave the land on which it stands 58 12 12

The Great Ouse River Board fear that if a proposal to build 600 houses around St Ives is carried out before the new sewerage and sewage disposal scheme is completed then serious pollution may be caused. But the Council say there is now less effluent discharged into the river than years ago as a number of houses are now connected to their sewage plants and these could be enlarged if necessary. 58 12 12a

King's College announced a new rebuilding scheme in the city centre which will mean the demolition of the Central Hotel and café to provide more accommodation for students and a better headquarters for the Cambridge branch of the Midland Bank. The Bursar said the structure of the existing building is in a very parlous state and they could not for structural safety do less than rebuilding completely the whole interior. However this would only be forcing new wine into an old bottle so they had commissioned the design of a new building by Mr K.W, Capon of Architects' Co. Partnership. 58 12 12c

At one time it was feared that the little school at Kennett might be closed but then Newmarket UDC build several houses in this picturesque little village. To carter for the increased in the number of pupils the County Council have built a new classroom which can be used as an assembly hall and have provided water closet sanitation. They have also modernised the old part of the school which was bought from the Kennett Estate two years ago. 58 12 12d & 16 & a

1958 12 16
Cambridge City Libraries' annual staff dinner and party was held in the Guildhall. Librarian, Eric Cave recalled they had closed 'that museum piece, the East Road Reading Room and the Ditton Fields Sub-Branch while sub-branches at Cherry Hinton and Trumpington had more to better accommodation. The Libraries were much appreciated and he looked forward to their continued progress. Games, dancing and entertainment followed organised by J.W. Franklin, L.J. Horspool, C.C. Marsh, R.J. Tarrant and Miss B.K. Wadsworth. 58 12 16b

Demolition of the Robin Hood – 58 12 16c

1958 12 18

Plans for the new buildings at Queens' College designed by Mr Basil Spence to provide much-needed extra accommodation for fellows and students have been approved by the Royal Fine Arts Commission. The new building will face the 300-year-old bowling green and border the grounds of the President's Lodge. It will be three storeys high providing 41 bed-sitting rooms with an attractive and unusual overhead roof garden. 58 12 18 & a

1958 12 19
The villagers of Cowlinge received a much appreciated Christmas present when Council chairman Clifford Colson pushed a button to inaugurate the electricity supply and his daughter Jane extinguished two lighted candles – which represented the primitive lighting of the past. Forty housewives were at the village hall to see the 'switch-on' and view an exhibition of cookers, heaters and washing machines. Some already have TV sets and look forward to watching programmes for the first time. 58 12 19

Traffic over Hills Road railway bridge, a bottleneck on the principal road into Cambridge, is extremely heavy. Visibility over the summit is severely restricted and many accidents have occurred there. The existing steel plate girder bridge has deteriorated with age and now work will start to provide a new twin two-lane carriageways and footpaths. The new bridge will be designed to allow for widening should additional railway tracks be needed in the future. 58 12 19b

Littleport may get a plastic-lined swimming pool similar to one at Bletchley. A parish meeting had agreed to the borrowing of £11,000 but because of the credit 'squeeze' the Government refused to allow it. When built it would be a very expensive, though probably necessary luxury running at an annual loss of about £200, councillors were told. 58 12 19c

Newmarket RDC has decided to erect units of old persons' accommodation at Soham and Burwell. Each unit will comprise a sitting room with a bed recess and kitchenette together with a small wash basin. There will be communal W.C.s and bathrooms. They will be central heated though there will be a coal fire in the communal sitting-room. 58 12 19d

Sophy Sanger, pioneer in Internationalism – 58 12 19a

1958 12 20
Ely Sugar Beet factory has again run into mechanical trouble. This time an alternator in the turbine of the generator by which the factory produces its own electricity burnt out, causing a halt to production of nearly four days. They are now using a small stand-by set which became obsolete after the new boiler house was built seven years ago. In the course of a campaign they process about 400,000 tons of beet and up to the time of the breakdown they had dealt with just over half of this. 58 12 20

1958 12 22
New schemes for the rebuilding of the Lion Yard car park and the surrounding area are being examined by town planning experts. It may be comprehensively re-developed to include a multi-storey car park and additional shopping facilities served by a new road passing through the middle of the area. But some say that instead of a broad shopping street, which might attract more traffic into the already overcrowded centre, it should be a 'pedestrian shopping precinct' with cars being parked a short distance away. 58 12 22

1958 12 29
Coun Burkitt, Chairman of the County Council, made a Christmas Day visit to Midfield Children's Home, Oakington where children were playing happily with their presents and one presented him with an ash tray he had made. At the Grange Children's Home, Swavesey the children were given an additional treat when he played carols on the piano while at Willingham House Old People's Home he admired the turkey which the residents were going to have for their dinner. 58 12 29

On Boxing Day the Mayor visited Fulbourn Hospital where he gave the traditional 'kick-off' in the football match between patients and staff. The wards had been decorated with loving care while in the sick bay the nurses had painted some beautiful Christmas scenes on the walls. Many of the wards were filled with exotic fruits and flowers made out of paper, some by the Sisters in their spare time and others with the help of patients. Television now plays a large part in the life of the wards and viewing and singing carols took up much of the holiday. 58 12 29

Eastwoods the cement and brick manufacturers were host to the Cambridgeshire Foxhounds at the Barrington. There was a good attendance of sightseers and the employees enjoyed a glimpse of England's traditional country life as the hunt went by. The horses and hounds, used by man since time immemorial, were in strange contrast to the latest type of bulk cement vehicle, which paused to let the Hunt go on its way. 58 12 29a

1959 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

Also includes a number of Cambridge Independent Press feature articles marked 'CIP'

January 1959 CDN

1959 01 01
Newmarket magistrates' court was crowded when thirteen young men appeared following a fight between American servicemen and local youths outside the Carlton Hotel. The lads came into court with large cards bearing their names and ages hanging round their necks, while the Americans had their names neatly printed on small cards pinned to their tunics. As there was such a large number answering the complaint, the local youths had to sit on the floor. One American was asked to leave and remove his chewing gum. 59 01 01 & a

1959 01 02
Cambridgeshire Football Association was launched on 24th January 1884 at a meeting in the Guildhall. A trial game was organised between two teams selected from Old Perseans, Modern Perseans and Cassandra on one side and the Granta, Rovers, Printers and Albert on the other. Newmarket, Linton, Sawston Swifts and Cam affiliated at the outset. In those days the game was controlled by two umpires, one in each half of the field. Should they disagree the matter was referred to a referee who sat outside the field of play. 59 01 02 &a 59 01 06a

1951 01 03
Cambridge worthies' motor trip to Brighton – 59 01 03

1959 01 05
Edwin Muir CBE, the poet and critic of Priory Cottage, Swaffham Prior has died. Born on Orkney, he became Professor of Poetry at Harvard and received honorary doctorates at Prague, Edinburgh and Cambridge. He was literary critic of The Observer and published his autobiography 'The story and the Fable'. Muir retired to Swaffham Prior in 1956 and is to be buried in the churchyard. 59 01 05

1959 01 06
Great Eastern Railway now offers a service which is second to none. Speedy and comfortable trains leave at regular minutes past the hour and take the same time to reach their destination. Fast services have opened up East Anglia to the man who was forced to journey by road – and it is no better than the rest of the country in its trunk road network. Now those who previously used cars must now ask themselves whether it is really worthwhile driving. 59 01 06

1959 01 08

Flood patrols are out as part of Walnut Tree Avenue is still under water, Banham's boathouses are surrounded and Pye's Bridge difficult to get to owing to the swirling water at the base. Many parts of the bathing sheds on Sheep's Green have so much water in them that it rushed out of the doors leading to the Common taking with it bottles, waste paper basked and broken wood from the fences. The men working on the new Silver Street Bridge are still carrying on though the pedestrian footbridge is now closed as the water is up to the footboards and is considered dangerous. 59 01 08

1959 01 09
A number of roads flooded following overnight rain and early morning snow. The Caxton village crossroads had water up to eight feet deep and a large lorry was stranded in the middle. Ickleton High Street was flooded and several pigs drowned at Church Hall Farm, Whaddon. Queen's Road, Cambridge, was flooded opposite St John's College with traffic diverted along Grange Road. The level of the Cam was the highest since 1947 and overflowed Pye's Sports Ground. 59 01 07; photo 59 01 09 CIP

Arthur Cundell from Cottenham was well-known for his great interest in local government. He served continuously on Cottenham Parish Council since 1907, was chairman many times, opened the Recreation Ground and worked continuously to obtain a sewage scheme for the village. He was elected to Chesterton RDC in 1919 and subsequently retained his seat against opposition at every election. He served on all committees and was elected chairman in 1942. 59 01 09

1959 01 10
A Bleirot car driven to Brighton to mark renovation of Arundel castle – 59 01 10

1959 01 13
Seven schemes are being considered for the Lion Yard area. It is felt essential for the financial success of the proposals that the redevelopment should embrace the existing property on the south side of Petty Cury from the Post Office to the Lion Hotel. It should extend over the existing car park to Downing Street and be linked with Emmanuel Street. The University are interested in obtaining access to the New Museums buildings on the west side of Corn Exchange Street, but this may not be practical. 59 01 13a & b

Before 20 new City Council flats can be built at Peverel Close it will be necessary to take up small portions of some of the gardens of existing houses in the road. The tenants will be asked to give up part of their gardens and in the event of any not being prepared voluntarily to agree the Town Clerk will service them notices to quit, councillors were told. 59 01 13c

The widening of Hills Road Railway Bridge may be delayed as negotiations have still to be completed on what proportion of the cost will be borne by the County Council. The East side of the new bridge should run straight from the frontage line of no.129 Hills Road to the entrance of the coal-yard opposite the junction with Brooklands Avenue. There could be a new access from Cherryhinton Road to the Cattle Market and railway sidings. 59 01 13d

The unashamedly BBC TV programme 'This is Your Life' had a particular interest last night for many local people. It was about a man described by Eamonn Andrews as 'a living legend to thousands of people', Canon Noel Duckworth, padre to the Cambridgeshire Regiment on the outbreak of war. First to pay tribute was former CND cartoonist, Ronald Searle who recalled seeing him when the Regiment was retreating from the Japanese in Malaya: he was pushing a wheelbarrow full of beer to the troops in the front line. They later met as prisoners in Changi gaol. 59 01 13e

CND exhibition – 59 01 13

1959 01 14
A slippage in the bank of the Ely Ouse at Braham Dock caused and a large team of workmen were sent to deal with the incident. While they were there another slip happened and during the night about 60 workmen were engaged in repairing the banks. Another serious incident was averted by the quick action of the aged engineer at the old 'Pepper Pop' mill on the River Lark, near Isleham. At 2.30 am he was awaked by the sound of rushing water and discovered a culvert had started to overflow. He contacted the River Board who managed to control the damage. 59 01 14a

Lichfield Galleries opened, All Saints Passage – 59 01 14 # c.63

1959 01 16
The new plan for the centre of Cambridge will have as its central feature a 'pedestrian shopping precinct' from which all vehicles will be excluded. An earlier scheme which foresaw a new and widened Guildhall Street running through the Lion Yard, with new shops and a multi-deck car park, has now been dropped after being criticised as likely to attract too much extra traffic. The proposal incorporates a car park which might be placed underground. But it is certain that Corn Exchange Street would become an important vehicular road. 59 01 16

A former University student told the court that when he went down he had left some property in the attic of his former lodgings in Victoria Street. The house had been sold and the new owner, who knew nothing about the arrangement, had cleared 'a few books and some moth-eaten rubbish'. But the student said it included a 'Kentecloth', a robe given him by his grandfather, who was brother of the Paramount Chief of Western Mzima in Ghana and demanded its return. 59 01 16a

Just Arrived! Presley's Fabulous New Single! 200,000 sold in one week! 'One Night' c.w. 'I Got Stung'. Co-Operative Record Bar, Burleigh Street. The centre for disc fans (Advert). 59 01 16b

The number of calls for assistance received by the Cambridge Waterworks Company from householders whose water supply pipes have burst was 90 per cent down on those received during the last big freeze-up of 1954. This is put down to good publicity about 'lagging' pipes, warmer houses due to the increase in the sale of heaters and the de-rationing of coal, and the warning to Council House owners that they would have to pay for all damage caused to pipes and installations by frost

The Regal Cinema was crowded for the Cambridge premier of 'Bachelor of Hearts', the film of University life which was made on location in the city. A reception was attended by the film's producer, Mr Vivian Cox, director Wolf Rilla and one of the 'starlets' from the cast, Miss Gillian Vaughan. The film deals with the adventures of a young German student, played by Hardy Kruger, and an attractive Girton girl (Sylvia Syms). Comments varied widely but everyone agreed there were many good laughs along the way. No plans have been made for it to be shown in Oxford. 59 01 16c, 59 01 20, 56 01 21

1959 01 17
British amateur skating, Mare Fen, Swavesey – 59 01 17, 59 01 23 CIP

1959 01 23
The Green Hill Café at Linton is a popular resort of lorry drivers and now the owners want to rebuild. There would be complete garage facilities, catering for local agricultural needs, a more suitable café with better sleeping accommodation and a supply of diesel oil for lorries. It would have an access in the High Street which would vastly improve a dangerous corner where there had been 16 accidents in the past four years. 59 01 23a & b

Earith Bridge during recent cold spell showing 'anchor ice' piled up against the bridge – 59 01 23a CIP
Fen skating championships – Drake Digby Memorial Cup called off – 59 01 23 CIP

1959 01 19
Slip in river bank, Braham – 59 01 19

1959 01 22
Assize trumpeters – photo - 59 01 22

1959 01 23
Lt Downham new church window – 59 01 23

1959 01 26
An invalid woman lost her life when fire destroyed the Dog and Partridge public house at Barton Mills. The licensee awoke to find the house full of smoke. He tried to dial 999 but could not get through to the exchange and ran to the house next door to raise the alarm. Neighbours tried to reach the woman's bedroom but were driven back by flames and smoke. 59 01 26

Ten years of planning has safeguarded the interest of agriculture in Cambridgeshire by keeping the better land free for farming and by directing house building and other necessities on to the poorer land, the County Planning Officer told parish councillors. They had turned down applications for large areas of land in the neighbourhood of Cambridge: "One can only imagine what would have happened if the builders had got hold of that land. Cambridge would not be so pleasant a place as it is", he said. Sawston was one of the larger villages of the future with its population planned to expand from 2,600 to 7,500 people. 59 01 26c

12 degrees of frost – 59 01 26b

1959 01 31
Milton church renovation – 59 01 31; needs £5,000 for church repairs – photos – 59 02 06 CIP

February 1959 CDN

1959 02 04
The remote Methodist Chapel in Swaffham Prior fen was built in July 1884. It has a pleasant interior with room for a congregation of about 70. Heating is by a small stove and it still retains the shiny brass paraffin lamps which have provided lighting since the chapel was built. But it is weather-worn and the average attendance is half-a-dozen worshippers. There used to be a small chain boat which enabled people to attend from the Waterbeach side of the river; this has since disappeared. It was nearly sold in 1953 but people in Stretham organised services and the chapel remained open. Now two families are opposing its sale. 59 02 04a, 59 02 06 CIP

The new Heydon reservoir will provide a water supply for 11 parishes. It was in 1954 that SCDC sank a trial borehole at Dottrell Hall, Fowlmere. Subsequently two more were constructed and it was proposed to build a pumping station, lay 42 miles of trunk mains and construct the reservoir. Councillors inspected the interior before the great covered-in space was filled with water. 59 02 04b

The '99 Rowing Club now has a boathouse of its own in this, their diamond jubilee year. They have bought the boathouse owned by Messrs Banham's at the bottom of Kimberley Road, used by Sidney Sussex College. It is in need of repair and alteration and various members have volunteered help as electricians and plumbers. It should be ready by the summer. 59 02 04c

The Paradise Recreation Ground was in an overworked condition, the Ely Amateur Sports Association heard. There had been difficulties because of wet weather and by the use of part-time labour who had to cut the grass in the evening, which was not suitable during a really wet season. They required a groundsman to cut it in the middle of the day. There was also a need for better latrines. 59 02 04d

1959 02 06
Milton church needs £5,000 repairs – 59 02 06 CIP

1959 02 07
Bradwell's court development – sketch – 59 02 07
St Andrew's Street transformation in a year – photos – 59 02 07a

1959 02 09
The new Span flats at Newton Road have been built around a central garden court and amongst the carefully preserved remains of an old orchard. More trees and shrubs have been planted and the whole outlook is truly Arcadian. The flats are, briefly, superb with practically every mod.con. yet developed including unfreezable plumping, effective thermal insulation, built-in wardrobes and an incredibly convenient kitchen. Each has two double bedrooms, bathroom and breakfast-cornered kitchen. The price is £3,200 for a 99-year lease – Advert. 59 02 09

1959 02 10
Coleridge Athletic Club dinner – 59 02 10

1959 02 12
The United States Air Force hospital located at Wimpole Hall will move to RAF stations at Mildenhall and Lakenheath later this year. The move will affect 300 US military personnel and 95 UK civilians. The facilities are on private land and this has to be handed back to the owner by the end of 1959. They were constructed by the British Ministry of Works in 1943 and operated by the US Army until 1945. In 1951 the 7510th USAF Hospital was stationed there. 59 02 12

Lard, butter, cheese, tea and soup powder was amongst stock worth over £1,000 destroyed when fire broke out in a warehouse at the rear of Ecclestone's Stores in Mill Street, Mildenhall. Firemen found flames spurting from the windows of the two-storey building but managed to prevent it from spreading to the shop, the house and the Post Office which forms part of the premises.59 02 12a

Work has begun on greatly increasing the area of Messrs Boots the Chemist's premises in Sidney Street by the demolition of the old Essex and Suffolk Assurance Company buildings. It will double the width of the frontage and the shopping area behind and provide twin entrances on to the street. The staff accommodation will be more than doubled and the facilities vastly improved. Boots believe that the staff cannot be expected to look after customers properly unless their own interests are properly served by the company: contented staff means contented customers. 59 02 12b & c

The Belle Vue Filling Station of Kneesworth appealed for permission to erect a petrol filling station on the Royston-Huntingdon Road. They already had one on the opposite side of the road which carries a heavy volume of commercial vehicles and would assist motorists who were leaving. But it would abut the line of trees at Wimpole Hall which was an estate of great landscape value only spoiled by some RAF huts that will soon be removed. 59 02 12e & f

1959 02 14
Doctors are being rushed off their feet with the ever-increasing bouts of 'flu which are claiming new batches of victims every day. A large proportion of unfortunates are kept in bed for a week or longer with the added complications of trachitis or sore throat. On the whole, school children appear to be immune, though one school has an epidemic of measles. The 11-plus examinations took place without any of the candidates being absent through illness. 59 02 14

1959 02 17
Sergeant Cornwell of Marlowe Road joined the police in 1926 and was due to retire this year. He was a member of the committee of Police Poor and Needy Fund, secretary of the Recreation Society and the Police Athletic Association. A great sportsman, he was champion for putting the weight, secretary of the Table Tennis Association and Thursday Football League. He won the Defence, Police Long Service, Good Conduct and Coronation Medals. The Chief Constable described him as a loyal and respect colleague who would be sadly missed. 59 02 17

1959 02 19
Objections to the erection of a farmhouse on the slopes of the Gog Magog Hills were voiced at an inquiry. The owner of Jones's Farm opposite the clubhouse of the Golf Course asked to build a farmhouse on his own land. But planners said it was an excuse to build a house in a delightful place for his future retirement. It would stick out like a sore thumb in an area of unique landscape value and create a precedent. He also wanted residential development on his land fronting Hinton Way but this would be 'ribbon development'. 59 02 19a & b & c

Newmarket RDC houses for sale – 59 02 19

1959 02 21
Longstanton youths had left a trail of destruction in the village over Christmas. They smashed a telephone kiosk mirror, knocked over flour bags, pushed over road signs and sprayed oil over a caravan showroom windows. PC Murdon said they'd drunk four light ales at the Railway Tavern pub on Christmas Eve then biked to Willingham, causing damage on the way. 59 02 21a

Cambridgeshire's County MP, Mr Gerald Howard is celebrating his silver wedding with a party in the house where he was born and still lives, The Moat at Upend. He married Miss Claudia Stoker at St George's Hanover Square in 1934 then held a second wedding party at The Moat, which has been in the family since his grandfather started farming there in the 1830s. 59 02 21b

1959 02 23
The Lucas depot on the Newmarket Road offers expert overhaul of fuel injection diesel engines with special equipment beyond the financial reach of many garages. They also check and overhaul Lucas electrical equipment. The stores hold nearly 4,000 bits and pieces each sealed in polythene and 'factory fresh'. There are batteries for scooters, tractors, whoppers for special jobs and units for the locally-built Lister Jaguars. Practically everyone who works there lives in Cambridge. 59 02 23

A short ceremony will be held just before the flag drops at the next race at Snetterton. The memory of the late Archie Scott Brown will be commemorated by the unveiling of a permanent memorial in the form of a bronze head and shoulders sculptured in relief. The new Lister Jaguars are expected to make their first appearance alongside the new Lotus Seventeens and the first of the new Cooper Monacos. There is more prize money this year: the winner of the British Empire Trophy will get £400, which works out at £10 a lap, or about 70 shillings a mile! 59 02 23a

1959 02 25
One of the most up-to-date slaughterhouses will shortly be in operation at Great Chesterford following an appeal by Messrs Duke and Nichols, butchers, to construct additions to their existing slaughterhouse in Chapel Street. It had been there for many years and although it was not well located the additions would not adversely affect the character of the area, the Minister decided. 59 02 25

1959 02 26
Gordon Thoday has specialised in fabrics for over a quarter of a century. At the new contemporary shop in St Andrew's Street modern display counters give the advantage of self-selection, or if you prefer our staff will be happy to serve you from the immense and exciting variety of the newest British and Continental fabrics. Our Sussex Street shop continues as usual – Advertisement. 59 02 26

Ice cream is to be sold during break periods at Netherhall Secondary Modern Schools in spite of the objections from the Chief Medical Officer. He said that children nowadays were overfed and strongly deprecated the habit of eating between meals. It was undesirable that some children should watch others eating luxuries which they could not afford. Councillor Mrs Morse also felt it was bad for children to eat ice cream (which would be taken in addition to milk) as it was a filling food and would spoil their appetite for their midday meal. But other members of the committee decided that the school Governors should be trusted to make the decision. 59 02 26a

The memory of the night the lights that were turned on at Milton Road football ground will live for a long time judging by the way the inaugural match between Cambridge City and West Ham United was received by the 11,000 crowd. Even though the First Division club beat their hosts to the tune of five goals to two, they endeared themselves to all the spectators by the manner in which they did it. They even had the courtesy to allow the City to be the first to score under the new floodlights – although perhaps it wasn't intended! Barry Kin drove the ball hard from the wing and it matter not that the West Ham goalkeeper helped the ball into the net. 59 02 26b

1959 02 27
Having completed their flat project at Applecourt on Newton Road, Span Developments have just announced several big redevelopment plans. One is a 15-story high tower block of flats in Hills Road where two Victorian houses have been demolished but the magnificent trees standing in their gardens are to be left undisturbed. Another is a complete new village planned for Histon Road. They are also negotiating a scheme for factory development which will bring more well-paid work to the Cambridge area. 59 02 27, 59 03 01 & 01a

The largest steak pie ever to be made in Britain was consumed at the Dorothy Café as part of a trade drive. It contained more than 70lb of Australian canned meat. Australia was now only a few days flying time away and growing in importance. Britain was investing in the country's new enterprises and Pye Radio who were settled there was making great contributions to the country's prosperity. In exchange Australia was sending Herb Elliot, the runner, to Cambridge University. They could keep him – if they could catch him! 59 02 27a

1959 02 28
One of the developments in the field of education since the war has been the growth in Cambridge of schools of English for foreign students. Now Mr C.H. Jarrett is establishing a new one at Salisbury Villas, Station Road. It will cater for the Cambridge Lower and proficiency Certificates as well as offering courses for beginners and the teaching of Russian. My own observations of some of the foreign students in our midst leads me to hope further courses may include the rudiments of good manners! 59 02 28b

Sedan chair in Cambridge – 59 02 28
Edward Fitzgerald and Chesterton – 59 02 28a

March 1959 CDN

1959 03 01
Emmanuel College's new building in St Andrew's Street has attracted many protests and the Anti-Ugly Society joined a mock funeral procession lead by four pall-bearers looking somewhat like Teddy Boys in their 'mourning weeds'. They bore a coffin inscribed 'Here Lieth British Architecture' which was placed outside the Porter's Lodge as mourners chanted 'Pull it down and burn it.' Although most onlookers treated the protest as a great joke for the Anti-Ugly Society it was a matter of serious importance in their genuine concern for architecture. 59 03 01b

1959 03 03
Haddenham woman Annie Searle drowns, Hillrow – 59 03 03

1959 03 04
Frederick Day hairdresser creates new hair fashion line – 59 03 04

1959 03 05
No secret work of any kind is being carried out at the Cavendish Laboratory. The bother of 'screening' those doing the work was not wanted and research graduates would not be able to get their theses published. All the research was pure and fundamental and therefore very valuable. Its potential is enormous for future needs, Cambridge businessmen were told. 59 03 05

Sketch plans for the new Witchford Secondary School were approved for submission to the Ministry of Education. It will be built in two instalments to enable the systematic replacement of the existing temporary buildings to take place. The first instalment will start during 1959-60 at a cost of some £50,000. Messrs Concrete Ltd of Hounslow will be invited to co-operate in the design of a pre-cast concrete frame. 59 03 05a

1959 03 06
Rutland House, Saxon Street was struck by lightning. Mr Chapman, a representative of Messrs Baldreys, had called at the Reindeer public house to collect an order when he saw 'a terrific flash' and noticed smoke coming from the roof. He informed one of the staff at the house but the telephone had been put out of order so he drove to Cheveley where he found a policeman on motor-cycle patrol. Mr & Mrs Cooper Bland were at home and heard a bang but did not realise their home had been struck until they went outside. 59 03 06

There is one pot less on the chimney stack of the Hat and Feathers, Barton Road, since an isolated lightning flash struck the public house during a storm. The chimney pot shattered and parts of it damaged a glass shelter as they fell. The licensee, Alex Taylor, said he was glad it had not come five minutes later as children from the Shrubbery School might have been passing. 59 03 06b

V.C.H. history of Cambridge published – 59 03 06a
Swaffham Fen Methodist Chapel, Upware, sale opposed – photos – 59 03 06a CIP

1959 03 07
Extensive renovation work on the Old Rectory at Snailwell has brought to light some interesting architecture. It is thought that much of the house dates back to the 16th century but when battens were stripped from the wall of the dining room it revealed the top of an arch from a building which stood on the site before the Norman Conquest. As far as possible it is being renovated with the original material. Apart from a few rooms the rectory has not been lived in for some years. 59 03 07a

Sir Vivian Fuchs, Antarctic expedition lecture – 59 03 07
Fitzgerald's house at Chesterton – 59 03 07b

1959 03 10
Mare Way bush clearance – 59 03 10
William Trevor Hughes, 'sturdy rogue', drunk – 59 03 10a & b

1959 03 11
Plans for a motel to be built at Tyrrell's Lodge near the Shepreth crossroads were discussed. It would be an eight-suite motel, a special type of hotel catering particularly for motorists where guests rented furnished accommodation which was self-contained. It would be one of only six in England and include a lounge, bar and restaurant for 100 people. 59 03 11 & 11a

1959 03 12
To progress from a back kitchen near the Rex to a cowshed in Abbey Road is not a very great step, but finally to settle in a brand new building in Occupation Road is indeed a larger stride. This is what the Homewash Laundry had done and this was the cause of wonderment expressed by the many trade and press journalists from London at the opening of the Laundry by the Mayoress of Cambridge, who was a long-standing customer in its less contemporary days. 59 03 12

1959 03 13
'Cuppers' – student rugby procession – 59 03 13

1959 03 14
Mr Cyril Petch of Orchard House, Isleham will shortly leave the village to live in the London area. What his new work will be cannot be disclosed, but it is a job of national importance. He has an astonishing record of public service on Newmarket RDC, Cambridgeshire County Council and as Governor of Soham Grammar School. In Isleham he's been chairman of the Parish Council, Sports and Village Hall committees, playing no little part in getting the magnificent hall erected in 1952. As a farmer he organised the fight for the return of fen land after the war. There are few organisations in the district which did not benefit from his sound common sense and wisdom. 59 03 14

A report on the recent flooding caused by heavy rainfall shows that although levels came close to those of 1937 no complete bank failure occurred anywhere. This proved that the bankworks which had been carried out had the desired effect. On January 10th the entire system reached a critical position when any further rainfall would result in an immediate rise in levels. Fortunately however a prolonged period of dry weather resulted in a gradual return to normal levels. 59 03 14a

Cottage Improvement Society to restore Hadstock house – 59 03 14b

1959 03 16
Frederick Archibald Mace arrived as Master of Chesterton Hospital in 1946 and implemented the changes which have turned it into the bright, happy National Health Service establishment it is today. But to several old people, some of whom have been in the hospital from their childhood and until ten years ago knew it only as an institution, he was still 'the Master', but a Master who contradicted all the old Dickensian ideas of institutional life. 59 03 16

1959 03 18
St Ives – Kettering railway line closure plans – 59 03 18

1959 03 20
Jeanty Raven, the wife of Professor Raven of Christ's College, could tell the most horrifying tales of the war. She was then the wife of a prosperous Brussels barrister who was imprisoned by the Germans when an escaped British pilot was found hiding in their house. The penalty for this was death but under German law no man could be condemned if his wife was insane. So she assumed the character of a simple-minded girl of twelve and lived in a house along with anything up to a hundred insane people. As a result her husband was sentenced to life imprisonment, only to be murdered along with hundreds of fellow prisoners just before the war ended. 59 03 20

Cyril Ridgeon and Son, builders' merchants gave a luncheon to inaugurate their new Regent Street showroom. The shop was formerly occupied by Messrs Murdoch's and the transformation from musical instruments to household equipment is striking. The lower ground floor is devoted to a display of bathroom suites, the ground floor to tiled fireplaces and the first to kitchen requirements. They were literally bulging at the seams at Hobson Street but the new store is comparable with something in London, guests were told. 59 03 20b

Milton parish church is to be floodlit – not by electricity, but by Calor Gas! It is believed to the first time that a church has been floodlit by this means in the country and the equipment for the display has been loaned by Messrs King and Harper. It is part of its campaign to attract £5,000 for urgent repairs. 59 03 20c

Bread and confectionary exhibition, Corn Exchange – 59 03 20 CIP
Cyril Ridgeon new showrooms advert – 59 03 20a
Silver Street bridge open to traffic – 59 03 20d # c.44.7

1959 03 21
Sir - The fine old ash tree opposite Hill House, Old Chesterton was planted in 1867. In my boyhood days it was surrounded with a green grass mound where the village children spent many happy hours – especially when Punch and Judy used to be performed under its shade. Chesterton village flower show was held in the garden with side-shows and plenty of amusements. Opposite Hill House stood an old inn called 'The Bleeding Heart'. From here Charles Rowell, the great runner, used to do his morning training - Harry Pitt, Manor Cottage, Church Street. 59 03 21

1959 03 23
Quite a crowd gathered outside Mr W. Stephenson's stables in King Street, Royston, to see the homecoming of Oxo, winner of the Grand National. The scene was something like that of Derby Day 1951 when Arctic Prince also brought fame to the town's trainer. Royston is not given to wild displays of excitement, but there were many beaming faces and still more that evening in the 'local'. Even those unfortunate souls who were not 'on' the winner shared in the pride for Mr Stephenson and his extremely loyal employees. No other local trainer has even enjoyed such popularity and respect. 59 03 23b

Fulbourn and Riversfield Hospital Management Committee will 'not even think' of parting with their Riversfield Home for mentally defective children – in spite of the Ministry of Health suggesting that the 'reasonably small, accessible and fairly modern' home could be made into a useful hostel under changes proposed in the Mental Health Services. There was nowhere in the Eastern Region run so efficiently as this little place and until the Ministry can provide a place of similar comfort for these little ones, they will not think of parting with it. 59 03 23

The Wellbrook Laundry on Girton Road was originally opened for the benefit of Girton College in the days when they sent the clothes by horse and carts, so it was fitting that the Mistress performed the formal opening ceremony of the new dry cleaning department. After wards visitors viewed the laundry which included the sorting of customers' work by tape recording and sheets automatically folded by machine. 59 03 23c

Marshall's Flying School dispute – 59 03 23a

1959 03 24
Parker's Piece parking around edge plan – 59 03 24

1959 03 25
Girton parishioners discussed Cambridge council's claim for County Borough status, including the extension of their boundary to Pepys Way. This comprised half the population of the village and the remainder would have to bear the whole cost of the existing village area. They were quite happy as they were and deplored the suggestion to split the village.59 03 25

1959 03 26
Grammar School names – Central not acceptable – 59 03 26

1959 03 28
A new Village College may be provided at Shelford to take children from Stapleford, Harston and Hauxton, providing a compact area with economic transport arrangements. It would avoid the expansion of Sawston and Melbourn village colleges when the school leaving age is raised to 16. But it is not included in the Development Plan and it is not thought likely there would be any considerable increase in population. 59 03 28

1959 03 31
By the sudden death of Alderman Ellis Rooke, Saffron Walden has lost a well-known figure who was responsible for the building of the former Isolation Hospital before the First World War. A staunch Conservative, he was elected to the Borough Council in 1922 and was Mayor 1934-1941, 1955 and 1957. Amongst his interests were the Joint Hospitals Board, Museum Society, United Charities and Town Football Club. He was a keen supporter of the Anglo-American Playing Fields, a joint memorial to the men of Essex and the American Servicemen who were killed in World War II. His death will be much felt by all who knew him. 59 03 31

Arthur Allen was one of the Old Brigade of College servants who served Kings faithfully and well. He was apprenticed as a cook at Trinity College where the chef wore a top hat and tails, before being appointed Kitchen Manager and Chef at Kings. There was a slight contretemps when he discovered that he was expected to work with women but his will prevailed and he had an 'all-male' staff. He said the late Lord Keynes knew just how much money he wanted to spend on entertaining his guests – a point which was appreciated by the chef. 59 03 31a

Sir – I must say something about the lighting at Fulbourn station. In these days of 'modernisation' of the railways it seems incredible that they still use oil lamps as the sole source of illumination. Apart from the obvious difficulties of trying to walk along a platform in pitch darkness, it is extremely difficult to see whether one is producing a ticker for the ticket-collector or just a piece of paper – Timothy Oldcastle. 59 03 31c

The progressive dieselisation of the branch line services has seen the construction of a maintenance depot near Coldham's Lane Bridge. It affords facilities for carrying our examinations for multiple unit trains, rail-buses and diesel-mechanical and diesel-electric shunters. It is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week and has a staff of 100 men. 59 03 31d & e
Dutch's Corner advertisement – 59 03 31b

April 1959 CDN

1954 04 01
The Oaklands Café at Fenstanton is well-run in every way but the owners have installed a gambling machine. One has to put in sixpenny pieces and pull down a handle which sets numbers revolving. If certain numbers come up you win various amounts of money. Police carried out a test: they put in 300 coins and 231 were returned. There was little skill attached and it was a game of chance. There were three buttons on the front of the machine which acted as a brake but the officer was not able to manipulate them. The machine was destroyed. 54 04 01 & 01a

All the 100 houses planned for the first part of the Scotland Farm Estate by the Hundred Houses Society were completed last year and handed over to tenants at rents of £3 a week. Already the new character of the estate is taking shape. The design of the terraces of houses in varying numbers and the use of contrasting colours for individual doors avoids the danger of monotony. Inevitably the ground still has a somewhat bare appearance but much solid spade work is being put into the gardens. These well-designed houses are making a real contribution to the accommodation problem in Cambridge. 59 04 01b

1959 04 02
Paddy Harris started Progressive Coaches in 1934 with one 28-seater Daimler coach and one hire car. By purchasing second-hand vehicles he built up a fleet of 16 and during the war ran them for the benefit of farmers who needed transport for the German prisoners-of-war who worked for them. In 1942 he bought Camtax, his greatest competitor, then Harvey's Coaches. Now nine new coaches have been bought. They have provision for small tables and the roofs have transparent panels so as to give the impression of riding inside a glass bubble. 59 04 02a

Clare College gates to be restored – 59 04 02

1959 04 03
University Proctors generally visit dance halls in Cambridge, they could (but rarely did) visit the licensed houses and never visited private houses unless invited. One of the routine duties was the "walking at night". It was their job to see that undergraduates were prevented from annoying citizens, which was more important than fining them for not wearing gowns. There was very close cooperation with the police as proctors had a greater variety of more suitable punishments; students could be rusticated, gated or fined or even have their university driving licenses withdrawn, Dr E.R. Lapwood told businessmen. 59 04 03

1959 04 04
Jack McVitie of Bermondsey was one of four men convicted of possessing gelatine and of carrying a flick knife. Their Ford Zephyr car was stopped by two police cars at Balsham after a chase. They claimed they had been asked to take a parcel to a house in Fordham but had lost the address. They drove up and down a number of times but could not stop because the car had no lights, having been involved in an accident on the way. But the judge said they had been embarking on a safe blowing expedition. 59 04 04 a & b

Progressive Coaches jubilee – 59 04 04

1959 04 07
The Employment Exchange which has been sited in Newnham for nearly 30 years is moving to Brooklands Avenue. It provides a register of people seeking professional, managerial and senior executive posts and employees wishing to fill such vacancies. Nearly 200 men and women as well as ex-officers from HM Forces are included. The passports department and National Service registration office will also be affected. 59 04 07

1959 04 09
Perse school new roof – 59 04 09

1959 04 10
Invest now in Chinchilla breeding. It will be many years yet before the supply of high-quality Chinchilla Pelts can anywhere near satisfy the ever-increasing demand for top-quality skins and there is a wonderful opportunity for those who can invest now. Chinchilla are vegetarians, cost less than 6d per week to feed, are harmless, clean and free from vermin. Our stock is all born and bred in this country and full acclimatised. Agent D.G. Butler, The Three Horse Shoes, Lode – advertisement. 59 04 10

1959 04 11
Death Joshua Beardsall, Sec. Addenbrooke's Hospital – 59 04 11

1959 04 15
'Milkmaid' new milk and cheese bar was established on Market Hill by the Milk Marketing Board. It was open each weekday, 10am-6pm and offered creamy coffee, milk-shakes, ice cream and a large variety of English and Welsh cheese together with light nourishing meals. The Mayor came to open it – 59 04 15

1959 04 16
Looking like a gigantic cigar, a tarpaulin-covered 'Thor' rocket – minus its warhead of course – passed through Ely en route to the Mepal rocket base. The 90-foot transporter with pilot drivers at the rear to ensure negotiation of the highway, was escorted by the R.A.F. police. Preceding it, to clear the streets of all other traffic, were civil police. The 'Thor', produced in America, has a range of at least 1,500 miles. 59 04 16a

1959 04 18
St Ives – Kettering railway line closure – 59 04 18

1959 04 21
Bertram Mills' circus began their visit to Cambridge under the big top on Midsummer Common. The huge canvas auditorium with improbable little bits of grass still visible between the rows of seats was packed to the walls. The ring was immaculate with white sawdust, and high above it the roof held the promise of balancing feats to come. The performance opened with the entrance of an elephant in a pink bonnet driving a yellow motor car accompanied by a cavalcade of clowns and augustes. 59 04 21b & c

Territorial Army training, Coldham's Lane – 59 04 21 & a

1959 04 22
The 'Miss Cambridge 1959' contest promoted by Billy Pearce attracted ten entrants. Winner was Pauline Badcock from Cottenham, who is a punch card operator; second was Norma Bullen of Waterbeach, a bank clerk and third Frances May of Cambridge, an insurance company clerk. All three will go into the final to select 'Miss Cambridgeshire 1959' at Linton Village College. 59 04 22c

Albert Sadler, Stretham lorry driver accident – 59 04 22, 22a, 22b, 59 04 29

1959 04 23
The Air Ministry says the warning light on Ely Cathedral is no longer needed now that the airfield at Witchford is closed. Aircraft from Mildenhall are routed well above the height of the tower. But many people have been disturbed by extremely low-flying aircraft during the hours of darkness and US aircraft might not be fully aware of the geography of the country. Many other cathedrals had lights on them and if there was the faintest possibility of danger they should be replaced. 59 04 23

1959 04 24
Parkers Piece edges not to be used for parking, Donkey Common instead – 59 04 24 & a, b
Jack Hulbert at Arts – 59 04 24c

1959 04 25
The Cambridgeshire Branch of the British Red Cross Society celebrated its Golden Jubilee. The first detachment (women) was formed in Cambridge in 1910 and followed by Bourn, Swavesey, Shelford & Willingham. The first men's detachment was formed at Melbourn in 1913. With the coming of the First World War valuable work was done at hospitals in Cintra Terrace and Wordsworth Grove which laid the foundation for their well-established reputation for invaluable service. 59 04 25c

Sawston Hall second priest hole found – 59 04 25 & a Folk Museum objects discarded – 59 04 25b

1959 04 27
Sir - Few can remember Donkey Common's original use as a common grazing ground for ponies. The A.T.S. officer who occupied the war-time hutments did her best to maintain such legal grazing rights by getting a flock of geese to keep the grass down. The Royal Engineers Colonel who had the hutments built drew up his plans so as not to destroy the main avenue of well-grown limes nor any of the acacia, hawthorn and other trees. The sappers built so soundly that the Corporation was able to make use of the buildings in the post –war housing shortage until this year. Now if it is to be used as a swimming pool or car park, may I plead to let it perish under its old and correct name of Donkey (not 'Donkey's) Common – B. Nevinson. 59 04 27

Sidney Heffer death – 59 04 27a

1959 04 28
Grammar School for Boys opening 59 04 28 & a

1959 04 29
The City Council is to consider the largest project ever undertaken in Cambridge. The giant Lion Yard scheme includes a two-decker underground car park taking 731 vehicles, a unique 'pedestrian shopping precinct', a new central library, residential hotel and a petrol filling station. Jesus College have also submitted a scheme for the redevelopment of the north side of Fitzroy Street. Many think that increases in shopping facilities ought to take place as an extension of this well-established area. 59 04 29a-d & 59 04 29e

1959 04 30
Duxford St John's church has not been used since the two livings were united in 1874 and its fabric began to deteriorate. The east and west tower arches are Romanesque, the doorway looks Saxon in design and the porch has late medieval timber work. Now the new vicar, Rev V. Fletcher, has written to John Betjeman and the Friends of Friendless Churches. It could be used as a retreat, prayer centre or a theological college. An appeal will be launched. 59 04 30c

Melbourn bypass investigation – 59 04 30

The new Bradwell's Court shopping centre is beginning to take shape with the opening of the first shop. Reeds ladies wear brings a very individual and distinctive approach to fashion selling with clothes obtained direct from the actual makers. Their slacks range covers all possible choices – gay – sombre-striped-tartans – the lot. Knitwear is a speciality ranging from Italian cottons to beautiful Orlon jumpers and cardigans, twin sets, overalls, smocks and pinarettes. 59 04 30 & a

May 1959 CDN

1959 05 01
For the past few years out businesses as shopkeepers in Victoria Road have been seriously frustrated by the road reconstruction programme. We extend grateful thanks to those who continued their custom and tolerated the inconvenience caused. With the road works completed at long last we rejoice and look forward to renewing acquaintances with past customers. Signed J. Bowd stationers, H.A. Germany groceries, R.C. Shorrocks fish merchant, N.J. Robinson newsagent, G.H. Jacob outfitters, W.E. Brown hairdressers, Cooper Provisions and Grove Cottage Shop for good sweets and individual service – Advert. 59 05 01

The giant scheme which is to transform the centre of Cambridge received the approval of the City Council. Not one hand was raised against it when the question of developing the Lion Yard– described as 'that revolting area' - was put to the vote. It would make it possible for townspeople to do their shopping away from the traffic on broad footpaths and provide a much-needed car park for more than 700 cars, removing the 'long-term parker' from town streets and leaving the kerbs free for motorists who wish to park for ten minutes. 59 05 01a, b, c & d

The death occurred suddenly of Canon Jack Lesley Sowden, the blind Rector of Freckenham, Worlington and Herringswell. He came 30 years ago and despite his handicap took an active part in the public life of the district, serving on Mildenhall RDC continuously since 1931. He was chairman of Freckenham school managers and one-time President of the Guild of Playing Cards Manufacturers. 59 05 01e

Ely jam factory in Bray's Lane is to close but will reopen for the production of canned fruit and vegetables. The news came as a bombshell to the 120 employees. It was first opened in 1936 by St Martin (Eastern) ltd. Two years ago T.G. Ticklers leased it and closed down their factory at Grimsby. Those premises have been re-equipped and are now capable of making three times the amount of preserves that can be produced at Ely. Key personnel will be transferred to Grimsby where the manager is Arthur Strevens, who was formerly in charge at Ely. 59 05 01f

1959 05 04
Mary Tudor and Sawston Hall – another version – 59 05 04

1959 05 05

Modern traffic problems have brought to an end a Cambridge tradition. David's Bookstall has occupied its site on Peas Hill on Saturdays for more than 60 years but recently the street has been turned into an area where the parking of cars is prohibited during the busiest time of the day. Motorists objected that the stall took up as much space as any car so Mr Ashley Hubert David was asked if he would move his Saturday stall to its weekday position on the market square. Many customers are indignant about the change. 59 05 05 & a

Reach fair proclaimed – 59 05 05b & c, 59 05 08 CIP

1959 05 06
The Eastern Electricity Board has introduced five Auto-Call Alarms in the fens area. Should the electricity supply be lost the small transistorised machine rings up control at Thompson's Lane and with the aid of a pre-recorded voice tells the engineer that a fault has developed. If the number is engaged the machine waits four minutes, then tries again. The whole operation is repeated four times. It is a triumph for the Board's 'boffins'. 59 05 06a

Fire tender damaged – photo – 59 05 06

1959 05 08
Chesterton Hospital held an open day so people could see for themselves what life is really like in a modern old people's home. The exterior resembles structures of the Dickensian era but give no hint of the warmth, gaiety and colour prevailing inside. Every department bore testimony to how even formidable mansions can be transformed into gay fairy-like palaces. None of the old folks had the slighted complaint and had nothing but praise for the staff. 59 05 08b

Qualifications needed as a Librarian – 59 05 08
Cambridge University Gliding club – history – 59 05 08a
Chaise & Pair, Barkway – licensee's deficiency - 59 05 08aa
Reach Fair proclamation – 59 05 08 CIP

1959 05 14
The new Bourn Parochial School was formally opened, when complete will take 200 children from Kingston, Longstowe and Caxton. The original school was a Church of England building where all the village children from the ages of five to 15 received their education. Since 1945 the numbers had risen from 70 to 170 with additional accommodation in hutments on the former aerodrome, a mile away. 59 05 14a

University to vote on Latin – 59 05 14

1959 05 15
One of the things that the villagers of Histon are really proud of is their village green. But each summer, just when it is looking its best, Council workmen come along to dredge thick black mud from the bottom of the stream. It isn't just appearances that residents worry about – mud, weeds and rubbish drying in the sun – but the smell, which is particularly strong in the evenings. The children go down there to catch tadpoles and get themselves in a shocking mess by walking across the mud to get to the water, complained one woman. 59 05 15a

In these days of mass production it is refreshing to find that craftsmanship still thrives in Cambridgeshire. Mr H. Lawrence of Harston, following in the family's footsteps as village blacksmith, enjoys his craft so much that he has used his spare evenings making a fine pair of wrought iron gates which now adorn his private residence. Other examples of his art may be seen in the vicarage ground. His business has been established for upwards of 100 years and is one of the oldest in the district. 59 05 15b

Houghton Poultry Research Station was established by the Animal Health Trust at Houghton Grange in 1948. The original staff of three were housed in P.O.W. huts but despite the primitive conditions their work was important in the expansion of the chick and broiler industries. In 1949 the small prefabricated laboratory was completed and in 1956 the station was reorganised as an independent institution. Now a new laboratory was opened by Lord Rank. 59 05 15c

US to build Atomic planes – 59 05 15
Histon village green is pride of village but spoiled by council workmen dredging stream – 59 05 15 CIP
Pampisford thatched cottage damaged by fire – 59 05 15a CIP

1959 10 16
Waterless Willingham anger – ladies carry buckets – 59 10 16 CIP

1959 05 19
The inaugural meeting of the Cambridge Electrical Association for Women heard that when the Association started in 1924 electrical appliances were just beginning to find their way into the home. Housewives joined to get over the fear of electricity and to get the best value from their appliances. With machines men always want to know how they work and women are contented if they work but now they are giving a scholarship to a girl wanting to study engineering at Cambridge University. 59 05 19 & a

1959 05 20
One of the recently-built council flats in Carlton Way has been opened to give prospective tenants an opportunity to inspect the types of homes to be offered, get an idea of the amount of furniture they will hold and take measurements for curtains and carpets. Each has an indoor coal bunker and its own shed. They are intended for older people whose families have grown up and left them with empty rooms. The rent is 16s.8d (84p) a week. 59 05 20

The facilities for private flying and gliding in Cambridge are as good as those in many larger cities. At Cambridge Airport there exists a flying school, a flying group and a gliding club, and a few miles distant at Duxford another gliding club run by the R.A.F. Gliding and Soaring Association which caters for a limited number of civilians. In April 1935 the Cambridge University Gliding Club made its first flight field at Caxton Gibbet. A St Neots butcher, Tom Ayres, placed a field at their disposal and loaned them a barn for use as a hangar. 59 05 20a & b & c & e

What Americans buy – 59 05 20aa
Kings Grove Estate Barton – advertisement – 59 05 20d

1959 05 21
"The Lion Yard scheme is the biggest re-development scheme yet in England, if we omit the blitzed cities". Ald W.G. James told the Women's Lunch Club. "In some respects it is more difficult, for the bombing often obliterated whole areas and redevelopment could start on virgin sites. Here, boundaries, established buildings and all manner of things have to be considered". Everyone agreed the area required comprehensive development but there was a divergence of opinion on how this should be done. A compromise was sought by 30 people on the County Planning Committee but as there were 30 different opinions, nothing was done. 59 05 21b

Mill Road fire Barney's – 59 05 21 & a

1959 05 22
CIBA of Duxford has been celebrating the 25th anniversary of their foundation with the official opening of three new buildings: a factory for making 'Araldite' epoxy resin, laboratories for long-term research and a new sales block. Over 1,000 guests toured the Company's factory and many took advantage of helicopter flights to view the site from the air. Speeches at the anniversary dinner were relayed to staff by closed circuit television. 59 05 22a

Cambridge Historic Buildings list published – 59 05 22

1959 05 23
Dr David Diringer has established a unique Alphabet Museum in the back garden of his home in St Barnabas Road. What looks like an extra-large garden workshop contains a treasure house of the alphabets of the word and all forms of writing, the result of 35 years of research. Dr Diringer, whose subject is Semitic Epigraphy, hopes to hold seminars there in the study of alphabets and writing. – 59 05 23

1959 05 25
County Show – 59 05 25

1959 05 27
British Railways announce that passenger train services between St Ives and Kettering and the freight train services from Buckden and Grafham stations will be withdrawn on June 15th. In addition trains running between Cambridge and St Ives on weekdays which at present serve Kettering will also be withdrawn. Arrangements will be made to augment the service to St Ives by the 10.17 am Cambridge to Peterborough train calling at Histon, Oakington, Longstanton and Swavesey stations and an additional train leaving for St Ives at 5.15pm calling at all stations. 59 05 27a

St Giles church clock – 59 05 27

1959 05 29
The old public pump outside Whittlesford Guildhall is to be removed. It has recently become loose on its mountings and as the water was unfit, the expenditure on repairs would be unwarranted. Because there was a need for a public supply a standpipe will be erected pending the connection of various properties to the newly laid Council mains. 59 05 29

June 1959 CDN

1959 06 01
Meadowlands Methodist church stone laying – 59 06 01b

1959 06 03
Winton-Smith, the Cambridge butchers, have been looking for a site for a new, modernised slaughterhouse to replace the one they own in East Road. They have chosen a site in Haslingfield but there are objections from residents and so a public inquiry was held. 59 06 03

1959 06 04
St Edward's Passage development – opposition – 59 06 04

1959 06 05
Currently undergoing training at the Thor Intermediate Range Guided Missile School operated by the USAF in Tucson, Arizona, is Chief Technician Robert Fennell, whose wife lives in Tenison Avenue. He is one of a number of RAF personnel being trained in all phases of maintenance of the 1,500-mile range missiles to be based at Thor launching sites such as the one at Mepal. 59 06 05

1959 06 06
Chivers and Sons is to amalgamate with Schweppes and hope to install a mineral water plant at the main Histon factory to provide alternative employment during that part of the year when employees are not fully engaged with fruit processing. The business will continue to be carried on under the existing name and management. 59 06 06

The Cambridge Association for Social Welfare told how in 1854 a group of undergraduates opened a Mission in Church Street, later to be called Stanton House, where spiritual and material help was given to women and girls in serious moral trouble. Then in 1883 a group of University ladies formed the 'Cambridge Association for the Care of Girls' finding work for girls living under dangerous circumstances 59 06 06 c

Chivers – Schweppes merger – 59 06 06a

1959 06 08
A procession 300 yards long wound its way through the crowded shopping streets of Cambridge to see Sir Hamilton Kerr MP and request that Britain should stop testing the H-bomb. The Cambridge Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament, which has nearly 500 members (not including undergraduates), toured the streets with posters summoning people to a rally on Midsummer Common. It was one of the biggest open-air demonstrations in recent times. There was only one interruption when Mr Colin Bell was greeted with a perfunctory and disintegrating orange as he stepped to the microphone. It was thrown by an undergraduate. 59 06 08

CND protest march, Cambridge – 59 06 08

1959 06 09
Examinitis – female mannequin on Lloyds Bank – nightclimbing – 59 06 09
Postmaster criticiseS wages by cheque – 59 06 09a

1959 06 10
The banks of the Cam were lined when the Cambridge University Madrigal Society gave its annual concert on the Backs. It was a very English scene: crowds of impassive spectators defied the fickle weather and a forest of coloured umbrellas rose from the punts on the river. Even the roar of a passing aeroplane and the threat of rain never put the singers off their stride. As the strains of the last madrigal – 'Draw on Sweet Night'- wafted slowly across the river, lanterns were lit and the punts carrying the singers began to move slowly downstream. 59 06 10c & d

St Barnabas CoE school to close – 59 06 10a

1959 06 11
Sir – I was horrified to see what is happening to the Gate of Honour, Caius, in Senate House Passage. The stonework of practically the whole of the lower two-thirds is being renewed and only the cupola and stone just beneath is apparently now left of the original. Surely it is better to see the old medieval stonework than a 20th century imitation – Harry Paten, Castor Hill. 59 06 11

1959 06 12
Eleanor Bron, a 21-year-old Newnham student, is the only girl in the Footlight Dramatic Club's annual May Week revue directed by John Bird. She plays a variety of parts, some of which call for singing and dancing. But when asked if she intended to make the stage her career replied 'Definitely no'. In her second year, brunette Eleanor is reading modern languages, finishing her examinations a few hours before opening night. 59 06 12a

Production at Haverhill's 100-year old gas works in Withersfield Road is to cease in July being replaced by a piped supply from Cambridge. The 16-miles of high pressure mains have been laid, tunnelling beneath the railway line. The integration plan will mean the closure of most small gas works and by August the Saffron Walden area will also be supplied from Cambridge. 59 06 12c

Lion Yard opposition – 59 06 12a

1959 06 13

William Coles, 91, has been a Methodist lay preacher for 70 years. He moved to Cottenham in 1888 to work in a baking business which his son now runs. He neither smokes nor drinks which accounts for his unblemished, smooth skin and extraordinarily young voice. He thinks young people stay away from church because they do not like long sermons, so he stops as soon as he sees anybody looking at their watch. His father, who lived till he was 103, was himself a lay preacher for 50 years. 59 06 13

1959 06 15
Roseford Hall, on the new Arbury Estate, is an extension of the activities of the Christian Brethren of Panton Hall. It has well equipped classrooms, all of which will be needed, for already over 200 children are enrolled for the Sunday School. An invitation to local residents to inspect the new building was met by such a large response that there was 'standing room only'. 59 06 15

1959 06 18
The giant new Prudential Building on the junction of St Andrew's Street and Emmanuel Street incorporates the latest building techniques with heating and hot water provided by electrical units which take power from the mains during 'off-peak' hours and store it for use during the day. Acoustic ceiling tiles provide quieter working conditions, floors are of a coloured plastic tile and decorations in pastel shades. The basement contains a large garage and special storage to cater for the large use of bicycles by staff. 58 06 18

1959 06 19
Mr Edwin Logsdon, founder of the Logsdon Garage at Royston, had been concerned with vehicles since the days of general horse-drawn traffic. At that time he operated open landaus and cabs from the Bull Hotel to the railway station and these turn-outs set the standards of smartness which has remained in their car-hire service. About 40 years ago he took over the Banyers property in Melbourn Street as a hotel and developed the garage business on the adjoining site. 59 06 19

1959 06 20
When the elaborate scheme for the redevelopment of the Lion Yard area was approved one could be forgiven for being rather carried away by the sheer magnitude of the whole thing. What was to have been just a car park had rather surprisingly blossomed into a complete new city centre and we were impressed by the dazzling piece of town planning so adroitly placed before us. Since then we have had time to mull over the full implications. Cambridge still retains something of its own individuality and it would be tragic to turn it into just another New Town. The scheme is a town planners' dream. It must not become a ratepayers' nightmare. 59 06 20 & a

1959 06 22
Princess Margaret, Colonel-in-Chief of the Suffolk Regiment, visited Ely Cathedral to dedicate a Roll of Honour of the names of the 20 officers and 740 other ranks of the Cambridgeshire Regiment who did not return from the ill-fated Malayan campaign 17 long years ago. She was very excited to see the Cathedral at last because she had glimpsed it from the train but never before been inside. 59 06 22 & a

1959 06 23
Cambridge Model Engineering Society's new premises and railway track in Fulbrooke Road was officially opened by Sir Vivian Fuchs. He praised the craftsmanship of the models, including one of a 'Sno-cat', the vehicle on which he had made his trans-Antarctic journey. The Society had started in Union Lane, then Mr Banham allowed them to build a track at The Willows before they acquired this site. 59 06 23

Planning permission has been granted for flats, maisonettes and 346 houses on three fields in Kings Hedges Road while the site of the prefabricated bungalows will be suitable for a further 32 dwellings when they were eventually removed. There should be a through road to Arbury Road as soon as possible. Now the Council may buy the land from the University. 59 06 23a

1959 06 25

Oxford-Cambridge railway line closure objections – 59 06 25
Castle Camps water shortage – 59 06 25a

1959 06 26
A new and improved road sweeping machine is to be bought to replace the City's present 11-year-old worn out vehicle. Coun Mrs Henn complained about the dust it raised – the machine removed it from the road kerbs and deposited it in private houses and nearby gardens. It behaved 'like a bad-tempered elephant having a dust bath' and was a 'dust distributor' not a 'dust sweeper'. 59 06 26

Donkey Common is to be cleared and used as a car park until needed for the new swimming pool. Two years ago the Housing Committee had said they still needed the huts for emergency accommodation but the cluster of rusty scabs were an eyesore and disgrace to the city and should be removed as soon as possible, councillors were told. 59 06 26c

Lion Yard – University objections – 59 06 26a
Grit and dust from gas works – 59 06 26b

1959 06 27
Ely first woman JP – Mrs Covill – dies – 59 06 27

1959 06 29
AA scheme to get message to 'wanted' car – message boards – 59 06 29
Police station gas cooker to be replaced after 50 years – 59 06 29a

1959 06 30
Ely Cathedral repairs needed roof – 59 06 30

July 1959 CDN

1959 07 01
Chivers to sell nine farms, Jersey cattle herd to be reduced – 59 07 01

1959 07 02
Exclusive shoemakers for over a century – that is the proud tradition of A. Jones and Sons who came to Cambridge as successors to Thrussells of St Andrew's Street – a name known for courtesy, quality and value. Their fine new shop is the latest of 35 Jones branches and stocks Airborne, Joyce, Rayne, Scandies and Van-Dal shoes for ladies – advertisement. 59 07 02

1959 07 03
Brian Lister has two great passions, jazz and jalopies. He lives on excitement, yet to see him you wouldn't think so. He's a stocky man with an India rubber face. And a grin that's as wide and welcoming as Woodcote corner. He looks a quiet man, a placid man, a jolly man. The last he is. The others he certainly is not. Otherwise he would not have had his sensational success in the business of motor racing with the Lister Jaguar. 59 07 03

1959 07 04
A Cambridge man living in Los Angeles cautions against the new Lion Yard proposals. "Who is going to occupy the new offices and shops? If Cambridge thinks they can concentrate business in town and solve the car parking problem with a few hundred spaces they are indulging in the fondest of illusions. Parking meters in the streets don't help: they only add to the irritation of shoppers, free parking has become the essential stock-in-trade. In America down-town shopping areas are dying and shopping centres miles out of town are the new thing." 59 07 04

1959 07 06
Professional and amateur horticulturalists have been visiting the premises of J.W. Boyce, the Soham seedsmen. They have flocked to view the beautiful double Antirrhinums which are now on flower. The seed of these attractive plants were offered for sale earlier this year at £750 per ounce. Mr Boyce is to be congratulated in putting Soham on the map, for there is hardly a city, town or village in the country were Soham seeds are not grown and many gardeners in foreign countries get their seeds from the firm. 59 07 06

1959 07 09
Three members of the crew of a Canberra were killed when the aircraft crashed a few hundred yards from the runway at Bassingbourn R.A.F. station. It came down in a barley field near the main Royston-Huntingdon Road at about the same spot where another Canberra crashed a year ago. Thousands of gallons of foam gas and 120lbs of carbon dioxide were used by firemen in extinguishing the fire. 59 07 09

Firefighters summoned to Fulbourn Garage found it well alight with fire spreading to thatched cottages on either side. Oxyacetylene and oxygen bottles were removed by the firemen who braved the explosions of the petrol tanks of cars, tins of paint and celluloid. They also saved three petrol pumps on the forecourt, which had been filled only that morning. The garage was gutted and three cars inside completely destroyed, one of them belonging to Denys Burgess, the owner. Two bedrooms of his adjoining house were burnt out and half the thatched roof of a nearby cottage destroyed. 59 07 09a & b

1959 07 16
The Minister of Agriculture opened new laboratory and office buildings at the National Institute of Agricultural Botany. The extension had been needed for a very long time: it has been bursting at the seams. NIAB was established in 1919 and in October 1921 King George V opened the Huntingdon Road headquarters designed by Morley Horder. Since then the average yield of wheat has gone up from 17 cwt to nearly 25 cwt and that of barley had increased more than half. 59 07 16, 18 & a

1959 07 17
As long as anyone can remember a board about five feet square has hung on the tower wall of Orwell parish church. It was obviously a Royal Coat of Arms but of what date it was impossible to tell, because of its height from the floor and exceedingly dirty condition. Now because of re-decoration it has been taken down and when the dust of many years was wiped off it became clear the arms were of James II, dated 1686. These are extremely rare and it is hoped £25 can be raised for their restoration. 59 07 17b.

Papworth Hospital radio & radio telephones courtesy CDN appeal – 59 07 17

1959 07 18
Lion Yard scheme – questions and answers – 59 07 18b
If Cambridge became a county borough – Isle's reactions – 59 07 18c

1959 07 21
Toft youth club held a fete in the Manor gardens to celebrate its first year's activities since it was refounded. It has maintained its membership, raised funds to buy its own record player and records as well as equipment for badminton and netball. They have organised a party for village school children, social evenings and film shows. Great importance was attached to friendly meetings between clubs and they had benefited by playing challenging matches of table tennis. 59 07 21

Archaeologists digging in Corn Exchange Street have uncovered a 12th-century ditch and the remains of a wooden footbridge or stepping stones and handrail across it. It may have been an early town defence but at only five feet deep and 20 feet across, it was rather small for that. The ditch had only been in use for a few years and was filled with clean blue clay. Later it seems to have been a garden behind a house and rubbish pits had been dug there containing animal bones and broken pottery. A knife dating from the 16th century was also found. 59 07 21a & b

1959 07 22
The Cambridgeshire Cottage Improvement Society's Old Manor Farm cottages at Fen Drayton were officially opened. The Society acquired it in 1938 for £150 when it was almost a ruin and it has taken all those years because of the expense and problems of the work. When bought it seemed 'twice as dear' as it was worth so it was good to see the courage of the people who saw it, and made it into the fine house it is today, justified. 59 07 22

1959 07 23
Arthur Tucker, Secretary of the Cambridgeshire Regiment Old Comrades Association, carried the Cambridgeshire's roll of honour up the nave of Ely Cathedral at the dedication ceremony. Through his years of internment at Changhi Prison in Singapore he had kept a little book under the floorboards containing the names of all the men in the 2nd Battalion and any casualties. Had it been found it would have meant his instant death. He used it to correct the list compiled by the War Office – half the chaps they had named were very much alive. 59 07 23b

1959 07 24
Lion Yard costs have risen colossally and some councillors hoped the Minister would turn the scheme down so they could start again. They could build a car park on the site more cheaply but they were bound to the developers, Edgers, and they would be a laughing stock if they went back on their word. It was the public who determined where the city centre should be and that was where banks, theatres and cinemas had moved. When a slump came it was those on the outskirts that closed down. The scheme must go forward. In the long run it would prove economical. 59 07 24a

Councillors withdrew their attention from the Lion Yard area to a part of the city which some have always considered of equal importance – Fitzroy Street. This should be comprehensively redeveloped to provide residential, shopping and business facilities with a new bus station. The Lion Yard should be developed with a library, civic restaurant and small car park, leaving the frontages as they are, some argued. 59 07 24b & c

Design for Churchill College agreed – 59 07 24

1959 07 25
St Peter's church, Castle Hill, which was founded in 1087 and has been in almost continuous use, is once again open after its recent restoration. It has been given a new stone floor, a modern simply designed altar and a clean white limewash coat to its walls. In addition the unique Norman font, bearing a merman holding his twin tales at each angle, has been moved to a more prominent position. Now they are looking for a few pews which will retain the spacious atmosphere of the very small church. 59 07 25

1959 07 27
Thieves who broke into Ely Cathedral forced the door of the strong room cupboard in the Verger's vestry with a crowbar and got away with articles of church plate. Amongst the items taken was a silver-gilt gem-studded chalice and silver ornaments from the tops of cruets in which communion wine and water are kept. It is understood they are not of any great value. But they dropped a bag containing about £5. 59 07 27 & 28a

1959 07 28
Work has begun on the new Addenbrooke's Hospital in Hills Road. The first stage will include a ward block of 100 beds and although the final size has not yet been decided it will be between 600 and 800 beds. "Our responsibilities are to the future and we shall be very much to blame if in 20 years' time we find ourselves looking for a bigger hospital", said the Chairman of the Governors' building committee. It will stand in a landscape planned by a woman architect, Mrs J.M. Hayward, in collaboration with the Director of the University Botanic Garden. 59 07 28

Thieves who broke into Ely Cathedral forced the door of the strong room cupboard in the Verger's vestry with a crowbar and got away with articles of church plate. Amongst the items taken was a silver-gilt gem-studded chalice and silver ornaments from the tops of cruets in which communion wine and water are kept. It is understood they are not of any great value. But they dropped a bag containing about £5. 59 07 28

1959 07 30
Money has quickly come in for the restoration of St John's church, Duxford. Although St Peter's church is in first-class condition the 'secondary' church has been disused for many years and has consequently fallen into poor state. But the Rector, Mr Fletcher, is determined to see it restored and is looking forward to the day when he can conduct services there –the first time anyone will have done so in nearly 100 years. 59 07 30

August 1959 CDN

1959 08 01
The Cam Sailing Club celebrated their diamond jubilee with a lavish ball in a marquee on the club site. Mr S. Evans, the Ground Steward, now owns 500 coloured fairy lights which originally belonged to his grandfather, and he used them to illuminate the carefully-tended flower beds. 'The Duchess', a well-known motor launch took the guests from the car park to the lawn and there was a bar on board. With a membership of 300 the club holds a high reputation in the sailing world. 59 08 01 & a

The Tickner family completed a century of licensees of the University Arms inn Sawston. It was erected in 1859 by Thomas Sutton Evans who founded the firm of manufacturers of parchment skiver and chamois leather. When he died in 1907 the licence was granted to his eldest daughter, Sarah Tickner who held it till her death in 1936 when she was over 90 years of age. Since then the landlord as been George Alexander Tickner, grandson of the first tenant. For many years the University Arms has been the headquarters of Sawston cricket and football teams. 59 08 01b & c

1959 08 04
Major Peter Storie-Pugh of Tyrells Hall, Shepreth, took over command of the Cambridgeshire Regiment. His war record reads like exciting fiction: after serving with the Cambridge University Cavalry Squadron he was wounded with the British Expeditionary Force on the withdrawal to Dunkirk. Taken prisoner, he was put in Colditz from which he made no fewer than 19 escape attempts. A bugle was presented to the Regiment in memory of Lieut Richard Hall who was killed when lightning struck his tent during the 1958 camp at Folkestone. 59 08 04

1959 08 06
The castle slopes at Spring Close, Burwell, were covered with some 3,000 people on August Bank Holiday to watch the scramble organised by the Cambridge Centaur Motor Cycle Club. The course was in prime condition, being damp enough to eliminate any dust hazard and not too sticky as to bog the riders down in the mud. The senior race was won easily by Andy Lee with K. Covell second and T.H. Howard third, all riding B.S.A. machines. 59 08 06

1959 08 10
There are traffic lights everywhere - but not one to be seen if you are a motorist about to join Newmarket Road from the forecourt of West's Garage. The lights recently installed at the junction of Coldham's Lane give both streams of traffic a fair crack of the whip, but the man who wishes to join the road after topping up his tank is left completely in the dark. A repeater light facing the forecourt might save a serious accident at this busy junction. 59 08 10

Lion Yard development public inquiry: over 1,000 sign petition against scheme – 59 08 10a

1959 08 12
Hills Road bridge reconstruction photo – 59 08 12

1959 08 14
The Rev Mrs Grace Adams, Congregational Minister to the Cheveley Group, say she has always met with kindness and the men have been most gallant and trusting. Women are given full rights in the Congregational church and they exchange preachers with other denominations. Last year she preached at the Newmarket Anglican Church on the Women's Day of Prayer. She is an encouragement for more members of the sex to follow her example. 59 08 14

A small gang of men who, in fair weather and foul, tend the two miles of track from Ely railway station to the Lynn cross gates at Adelaide have received awards for the best-maintained class 'B' track. They are ganger L.W. Akred, lengthmen G. Clark, R. Harrison and S. Thorby and sub-ganger H.V. Pearson. Permanent way inspectors have their own competition which was won by Mr S. Ginn of Ely who has control of 14 gangs between Ely and Stoke Ferry. 59 08 14a

The new Silver Street Bridge is now open and there can be no doubt it is an exceptionally handsome piece of work. But after traffic had been admitted it was reduced to a single line again, pumps were sent for, coffer dams sunk and the word went round that all was not well. Rumours said that contractors had discovered an underground cavity, the bridge was sinking and that concrete was having to be pumped in. The County Surveyor cancelled a meeting with the press but a councillor said it was normal settlement and there was nothing wrong. 59 08 14d

Redevelopment scheme for Guildhall site, 1859 – history – 59 08 14b & c

1959 08 19
Dr Hubert Middleton presided over the Cambridge Philharmonic Society for many years and will be remembered for his inspiring lead in promoting festivals for village choirs. His visits to the smallest hamlets, dating back to 1925, are still spoken of with pleasure. As a choral director he demanded the highest standards of those who could achieve them but never lost patience with non-professional choristers. The last combined choirs performance under his direction was perhaps the most triumphant of his career. 59 08 19

1959 08 20
Mildenhall parking restrictions had been under consideration since 1951 and a car park provided. Now Councillors want to prevent parking in St Andrew's Street. Fred Lock, who lived in the street, was in favour: he never saw the light of day in his house because of lorries being parked outside. But the proprietor of St Andrew's Café said his trade would be seriously affected and the street should be made one-way. 59 08 20

Mackays of East Road has donated a Blackstone horizontal diesel engine to Freetown, Sierra Leone. The engine was first installed in 1930 and gave them complete independence to power cuts. It ran throughout the war with virtually no maintenance. They have completed the electrification of their plant and John Mellanby, the well-known Cambridge electrician, suggested it be offered to the Technical Institute over there. Similar engines have been working at Heffers printing works and Coulson's wood mill. 59 08 20

1959 08 21
Miss E.A. Ogden, has safely delivered, unaided, 50 babies a year since she came to Ely in 1939 – about one a week. The tiniest weighed only 3lb, the biggest was 11lb. One of two district nurses covering Witchford, Stuntney and Adelaide, Miss Ogden is quite modest about the whole affair. She points out that it is quite commonplace for midwives to deal with so many youngsters. But six Ely doctors gave a party in the grounds of Dr J.B. Bamford's home to celebrate the milestone. 59 08 21a

Severe damage was caused to a newly decorated house at 48 Beche Road when a gas main in the hallway blew up with tremendous force. Neighbours thought a jet bomber had crashed, so fierce was the explosion. Many people dashed into the street and saw flames bursting through the front door. The Fire Brigade could not get to the blaze until the gas company people turned off the mains. The owners had noticed a terrible smell of gas which made them feel dizzy but said the Company had been blowing out the pipes and had warned them of a smell. 59 08 21b

Barton Mills bypass work starts – 59 08 21c

1959 08 24
Lister Jaguar leave motor racing – detailed article – 59 08 24 & a

1959 08 25
A fuel cell which produces useful quantities of electricity by consuming hydrogen and oxygen has been invented by F.T. Bacon of Lt Shelford and developed by Marshall's under a National Development Corporation contract. The present cell, containing two electrodes immersed in a solution of caustic soda or potash, is still in its rudimentary stages but it can supply enough electricity to operate a circular saw, a fork lift truck or even carry out welding. The Americans are interested in using it for manned space stations or space rockets. 59 08 25 & a

1959 08 26
Sir – in the area between Warkworth Street and Burleigh Street there are many little houses which have been bought by elderly people for their retirement and by young couples starting a new home. Now having been put in good order they are to be demolished by the Council in a 'development scheme'. It is cruel, unnecessary, and wasteful to pull down houses which are in liveable condition because in the same neighbourhood there are a number that are neglected and damp. I hope ratepayers will protest – Hilda Finney, Prospect Row. 59 08 26

1959 08 27
Harry Morgan appreciation – teacher St Luke's and Bottisham school – 59 08 27

1959 08 28
Melbourn's most familiar figure, Mr Percy Salmon, has died aged 87. He was correspondent for the 'Cambridge Independent Press and Chronicle' for many years. Nothing could ruffle his even temperament although his articles were often controversial. In his youth Mr Salmon travelled the world as a press photographer and his lantern lectures were a popular entertainment when he first came to the village in the late 1920's. He was also an expert archaeologist. 59 08 26b, funeral 59 08 28

1959 08 31
The new baby B.M.C. car designed by Issigonis has caused much commotion. I have now tested both the Mini Minor and Austin Seven versions which look, drive and behave in the traditional 'car' manner. It seats four adults in comfort and cruises at 45 mph. The useful boot is supplemented by enormous pockets in the doors. It is not without faults: the gear leaver is long and inclined to be whippy but the worst is a cable release for the door which is handy for a passenger to grab in an emergency. Prices start at £497, de luxe £537. – Rodney Tibbs. 59 08 31

Research and experimental work in the University's Department of Metallurgy in Pembroke Street was brought to a standstill following a serious blaze. Flames came through the roof, two rooms were gutted and a laboratory severely affected. Water used to fight the fire seeped into the basement and caused a great deal of damage to expensive machinery. 59 08 31a & b

The scheme for levelling the Hamlet Croft to improve Haverhill's major sports ground has begun. When completed the ground will have only a fall of two feet, compared to the existing 14 and the length will be increased to 450 feet, allowing for four-laps to the mile for the Haverhill Gala sports. Two large ash trees have been removed. 59 08 31c

September 1959 CDN

1959 09 01
A Ring Road was proposed for Cambridge before the war. It was to run from Trumpington Road and Brooks Road to Coldham's Lane, then on across Milton Road, Huntingdon Road and so to Hills Road. Thousands of pounds were spent to make a dual carriageway from Coldham's Lane to Ditton Walk with a ramp six feet high to start the viaduct across the river. This section was completed and only required the final tarmac surface. Now half of the dual carriageways have been dug up and the ramp bulldozed. It cost many thousands of pounds to make and over £34,500 to destroy. 59 09 01

Fire at Caius College dining hall – 59 09 01a

1959 09 02
Moulton Women's Institute now have a banner which must be unique. The drawing of the Roman packhorse bridge – the village's most famous landmark – on the linen had been waiting for skilled attention. Then Mr Siwek, a Polish lawyer who suffered in German concentration camps and was staying at Mrs Sue Cheshire's home at Cavendish, offered to embroider it. He took it back to Germany and there with all the privations of life as a refugee, he completed the picture in most beautiful stitches. This masterpiece of handiwork was on show for the first time at the summer sale. 59 09 02

Excavations for the foundation of the first buildings of the new Addenbrooke's Hospital have started. It is hoped the ward block, radiological, outpatients and casualty departments will be completed in about two years. The architects are Easton and Robertson who have been responsible for many new buildings in Cambridge, including the new Engineering and Chemistry Laboratories, and the general contractors are Messrs Kerridge. 59 09 02a

Frederick Mansfield was 'the character' of Cambridge market for nearly 50 years. He took over a book and toy stall opposite the Victoria Cinema from his parents and the family hope this will be now continued by his youngest son. Other stallholders speak of him as a cheerful and helpful man and a 'real market character' well-loved by all, especially the children for whom he always had a cheerful world. 59 09 02b

1959 09 04
Ten council houses at New Road Impington have been modernised. They were built in 1920 and most of the original tenants are still living there. Originally the living room was intended as a kitchen with a small scullery adjoining. There was a washroom, in which there was a bath, while the earth closet and coal house were approachable from outside. Now they have a proper bathroom, with a gas hot water system in place of the copper, and there is electricity in every room. The walls have been painted silver grey and doors are peacock blue. 59 09 04

Cambridge University Local Examinations Syndicate has pioneered a new method of producing exam results with the aid of punched card tabulating machines. As the number of candidates has increased threefold since 1957 the machines were introduced to get results out in time. It takes a month to train an operator and three months before complete proficiency is attained. The marking itself is done by 650 fully qualified examiners including Grammar School and University teachers. 59 09 04 a & b

1959 09 07
A new Continental-style level crossing has been installed at Tivetshall, Norfolk. It is operated automatically from the signal box on the Norwich to London railway line. A motorist who is held up can inform the signal man that he wants to cross by pressing a push-button by the side of the barrier.

If his crossing is urgent he can inform the signalman by means of a telephone which has been installed. This 'push-button' level crossing is believed to be the first in the country. 59 09 07

Motorists will soon have the opportunity of having their cars equipped with telephones. "This is going to be a danger – using one hand driving and the other using a telephone", Coun. G.A. Holmes told Huntingdonshire Road Safety Committee. "And now they are trying to bring out t/v sets for cars", he went on. "We are not progressing. It is dangerous". The Committee took no action on this matter. 59 09 07a

1959 09 08
Story of local invention: oil by flexible tank – Dracone invented by Cambridge scientists – 59 09 08 & 08a

1959 09 11
A Grantchester Tested Vehicle has undergone a 100-mile test run by one of our own employees when petrol and oil consumption, brakes, steering and lights are checked under normal condition. We then offer you a test report and a full tank of National Benzole. Come to this small privately owned garage for the best in sales and service. We are never open after midnight but being the most progressive organisation in the county we are unique in our use of the phenomenal Ansaphone on Trumpington 3133. – Grantchester Garage Ltd advert. 59 09 11c & d

River Board may take over St Ives staunch – 59 09 11a
Prickwillow bridge rebuilding – 59 09 11b
Barbara Smith, woman butcher, Akeman Street – 59 09 11

Spicers of Sawston factory fire – 59 09 11e
Rampton flooding – no action by Ouse River Board – 59 09 11f

1959 09 12
The present shambles known as the Lion Yard has for too long been a bone of contention. The council meetings have been stormy and wrangling has not been confined to the city. Eventually some form of compromise will be reached and some kind of order imposed on this part of the Cambridge. But before its future is finally decided archaeologists hope they will have the opportunity to investigate its past. 59 09 12

Old chairs, shoes linoleum, carpets, brushes … these are just some of the things that have been left littering the Old Roman Road at Fulbourn. Cars have also been dismantled there. Gypsies are alleged to be chiefly responsible but picnic parties and late night revellers also play a part in desecrating the area. A nearby spinney is another unauthorised rubbish dump and the surrounding countryside frequently littered with broken bottles. What is really dangerous are pieces of glass which can be harmful to children and horses. 59 09 12a

Pye, the Cambridge television and radio firm, have helped to relieve the discomfort of a patient in Griffith Ward, Addenbrooke's Hospital, who is forced through illness to lie on his back for an indefinite period. They have loaned the hospital a television set which has been mounted on a high metal frame to enable him to view with ease. 59 09 12b

Henrietta Street and St Eligius almshouses – 59 09 12c & d, 59 09 26, 59 09 28

1959 09 15
All Saints' Church, Cottenham, will soon proudly display new wrought iron gates through the generosity of the Church of England Men's Society. Designed by Mr F.T. Morris to be both functional and beautiful, they were made by two village craftsmen, George Lack and D.J. Cossington using traditional methods of construction. They replace iron gates which were requisitioned during the war and will be dedicated by the Bishop of Ely. 59 09 15

1959 09 17
Cambridge Police hold an identification parade about four times a year. They invite members of the public who happen to be passing the station to take part or draw people from nearby places of employment where the management have agreed to co-operate. They need people as similar as possible to the suspect. If he has a wooden leg then the parade is lined up with their legs covered by a blanket and all wear eye patches if the suspect has only one eye. 59 09 17

1959 09 19
Cambridge Boys Brigade has now achieved Battalion status and consists of nine Companies. It is the oldest of our uniformed youth organisations and one of the few that can boast an increase of membership over past years. Several boys have earned Queen's Badges, the highest proficiency award which takes every atom of spiritual, physical and mental endeavour to gain. 59 09 19

1959 09 23
The Headmaster of Fawcett Junior School, Trumpington (Mr F.N. Walker) declared the school's new swimming pool was "well and truly open" after he had been pushed fully dressed into the water. Roars of laughter came from the Mayor (Wallace Cole), Mayoress and parents who were present but the Head took his ducking in good part and swam vigorously for half a length. The pool has been built by the parents with the help of the children themselves. 59 09 23

1959 09 25
Sidgwick Avenue site ready for new term – 59 09 25

1959 09 28
Cambridge links with Heidelberg – 59 09 28 & 28a

1959 09 30
Every village now has a supply of electricity which has led to an increase in the sale of refrigerators. A great deal of interest is also being shown in electric floor warming installations. 72 per cent of farms are also connected but the remainder are scattered and likely to be a headache, the Eastern Electricity Board reported. 59 09 30 & 30a

Stanley Road residents protested at plans for the overnight parking of motor vehicles, especially W.D. lorries. Mr Herbert Roberts said he was under contract to the Ministry of Supply to deliver 900 Bedford three-ton lorries by April 1960. They were collected from Marshall's and parked until they left about 5am for depots in Middlesex and Gloucester. They were not noisy because they'd been fitted with 'greatly improved' silencers. But a resident complained that vibration had damaged his ceiling. 59 09 30b

The area between East Road, Norfolk Street and St Matthew's Street comprises narrow streets and courts of dwellings of the demolition standard, creating a general impression of decay. The whole area should be demolished and rebuilt, the Surveyor told an Inquiry. Every house in Staffordshire Street was damp, some roofs are sunken and some water closets are across the street from the houses they serve. But many owners objected to plans for compulsory purchase. 59 09 30c & d

October 1959 CDN

1959 10 01
Mitchams Golden Jubilee Celebration celebrating 50 years at Mitchams Corner, 1909-1959. To mark this occasion we have had extensive alterations and decorations to our fashion showroom where you will find 'up to the minute' fashion ranges of coats, suits, dresses and separates. We will present two-shilling 'Jubilee Celebration Cheque' on all purchases of £1. Bring the children – there will be a balloon for them. Advert. 59 10 01b

Cambridge University's science departments were first to occupy the central area and there is now a great concentration of laboratories on either side of Downing Street. The few open spaces between them are already overflowing with cars. There is no room to allow for the growth of research and teaching in subjects outside the established hierarchy, Lord Adrian, the retiring Vice-Chancellor told academics. Science has enlarged its premises so much that the arts faculties could not begrudge their expansion across the river. 59 10 01c

Fulbourn Almshouses that were built in 1864 have been renovated. At one time they consisted of one living room, one bedroom and a lean-to shed which served as storeroom and scullery. There was no waterborne sanitation. Now each has a kitchen with hot and cold water, an electric cooker, a bathroom with a w.c. and a coal store. The improvements have been carried out at cost price by the Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Company. 59 10 01 d & e

Tube Investments develop Electron-probe X-ray microanalyser – 59 10 01 & a Philharmonic's future plans – 59 10 01f

1959 10 02
Many teenage girls feel they should be engaged by the time they are 18, otherwise she is quite obviously 'on the shelf'. However Grammar School girls consider 25 quite early enough – giving them time to attend university and work in their chosen careers. But more than half want large families of four or more children. Practically all list swimming and tennis amongst their regular pastimes and 75 percent attend church each week. Television is rarely watched except when there is a good play on. Pocket money is around five shillings and is spent on sweets, stamps, nylons and make-up. 59 10 02

More than 900 passengers flew from Cambridge to Jersey in Derby Airways' first season's operations. The aircraft used were 19-seat Marathons and Pullman DC-3s, a 36-seat luxury version of the well-proven Dakota. The extremely good flying weather, coupled with a high standard of aircraft serviceability enabled the service to operate with almost 100 per cent punctuality. An inclusive tour service between Cambridge and Ostend, which is only available to passengers booking hotel accommodation, was also successful. Applications have now been made to open similar services to Zurich, Barcelona, Pisa and Zagreb. 59 10 02a

Mrs Hannah Grindling, 78, and her Littleport Over Sixties' Club Skiffle Band played at a concert in Cambridge Salvation Army Hall. The active folk from Fenland started with their signature tune, 'Happy Wanderer' and, led by Mrs Grindling on the accordion, showed their capabilities on other instruments such as the big drum and tambourines. The group was short of a few members (they normally comprise 21), but no one would have noticed. 59 10 02b

1959 10 03
RAF Oakington Meteor crash near Willingham – pics 59 10 03
General election campaign – notes on Robert Davies, Hamilton Kerr, Around Geoffrey de Montmorency – 59 10 03a & b

1959 10 06
Ely High Barns Saxon burial – 59 10 06
Dickie Jeeps to retire from Rugby – profile – 59 10 06a & b

1959 10 07
Election tactics long ago – Enid Porter – 59 10 07 & a

1959 10 08
The Chartered Institute of Secretaries paid a fascinating visit to the University Mathematical Laboratory. Mr E.N. Mutch, the Superintendent, outlined the development of electronic computers since 1944, after which members were given a practical demonstration of the latest machine in action.

They saw the computer being used by Sir Edward Bullard who explained how scientific data had been recorded on the tape which was then fed into the machine. The results of the computer's analysis and interpretation of the data that had been given it, were then outlined. 59 10 08

1959 10 09
Election results – Kerr retains seat – 59 10 09

1959 10 10
Rutherford Almond, robemaker death – 59 10 10

1959 10 12
The character of Adams Road had changed due to the increase in the number of heterogeneous houses, the older houses had deteriorated in appearance, one was unfenced and children played all over the road. The bus service was valueless in the afternoons and at week-ends and it was a very popular thoroughfare for people using the footpath to Coton. A year ago it was a reasonable area, now it had changed because of the noise from certain houses, the Valuation Panel was told. But they upheld the rating assessment. 59 10 12

1959 10 13
The University's Mullard Radio Astronomy Laboratory employed a helicopter to transport one of their big parabolic aerials from a site in Grange Road to Offal End, near Haslingfield. An airlift was the only practical way of moving such an unwieldy load, 27 feet in diameter and so intricately built that it would have been difficult to dismantle it. Cambridge engineer, Mr Donald MacKay was responsible for preparing the complicated piece of freight for its journey. 59 10 13

1959 10 14
Cambridge Waterworks Company has managed full unrestricted supplies throughout every drought when elsewhere in the country water has been rationed. But in July torrential rain caused electric power failures which cut out the pumps at Fulbourn and Great Wilbraham. It also flooded the basement of the Fleam Dyke Pumping Station and thousands of gallons of oily water drained back into the well, causing pollution. Despite all this they still maintained supplies from the reservoirs at Cherry Hinton. 59 10 14 & a

1959 10 15
The Playle family have owned a slaughterhouse at Bassingbourn since 1900 but in order to comply with new regulations certain alterations had to be made, an Inquiry was told. The County Education Officer objected, saying it had a detrimental effect on the school and had reduced physical education outside because of the smell. But the slaughterhouse had been there before the school was built. A petition signed by 100 villagers objected to it but another containing 650 names was in support. 59 10 15 & a

A Vampire jet trainer aircraft which was formation flying with three others ploughed through electricity cables before crashing on its back in a field at Meadow Farm near Elsworth. Thousands of gallons of foam were poured on the wreckage by members of the Oakington RAF Station Fire Brigade and spectators were told to keep well clear as one of the ejector seats in the aircraft had not gone off and bare electricity cables were smouldering and sparking in the stubble. 59 10 15b

Cambridge Instrument Company opened its new research headquarters in Chesterton Road. Its four floors comprise laboratories for the development of instruments for mechanical engineering, electronics and physical chemistry together with a specious drawing office. It was a tribute to the unswerving devotion of the men who had worked there over the last 80 years, said Lord Adrian, University Vice-Chancellor. He had declined the use of a car and arrived on bicycle for the opening ceremony where he was presented with a compass. 59 10 15c

Cambridge Instrument Company new research laboratories – 59 10 15c

1959 10 16
More traffic went along Newmarket Road than any other and congestion often occurred at Four Lamps Corner. Any small incident – circuses on the Common or even May Balls - holds up traffic. Victoria Bridge vibrated when heavy vehicles had to stand on it with their engines running. We need a new bridge over the river at Walnut Tree Avenue. But a temporary bridge could be thrown over the Cam in six months by using the site of the old horse ferry next to the Chesterton footbridge. There would be a natural route for traffic up Garlic Row, Ald Symonds said. 59 10 16a & b

A meeting was held to discuss noise problems in connection with the F-100 Super Sabre jet fighter-bombers which are coming from Europe to Lakenheath. They are big, noisy aircraft using afterburners on take-off which can give the impression of the supersonic boom. Villages on the periphery of the airfield have suffered aircraft noise problems for years and are resigned to it. 59 10 16d

Oakington aeroplane remembered – 59 10 16
Cleveland Discol garages listed – 59 10 16c
Willingham waterless; private water supply laid 50 years ago now inadequate; takes an hour to fill a glass, two hours for bath – illustrated feature – 59 10 16 CIP

1959 10 17
Winston Churchill plants tree – 59 10 17, 59 10 19 & a b c

1959 10 19
A 21-year-old blonde sat down with 200 students in the dining room of Christ's College – and went completely unnoticed. That was not surprising because she was dressed in a grey suit, bright yellow waistcoat and wore thick glasses and a black beard! Elizabeth Grant, a third year medical student had decided to avenge the fair sex for a hoax played on Girton students last week. College regulations allow students to bring in their (male) friends but women are banned. Everything went off beautifully. She kept her voice down during the meal and although second glances were cast by some, nobody said anything. 59 10 19d

Donkey Common – trouble over huts – 59 10 19c

1959 10 20
Vampire crash near Conington inquest – 59 10 20

1959 10 21
Sir - Adams Road has changed little in the last 40 years apart for three major upheavals: the decline of domestic staff which is part of a national pattern, the introduction of a bus route which was bitterly resented by residents who have been prominent bicyclists, and the new houses erected since the war. These have made the biggest impact. All the older houses were of a substantial character whereas some of the new ones are out of place in the neighbourhood. It has always been a family road with many childish pleasures including ice skating. – P. Rottenberg. 59 10 21a & b

Godmanchester Chinese bridge closed – 59 10 21

1959 10 22
Brian Stonebridge, the ace scrambler, was sponsored by King and Harper and had several seasons riding BSA and Francis Barnett machines. Later he rode Matchless, then moved to B.S.A. to become one of their 'works' riders. Recently he went to work for Invacar, producing the Greeves motor cycles which were used for scrambles. He was killed when his Austin Atlantic coupe collided with an Austin 16 and was then hit by a lorry. 59 10 22

Government Veterinary Investigation Centre opened near Vet School – 59 10 22a

1959 10 23
A pint of beer, an ounce of tobacco and two boxes of matches cost fivepence-halfpenny when Mr & Mrs E.D. Clark first took over the 'Rising Sun' public house at Isleham nearly 50 years ago. There have been vast changes in drinking habits. Before the First World War they were open from 6am to 10pm and a man could have a good evening out on six-pence – about three pints of beer. After the war women started to come with their husbands. Stout and port-and-lemon have always been popular women's drinks, though the Rising Sun sold more beer and spirits than anything else. 59 10 23

1959 10 24
In 1954 work began on a Great Ouse Flood Protection Scheme. The construction of an eleven-mile long relief channel parallel to the tidal part of the river was completed with the opening of a tail sluice at King's Lynn by the Duke of Edinburgh. He mentioned the great tidal surge of 1953 when over 1,000 acres of the Sandringham estate were flooded. Now a great anxiety had been lifted from many minds. The next stages involve deepening 19 miles of river as far as the Cam and the cutting of a new 28-mile long channel around the edge of the fens. 59 10 24 & 24a & b

Gaming machine in Royal Arms, King St – 59 10 24c
Panton Estate sale particulars from 1809 – 59 10 24d

1959 10 26
The City Council wants to use Butt Green as a temporary car park for two years while Lion Yard and Park Street are being built. But the local residents are afraid that it would become permanent and the council would be reluctant to remove the 'hard standing' once it was down. They are investigating ancient commoners' rights and say work-people take their lunch there. 59 10 26 & a

1959 10 27
The new secondary modern school at Parkway, Haverhill, was not due to be finished until next spring. But its early completion by Messrs Johnson & Bailey has enabled the 420 children to move in after the half-term holiday. The school is at present a two-form entry but is to be extended later on to cope with the Haverhill 'overspill'. 59 10 27

1959 10 28
Thousands of new Anglia Television viewers are unaware that almost every piece of equipment that goes into the transmitting of the programmes was built in the Cambridge factories of Pye Limited. The Norwich studies are equipped with their cameras and control gear and 'remote' programmes use Pye mobile outside broadcast units. This is the latest version of the most successful unit ever produced and over 50 have been sold to television networks all over the world. 59 10 28b

Willingham water supply – 59 10 28 & a

1959 10 29
Dahlia Society formed – 59 10 29 # c.18

1959 10 30
Waterbeach RAF best airmen's mess – 59 10 30
Oakington aeroplane – 59 10 30a & b, f & g
John Line new wallpaper showroom – 59 10 30c # c.23
Death of Harry Wilkin, county council chief clerk – 59 10 30e

Khrushchev 'Russians will melt polar ice'.
Details of one of the most fantastic development schemes ever devised by the human mind are now being worked out by Russian engineers who want to heat the Arctic The scheme proposes nothing short of melting the ice and snow of the earth northern polar cap and converting the now frozen wastes of Siberia and northern Canada into temperature productive and immeasurably valuable countryside. The basis of the plan is a proposal to create a gigantic dam across the Bering Strait by stringing it along the line of the Aleutian Islands. Inside the dam the Russians propose to have a series of huge nuclear power generating stations which could be fed with heavy hydrogen from the sea around them. The sea would also provide the huge volume of water needed for cooling purposes and a convenient dumping place for slightly radioactive waste. But the big generators instead of feeding electricity into normal power supply systems would provide the power for a series of heavy duty water pumps. These would suck the water from the warmer Pacific Ocean and transferring it to the Arctic Ocean. Very gradually the temperature of the Arctic Ocean would rise and once it was received raised sufficiently the billions of tons of ice in the northern polar cap would start to melt. A remarkable progressive change when take place. The heavy ice crust of the Arctic Ocean would become thinner and soon the warm water currents attacking from beneath would eat great holes in it revealing the ocean beneath. At this point temperature would start to rise as the warm at waters reached the coast of Siberia surplus heat would rise into the atmosphere. The snow and ice of the shore would start to melt, the surface of the land would show through and the way would be open for seeds to germinate and flourish. In time they believe the scheme would rejuvenate the entire Arctic area opening up millions of square miles of land which is now a total loss of productivity in a food hungry world.As the ice lost its grip on the shore mind it would be possible to build new ports along the northern coasts. There is little doubt that untouched mineral resources lie beneath the Arctic ice – metals, coal, oil and perhaps even precious gems.

But there are important scientific objections. The warmer Arctic air would bring a major plane change in the weather of the whole northern hemisphere. The English climate could become subtropical. The Alpine snows might melt. Most important would be the probable rise in the level of the world's oceans flooded by the melting waters of the north. Even arise of a foot or two could mean that low-lying islands and coastal areas would become inundated. Residents would have to be evacuated or else protecting dykes built. But the immense economic advantages may outweigh all the objections 59 10 30d

November 1959 CDN

1959 11 03
Oakington plane crash – 59 11 03

1959 11 04
Reuben Taylor, who has been Cambridge Station Master since 1948, has hung up his top hat and frock coat for the last time. He started as a junior clerk at Haverhill station in 1910 and has seen immense changes. When he first took over at Cambridge some 700,000 passengers a year went through his hands. Last year it was double, to say nothing of the tremendous increase in parcel and freight traffic. “Road transport will never take the place of railways: we get no end of people coming into Cambridge from the country and leaving their cars at the station park before catching trains to London”, he said. 59 11 04c

In the past few years the Fitzroy/Burleigh Street area, with its easy access, ample car-parking facilities and huge variety of shops, has become increasingly popular as Cambridge’s most convenient shopping centre. Many of the shops were formerly in ramshackle buildings, combining timber and corrugated iron with a minimum of brickwork, often built over the front gardens of houses which had their ground floors converted. But now these have made way for up-to-the-minute shopping premises and improvements are constantly going on. 59 11 04 & a

Retirement railway stationmaster Reuben Taylor – 59 11 04c

1959 11 05
Pye Instrument Group engineers have designed a remarkable new piece of medical equipment, the Barnet Ventilator, to assist polio sufferers. Polio causes paralysis of the respiratory muscles and patients have had to be put in an iron lung. But now they can be linked to the ventilator by two plastic tubes and breathing is precisely kept within physiological limits. The machine has built-in batteries from which its transistorised circuit will run up to twenty hours allowing patients to be moved without difficulty. It can also be used in operating theatres for the administration of anaesthetics. 59 11 05a

1959 11 06
Did you ever build a television station, or a radio-telephone, or equipment for an atomic reactor? And have you ever been involved in helping ships at sea, providing entertainment for the home – or bouncing speech off the moon? Thousands of people who live in East Anglia are doing this sort of thing every day at W.G. Pye. It is one of 60 companies which make up the Pye Group whose name is respected all over the world for achievements in radio, television, telecommunications, nucleonics and electronics generally. 59 11 06c & d

Kate Primmer, artist – profile – 59 11 06 & a & b
Underdrainage system – history – 59 11 06e
Gt Abington Land Settlement house fire – 59 11 06f
Roughest 5th for 20 years – 59 11 06g
Gt Chishill windmill – county to purchase? – 59 11 06h

1959 11 07
Harlequins and Columbines, spacemen and fishermen, artists, engine drivers, unmarried 'Mummies' (Egyptian variety), balloon vendors, winged wonders, hot dog sellers, ghouls and luscious lovelies, all filled the streets of Cambridge to collect money for the Earl Haig Fund. The City was crammed with floats, blasted with instruments and its pedestrians and traffic forced to pay tolls before being allowed to pass. One of the most sombre 'floats' was that lamenting the Labour Party's third consecutive defeat at the polls. Another proclaimed "Life's better under the Conservatives". 59 11 07 & aa

RAF Waterbeach trophy win – 59 11 07b

1959 11 10
Not many people known that on the wall of St Paul's Church, Stockingford, near Nuneaton, there is a memorial to members of the Cambridgeshire Regiment who died in the Far East in the Second World War. But the Regiment's Old Comrades Association never lets Armistice Sunday pass without remembering former comrades who were based there before embarking for overseas. The plaque is in proud memory of the 343 offices and men of the 1st Battalion who gave their lives in Singapore. The Battalion was stationed in Arbury Park from May to August 1941 and worshipped in the church. 59 11 10

1959 11 11
Cliff Richard, the 19-year old baby-faced star and the hit parade's present top-notcher, took Cambridge by storm. Excited teenagers, predominantly female, packed into the Regal cinema and clapped, screamed and wailed in readiness for their idol. Cliff, dressed in a 'shocking pink' jacket with matching tie, performed his remarkably successful hits 'Living Doll' and 'Travelling Light'. He was accompanied by the Shadows featuring drummer Laurie Jay in place of Tony Meehan who has undergone an appendicitis operation. It was a triumph from start to finish. 59 11 11 & a

The proposed Lion Yard scheme provided for a pedestrians-only shopping precinct linked to Petty Cury, office space (to be offered to the University if needed), a new Emmanuel Road, the widening of Corn Exchange Street and an underground car park including space for 750 cars of which 230 would be for office staff. There would also be a new telephone exchange, an Inquiry was told. The scheme would be completed by 1965. 59 11 11c & d & e

1959 11 13
Two grossly malformed children had been born in the Primrose Lane Hospital, Huntingdon recently and there were five cases of 'developmental defects', which were minor abnormalities, Huntingdonshire County Council were told. A Health Committee should be set up to investigate the extent of radio-active fall-out and the degree of radio-active contamination of food and water within the county boundaries. It is a fear lurking in the minds of everybody, a terrible matter which should not just be ignored. 59 11 13a

The Weathervane, a new public house at Perne Road, is the first to be built to serve new Cambridge housing restates. The site was purchased by Tollemache Breweries in 1937 but has been delayed for 22 years because of the war and building restrictions. Today it is uneconomic to build palatial mansions but this house is just as comfortable, the sort of place one can bring a family for a pleasant drink with its bright contemporary decorations, skirting heating and low fireplaces. "You may ask why the name 'Weathervane' was chosen, but I cannot give you any reason at all", Lord Tollemache told guests at the opening. 59 11 13c, 12

Tourist poster of Bridge of Sighs – 59 11 13
Grose monoplane Oakington – picture – 59 11 13b

1959 11 16
St Ives Dolphin hotel fire – 59 11 16

1959 11 17
Co-op new self-service super food store, Burleigh St - 59 11 17

1959 11 18
Knowledge of the Baha'i World Faith reached Cambridge in the 1800s through Professor Edward Browne, the well-known Orientalist and the only European to mean Baha'u'llah, the prophet-founder of the faith. Five years ago the first Baha'i came to Cambridge and in 1958 the community elected their first spiritual assembly. Now they have dedicated their first Centre in Gonville Place. 59 11 18a

Fowl pest – 59 11 18

1959 11 19
The University thinks the Lion Yard scheme was bad planning. They are not opposed to a pedestrian precinct nor to some commercial development but preferred a mixture of University use with a concert hall seating 1,500 and some shops and offices to fill in. This would attract far less traffic at peak times. Others thought the Corn Exchange might make a site for a car park with an elevator to take cars to the upper floors. Shops could give 'Free parking vouchers' for customers who spent more than £5. This would attract shoppers into the car parks and make them economical. 59 11 19 a & c

Hundreds of pigeons which roost in the west tower of Ely Cathedral have died, probably through fowl pest. A number were seen to be almost lifeless and presenting a pathetic sight with their heads rolling from side to side. Some were picked up in the streets but the majority have died in the tower or among the roof turrets. Workmen have spent much time collecting the bodies in a wheelbarrow and destroying them. 59 11 19b

Holy Sepulchre new organ – 59 11 19

1959 11 20
Cambridge rags – history feature – 59 11 20 & a

1959 11 21
Percy Piggott was owner of a printing business, a journalist, a keen Tory, an Amateur theatrical producer and a leading light in the Cambridgeshire Sailing Club. His father, Frank, founded the printing business in what was then called Caxton Court (now the front of Boots' in Sidney Street) and had been editor of the Cambridge Chronicle. Following in his father's footsteps he was University Correspondent for 'The Times' and official scorer of the University Cricket team, managing them on tours and producing a booklet '50 Years at Fenners'. 59 11 21a

An anonymous gentleman has offered to fund a new bridge across the Cam at Garret Hostel Lane. It will have a span of 15 feet greater than the present one and the height above water level will be increased by five feet. The current bridge is a Victorian cast iron structure painted green beneath which various pipes and cables are slung in a manner out of keeping with this part of the river. 59 11 21c

Grammar School for Girls first speech day – 59 11 21
Houseboat sunk near Jesus Lock – 59 11 21b
Castle End Mission history – 59 11 21d

1959 11 23
Meadowlands Methodist Church hall opened – 59 11 23

1959 11 24
Cambridge residents will notice a new blue and white vehicle. This is Shelford Building Supplies' Esso Blue and Valor new Hawking Service. For the first time you will be able to stop the tanker to buy a full range of heaters, oil drums, funnels and paraffin. The lorry will also collect and repair faulty heaters. Alf and Reg, the drivers, will soon become the friends of many Cambridge families and be very familiar figures on the local roads. 59 11 24

1959 11 26
Many shops in the city sell 'Cambridge Cheese'. This is a soft white cheese, delicious and wholesome. But when analysed some examples were found to be deficient in fat, based on a Ministry recipe that 'so many pints of full-cream milk produce so much cheese'. However expert housewives say that Cambridge Cheese could be made with skimmed milk and as the labelling did not say 'cream cheese' no action would be taken. 59 11 26d

Cambridge has a problem with smoky chimneys. Domestic smoke contains a high proportion of tar which sticks to everything it touches. The 'prefabs' at Church End, Cherry Hinton and Histon Road are a very bad example of the smoking low chimney. The 'cosy coal fire' is by no means as innocent outside the house as it looks to be inside the grate and the rights of the individual should not include the right to choke his neighbour. Smoke Control Orders should be sought, the Public Health Inspector reported. 59 11 26a, b & c

Hawthorn Way flood relief scheme – 59 11 26
Butt Green protest over plans to use as temporary car park – 59 11 26e

1959 11 27
Ken Wallis first gyrocopter – 59 11 27c
Milton Road new athletics track opened – 59 11 27d
Ely Cathedral stolen plate recovered – 59 11 27e

December 1959 CDN

1959 12 01
Private patient's advantages, Addenbrooke's Hospital – 59 12 01

1959 12 03
The Inquiry into the Lion Yard scheme was told that the Petty Cury frontage should be excluded from redevelopment: the present useful buildings would be preserved and the character of the street maintained. But Planners said they could not be adequately served as they lacked any rear access. Runciman's veterinary premises in Downing Street had been used for 150 years and were specially designed for the purpose. They have dealt with animals as small as a mouse and as large as an elephant. The proposed replacement buildings were incompatible with the character of Cambridge. 59 12 03 & a & 04 & 04a

A monitor screen at the back of the church, shirt-sleeved technicians tip-toeing around, cameras rolling silently up and down the aisle and bright glaring lights pointing in every direction. This was just a part of what was involved in the telerecording of a Christmas service in Gt St Mary's church. It is to be shown by Anglia Television on Christmas night. The service was intended as a corporate act of worship for overseas students in Cambridge and a reminder of how the nations of the world might live together. 59 12 03b & c

Death of Lady Willink, wife Master Magdalene – 59 12 03d
Lion Yard demolition photo – 59 12 03e

1959 12 04
Several tradesmen gave evidence at the Lion Yard inquiry. Both Miller's and Lyon and Cade's were old established solicitors business, their premises would be entirely swept away. G.D. Pryor owned the land let to Mac Fisheries. The former Mr Pryor was one of the last coach drivers and a fishmonger who established his business in the first half of the nineteenth century. The coach was left at the Red Lion when business had been transacted next door. The Chinese Restaurant had been greatly improved since Mr Lui took possession and was now the centre for people who enjoyed this type of food. It is difficult to imagine where it could be resited, the pedestrian precinct did not promise to be lively at night. 59 12 04 abc

Ely football club plans Downham Road pitch scuppered – 59 12 04d

1959 12 05
The official inquiry into the Lion Yard Re-development Proposals – that erstwhile car park scheme blown up to make a planners' holiday – covered 15 days and produced over half-a-million words. The sponsors of the scheme and the many objectors have placed their cases fully and fairly – and sometimes forcibly. One of the main criticisms is that no evidence of the financial side was submitted. Very few members of the public attended but there was a 'full gallery' on the final day. It will be six months before the Minister's decision is made known. 59 12 05

The Westminster Bank in Manchester has introduced the first permanent inter-branch television network. Customers can check their accounts on private television screens which relay pictures from a centralised book-keeping department a mile away. The system has been supplied by the Pye Industrial Television Division and features a small camera which looks downwards, by means of a mirror, at cheques placed on a desk. It incorporates a sound system so the operator can hold instant two-way conversations with the customer. 59 12 05a

1959 12 10
The University's new Department of Chemical Engineering building in Pembroke Street was opened by the Chairman of Shell. The firm had made a grant of half-a-million pounds and since the first Shell Professor took up his appointment in 1946, 187 students have graduated. They carry out a research programme during their final year instead of a formal laboratory course and already some information of genuine value had been obtained. In its early days the Department was housed in a temporary building in Tennis Court Road before finding a permanent site next to the Cavendish and Zoology Laboratories. 59 12 10a

Meadowlands Methodist hall progress – 59 12 10

1959 12 12
Cambridgeshire would get the place in the history of further education that it deserves said the Minister of Education when he opened the new Melbourn Village College. It is a community centre, housing a secondary school for 320 pupils in daytime and providing cultural, vocational and social opportunities in the evenings and weekends with 700 attending evening classes. It is the eighth village college to be built; all have a great reputation among the supporters of adult education. 59 12 12 & a & b

1959 12 14
Jack Hulbert, the famous actor, took his M.A. degree watched by his wife, the actress Miss Cicely Courtneidge. Jack became a B.A. of Caius college before the First World War and so has long been eligible for this higher degree. As an undergraduate he wrote and took part in a large number of entertainments and starred in the Footlights revue. His first big success was in 'Cheer Oh! Cambridge' at the Queen's Theatre London in 1913. Local people wish success to one of the most warm-hearted couples in show business. 59 12 14

1959 12 16
Miss W.M. Farnsworth, headmistress of Chesterton Girls' School is retiring. She has been in charge since the school opened in 1935. It was the first of its kind to be opened in Cambridge as a result of the Hadow report of 1926 which recommended special provision for all children over 11 years. Previously it was thought that children not at grammar schools must be taught to be practical and develop handicraft skills rather than developing academic intelligence. She says schoolgirls are now taller, healthier, more graceful and beautiful than they used to be, as a result of anti-natal care and welfare services or increased facilities for physical education. 58 12 16 & a

The Arbury Estate gained its second public house within 12 days with the opening of the Carlton Arms. It is unique in that it is sponsored, owned and run by two breweries, Wells and Winch and Whitbread's. Designed in a conventional fashion, it has a brightly-decorated public bar and a saloon bar that can be separated into a lounge bar by means of a Bolton gate. The new landlords, Mr & Mrs Alan Davis were previously at the Still and Sugar Loaf on the Market Square. 59 12 16b

1959 12 17
There are a quarter of an acre of tunnels under Peas Hill which were used as air raid shelters during the War. They were wired for electricity, lavatories were installed and wooden seats fitted in the tunnel recesses. Oil lamps were kept close at hand in case of emergency. Quite a number of people used the shelter during day-time raids and some slept down there when there was night bombing. 'Roadsters' used them every night to sleep. They were terribly damp when first used but after a few days became quite comfortable. 59 12 17

1959 12 19
Death Frederick Boyton Taylor, Dullingham House – 59 12 19
Cambridge Borough Police band named photo 1901 – 59 12 19a

1959 12 21
The controversy surrounding the Central Hotel in Peas Hill, which King's College want to knock down and replace by a new hostel for students has reached a new stage with the publication of a booklet. The St Edward's Committee was established when it was announced that the Central Hotel, a largely 17th-century building forming an integral part of a square around St Edward's churchyard, was to all appearances doomed. They believe it could be preserved and are pressing for a public inquiry into the proposals. 59 12 21c & d

1959 12 22
Penny-farthing bicycle owned by Cook Bros – 59 12 22

1959 12 23
Cambridge stays faithful to panto – 59 12 23 & a

1959 12 28
Anstey Hall unsuitable for Hospital Board HQ – 59 12 28

1959 12 30
The annual Grantchester Boxing Day barrel rolling contest was inaugurated three years ago by Mr R. Healey, landlord of the Rose and Crown public house. It is becoming increasingly popular and attracts people from the surrounding district. It consists of three races. The men's was won by Mr Maurice, the women's by Miss Barbara Peters and the children's by Miss Patricia Rose with Miss Sharyn Griggs second. The youngest competitor was five-year-old Helen Tanner. 59 12 30

Four cottages remaining on the demolition site at Hinton Road, Fulbourn, are to be improved to make them safe for residence. They had been condemned as unfit for human habitation in 1958 and had since been left empty. They were needed for families from the Bourn huts but the immediate urgency has now gone. There is a certain need for sub-standard property but at least the fabric must be good, councillors decided. 59 12 30a

Cambridge Cats Home run by the Blue Cross in Garlic Row was filled to capacity with 75 animals over the Christmas holidays. In the course of a year the Superintendents, Dennis Broomfield and his wife, look after over 1,000 'lodgers' and a very large number of strays. Each cat has a large run to itself and the nights are spent in warm boxes lined with straw and cloth inside spacious 'hutlets'. Each cat eats about half a pound of fish a day – good quality rock salmon steaks - and gets through a good quantity of milk. 59 12 30b

The 'average' young couple, where the husband is earning £700 a year, should have no difficulty in the Cambridge of today in finding or building a house for themselves. If they have the kind of status that satisfies bank managers they can get financial help from the building societies up to about 95% of the purchase price of £2,250. Many people have a car nowadays which means a distance of seven miles is no serious obstacle and they can enjoy the advantages of living in the country. They would derive little benefit from renting a house: on the rare occasion that unfurnished accommodation does become available it would equal the loan repayments on a house of their own. 59 12 30c

Cambridge rich in artists – Irene Broe – 59 12 30

1959 12 31
Litter bins in villages – 59 12 31a
Haverhill bypass progress – 59 12 31

1960 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

January 1960 CDN

1960 01 04
Cambridge in fiction – history – 60 01 04 & a # c.74

1960 01 05
Work has begun on the first stage of the Churchill College project with giant bull-dozers levelling the ground for a new access road from Storey's Way. If everything goes according to plan new residential flats will be completed by the beginning of September. The college will specialise in the teaching of scientific subjects and its first Master will be Sir John Cockcroft, the atomic physicist 60 01 05

1960 01 06
Candy Scott has made quite a name for herself as a dancer, actress and model. Now, at 20, she has taken on a new role – ghost-hunter. She spent a night at medieval Sawston Hall, sleeping in the same great four-poster bed in the same tapestried room used by Mary Tudor – 'Bloody Mary' – more than 400 years ago. According to spine-chilling tales told by many reliable witnesses Mary still visits the room in the dark, dead hours before dawn. Candy never saw her but says many other strange things happened during the night – icy winds, odd noises and doors opening and closing. 60 01 06

Cambridge boys club to close – 60 01 06a # c.37.9

1960 01 07
South Cambs RDC are going into the 'houses for sale' business. They initially intended to use small sites away from Council house developments but now hope to build on land fronting the highway in existing estates at Babraham Road, Sawston and Symonds Lane, Linton as well as new sites at Duxford and Melbourn. They plan semi-detached houses with a garage to sell for £2,450. Mortgage repayments would be about three pounds a week. Applicants on the council's waiting list will be informed. 60 01 07a

Frank 'Wilkie' Wilkinson arrived at the King's School, Ely, as a young teacher in 1922 intending to stay for just one year. But he remained for a record of 37 years as an English master, games master, sports coach, librarian, groundsman, head of the dramatic and debating societies and organiser of athletics, tennis, fives and badminton. He also captained the county football club and played cricket for the MCC. As secretary of the Old Boys' Club he keeps in touch with over 600 former pupils who wish him happiness and prosperity in his retirement. 60 01 07c

Central Hotel preservation call – 60 01 07 # c.61
Charlie Rowell long-distance champion – feature – 60 01 07b # c.38 : athletics

1960 01 08
The present generation of old people grew up before the welfare state came into being and had to go without many of the things which today makes life easier for everyone. A recent survey showed that 96 per cent of old people lived independent lives. But those who were in care were very much frailer than those being looked after 10 years before and this made for greater demands on the staff. It is very rare to find married couples entering old people's homes. The only couple at present in the care of the County Council married after entering the home. 60 01 08a

King's College has replied to criticism of its plans to demolish the 17th-century Central Hotel on the corner of St Edward's Passage and Peas Hill. Whilst the Midland Bank premises are scheduled as an ancient monument, the St Edward's Passage premises are not. The College has considered eleven schemes for the site, some of which would preserve the façade, but the preservation of the interior was a hopelessly haphazard proposition. Their architect has taken infinite care to ensure the new building preserves the essentially domestic character of St Edward's Passage, says Noel Annan, the Provost. 60 01 08b # c.61 # c.44.6

Angela Garnett, Hilton painter – feature – 60 01 08 # c.64
Grantchester illustrated village feature – 60 01 08 CIP

Two Isleham brothers, Arthur and Bill Houghton, have a knack for digging up hidden treasure. A few years ago they were working on a housing site at Snailwell when a Belgae chieftain's grave was discovered. Now they have come across a vast amount of broken tools and weapons thought to have been the stock-in-trade of a bronze founder or smith. It is one of the largest ever to be found in Britain. The site at Little Isleham was once a populated hamlet with a chapel dedicated to St Nicholas but nothing now remains of the community. 60 01 08c

1960 01 11
A 23-ton tanker lorry containing nearly 3,000 gallons of varnish-oil overturned at Madingley Road and was completely wrecked. The 12-wheeler vehicle got out of control near the old aircraft factory, veered across the road and snapped off a telegraph pole before overturning. The driver scrambled out unscathed and walked two miles in below-freezing conditions to a café at Hardwick to call for assistance. Firemen using heavy lifting gear dragged the vehicle off the road on to the verge and stood by until the oil was transferred to another tanker 60 01 11

1960 01 15
Two men were killed when a five-ton lorry owned by the Great Ouse River Board was in collision with a two-coach diesel train on a farm-service crossing between Isleham and Worlington. The front of the train was badly smashed and passengers severely shaken. Rescue workers were hampered by icy roads leading to the Lee Farm crossing, which is in a very isolated position. The line is now open under caution as the permanent way is damaged. 60 01 15; 60 01 22 CIP

The Probation Service was inaugurated in 1907 and in Cambridge it was the grandfather of Mr M.K. Taylor, the present chairman of the Probation Committee, who supported the setting up of the original service. In 1908 Cambridge justices appointed two men and one woman to serve on a voluntary basis. Today four men and two women are employed. Probation officers know that visiting homes while 'The Archers' is being broadcast is fruitless: people are not prepared to miss an episode to talk to them. 60 01 15a & b # c.34.9

Mr A.G. Wright, Chairman of the Flood Protection Committee of the Great Ouse River Board, has been awarded the OBE for his work in carrying our the huge flood protection scheme following the flooding of 1947. The channel outfall below the Tail Sluice is nearly complete and all work finished on the tidal river banks. Mattresses have been laid at the Wash barrier and contractors are now tendering for the third part of the scheme. "Only those who live in the fens can realise what it is to be flooded and what the effect of a protection scheme means", he said. 60 01 15c # c.29

1960 01 16
So Cambridge must be destroyed. Country folk from the surrounding pastures have decreed that, just because she develops a bald patch on her Lion Yard. But even when Petty Cury has been rebuilt with modern materials the day must come when all the new buildings fall down. But by 2020 there will be no cars, and therefore no parking problems; only the original debt. No one can possibly question the integrity of the City Fathers: by their very selection they are men apart, towering above their fellows in mental and moral stature – C.R. Benstead feature 60 01 16 # c.49.67

1960 01 18
Every visitor to Ely Cathedral notices its pigeons. They wheel round the top of the West Tower, sit in rows along the roof and make nests in the Galilee Porch. But then came orders to destroy them. Fowl pest was rampant and the discovery of a number of dead pigeons in the precincts became news: they were dying in scores. Wheelbarrows carried the corpses away. But they had not died of fowl pest, they had poisoned themselves by stealing corn sown in the fields which had been chemically treated against grubs. They will return buy for the present kitchen gardens in the neighbourhood may be allowed to produce peas and beans this year at least. 60 01 18

Oakington railway station is one of the busiest in the area: 80 trains pass daily, 14 of them stopping passenger trains. However many RAF passengers from Oakington airfield find it easier to reach their living quarters from Longstanton station and services can be disrupted by plane crashes. Large quantities of fruit are still sent 'up North' but there is increasing competition from road haulage firms. One farmer says he prefers the rail as the fresh air blowing through the trucks helps to keep the fruit fresh. But the station suffered when a large local farming concern changed hands and nearly 700 tons of sugar beet was not grown. 60 01 18a & b

1960 01 20
Supermarkets are undercutting smaller shops – an identical tin of coffee varies by as much as sixpence. But Mr L.C. Cherry of Milton Road has banded together with several other grocers to buy goods in bulk, enabling him to give customers special offers. A high percentage of orders are now taken over the telephone, credit is given and goods delivered. At Sutton Mr L.F. Lindsell has seen no decline since the opening of a supermarket at Ely: the customer saves a bus fare, get good service and can always come back and complain. Several housewives praised the supermarket but others said it tempted them to buy rather more than they first intended 60 01 20 # c.27.2

1960 01 21
City councillors decided to drop proposals to use Butts Green as a car park for two years - even with the Lion Yard car park finished and new car parks in King Street and Park Street, there would still not be enough parking and it would never be reinstated. The income would never meet expenditure. Eventually Cambridge would have a city centre park charging about one shilling an hour. If Butt Green was to be charged at sixpence nobody would use Lion Yard and the council would be sabotaging their own scheme. 60 01 21 # c.32.3 # c.49.62

1960 01 22
The traffic situation in the Fen Causeway was desperate and the only thing to do was to widen the entrance so as to permit two full streams of traffic, Alderman James urged. The council had been negotiating to buy the frontage of the Leys School since 1957 but talks with the governors had broken down and now he proposed compulsory purchase. But this was very high-handed and not the proper way to do things, councillors decided. 60 01 22 # c.49.62

Willingham lives for horticulture – full-page illustrated feature – 60 01 22a CIP

1960 01 23
Refuse collection comes in for a good deal of criticism. Visitors are shocked and ashamed by the exhibition of dustbins on the pavements and the trails of garbage left by the lorries on dustbin day. The old and infirm feel it is a strain and an imposition to lift or drag their bins to the kerb. But it is hard work for the dustmen and three-wheeled bases to fit the standard bins may be supplied to help both. It is illegal to put garden refuse in a dustbin but this will be collected separately for a modest charge. Very little rubbish, other than offal, is burned. Paper is sold, other rubbish sorted and the bulk of solid waste tipped into worked-out brick fields. It is then covered with earth and the land will eventually be reclaimed for recreational purposes. 60 01 23 # c.21.15

After solving many problems associated with custodialism – locked doors, padded rooms, restraint and violence – Fulbourn Hospital found themselves confronted with a more difficult problem – apathy. The patients were reasonably well-behaved and went regularly to work but afterwards they just sat in their armchairs gazing at the television. Now a series of projects have been developed, the best involving patients and staff on an equal footing on a job all considered valuable. As social therapy developed the attendance at major hospital functions such as concerts, plays and even the cinema, has fallen off, Dr D.H. Clark reported. 60 01 23a

Bradwell's Court, the new public footway linking St Andrew's Street with Drummer Street, was opened for the first time this week. At the same time Christ's Lane, the old cobbled pathway, was closed. With an arcade at each end and an 'open style' court in the centre, the new thoroughfare is flanked by 13 shops 60 01 23c # c.27.2

New Theatre site acquired – 60 01 23b

1960 01 26
The first of five blocks of flats at Sherlock Close have been completed. Designed by the London architects, James and Bywaters, and built and owned by Peploe and Partners Ltd, the estate will eventually have 60 flats and 40 garages. Designed around two enclosed gardens they will resemble college courts. They have two bedrooms and are warmed by a gas operated space heater. The use of pine panelling, which has been lightly waxed, and polished hardwood-lined doors give the flats a Swedish appearance 60 01 26 # c.23

1960 01 27
Lady Margaret Bullard makes most attractive jewellery from her home in Clarkson Road, Cambridge. It includes pottery ear-rings which, following a magazine feature, she sells by the thousands every year. Lady Bullard designs all the items herself and has countless styles and shapes. Practically every town in the country has shops selling her jewellery which is exported to Jamaica and Central Africa. Some of her latest work is in Roman gold. She has also written three books, one based on Cambridge before and during the war, called 'A Perch in Paradise' 60 01 27

1960 01 28
Haverhill is a town that wants to grow. It claims to be the first ever to ask London, voluntarily, for some of its overspill population and there are no grumbles now that these new families have begun to arrive. Ninety families, mostly from the East End of London, have moved into a new housing estate in a scheme which will eventually double the present population of this little West Suffolk town. Many have come from unsatisfactory conditions and now have a home of their own for the first time. Haverhill people welcome them because without the vitality and prosperity of new people it might fade away into no more than a big village. 60 01 28 & a

1960 01 29
Post-war growth at Milton; village where light industry has developed: full-page illustrated feature – 60 01 29 CIP
New Theatre history feature – 60 01 29 # c.76

1960 February CDN

1960 02 01
An 18-inch-long canister marked 'Explosive' was found lying in the gutter near the Milton Road roundabout at Mitcham's Corner. It was removed by the RAF who said it was probably a mortar type bomb. Recently Swastikas and the words 'Juden Raus' were daubed in bright green distemper on the cream entrance to the University Pitt Club in Jesus Lane. This was formed in 1835 as a political club but is now one of the most exclusive and expensive social clubs in Cambridge 60 02 01 60 02 15

1960 02 02
Civil Defence HQ opens Warkworth Terrace – 60 02 02 # c.45.8

1960 02 03

The picturesque 'Free Press' public house in Prospect Row stands in an area which the City Council wish to clear for redevelopment and is likely to be demolished one day. It once catered for printers from the old University Press in Brandon Place and consists of two cottages knocked into one. The licensee, Geoffrey Nichols, has been in occupation since 1927. When he first came it was 'an old spittoon sort of place' but now businessmen like its smoke room, workmen and their wives enjoy a drink in the public bar, and the snug, the slip and the bottle and jug department each cater for a public of their own. The walls are covered with photographs of actors and variety artists who used to lodge nearby while appearing at the New Theatre. 60 02 03 # c.27.4

1960 02 08
Henry John Alsop (60) pushes a milk delivery 'pram'. The firm of Alsop Brothers, Henry John and John Henry, are the only Cambridge firm with 'prams' and these have been in use for 30 years 60 02 08

1960 02 09
Plans are being prepared to replace the present old and decrepit group of science buildings in the Cavendish physics laboratory area. Every one of the buildings on the New Museums site is out of date and the number of undergraduates that can be accepted is restricted. Because of cramped conditions much research work is being hampered. The rebuilding scheme may take six or seven years and cost over £2 million. 60 02 09

Why the Cam to Lea canal was not dug – 60 02 09a

1960 02 10
Newmarket's Memorial Hall was packed by stablemen in one of the strongest gatherings the town has ever seen. There were boos and catcalls as officials of the Transport and General Workers Union tried to dissuade the men from taking strike action over their demands for a minimum weekly wage of ten guineas, clothing allowance and proper holiday and week-end agreements. Exchanges became very heated and apprentices from the Heath House Hostel, who have been on strike for better conditions marched out in protest. They have been told the Hostel would be closed as soon as private lodgings had been found for them. The trainers had been invited but none attended. 60 02 10

The St Edward's Committee may launch a fund to buy the Central Hotel in Peas Hill and house students in converted rooms. King's College, the owner, says it would prefer to sell the building rather than undertake the work of preservation. The Holford Committee which suggested demolishing it has now decided to study the merits of the building 60 02 10 # c.61

1960 02 11
London-Cambridge canal - 60 02 11

1960 02 12
Miss Francis Turk of Buckden has written more than 35 romantic novels over the last 23 years. She is under contract to write two light fiction books a year and it takes her about three months from the first rough draft to its completion. Her latest book, 'Journey to Eternity' is an entertaining account of the various people who visit an old fen house. The story is told with understanding and imagination. One day she is hoping to write a family saga of the Fens 60 02 12 # c.74

Mrs J. Blackburn has been chosen to play at right inner for the East Anglian Women's Hockey Association team in their match against the Midlands, becoming the first Cambridgeshire-born player to represent the East since the 1920's. She is the daughter of Sir John Cockcroft the atom bomb scientist who is to be the first Master of Churchill College. 60 02 12 # c.38 : hockey

The RAF strategic Thor missile is now operational at Feltwell, one of four bases capable of launching rockets with nuclear warheads. There are three Thor missiles housed horizontally in special shelters with 12 more in 'satellite' emplacements nearby and three more complexes in the eastern part of England which the authorities are reluctant to name. It takes an hour to attach a warhead after which it can be erected, fuelled and launched in 15 minutes. The rocket would take 15 minutes to reach a target in Russia. 60 02 12a & b # c.45.8

1960 02 13
Foreign visitors see Cambridge in different ways. Some American have great culture, have read up beforehand and ask obscure questions. Others want to 'do everything' and take as many snapshots as they can. Germans are very thorough and really want to know everything, European youths frequently want to 'come up' to the University but are puzzled to learn colleges are not co-educational. Undergraduate bicycles never fail to interest: the almost seatless, rusty and battered machines with wheels held together with string give them the impression that students are desperately poor. It is impossible to explain that the poorest-looking bike is probably owned by the richest young man! 65 02 13 # c.46.45

1960 02 16
David Smith, known as 'Dave' to thousands of members of the University Union, could remember the more leisurely days when as a turkey-carpeted gentleman's club it was the Sunday mecca of hundreds of letter writers, quill pens provided. Before TV, billiards and the gramophone fine gentlemen moved in quiet splendour about the premises. When one of the Society's servants retired they would make a short speech before the Tuesday debate in front of a crowded house. They would then quietly return next day on a part-time basis without any anti-climax and much to everyone's relief. 'Dave' will always be remembered as one of those 'characters' without which the University and life would be the poorer 60 02 16 # c.36.9

Preparations are being made for the rebuilding of the Department of Metallurgy laboratories in Downing Street, which were destroyed by fire in August. The old building was quite useless for research and the new part will be box shaped and built of steel and concrete fire-proofed to guard against further outbreaks. At the time of the blaze research in metal corrosion 'of national importance' was being carried out. 60 02 16a

1960 02 17
Cambridge Children's Playground Association was started after builders complained about children playing destructively with their building materials and when it was noticed that the ordinary playgrounds did not attract many youngsters. The first experimental playground was in Newmarket Road and now one may be formed on the Arbury Estate. There are hundreds of children who have already formed the habit of playing in the streets and in the shopping precinct while the estate has waited six years for a playground. The spinney at Cherry Hinton would also be an ideal site for an 'adventure playground' 60 02 17 # c.37.9

1960 02 18
The first escalator to be installed in a Cambridge shop is in position at the extension of F.W. Woolworth and Co. Ltd. and is all ready to go into operation when the new premises are opened at the end of June. It will convey customers up to the sales floors relieving congestion on the stairs which will remain for energetic customers and 'down' passengers. It is among a number of innovations in the building which will include a shed for 120 cycles on the roof and an unloading bay in the building itself so that lorries can drive in and unload directly on to lifts. There will also be an air conditioning plant, deep freeze and delicatessen counters, Formica walls and an asbestos-lined ceiling. 60 02 18 # c.27.2

1960 02 19
Chinchilla breeding is advertised as a 'profitable hobby'. A Soham lady has been breeding these squirrel-like animals for two-and-a-half years and now has six adult pairs. Two litters are born each year, an average being two or three kits. The animals are fed on vegetarian pellets and drink a lot of water. They are easy to rear and fascinating to keep but are not a way of getting rich quickly. An eight-week old pedigree pair costs £50 and will be worth £250 at ten months. 60 02 19

Three sections of disused railway lines might be used in connection with the construction of future new roads in Huntingdonshire. They are the line and bridge from Bluntisham to Earith on the St Ives-Earith-Ely branch line, the bridge over the Great Ouse between St Ives station and the level crossing on the B1040 and the line and bridges from Huntingdon to Kimbolton. But councillors see no use for the line from Ramsey East station to Warboys. 60 02 19a

Lonnie Donegan and his skiffle group made their first appearance in Cambridge on the stage of the Regal Cinema and played his songs "Does the chewing gum lose its flavour on the bed-post overnight", "Gambling Man" and "Tom Dooley". It was a more restrained reception compared with the continual screaming which deafened Cliff Richard when he appeared a few months ago. Amongst the other acts were Miki and Griff a polished husband and wife act who soon had the audience where they wanted them. 60 02 19b # c.69

1960 02 22
Papworth Hospital is not a large one. It has only 213 beds of which only 100 are occupied at the moment. Probably less than half these are suffering from tubercular infection: people with chest diseases of all kinds, bronchitis and other troubles go there too. One day, perhaps, when tuberculosis joins the list of diseases – like diphtheria or smallpox – which were once major killers and are now no longer, the Hospital and its attendant Settlement will be given over to other types of disability. Now it will be visited by the Duchess of Kent to mark the opening of its new surgical unit. 60 02 22

1960 02 23
There was a mishap when the bright red helicopter bringing the Duchess of Kent on her tour of Papworth Hospital was coming in to land on the village playfield field. The violent turbulence from the rotor blades knocked over the Lord Lieutenant (Ald R.H. Parker), causing him to fall heavily. The Chief Constable (D.C.J. Arnold) and the Matron of the Hospital (Miss E.M. Robinson) ran to help. Carpets were sent flying, Press photographers dropped their cameras and officials were knocked back in the blast. 60 02 23 60 02 26 CIP

The News has provided a vital lead in a search for some 350-year-old manuscripts which may hold the key to the history of the Carmelite religious order. An American researcher appealed for help to find the documents which were last heard of in the Philips Collection of historical papers. The News ordered its correspondents to make inquiries and they were discovered in the library of a former Ramsey schoolteacher. Now the researcher is heading to Ramsey straight away. The Carmelites settled in Chesterton in 1237 but then moved to a site near the new Queens' College buildings. 60 02 23a

1960 02 24
In a large rambling Saffron Walden house built of oak 18 children have come together to find a happy family life centred on a couple whose philosophy is as simple as their days are full. They are Mr & Mrs S. Wilson, who in public life are known as Alderman and Councillor, but who to their effervescent young wards are Uncle Stan and Auntie Kit. The children come to the house from the London County Council. Each has his own background history, which is of no concern to us. "We love them and give them a home, just as we would if they were our own children", they say. 60 02 24 & a

Tuck shops will not be banned from Cambridge secondary schools but the City Dental Officer will confer with head teachers to draw up a list of saleable food that was least harmful to teeth. It would be better to control what was sold rather than ban them together otherwise children would bring food into school with them. However the provision of snacks for pupils who travelled long distances was by no means universal – Soham Grammar School gave up tuck shops some time ago with unqualified success, councillors heard. 60 02 24b

1960 02 25

Arthur Leslie Symons, former MP, death – 60 02 25 # c.33

1960 02 27
Princess Margaret visit 1958 & Tony Armstrong Jones as student – 60 02 27 # c.02

1960 02 28
Tucked away in a Mr W. Godfrey's storeyard at Ickleton are two disused village fire engines, one about 200 years old. Both pumps were horse drawn and it took 48 people working in relays to operate the older machine. The other, a Victorian model, was in working order until recently. Now they stand alongside the builder's modern fire-fighting appliances, relics of an age when a village fire meant that all able-bodied men round about had to assist in fighting the flames. Cambridgeshire Fire Brigade were keen to obtain them but Mr Godfrey is anxious they should be inherited by his descendants, providing they are interested in looking after them 60 02 28

March 1960 CDN

1960 03 01
Cambridge should be granted County Borough status and so control its own destiny, the Local Government Commission recommends in its draft proposals. But Cambridgeshire would not then be an effective administrative unit and should be merged with the Soke of Peterborough, Huntingdonshire and the Isle of Ely to be able to provide a comprehensive range of services. Royston Urban District should join the new county but Newmarket should remain in West Suffolk and St Neots be transferred to Bedfordshire. Now the recommendations will be subject to public consultation. 60 03 01 & a # c.35.7 # c.35.1

1960 03 02
Sometimes talented people are intensely modest about their work and dislike publicity. Such is the case with Miss Isabella Mackay who is a partner of a local engineering firm and a remarkably fine artist. She was taught enamelling by the celebrated Louis Joseph of Geneva, attended two schools of art, jewellery and engraving in Birmingham and taught occupational therapy – including basked work – at Papworth in the early days of the Settlement. She has produced some original engravings of the colleges and has exhibited in this country and on the continent. 60 03 02 # c.63

Proposals to amalgamate Cambridgeshire, Huntingdonshire, the Isle of Ely and the Soke of Peterborough into a new county have been described as 'local government gone made' by the MP for Cambridgeshire. David Renton is also known to oppose any suggestion that Huntingdonshire should lose its separate identity and may resign from the Government if the proposal goes through. Major Legge-Bourke for the Isle of Ely says it is impossible for fenland areas to be efficiently government by people who do not understand their special problems. The only MP to welcome the proposal is Hamilton Kerr for Cambridge City who says he is delighted that the claim for county borough status has been recognised. 60 03 02a # c.35.1

1960 03 04
Willingham Black Bull licence 60 03 04

1960 03 05
Harston youth club meets in the village hall and has 145 members. More would like to join but have to prove a qualification of residence. One week the Cambridge bus arrived almost full with city youngsters who wanted to spend the evening there; they had to be told that things could not be run in that way. There is a canteen which sells soft drinks and tea, coffee and snacks, table tennis and table games and a police officer teaches boxing. The principal activity is pop dancing for the club has a gramophone and a skiffle group. But if all the youngsters want to do is to prop up the walls, talk to one another and smoke then this is a legitimate and proper thing for a club to fulfil, says the Vicar who organises it. 60 03 05 60 03 12 CIP

1960 03 07
A 25-hour non-stop jive session at The Dorothy ballroom was won by The Rebels, a team of jivers from the Corner House Café in King Street. The American team from Alconbury were the first to crack, followed by the Corpus Christi team and Daddy's Nite Club. At the end of the session only three members of these teams were on their feet. Back at the Corner House Café the Rebels' supporters took the news of their triumph quietly. In their leather jacket and jeans they talked over cups of coffee. But the juke box was silent by order of Magistrates. Two of the Rebels, Colin Knight and Graham Jones used the session as a practice for a 25-mile cycle sprint race. 60 03 07 # c.69.2

1960 03 08
Newmarket Association for Prosecution of Felons history 60 03 08

1960 03 09
Central Hotel sketch 60 03 09
Central Hotel college attitude 60 03 09

1960 03 10
A final decision to demolish the Central Hotel was made by King's College after discussion with the Cambridge Preservation Society. Only five Fellows voted to try to preserve the St Edward's Passage façade while demolishing the rest. Everybody agrees that the interior was in a hopeless state of disrepair. When the college bought the property in 1936 they intended to develop the site. In 1956 they concluded that no part of the hotel could be preserved and commissioned a new building. 60 03 10 # c.61

1960 03 11
The City Council is to pressure the Ministry of Transport about the proposed new bridge over the river at Chesterton. The route was approved four years ago and both Messrs Pye and Marshalls – the two large employers of labour in the area – consider it to be a matter of urgency. But the Mitcham's Corner improvement scheme would be relatively inexpensive and was being forced on them by the Government. This would further delay the proposals to provide a complete bypass on the Chesterton route. 60 03 11 # c.44.7

MP Major Legge-Bourke spoke of the rocket base at Mepal. It had a higher proportion of NCOs as against other ranks. There were plenty of first class warrant officers but practically no ordinary aircraft men. There was only one on the base when he visited. He felt very sorry for the fellow surrounded by so many stripes. The Under-Secretary of State agreed: he had never seen so many sergeants in one place in his whole life. If all bases were as cold and constituencies as cold as the Isle of Ely then he was sorry for the young chaps who have to stay there day and night looking after the installations. But morale was extremely high. 60 03 11a # c.45.8

1960 03 12
The Minister has confirmed compulsory purchase orders concerning houses in Norfolk Street which the City Council are anxious to pull down for the second stage of the East Road redevelopment scheme. The area affected was generally dilapidated, over-crowded and of a demolition standard with some of the buildings giving a general impression of decay. Now they can go ahead with erecting new houses, flats and shops 60 03 12 # c.23 # c.49.4

1960 03 14
Mildenhall USAF miniature airlift 60 03 14

1960 03 15
Cambridge boat builder H.C. Banham has been asked to build a new stern section for a racing clinker which was damaged when a hippopotamus took a bite at it. They are to ship it out by air to the Zambezi Boat Club. Mr Banham says that local oarsmen should appreciate their good fortune. 60 03 15 # c.38 : rowing

1960 03 16
One of the landmarks of Cambridge which has overlooked the city for about 60 years was demolished. The 100-foot chimney on the Newmarket Road once belonged to one of the city's brickworks which closed down about a year ago owing to the lack of clay. A large portion of the base of the chimney was cut away and propped up by wooden supports. These were then set alight using paraffin and wood shavings and smoke gushed from the top of the chimney for the last time before it fell slowly and gracefully to the ground. The actual kilns have already been demolished to make way for Watts and Son, timber importers 60 03 16 # c.23

1960 03 17
Police houses being built on Cambridge ring road have been damaged. Seven-foot-high breeze-block walls have been pushed down and windows broken. Brignell and Sons, the builders, say they want to get these houses finished as soon as possible so that the police could occupy them and thus stamp out such vandalism caused by irresponsible youths. Now they have had to employ a night watchman. 60 03 17

The new Mill Road branch of Barclays Bank will be under the management of Mr C.R. Smith who is also manager of the Bank's Cherryhinton Road branch. Barclays has had a small branch on Mill Road for some time, but the new one is larger and offers wider facilities. 60 03 17a # c.32.8

1960 03 18
Ninety small boys and girls flock to Rock Road library every Thursday to hear stories read by Miss Kathleen Asbery, the recently-appointed children's librarian. She visited a school's youngest infant class and when told she was from the library one small girl asked "Is she here because we have some books missing?" "It seems awful that children should think of librarians as ogres who stand behind counters, stamp books and charge them a penny for a late-returned item", Kate said 60 03 18 # c.77.4

The death of Mr W.D. Arnold of the Grocery Stores, Hauxton has left a gap in village life which will be hard to fill. He was badly wounded in the 1914-18 war but with great courage took over a small grocery business which he ran for 38 years. The only store in the village, it became the hub of parochial life. Despite his disability he became a founder member of the Hauxton Home Guard and served continuously until it was stood down in 1944. Evidence of his popularity was shown by the forty floral tributes at his funeral. 60 03 18a

Pub inn signs have been making a comeback. The Blue Lion at Fen Ditton has a three-dimensional figure of the heraldic beast, The Angel in Market Street have put up a very pleasant sign while the new Snocat on the Arbury estate commemorates Sir Vivian Fuch's journey to the South Pole. One of the nicest of the old signs is the big glowing Golden Rose which grows out of the wall over the door of the little public house in Emmanuel Road 60 03 18b

In a small room hidden away at the back of the Shire Hall, from which the County Civil Defence services were once run, a huge and priceless collection of books, maps and documents relating to the Bedford Level Corporation have just been delivered. Soon the newly-appointed County Records Officer, Miss Clare Cross, Honorary County Archivist Captain Percy Bales and manuscript repair expert, Mr B. Grainger, will start the vast job of indexing them. The work of the County Records Office is growing so quickly that recently it moved into larger and better accommodation which once formed part of the Shire Hall Clinic 60 03 18c

Call to tradesmen to relinquish University wine licences 60 03 18d c.27.4

1960 03 19
Snax van 60 03 19

1960 03 22
Work on the widening of Hills Road bridge is slightly behind schedule but is expected to be open by the end of the year. Soon traffic will be diverted on to the new portion of the bridge to allow engineers to take down and rebuild the rest. Twelve beams of pre-stressed concrete have already been laid. When completed it will provide for a dual carriageway with a eight-foot wide footpath on either side of the bridge 60 03 22 – pic 60 03 24

Railway Traveller's Guide history 60 03 22 #c.26.2

1960 03 23
Perse new school film 60 03 23a c.36.5 # c.65.5

1960 03 24
Builders are now shoring up the interior of the Central Hotel in Peas Hill prior to demolition. Yesterday the Central Tea Bar, which occupied the corner of Market Hill and St Edward's Passage, closed and bricks were piled in front of its entrance. The Midland Bank will stay in the building although some changes will have to be made while the first phase is completed. The new building should be ready in about two years 60 03 24a

1960 03 25
The floor shuddered under 200 pairs of dancing feet. The combined sounds of the trumpets, trombone and clarinet bounced from ceiling to wall to hit the ears with a pleasant sweetness. The Riverside Jazz Club was in full swing. Every week 200 teenagers get together in an upstairs room of the Y.M.C.A. and jive. Baggy sweaters, tight-fitting trews or flared skirts for the girls are the order of the day with jeans and sweaters for the boys. The band line-up includes Ted Vousden on banjo, Tony Thurlboune on trumpet, Andy Cooper (clarinet), Tony Scott on drums and Sid Barrett on bass. Rodney Dale features as pianist for specialist numbers. 60 03 25 # c.69

Three new major building projects are all progressing satisfactorily. The first storey of at least one building on the Churchill College site is already visible from Madingley Road. The cast iron arches of the old Garret Hostel Lane Bridge have been removed with a temporary wooden structure erected over the river. In East Road the scheme for redeveloping a large area previously occupied with derelict buildings is rapidly taking shape. Maisonettes will be constructed in the first stage followed by shops, flats, roads and houses. 60 03 25d

University 'Image' magazine launched 60 03 25a # c.05
Cottenham daffodil picking 60 03 25b
Sprite caravans factory 60 03 25c

1960 03 28
King motor cycle history 60 03 28 #c.26.485
The hidden watchers with a window on the world – Post Office view of Cambridge 60 03 28a

1960 03 30
During spring-cleaning at the Cavendish Laboratory an ancient-looking instrument was found in a dusty corner. It has a wooden frame inside which is a set of bellows with eight outlets on the top. When the dust was cleaned off the maker's name of Griffin and George was discovered. Scientists think it was an organ used by Dr Alex Wood in acoustics research about 75 years ago. 60 03 30a

Joan Harborne book on landlady 60 03 30

April 1960 CDN

Please make what use of this you may. Kindly remember where it came from – www.mikepetty.org.uk

1964 04 01
George Pickering the King Street jeweller took up ear-piercing as a sideline eight years ago. Since then he has pierced the lobes of more than 7,000 pairs of ears – about 20 'patients' a week. Girls come in groups from Haverhill, Ely, Huntingdon and Northampton and often queue up to go behind the screens for the three-and-a-half minute procedure which will turn them into women capable of wearing ear-rings. Very few of them faint. He has also had a few boy customers who just want the left ear pierced. 60 04 01

Macintosh and Sons, the long-establish firm of ironmongers have moved their showrooms from Cambridge Market Hill to Mill Road owing to the congestion in the town centre. "The days have gone when farmers could pull up with their horse and trap to purchase instruments", they say. From the new warehouse and instrument shed they sell anything from a hand tool to a combine harvester costing over £2,000. Nearby stands the foundry that was in use until 30 years ago where they made lamp standards and ploughshares for the Town Council. 60 04 01a # c.27.2

1960 04 04
Sawston parishioners have clubbed together to buy a car for their vicar, Rev Ronald Bircham. The new clerical grey Ford 'Popular' saloon is to be considered one of the amenities that go with the parish incumbency, not his personal property. "It is one of the most wonderful experiences I have ever had as a vicar", he said. In the past parishioners had put their own cars at his disposal in emergencies, such as a call to a dying person, or he had hired one. The Bishop hopes other parishes may follow suit. 60 04 04

1960 04 05
'Diggings' are in short supply in Cambridge. Over the last 15 years the temporary accommodation problem has gone from bad to worse, and unless one really strikes it lucky a furnished flat or a room in a 'middle class' lodging house with meals provided is right out of the question. There is a natural hostility towards children and most landladies just have not got the room for complete families. They prefer to let rooms to students who only want a bed for the night. Legislation has done little to ease matters and the small investor has practically disappeared from the market. It is now only economically worth while for the man who buys whole houses to convert them into flats. 60 04 05 # c.27.45

The Cambridge Left Club protested against buying South African goods – 60 04 05a

1960 04 06
There has never been more work for a blacksmith than there is today, with the ever-increasing number of children's ponies together with the repairing of machinery, for a tractor is far more destructive than a horse ever was. But there are fewer young people willing to learn the job and the training period was a long one, longer even that that of a doctor. There are now 11 thatchers and plenty of work for them to do but the problem lay in obtaining the right kind of materials as combined straw is no good. There are only three potters and millwrights are fast disappearing the Rural Industries Organiser, R.C. Lambeth, reported 60 04 06

An articulated lorry carrying 10 tons of paper cartons for a frozen food firm overturned at Mitcham's Corner at dawn. The load was catapulted through three plate-glass windows of Mitcham's shop but the lorry driver, Charles Wain of Isleham, was unhurt. The manager, Edward Pull who lives above the shop was awakened by a terrific crash at 5.30 am. Two of the three windows had been recently put in and on display were carpets and soft furnishings. 60 04 06a

In April 1939 a Cambridge squadron of the Air Defence Cadet Corps was formed. It soon had three flights of 25 cadets with more on the waiting list. They all bought their own uniforms and paid three pence a week towards the upkeep of the Squadron. In 1941 it became the Air Training Corps. It now has nearly 100 cadets commanded by Flt/Lt Donald Snazle who joined on its formation and served as a bomb aimer during the war 60 04 06b # c.45.8

1960 04 07
The owner of the Kinema Café in Mill Road said that when he took it over in 1957 he tried to make it attractive and spent a great deal of money on putting it in order. At first he deterred teenagers by taking out the automatic phonograph and tried to attract the student trade by dressing up the tables with white cloths and menu card. But this failed. The only clients he could draw were teenagers, 85 per cent of the sales were of tobacco and the rest cups of tea. 60 04 07 # c.27.47

1960 04 08
A last-minute bid to save the Central Hotel was made too late. For builders are preparing for the final stage of demolition of the historic building in Peas Hill. 60 04 08

Histon haunted house home of D.A. Dale 60 04 08a

Soon elderly couples will move into brand new bungalows on the Chalklands Estate at Linton to become the first tenants of a new housing welfare scheme. A dozen specially designed bungalows with long-burning stoves and an electric cooker have been built by the council in a pleasant spot on this hillside estate for the exclusive use of old people who might otherwise spend their last few years in hospitals and County Council homes. A resident warden will ensure they lead their own lives for as long as they can 60 04 08c

1960 04 09
New microscope designed by University team – 60 04 09 # c.36.9

City libraries' staff shortages – 10 changes means service may fall below usual high standards 60 04 09a # c.77.4

Alan Ford trainee goalkeeper Cambridge City Football club 60 04 09b # c.38 : football

1960 04 11
The Rev Hugh Mansfield-Williams who is leaving Harston and Hauxton after six years will be remembered for sitting by the roadside on Poppy Day to collect money from his parishioners for the church restoration fund and for his work for the youth of the villages by the formation of a successful youth club 60 04 11

College barbers history feature 60 04 11a # c.27

1960 04 12
Cambridgeshire Regiment history – Volunteer corps 1860-1905 60 04 12 # c.45.3

The Leys School, having passed through the stages of war-time requisition and evacuation and the post-war restrictions on building, is now undertaking a large programme of building expansion. Extra science laboratories have been built and the kitchens, gymnasium and the swimming baths modernised. Now West House is to be completely reaccommodated in a new modern building on the edge of the playing fields over looking Coe Fen. Builders lorries are passing in and out of the gates with busy regularity. Self-contained as it is – with its own chapel and theatre and even its own water supply – it arouses the curiosity of passers by. 60 04 12a # c.36.5

The parish of St Andrew the Great has had no Vicar for two years because it has had no vicarage to offer. Now it has bought a house at 142 Chesterton Road. The peoples' warden, J.W.W. Filby says it should remove the main drawback to the appointment of an incumbent to take over the place of Canon A.L. Woodard who officially retired two years ago but has been carrying on. The gift of the living is with the Lord Chancellor whose department is actively considering a successor 60 04 12b

1960 04 13

The A.A. box that used to stand in the fork at the junction of the main Cambridge-London and Cambridge-Bishop's Stortford roads at Trumpington has been moved to a small lay-by on the London Road almost opposite the junction. The new lay-by provides safer off-road parking for motorists and is more convenient. 60 04 13

1960 04 19
The Cambridge Cattle Market on Easter Monday was like Petticoat Lane and indeed many of the numerous stall holders came from just that place. From early morning cars and people streamed over Hills Road Bridge to the market. All the policemen Cambridge could muster were sent to exert some form of control but were fighting an impossible battle. Farmers who generally flock to the market on Monday mornings were greatly outnumbered by whole families enjoying a day out in the warm sunny weather. 60 04 19a # c.27.3

Cambridgeshire Regiment centenary 1908 - 60 04 19

1960 04 21
Ald Mrs Lilian Mary Hart Mellish Clark obituary – 60 04 21

Mr M.A. Manning owns 111 acres of horticultural land at Willingham – a striking development from the single acre with which he started 33 years ago. Now he has become the first fruit grower to benefit under the new Horticultural Improvement Scheme. Joseph Godber of the Ministry of Agriculture visited him to say they will help fund two new refrigerated chambers for storing fruit. Mr Manning also hopes to get funding for a new packing shed and grading and washing equipment. 60 04 21a

Cambridge will be without its usual street decorations this summer because the staff at the Corporation's Cherry Hinton Hall Nurseries are busy preparing plants for the Royal Show ground. The Hall came into the council's possession soon after 1934 and now two acres are used to grow plants for roundabouts and recreation grounds. They include fuchsias, petunias, stocks, asters, dahlias and lobelia to say nothing of 3,000 daffodils, 20,000 pansies and 40,000 wallflowers. 60 04 21b # c.18

1960 04 22
A suggestion that radioactive waste from the University laboratories was being buried in Madingley Woods has been denied. The University had a store which was locked and shielded with thick walls where radioactive waste was kept until packed and shipped off to Harwell who finally got rid of it. The Department of Radiotherapeutics acted as a clearing house for other departments which used smaller quantities. The greatest care was taken that liquid waste did not get into the public drains and laboratory technicians are instructed on the handling and disposal of such substances. 60 04 22 # c.36.9

1960 04 23
'Image', a new picture magazine edited by Cambridge undergraduates is aimed at thoughtful people in universities throughout the country. 60 04 23 # c.04

1960 04 25
The Department of Metallurgy in the Cavendish Laboratory was badly damaged by fire for the second time in eight months. Last September a number of teaching laboratories were affected and rescued equipment moved to the area now ablaze. Prompt salvage work by firemen and students prevented damage to a £30,000 electron microscope. Part of the roof of the Physical Chemistry block had to be hacked away by firemen watched by about 300 spectators. 60 04 25a # c.36.9

Sir Oswald Moseley had a jelly slapped in his face by an undergraduate when he spoke at the Union Society on Britain's future in Europe and Africa 60 04 25b

Parking meters may be installed in Cambridge. It would cost sixpence to park for half-an-hour in an inner zone. When the time has expired a yellow flag flicks up and a patrolling parking attendant will place a yellow excess charge notice on the car. It can then stay for a further period when a red flag flicks up. This makes the motorist subject to prosecution in the courts. Two hours later and the car can be towed away. Councillors expect a certain amount of objections from shop-keepers and think yellow lines on the roads will injure the town's appearance. 60 04 26a

1960 04 26
William Topper who left school when he was nine years old and who has worked with his hands for the last 70 years is to be made an honorary Master of Arts of the University, becoming the first master stonemason to receive one. He has restored the Gate of Honour at Caius College, replacing pieces which had been missing for 300 years and has been in the Senate House once before, when he laid some tiles. Now he will take the day off from work and in mortar board and gown receive the degree from the Vice-Chancellor. 60 04 26b

1960 04 27
Constant Babington Smith analysed aerial photos during WWII - 60 04 27

1960 04 28
Costs of building the new Hills Road railway bridge have increased by £20,000 because unusually difficult ground conditions mean it needs deeper and more substantial foundations. But the County Council hopes to construct a bridge over the level crossing on the Cambridge Road at Histon. It will mean the demolition of five houses and affect the gardens of 17 other properties as well as the complete rebuilding of the Histon nursery school. 60 04 28

1960 04 29
The news that part of the worked-out British Portland Cement clay pits at Cherry Hinton are to be used as a Corporation rubbish dump have aroused opposition. There had to be some better way of getting rid of refuse than putting it in a pit. It would take 25-30 years to get it filled and unless every cartload of rubbish was immediately covered with earth it would become rat-infested. But other pits had been reclaimed: Herbert Robinson's garage in Newmarket Road was built entirely on a filled-in pit. 60 04 29

"Men's plain socks knitted free" read an advertisement in this newspaper. It was placed by Mrs G. Bowen of 'The Place', Ickleton. This charming woman is 84 years old and loves knitting. During the war she knitted more than 550 pairs and currently finishes four pairs a month. She likes to read while she is knitting but has to concentrate on the heels and so leaves the turning to do until she is not wanting to read. She is always ready to help people and has fought many issues of importance such as council houses and water supplies. She has visited Linton Hospital every fortnight since 1920 taking a bundle of newspapers and magazines. 60 04 29a

A Cambridge church in the course of erection, at present serving families whose membership extends from babies in arms to septuagenarians, once again could not cope with the size of its congregation at Easter. It is the Church of St Nicholas Ferrar on the Arbury Road Estate. The foundation stone was laid in July 1957 by Princess Margaret and part of the building was dedicated in December of the following year. But the congregation has grown too large and at Easter the parish communion had to be divided into two to accommodate the 80 families who meet there on Sundays 60 04 29b # c.83

Tyrell's Lodge, a thatched cottage at London Road Shepreth, has been converted into a motel, the only one in the country. Mrs Jean Mansfield started serving afternoon teas four years ago and was soon besieged with visitors. They sold out of food but had forgotten to get a 'closed' sign and people still poured in. Many were fascinated by the thatched-roof cottage and asked if there was sleeping accommodation. So they designed two new wings and added a drinking lounge and large dining rooms where there will be dinner-dances every Saturday evening. 60 04 29c

All the property on the south side of John Street, Cambridge, is good property; quite a lot is privately owned by the occupiers who wanted to stay. They should not be forced to leave their home because the whole area is to be demolished and rebuilt. The council would be adopting 'Gestapo methods' if they insisted on the destruction of their houses. But people who lived in hovels felt exactly the same and if the council subtracted one or two properties they would destroy the whole scheme 60 04 29d Commons should be closed to horse owners from November during the winter season – 60 04 29d.

1960 04 30
Jack Wright of Howlett End, Wimbish, started work as an apprentice in a tiny blacksmith's shop owned by F. Bright at Thaxted in 1896. During the Great War he served in the Field Artillery as a shoeing-smith, then set up his own business in Wimbish. Now, aged 80, he is still wielding his smith's hammer. "Of course there are not many working horses to be shoed these days, but I still prefer them to the modern tractor", he said. 60 04 30

Joshua Taylor is taking over the Arts Theatre to celebrate their 150 years of business. The production of a play telling their story has been put in the hands of Mr Gabor Cossa, the antique dealer and dramatic critic. It is in the nature of an undergraduate revue, not unduly concerned with advertising the merits of the firm. There will also be window displays with contemporary costumes showing the range of clothes they have sold over the years 60 04 30a # c.27.2

May 1960 CDN

1960 05 02
Schwaben redoubt Cambridgeshire Regiment's finest hour – 60 05 02 & a # c.45.5

1960 05 03
Passengers can now fly from Cambridge to almost anywhere in the world after Customs made available facilities for checking passports and luggage at the airport. Three large buildings are being converted into comfortable passenger transit, baggage and customs halls in readiness for the holiday rush. Marshall's have installed specialised electronic equipment and hope to develop it into the largest civil flying field in Eastern England. They also hope to capture the valuable trade of US service personnel from nearby bases to the Continent 60 05 03a # c.26.1

Light industries already accommodated in Cambridge may be moved to a site between the sewage farm and the industrial development south of Milton. Part of the land is used by the Cambridge Pre-Cast Stone Company and is within the proposed Green Belt. S.G.B. has applied for eight plots for workshops engaged in light industry on land used for storing and breaking up Army vehicles. It is an area of no great beauty, is primarily derelict and very little use for anything else, an Inquiry was told. 60 05 03b # c.27.1

1960 05 05
Reach mother and daughter found dead with gunshot wounds – 60 05 05 & 09

A Cambridge tailor recalled that in the mid-1920s undergraduates wore sports jackets and grey flannel trousers with 27-30 inch bottom, now the average was 18. Some 80 per cent of undergraduates today are studying on grants and wear duffle coats and sloppy-joes, tartan windcheaters and jeans. But the demand for suits, although much reduced is still steady. A man in his third year will buy a dark grey suit to mark the start of his care 60 05 05 # c.27.2

1960 05 06

The reconstructed electricity sub-station at Shepreth is one of the most up-to-date in the country. Previously when power has failed there have been delays, sometimes of a considerable period, before information has been received by the Electricity Board. But this one includes an automatic 'Datofonic' alarm which automatically telephones the control room as soon as anything goes wrong. It will also check the switches and play back the findings using transistors for amplification 60 05 06a

Gt & Lt Shelford Church of England primary school assembly hall dedicated – 60 05 06b

Reach church restoration – photo – 60 05 06 CIP

1960 05 10
Lode new cemetery consecrated – 60 05 10

1960 05 11
Joshua Taylor story Arts Theatre – 60 05 11 # c.27.2

Sir - Great Wilbraham church pit was for years the happy hunting ground of numberless holiday makers and naturalists. Three years ago it was over by the RDC for future refuse disposal. It was said to be infested with rabbits so public money was spent uprooting a few shrubs in the bottom and wire barricades were erected to keep people out. But now manure has been dumped there to serve the convenience of the adjoining estate. This must be stopped – G.H. Beeton, parish councillor. 60 05 11a

1960 05 12
Florence Chapman applied for possession of her house in St Luke's Street. She and her husband ran a newsagent's business in St Albans but now wished to sell up and retire back to Cambridge. Since 1947 their house had been rented to the caretaker and cleaner at St Luke's Church School. They said it was convenient for them to be close at hand for locking-up at night but the judge felt Mrs Chapman was entitled to have her house back in four months. 60 05 12

1960 05 13
Mrs M Lambeth of Fulbourn has done much to revive corn dollies, the straw plaited symbols of a successful harvest. It is one of the oldest crafts in existence and different counties have their own traditional design. The umbrella and the bell represent Cambridgeshire. It was the custom to make them of the last corn in the field 'after the devil has been thrashed out'. They were then hung in churches in thanks for a successful harvest and the old dolly burnt. 60 05 13

There was grave concern at the serious water shortage in Willingham where the supply was old and inadequate for modern needs. Some houses are completely without water for many hours during the day and growers cannot irrigate their glasshouse plants. The trunk main passed near the village and the Ramsey Board had agreed that a supply could be taken from it to relieve the problem until the system was overhauled and both the quantity and the pressure brought up to a reasonable standard. 60 05 13a

The change from steam to diesel at the Cambridge railway depot has transformed train drivers' lives. The rattling, hissing, gritty foot-plate - where in cold weather they were frozen on one side and baked on the other - has been exchanged for the enclosed windowed cabin of the new engines with its upholstered driver's seat and armrests, its foot warmers, compact controls and ashtray. Driver William Creek who worked with steam for 40 years says it used to be rough – his insides were shaken up by the rattling. There was a wooden seat but it was more comfortable standing up. Fellow drivers William Thulborn and Sidney Hutton agree. – 60 05 13b # c.26.2

Jim Wooders looks after shopping bags Drummer Street – 60 05 13c # c.26.46

1960 05 20

Denny Abbey being restored – 60 05 13d, 60 05 20 CIP

Quietly and unobtrusively for the past two and a half years, craftsmen of the Ministry of Works have been busy at Denny Abbey, preserving its old buildings for the nation as an ancient monument. Work is slow and careful but it is continuous and there are five men at work there daily - a stonemason, a bricklayer, a carpenter and two labourers. When the abbey is finally thrown open to visitors in two or three years' time it is likely to prove one of the most popular of the Sunday afternoon resorts in Cambridgeshire. 60 05 13d

Have you ever been shopping and wanted to get rid of the heaviest of your parcels, or needed somewhere to park a suitcase or bicycle? Here in Cambridge one example of private enterprise has a solution for this kind of problem. If you travel regularly to and from Drummer Street 'bus station you will know Jim Wooders, who sits at the end of Christ's Pieces and has been looking after parcels for well over 30 years 60 05 13c

1960 05 14
A crowd of teenage girls waited for an hour outside the Regal Cinema hoping for a glimpse of 'pop' singer Cliff Richard. Inside attendants were placed near the stage to head off the teenagers who surged forward at the end of his performance. Cliff's first three numbers were drowned by the screams, his fourth was barely audible and the rest of the time he unsuccessfully tried to make himself heard over a crescendo of stamping feet, clapping hands and screaming voices. 60 05 14 # c.69

1960 05 16
On Saturday Stonemason William Topper, watched by his wife and family, was made an Honorary Master of Arts of Cambridge University. He sat among dons in the Senate House where he had been only once before – to lay some marble floor tiles. Then he stood bareheaded while the Orator read a speech in Latin which praised his excellent craftsmanship. It had been a great help to the University and its colleges that Mr Topper was available whenever their venerable walls or arches or towers were crumbling. Today he was back at work, chipping away at the steps of the new Perse School. 60 05 16

1960 05 17
East Barnwell's new scout hall opened – 60 05 17

1960 05 19
When the St Martin's factory in Bray's Lane, Ely, closed down as a preserves producing centre a year ago it was hoped to re-open it as a canning factory. Now comes a rumour that this will happen in four month's time. The Company Secretary would not comment on suggestions that a labour force of 70 (mostly women) would be required but inquiries at the Ministry of Labour's Ely offices revealed they are compiling a register of suitable labour to offer if and when production commences. 60 05 19

Cambridge United's football pitch gets facelift – 60 05 19a

1960 05 20
The remains of a large Stirling bomber which crashed just outside Icklingham during the last war, loaded with incendiary bombs, are now being unearthed by a team of RAF experts. The area is wired off and notices saying 'Danger. Unexploded Bombs' erected in the field. There are not many large pieces of the bomber left, as it exploded on crashing, but 20 live bombs and 1,000 rounds of ammunition have been recovered. They will be detonated on site when the work is completed. Things have been made more difficult with the large quantities of phosphuretted earth in the pit which can cause a nasty and painful burn. 60 05 20

1960 05 21
Christ Church repair appeal – 60 05 21

In demolishing the old Central Hotel near Cambridge Market Place, the contractors have found it to be in a worse condition than they anticipated, but it has conformed fairly accurately to the surveyor's report prepared by King's College who own the site. The comparatively recent facings of the interior of the building were concealing a rotting structure underneath and the building has to be pulled down with extreme care – almost brick by brick. The hotel is being pulled down in two phases of which the first has now been completed. The first half of the new building will be erected before the second half is pulled down 60 05 21a

1960 05 24
Cambridgeshire Regiment WWI history – 60 05 24 & a

1960 05 27
At Cambridge about 250 postmen are employed for sorting and delivery work. They arrive at 5am, sort their walks until seven and then leave for the first delivery which has to be completed by 9.30. After breakfast they sort again until 11 when they start the second delivery. This finishes two hours later, leaving the postman the rest of the day free. When letters are posted to overseas destinations with insufficient stamps the Post Office makes up the correct amount, then notifies the sender requesting him to return stamps to cover the cost. This service is greatly appreciated and few fail to comply. 60 05 27

Some 1,800 military and civilian personnel are working at the US base at Mildenhall and there are ample facilities for them. It is unusual not to see at least one game of baseball in progress with volley-ball and horseshoes also popular. This involves throwing a horseshoe around an upright stake. The religious life is catered for in an 'universal' chapel and they are encouraged to worship in British churches and chapels as well. There is a dance almost every weekend and a weekly floor show in which British and American stars appear. Most of the American children go to a school on the USAF base at Lakenheath and the wives have their own social clubs. 60 05 27a

1960 05 28
Prospect Row demolition concerns – 60 05 28

Mr. E Cave, the Cambridge City Librarian has appealed for the establishment of an East Anglian bibliography. It is the librarian's duty to provide an effective link between readers and books and information. For this purpose the acquisition and recording of all books, pamphlets and publications is essential. Most of these are recorded in the British National Bibliography, but the Eastern branch of the Library Association has been concerned about the number of unrecorded items issued about their area. It has been decided to commence an East Anglian Bibliography to include all items issued since January 1960. Publishes are asked to send copies to the Central Library at Cambridge or supply details of the author, title, publisher or printer, together with the name of the person from whom copies may be purchased. 60 05 28a & b # c.77.4

1960 05 31
The shortage of water at Willingham is entirely due to people using it for irrigating their smallholdings, says Chesterton RDC. There is more than adequate for domestic needs but all last summer it was run away on the land night and day. When people wanted to fill their kettles and have a wash in the morning there was none to be had. The irrigation lines were wasteful – they did not just watered plants but in between rows as well. 60 05 31

June 1960 CDN

1960 06 01
Russia is unpopular with Cambridge people as a holiday centre. One travel firm who last year ran organised trips there were so disappointed with the response that they dropped the scheme. So far nobody has even asked about a Russian holiday. Italy and Spain are the most popular countries. Increasing numbers of holidaymakers are taking their cars with them on holidays abroad. These days

Ferryfield in Kent where cars are flown to the Continent is almost as busy as London Airport 60 06 01b

A building which formerly belonged to the Air Ministry and at one time was a club for American Servicemen has for the past two years housed the Hilltop Club. More than 197 members attended a birthday party and which Lady Hillingdon said it was one of 2,000 clubs for pensioners run by the W. V. S. Its members seem to become younger, not older, as time went by and she hoped this rejuvenating process would continue. After tea Mrs Peggy Auton entertained with songs 60 06 01a

1960 06 02
Sir – Orchard Street is one of the minor beauties of Cambridge. Its old gas lamps harmonized well with the curving row of low-roofed cottages, enhanced their picturesqueness and were charming objects in themselves. But they are to be uprooted and replaced by hexagonal aluminium obelisks which are out of character among old tiles and climbing roses. Orchard Street is not a bypass and does not need glaring lights. – Guy Ottewell 60 06 01c also: Opinion on new street lamps divided – Warkworth Terrace – 60 06 02a # c.24.8

William Everitt of Wilburton is 101 years old but longevity does not prevent him from being active. He is often seen working in his garden. Wilburton born and bred, he spent 11 years of his youth away from the village as a groom and valet in service at several large houses in different countries before returning to take up fruit-growing and farming and still rents two small-holdings. He became one of the first members of the Parish Council in 1894 and for 10 years was chairman. His wife, incidentally is aged 90. 60 06 02

1960 06 03
Not many girls can claim dairy farming as their hobby, but 24 year-old Margaret Stocker of Hemingford Grey helps her brothers farm more than 650 acres of land. Lifting heavy sacks of corn and cattle food does not present any problem; she helps with ploughing, straw baling, feeding the stock, tractor driving or harvesting and makes butter three evenings a week. A lively, interesting girl, she has the clear complexion of someone she spends most of her time out of doors. 60 06 03

For most people sweeping the roads would be a boring and wholly irksome task. But to Arthur Morgan, who has done it for 20 years, it is always interesting and occasionally exciting with ample scope for meeting people. Arthur, a sprightly man of 63 was once an army sniper but now sweeps the Market Square twice a. day though he dislikes having to dodge the traffic. Cinema queues shed a quantity of litter which he carts away in his barrow without complaint. He has come across many items of values including rings, watches and on one occasion a car bonnet! 60 06 03a # c.21.5

Islip House Preparatory School in Huntingdon Road is one of those good things in independent education which, after many years or unobtrusive excellence, will have to fade away under the onslaught of modern financial difficulties. Miss Mildred Turner, its Principal, is taking no more new pupils. The nine she teaches at the moment will be taken to the point where they are reader to enter the Perse or another Grammar School, but will be the last pupils that Islip House will ever have. 60 06 03b # c.36.5

1960 06 04
An air raid shelter erected at the beginning of the war in the garden of 44 Chalmers Road, Cambridge, was never used because it was thought to be too shaky. Mr P.C. Grimwood, who constructed it, used a wonderful variety of iron work to strengthen it including a fender, a quantity of large keys, a sewing machine, part of a bedstead and wire netting. After the war it was left because the cost of demolition was prohibitive. Now it has finally been removed after three days hard drilling with two pneumatic drills, leaving 20 tons of rubble. Workmen say it was well-built and only a direct hit in the doorway would have destroyed it. 60 06 04 # c.45.7

1960 06 08

Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother opened Angel Court, the new extension to Trinity College built to ease the student accommodation problem. She travelled by normal passenger train and was fifteen minutes early arriving at the college where she showed interest in some of the ancient pottery discovered during excavation work. Later a crowd of several thousand people gave her a rousing send-off as her special launch left the forecourt of the Pike and Eel at Chesterton to take her to watch the May Races on the River Cam 60 06 08 & a # c.02 # c.44.5

Students lounged on the river banks using their gowns as table cloths for alfresco meals and thousands of people crowded the Backs for the University Madrigal Society's punt-borne concert. Madrigals for five voices did not carry far against the chilly breeze and aeroplanes ('most tiresome' said the conductor, Raymond Leppard) and ducks competed for attention. But the audience listened in rapt silence until the singers' raft moved slowly away to the strains of 'Draw on, Sweet Night'. 60 06 08b # c.69 # c.39

1960 06 09
Work has begun on the new church of St Martin, Suez Road, in the heart of the housing estates it is intended to serve. The present building, used both as a hall and church, was built over 25 years ago and it is time some more permanent place of worship was available for the 5,500 parishioners. The architects have made minimum maintenance costs an important feature: by using cedar window frames and alloy drainpipes, practically all outside paintwork is eliminated. 60 06 09 # c.83

1960 06 13
Pye engineers envisage vastly improved overseas telecommunications by the use of space satellites and the moon, complete newspapers transmitted during the night through existing television sets and the establishment of more than 100 local broadcasting stations. Active relay equipment to be carried in a space vehicle is practicable now. Their design requires a single valve operated from solar cells and could be easily launched by the Blue Streak missile. It would bring undreamed-of improvements in world-wide communications, J.R. Brinkley of Pye Telecommunications told a conference. 60 06 13 # c.27.1 : Pye

1960 06 14
Cambridgeshire Regiment history 1947-1960 – 60 06 14 & a # c.45

1960 06 15
Blanche Althena Clough, vice-principal of Newnham college dies – 60 06 15

1960 06 17
Peak's Furnishers Ltd of Fitzroy Street have opened large premises in the new covered shopping arcade in Bradwell's Court. The electrical appliances section is well-stocked with the leading makes of washing machines, spin-dryers; demonstrations are a daily event and prompt delivery guaranteed. It also has a number of model kitchens fitted right down to the last detail and attractive displays of bedroom, lounge and dining furniture are beautifully displayed in room settings. 60 06 17a & b # c.27.2

Members of Chesterton Youth Club have made week-end canoe camping trips down the Granta, Rhee and Brandon Rivers using boats of their own making. No fewer that six two-seater canoes have been built in the Chesterton Evening Centre wood-work room and the finishing touches of paint and varnish are now being applied. The hobby is so popular they will shortly be starting canoe building classes 60 06 17 # c.26.3

Direct and easy air travel to the Continent from Cambridge Airport is now possible for holidaymakers and businessmen as Airline operators and travel agents have taken advantage of the granting of customs facilities. Scheduled and chartered flights together with all-inclusive air tours will be available this summer, eliminating time-wasting journeys to London. The development of an international airport is also important to University undergraduates as well as hundreds of students taking exchange summer courses at the colleges 60 06 17c # c.26.1

1960 06 20
A hundred years of volunteer soldiering in Cambridgeshire was marked by a stirring parade and drum head service on Parker's Piece. The First Battalion of the Cambridgeshire Regiment was joined by two other organisations also celebrating their centenary - the Army Cadet Force and the Combined Cadet Force. The Colours were ceremonially paraded and the Regimental band accompanied the hymns. Afterwards the Commanding Officer (Lieut-Col P.D. Storie-Pugh) led his men to their headquarters in East Road as people demonstrated their pride in the Cambridgeshires 60 06 20 # c.45.8

Chemical laboratory Lensfield Road windows shattered by violent explosion – 60 06 20a

1960 06 21
It took twenty men twenty hours at the week-end to demolish Cambridge's old Hills Road bridge – twice as long as the contractors had anticipated. Originally it was thought that the removal of 140 tons of steel girders would take a little over eight hours, but the trains passing underneath proved a little more troublesome than expected. The men took advantage of the frequent breaks to wipe the sweat from their brows and light a cigarette. The scene resembled firework night for, as the oxyacetylene guns cut through the girders, a spray of red hot sparks would fall on the ground giving an impression of a 'golden rain' 60 06 21 # c.44.7

The Isaac Wolfson Foundation has made a grant of £100,000 to New Hall, the first college at Cambridge to be founded this century. It is the largest single donation since an appeal was started four years ago. Others have come from Dame Catherine Fulford, Nancy Viscountess Astor and the John Lewis Partnership. At present there are 53 students on the Silver Street site but the new building on Huntingdon Road will accommodate 300. 60 06 21a # c.44.5

1960 05 22
Mrs Louie Wallace of Maid's Causeway has been the ladies champion of Cambridgeshire Small-bore Rifle Association for ten out of the past eleven years. She is a member of the Gogs Rifle Club which was originally the 5th Battalion Home Guard Club. It is a good sport for women as it needs enormous concentration and self-discipline. Club and county badges are worn on the back of the shooting jackets so they can be seen while the competitor is actually firing. 60 06 22 # c.38 : shooting

1960 06 24
Lucy Boston Hemingford Grey house – 60 06 24

Gone are the days of custodialism at Fulbourn Hospital; gone are the days of locked doors, padded rooms and ever-watchful gaolers. In their place has evolved an open hospital with a relaxed, homely atmosphere with no suggestion of the stigma which has at times been attached to it. Ten years ago there were few effective treatments for mental illnesses but now through various therapies and drugs even the most acute cases no longer need to be imprisoned under lock and key. In the Derby and Joan Club the elderly and most disturbed people spend the days playing dominoes, cards and board games while patients in the Ely Ward travel into Cambridge each morning to work 60 06 24a # c.21.5

The small independent Kimway School is to close when the twin sisters, the Misses M.L. and E.A. Macleod retire. They have run the school in Millington Road since 1941 on the ideas proved successful with Brownie packs and 621 pupils have passed through their hands. The children range from three to 11 years and stay to take their 11-plus or try for scholarships to the Perse. Recently the number of children from university families has dwindled and now the wooden part of the school premises has rotted and the cost of heating and repairs is becoming increasingly expensive. 60 06 24c # c.36.5

A meat wholesaling firm applied for permission to build a new slaughterhouse at Cherry Hinton. They had wanted to put it at Haslingfield but were told that certain electrical apparatus they intended to use might interfere with the work of the Radio Astronomy Laboratories. Residents are appalled that children might be able to see pieces of dead animals lying abut. But there was already one slaughter house in Cherry Hinton and it would be good for people to see what happened inside one. 60 06 24d

Fred Matthews of Sawston has been singing at the village church for 72 years. At the age of 79 his strong baritone voice still rings out at many services accompanied in the choir by his own son and grandson. He is a jovial, robust character who is perfectly contented with memories of his active and varied life, including how he was once sent to Girton College to teach the ladies how to play cricket. His bell-ringing activities continue and his greatest pleasure is to a take a trip to the seaside whenever there's a spare seat on a coach be it with the WI, Young Wives or Mothers' Union – he does not mind. 60 06 24e

1960 06 28
The newly-opened Cambridge International Centre is a place where foreign visitors irrespective of race, colour or nationality may meet to further friendship and understanding. It has a lounge, library and restaurant serving inexpensive snacks. It is hoped some 300 people will use it daily for talking, drinking, coffee or reading. Activities include record recitals, illustrated talks, dances and lectures together with organised outings to places of interest 60 06 28 # c.36.52

1960 06 29
Meldreth residents win Greyhound Derby – 60 06 29

July 1960 CDN

1960 07 01
It is an unsettling life with a fair and you have to be born and bred within the sound of the roundabout to be able to dwell peacefully with a community which is virtually a small world on its own. Many have grown up through a sequence of homes on wheels. They have seen the pack horse and tents, the two wheeled tilted cart with canvas covering, the four-wheeled wagon, the 'whoopee' which introduced the modern luxurious caravans complete with running water, sink units, kitchen stoves and television. If owners do not have a bath sunk into they floor they go to public baths or even knock on the door of a private house and request one for a small fee. 60 07 01 # c.27.3

Work has commenced on the construction of 184 houses, 36 flats and 96 garages, with associated roads and sewers on Oxmire and American Lanes, which will comprise the first stage of the Huntingdon expansion scheme. A new perimeter road will enclose the whole housing estate and a strip of common land will separate it from the town centre. Housewives will walk to the shops through pleasant park-like surroundings and tradesmen will deliver to back doors. Eventually the town will accommodate about 1,000 London families with the factories which will provide their employment. 60 07 01a

For more than a year now, Cambridgeshire police patrol cars have been fitted with 35mm cameras mounted behind the windscreen. The photographs of road offenders in action have been used to obtain several convictions of careless drivers. Far more pictures are taken than actually used in prosecutions and constables are encouraged to use the cameras on every possible occasion. It also saves time waiting for a photographer to be sent out from Cambridge to record details of a road accident 60 07 01d # c.26.48 # c.34.7

Thousands of people gathered at Castle Hill to protest at the Local Government Boundary Commission proposals to merge Cambridgeshire into one administrative unit with Huntingdonshire and the Isle of Ely. There was no evidence any benefit would result. The wish of the City of Cambridge to govern itself as a county borough was criticised as an act of betrayal of the county of which it was the centre. It was better to be capital of an historic and ancient shire that to be a modern statutory creature. 60 07 01b # c.35.1

Madingley Hall antique furniture on show at Antique sale – 60 07 01c

1960 07 04
The '99 Rowing Club had been accused of being more of a social club than a rowing club, said the Mayor when he opened their new boathouse, the first to have a licensed bar. It has been converted from a ramshackled building with much of the work done by members. Councillor Mole recalled that when he came back to Cambridge in 1930, one of the first things he did was to join the '99 and he had soon made many friends. R. Alsop, Club President had showed him the Bailey Cup for Senior Championship Fours which included the inscription ' C. Mole, 1932' 60 07 04 # c.38 : rowing

1960 07 05
There was a damp welcome for early visitors to the Royal Show at Trumpington. But those who ventured out stared at the sheep, peered at the pigs and commented on the cattle and horses being paraded in the Grand Ring. In the Demonstration Area six red hot forges, each manned by two blacksmiths, were busy fitting horses with new shoes. One of the strangest sights was of farmers standing in the pouring rain watching demonstrations of artificial irrigation machines pumping gallons of water on grass already soaked by overnight rain. 60 07 05 # c.22.8

1960 07 07
In order to rescue the Arbury Estate from the 'grave danger of creating deserts of asphalt' a playground should be constructed on a site between Alex Wood Road and Mere Way. It would have a mound of earth 15 feet high and an open flat area providing scope for ball games, tricycles, marbles etc with a play park equipped with vertical and horizontal tree trunks. The ground is to be made deliberately uneven with mounds and hollows for imaginative play. But swings have been condemned as dangerous and expensive 60 07 07 # c.37.9

1960 07 08
Duke of Edinburgh visits Wicken Fen 60 07 08

Rowing costs 1876 and 1960 – 60 07 08a

For a long time the Hunt family, who work on Common Farm at Comberton Road, Hardwick, have lived in fear of low flying jet aircraft crashing near their white painted cottage. Late yesterday afternoon two RAD planes collided in mid-air, killing eight young fliers and scattering blazing wreckage over a wide area. One, a Vickers Varsity, plummeted to earth only a few hundred yards from the cottage, the other came down in a bean field two miles away. Victor Hunt said: "We have been expecting this for a long time. The planes come so low my son can see the dials on their instruments and the pilots even wave to him" 60 07 08b Inquest – 60 07 15 CIP

1960 07 15
There are 18 bungalows for elderly people at St Audrey's Close, Histon each with a small garden. One of the oldest residents, Mrs B.E. Topper, who is well into her eighties, grows rows of vegetables and beds of flowers. Home helps visit regularly and some people have their lunches through the WVS meals-on-wheels service. All enjoy living there and feel secure knowing they have their independent but that the warden calls each day. Chesterton RDC was the first to launch this method of housing locally and their lead has been followed by other councils 60 07 15

New offices and works for CDN – architect's sketch 60 07 15a

Until five years ago the Church of England clergyman really could have been called a poor man: he owned his vicarage freehold and had to keep it in good order. Now the Church Commissioners have taken over payment of the rates and the diocese has started a dilapidations scheme to help with the larger maintenance bills so things were easier, one said: he did really get a free house to live in. But last year his coal bill came to £70, plus £15 quarterly for electricity and one month he provided 143 meals for visitors with 12 people turning up unexpectedly to tea one quiet Sunday afternoon 60 07 15b

Dons are considering Cambridge's latest controversy – the designs of Lady Mitchell Hall, part of the Sidgwick Avenue development. One called it 'a monstrosity' and a 'primitive log stockade'. Dr W.H. Plommer detests 'the sheer brutality of the scale, the unaccommodating harshness of the shape … it could be anything from a prison to a power station'. But architects say they find the comments that it is 'ugly and brutal' and 'mad and revolting' hard to understand 60 07 15c

1960 07 18
A four day manhunt for 'Gipsy Jack' ended when he was found in a secret hideout inside his mother's hut in the gipsy encampment near Oakington where he had been since he shot and battered a woman in the corner of a cornfield. Superintendent John du Rose of Scotland Yard realised the old railway carriage was shorter inside than out and pulled away a chest of drawers from an old wooden partition But 'Gipsy Jack' shot himself in the head with a shotgun before please could break in 60 07 18a 60 07 14 60 07 18 60 07 18a

1960 07 20
The Civic Trust was formed in 1957 and amongst its activities are volunteer work camps to improve the look of the countryside. One is being held at Bourn where members are demolishing air raid shelters and concrete bases. A derelict school has been put at their disposal for accommodation and the Civil Defence has supplied stretchers for them to sleep on. Amongst the party are several foreign students, undergraduates from various British universities and a 75-year-old retired accountant from Cheshire. Two ladies are expected; the men hope they will be able to cope with the cooking, although sledge hammers will be available for them if they wish 60 07 20

Local government reorganisation debate – county's position changed since 1946 - 60 07 20a & b # c.35.1

1960 07 21
The first stage of the restoration work on St John's church, Duxford is almost complete. While the remainder of the 12th-century edifice still stands derelict, broken and an unhappy example of vandalism and hooliganism, the roof of the North Aisle has been stripped, treated and replaced to give some indication of how the church will again be usable in seven or eight years. The work is being done by local people and the next stage involves re-guttering, re-glazing the windows, re-pointing and redecorating. Already mural paintings and rare carvings have been revealed. 60 07 21

1960 07 22
Every day an army of Cambridge women leave their homes early in the morning and begin their work as bed-makers at the colleges. One is Miss L. Hagger of Sturton Street who started work at Trinity in 1924 when the women had to be at the college gate at six o'clock. She clears the living room, washes-up the dirty crockery and glasses, cleans the rugs, carpets and surrounds and dusts. Breakfast is then cooked for the Fellows and while the undergraduates have gone down to hall for their meal, their bedrooms are tidied and the beds made. At one time bed-makers used to wear cuffs when she made the bed and changed her clothes after cleaning. A hat was always worn. 60 07 22 # WOMEN # c.44.5

1960 07 28
Lorry overturns Perne Road island – 60 07 28

August 1960 CDN

1960 08 02
The Alphabet Museum in Dr David Diringer's St Barnabas Road garden is unique. Somewhere in the world there had to be repository devoted to all the means man has used to communicate his ideas by written language. The fact that it should be placed in a back garden of a house in an ordinary residential street is really neither surprising nor unusual. Hundreds of scholars have visited and sent specimens since it opened a year ago. One day it may expand and be adopted by the University. 60 08 02 # c.03
History of car in Cambridge – Reeve – 60 08 02a # c.26.48

1960 08 04
Tents of all colours and groups of girls kneeling before wood fires in the grounds of Pampisford Hall mark the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of Guiding. Many of the nearly 680 Guides and Rangers aged between 11 and 21 year are experiencing this type of outdoor living for the first time. They include girls from Lithuania, Germany, Greece and Nigeria together with one suffering from poliomyelitis and another encased in a spinal jacket who cannot even lift her head. The amenities are perfectly adequate. Water lad been laid on, each group collects its daily rations from a central source and milk is delivered from a nearby farm. 60 08 04 # c.37.9

With the coming of the official testing of ten-year-old vehicles the smaller garages around Cambridge fear that if they have to fail their customers' cars it might promote ill-feeling. But larger garages say that if motorists have been attending regularly the car should be in 'tip-top' condition and will not fail. All the local garages who have been accepted as official testing stations have the necessary equipment such as 'beamsetters' and 'brake meters'. Garages feel that a number of older cars will be taken off the road when their owners find they will have to spend a great deal of money to reach the standards laid down. 60 08 04a

Pye Telecommunications scientists are considering sending satellites into outer space so that high frequency radio waves can be 'bounced' off them and make television transmissions between England and America an everyday occurrence. It would enable clear messages to be sent to any part of the world without long-range interference. A number of civilised countries had no effective methods of communicating with one another and the radio-telephone system would cut costs, W.K. Stevenson told businessmen 60 08 04b

1960 08 06
Mill Road Railway Bridge was built in 1889 and Percy North, the well-known chiropodist, remembers playing under the bridge arches when they were being constructed. There was a level crossing over the railway then but it was not much used because there was hardly any traffic. There was nothing beyond, Great Eastern Street and Argyle Street were just ballast pits for the railway and the only house was a large one where the Broadway stands today, he recalls. 60 08 06 & a # c.26.2 # c.44.6 # c.44.7

1960 08 09
Commercial and Industrial Painters of Coldham's Road has the first 62-foot long caravan transporter in the country. Customers are astounded on first seeing the trailer and local police were 'a bit taken aback' at first. So far it has not met with any difficulties as they have been able to by-pass awkward corners: when leaving Cambridge it is driven along Perne Road and Long Road to Trumpington. The firm, which began ten years in Sedgwick Street, sprays caravans and vehicles owned by haulage contractors. 60 08 09

1960 08 11
Ernest Draper from Cottenham has been a knife grinder for fifty of his 61 years though it was only six years ago that he changed from pedals to a mechanical means of operating his knife-grinding machine. Daily he can be seen with his bicycle pulling his machine around the Cambridgeshire countryside. His work takes him on a journey of about 50 miles and it takes six months to complete one circuit. 65 08 11

The mobile Mass Radiography Unit has taken 200,000 X-ray photographs in the region since it extended its service to the general public in 1949. Since then deaths from TB have fallen from 24,000 to 3,000 a year. But there has been a marked increase of tubercular infection amongst young people in Cambridge. The town plays host to a large number of people from abroad who come seeking building or factory work and one source could infect ten others. 60 08 11a # c.21.1

A Tudor house at Fen Drayton is believed to have been built as a farmhouse in the late 15th century using oak that may have come from a previous structure. Now it is being extended with wood taken from the old Angel Court of Trinity College which matches the rest of the house perfectly. In spite of some very ancient-looking woodworm it is iron-hard and perfectly sound with carpenters having to sharpen their saws two or three times a day. 60 08 11

1960 08 12
Plans for a proposed dual carriage road from Cambridge to Newmarket show the existing roadway as the 'left-hand' lane with a similar road running parallel to take traffic in the opposite direction. The famous avenue of trees near the July racecourse would act as a division between the two carriageways. There could be a roundabout where the road joins the A11 at Stetchworth Toll. Repairs and modifications have been carried out on the existing road for 14 years. Some of the first workmen employed just after the war were German prisoners. 60 08 12

1960 08 13
Duxford villagers complained of noise from the aerodrome. Shirley Rooke, whose firm makes tallow, grease and fertilisers, often has to make three telephone calls for one message as she can't hear a word the other person is saying. The chemical works, known locally as the 'glue factory' has a chimney 50 feet in height and aircraft have to tip their wings to avoid hitting it. Jettisoned fuel tanks cause damage while vibrations draw the rivets from roofing tiles and crack plaster in bungalows. The RAF says they try to avoid excessive noise on Sundays during church services. 60 08 13

1960 08 16
A Cambridge bio-physicist could provide the answer to cancer and leukaemia if he had the use of a modern computer to work out millions of observations. John Kendrew is working in a prefabricated building and with a first-class computer costing about £1,000,000 could tackle problems beyond contemplation, says Professor Fred Hoyle, the Cambridge space expert, in an article in the 'New Scientist'. He goes on to attack a Government decision to spend £60,000,000 on space research which would be repeating American and Russian projects. They should put the money into sciences that are held up by lack of funds 60 08 16

1960 08 17
Councillors expressed disappointment over the lack of success of the new roller skating rink on Christ's Pieces. Opened at the beginning of the present school holidays it was expected to attract youngsters. Instead it has remained unused. But children did not know the new amenity existed: there was only a small notice on a gate that was kept closed 60 08 17 # c.38 : roller skating

1960 08 18
Somewhere in the field around Eltisley there may be hidden £1,000 of gold communion plate from the village church which disappeared 400 years ago. Ancient records show that two chalices and a gold cross have been missing since the reign of Edward VI. The church was sacked during that turbulent time and churchwarden John Rose thinks villagers may have hidden them under an old windmill. But nobody now knows where it stood 60 08 18

Harry Bevan joined the Ortona Motor Company in 1912 and for seven years drove the bus to Sawston, for which he was allowed 50 minutes each way. Carrying parcels as well as a steady stream of passengers he made five journeys a day and using the maximum speed of 12 mph always had time for a good smoke break at the end. The first double-decker ran from Station Road Corner to the Rock Hotel on Cherryhinton Road and back via Blinco Grove. It was not allowed to go through the town because it was a menace to shop signs. 60 08 18a & b # c.26.46

1960 08 20
Two Cambridgeshire rivers are so heavily polluted that the County Medical Officer has posted notices warning of the dangers to bathers. The River Lark at Isleham receives the outfall of the Bury St Edmunds sewage disposal works at Lackford. But samples taken at Waterbeach, Fen Ditton and Grantchester show the pollution in the Cam is even worse 60 08 20

Within the next few days a Cambridge rock'n'roll group may be offered the chance of turning professional. The Redcaps has five members, average age 19: Robin Bailey on drums, Jimmy Graham (lead guitar), Graham Smith, Neddy Bishop and vocalist Tony Clark. Their guitars cost up to £148 and the drums £98 but they were fortunate in being given an amplifier. They dress in grey trousers and black shirts but hope to buy new gold lame jackets soon. Their first performance at Newmarket was 'a bit sticky to begin with' as was that at Daddy's Night Club in Cambridge, but now they play in halls around the region. 60 08 20a # c.69

1960 08 22
History of Cambridge photography – 60 08 22 # c.65.5

1960 08 23
Captain A.E. Longley of Ascham Road Cambridge has been competing in the Officer Veterans' Cup race at Aldershot since before the war. But now as he approaches the age of 90 he has decided to stop. He served in the army for 46 years, fighting in the Boer and Great Wars and the Second War again saw him in uniform as an instructor at a bridging school. In 1950 he joined the Ambulance Section of the Civil Defence, passing his driving test at the age of 81. He still presents the picture of an agile, interested and contented man, although beyond the age for serious running. 60 08 23

1960 08 24
A young Cambridge businessman has started a contract-hire scheme for light aircraft. Anyone who can fly a plane can hire one of four Austers from Grantair of Grantchester for a day, week or longer. Some Oxford University students recently flew one to Ghana; their trip proved profitable for they have been offered executive jobs in the newly-formed Ghanaian Air Force. Another plane is giving holidaymakers joy rides off an improvised landing strip on Blackpool beach. The firm also have an aerial taxi service and plan to import kits of special ultra-light aircraft from France so do-it-yourself pilots can build their own planes. 60 08 24 # c.26.1

1960 08 25
The credit squeeze is a serious attack on industry, C.O. Stanley, chairman of Pye Ltd told the annual meeting. The sales of TV sets are down which must affect profits. But when the electronics side of the business was established 12 years ago they had little idea how successful it would be. Communications makes possible bouncing messages off the moon and the devilish weapons of the future can be controlled only by electronics. Shareholders were then taken on nation-wide tour of the company's factories by closed-circuit T.V. 60 08 25

1960 08 26
Houses in Prospect Row and Brandon Place will be compulsorily purchased and demolished. Most of the 62 properties were overcrowded, suffering from dampness, deteriorating woodwork and perishing plaster. A Government Inspector agreed they were unsuitable for human habitation. But resident say the Council are trying to get the property 'on the cheap' and they are not being offered adequate compensation. 60 08 26 # c.23

Cambridge roller-skating enthusiasts will be able to enjoy an extra day's pleasure this season because the man who rents the Corn Exchange rink is superstitious. John Harris, who runs a chain of rinks round the country, never likes reopening on Fridays. Local skaters took full advantage and several dozen were speeding round the wooden floor within minutes of opening time. His Cambridge manager W. Lloyd-Worth, who has spent over 50 years in the roller and ice-skating business, hopes to organise National Skating Association championships and has sought proctorial permission from the University. 60 08 26 # c.38 : roller skating

1960 08 30
The Minister has rejected proposals to redevelop the Lion Yard area by the building of a giant car park, shops, offices and hotel. He called the scheme 'basically unsound' as it envisaged shop and office expansion instead of decongestion in the central area and crowded too much development on to the site. He also thought that commercial expansion was neither necessary or desirable. The scheme was formulated by city and county council architects after years of study and research. It included a 750 place car park with petrol filling station and an unusual shopping precinct where all vehicular traffic was barred. 60 08 30 # c.49.67 # c.49.4

1960 08 31
Next week 100 American children at an US Air Force base will walk into their brand-new classrooms just 100 yards from a giant concrete runway used by 1,000 m.p.h. atom-carrying jet fighter aircraft. Lakenheath base school will provide full educational facilities for nearly 1,400 pupils from nursery age right up to teenagers. It is part of a huge new scheme to provide 'right through' education for the children of military and civilian personnel stationed at bases throughout NATO 60 08 31

People living in cottages shortly to be demolished in Prospect Row and Brandon Place described conditions. One housewife told of hearing rats at the back door, "I found the hole and covered it with coal". Another spoke of having two rats in the house which is so damp she has to redecorate once a year. "My eldest boy, who is four, catches cold after cold and I shall be glad when we move. I don't care where it is as long as it has three bedrooms and a bathroom", she says. A Ministry inspector said the properties were unfit for human habitation. But an 81-year-old lady who has lived in her house for 11 years said: "I can't understand why they want to knock them down". 60 08 31a # c.23

September 1960 CDN

1960 09 01
Bill Walton joined the staff of King and Harper at their Thompson's Lane garage in 1910. In his early days he was concerned with the extremely temperamental racing car 'Chitty-Bang-Bang II'. This powerful monster consisted mainly of an ex-Zeppelin airship engine mounted on a Mercedes chassis. Another of his charges was a 'Prince Henry' Metallurique which in 1912 was the fastest car ever seen in Cambridge. He once went to a customer's house to collect a car only to find it could only be moved in reverse. He drove it backwards to the Bridge Street garage through Saturday afternoon traffic. 60 09 01 # c.26.48

The Cambridge to Colchester railway line becomes a single track beyond Shelford and winds down the river Stour into Suffolk through a series of little country stations which make it one of the prettiest railway journeys in East Anglia. The canopied platforms of Linton, Haverhill, Sturmer, Stoke, Clare and Cavendish fit picturesquely into the landscape. A four-horned Jacob ram journeyed in the luggage van on its way to Wales to be crossed with a mountain sheep. Labelled, it travelled alone as a parcel. It was joined at Stoke by a bicycle and by a baby in her pram accompanied by her parents. But the guard said it was not big enough to carry all the parcels. 60 09 01b & c

1960 09 02
Some 30 airmen at Duxford RAF Station took their lunch in the N.A.A.F.I. canteen rather than in the official Service mess. They claimed the cookhouse food was 'lousy' and not worth eating as the chips had been overcooked and were hard. But they had no complaints about the breakfast or high tea and said the supper provided for those on flying duty was 'marvellous'. The Wing Commander admitted the hot tables were out of date; new ones had been on order for two-and-a-half years and ought to be installed by Christmas 60 09 02a

Bridge over railway track between Shelford and Bartlow – 60 09 02

Whittlesford new bypass road bridge from railway station – 60 09 02b

1960 09 03
As advance manager of Billy Smart's circus Reg Mankin must arrange for regular deliveries to Midsummer Common of 300 pints of milk a day, newspapers, laundry and cleaning as well as meat, fruit and vegetables. Then there is bread and cakes and the gas to cook it all on. Besides the provisions for the 300 artists and staff there are the needs of the 200 animals whose appetites are much larger than any human's. In one week they consume ten tons of hay, 600lb of horsemeat for the five hungry lions, 140lb of rice for the 12 polar bears and 12 sacks of stale bread for the elephants. 60 09 03 # c.76.2

Barnwell Junction seems the perfect model of a small Victorian railway station with its lacy wooden canopy and the initials of the Great Eastern Railway intertwined among the cast iron legs of its platform seats. It has two passenger trans a day but handles 30,000 tons of merchandise and minerals a year including sugar beet, grain and potatoes, malt from Barnwell Maltings and scrap iron from the railway's own engineering depot. Its one porter, Mr Bidwell keeps the platform swept and is also gardener, handyman and weekly replenisher of the oil lamps in the semaphore signals. 60 09 03b # c.26.2

1960 09 05
View from stage of old Playhouse cinema – 60 09 05

Cambridge Steam Laundry on Cherryhinton Road was founded in 1880 making it the oldest in Cambridge. Coldham Model Laundry purchased a motor van in 1910 becoming the first with motor transport. Ely and District Laundry is housed in a modern, spacious building and employs 85 personnel handling 52,000 garments a week. It has canteen facilities with free tea twice a day and 'Music While You Work' – a great favourite with younger employees. Homewash is the 'bouncing baby' of local laundries, starting very humbly on V.J.Day 1945 when two recently-demobbed ex-Servicemen started to 'take in washing'. 60 09 05a b c # c.27

The widening of the Market Street – Petty Cury area of Sidney Street will complement the part that was completed before the war when the Boots and Trueform buildings were erected. Some people feel that the road nearer Jesus Lane is a greater priority but the widened section by the two bus stops outside Holy Trinity will relieve traffic congestion. There is no intention of completing the process right through to Bridge Street says T.V. Burrows, the City Surveyor. 60 09 07

Laundries – continued – 60 09 05d & e & F # c.27

1960 09 06
Marshall of Cambridge Electronics develop analyser used in nuclear physics – 60 09 06

A faint air of ritual, mixed with carnival, characterised the American Football match between Lakenheath and Wethersfield. Hot-dogs and beer and coke were on sale at little booths and the immense rushing sound of a jet aircraft on the nearby runway occasionally broke through the cheers. At the interval a group of attractive girls dressed in the Lakenheath colours danced in formation with bundles of paper streamers and sang songs to the glory of their team. Anyone can go an watch – just drive in and park your car – 60 09 06a

1960 09 09
McManus, the company that caused a stir when they agreed to pay £4,500 an acre for land have decided to put up terraced houses rather than the traditional semi-detached properties on their projected estate between Histon Road and Windsor Road. They call it an experiment in contemporary living that can accommodate the same number of families but with a greater amount of open space around the houses for children to play on. The houses are selling for nearly £2,400 60 09 09a # c.23

Histon station entered for the BR best-kept garden competition earning special class award – photo – 60 09 09 CIP

Work well advanced on by-pass road at Whittlesford; picture of bridge from London side of Whittlesford railway station – 60 09 09

The roller skating rink at Cambridge Corn Exchange attracts enthusiasts from a large area. Saturday morning is the children's morning and with its yards of bunting, the otherwise sombre building has a carnival air. From the very young to the really quite grown up they were tumbling about, wobbling precariously round the perimeter or pirouetting stylishly in the centre. Some of the girls swooped round in short costumes while the run-of-the-mill dressed for the rough and tumble in trousers. Skaters pay one shilling and sixpence (8p) which includes the hire of skates. The rink is leased to J.W. Harris, who also has one at Hunstanton, and is managed by Mr Lloyd Worth who has been a professional in the skating business for 53 years. 60 09 09c # c.38 : roller skating

Just a year ago the USAF base at RAF Alconbury became the headquarters of the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing and nearly 7,000 Americans moved in. The station has its own bank and post office, a barber and beauty parlour, a laundry and motor maintenance department as well as a dispensary, food stores and clothes shop. There is a bowling alley, soccer and baseball pitches. A cinema, hobby shop and community centre provide off-duty means of entertainment, there is a well-stocked library and a base chapel. Houses include all the latest amenities with refrigerators, washing and drying machines, sink units and electric cookers. 60 09 09d e f # c.45.8

RAF Waterbeach visited by Austrian Minister of Defence – 60 09 09g

1960 09 12
Fire damaged a new large meat processing factory being built for Messrs J. Sainsbury at Little Wratting, near Haverhill. The building was quickly a raging inferno and there were explosions as butane gay cylinders were enveloped by the flames. One explosion blew a gaping hole through the roof and the intense heat may have twisted some of the steel framework. The new 35,000 square foot building adjoins the existing piggery abattoir and other buildings at Blunts Hall 60 09 12

1960 09 13
Football supporters fight in hospital – cartoon – 60 09 13 # c.38 : football

1960 09 14
Soham railway crossing Middlemere – 60 09 14

1960 09 15
The new Dottrell Hall Pumping Station, which is to supply water for South Cambridgeshire's comprehensive water supply scheme is nearing completion. Water mains have been laid at Pampisford and Babraham with Fowlmere and Thriplow to follow. But residents of Gamlingay Heath who petitioned for extensions to their village sewers will be disappointed. The scheme would cost £500 for every house served and would not be approved by the Ministry 60 09 15

1960 09 16
Lolworth School was built in 1887 and belonged to the county council since 1910 but with the erection of Swavesey Village College it had become redundant. T.B. Robinson, a farmer of Lolworth

Grange, bought it for use as a village hall. He said it was a marvellous community. When he first came in 1947 there were only 24 dwelling houses, since then 14 more have been added. There was no through traffic and the only thing it had lacked was somewhere people could gather together. 60 09 16

This week some 61 youth clubs will open their doors to admit close on 3,000 teenagers. After a short summer break they will become the centre of activities from jazz to judo, coffee drinking to canoe building. Whether in a small village hall or a new village college the records go on for dancing, out come the table-tennis bats and badminton rackets. In fact anything to keep youth happy, anything useful, anything which stimulates thought or encourages interest 60 09 16a # c.37.9

1960 09 17
Fire swept through a dining hall at Newnham College causing thousands of pounds worth of damage. Firemen wearing oxygen breathing equipment struggled through thick back smoke to reach the heart of the blaze. A section of the flooring in the Sidgwick Hall was burned away and three hotplates damaged. Smoke has blackened the walls and panels have split outwards with the heat. It is not likely to be repaired before the undergraduates return and the girls will be split up in the other three dining rooms 60 09 17 # c.44.5

1960 09 23
Mr & Mrs Peter Issitt of Arbury Road have a beautiful small landscaped garden with miniature Alpine outcrops planned to give an illusion of space. The pond attracts a variety of wild life. Two hedgehogs, seven toads and a collection of frogs live in the garden and birds come each day for bathing and drinking. Their two small daughters have no complaints. They have a lawn with a swing to play on and appreciate the artistic setting 60 09 23 # c.18

Now that cars, scooters and motor cycles are easier to come by and train and bus services much improved, people who work in Cambridge are able to make their home in the country. This has resulted in a mass migration to the 'necklace villages'. For every house built in the city there are two in the county. Higher income groups are buying up individual houses but the main development is in the new 'estates' which are becoming self-sufficient communities. Here a man can join the Parish Council or allotments committee and have a say in the organisation of local events. Electricity and water supplies are laid on in most districts and sewerage amenities will soon also be available. 60 09 23b

Residents of properties in John Street, Adam and Eve Street and Dover Street objected to proposals that their houses be compulsorily purchased for redevelopment. They were not yet of demolition standard and owners had spent a lot of money providing them with modern amenities. Some had been living in the streets for many years and did not like the prospect of moving. Even if they were paid the full market value it would not be sufficient to purchase other houses. But the Council said it was essential for the future that the whole area be developed now. 60 09 23c

Landbeach rectory mural painted – 60 09 23d

University Gliding Club celebrate jubilee – when formed in 1935 they used a horse to retrieve aircraft – 60 09 23e # c.26.1

1960 09 28
Jive session at the British Legion Hall in Fisher Lane, Cherry Hinton, attract teenagers from the surrounding villages. There is no problem with the dancing which was marvellously well organised and no alcoholic drinks are sold. It filled a need for young people and had been successful since it started a year ago. But residents complain that the noise of motor cycles revving up and roaring down the lane keeps children awake and also ruins their television pictures. 60 09 28 # c.37.9

Ely's new railway station room provides plush comfort. Gone are the drab walls, the hard bench type seats, big tables in the centre of the room and the lack of warmth. The old, smoking fireplaces have been replaced by infra-red push-button heaters which stay on for fifteen minutes. Now passengers can rest in an atmosphere of ease and near luxury. There is fluorescent lighting, tasteful interior finishing and beautiful lithographs including 'The road to Thaxted' by Edward Bawden. It is the finest waiting room in the Eastern Region 60 09 28a

Shell-Mex installs experimental electro-mechanical invoice system – 60 09 29

1960 09 30
Basket making and embroidery are usually thought to be the preserve of women. But this is far from true. Since he retired as a chiropodist, Percy North of Newmarket Road, has made many cushion covers, table cloths and chair backs which he gives to the Red Cross Society for their annual bazaar. His other hobby is photography and he also does his own cooking, baking bread twice a week. Mr F.G. Biggs of Impington has become extremely proficient at basket-making which he first learned after being invalided out of the First World War. He sent a fruit basket filled with roses to Princess Margaret as a wedding gift. Both men are in their seventies. 60 09 30

Ernest Robert Evans last member of Evans & Sons solicitors marks end business which began 250 years ago in Ely – 60 09 30 CIP

Cambridge has 32 thatched properties according to a survey. R.C. Lambeth, the Rural Industries Organiser, wrote to Parish Councils who often sent in the wrong number for their village. Often they overlooked the thatched public house in the centre – it was too obvious for them to see. There are three thatched churches, 26 thatched council houses, a clock house at Houghton and a thatched wall at Orwell. But there are only a handful of thatchers to keep them in repair. 60 09 30a

CIBA of Duxford developed bodywork for the Bluebird car – 60 09 30b

Over 1,200 elderly people will converge on Newmarket's Doric Cinema for the annual variety concert. There to greet them will be Newmarket pork butcher, Horace Hawkes, the man behind the formation of so many old folk's clubs. His interest in the welfare of the aged borders almost on fanaticism and no one can have any idea what he pays out of his own pocket for such entertainments. From very small beginnings he built up his business and today his sausages are sold all over the country. 60 09 30c

October 1960 CDN

1960 10 01
A St Ives boat builder has created a modern boatyard out of an old derelict gravel pit in 12 months. Mr L.H. Jones, who moved his business from Huntingdon, cut a channel through to the river and dredged out the bottom. In his workshops he builds anything from small launches to 30-feet cruisers which are used mainly on Fenland waterways. 60 10 01

More than 3,000 milk bottles are returned in a filthy condition every day. They often contain rubber-bands, toys, safety-pins, coins or cement. Some have been used to store turpentine or paraffin. If the housewife would get into the habit of washing them out it would save five pence per bottle to replace them. The possibility of cartons such as those used in vending machines had been considered but the bottle was the most economical method of milk delivery. One day in the future expendable bottles would be used and afterwards collected by the City Surveyor's department rather than the dairyman 60 10 01

New Museums site redevelopment plans – 60 10 01b # c.36.9

1960 10 04
Newmarket telephone exchange was bombed in 1941 and new buildings opened in 1949. Now it is the first in the region to have Subscriber Trunk Dialling. A call to Aintree that would have cost three shillings was now only two. Local calls would be twopence for three minutes during the day and for six minutes at night and on Sundays. 60 10 04

1960 10 05
A ten ton tank filled to capacity and mounted on a trailer drawn by an articulated vehicle turned over as it was negotiating the roundabout at the Newnham end of Fen Causeway. As it fell it hit a parked car a glancing blow. The industrial glue trickled out of the tank's head in a steady stream and traffic had to be controlled while a breakdown truck towed away the car. The resin, used for making chip board, was on its way from the CIBA factory at Duxford. As there was no crane in Cambridge capable of raising the tank, Welch's Transport of Stapleford, sent two six-ton vehicles, and after the resin had been pumped out into other tankers, managed to complete the job shortly after midnight. The final traces of the accident were cleared away when council workers washed down the road 60 10 05

1960 10 06
A student branch of the Communist Party has been formed at Cambridge University. Membership is open to those who agree with their aims and are willing to work for the Party organisation. They will hold public meetings on topics of political interest where the Marxist approach on subjects such as philosophy, economics and culture can be discussed. Meanwhile the Labour Club will hear from Bessie Braddock, James Callaghan and Barbara Castle, the Liberals have Jo Grimond but the Conservatives speakers have yet to be announced. 60 10 06 # c.33

1960 10 07
Cambridge ranks with the cathedral cities as being one of the most pro-clerical towns in the country. It has been called a very spiritual place. Several clergymen speak of a continued increase in congregations with an ever-growing proportion of young people and of young parents now in the first 10 years of their married lives. A number come to church as families, the father and mother in their 30's with their children. But Nonconformist numbers are not rising with a normal congregation of 200 at Zion Church. 60 10 07 # c.83

Disabled learn handicrafts at Red Cross Society HQ – 60 10 07a

A firm of poultry food manufacturers have given a Cambridge University scientist a new laboratory and office building so that he can further his research into the rearing of broiler hens. Dr D. Sainsbury is an authority on poultry and livestock breeding. His advice had often been sought by Silcocks of Liverpool who made the presentation. A small wooden structure, it stands in the grounds of Merton Hall Farm which is run in conjunction with the Veterinary Department. 60 10 07b # c.36.9

The railway crossing at Six Mile Bottom is a dangerous 'black spot'. During peak holiday periods as many as 1,500 cars an hour use the crossing, which closes 40 times a day. A British Railways policeman is on duty on race days and the number of lights on the gate is greater than specified. But many cars travel at 70 mph and do not see it until the last minute. Four or five vehicles have crashed through the gates in the last five years. A bridge is to be built 'sooner or later' 60 10 07c

1960 10 10
Steeple Bumpstead has been virtually cut off by floodwater and all the main roads through it are impassable. An abandoned car is standing with just its roof showing above the waters. Several families of old people have been evacuated from their homes. Teams of villagers cleared mud and slime from their houses as waters six feet deep surged down the High Street. And still the rain is pouring down in torrents bringing danger of more floods and more mud. One of the oldest residents says he has never seen anything like it before. 60 10 10

Harold H. Harper was one of the outstanding men of the motor world. Born in 1878, the son of the village blacksmith at Therfield, he had an early enthusiasm for things mechanical, taking an interest in pedal cycles. In 1897, whilst the academic quiet of Cambridge was being disturbed by its first motor car, he started working in a small Cambridge cycle shop with another enthusiastic young man, W. King. It was the start of a business association which developed into King and Harper. He was a founder member of the Cambridge Rotary Club and took a keen interest in the Air Training Corps.60 10 10a # c.26.48

1960 10 12
Sir – plans to make the centre of Cambridge a 'Pink Zone' with parking meters will have serious implications. Whereas currently 50 cars are parked in Jesus Lane, only 30 can be accommodated at meters. The result will be chaos with cars milling round in vain trying to find a parking space. Can anyone imagine a motorist being prepared to pay sixpence or a shilling to leave his car for three minutes while he takes his suit to the cleaners? Lion Yard is often full by 9.30 am and if the city is to prosper we must have space for vehicles. The only answer is to provide some very large multi-deck parks, then make motorists use them by restricting waiting on the street – 'Fair Play' 60 10 12 # c.26.48

1960 10 14
The Freebooters Coffee Bar and Club in Wellington Street was set up through the determination of John Ewen, a theological student at Ridley Hall. It has full-sized billiard & table-tennis tables & a dart board. But there are no rules. Soon youngsters banned from other coffee bars because of damage started to drop in. A key concern was motor cycles but plans are under way for a maintenance shop and a 'scramble'. They had teething troubles: the record player was stolen and all the records taken, but they were brought back and now various sports clubs have been formed. 60 10 14 # c.37.9

The first full-size completely portable television is made by Pye of Cambridge. It has a 14-inch screen, covers all the usual BBC & ITA channels and includes a built-in aerial. It can be operated entirely from a built-in battery or connected to a car-battery system. It uses super modern transistors which are spreading rapidly through the development laboratories and production lines. One day there may be 'all-round' tv sets in 3D and colour, the company predicts 60 10 14a # c.27.8

Romsey has gained new shopping facilities with the opening of the Co-operative Society's Supermarket in Mill Road. It occupies practically the whole block between Catharine Street and Thoday Street and is a complete transformation of their former grocery, butchery, pharmacy and cottage property. The shop front features anodised aluminium metal work while the four check-out stations are finished in an attractive shade of plastic. 60 10 14b # c.27.2

1960 10 17
Cambridge's public health inspector told how he entered one house to find the occupants had long ceased to use the lavatory. They threw all their rubbish screwed up in papers into one of the streets. Later a police woman, looking at photographs, noticed a baby wrapped up in newspapers lying in a corner of the room. Restaurants could be unhygienic and in one he found a waiter with leprosy. The standard of housing in Cambridge is low: there are streets and streets of houses which in northern cities would have been pulled down many years ago. A smoke control order should be imposed on the centre of the city as smoke from ordinary household fuels is the most pernicious of all. 60 10 17 # c.21.1

1960 10 18
The Vice Chancellor has banned all undergraduates from taking part in Guy Fawkes Night celebrations in the city centre. In recent years November 5th had been marked by particularly destructive and violent acts, including the use of home-make fireworks, which have caused painful injuries to innocent bystanders. Although students have played only a minor part at the occasions the University are under an obligation to help the city authorities check such disorderly conduct. Now Market Hill and the surrounding area will be out of bounds to members of the University 'in statu pupillari' between 7 pm and midnight 60 10 18 # c.39 # c.36.9

1960 10 19

Solomon Greenburgh, public analyst describes role – 60 10 19 # c.21.1

1960 10 20
Stanton House flatlets in Christ Church Street provide luxurious accommodation for 29 old people. Each has a bed sitting room, with the bed space behind a curtain partition, a small electric cooker and fitted wall electric fire. Lavatory and bathroom accommodation is in conformity with Ministry requirements with an emergency bell. There is a large lounge with an open fireplace where old folk can spend their evenings in each other's company and a large open patio with fish pond and fountain. Central heating and lighting is included in the rent of thirty shillings a week. 60 10 20 # c.30

1960 10 21
In the isolated Fenland village of Wicken, on a cold October night, the windows of the Hall were almost the only glow within sight, the record-player the only sound. Thursday nights, Youth Club nights, are looked forward to with enthusiasm. Powerful motor cycles stood parked in the dark outside, their owners playing table tennis and miniature billiards. There was a darts board, a stove, a canteen hatch and a very few girls sitting in a group. The record player standing on the platform at the end of the room was playing 'pop' songs. The club leader, a man in slacks and pullover, with a whistle on a cord round his neck, said it had 21 members, only four of whom were girls. 60 10 21

New Co-op supermarket, Mill Road – 60 10 21aa # c.27.2

Since the opening of the New Chesterton Institute in 1885 members have not been able to obtain any alcoholic drinks in the club. But now it has opened a bar in an effort to increase the dwindling membership. One of the first to patronise it was 89-year-old Sam Gawthrop, who has been a member of the club for 72 years. His drink was a non-alcoholic ginger–ale. "I don't touch much of the stuff now, I am too old for that lark", he said. 60 10 21b # c.37

Churchill College dining room now in use – 60 10 21c

1960 10 22
The British Council's new International Centre in Trinity Street is a club formed to promote international friendship and understanding by providing a social and cultural centre for foreign residents in Cambridge and their English friends. 60 10 22 # c.36.52

1960 10 24
Garret Hostel bridge handed over, history – 60 10 24 # c.46.7

1960 10 27
Many people believe that the future prosperity of Ely will depend on the introduction of light industry. Now Father Guy Pritchard of the Catholic Church of St Etheldreda has inaugurated a campaign of prayer seeking God's help to attract firms. Other churches will join in and Ely Chamber of Trade is also keen. Without doubt some people would be opposed to light industry in the belief that Ely should remain a quiet Cathedral city. One of the biggest issues would be a labour force but children leaving school are unlikely to find employment locally and many of the estimated 800 people who now leave five days a week to work in Cambridge could be kept in Ely 60 10 27

1960 10 28
Over 100 houses and shops, a Church Institute and a public house in an area near the Roman Catholic Church, Hills Road, may be compulsorily purchased by the City Council. Properties in Coronation Street, King George IV Street, Union Road, Bentinck Street, Princess Street and Queen's Street have reached the end of their useful life and were unfit for human habitation. Slates were off the roof, they had rising damp and woodworm. But shopkeepers protested and one owner said she was very attached to the house and it would be a great hardship to leave. 60 10 28 # c.49.4

Nearly 10,000 provisional driving licences have been issued in Cambridgeshire this year. The Driving Test strikes fear into the hearts of learner drivers who range from school boys to old age pensioners. Indicator arms and even gear change levers are broken by nervous drivers who grip the steering wheel until their knuckles show white. The safest drivers on the road are those with physical disabilities; legless drivers require special attachments, using hand controls only. If you can drive in Cambridge, you can drive anywhere, says R.W. Suttle, a professional instructor. 60 10 28a

1960 10 31
Charles Whitaker was one of the country's greatest wood carvers and sculptors. But his most prominent memorial is in Cambridge where he lived. His first stone-carving job was at Ridley Hall but every college bears the mark of his skill. He was responsible for the restoration of the outside of King's chapel, Trinity College fountain and the Gate of Honour at Caius. He also carved the University Arms over the Examination School in Mill Lane and designed the coats of arms on Fen Causeway bridge and Ascham Road Library. 60 10 31 # c.62

November 1960 CDN

1960 11 01
Every village in South Cambridge RDC area now has a mains water supply with the opening of the Dottrell Hall Pumping Station. Previously eleven villages had to reply on shallow wells and hand pumps. These tended to dry up in times of drought and the water had to be boiled as it was considered unfit by modern standards. The new station has a maximum demand of 630,000 gallons of beautiful water. It had cost a lot of money but was worth it 60 11 01a

1960 11 02
Sawston Congregational Church is having to face the fact of falling numbers and real poverty. The little red brick chapel in the High Street which is capable of seating 240 now has a congregation of 35 at the Sunday morning service and 60 in the evening. The annual income is about £750 a year from which it must maintain the minister and his wife, keep the church, the large manse, caretaker's cottage and a large lecture hall in good repair. The congregation refuse anything approaching gambling to raise money, so there are no whist drives. But the original and beautiful little galleried chapel built in 1811 has been cleaned and painted and is used for the Sunday School, Men's Guild and Youth Club 60 11 02

Lakenheath new £2 million school is the first American high school to be built in England. It took three years to build and caters for 728 pupils, 305 of them boarders. 60 11 02a

Many roads were flooded following a torrential downpour. Policemen with red warning lights patrolled parts of Queen's Road which was covered to a depth of 18-inches in parts and the roadway at Chesterton Hall Crescent was also under water. Wilberforce Road was the most seriously affected where water poured off a nearby playing field and fences were pulled up to divert the flow away from houses. The Wheatsheaf Inn at Harlton and a cottage at Barton Road Haslingfield were also inundated. This has been one of the wettest years recorded in Cambridge. 60 11 02b # c.12

1960 11 03
Jim Bone, who is nearly 80 years old and lives at Wiverton, Norfolk, still drives one of the last working donkey-carts in England. He would not change his donkey for anything, which is not surprising as for 25 years Toby has pulled his master's cart without a single break-down. Jim built the cart himself and because of a shortage of blacksmiths he shoes Toby as well. He will continue to operate his own greengrocery round and as far as he is concerned, retirement is still a long way off 60 11 03

The City of Ely Bowls Club, which is less than 50 strong, has repaid a loan of £950 for improvements to the pavilion and now started re-turfing the green for the first time since it was formed in 1925. This zealous and enterprising club aims to be one of the finest in the county and hopes to emulate St Neots, probably the most successful in the area and the only one which has a waiting list for membership. 60 11 03a

1960 11 04
Cambridge's City Librarian, Eric Cave (46), looks upon his job as a vocation. Its prime function is to provide a book and information service for the public it serves. The Reference Library take delight in answering any question on any subject including the date of erection of a certain house in Orchard Street, the best method of cultivating edelweiss and the best food to give a pet frog. They also had a telephone call from a rather harassed married man, whose wife was on holiday, asking for details of how to cook a joint of meat with its trimmings. 60 11 04b # c.77.4

Bourn Youth Centre growing rapidly (see Memories 15 Nov 2010) – 60 11 04

The original pumping machinery at Cheddars Lane sewage station is still in use today with its pumps driven by steam operated engines. Until the war the city's combustible refuse was employed for supplying the engines with steam, boosted slightly by coal or coke. Then the calorific value of refuse dropped to such an extent that it did not do the job efficiently so the system was reversed with steam being obtained from coke boilers to which odd loads of refuse are added. Now a new station will be build running entirely on electricity to be generated from the methane gas produced by the sewage itself at Milton, so completing the circle. 60 11 04a # c.29.8

Cambridge University Air Squadron has six little Chipmunk trainers with nine experienced full-time RAF instructors. Every facet of flying is covered and when the examinations and tests have been passed students are the proud possessors of their pilot's "wings". As an additional attraction each receives a £35 bounty at the end of each year to say nothing of the six shillings a day pay for each complete day's training. Trainees can resign at short notice if they feel their academic studies are suffering and only a very small percentage enter the RAF 60 11 04c # c.26.1

1960 11 05
Eric Hard of Hermitage Dairy, Earith Bridge runs a shuttle service in an ex-army lorry taking school children through floods that have reached a depth of two feet and more from the sluice gates to the village itself. He has been operating the free service for many years as the road is flooded quite often. The children look upon it as something to be greatly enjoyed. When the lorry trundles up to the school n the evening the children rush to mount the step-ladder and climb into the vehicle. Being driven through the actual flood waters is the best part of the journey. Other people who use the service are mostly housewives who journey to the village to shop. 60 11 05

1960 11 07
Comberton Village College was officially opened by Henry Morris who had retired as Chief Education Officer in 1954. The buildings, particularly the hall, workshops and other practical rooms have been equipped so they may be used by young people and adults in the evenings and at weekends. It provides facilities for the countryman as good as those offered in towns and cities and they are packed each evening. The college library, in addition to serving the school, is also a branch of the county library. 60 11 07

1960 11 09
Little Eversden is not considered to be suitable for large development and its residents want to keep the village's quiet rural character. There is provision for another 72 houses but 180 other proposals have been refused permission, a planning inquiry was told. However the developer said there was a demand for more. She wanted to build 20 houses at The Old Orchard, each on a quarter-acre plot. Although there was no drainage at present, cesspools would provide the answer until the village was put on main sewerage 60 11 09a

Last market stall for Mrs B.M. Hughes, handicraft maker; profit to Cambridge Association for Social Welfare – 60 11 09

1960 11 11
Bassingbourn Village College have inaugurated agricultural classes for young men between the ages of 15 and 18 years. The two-year course provides education for farm workers one day a week and covers stockmanship, crop husbandry farm implements and tractors using equipment provided by local farmers. Mr C.F. Standen, a smallholder, says 'You have got to encourage boys to go on the land nowadays. Farming is becoming easier but you have still got to have the men. The best implement is the sunshine: it makes everything so much easier to work" 60 11 11

The school dental service in Cambridgeshire is rapidly becoming a mere toothache service: in the rural area there is half a school dentist for 12,000 children. The amount of dental decay in children has doubled in the last ten years and is increasing. Half the youngsters will require artificial teeth in their late teens or early twenties but they will not get them as there will not be dentists to make them. Parents are meeting increasing difficulty in arranging treatment for their children with fully occupied N.H.S. practitioners and new residents find it practically impossible. 60 11 11a # c.21.1

1960 11 16
Mrs B. Gaye portrait photographer moved Cambridge from Thaxted – 60 11 16 # c.65.5

1960 11 17
Land in Stanley Road was a breeding ground for rats and filthy rubbish had been dumped there, an inquiry was told. Cambridge Caravans moved part of its operations from Ditton Road to Newmarket Road in 1956 and now wanted to store up to 40 caravans on the site behind a wattle fence six feet high. The land was an old claypit found to be unsuitable for building. Some of the houses around it had settled and cracked and were practically unsafe to live in. An adjoining electricity sub-station made a humming noise which rendered the site unsuitable for residential purposes. But planners said five similar applications had been refused and it was reserved for residential development. 60 11 17

1960 11 18
The first stage of the restoration work on Christ Church, Cambridge, has now been completed. The battlemented parapets have been taken down and replaced by unbroken ones. Whilst this work was being done it was found that the main roof had to be repaired and it was decided to reslate it completely. So far £3,750 has been spent and it is estimated a further £8,000 will be required for the remaining work. As yet only £1,000 had been received from appeals. 60 11 18 # c.83

The postman in his navy-blue uniform riding his red-painted bicycle carrying a bag containing a variety of messages, happy and sad, is a permanent fixture of everyday life. Doug Carter is responsible for the city centre round. The first despatch takes him from 6.45 to 9.15, when he returns to the Sorting Office for breakfast. He then sorts for the second round which has to be completed before 1pm. People confide in him, they make a friend of him and in spite of appalling weather conditions and the irksome irregular hours, he feels he is providing a useful service. 60 11 18b # c.27.7

Kelly's Street Directory review – 60 11 18a

1960 11 22
Ernest Cooper is a furniture dealer who lives in Beche Road. His father began the business with a horse and cart but it has grown since those days and the horse and cart disappeared. However his love for horses was re-awakened when he bought a dapple grey pony named Dandy for his daughter. Then, when she had outgrown him Ernest went to Chingford and bought a trap and put Dandy in the shafts. Each weekend he harnesses the pony up and goes for a trot in the side streets or out into the country enjoying the roughness of a pair of reins and the hardness of the buggy seat. 60 11 22 # c.19

Land between Kings Hedges Road and the Arbury estate may be bought by the city for housing – 60 11 22a # c.49.4

1960 11 23
The threat of flooding has hung over Cambridge for as long as people can remember. Some residents regularly take up their carpets and pile up their furniture when they go away on summer holiday in case a storm should occur. When this does occur premises, yards and gardens are left with a deposit of sewage and filth. This should not be tolerated, the City Surveyor told councillors. In Abbey Road the old six-foot high brick sewer has collapsed and been replaced by a pipe only two feet in diameter. A five-year improvement scheme incorporating a new sewage pumping station would cost £1.5 million. 60 11 23 # c.29.8

1960 11 25
First bridge to be built in Cambridgeshire for purpose of eliminating a railway leve crossing opened at Whittlesford – 60 11 25 CIP

1960 11 26
Bus island in Peas Hill relieves traffic congestion outside Guildhall – 60 11 26

1960 11 30
'Telex' is the system businesses use for sending printed messages to one another – a kind of private telegraph service by which the operating of a typewriter keyboard at one end produces a typed impression on a roll of paper at the other. It is used by 40 local subscribers including Cambridge police, Pye, Fisons, Corrugated Cases at Histon, Herbert Robinson and the American Air Force. Now it has been converted to automatic working so by a simple dialling action followed by some work on the keyboard a business in Cambridge can send a typed message to an associate in Glasgow 60 11 30 # c.27.75

December 1960 CDN

1960 12 02
The steepness of the new Garret Hostel Bridge brings complaints, muffled in puffs and pantings, from cyclists, pedestrians and pram-pushers. A gentleman made his laborious way, pulling himself up the slope with the help of the elegant bronze balustrade. A lady, pushing her cycle loaded with laundry in the front basket, exclaimed "Horrible bridge it is now, isn't it". Another added "If it gets ice on it in winter it will be worse still". In fact the council have already been putting grit on the bridge to combat the early frost on its surface. But, as one woman remarked, "There's nothing they can do about it now, of course" 60 12 02 # c.44.7

A love of windmills has led Graham Wilson to buy the tower mill at Over. Built about 100 years ago, it was in regular use until the 1930s and the interior machinery is still in working order. Graham has plans for restoring the roof-cap and the great transverse beam that carries the sails. He is a qualified miller and sees no reason why it should not come into use again for grinding farmers' corn. The Council for the Preservation of Rural England has made a grant of £20 towards the project 60 12 02a

1960 12 07
Fenland formerly produced fine geese which were driven to London, resting at Goose Hall near Waterbeach. An old lady remembers seeing them set off from the farm, being first driven through wet tar and then fine grit which resulted in a kind of shoe that enabled the geese to walk many miles in comparative comfort. Turkeys walked too but were equipped with a kind of leather boot which lasted all the way to London. Although turkeys moved faster they insisted on taking a good rest for the night while geese plotted steadily along all the time, snatching food as they went and just resting for short periods. 60 12 07a

Officials at USAF Alconbury are preparing for Christmas. The Chapel-sponsored food baskets will benefit 150 UK families in Huntingdon, there will be a mammoth party for children, 'teen dances and an appearance by Santa Claus. Each quarters are expected to make an appropriate Christmas display or decoration; last year thousands of people drove a special marked route through the gaily-decorated barracks area to view 'Christmas USA'. 60 12 07b

The Low Temperature Research Station, Downing Street, is a strange place. Occasionally in some forgotten corner of one of its temperature-controlled rooms, one comes across perfectly preserved war-time stew that was meant for the civilian population but never produced in great quantities. At that time the Station was responsible for producing the 24-hour battle pack of dried food for the Commandoes who went across to France for D-Day. Now they are investigating why potatoes go brown after they have been peeled and chemically examining peas to discover why they lose sweetness and juiciness in the three days between being picked and canned. 60 12 07d # c.36.9 Indoor swimming pool Donkey common starts work – 60 12 07f # c.32.3

Gas storage tank being erected at River Lane damaged by high winds – photo – 60 12 07e

1960 12 08
Ely's Town Crier, James Ankin is the last of a long line of men who have held this ancient office. It is certain that no new Crier will be seen so no longer will the stentorian cry of 'Oyez. Oyez' be heard to the accompaniment of a vigorously-rung handbell. He used to announce horse fairs, pleasure fairs and other functions but there is a rapidly diminishing need for this old style custom and it is twelve months since he last 'cried'. During the war ringing bells was strictly prohibited, but there was nothing to stop him hanging an old dustbin lid or rattling tin cans. Now he has decided to call it a day 60 12 08a His predecessor, known as 'Blind Wayman' was the proud possessor of a long black coat (complete with brass buttons) and a bowler hat, given to him by a benefactor. Despite his affliction he had no difficulty making proclamations as he read from Braille scripts 60 12 08a

Annie Dovey, Headmistress of Cambridge & County High School for Girls 1926-1938 – 60 12 08 # c.36.5

1960 12 09
Five incendiary and three practice bombs were recently unearthed during digging operations at Mepal airfield, a few hundred yards from the main entrance to one of East Anglia's Thor rocket bases. It brings the total find during the three weeks in which an RAF Feltwell bomb disposal squad has been at work up to 18 bombs or Mills markers. In addition about 200 other miscellaneous items of an explosive nature have been discovered, mostly bullets. The rocket base was not in danger at any time: the biggest threat would have been death to any person in the immediate vicinity should the bombs have exploded 60 12 09b # c.45.8

The Butts Green end of Midsummer Common is now used as an extra car park on Saturday mornings but vehicles overflow into side streets to the annoyance of residents. People in Earl Street complain of motorists parking in front of their houses blocking the light to basement rooms while in New Square drivers resent paying sixpence to use the car park and prefer to stop in front of the houses. Massive furniture vans sometimes stay for as long as two days and in summer busloads of tourists sit on people's front window sills eating fish and chips. 60 12 09

'The Cambridge Late Arrivals" group was set up to co-ordinate the indignation rail travellers felt during the upheaval of electrification. Now the trains are much more comfortable and carriages have the air of a club-room. Men – some 200 of them – willingly pay £9 15s (£9.75) for a monthly season ticket and the privileged of leading a quieter family life in the province. It is still cheaper to make the daily journey and avoid the great expense of finding a house or flat in London. 60 12 09a # c.26.2

1960 12 12
Congestion in Clarendon Street – photo – 60 12 12

1960 12 14

Cambridge Amateur Operatic Society gave first performance in 1910 – 60 12 14 # c.69

Charles Lamb wrote asking for news from Cambridge – 60 12 14b

1960 12 15
Thieves using high explosive charges blew open a safe at the Barrington works of Eastwoods Cement Ltd during the night and took £90 in cash. Although some workmen were on a night shift at the factory works, nobody head the explosion which severely damaged the office and destroyed furniture. The raiders put packs of mud around the safe and used rain coats to deaden the noise. A metal contained fitted with a warning hooter which was used for the collection of wages was also taken. Police called the theft 'a cheeky raid' 60 12 15
1960 12 16
Cottenham's part-time firemen give up a good deal of their leisure time to training and spend every Sunday morning in practice. They are mostly mature, married men and the pay is slender. They respond to about three incidents every fortnight including laborious peat fires near the railway embankments where there is as much digging as fire-fighting with the danger of falling into deep, smouldering loam. There is also an ever-present danger from the aircraft leaving and entering the two nearby airfields. The converted lorry formerly used as a fire engine, carrying a 400 gallon water tank, has been replaced with a streamlined vehicle developed for their special needs. 60 12 16

Amongst those working on Christmas Day will be 30 men at RAF Oakington. Being a training school and operational station there must be a handful of men to tend the sick and guard the vital installations on the base. They will have a six-course Christmas dinner served by officers and senior NCOs plus free beer and cigarettes. They can then relax with a book or in front of the television, hoping that no crises will arise to disturb their peace. But if it does there are an additional 150 men in the near vicinity who can be called in for reinforcements. 60 12 16a

Freebooters Coffee Bar and Club appeal – 60 12 16b # c.37.9

Duxford CofE Primary school opened – 60 12 16c

Cambridge Relayed Television Service comprises 24 television dealers who may combine with Multisignals Ltd to allow viewers to pay a rental for the use of a telephone cable to bring programmes to the house, saving the cost of putting an aerial on the chimney. People can continue to buy, hire or hire-purchase ordinary televisions but by fitting an adaptor to a single-channel set they will also be able to receive London and Anglia ITV. Cable also has provision for the future transmission of colour signals or 625-line broadcasts. 60 12 16d e f # c.27.85

1960 12 17
A diesel engine pulling a trainload of coal leaped from the track at Stretham Fen in the early hours and plunged down a ten-foot embankment, trapping the driver and fireman. They were freed from the wreckage of the cab which was crushed as it ploughed into the soft earth, and taken to hospital. Investigators believe the crash was caused by a swaying wagon on a 60 mph parcels express which hit the 45 mph coal train. Eight wagons containing Christmas parcels jumped form the rails, ripping up tracks and bringing down telephone wires. Nearly 100 railwaymen worked to clear the main Cambridge to Ely line. 60 12 17 track back to normal – 60 12 19b

Hills Road railway bridge is functioning almost as normal again. After a year's work during which the traffic has had to contend with considerable difficulties, the road is now suitable for two-lane traffic. Resurfacing will not be carried on for another 12 months in order to allow for subsidence and for several more weeks workmen will be patching up. Work on Churchill College continues as does work on 13 three-storey terrace houses and 60 maisonettes at East Road. Most have their roofs on and one block of houses has its windows in. 60 12 17b # c.44.7

1950 12 19

Weyman Funeral Service whole-page advertisement – 60 12 19 # c.21.1

Americans seem to be doing more than us to welcome the season. In the married quarters at Lakenheath – in streets where sudden ramps make the traffic go slowly – Christmas trees and coloured lamps were glowing in the windows, garlands of holly hung on front doors and stencilled pictures of Santa Claus, painted on the window glass, caught the light from the living rooms. They can buy frozen poultry, coloured glass balls or foamy artificial 'snow' in atomisers to spray on mirrors and windows. The churches, which are likely to be full on Christmas Eve, have been organising carol services for children 60 12 19a

A hefty Territorial Sergeant was thrown out of the window at the Drill Hall, East Road, and lost his stripes. But this was all in order! There is an R.A.M.C. tradition that when a sergeant is promoted to commissioned rank he is thrown out of the Sergeants Mess and can return through the door as an officer-guest. The outcast was Sergt G. Sherwin and the ceremony took place at the Christmas dinner in the Mess of 162 (City of Cambridge) Field Ambulance. 60 12 19c

1960 12 23
Traffic diverted from Newmarket Road at Quy and directed through Sux Mile Bottom while men worked on a stretch of the closed road at Nine Mile Hill – 60 12 23 CIP

1960 12 28
Christmas hospital tours by mayor – 60 12 28

1960 12 29
Midland Co-op Laundry safe blown-up – 60 12 29

Sir - Work is about to begin on a new school adjoining Cottenham village green. A fifteenth-century house, a Victorian farmhouse and the most substantial barn in the village are to be pulled down. But these could have been adapted to provide a warden's house and gymnasium effecting considerable financial savings and preserving the whole character of the green – T.N. Morris 60 12 29a

1960 12 30
Mrs J.A. Rayment of Cambridge was not impressed when her husband bought a go-kart and could not be persuaded to try it for some time. But when she did she was soon keen on the craze which is sweeping the country. Their son shares his parents' keenness and their 18-year-old daughter also occasionally has a drive. The Cambridge Go-Kart club has 75 members of whom four are women. The vehicles travel up to 45 mph but give a tremendous impression of speed as they are near to the ground. 60 12 30 # c.38 : motor racing

Swaffham Bulbeck cottage in Station Road collapses – 60 12 30 CIP

Samaritans help prevent suicides – 60 12 30a

Market stall holders are among Cambridge's most colourful characters. Many have taken over the stalls from their fathers or grandfathers, often reaching back five or six generations. There are a handful of names which provide the nucleus of the traders – Whitehead, David, Sharp. Reynolds, Simpkins and several others. Charles Whitehead has stood at his greengrocery stall since he was 14, Messrs Miller and Beresford are in charge of the pets stall and Mrs Sharp has been selling old silver and brasses for 52 years. They believe that as long as they are straight and fair in their dealings, competition cannot harm them – 60 12 30b # c.27.3

Chippenham church tower renovation photo – 60 12 30c

1960 12 31

Colonel R.P.W. Adeane, who farms extensively in the Babraham area has been made a Knight Bachelor in the New Years Honours List for services to the Tate Gallery. The OBE goes to Clement Norman Gautrey of Cottenham, one of the county's foremost supporters of Civil Defence since 1960 with an MBE to Cyril Thomas Pack, assistant postmaster at Huntingdon, W.O. Hicks the chef at Ely RAF Hospital and James Helm of the Isle of Ely Fire Brigade. Alan Rawsthorne is awarded the CBE. He writes instrumental work and composed music for the Saffron Walden festival of arts in 1958 60 12 31

1960 Cambridge Independent Press

Throughout the year the CIP carried a series of feature articles relating to Cambridgeshire villages. They are

Grantchester – 60 01 08 CIP
Linton – 60 01 15 CIP
Willingham – 60 01 22 CIP res
Milton – 60 01 29 CIP60 01
Sawston – 60 02 05, 05a CIP
Madingley – 60 02 12 CIP
Chippenham – 60 02 19, 19a CIP
Reach – 60 02 26 CIP
Girton – 60 03 04 CIP
Gamlingay – 60 03 11 CIP
Eversdens – 60 03 25 CIP
Ickleton – 60 04 01 CIP
Histon & Impington - 60 04 08 CIP
Wilbrahams – 60 04 15 CIP
Teversham – 60 04 22 CIP
Swavesey – 60 04 29 CIP
Hardwick & Toft – 60 05 06 & a CIP
Castle Camps, Shudy Camps – 60 05 13 & a CIP
Barrington – 60 05 20 CIP
Westley Waterless – 60 05 27 CIP
Croydon – 60 06 03 CIP
Harston – 60 06 10 CIP
Weston Colville – 60 06 17 CIP
Bassingbourn – 60 06 24 & a CIP
Horningsea – 60 07 01 CIP
Caxton – 60 07 08 CIP
Waterbeach – 60 07 15 CIP
Orwell - 60 07 22 & a CIP
Newton – 60 07 29 CIP
Guilden Morden – 60 08 05, a & b CIP
Shepreth – 60 08 12 CIP
Dry Drayton – 60 08 19 CIP
Pampisford – 60 08 26 CIP
60 09 02
West Wickham, Streetly End, West Wratting – 60 09 09
Chishills & Heydon – 60 09 16, a & b CIP
Longstanton – 60 09 23 CIP
Fowlmere – 60 09 30 & a CIP
Eltisley & Croxton – 60 10 07 CIP
Balsham – 60 10 14 CIP
Landbeach – 60 10 21 CIP
Duxford – 60 10 28 CIP

Fen Drayton – 60 11 04 CIP
Litlington – 60 11 11 CIP
Fulbourn – 60 11 18 CIP
Bottisham – 60 11 25 CIP
Barton – 60 12 02 CIP
Stapleford – 60 12 09 CIP
Comberton – 60 12 16 CIP
Shelford, Lt – 60 12 23 CIP
Bourn – 60 12 30 CIP

1961 Cambridge Daily News

I have copies of these articles

January 1961 CDN

1961 01 02
The control testing laboratory wing of the Bayer Biological Institute's premises at Exning was destroyed by fire. Practically all the records were lost in the blaze along with refrigerators, ovens and microscopes. Thousands of bottles of serums and vaccines for veterinary treatment were damaged by water but the production department which employs 50 people will continue interrupted. Beechwood House was formerly used as the racing stables of Miss Dorothy Paget and it was here that Basil Briscoe trained Golden Miller. During the war it was occupied by the Army and has been used as laboratories since 1949. 61 01 02

A questionnaire shows that most people think the Lion Yard area should include a concert hall, civic restaurant, hotel and assize court together with a library. This should feature a record section, an art lending department, reading room and small exhibition area. There should be a municipal crèche where children could be left while their parents shopped and a car park reserved for those who worked in the Guildhall. Half of the respondents were in favour of traffic wardens and parking meters, though some said they had no experience of them, while 81 per cent wanted a pedestrian precinct. Other suggestions included a news cinema where people could wait in comfort for evening buses and supermarkets near the edge of the city 61 01 02a # c.49.4

Captain A.C. Taylor retired after 40 years as Managing Director of the CDN, the paper established by his father in 1888. He is widely engaged in public service having been elected to both county and city councils and was Mayor when Cambridge became a city in 1951. He is chairman of the Ministry of Labour Rehabilitation Committee and keenly interested in sport, ploughing and farming. His successor as Managing Director is Mr A.J.H. Durham who like the Chairman of the Board, Lord Iliffe, is a graduate of Cambridge University 61 01 02b # c.04

The warehouses of Radio and Television Services Ltd, Gloucester Street, were gutted by fire. Scores of people living nearby went into their gardens as showers of sparks and splinters from exploding radio valves and television tubes showered down on their premises and residents of Clare Street used garden hoses to prevent the fire endangering their garden sheds. Arthur Brett (80) said the blaze and noise was just like the battle of the Somme. Employees will be moved to other buildings in the Pye group and there will be no serious interruption in the repair and servicing facilities operated by the company. The two-storey high building also houses a technical school for overseas radio experts.61 01 02c # c.27.1

1961 01 03
The 'Grand Old Man' of Cambridge cycling, Mr C.M. Woods, was secretary of the New Chesterton Cycling Club for 35 years. He arranged ten motor and cycle race meetings on the Amalgamation

Ground in Queen's Road and was sports secretary for the Mammoth Show on Jesus Green which included the famous rodeo which attracted a record 'gate' of 35,000 people. During his career he came into contact with many famous cyclists including Albert White, Jack Sibbit, Ernie Payne and Reg Player. 61 01 03 # c.26.485

The farthing died its tiny death with scarcely a single serious mourner in Cambridge. Thousands of pounds worth will never be cashed. Some people will keep them for their sentimental value, others as part of a coin collection while many will simply not know that they still have farthings in the bottom of an untidy drawer. They will be used as tokens for playing cards, by children paying shop or by handymen as washers. The coin will however be missed by drapers who kept a stock for their 'eleven-three-farthings' prices 61 01 03a

1961 01 04
A 67ft long tree trunk recovered from the River Ouse at Adelaide has been revealed as a bog oak about 4,500 years old. It came to light during underwater protective work to the river bridge and was dragged to the bank by two bulldozers. Because of its length, straightness and thickness it was thought to have been one of the trees brought to Ely to consrtuct the Octagon. But it was found in peaty soil and the position in which the oak was discovered did not in the 14th-century form part of the river bed. Now Prof H. Godwin has confirmed the date through radiocarbon-dating 61 01 04a

1961 01 06
Cambridge University Gliding Club has a membership of more than 350, only half of whom are members of the University. They include Prince William of Gloucester, who is studying engineering. The instructors include John Hulme who was former holder of the UK record for a distance flight and Mrs Ann-Mari Neumann, a school teacher. Mr Bryce Smith, a civil engineer, is one of the Club's tug pilots. He says you can't glide without a team of people to help but you must be an individual to be successful at soaring. 61 01 06 # c.26.1

1961 01 07
The village of Milton may double in size and soon there would be another 60 cars wanting fuel. However there is only one filling station, it did not have a suitable entrance and was often obstructed, it an Inspector was told. But plans for another nearly opposite the Lion and Lamb public house had been rejected by the County Council who said there were eight filling stations between Cambridge and Ely, an average of one every one-and-a-half miles and another would be a traffic hazard. 61 01 07

1961 01 08
History of banking at Ely & Downham Market – 61 01 08

Cambridge Rugby Union Club dates from 1923, although there may have been a rugby club of some sort in existence before the first world war. The Old Cantabrigians were founded sometime in the 1920s as part of the County High School old Boys' Society but lapsed and was not reformed until 1945. Shelford followed in 1935, being established by young players unable to get a game, and finally came the Old Perseans who as the Perse Wanderers appeared in July 1949, a new book on the history of the Eastern Counties Rugby Union records. 61 01 08a # c.38 : rugby

1961 01 11
For 900 years the Metcalfe family have made a living at Holywell by cutting the rushes growing in the sluggish River Ouse. It had always been considered men's work – until Mrs Dorothy Metcalfe-Arnold took over while her sons were away in the war. She starts in July, taking a flat-bottomed boat to the rush beds and cutting them at their roots with a sharp knife attached to a long pole. As the rushes float to the top she collects them into bundles and brings them back to the village where they are dried. They are transported to all parts of the country and used for different purposes 61 01 11

Freebooters coffee bar appeal for funds – 61 01 11a # c.37.9

Cambridge University published proposals to enhance the city's character as a university town. Historic buildings would be retained and where redevelopment is essential the new buildings would be on a scale and character compatible with the central area. The Lion Yard development could include a civic hall which is needed both by city and university together with a library and small art gallery. If the City Council cannot pay for it then the University and some of the colleges should join in a developing consortium to provide the necessary finance to carry out the development and benefit from the profits. 61 01 11b # c.49.4

The only area of Cambridge suitable for a regional shopping centre is that around City Road and Fitzroy Street, a University development plan says. It has space for shops, restaurants, car parks and houses and could be well-served by public transport. By contrast the city centre does not meet the land requirement unless there is such demolition that it would affect the character of the area. The roads are poor and provision of adequate car parking would be an impossible task. 61 01 11c # c.49.4 : Kite

1961 01 12
The owner of the 'Magpie' Café in Stapleford told an Inspector that at the moment it looked like a bomb site with heavy lorries pulling in. He wanted to convert it from a transport café into a restaurant which local people would use and to build a motor showroom, lock-up garages and a petrol filling station. But almost every resident of Dolphin Way objected to the proposal saying that it was already a street where drivers parked their lorries. If the restaurant did not prove profitable it might revert to a transport café again. 61 01 12

1961 01 13
Children's Relief International, based in Harvey Road, have already organised a holiday camp for 60 displaced children in Germany. Now they hope to build a large modern house in a village near Cambridge where refugee children from all over Europe would be brought up as a large 'family' under the care of house parents. They would make friends and share some of their delightful facilities with local English children. Madingley would be an ideal spot for such a house. 61 01 13

People cycling into Cambridge from Chesterton may one day have a special bridge all to themselves. It would permit cycles to get from the end of Pretoria Road directly across Midsummer Common to Four Lamps Corner and relieve traffic congestion over Victoria Avenue Bridge. The scheme would cost around £25,000. Councillors would also like the one-way traffic in the centre of Cambridge to flow the other way – if only for a trial period of six months – 61 01 18

Haslingfield church clock renovated – 61 01 13b

1961 01 14
W. Heffer printers and booksellers celebrate 50 years at Hills Road – 61 01 14 # c.25

1961 01 17
Bluntisham egg marketing company in court – 61 01 17

1961 01 20
New Square was a very good site for a multi-deck car park, councillors were told. But Coun P.J. Warren said that when the site was conveyed to the Corporation in 1923 they'd given an undertaking that no building would ever be erected there. Even now they were spoiling the best example of domestic lay-out in Cambridge. People who lived in New Square already had enough to put up with without such a suggestion. It should never be raised again in their lifetime, the Traffic Committee agreed 61 01 20 # c.26.48

When at full strength Cambridge City Police Force numbers 161, including six women officers. New constables spend their first three weeks on night duty as this is the best time to get to know the district without the confusion of traffic or pedestrians. They patrol on foot in the busier areas and on bicycles further from the centre. An observant policeman on his beat notices small details such as the man with the bulky overcoat, the ladder that has been moved or the obvious unfamiliarity of a driver or motor cyclist with his vehicle. The main task during the day is maintaining an even flow of traffic, sorting out jams and directing motorists into parking spaces. 61 01 20a & b & c # c.34.7

Dr Ramsey, the new Archbishop of Canterbury, was born in a house at Buckingham Road, Cambridge. He studied at Magdalene College where he took an active interest in University affairs and was President of the Union in 1926. He was very keen on entering the church and when just a boy used to conduct services at home, said his aunt, Miss Lucy Ramsey, who has received a constant stream of well-wishers at her home in Mount Pleasant – 61 01 20d

1961 01 21
The Hauxton postmistress was alone in the front hallway her bungalow, which is used as the post office, when a man pushed aside a small table on which she worked and demanded 'Hand over the money and keep your mouth shut". The postmistress keeps a tin of pepper and a heavy metal weight in a handy drawer but had no time to use them. The robber made off with £20 in cash but missed a considerable sum of money in an envelope which she threw into an adjoining room when he threatened her.– 61 01 21

1961 01 24
Hemingford Grey windmill was built in 1820, shortly before the coming of steam power, and its hand-made wooden machinery is still in good preservation. It is one of the few mills with a fireplace and has been the last working mill in Huntingdonshire. But now the sweeps are no more and the wooden cupola roof has collapsed and there are plans to convert it into an artist's studio. The top two floors would be used as a studio, giving ample height for large canvases, with light coming from a glass domed roof. 61 01 24

1961 01 26
Having installed big sodium lamps to light the radial roads and then put the tall candle-shaped fluorescent lamps in the city centre, the council is now extending electric lighting into the side streets. Until now Hooper Street has been so dark that people avoid it at night and Gwydir Street would be in darkness were it not for two pubs shedding their homely light on the pavement. But the lantern of the gas lamp opposite the end of Sleaford Street is regularly knocked off by big industrial vehicles and elsewhere youths smash the lamp glasses with stones immediately after the gas man has replaced the last breakage. 61 01 26 # c.24.8

1961 01 27
Barrington windmill conversion; for 50 years the tower mill had fallen derelict; during the war the matchinery was removed; but it is to be converted into living accommodation – 61 01 27 CIP

1961 01 28
A five-feet long crow-bar weighing nearly 60lbs crashed into the roof of a house in New Road, Melbourn. It is believed to have come from some demolition works about 50 yards away during the process of blowing out tree roots. The occupier, Mrs Robinson only spotted it when she went shopping. "I thought my neighbours had put up a television mast but had another look and thought it could be a crow-bar … I thought is had been dropped from a plane at first", she said. Despite its size it did very little damage. 61 01 28

February 1961 CDN

1961 02 01
Traffic lights installed at junction Brooklands Avenue and Trumpington Rd – 61 02 01 # c.26.48

New Zealand Dairy products promotion – 61 02 01b

Gipsy John Loveridge with van at roadside – photo – 61 02 01a

The Chequers Rock'n'Roll group, formed by members of St Luke's Youth Club, staged a dance in the Guildhall. Jennifer Smith plays the drums, the vocalist is Andy Peters, bass guitarist Tony Saintey, rhythm guitarist Noel Gooch and solo guitarist Tony White. They featured four of their own tunes which are intended for an experimental record they hope to make soon. Johnny Cullum and the Phantoms, a group better known in Newmarket, also performed. 61 02 01c # c.69

1961 02 02
Grantchester scheme for 24 old persons homes and 15 other houses to go ahead – 61 02 02

1961 02 03
An advertisement in a student newspaper offering the job of guiding tourists round Cambridge for a payment of £8 a day has attracted a wide response. They would use their own cars to bring small parties of Americans from London and smart girls would take American women shopping. But Mrs Ruth Mellanby of the well-established Cambridge guide service views the idea with trepidation. Her guides are carefully trained and charge 10/6 (52p) an hour for a party of eight. 61 02 03 # c.46.45

1961 02 04
Rail passengers had a narrow escape when a car was driven straight through Cambridge station booking hall and came to rest with its front wheels on the platform. Ticket collector Mr W. Franklin was standing in his booth by the barrier at the time and was taken to hospital suffering from shock. An undergraduate who had driven to meet a friend from the train failed to swing round in front of the booking hall and burst through the right-hand door smashing the indicator board and barrier gate before coming to a standstill. It is 12 years since a similar accident involving a taxi driver occurred at the station. 61 02 04 photo 61 02 06a # c.26.2

Three years ago there were perhaps one or two West Indians working in Cambridge. Now the number must fast be approaching 100. They have all been invited by the Cambridge Brotherhood to attend their international service at the Mill Road Baptist Church when the address will be delivered by Canon Hay, the Chaplain appointed by the Anglican Church to serve Jamaican immigrants. The invitation is extended to all friends and includes a social gathering after the service 61 02 04a # c.31

The striking roof of St Martin's Church in Suez Road is now in course of erection. At a 70 degree angle of slope it must seem nearly vertical to the men working on the job. Such a steep roof is intended to obtain the impression of height and at the same time keep the amount of air to be heated to a minimum. Cost is also kept down because the roof rests directly on the ground. When completed at the end of April it will be a big change from the flat-roofed Church-cum-Hall which has served the congregation for 30 years 61 02 04b # c.83

Heffers Printers celebrate 50 years – 61 02 04c # c.25

Death of W.J. Morley, partner of Morley & Duke – 61 02 04d

1961 02 06
The Children's Committee have decided that 'The Grange', the big detached villa at Swavesey capable of housing 17 children, can be closed. There is little difficulty in finding foster-parents for younger children as the appeal of the little orphaned toddler is obvious. But there is less appeal in a large awkward moody adolescent boy. The time has come to look for a 'family house' on an ordinary, homely, Council housing estate where they can keep large families together in the community with house parents who would influence them in the ordinary way. 61 02 06

Francis Pym elected conservative candidate – 61 02 06a

1961 02 07

Rattee & Kett working in Downing Street – 61 02 07 # c.23

Selwyn College design for new court – 61 02 07a # c.44.5

Church Army officers, described as the church's 'shock troops', have been running a mission at Rampton. They have organised community singing, meetings for children, pram services for mothers, parties for teenagers and almost nightly services. Some public spirited parishioners opened their homes to friends and neighbours to provide the two captains and the Rector with the opportunity of meeting people socially. The missioners say any increase in church attendance – the average congregation is 25 – or more generous contributions to church funds is secondary to experiencing practical Christianity 61 02 07b

1961 02 08
The minute hand of the clock on the front of Cambridge Guildhall disappeared during the night. Police are trying to discover whether it fell off or if it was stolen. The hand was still in place just after 10pm when a Guildhall official set his own watch by it. But early today a passerby noticed it was missing. Detectives who examined the stub left behind on the clock face found evidence of corrosion and believe it might have dropped off. But if it did, who picked it up? 61 02 08

Grantchester has been in the news lately because of plans to pull down old cottages and build modern houses. Its ancient almshouses just past the cricket pavilion present a forlorn appearance and two or three are empty beneath their old thatch roofs. But the Trustees of the Towns Lands Charity are making every effort to modernise and so preserve these historic and attractive cottages while keeping their present appearance. The work will cost over £1,200 and they have appealed for help in raising the final £400. If they succeed this charming corner of the village will remain but there will be two comfortable and well-equipped cottages. 61 02 08a

1961 02 09
Two people were taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital when their car was in collision with a heavy armoured car driven by two members of the Cambridge University Officer's Training Corps. The vehicle, with a muzzled two pounder gun mounted on top of it, was on a delivery run from Colchester to the Corps' headquarters in Grange Road when the accident happened at Great Abington. The students were uninjured 61 02 09

A former landlord of the Red Lion at Brinkley said that when he first took it he had only two or three customers a night. The rent was £1 a week and he had to employ a man to tend the piece of land which went with the premises. He did some decorating and put some furnishings in and the numbers increased. So he began to promote dances and functions, buying a car on the strength of it. But this was reckless. He had too many people helping him out at the pub, a lack of business knowledge and "too many friends", the bankruptcy court was told. 61 02 09a

Many of Cambridge's 350-strong Polish community found it difficult finding work and places to live in the early post war years. They keep Polish customs and festivities and there are clubs which provide entertainment in the form of plays and dances. The boys have a Scout group, there are Guides and Brownies and a men's choirs. The Catholics have a weekly service, those of the Evangelical and Greek Orthodox are less frequent. The children are bi-lingual and many speak better than their classmates. Would they like to go back? No. Conditions are too hard in Poland where the cost of living is treble what it is here and the vast majority are now British subjects 61 02 09b # c.31

1961 02 10
Bernard Grainger does nothing all day but repair documents that have lain unattended for many years. He is archive repairer for the County Record Office and estimates that the amount of maps alone awaiting repair would take him all his working life to complete. No attempt is made to touch up or repaint the documents in any way and they leave his small office in exactly the same state as when they first came in. This is very specialised work and only 19 record offices in the country boast such experts 61 02 10, 61 02 17 CIP # c.43

1961 02 11
The delay in Lion Yard redevelopment has meant that the Civic Restaurant on the corner of Petty Cury has been given a new lease of life. The dining hall has been brightened up and the provision of window curtains will give a finishing touch. A cosmopolitan note has been struck in an announcement over the scullery in English. French, German and Italian exhorting customers to return their plates 61 02 11

Central Hotel redevelopment photo – 61 02 11a

1961 02 14
Boots new building with oriel windows – 61 02 14

Milton Road cottages opposite school demolition photo – 61 02 14b

Mill Pool weir picture 61 02 14c

1961 02 16
Freebooters Coffee bar redecorated – photos – 61 02 16 # c.37.9

1961 02 17
Golf on Coldham's Common historical article – 61 02 17 # c.38 : golf

On Sunday Mr Thomas Collins takes off his blue and white striped fishmonger's apron and puts on more casual clothes that he can wear out of doors. For every Sunday morning, wet or fine, he cycles down to the Catholic Church with Sunday newspapers to 'earn a little beer money'. When he goes home in the afternoon he has a well-earned sleep or reads some of the papers he has not sold. Such spare time as he has is spent in reading novels and looking after his cage birds 61 02 17a

Competition between British Railways agricultural transport services has become increasingly fierce and many local farmers are faced with the difficult decision whether to transport their produce by rail, road or, in some cases, water. Gerald Fairey, a Linton farmer says there is far less difficulty in sending goods by road. And lorry drivers take more care with the handling of perishable goods than the railway`. But hauliers cannot compete with the ridiculously low cut-rate prices charged by British Railways for the conveyance of goods. The new 'Fenland Freighter' diesel-hauled train offers door-to-door service and a big saving in time and cash 61 02 17c

The Old People's Welfare Council believes the best thing for the elderly is for them to live independently as long as possible. But many cannot and there are an increasing number of people wanting care in their old age. The main problem is finding suitable premises to make into old people's homes. In 1948 the County Council had to do with Linton Hospital and a few beds at Chesterton Hospital. Since then they have been modernised and improved. After the war buildings were very difficult to get because of competition from firms wanting office accommodation and the rising cost of land. The fist new home was The Grove, Fordham in 1951, followed by Willingham House and in 1956 Primrose Croft was adapted to take 35 elderly residents. The future plans are to erect purpose-designed buildings 61 02 17b # c.32.9

Fulbourn windmill and tractor ploughing field – photo – 61 02 17a CIP

1961 02 20
A team from Pan American Airways visited Cambridge speaking to applicants from the girls' colleges to fill their quota for air stewardesses, one of the most glamorous carers in the 20th-century. One said "We thought we might get a nice type of girl from the University – the sort who, once she has got her degree, would like to spend a year or 18 months flying with us. By the time they're 23 they want to marry; you can't blame them really". The firm were quite reconciled to it and it kept their service fresh and active. In spite of the attractive prospects there were very few applicants for interview from Girton or Newnham students 61 02 20 # c.36.9 : women

1961 02 22
Caravan holiday memories from 1908 – 61 02 22

Oswald Mosley banned from Christ's college, scuffles outside New Theatre – 61 02 22a # c.33

Sawston Village College has new unique sports hall - 61 02 22c

Boys of two Army Cadet Battalion learned their drills the hard way when their machine guns jammed right in the middle of an enemy attack. Later a tremendous assault was launched upon a tree-filled quarry defended by resolute Bren gunners from Whittlesey. Smoke hit the attackers from their objective as they struggled through the bushes and undergrowth while the air was filled with the noise of loud explosions and the clatter and crack of rifle fire. Afterwards everyone returned to the Barrington Training Centre for lunch– 61 02 22b # c.45.8

1961 02 23
Freebooters Club Wellington Street repairs – 61 02 23

1961 02 24
Houses in Chesterton High Street and Green End Road have been subject to a demolition order since January 1960. Their occupants have gradually been re-accommodated and their homes abandoned. Now only two families remain. It is an eerie feeling to have empty houses on either side, especially when they are broken into, the wallpaper ripped and the boarded-up windows damaged. Once they have been rehoused the rickety four-roomed homes with their primitive sanitation will be pulled down for re-development. 61 02 24 # c.23

There are battered wrecks of old bangers at the Coldham's Lane scrap yard. Doors are missing, wheels stripped of their tyres, bonnet reveal nothing but hanging wires and windows have either been broken or removed. "When we turn vehicles upside down we can see what a state the rusty chassis, worn steering and braking systems are really in," said Mr Les Rich who runs the yard. Business has increased since the roadworthiness tests were introduced for vehicles made before 1937 and hundreds more will now find their way to the breakers' yards 61 02 24a # c.26.48

1961 02 26
The Cambridge 50 Car Club was founded in 1950 changes name to Cambridge Car Club – 61 02 26

March 1961 CDN

1961 03 01
Stapleford 'virtually a dormitory for Cambridge' – application for houses at Vine Farm – 61 03 01a

1961 03 02
Families living in Great Shelford and Stapleford are preparing to provide holiday homes for youngsters from Displaced Persons Camps in German. For the children of Hitler's white slave army who have known nothing but poverty, overcrowding, illness and hunger, it will be their first experience of life as it should be lived under normal happy conditions. They will attend local schools and be taken on a few organised outings but mostly become just part of an English family. Before leaving Germany they will have been medically examined and equipped with as many belongings as possible and local people are collecting clothing for them, with particular emphasis on shoes 61 03 02

Winston House, an experiment in mental after-care in Brooklands Avenue, was opened in 1958 to provide temporary accommodation for those recovering from mental and nervous sickness and looking for permanent homes of their own. It can accommodate 23 people in a homely atmosphere and since January 1960 there has been a waiting list. Last year 48 people left the hostel, 26 of them having gained benefit from their stay. 61 03 02a # c.21.5

1961 03 03
Michael Delanoy of Pye Telecommunications wins highest exam marks – 61 03 03

In 1943 an anti-aircraft shell dump near Rectory Farm, Little Chesterford, exploded and the owner of the farm, Ted Fordham, has been finding shells on his land ever since. "I must have found about 100 shells and usually am able to deal with them myself", he told the News. But yesterday while clearing some undergrowth he found a 3.7 shell which seemed to be live as it was complete with fuse and detonator. This time he decided to call the police to take the bomb away 61 03 03a

Arthur Greer, painter and decorator – Men at Work series with picture – 61 03 03

Many of the people attending auction sales are young married couples setting up home who want reasonably good furniture and carpets at a considerably lower cost or to buy better quality goods than they could afford elsewhere. They know that when they have saved for new furniture they can still get a good price for the old. But contemporary furniture in good condition has been known to fetch almost as much as it would in the shops. One young lady with a baby in arms was interested in a dressing table which she was intending to paint white for the child's bedroom. "I have bought several pieces of furniture quite cheaply", she said. 61 03 03b

1961 03 04
Cambridge Review 2000th issue, founded 1879 – history 61 03 04 # c.05

The Red Lion Hotel at Whittlesford is back to normal after its change of face. It has been redesigned to front the new bypass on the A505 road and no longer does it endure the noise and dirt of lorries which used to pass so close to the windows that they were always splashed with mud. Certain sections have been enlarged and improved to provide more parking and garage facilities. Its particularly attractive features are two very old carved ceilings in the residents' lounge and bar while gaily coloured umbrellas have appeared on the new fine paved courtyard. It appears to have suffered little from having to reverse its position 61 03 04a; 61 03 10 CIP

1961 03 06
Duxford airfield, the home of RAF fighter planes since the First World War, is to close as a Fighter Command base and will probably be administered from Waterbeach. It has a tremendous history but was built for bi-plane use and since it cannot be expanded any further it must be sacrificed in an age of supersonic aircraft. The 130 married quarters will continue to be used and the buildings and hangars become storage and support units. It will remain as a front line fighter base through 1961 until the closure is completed 61 03 06a

Dozens of people were thrown into the fast flowing River Cam on Saturday afternoon when the ferry at Fen Ditton suddenly sank. Undergraduates who were watching the Lent Bumps plunged into the water to help the men, women and children who were striking out for the bank. Several were taken into nearby public houses where medical students assisted them and two people went to Addenbrooke's Hospital suffering from shock 61 03 06 Inquiry – 61 03 10d # c.44.7

1961 03 08
RAF Duxford dying of old age – 61 03 08

1961 03 09

The Phantoms rock and roll group have signed an exclusive contract with Palette Records. The group comprises Ken Leverington, David Cooke and Cliff Gentle, of Cambridge, on guitars, Freddie Smart, a Chatteris hairdresser on drums and Johnny Cullen of Bottisham as vocalist. They had been playing together for six months when two undergraduates, both songwriters, heard them at a dance. They learned 10 new numbers in three weeks and recorded a demonstration disc. Now 'Phantom Guitar' is to be released through Pye in April 61 03 09 # c.69

1961 03 10
The 'promontory', a building that formerly housed Przibórsky's hairdressing shop, with Ram Yard to its left and Round Church Street to the right, is to be cleared by the City Council to provide a wide lead-in to the new car park in Park Street. The cottages are not very beautiful and most have been condemned as unfit by the Public Health Department. But they are home to a small community of tenants including Tim Eiloart who crossed the Atlantic in a small balloon, Jasper Rose the artist-don who has a studio there and Graham Pollard, a numismatist at the Fitzwilliam Museum. Their lives are interconnected, they give supper parties and meet together to play Bach in an upstairs room. But now they must move elsewhere 61 03 10 & a # c.44.6

Gabor Cossa was for many years a professional ballet dancer. He studied at Heidelberg and Leipzig Universities before touring with the Kurt Jooss ballet company and came to Cambridge in 1942. When the company closed in 1947 he opened an antique shop in Trumpington Street and finds his work of immense enjoyment. He still retains his interest in the theatre and recently played his silent piano on the television programme 'Candid Camera' 61 03 10b

Cherry Hinton planning inquiry over land at Ventress Farm – 61 03 10c

Gaming machine at Grantchester self-service stores confiscated – 61 03 10e

1961 03 13
'The Willows' at Cam Road, site for 200 flats for sale by auction – 61 03 13

A cocktail party was held at St John's College to celebrate the 2,000th issue of 'The Cambridge Review'. It was founded in Trinity College in 1879 and has appeared every week in full term without interruption for strikes and wars. Its price – sixpence – has not changed at all because the circulation has always been small. The current edition has the usual content of articles, correspondence, book and theatre reviews 61 03 13a # c.05

1961 03 14
Gerald Tweedie of Cherryhinton Road has assured himself a place in the railway history of this country. He can now call himself Britain's Number One Train Spotter as he has seen, listed and made notes on every one of the 60,000 or so steam railway engines operated during the last 30 years – the first man ever to have completed such a mammoth task. Now the CDN has arranged for him to have a ride on the footplate of an A4 streamlined Pacific engine 61 03 14 # c.26.2

1961 03 16
Camden cricket club seek own ground – 61 03 16a # c.38 : cricket

1961 03 17
Francis Pym, who has become Cambridgeshire's Member of Parliament following a by-election, said he saw it as a vote of confidence for Mr Macmillan. But his nearest opponent, Robert Davis, felt that a fair number of people who would have voted Labour switched to the Liberals. Their candidate, Richard Moore agreed, saying they were the obvious alternative to the Labour Party. Mr Pym, managing director of a tenting manufacturing firm, owns land on the western borders of the county and hopes to live in the constituency soon. 61 03 17 # c.33

Thomas Dale warden of Cambridge International Centre – 61 03 17a

Fulbourn windmill to be restored – 61 03 17b

Mebourn Anchor Inn to be demolished so a new pub can be built behind – 61 03 17 CIP

1961 03 21
Women undergraduates are rather spoiled, with ten men to each girl, and marry at a younger age so Newnham has problems finding College Fellows, the Principal complained. Sometimes girls staying in Cambridge after their marriage could continue their work but often it meant recruiting Dons from outside. This brought other problems as Newnham could not afford to pay a good income meaning many candidates were unable to take up the appointment 61 03 21 # c.36.9 : women # c.44.5

1961 03 22
The strong room at Barclay's Bank in Chesterton Road was blown open and £75,000 in notes stolen in the City's biggest bank robbery. The raiders piled stacks of office furniture and cushions to muffle the noise of the explosion which blew a hole three feet across in the strong room wall, then crawled through to help themselves to the money. Arrangements have been made to transfer the silver and copper coinage the thieves left behind. 61 03 22 # c.32.8

Alice Kent of Littleport 100 years old – 61 03 22a

1961 03 23
Cavendish Laboratory room Rutherford used is soon to disappear – 61 03 23 & a # c.36.9

1961 03 24
Bronwyn Dewey, accommodation bureau clerk – 61 03 24
American Military Cemetery superintendent – 61 03 24a # c.21.2

1961 03 25
The tiny Longstowe Primary School may be closed as Councillors think it is wrong to provide education from 5 to 11 years old in one class. The 18 children would be sent to a new school with modern facilities at Bourn. But parents say the school is successful and provides a centre for village life. The children are happy there and receive individual teaching. 61 03 25

Staff formed a barricade to stop girls from storming the stage in the closing minutes of the Adam Faith show at the Regal. Dressed in a casual beige sweater, Adam spent most of the evening he was not on stage signing books or photographs and talking to fans. He sang most of the songs he has put in the hit parade including "Who Am I" accompanying himself on the guitar with the backing of four of the John Berry Seven who played throughout the evening. Gerry Dorsey gave a vigorous performance, pulling the maximum screams, but Johnny Le Roy did not bother with gimmicks, using his rich voice to open the evening's programme. The Honeys, dressed in sugary pink, brought some glamour to the show while Chris Carisen worked hard as the compere 61 03 25a # c.69

1961 03 28
Linton parishioners have sent a petition to Ernest Marples, Minister of Transport, demanding a by-pass. There was continuous traffic through the village, especially in summer when motorists were travelling to the coast. In addition heavy lorries use the very narrow main street. This is only 13-feet wide and with some vehicles eight-feet wide they often get locked together or push pedestrians off the pavement. The County Surveyor said there were plans for a by-pass on the south side of the village which could be done in two stages as soon as money was available 61 03 28

Girton parish church has death-watch beetle and wood rot in its floors and workmen are trying to repair the damage before April. The beetle was first discovered in the north aisle and further inspection revealed that all the floor timbers were riddled as was the floor to the belfry. During the week the whole church is in turmoil as workmen replace the rotten timbers and concrete the floor beneath to prevent damp seeping into them. They have to clear up for special weekday and ordinary Sunday services which are held at little inconvenience to the congregation 61 03 28a

1961 03 29
University plans for the New Museums site off Downing Street include an underground ring road with parking for 300 cars and 1,400 cycles. A maze of narrow passages would be replaced with pedestrian walkways six feet above ground. Many old dilapidated buildings will be demolished and two 15-storey high blocks for the Department of Mathematics erected. These 'skyscrapers' might not be built to their full height immediately but would gradually grow as the department needed more space. The 1934 Zoology building, the Shell chemical engineering laboratory and the Physics Department's high tension laboratory would be retained 61 03 29 & 30, 61 03 31 CIP # c.36.9

April 1961CDN

1961 04 01
The hunt for the weekend joint caused havoc in Cambridge today. One shop was so packed that the customers could scarcely move. They milled on the pavement and in the streets, bringing traffic to a standstill. The housewives 'invasion' began early and Petty Cury, where there are several butchers, was packed. At Sainsbury's shoppers became jammed as those pushing into the shop met those struggling to get out with heavy baskets. In all this confusion bus timetables went haywire and long queues of cars formed in every city centre street 61 04 01 (April fools' day)

Nearly 200 people from Cambridge people set out on the Wethersfield to London Ban-the-Bomb march. They joined eighteen hundred marchers who had stayed overnight near Finchingfield where the two-mile long column assembled on the tiny village green. Amongst them was 85 year old Clara Rackham who was on her fourth march and hoped to walk to Braintree. Her only luggage was a straw bag containing a flask and sandwiches. The well-known marchers, the Baker family from Harston took six of their seven children, leaving their four-year-old daughter at home. Mr Robert Davies, who contested the Cambridgeshire by-election recently, was also on the march. He intends to walk all the way 61 04 01a # c.45.8

New Museums site plans – 61 04 01b # c.36.9

1961 04 05
The London County Council announced it will build homes for another 170,000 Londoner with jobs 'round the corner' for the wage earners. Huntingdon, Thetford and Haverhill are willing to take an extra 5,000 homes each. No one will go to these towns without jobs 61 04 05

Cambridgeshire Technical College and School of Art attracts nearly 6,000 students each year. It offers degree courses in arts, science and economics, certificates in electrical and mechanical engineering, building and chemistry as well as full-time courses in catering and nursery teaching. Employers are aware of the value of day release and is a condition of most deeds of apprenticeship 61 04 05 # c.36.7

1961 04 06
Steps are being taken to prevent another accident on the river ferry at The Plough public house, Fen Ditton. Police will ensure that no more than 20 people board the boat at once and Whitbread's brewery will erect removable crush barriers during race weeks to control crowds. The accident happened when one man tried to jump on the ferry as another jumped off. The balance of the boat was upset and it began rocking in the water. At the time the police had been called away to sort out a serious traffic tangle in the village. 61 04 06 # c.44.7

Ely petition against junior training centre in Lisle Lane for mentally disordered children – 61 04 06

1961 04 07

Rev Albert Rushton, vicar of St Barnabas Church, was formerly a missionary to a hill tribe in Burma for 16 years and was married there to another missionary. For the first 10 years he was a layman, having been one of the first to offer his services to the Bible Churchmen's Missionary Society. The war forced him to leave that country and he became a chaplain in South India. 61 04 07

The Food Flying Squad Convoys of the Ministry of Agriculture were started during the war under the name of the Queen's Messenger Convoys. They were reformed when the need for Civil Defence became more acute and consist of four canteen vans, two stores vans, a water carrier and a staff van. They are manned by the W.V.S. and are capable of providing 3-4,000 light meals of soup and stew. They can respond to a call following an enemy attack or civil disaster and did much useful working during the East Coast floods. 61 04 07a # c.45.8

There is likely to be far less disturbance for people who live in the neighbourhood of Lakenheath airfield. Spare petrol drop-tanks, still in their crates, will be stacked to form wind breaks and noise baffles. They will shelter the aircraft during engine tuning, a process as delicate as that devoted to a pedigree racing car. Fluctuations of temperature or the intrusion of clouds of expended exhaust smoke easily upset the settings of the engine. A wind of 12 knots means that all work must cease if there is no shelter. But they will also reduce noise for which hundreds of local people will be grateful. 61 04 07b

Royal Show site at Trumpington being prepared – 61 04 07c # c.22

At the Lister works in Abbey Road they like to take on smaller, unique, prototype jobs. Men were making parts for the Emerson racing car, parts to go into the focussing mechanism of television cameras and gear-rings of enormous diameter for some special task which would have required too much disruption for a great factory to undertake. Elsewhere others were making a mysterious stainless steel tent for one of the University laboratories while in the drawing office a draughtsman was working out production details for a machine which nuns will use to cut and bake the very thin altar-breads for the Catholic Mass. 61 04 07d # c.27.1

1961 04 08
William Buttress, born 1827, one of the greatest break bowlers of all times – history – 61 04 08 # c.38 : cricket

1961 04 10
Gerald Tweedie, trainspotter has ride on footplate – 61 04 10 # c.26.2

1961 04 11
Whitehill and Peverel housing estates have no claim to antiquity but their names have considerable historical interest. The Whitehill Estate occupies an area which was for about eight years, the first Marshall's airfield, and before that Whitehill Farm. The first houses to be built in the area was Elfleda House, alias Whitehill, which after 70 years occupation, has just been demolished to make room for maisonettes. Elfleda was a great Saxon benefactress whose husband was killed when fighting the Danes. Peverel Road commemorates Lord Pain Peverel, standard bearer to King Henry I's brother while Jolan de Thorleye ruined his health trying to clear a debt of 600 marks on his church. 61 04 11 # c.48

1961 04 12
Archaeological excavations on Clopton – 61 04 12

1961 04 13
'Mr Cliff Richard and his associates have done more to continue some children's musical education than the whole world of music teacher and administrators', Ludovic Stewart, the County Music Adviser says in his annual report. Music teachers are in short supply and pupils find solace in the sort of music they can teach themselves with the help of a shilling guitar tutor and some pop records.

Rock-and-roll music depends upon amplification and is expensive but some outlay on guitars would benefit pupils, he recommends. Skiffle groups provide an ideal club activity and should be encouraged by head teachers 61 04 13a # c.69

Technical College engineering and building departments – article – 61 04 13 # c.36.7

1961 04 14
Cavendish Laboratory and the atom bomb – book 61 04 14 # c.36.9

Ghost hunters will investigate a small house in Staffordshire Gardens although the building is not haunted and is scheduled to be demolished. Tony Cornell of Girton, who travels all over the country investigating haunted houses, believes it is not spirits who throw things or cause the mysterious knockings which have driven people from their homes in fright. The effects may be caused by vibrations coming through the floor and up the walls. He will attach a 'vibration machine' to the wall and place ornaments on the floor and mantelpieces then conduct a scientific experiment to simulate the erratic wanderings of a poltergeist. 61 04 14a # c.39

Cambridge Civic Restaurant produces over 1,000 meals a day either for consumption in its spacious contemporary dining room or for the Drummer Street Mobile Canteen or W.V.S. Meals-on-Wheels service. The premises at the Old Post Office in Petty Cury may have to be demolished as part of the Lion Yard scheme but the Manageress, Mrs Gillett and her staff of 30, including Mrs E. Stubbings who has been vegetable cook for the last 18 years have become very attached to the restaurant and regard their customers as 'one big family' which needs feeding. 61 04 14b # c.27.4

Harold Griffiths, bookmaker – 61 04 14c

Robert Carpenter, bowler 1830-1901, Tom Hayward & other cricketers - feature – 61 04 14d # c.38 : cricket

1961 04 18
Sir – Arbury Estate is already overcrowded and is alive with children for whose needs only the minimum facilities have been provided. Already some 730 residents have signed a petition calling for a number of open spaces for youngsters. Now the council is planning to build two blocks of flats on land at the top of Alex Wood Road. These should be resited to give a park for mothers with their prams and old people to sit in the sun with perhaps a bowling green like the one on the Whitehill estate – P.W. Cadogan, Arbury Estate Children's Playgrounds Committee 61 04 18

When completed by 1968 the second stage of the new Addenbrooke's Hospital will have been probably the greatest single building project ever embarked upon in Cambridge at one time. Described as 'a hospital in a park' it will be the most up-to-date in Britain with beds for about 1,100 patients. It will comprise five ward blocks each ward having 25 beds and a site for the Chest Clinic, Blood Transfusion and Artificial Limb Centres. In addition five acres have been leased to the University for clinical research and medical teaching. 61 04 18a # c.21.4

1961 04 20
A terraced house at 10 Emmanuel Road has become a show house for the National Coal Board to demonstrate the latest method of central heating by solid fuel. The property has 13 of its rooms centrally heated by this method, including two bathrooms and three kitchens and the system is driven by a virtually silent pipe in the basement. Installation is straightforward as the small copper pipe can be fixed unobtrusively to skirting boards cutting out costly structural work. 61 04 20

1961 04 21
A motorist who drove his car through the booking hall of Cambridge Railway Station and crashed into its exit gateway pleaded not guilty to careless driving and driving a vehicle with inefficient brakes. William Franklin said he was collecting tickets at the station barrier when he turned round and saw the car in the hall, one man buying a ticket was knocked down. The driver said he was going to meet a train but his brakes failed as he approached the station and he was placed in a terrible dilemma. He changed down to second gear but as there were people by the side of the entrance hall he decided to drive straight through. As it was a mechanical failure he was given an absolute discharge. 61 04 21b # c.26.2

Lacon's the brewers want to knock down the Travellers Rest public house in Huntingdon Road, Cambridge and erect another one further back. A petrol filling station would then be built on the site with no major repair facilities, just a routine check of oils, tyre pressures and sparking plugs. There was no filling station on that side of the road until passing the Lolworth Transport Café. But planners say there is already a petrol station opposite. There is heavy traffic visiting the nearby Cattle Breeders Association and Messrs French's Flour Mills and many coach parties would continue to use the public house. A lighted cigarette end thrown from an open coach window by a passenger would land near the petrol pumps. 61 04 21a # c.27.4

1961 04 25
'Beyond the Fringe' hit the Arts Theatre audience with the force of a thunderbolt. The four young men performed throughout in lounge suits against an unchanging background. There was Jonathan Miller, elastic in voice, features and limbs, Peter Cook with his more serious type of humour and semi-apologetic expression and Alan Bennett who looks like a cross between an aged professor and an endearing but mischievous schoolboy. The music was in the hands of pianist Dudley Moore, whose prize piece was a variation of 'Colonel Bogey'. It was certainly a revue in the highest calibre of entertainment 61 04 25 # c.76

1961 04 26
King's College has been offered 'The Adoration of the Magi' by Rubens which was sold at a world record price. 61 04 26

Little Shelford church used to have five bells in its tower and they pealed each Sunday morning. Now it is gaining another with the addition of a treble bell. When a strange bell is added to a peal the rest have to be re-tuned which means sending them to a London foundry. A completely new frame has to be build into the tower to carry the bells, the oldest of which dates back to 1701. In a few weeks they will ring out once more 61 04 26

Post war growth of Technical college science department - feature – 61 04 26b # c.36.7

An Old Persean, 23-year-old Flying Officer Peter Neville Perry from Doddington, became the youngest RAF pilot ever to assume command of a V-bomber when he took of in a Valiant from RAF Honington. Perry trained at RAF Oakington before taking a captain's course for the most promising and ambitious student pilots. Previously only pilots with 15 years flying experience have been considered for the job. Mr Stubbs, Headmaster of the Perse, said he had a good academic record and was never hasty: he would think things out carefully before making a decision. 61 04 26c

1961 04 27
A new plant at Eastern Gas Board's works in Newmarket Road will produce gas from oil, replacing a 22-year-old retort installation which produced tar and coke as well. It will be more economical and reduce some of the dust emissions which have caused many complaints. The new plant is housed in a sound-proofed building and any surplus will be pumped into the gas grid which now covers the local area. But it will still use 400 tons of coal each day so grit will not be completely eliminated. 61 04 27 # c.24.4

New gas plant – final section – 61 04 27a

1961 04 28

A comprehensive set of spanners, a lathe, a knowledge of motor cycles and a great deal of patience are some of the qualities needed by those who decide to purchase vintage motor cycles. Frank Doleman bought a 1912 Douglas for thirty shillings which he entered in the vintage motor cycle run from London to Brighton. Now he has four machines ranging from a 1910 Champion to a 1921 Martinsyde. All were rusted beyond recognition and the engines were mechanically worn out but with the help of David Nunn they have been rebuilt and painted to look almost new. 61 04 28 & a

The 'Caldecote News' keeps a watchful eye on the village and reports briefly on its activities. It has been in circulation for nearly two years but sells to only thirteen people. It is the hobby or two small boys who spend much of their free time collecting and arranging items, working out crossword puzzles and selling advertising space. Robert Swindells (11) is the editor with 10-year-old Robin Brammar as reporter. When it fist came out it was handwritten but Robert bought a typewriter with money he was given at Christmas and uses carbon paper to get four copies at a time. If circulation continues to grow he will have the paper duplicated 61 04 28b

City councillors decided to go ahead with a plan for a multi-deck car park with shops and filling station on the ground floor, in King Street. Steps will be taken to acquire the land from Jesus College by compulsory purchase if necessary. Congestion in the city centre is getting near to desperate: eventually parking meters would be needed and there had to be somewhere for cars to go. But it would commit the council to building a multi-deck car park when there were no details of the financial implications, Councillor Warren warned. 61 04 28c

Ruth Mellanby, hospitality secretary for language school – 61 04 28d

May 1961 CDN & CIP

1961 05 02
The Lady Adrian special school in Courtney Way had taken a long time because children who found it difficult to learn did not arouse as much sympathy with the public as those who were either deaf or blind. But they needed this type of school to provide educational facilities where their self-confidence could be built up, Lady Hester Adrian said as she officially opened the building 61 05 02 # c.36.5

1961 05 03
400 runs in four hours by St Giles' & Clare batsmen – 61 05 03

1961 05 04
Women undergraduates should stop trying to be competitive with the men and become complementary to them instead. There should be optional University classes in cookery, needlework and floral arrangements for the benefit of women, a Girton undergraduate writes in the 'Cambridge Review'. But two Newnham students are indignant that anyone should suppose they are not already proficient in domestic matters when they came up to Cambridge and deny women have no recreation other than working or taking tea 61 05 04 # c.36.9 : women

Cambridge garages will be affected by new regulations designed to reduce the number of swinging arm type petrol pumps which serve petrol through a hose extending over the footpath to reach the vehicle. Some garages say they expect a reduction of 50 per cent in their sales as people will not drive into the garage building to get their petrol and will go elsewhere. But serving petrol in the street, as opposed to a forecourt, causes traffic jams 61 05 04b # c.26.48

Paradise Island forms an appealing nature reserve of great interest to botanists and a wonderful playground for children. It has a peace and charm of its own which would be lost if a block of flats were to be erected on land at Newnham. But there was already a Preliminary Training School for Hospitals at Owlstone Croft and there could possibly be some 40 flats of four-storey height, a planning inquiry was told. 61 05 04a

1961 05 05
Robert Pumphrey of Temple Farm, Duxford has the only two original traction engines in the country in working order. They were used for harvesting until 1951 but were too expensive to run and were abandoned. Instead of breaking them up he started entering them in rallies and has won a variety of prizes. He drives the engines to shows, averaging 35 miles a day on a good day. They consume large quantities of fuel so he carries at least 4 cwt with him on his journeys. 61 05 05

Capt A.C. Taylor retires as Managing Director of the CDN – 61 05 05a # c.04

E.P. Frost ornithopter recalled – 61 05 05b # c.26.1
1961 05 09
The whole of 'The Broadway' on Mill Road is being put up for sale. It runs from Cavendish Road to Sedgwick Street and is the largest shopping area in the eastern half of Cambridge. It was built 23 years ago and consists of 14 shops with eight flats above. The London company that owns the site says it is a good investment: the properties currently realise £2,848 a year in rents which will increase to more than £4,000 in three years time. 61 05 09 # c.27.2

1961 05 10
Mrs R.F. Huddlestone of Sawston Hall has shown people round her home for the last 11 years. 61 05 10

1961 05 12
The entire printing works of the Hereward Press at Kentford were gutted by fire. The works, housed in converted stables next to Regal Lodge contained some expensive equipment, including five presses and a new offset lithograph. The Press carry out a considerable amount of printing for local firms with contracts from the USAF bases and many completed orders were lost. But the owner's Rolls Royce motor car kept in a nearby garage was driven to safety. 61 05 12

Chesterton and St Ives Joint Water Board to transfer water undertakings to Cambridge University & Town Waterworks Company – 61 05 12a # c.24.2

An aerial photograph shows how Haverhill is expanding under an agreement with the L.C.C. Similar developments of several East Anglian towns was discussed at a recent planning conference but Haverhill claims to be the first town to ever ask, voluntarily, for some of London's surplus population. The scheme was first broached eight years ago when it was envisaged the town would eventually accommodate 1,400 families, doubling the existing population. Now it will increase even further. Up to the end of last month 154 families from London had moved into new homes on the Burton End estate on the outskirts of town 61 05 12b

Frost ornithopter photo 1887 – 61 05 12c, 61 05 26 CIP # c.26.1

Reach fair proclamation – 61 05 12 CIP

Assize Court, Castle Hill site being levelled – 61 05 12a CIP

1961 05 15
The Armed Forces Day Open House and Air Show at Alconbury will feature the U.S. Army's Nike air defence and Hawk missiles alongside the R.A.F. 'Blood Hound'. Displays will include radiation protection suits and detection units, a mobile medical unit, survival equipment and flying gear together with a cartridge ejection system and a cutaway jet engine. The flying show will include T-33, F-101 and RB-66 aircraft together with a flypast of RAF Victor, Valiant, Vulcan, Comet, Britannia and Shackletons. Guests will also be able to view a typical set of family quarters and buy pop-corn, doughnuts and 'hot dogs' 61 05 15a

1961 05 16

Chivers' Huntingdon factory will close at the end of the canning season and about 250 employees will lose their jobs. There is an excess of canning capacity in the Schweppes group as a whole and the termination of all works on dehydrated potato production 61 05 16

The Broadway, Mill Road sold for £35,000 – 61 05 16 # c.27.2 # c.44.6

1961 05 18
Oswald Chivers resided as managing director of Chivers & Sons and the boards of Connaught Food Products and Schweppes (Overseas) Ltd 61 05 18

1961 05 19
Frederick Andrews, has been a Cambridge taxi-driver for about eight years on and off and finds it 'quite relaxing and leisurely. As a boy he went into the cinema industry, first as a page, then working his way up to the projection room and finally to the film studios. He worked at the New Theatre for quite a time, then bought a car and became a taxi-driver. He also spends a good deal of his spare time compering child dance shows. 61 05 19

Blacksmith Harry Spicer of Duxford now only goes to the Thriplow forge about once a month. Eight years ago there was enough work to occupy him three days a week. He does a little shoeing but most of the time remakes and repairs agricultural machinery. He rents the forge from a Brewery company. It must be fairly old as it is built of clunch but the inside is kept in good running order 61 05 19a

1961 05 20
Clement Place cottage – photo 61 05 20

Sir. In the 12th century merchants from the Continent brought their goods by sailing vessels across the sea and up the waters to Reach Fair. Many arrived too soon but their merchandise was landed on the Hythe and stored in the Merchant's Yard, now part of the grounds of the 'White Rose'. On Rogation Monday the goods were sold on the Hythe. The horses came by road and many were tethered in the courtyard of the Ship Inn. This wall still stands round the school playground and incorporates iron rings as evidence of the horse fair. There was always a triumphal procession, headed by the mace bearer, from the Green to the Hythe and I hope future mayors will uphold the true tradition of proclaiming the Fair in both places – F.H. Hutt 61 05 20a

1961 05 22
Barton bowls green opening – 61 05 22

1961 05 23
Edward Wright, who recently retired as a milk float rounds man for Goodrum's Dairies, was the last of the drivers of horse-drawn milk carts in Cambridge. However he was not happy at retiring and leaving 'Sandy', the horse he has made his milk deliveries in the Perne Road area with for the past 16 years. So he bought 'Sandy' from the diary and keeps him in a stable at his home in Cherryhinton Road. Now he has come out of retirement to advertise the Dairy Festival to be held in June 61 05 23a

Milk supplies in refrigerated bulk tanks – 61 05 23

Addenbrooke's Hospital broadcasts tape-recorded services – 61 05 23b

1961 05 24
Technical college nostalgic reminder of early days – 61 05 24 # c.36.7

Bachelors of Arts and research students may be set free of the university's stringent rules on the wearing of gowns after dusk. Many are of a mature age and a growing number are married. Those working in scientific laboratories do not require gowns and to compel them to fetch one from distant lodgings for the evening causes irritation and is a waste of time, proctors say. But the concession should not be extended to cover undergraduates. 61 05 24a

Haverhill was a dying town that has been given a new lease of life and at the same time made a contribution to the most pressing social problem of our times. A number of new industries have been attracted and the population has soared. But the 'wide boys' are coming in and there is much speculation. It was unfair that locals should have to pay increased prices for land. Suffolk had some of the most beautiful villages in Europe and they must not be spoilt by London over-spill, a Conference was told. 61 05 24b

1961 05 25
In 1911 Cyril Ridgeon set up in timber and the products of the Cam Cement Company at Meldreth. These prospered and he was able to rent a small area in the Tenison Road Wharf of the Great Eastern Railway Company. The initial buildings were modest and deliveries could only be made by horsed horse drawn transport – very different from the fleet of lorries and vans now in operation. Over 50 years it has grown into a concern employing 200 people supplying every kind of building material required. 61 05 25 # c.23

1961 05 26
Robert Doggett first became a sandwich man about 25 years ago but has had a variety of jobs since then. He has worked on building sites, been a church verger, kitchen porter and newspaper vendor. Strapped between the boards he can walk about Cambridge for three or four hours without feeling the least tired. In his free time he watches cricket, reads a good novel or goes to the pictures – especially if a cowboy film is showing. 61 05 26

A day in the life of Bill, mongrel dog owned by licensee of Fountain pub – 61 05 26 # c.19
University Examination Syndicate plans for move to Hills Road – 61 05 26b

The Hospital Car Service is operated by 15 volunteer drivers scattered around the county who last month travelled 23,111 miles transporting 3,964 patients to and from their homes. Extra helpers are needed to be on call between 9am and 6pm if required. They would make new friends but need to appreciate that their passengers may not be at their best 61 05 26c

1961 05 27
'The Willows', a six and a half acre piece of land at Cam Road, was one of the few building sites left in Cambridge. It was just a mile from the city centre with outline planning permission for the building of 200 flats in six blocks ranging from two to 15 storeys. The proposed new trunk road and bridge linking Chesterton and Newmarket road will pass the site. But it failed to reach the reserve price and was withdrawn from auction at £50,000 61 05 27 # c.06

1961 05 29
The Shadows, an instrumental group who have developed an individual style of their own, entertained fans at the Regal Cinema. They have an elaborate arrangement of electronic and amplifying equipment that produces a sound that has become so effective, novel and unusual. The group, who until a short while ago were responsible for most of the backings in Cliff Richard records, played many of their popular numbers including 'Frightened City'. Supporting acts included the Brook Brothers and the Red Price Group while Dave Allen the compere kept up a quick-fire routine of off-the-cuff humour 61 05 29 # c.69

Westminster Bank opened their first Cambridge branch at the junction of Trumpington Street and Bene't Street in 1845. It was closely connected with University and College life and the original premises have been enlarged several times. Now a continued expansion in business has seen a handsome new bank in St Andrew's Street together with the modernisation of the one in Fitzroy Street which opened in 1952 to cater for that active and expanding shopping area 61 05 29a # c.32.8

A leading RAF glider expert, Ernest Walter Clarke of Duxford, was killed when his sail plane broke up in the air over Fen Ditton – 61 05 29 # c.26.1

1961 05 30
Lilac Court, Cherryhinton Road, Cambridge. Architect designed city flats in contemporary style. Large lounge and dining room, fully fitted luxury kitchen, 2 bedrooms, bathroom and W.C. Landscape grounds are permanently maintained. Show flat is open for inspection. For sale: £2,375. Apply Hockey & Son, Bene't Street. (Advert) 61 05 30 # c.06

1961 05 31
The members of the Methodist Church at Pymoor are an enthusiastic group. Since their new place of worship was opened six years ago they have worked hard to beautify an already delightful building. Not long ago a new organ was installed and a stained window added. Now they want to redecorate and raised £54 at their annual fete. Competition winners included Graham Lark (skittles), Albert Bartle (bean bag) and Ezra Barker (dart board, for which the prize was a pig). 61 05 31

When elderly dons sported kid gloves at Guildhall dances – feature – 61 05 31a & b # c.69.2

June 1961 CDN

1961 06 01
Private patients in Addenbrooke's Hospital are to pay lower charges for their rooms. At present a single room costs £4.9s.0d. a day and this will drop by one pound. A double room comes down six shillings to £3.19s.0d. The Board of Governors have also set aside £5.12s.6d. for the purchase of a budgerigar cage for the Mill Road maternity hospital 61 06 01 # c.21.4

Orwell Anglicans and Methodists celebrated the restoration work in St Andrew's Church and the 350th anniversary of the Authorised Version of the Bible 61 06 01a

1961 06 02
There are three runways at RAF Lakenheath but only one is usable. After takeoff the F-100 jets pass over Brandon at 4,000 feet before climbing to pass south of Lowestoft. This is a disturbance and a nuisance and has caused many complaints. Now the US Air Force are making a concentrated effort to reduce the noise with a new jet engine test cell with earth revetments and blast deflectors 61 06 02

Wooden spoon recalled – 61 06 02a # c.39

Herbert Robinson has worked as a pump attendant at the Cambridge Gas Work for ten years. He is in charge of several units which pump river water round the works and separate the various chemicals and substances which comprise coal gas. The fumes which some of the pumping houses emit are not very pleasant to smell, but Mr Robinson says it does not take long to get used to them. Married with two children, he leads the Gas Works St John's Ambulance team, teaches members of the Boys' Brigade first-aid and is keen on small bore rifle shooting. 61 05 02b

1961 06 05
The Queen Mother opened the new Erasmus Building at Queens' College designed by Sir Basil Spence and West House, a new block of classrooms and living accommodation at the Leys School. By joining it on to the existing range of squash and fives courts opened by the Prince of Wales in 1932 it has created an attractive court with a fine view of Coe Fen and the River Cam. Now all boys can move into a study after two years in the common room. There is a penthouse for two bachelor masters which could provide accommodation for nursing staff in the event of an epidemic. 61 06 05 & a, 61 06 06 & a & b # c.44.5 # c.36.5 # c.02

1961 06 07

The ferry across the River Cam at Fen Ditton has been removed for the rest of the current boating season by its owners, Whitbread's Brewery, in the interest of public safety. A few weeks ago, at the end of the University Lent bumping races, the chain operated ferry sank throwing more than 30 people into the water. Known to University students as the 'Red Grind' because of its bright colouring it has been part of the Cambridge river scene for many years 61 06 07 # c.44.7

1961 06 08
The 'popsey expresses' are pulling into the station and the city is fast filling up with young girls, here to watch the eights chase each other along the Cam and to dance through a succession of May Balls. There are also 20 concerts, 10 theatrical productions apart from the Footlight's annual frolic and countless exhibitions. Once again Cambridge will take May Week in its stride. It has become used to seeing the revellers in full evening dress walking through the streets for a good day's sleep just as we are beginning another good day's work. 61 06 08a # c.36.97

Thirteen members of the Christ's College Milton Society took part in the traditional annual 'pilgrimage' to the main door of Great St Mary's Church to burn the works of T.S. Eliot. With caps and gowns, and carrying a bust of the poet Milton, the undergraduates walked in procession through the crowded Market Square. Then in front of the church the 'damnable and dangerous works' of T.S. Eliot (Penguin edition) were set in flames on the paving stones. Crowds appeared from nowhere, cameras were clicked, and passages of Milton read before the procession returned towards Christ's and noggins of nut brown ale 61 06 08a # c.36.92 # c.39

'Grantchester', film of the Rupert Brooke poem screed at The Orchard – 61 06 08 # c.65.6

1961 06 09
Ash trays and messages are the sole responsibility of Eric Hamit, now just 16 years old, and a page at one of Cambridge's hotels. If there is a light job to be done, call 'Page' and Eric will do it. He likes his job, but has more than a passing interest in electrical things. He likes 'messing about with television sets' and has made an intercommunication set of speakers and earphones for his home. He enjoys watching television too and goes to the cinema quite often – especially if the film being shown is a comedy 61 06 09c

Rupert Brooke may be reburied at Grantchester – opinions divided – 61 06 09

Professional actors could be imprisoned in Cambridge - F.A. Reeve article on early entertainment – 61 06 09a & b # c.76

Flood protection scheme – A.G. Wright sluice – 61 06 09 CIP

1961 06 12
Stapleford Horticultural Society welcomed the BBC's "Gardener's Question Time" panel to the Institute. Questionmaster Freddy Grisewood introduced the team of Alan Gemmell, Bill Sowerbutts and Fred Loads. Mrs A. Crook, a housewife with half an acre of land, wanted to know if it was possible to grow tomatoes and cucumbers in the same greenhouse. Mr G.L.N. Dunn asked if the new non-trailing runner bean would catch on and other questions were posed by the Society's Chairman, Mr H. Beavis, Mrs Worboys, N. Woodhams and G.F. Sparrow. The one-hour recording will be condensed and transmitted on June 25th – 61 06 12

1961 06 13
Sir – some of the tower blocks proposed by the University for the New Museum site would be twice the height of King's College chapel. They are opposed to the very character of the historic centre. If approved it would be impossible to object to other towers such as those of the Lion Yard that have been criticised by the Preservation Society. Would it not be better for the gradual transfer of science buildings to the west of Cambridge where a development architecturally worthy of the University could take place? – V.I. Glaster 61 06 13 # c.49.4 # c.36.9

1961 06 14
Nearly 400 people in the south of Cambridge have protested about a proposal to build 'the greatest and best dance hall in Great Britain' in the middle of the Queen Edith's Way housing estate. The hall, which would be used for wrestling bouts, boxing matches and rock and roll sessions, will be 'completely out of keeping with the nature of the district', they claim. The proposer said the area was currently scheduled for quarrying purposes and a hall would increase the amenities. "We could either mine chalk or build a really beautiful place", he said. 61 06 14 # c.69.2

1961 06 16
As soon as lessons finished for the day in the tiny Landbeach school thirty pupils banging tin drums and old saucepan lids marched through the village shouting "We want a playing field". Slowly the 30-yard long procession of youngsters aged between seven and 11 years wound its way round the picturesque streets waving banners. Then somebody remembered it was tea time so a halt was called. It is unlikely that any of the demonstrators will be at the Parish Council meeting discussing their request. They will all be in bed 61 06 16 & a

Edward Bowles has been a saddler for 65 years. When he started, at one shilling per week as an apprentice, he had to wear a clean collar and clean shoes to work every day – otherwise there would have been trouble from his employer. The work then was much heavier: large horses and agricultural harnesses were commonplace. Now light pony harnesses and stacks and stacks of suitcases are his lot. He operates his firm – the only pure saddlers left in Cambridge – with his son and finds there is ample work to carry them through the day. In fact he has not had a holiday for over five years 61 06 16b # c.27

New Theatre, formerly St Andrew's Hall and Theatre Royal, St Andrew's Street – history by F.A. Reeve 61 06 16c & d # c.76

1961 06 19
A workman had an amazing escape from death when an American F-100 Super Sabre jet fighter crashed less than ten yards from him, blowing a hole 15 feet deep in the centre of the main Sawston-Babraham Road. The blast of the exploding aircraft, which broke windows 200 yards away, picked him up and threw him into a field. The plane narrowly missed the Simplex dairy and farming equipment factory and a large housing estate. The pilot ejected and landed in the grounds of Pampisford Hall 61 06 19 # c.26.1

1961 06 20
Dutch girls extol virtues of Dutch cheese – 61 06 20

1961 06 21
Mrs Baden Powell has been elected chairman of Sutton parish council having topped the poll in both parish and Ely RDC elections. Born in the village, she helps her husband with his cheese manufacturing business. Their bungalow opposite the church is fabulous with a circular hall and curved solid walnut door which took three weeks to make by hand. The 16 radiators are disguised and surrounded by wood to tone in with the furniture while the carpets were specially made and dyed to blend. 61 06 21

1961 06 22
The Minister of Transport has issued orders for the construction of a new bridge over the Cam at Walnut Tree Avenue. Now work can start 61 06 22 # c.49.62

Cuts at USAF Alconbury will mean 200 British civilians working as secretaries, in the supply centre, motor pool, community centre, library and snack bar will become redundant. Since 1959 it has been occupied by part of the US 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing and manned by 2,500 American servicemen who had 4,300 dependents. Now it will be reduced to a small detachment for weather, communications and maintenance services. The closure will have an effect on Huntingdon traders although the London 'overspill' population will offset some of the loss. 61 06 22a

1961 06 23
E.J. Twaites, naval recruiting officer – 61 06 23

1961 06 24
Cambridgeshire has more than 2,500 thatched buildings but there are only a handful of thatchers whose average age is around 60. Because of this some people have to wait ten years to get a new roof. Few youngsters are attracted to the craft as they have to be outside in all weathers, it is hard work and when the roof has to be stripped is extremely dirty. Once thatchers were exceedingly jealous and would not speak to each other. Now they have more work than they can possibly do and share jobs with others. 61 06 24

1961 06 26
The pedestrian crossing at Mitcham's Corner was a victim of the hot weather at the week-end. The melting road surface caused the zebra stripes to flow 61 06 26

1961 06 27
Stapleford school swimming pool opened by 'Dickie' Jeeps – 61 06 27

1961 06 28
People joining Cambridge City Library will not in future have to pay one penny for each ticket taken out. The legalities of the charge, which produced about £100 annually, was 'very doubtful. The Library Committee accepted the gift of an oil painting of the Cambridge Mays by Percy Craft which will be hung in the children's library 61 06 28 # c.77.4

1961 06 29
Aerial photo of proposed Elizabeth Way – 61 06 29

The Manor Secondary Schools in Arbury Road were officially opened by the Vice-Chancellor of Cambridge University. The new buildings are designed to accommodate 450 boys and 450 girls in two separate departments linked by shared dining facilities and with a single boiler house. The Boy's Department opened in September 1959 and was shared by the girls until theirs became available in September 1960. It is the third secondary school project to be completed in Cambridge since the war 61 06 29a # c.36.5

When the new first station at Papworth Everard opened all the villagers heard about it. For the alarm siren was sounded and the fire engine went round the village ringing its bell 61 06 29b

1961 06 30
Mrs Anita Brown of Soham has an unusual hobby – sign writing. Her largest work is now at Chatteris advertising the Traction Engine Rally. It is on a six by four feet piece of hardboard and features a detailed picture of a traction engine painted in Chinese lacquer. A gifted artist, she also tints photographs professionally, enjoys modelling clay and is keen on pottery. When Soham Women's Institute entered the Cambridgeshire Federation's scrap book competition, Anita illustrated their book and designed the cover 61 06 30

The proposed King Street car park would have to earn three shillings and three pence per car space per day. But apart from Saturdays the car park would not be filled by members of the public. The Lion Yard only took three shillings – though councillors and employees parked there free. However they would also put in parking meters and with car parking meters there would be no worries about the multi-storey car park. But a shop and filling station were an important part of the project 61 06 30a # c.49.63

Eric Johnson was so impressed with the beauty and grandeur of church organs that, aged 14, he began a five years apprenticeship as an organ builder and tuner. Now 54 he had his own firm and is always learning something new about the craft. Mr Johnson designs his own pipe organs and with his son and other craftsmen takes about nine months to build an average church organ. 61 06 30b

Cambridge Camera Club photographic feature – 61 06 30c # c.65.5

With taxation problems and death duties many stately homes are being turned into business premises. Abington Hall was a private residence for a Mr Bertrand who surrendered it to the Army during the War, it is now the British Welding Research Association. Lord Inchcape left Chesterford Park in 1918; it became a Jewish Home for Incurable and is now Fison's Pest Control research centre. Hinxton Hall has become the base for Tube Investments Ltd and the beauty of its estate has been maintained while Babraham Hall belongs to the Agricultural Research Council. The mansion at Shudy Camps houses thousands of chickens having been acquired by Lyddite Chicks in 1949. Madingley Hall has been converted foe the University Extra-Mural Board, Milton Hall provides offices for the Eastern Electricity Board while Anstey Hall is home to the Auxiliary Fire Service, Bata Shoes, Regional Hospital Board and the Low Temperature |Research Station. One property provides a welcome contrast: Wimpole Hall, which was a hospital for the U.S.A.F. is now a private home again 61 06 30d

Cambridge Special Constabulary augments the understaffed police force in basic duties such as traffic control, first aid or patrolling a beat and are often on duty at May Races, Poppy Day, Guy Fawkes Night and elections. They are not forced to give their services but do what they can when they can. Their average age is 43 years and they come from all walks of life. One spent time in the navy, another joined because a child was murdered near his home. All enjoy the companionship, meeting the public and feeling they are doing something useful 61 06 30e # c.34.7

The number '22' has been a feature of life at Cambridge Airport for some time. In the immediate pre-war years No.22 Elementary and Reserve Flying and Training School was based there; during the war it became No.22 Elementary Flying Training School and with the return of peace Cambridge became home of No.22 Reserve Flying School. Now Cambridge Private Flying Group has included the number in its blazer badge. It was formed in 1953 by local businessmen John Peak who owned a Gemini, John Chapman with a Chrislea Ace, G.P. Reece (a Proctor) and Reg Marsh with his Taylorcraft Plus D. They are the 22nd group of the Popular Flying Association 61 06 30f # c.26.1

July 1961 CDN

1961 07 01
Permission to build a temporary Bailey Bridge over the River Cam at Chesterton has been refused. The Minister appreciates the council's desire to reduce the amount of cross river traffic using the Victoria Avenue – Victoria Bridge route but it would attract additional vehicles through narrow and tortuous roads. Proposals to restrict the bridge to local traffic and impose weight restrictions to prevent its use by heavy lorries would not work, he says. Now the Council will proceed with plans for a new permanent bridge 61 07 01 # c.44.7

The Roe family has been well known in Cambridge since Joseph Roe started in the antiques trade in Petty Cury in 1826. Now one more facet of the old times will disappear with the demolition of their shop on the corner of Christ's Lane and St Andrew's Street. It has been in existence since 1882, having been rebuilt in 1897. New buildings will rise on the site in keeping with the contemporary Bradwell's Court. The business has relocated to Downing Street where it will be continued by Owen Roe. 61 07 01a # c.27.2

1961 07 03
The new Perse School building at Hills Road was opened by Princess Alexandra of Kent. The new large assembly hall was filled to capacity, guests overflowing into a large marquee. The old buildings in Gonville Place, dating from 1890, had proved inadequate for a rapidly-growing school and here, on the extensive playing fields was a noble site beyond the noise and traffic of the city. It includes the Mummery miniature theatre, a biology laboratory with its own pool for the growing of specimens and a special room for school prefects. 61 07 03 & a & b # c.36.5

Royal Show – historical facts – 61 07 03c # c.22

Stanley Rose's old-established butchers is one of the few properties in Petty Cury remaining in private hands. He acquired the premises in the early 1930s, moving from a site in Market Hill which was then being demolished for make way for the new Guildhall where the family firm had been established for three generations. He is now retiring and the business will be transferred to W.J. Adkins, the local firm of butchers. The premises have been acquired by Messrs Peter Lord, the shoe specialists. 61 07 03d # c.27.2

1961 07 05
A visitor to the Royal Show asked if he could park on the playing field of Fawcett School in Alpha Terrace, Trumpington, less than a mile from the showground. But the headmaster told him he could not. So he climbed back into the cockpit of his plane and took off with a 30 yard run. The machine had circled low before landing and Mr F.N. Walker thought it had made a forced landing. But the pilot, who was wearing a Royal Society member's badge, jumped down and asked if he could leave the plane there while he went to the Show. 61 07 05 # c.26.1

1961 07 06
Queen Mother visits Royal Show by helicopter – 61 07 06 # c.26.1 # c.02

1961 07 07
Jack Barclay, professional catalogue seller, Royal Show – 61 07 07

1961 07 08
By 1966 it is hoped that the new trunk-road linking the main Cambridge-London and Cambridge-Newmarket Roads will have been fully operational for some years. East Road would then be carrying about 1,000 vehicles an hour and Winton-Smith applied to build a petrol station in place of their slaughter house. But planners told an Inquiry that it would interfere with the free flow of traffic and cause confusion for motorists 61 07 08 # c.49.62

1961 07 10
Jonas Webb made farming history – feature – 61 07 10

1961 07 12
A new car park attendant's hut has been installed on Cambridge Market Square. The original hut was badly damaged by fire during the Guy Fawkes celebrations two years ago and replaced by a temporary one. It is expected to be in use later this week 61 07 12 # c.27.3

1961 07 13
Cambridge schoolchildren have been reported by the national Press as 'uncontrollable, swarming, kicking, screaming horrors'. They are said to have caused £3,000 work of damage to a Centurion tank on Midsummer Common as part of a mobile Army exhibition. But the tank crew say it is physically impossible for a young boy to dismantle and remove a gun-sight, the expensive radio was not tampered with in any way, the periscope could have been damaged by anybody and the starter motor, reputed to have been burnt out when used by one of the children, actually went wrong when the crew tried to take the tank off the transporter 61 07 13b

Haddenham water supply not serious – 61 07 13

When the British Welding Research Association acquired Abington Hall in 1946 it comprised a derelict country house, some stables and three Army huts but practically no equipment. In spite of the difficulties of working under such conditions it sustained a programme of research into areas from brittle fracture in heavy steel plate to the welding of cooked meat cans. Now its new engineering laboratory is the most comprehensive of its kind in Western Europe. 61 07 13a

1961 07 14
Wilfred Pinney, dental technician – 61 07 14

1961 07 15
The approach to the ferry at Upware was a public right-of-way. Barges loaded and unloaded at the spot and people went there to get water. For many years children from Waterbeach Fen used the ferry to cross the river on their way to school. In 1903 they crossed four times a day for which the ferry owner was paid £6 a year by the County Council. But since the 'No Hurry' has been demolished the track had become overgrown and a new owner had erected a fence, obstructing access. Having seen an old postcard he agreed to remove it, magistrates were told 61 07 15 & a

1961 07 18
Haddenham Bowls Club, believed to be the first in the Isle of Ely, celebrated their Diamond Jubilee with a match against the County Bowling Association's Executive. Founded in 1911, their first pavilion was an old Cambridge tram. Today they have facilities which would do justice to many larger clubs. They have provided several county players and represented Cambridgeshire in the National Championships 61 07 18

1961 07 20
Herbert Robinson's premises in Regent Street were erected in the early 1930s to the design of George Banyard, a well-known architect responsible for a number of Cambridge's principal buildings. They comprise extensive showrooms, garages and workshops together with substantial office premises known as Llandaff Chambers. Now they are transferring to spacious new premises on Newmarket Road and the property is being offered for sale. The firm are retaining the electrical showrooms at 14 Regent Street 61 07 20 # c.26.48 # c.44.6

1961 07 21
Police are trying to trace a well-equipped team of safe-blowers who broke into the Swiss Laundry premises in Cherryhinton Road. They were foiled by Policewoman Muriel Latham who heard bumps in the night as she returned from a late duty and telephoned her headquarters. But the gang had a portable radio tuned into the police wavelength and escaped through a window, leaving sticks of gelignite, a jemmy and a toy balloon filled with acid. 61 07 24

Cambridge Pageant, Castle Hill – 61 07 21 # c.76

USAF Mildenhall had 8,000 passengers in June – an all-time record – 61 07 21a

1961 07 22
Cambridge Water Company opens new pumping station at Babraham – 61 07 22

1961 07 26
Scudamore's boat yard at Quayside is experimenting with a prototype fibreglass punt, the first of its kind in Cambridge. The red-and-blue punt with its yellow cushions is much livelier and virtually impossible to overturn or sink. Built in Hull it costs £110, the same as a wooden punt, but the cost of maintenance is much lower. If it proves a success there will be a gradual take-over from the traditional mahogany boats. Scudamore's already have several fibreglass dinghies and other boat yards have similar canoes 61 07 26 # c.26.3

1961 07 27

Amateur Rowing Regatta 1883 – feature – 61 07 27 # c.38 : rowing

1961 07 28
The Clore-Cotton deal over the Lion Hotel – the key to the city's central redevelopment – is probably the largest single property transaction made in Cambridge. But Mr Barr, secretary of the family company owning the Lion, says he had declined a much larger offer as he thought it was not in the best interests of the town. "It is a pity there has not been more co-operation of the people interested in the development. A few years ago they could have got the hotel for half the price I got today", he said. Now there was a golden opportunity for everyone to get together and sink their differences. 61 07 28 # c.49.67

August 1961 CDN

1961 08 01
Hopes that Cambridge would become a County Borough able to manage its own affairs have been dashed by the Local Government Commission. The improvement of county government should take priority: it could not be effective without the city and would have to be enlarged by taking in other areas. Cambridgeshire should join with the Isle of Ely to form one unit and the town of Royston should come into the area. The position of Newmarket has not yet been determined. 61 08 01 # c.35.7

1961 08 02
A Comberton firm, Bast Glazing Clips, is manufacturing an entirely new type of glasshouse made of aluminium in which glass is held in place with a spring clip and not the usual putty. These new glazing clips were designed in 1946 and patented. In 1959 the company exhibited the first prototype alloy glasshouse at a Paris show. These have only been available to the trade but now a domestic model is being made which the buyer can assemble for himself in a short time. 61 08 02

We never swank. But we are proud to know that during our 64 years of trading we have acquired the reputation for being the suppliers of the finest quality home-killed meat and imported lamb in Cambridge and district. Years ago we displayed meat outside our shop, today the interior counters and shelves are stocked with everything that is good in meat, groceries and provisions. Our prices are right & we give a free and regular delivery service. A.E. Page, 62 Cherryhinton Road – Advertisement 61 08 02 # c.27.2

1961 08 07
Frank Cross of Brampton Road Cambridge gave his first 'Punch and Judy' show when he was ten years old and has given countless performances all over the country. He is continuing a tradition of three generations of puppetry which started when his grandfather, a Wesleyan preacher in Lancashire, used to entertain the children at Sunday school parties. Frank uses the same script as his grandfather and a paper mache cast of a 300-year old oak Punch. He has taught his son and daughter to work the puppets and now his four-year-old grandson is under instruction. 61 08 07 # c.76

1961 08 08
Arthur Melbourne-Cooper was the builder of St Alban's first cinema, a photographer and film-maker who was also a stunt man and acting coach. Having trained in his father's photographic business he became cameraman to Birt Acres, a scientist who in 1892 was experimenting with 'moving projection figures'. Arthur made short films which were presented by the showmen who travelled Hertfordshire showgrounds then set up a company and filmed extensively. Spectators often tried to disrupt proceedings and a crowd of undergraduates attacked his cast and camera crew when filming in Cambridge. He retired to Little Shelford 61 08 08 & a # c.76.9

1961 08 10
Last summer's bad weather was the culmination of the vicissitudes faced by an Italian ex-prisoner of war. Gaetano Risitano, who traded as 'Guys', bought an ice cream business on Mill Road but problems started when he became involved in litigation with the previous owner. This was followed by a bad season in 1960 and profits were not big enough to support his outgoings so he put it up for sale. 61 08 10 # c.27

1961 08 12
Chesterton Hospital has 166 beds for the elderly sick and 74 custodial beds for able-bodied elderly people with no homes of their own. After decades of neglect geriatric medicine has come into its own. The number of elderly people is the highest it has ever been while a declining birth-rate has diminished the number of children available to care for their parents. Now 25 per cent of Britain's elderly are left without children to look after them in their old age. But of these 95 per cent are living independent lives and a quarter make some contribution to society until the age of 75 61 08 12 # c.32.9 # c.21.4

Corpus Christi College has decided to sell a 13-acre strip of land adjoining Barton Road for high quality residential development. It is the last major site within a short distance of the city centre. There will be a maximum of seven dwellings to the acre with two-storey houses and a small number of flats. Corpus had Leckhampton House and a portion of land sufficient for college needs and with the building of Churchill College and the development of the Sidgwick Avenue site it was felt that the needs of the University were well-covered. 61 08 12a & b

1961 08 14
Fire swept through a warehouse and store room at the Radio and Television Service's factory in Gloucester Street. It was the second fire the firm has suffered at these premises this year, and the third to cause serious damage to the company's workshops in eight months. On New Years Day the factory was badly damaged and rebuilding work is not yet complete. Then three weeks ago their paint spraying shops at Sawston were gutted. Detectives spent the weekend probing the cause which was identified as an electrical failure 61 08 14 # c.34.75

1961 08 16
Artist Jeanette Jackson and her husband are converting the old windmill at Hemingford Grey into a house and studio. It is this mill which has inspired her 15 paintings now on exhibition in London. The miller's horse and cart stables have been converted into living quarters and the loose box into a bedroom. The corn store is now a modern kitchen and the whole stable block joined by a glass veranda. The millstones will form the entrance steps and the huge wooden finial which once topped the windmill is to have place of honour on the ground floor. The hardest job was the cutting of the 140-year-old cast iron shaft which carried the sails. 61 08 16 # c.63

There does not seem to be any serious outrage about Bingo in Saffron Walden. The Carnival Association and the British Legion are making plans for sessions and John Gotch, proprietor of the Plaza Cinema is sending his assistant and an usherette to Mildenhall to find out how it is played and run. But the manager of the Walden Cinema thinks Bingo is a new craze which will die a natural death and the Secretary of the Free Church Council says it seems to be a singularly boring pursuit 61 08 16a

1961 08 17
Dr D.A. Dale of Histon, an authority on aristocratic English cars, has added a 'German box of tricks' to his collection. It is the 1939 Maybach which Dr Adenauer, the West German Chancellor, used during his state visit. This is garaged beside a 1930s Bentley, a Rolls Royce and a Siddeley Special that he uses for shopping expeditions in Cambridge. He became interested in such vehicles 20 years ago and says he has had so many that he can hardly remember them all. 61 08 17a

Visitors to Ely have commented on the untidiness of a piece of land to the west of the Cathedral. Grass stands two feet tall around old and cracked gravestones, shrubs are fast covering the ground and waste paper, blown from the streets, lies behind the railings. Now it will be taken over by the Urban District Council and opened up as garden and place of recreation, looking similar to Palace Green almost opposite 61 08 17b

1961 08 18
The Dragon Rapide, one of the most popular types of aircraft from de Havilland, is disappearing from the local scene. Until recently Marshall's Flying Services used a fleet of four to operate charter services for jockeys and trainers from Newmarket. Built between 1934 and 1946 they are economical to operate and maintain and even now are a common sight. Some firms use them as executive machines while others still plod the air routes. Marshall's has not entirely said farewell to the bi-plane era: they still have five Tiger Moths for instructional flying 61 08 18 # c.26.1

1961 08 19
The Automobile Association opened a Mobile Patrol Service Centre at Pampisford, the first in Cambridgeshire. The caravan is equipped with two-way radio and has its own team of patrols on the familiar A.A. motor cycle combination, solo machines and in breakdown service vehicles. Visitors pulling in or telephoning can get information on motoring and touring 61 08 19

1961 08 21
The Earls Court Radio Show features two 'smallest-ever Pye Pocketable' sets whose transistors and printed circuits make them smart travelling companions. One has a black morocco leather case, the other moulded plastic. They cover Long and Medium wavebands and have a two-inch loudspeaker. The Pye TV range are designed to be easily convertible to 625 lines and include 'Transista TVs' with 23 inch square tubes bringing added realism to television. 61 08 21

1961 08 23
The 400-year-old elm tree outside the Green Man at Grantchester has developed a crack in its enormous trunk and threatens to fall on the building a few feet away. Men from Tollemache's brewery roped the tree together and secured it to the pub sign post. It is hoped it can be made safe by lopping branches but daylight can be seen through the hollow, gnarled trunk and it may need to be felled 61 08 23

1961 08 24
Motorists are quick to seize every chance that comes their way of finding a parking space for their cars. Already several have made the most of the opportunity provided by the demolition work in Adam and Eve Street. Vehicles now stand where a row of cottages used to exist. The buildings were cleared as part of the City Council's redevelopment scheme in the East Road district 61 08 24a

Histon station has completed a hat-trick of wins in the garden section of the annual competition for best-kept station. They are one of four in the region to gain the top award of £10 which will go towards the cost of seeds and plants for next year. The new stationmaster, A.S.G. Harris, has taken a keen interest in the competition with strong support from his three porters who have done the bulk of the work. Longstanton, Oakington and St Ives stations also won recognition. 61 08 24b

Addenbrooke's Hospital bus service petition – 61 08 24

1961 08 28
Churchill College has received a personal gift from General de Gaulle as a tribute to Sir Winston Church. It is a modern tapestry entitled "L'etoiles de Paris", the work of M. Jean Lurcat. Another donation is the sum of £25,000 offered by an Oxford man, the Rev Timothy Beaumont, for the provision of a chapel. A chapel had been included in the original plans but construction had been held up due to lack of finance. It will however be one of the last buildings to be constructed. 61 08 28

1961 08 30
Miss Minnie. Pate began learning shorthand in the 1880s by taking down family conversations and sermons. Then she got a job copying manuscripts at Downing College which is where she first saw a typewriter. She joined the University Typewriting Office in 1892, taking over the business in 1900. After 1918 every member of the University wanted his work typed including Rupert Brooke who cycled in from Grantchester each morning with the next chapter of his dissertation for King's College. She was awarded an Honorary Cambridge MA and now spends many hours preparing an enormous scrapbook of material 61 08 30 # c.27

A length of abandoned railway line is to be used for a new 'fly-under' junction as part of the modernisation of the Great North Road. The village of Buckden lies astride the trunk road which is narrow and winding. Now a short by-pass will be constructed to the west of the High Street. It will have a dual carriageway with two pedestrian subways. Traffic will turn on to a link road beneath the old Buckden railway bridges and the disused track converted into a carriageway passing under the A.1. 61 08 30a

1961 08 31
Przibor sky's barbers shop in Ram Yard is to be swept away by demolition and redevelopment. The site is to be incorporated into a new road leading to Park Street car park. It was founded in 1879 by Count Przibor sky after he left his position as barber at the Imperial Austrian court. The family connection elapsed in 1934 when the Count's son died and Mr Frederick Osborne took over the business. A ladies' hairdressing side catered for Girton and Newnham girls but was discontinued during the war 61 08 31a # c.44.6 # c.27

The USAAF European baseball championships are being fought out at RAF Alconbury. The base not only houses the 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing but also the UK District baseball champions, the 'Alconbury Spartans'. Cheer leaders are not commonplace at the games but fans can do almost as well. Comment and encouragement flowed as freely as the beer and cokes as the sweltering afternoon went on. After the first match between the 'Darmstadt Comets' and the 'Torrejon Raiders' ground staff rushed out to water and sweep the pitch 61 08 31

Acrow Engineers, Saffron Walden's largest factory, is to close their Tower Works which employs 100 people. The factory was established during the early part of the war and after pressure from the Council opened a new Coronation Works in Ashdon Road in 1956. They continued light industrial work at the original site but the County Council has refused permission for an extension to house new offices and a research block. The Managing Director said there were plenty of other places that would welcome the income and wealth the firm could bring. 61 08 31b

September 1961 CDN

1961 09 01
Mr C.A. Moulton, stationmaster at Longstanton for the past year, is leaving his post to go to Suffolk where he will combine the duties of two stationmasters at Halesworth and Brampton. His railway service began in 1936 as a weigh-lad at Grimbsy Town goods yard and he has previously been stationmaster at Ancaster, Moulton and Wisbech St Mary. 61 09 01

1961 09 02
The wheels and panels of an old farm cart which has been in the family of Mr & Mrs Robert Haywood of 63 Melbourn Road, Royston, for 60 years now form an unusual front garden fence. It serves a dual purpose for apart from brightening up the appearance of the house it also helps people to find Mr Hayward, who is a farmer and contractor in the town. 61 09 02

1969 09 04
A large congregation gathered on the river bank at Isleham for a Believers' Baptism Service. Hymns were accompanied by a portable organ and the lesson read by Pastor Eric Woodroffe of the Pound Lane Baptist Chapel as 16 year-old apprentice engineer Donald Gee and 62-year-old William Summers entered the waist-deep waters of the River Lark to be completely immersed by the Rev Peter Chevill. Most baptisms take place in chapel baptisteries but as neither chapel at Isleham has one, the Minister decided to use the river. 61 09 04

1961 09 08
Oakington was unsuitable for major residential development, the County Development Control Officer told an inquiry. It had mains electricity, gas and water but a sewage system was not expected for three or four years and the school was already overcrowded. There is a distinct danger of development outstripping the services available. Cottenham, Girton, Histon and Milton were more suitable. But there were swarms of builders after any land for which planning permission had been granted. The developer said there was a heavy demand for houses in the £2,000 range and he would install an estate sewage disposal system 61 09 08a

Members of the Women's Royal Army Corps Territorial Association are examining aerial photographs at the new Air Photo Interpretation Centre at the Drill Hall in East Road. Until April they were a Motor Transport Company and when reorganised were divided into two sections with the other studying signals at Coldham's Lane. The women have to sign on for two years and receive full army pay with an annual bounty of ten guineas. Uniforms are given and they train each Monday evening. But it is difficult if there are small children for in wartime the T.A. are the first to be called up. 61 09 08b # c.45.8

Joseph Farrington has worked for the Gas Board since 1917. He operates a Super Sentinel Loco, called 'Lucy', at the Coldham's Lane depot. Every morning he gets it going on a diet of wood and coke, eases her out of her shed and down to the six trucks with which they move supplies of coal from the main railway line, depositing it in a tipper. The operation is repeated until 400 tons have been shifted. The coal is then taken up into a hopper and unloaded into a lorry which transports it to the gasworks on Newmarket Road. 61 09 08c # c.24.4

1961 09 11
Three guitarists and a vocalist of a 'Rock' group made history when they took part in the Schools Holiday Orchestra concert. The programme included Beethoven's 'Pastoral; symphony, Ravel's 'Bolero' and dances from Stravinsky's 'Perouchka'. The electric guitars strummed through the familiar beat of two 'pop' songs but the vocalist had to wait until the orchestra finished variations on 'Speed Bonny Boat'. This may have contributed to nervousness which made him stick too closely to the microphone, leaving the words unrecognisable. The amalgamation of convention and gimmick was rather unsatisfactory but the idea deserved the applause it received. 61 09 11

1961 09 13
Lord Bertrand Russell, leader of the Committee of 100, began a seven-day prison sentence after a civil disobedience campaign. Overnight Cambridge supporters of the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament went out with paint pots and daubed slogans saying 'Free Russell' on the wall of Emmanuel College and on footpaths in front of Sidney Sussex and Trinity. Councillor Robert Davies, a member of CND, said they did not support the defacing of buildings but it was an indication of the depth of feeling against the imprisonment of an aged and respected philosopher 61 09 13 # c.45.8

The Army Emergency Reserve has not enjoyed the limelight of other Territorial Army units. Its training obligations are not so onerous and the bounty much higher, at £75. But volunteers are liable to immediate recall for service in any part of the world, as happened during the Suez crisis. The local unit, 215 Port Workshop, is drawn from the Cambridge, Newmarket, Norwich and Ipswich area under its Commanding Officer, Captain C. Wilson of Harston. All the personnel are tradesmen; in action they would follow the assault infantry in to keep the beaches clear and traffic moving 61 09 13a # c.45.8

1961 09 14
Lord Iveagh, chairman of Guinness, who owns the Elveden Farms near Thetford, performed the opening ceremony at a new dairy at Mildenhall. The Bridge Farm Dairies premises deal with all the milk from the estate, distributing it within a 15-mile radius. 61 09 14

St John's Church in Duxford, which has fallen into disuse and disrepair since the living was amalgamated with that of St Peter in 1874, is gradually being repaired and restored. The Rector initiated a restoration scheme three years ago when he entered the living and the most urgent part of the work has now been completed. At the start the church required re-guttering, re-glazing, re-pointing and re-decorating throughout though these were of secondary importance to the task of renewing the roof of the north aisle. Much remains to be done including repairing windows, many of which have been broken by vandals. And while washing the walls traces of medieval murals have been discovered. 61 09 14a

CND plan sit-down protest at Trinity in support Bertrand Russell – 61 09 14b

1961 09 15
A new 'baroque' organ at the church of St Etheldreda in Reach has been built by one of the churchwardens, Mr C.C. Washtell, an electronics engineer. For many years he had toyed with the idea of building an organ but it was not until the church at Reach had been badly damaged by lightning and the restoration work was nearing completion that he began the actual construction. Last Saturday, two-and-a-half years later, the last screw was placed in position and the organ was ready for an informal demonstration 61 09 15

1961 09 19
Thirteen people travelling on a United Counties double-decker bus had remarkable escapes when it ploughed through a ditch and crashed into a copse after being in collision with two heavy lorries at the junction of the Bourn Airfield turn on the main Cambridge-Bedford road. A large section of the off-side of the bus was pushed in and the conductor thrown to the floor and covered in a pile of seats. One of the lorries, owned by Chivers of Histon, was completely swung round and overturned in the centre of the road. 61 09 19

1961 09 20
Barclays Bank has opened a new branch at 35, Sidney Street. The front of the building is in Portland Stone and mahogany has been used for the counters, cashiers tills and doors. The first floor is sound-proofed from the banking hall and accommodates the typewriters and customers' statement machines. These statements are sent to the banking hall by means of pneumatic tubes, a quick means of communication which helps to keep the noise down without impairing the speed of the service 61 09 20 # c.32.8

1961 09 21
Ely RAF Hospital has been awarded the trophy for the best airmen's mess in the UK. The competition is judged on the outside appearance of the dining hall, its décor and cleanliness as well as the state of the kitchen. For a small unit the size of Ely this is an outstanding achievement. There a generally a choice of four different savoury courses and sweets. But the most revolutionary development is the availability of wine before starting the meal itself. The days of the clumsy mug and ugly tea urn have gone and now Servicemen and women have elegant glass cups and teapots. In the centre of the dining hall there is even a miniature goldfish pond 61 09 21a

A 75-year-old gardener from Bury, Hunts, has taken out a patent on a revolutionary way to enable rowers to sit facing the direction they are travelling. He bought a pair of second-hand oars, cut off the top sections, rejoining them with a cogging system forming a type of hinge. A pull on the oars sends the boat forward and at the same time they are automatically positioned again for the next stroke. Now he intends to contact manufacturers. 61 09 21

1961 09 22
Demolition in Ram Yard has revealed a brick inscribed '1509'. Its size indicates that it was part of a batch produced shortly after 1790 when the Government imposed a brick tax. As a result bricks suddenly became larger so fewer were needed to build a house. A firm at Bourn made outsize bricks of a four-inch depth, which can be seen all over the village. A very handsome gault brick was made by a Barnwell firm. These are still very much in demand and when properties are demolished they are salvaged for reuse. The Shire Hall was built from such old bricks which fetch £11 a thousand. 61 09 22a # c.23

1961 09 23
History of the Dog and Gun, Castle Street – 61 09 23 # c.27.4

A Land Drover and a passenger train crashed at Swavesey level crossing. The crossing is controlled by two five-bar gates which are kept padlocked until traffic wants to go through The vehicle was returning from milking with a full load of churns in the back when the diesel engine loomed out of the early-morning mist. Passengers were taken to Cambridge by bus and trains were back running by 10 a.m. 61 09 23a

1961 09 29
The Queen opened the Gladys Yule Surgical Wing at the Equine Research Station of the Animal Health Trust at Newmarket. It is the most advanced horse hospital in the world with an operating theatre where unconscious animals are carried on electrically operated overhead hoists. The Duke of Edinburgh's favourite polo pony will be one of the first 'patients'; it needs a leg operation pioneered by the Station's veterinary surgeons. 61 09 29, 61 09 30

Geoffrey Dixon-Box thought the old army surplus bungalow he was improving at Balsham needed something extra. So he decided to build a 25ft tower next to the front door using materials at least 1,700 years old. Some stones came from the old Roman Wall around London, others from demolished abbeys and the cliffs at Hunstanton. It took almost four years to put up, working entirely by himself, and now it is complete he can stand on the beaten copper roof and look over the battlements. 61 09 29a

History of Industrial School in Victoria Road pioneered by Harvey Goodwin – by Clifford Thurley 61 09 29d

The blacksmith's yard at Lode was the scene of unusual activity when Bill Sargent and his two assistants, James Borley of Teversham and 'Nibby' Aves of Swaffham Bulbeck, set about 'shoeing' seven cartwheels belonging to Ambrose Estates of Stuntney. Bill has been blacksmith in the village for 42 year and in the old days it was normal for him to 'shoe' as many as 200 wheels during a season. He is one of the very few blacksmiths who still practice the craft but has no son to pass the trade on to. When he retires Lode will probably never again see wheel shoeing in progress. 61 09 29b

October 1961 CDN

1961 10 04
Swavesey rail crash details – 61 10 04

The news that the American air base at Alconbury will not now be closing will give long-term confidence to residents and traders in Huntingdon and St Ives who were concerned of the effect on their businesses. The Americans had announced that the base would be reducing its strength in 1964 and about 200 British civilian employees would be declared redundant. Now Alconbury and three other bases in East Anglia will remain open 61 10 04a

Austin Beales and Coote and Warren opened their new fuel oil terminal and solid fuel depot in Clarendon Road, the most modern in Europe. Oil arrives from Mobil's refinery chiefly by rail and is discharged into three main storage tanks before being sent by road tanker over a wide area. Solid fuel deliveries are concentrated in Cambridge itself. Each year 45,000 tons is unloaded from rail wagons by two cranes with 65 wagons of solid fuel arriving each week. 61 10 04b & c # c.27

1961 10 05

Harry Runham has retired after more than 30 years as car park attendant on Cambridge Market Hill. When he started in 1930 comparatively few vehicles were left there, owners being charged 6d for all-day parking. As the volume of traffic increased, the bull-nosed Morris gave way to other cars, lorries and motor cycles while fees for all-day parking increased until the present figure of two shillings was reached. 61 10 05

Sir - The pavement on the right-hand side of Huntingdon Road has been reduced to a strip barely wide enough to allow two prams to pass. This narrowing has been caused by the construction of four lay-bys of extraordinary length. It is certain these will be used by heavy lorries and visitors to the new colleges to be built on the other side of the road. Traffic is already heavy and goes much too fast. This will increase noise and vibration and turn it into the most dangerous and undisciplined road in Cambridge. – J.R. Northam 61 10 05a

The Rev Peter Barratt is helping to move some of the oak pews into his new church – St Martin's in Suez Road. The church, which will be consecrated on Saturday, has a seating capacity of 400, 280 of which will be provided by the pews. Most of these, together with other chairs, come from a Liverpool firm and were brought to Cambridge by road. 61 10 05b # c.83

The River Cam Conservators will approach Whitbread's to try and bring back the ferry that connected the grounds of 'The Plough' at Fen Ditton with the opposite river bank. After the ferry overturned last March, throwing many people into the water, the brewery considered erecting safety barriers on the bank but then decided to remove the boat altogether. It was later taken to Ely 61 10 05c # c.44.7

1961 10 06
Intruders who blew a safe at the University Veterinary College got away with a £60 haul. But they may have become infected with a disease almost unknown in this country. Hookworm is a menace in Malaya and was a scourge of British troops serving in the Far East. The burglars could have contracted it by handling forceps being used by scientists in one of the rooms. It is so rare that it will be difficult for hospitals to diagnose 61 10 06

A newly-built Canadian wooden house on the Girton Road is attractive visually. The exterior is finished in cedar shingles, the interior panelling and door frames are pine, the doors mahogany, the lounge has parana wood panelling and the ceilings are of plaster-board. Decorating costs have been cut to a minimum: the interior walls are papered, then covered with a thin film of plastic. It cost more than a comparable five-bedroomed house, but its upkeep costs far less. The new owners are delighted 61 10 06a # c.23

1961 10 07
RAF Alconbury closure denied – 61 10 07

1961 10 09
Hundreds of parishioners and clergy were present at the consecration of the new church of St Martin's in Suez Road, Cambridge. In accordance with tradition the Bishop of Ely, Rt Rev Noel Hudson, knocked on the door three times with his pastoral staff before taking the service. It is the first church to be consecrated in the Diocese for many, many years and will help meet the large overspill from Peterborough and other neighbouring towns which at the moment is very great indeed. 61 10 09 # c.83

1961 10 10
City council may purchase 160 acres of land north of Arbury Road – 61 10 10

Cyril Ridgeon is celebrating 50 years of service to the building trade. Never before has Cambridge seen so many outstanding changes as old out-dated premises are giving way to the modern shops and houses demanded by today's standard of living. Its depot at Cavendish Road has a specialised department dealing in Formica while fully-loaded lorries carry timber treated against rot by a

Tanalising Plant, ensuring it an almost indefinite life. In the Slabbing Shop a large range of artistic fireplaces are manufactured in tile, mosaic and marble 61 10 10a # c.23

1961 10 13
Newly-wed Wendy Talkes of Bateman Street is one of the ladies attending cookery classes at the Manor Evening Centre. "I picked up a little cooking from my mother, but have come here to make sure my flans don't sink and my pastry doesn't get burnt", she said. Her husband commented "Her cooking is much better that I expected. But perhaps there is a little room for improvement". The Centre only opened a week ago but already about 200 attend the evening classes. However there is little demand for the handyman course. 61 10 13 # c.36.7

Longstowe Hall was originally an Elizabethan Manor House but in 1870 the owner built extensively and completed 'buried' the earlier house with the exception of a few oak beams in the hall. Visitors have to enter under an archway which divides the two staff houses close to the road and there is a long drive bordered by trees which links the lodge to the Hall. Two enormous flower beds backed by yew hedges reach down to the lake and there is a formal rose garden. They are particularly attractive this time of the year 61 10 13a

1961 10 14
Churchill college foundation stone laid – 61 10 14 # c.44.5

1961 19 18
What is believed to be the world's oldest industry is still carried on in the village of Brandon, Suffolk, where 57 years old Mr Arthur Drewry and his son-in-law are the only two men now employed in the craft of flint knapping, which has its origins as far back as 2,000 B.C. 61 10 18

A 20-year old law student at New Hall was carried unconscious from the Cambridge Union Society debating chamber. She was one of three girls who fought their way in as a protest against 'a niggling absurd and out-of-date rule' which forbids women as debating members. As the guest speakers, Peter Thorneycroft, the Minister of Aviation and Labour MP Richard Crossman looked on, the debate was adjourned. In the scuffles that followed the girl fainted. She was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital. The debate then continued. 61 10 18a # c.36.98

1961 10 19
Stretham church hall dedicated – 61 10 19

Cambridge Library Group re-formed – 61 10 19 # c.77.4

1961 10 20
The Malting House stands on one of the busiest corners in Cambridge yet overlooks a backwater of the Cam bordered by a meadow where cattle graze. It was a brewery until converted for habitation in 1902 when the Corporation demolished the front of the house to widen the road. The bricks for the new façade came from the old properties being taken down at that time. In 1912 what remained of the old malting was converted into a small hall where countless musical evenings have been held. The whole house, which used to be a single domicile, now has six domestic units 61 10 20 # c.61.7

West Wratting and other footpaths cleared by volunteers – 61 10 20a

Fire gutted Grantchester Garage, wrecking three cars. Villagers awakened by explosions and 50 ft flames braved a 'blazing inferno' to push 12 other parked cars out of danger. One of the helpers was Reg Fuller, landlord of the 'Red Lion'. "It's a good job it was a wet night because sparks were flying everywhere and I was afraid they might get in our thatched roof", he said. Experts are trying to discover the cause of the blaze 61 10 20b

We're giving away petrol! To mark the opening of our new garage in Newnham Road, Cambridge, we will give each customer on the opening day one gallon of Shell petrol completely free of charge. We are open every day from 8 to 8 offering a Super Service and the kind of attention that makes so much difference to your motoring. B.E. Cocks & Co. – Advert. 61 10 20c # c.26.48

1961 10 21
Alban G. Wigery 'A philosopher's pilgrimage' describes Lt Shelford & University 61 10 21

1961 10 23
Nearly 300 people had the distinction of being the first out-patients to attend clinics at the new Addenbrooke's Hospital. Long before nine they were filing into the spacious entrance hall and being dispersed to six clinic suites each of which has a receptionist to prepare them for the consultation. Only a few clinics remain at Trumpington Street, including orthopaedics, radiotherapy and psychiatry. By January it is hoped to have nearly all the wards transferred 61 10 23 # c.21.4

1961 10 25
Local rock 'n' roll fans were given a bumper evening at the Regal Cinema. Star of the show was Billy Fury who received a tremendous reception from the teenagers and several young girls ran down the aisles but were turned back by cinema staff. Amongst the supporting cast was Joe Brown, a singer from the East End of London, Eden Kane, the Allisons (who came second in the Eurovision Song Contest), Tommy Bruce, the Karl Denver Trio and the Viscounts. Musical backing was provided by Peter Jay and the Jaywalkers 61 10 25a # c.69

Pop-singer Billy Fury was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital after collapsing in his room at the University Arms Hotel. He was carried on a stretcher to a waiting ambulance watched by 20 people, including schoolgirls and teenagers. Fury – real name Ronald Wycherley – had been working for the past five days against doctor's orders. He is suffering from bronchitis and a throat infection. Last night he cut short his act at the Regal Cinema, singing only three numbers including the hit 'Halfway to Paradise'. A series of X-rays later revealed that he was suffering from a kidney complaint and he was taken by car to a London clinic 61 10 25, 61 10 26 # c.69

1961 10 26
New gas plant operates without causing dust and smoke – 61 10 26 # c.24.4

1961 10 27
In a former prisoner-of-war camp chapel in Coldham's Lane members of the Cambridge Amateur Boxing Association celebrated the start of a new season by flailing themselves, and each other, almost to husks. Membership is restricted only by the inability to pay the annual subscription – boxing ability is immaterial. Boys from the age of seven are provided with equipment and training and competitive bouts begin at the age of 11. One lad accumulated a host of silver-ware but became too successful as officials were unable to find anyone who would fight him 61 10 27 # c.38 : boxing

The typical housewife of a few years hence will take an object the size of a cigarette case from her handbag and press a button. This will be linked by remote-control to the range in her kitchen and turn down the heat. The electronic cooker will include a magnetron tube which produces high-frequency microwaves that change into heat when absorbed by food. Scientists predict that by the mid 1960s food will be treated with radiation and stored for long periods without losing freshness. 61 10 27a.

Security-minded Cambridge businessmen will soon be able to hire armoured cars for wage-carrying or uniformed guards to patrol premises at night. These are two services offered by Securicor which has opened an office in All Saints Passage. The vans have radio contact with headquarters during the whole of a cash transit run and it is impossible for bandits to get into the money chamber while the guards are judo experts. Specially trained dogs can also be provided. 61 10 27d # c.32.8

St George's Church of England school declining in number of pupils – 61 10 27b

Contemporary house at 'Silversite', 8a Gog Magog Way, Stapleford – 61 10 27c

New garage at Fulbourn – advert 61 10 27e

Cambridge Film Unit is in Germany making film of Displaced Persons camps – 61 10 27f # c.65.6

1961 10 28
Two Cambridge couples are attempting to beat the Cambridge 25 hours non-stop jiving record at the Freebooters Club in Wellington Street. The dancing started last night at 9 o'clock with eight couples competing but six of these became exhausted and had to give up in the early hours. However Adrian Mead and his partner Linda Worboys and Fred Ellis with Bridget Holmes are continuing. The boys are not allowed to stop, but their partners can have a standby 61 10 28 # c.69

Cambridge Amateur Operatic Society celebrate golden jubilee – history 61 10 28a # c.69

Parents have bought a £400 hut to provide Newnham Croft School with an additional classroom. Erection of the prefabricated building has started 61 10 28b

1961 10 29
Chipperfield's circus televised for Christmas show – 61 10 29b # c.76.2

1961 10 31
Undergraduates have been banned from the centre of Cambridge on Guy Fawkes Day. This will enable police to control the danger from homemade fireworks which have caused injuries to innocent bystanders A similar ban last year made it the quietest for many years 61 10 31 # c.36.95

Trees being removed from Four Lamps area in preparation for road widening scheme and alterations to roundabout 61 10 31a # c.18

November 1961 CDN

1961 11 01
When the Prince of Wales inaugurated the new butt and parade ground of the Cambridge University Rifle Volunteers at Grange Road in October 1861 he presented a cup described as 'of massive silver, but chaste in design – a kneeling rifleman surmounting the lid, in the act of taking aim'. It is still awarded to the best shot at 1,000 yards. The Corps at first had a ground on Mill Road in conjunction with the 1st Cambridgeshire (Town Corps) but the range was found to be too short. The Grange Road ground consisted of two fields with the butt at the extreme end. 61 11 01 # c.45.4

University Medical School saved by salary increase 61 11 01a # c.36.9

An inquiry will decide whether land south of Goose Hall Farm, Landbeach should be developed as a site for 20 caravans. Landbeach was a popular place for residential development, despite the lack of a public house, butcher or baker and with mobile shops. With public transport and the universal use of the motor car the site was not isolated, the proposer claimed. But planners objected: it was outside village limits and unsuitable 61 11 01b

1961 11 02
Chesterton railway bridge with approaching train – photo 61 11 02

Soham from the air – photo 61 11 02a

1961 11 03

The most modern and up-to-date double-decker buses are coming into service in Cambridge. Fitted with fluorescent lighting, internal heaters, a wider staircase and closing doors, they are the result of many years' research into passenger comfort. The new suspension makes for a much smoother ride and top-deck vibration has been eliminated. The interior has been streamlined to give more room and newly-designed seats reduce 'travel fatigue'. Any minor faults will be corrected in later models 61 11 03 # c.26.46

Thirty years ago two L.N.E.R. railway carriages were brought from London on the line to Bartlow and transported to Balsham on a large trailer. Once on the site they were positioned parallel to each other leaving a 10ft gap in between. The roof was stretched right across and the gap enclosed with the front and back doors at either end. Down the centre of the house there is a lounge and kitchen with a double chimney stack in the middle, heating both rooms. Because the carriages are so solid the house is warm. It has no electricity and the family use paraffin for lighting and to run a refrigerator. The owner, Mr H.G. Garratt, would not change his unusual home, saying he loves everything about it 61 11 03a

1961 11 04
City planners have turned down Cambridge University's plans for a £2million 'science island' scheme on the 'New Museums' site bordered by Corn Exchange Street and Free School Lane. It would have meant the disappearance of many old laboratory building. Councillors were concerned that the three multi-storey structures, two of which were 200 feet high, would spoil the skyline. No new buildings should be higher than the present Guildhall. 61 11 04 & 06 # c.36.9

1961 11 09
Two silver birch trees transported by road to the new block of flats in East Road – 61 11 06a
Maids Causeway trees cut down to widen roundabout – 61 11 09

1961 11 10
A London company who hope to build a 24-lane ten-pin bowling centre on land at the 'Willows' in Chesterton has offered to pay the expenses of any residents wishing to see their Stamford Hill, London, facilities. There would be a social centre and bowling alley with restaurant and snack bar as well as a nursery for the babies while their parents play. The centres are well-run, clean and open, giving very little trouble, they claim 61 11 10 # c.38 : bowling

Bingo is the new national craze. During the first few games of a Cambridge session television refugees toiled away at their bingo booklets, smog descending over their bent heads. Most of the audience were regulars. They 'never missed' because 'it was an evening out'. They were not lonely there, neither were they bored. The jackpot was a modest one – if it reached previous heights of £30-40 people would be queuing to get in. But at sixpence a time and with not a 'line', let alone a 'house' in credit, the evening could be an expensive one. 61 11 10a

1961 11 11
Ten council houses in School Lane, Chittering, are supplied by one water tap; tenants fetch water in buckets. They would welcome mains drainage and a water supply if they could afford it; photos of Mrs S. Peach pumping water and tipping it into sink from bowl – 61 11 11 CIP

1961 11 13
A bullock being driven to St Ives market escaped from a herd and went into the large plate-glass window of Messrs Kiddle and Son in Crown Street, where wallpapers were on display, breaking away about two-thirds of it. Nobody was injured and the animal was taken on its way to market, apparently unhurt. Due to the heavy rain at the time it was necessary for the firm's staff to quickly board up the window. 61 11 13

1961 11 14

Twenty-five elderly people living at Sawston are spending their spare time knitting, sewing and toy-making to raise £125 to pay for a week's holiday at the seaside. The warden at the old folks' estate at Uffen Way set up the scheme after discovering that some of them have never had a holiday in their lives. Now they are working to meet a rush of orders for tea cosies, chair backs, socks and pullovers. It gives them something to do and helps keep their minds off aches and pains. 61 11 14

The developers of a proposed 24-lane ten-pin bowling alley on the now deserted Willows Walk site – between Lovers' Walk and the University boathouse at Chesterton – said it would employ about 20 people, be open until 11pm seven nights a week and include a snack bar selling alcoholic drink. But it would attract a lot of traffic to Belvoir Road and cars would park in front of the houses. If the proposal fell through then 15-storey flats would be built instead. 61 11 14a

1961 11 15
The world's most valuable painting, Rubens' "Adoration of the Magi", which fetched a record £275,000 at auction, has been installed in King's College Chapel. Movement of the painting from London began before dawn in strict secrecy. Two security guards with an Alsatian dog, followed in a car and mingled with onlookers as the painting was off-loaded at the main gate. It took two hours to get the picture in its steel frame to the chapel where it was hoisted on to a giant easel. 61 11 15a – picture – 61 11 15, 61 11 16c # c.44.5 # c.64

Mildenhall Railway line inspected – BR want to close it – 61 11 15b

1961 11 16
A cluster of balloons was flown over Cambridge to give an idea of how the proposed 200ft towers of the 'Science Island' off Corn Exchange Street would look from the Backs behind the famous King's College Chapel. Theodolite readings were also taken from Rose Crescent. The proposal has been rejected by planners 61 11 16a & b # c.36.9

Corpus Christi College has embarked on a plan to fulfil two great needs in the university. It has created a graduate extension at Leckhampton House in Grange Road to enable research students to enter fully into university life and to extend to teaching staff the social advantages and responsibilities which attach to being a Fellow of a college. Only about half the research students and unmarried Fellows normally wish to live in college rooms. 61 11 16d # c.36.9 # c.44.5

1961 11 17
Buckets of water cascaded over undergraduates who marched along King's Parade as a protest against having to wear gowns. About 250, many without gowns, walked four abreast to the Senate House escorted by a solitary policeman. Other students chanted 'Keep the Gown'. When they reached Senate House Hill three Proctors accompanied by two Bulldogs took down some of the names – they are liable to a fine of six shillings and eightpence. The only 'casualty' was a Bulldog who had his top hat snatched by an undergraduate who ran off in Trinity Street 61 11 17b # c.36.92 # c.67

Planning appeal over bungalow at Westfield Road, Gt Shelford has been going on for two years – 61 11 17

Rhodes Moorhouse brought consignment of boots from Northampton to Dalton's bootmaker, Bridge Street in 1911 – history 61 11 17a # c.26.1

A Spanish style ranch house named 'Manacor' has become a focal point in Fen Ditton since it was built six years ago. 61 11 17c

1961 11 18
Police dog Karl's first arrest – 61 11 18

1961 11 20

Main train lines were diverted while railway engineers worked throughout the night to construct a bridge on the line between Great Chesterford and Shelford. They started at 11.30 pm under electric lighting take up the old bridge and fit one of a standard design four feet above the water level of the narrow river at Duxford. Men worked in shifts throughout the day while trains were diverted via Audley End, Bartlow and Shelford. 61 11 20

1961 11 21
The Cambridge Scooter Club is a new 'all-makes' club which also caters for three-wheelers. It will organise social activities, displays and film shows. However the Cambridge Lambretta Club specialises on topics such as scooter care and maintenance. Its members have completely dismantled and reassembled a machine to gain a better insight of its works and electrics. Members average 120 miles a week with almost all using their machines every day. 61 11 21 # c.26.485

The proposed new Cambridge fire station on the corner of Parkside and East Road is without doubt the best situation that could be found. It is on the immediate perimeter of the inner congested centre of Cambridge, has access to good routes and is well-placed to take advantage of the proposed new bridge over the Cam. It will replace the present fire station built in 1944 at the corner of Newmarket Road and Coldham's Lane which consists of war-time huts and brick structures on the site of a refuse pit. 61 11 21a # c.34.75

1961 11 22
Future of University Medical School – 61 11 22

RAF Anson aircraft crashes at West Row – 61 11 22a

Electricity Board representatives will tour the isolated droves around Lt Downham, Pymore and Fodder Fen, Littleport seeking views on a scheme to bring electrification to the last few Fenland dwellers. Every hand shot up when the 130 people attending a meeting in Downham School were asked if they would like electricity. But the cost of bringing it to the Downham droves alone is over £50,000 61 11 22b

1961 11 23
Claude Kirkup became manager of Cambridge cattle market in 1936 and has seen tremendous changes. He can remember the days when sheep and pigs were brought to the market in tumbrel carts or by horse and cart. With the advent of motor traffic the market increased ten-fold and animals now come from a very wide radius. Many Continental buyers attend the Monday agricultural machinery sales. 61 11 23 # c.27.3

1961 11 24
Topcliffe Mill Meldreth converted into house – 61 11 24

1961 11 25
Mitcham's Corner proposed one-way system – 61 11 25

Bottisham village hall fire – 61 11 25a

1961 11 28
Two young fliers from RAF Waterbeach were given lifts by passing motorists when they landed safely by parachute after abandoning their Javelin jet fighter-interceptor aircraft high over Cambridgeshire. The 700 mph aircraft plunged into a field on Rectory Farm at Fox End Balsham and blew up, scattering wreckage over a wide area. Crash investigation work was hampered as live ammunition from the aircraft's canons was lying in the thick mud of the field where it crashed. 61 11 28 # c.26.1

1961 11 30

Thetford Chase is a man-made forest covering 54,000 acres which produces 400 tons of wood a day. Since the first plantations were formed in 1921 the Forestry Commission has gone on planting steadily. Brandon is the central produce department where timber for pitprops, fencing materials and firewood is handled in addition to that destined for pulpwood and hardboard. Now a softwood sawmill and particle board plant will be added. It will employ 300 men and begin operation in 1963 61 11 30

December 1961 CDN

1961 12 01
Harper House in Portugal Place houses 10,000 books devoted to the British Empire. It started in 1919 with informal tea parties at which students met for cultural discussions. By 1921 these had become so popular that 'Cambridge University International Teas' and conferences were started. In 1940 Mrs Irene Harper formed the Birdwood Club open to British children whose families were 'not pacifists' and had some connection with the armed forces. The postwar years which produced a Motherland 'bewitched, bothered and bewildered about the Common Market' have thinned the ranks of the membership 61 12 01 & a # c.36.9 # c.33

A bold scheme to transform Cambridge Market Hill into the 'finest piazza in Europe' would involve banning traffic in King's Parade, demolition of a few buildings on the corner of St Mary's Passage and the complete clearance of the Market Place. The screen in front of King's college would be removed and the Senate House and Law Department buildings linked together to form one magnificent spacious vista, says architect G.M. Vickers 61 12 01b # c.61 # c.44.6

Nightingale Avenue means something new in elegant living. It means spacious, modern four-bedroomed detached houses of quality and character by Trend Homes. Here is a rare opportunity to buy an exclusive architect designed house in a first-class position. Each will have the wonderful boon of oil fired heating, built-in wardrobes and French doors to a paved terrace. Price from £5,250 – Advert 61 12 01c # c.23

Nearly 800 University students crowded in to a meeting to hear Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the British Union Movement. Security measures were taken to prevent incidents including plain clothes policemen in the hall. The precautions were successful although the meeting at times became lively with plenty of loud heckling. Mosley said one third of Africa should be turned over to white people and the rest looked after by the coloured races 61 12 01d # c.33

Arbury Road takes a lot of traffic but one bungalow is peaceful because its wings act as a sound buffer. It is built in the form of a square with the fourth side open and has five front doors leading on to a courtyard. The main door – distinguishable from the others by the letter box – leads into a small hall. The eight rooms are interconnected and, apart from the kitchen and bathroom, can be arranged to satisfy individual tastes. Running along the right wing is a wash house with enough space to dry a heavy wash. 61 12 01e # c.61.7

1961 12 02
Burwell's new Church of England Primary School was opened by one of the newest village residents, Francis Pym MP. It was impossible to improve the curriculum with a collection of small schools and several had been closed. While no Cambridgeshire schools were 'too bad', plenty ought to be improved. It was no good having wonderful technical and secondary education if a child was stunted at the primary stage: the country's greatest asset was the brains of its young people. 61 12 02

1961 12 06
Pythagoras Hall in Northampton Street has been bought by St John's College. It is the earliest secular building in the city and was home to the first Mayor of Cambridge. But his family lost its wealth and it was sold to Merton College, Oxford, in 1270. For several centuries it was leased to farmers and became a granary. St John's hope to use it for collegiate purposes, though it means that Lord Rothschild, a University lecturer in Zoology, will have to move 61 12 06 # c.61.7

Coypu have been killed at Rampton, Lode and Bottisham during November along with 10 other in the Isle of Ely. The coypu grows to two feet long with strong orange-coloured incisor teeth and webbed feet. It lives in marshy areas and makes flat 'nests' of dry reeds. It is essential to seek out and kill them before they become established in the fens, causing heavy damage to crops and dykes 61 12 06a

1961 12 08
The collared dove is a new and exciting addition to the birds of Cambridgeshire. The first of these invaders from Eastern Europe settled on the Norfolk coast about five years ago and nested successfully at Overstrand. But they were first recorded in Cambridgeshire only two years ago. Three broods have been recorded from a pair nesting in Littleport and another pair has been seen in Adams Road. It will be interesting to see how they will stand a really hard winter. 61 12 08b # c.19

Roebuck House, Chesterton – 61 12 08 & a # c.61

1961 12 09
Five villages, Graveley, Ickleton, Hauxton, Toft and Whaddon, have been stimulated into getting their own village halls through the closure of their local church schools. In the past they have been unable to afford the cost but now hope to purchase the buildings and convert them. The Ministry of Education has made grants for new halls at Stetchworth, Barrington and Lt Shelford while the Carnegie Trust has funded others at Newton, Orwell and Weston Colville. 61 12 09

1961 12 12
Ely planning proposals envisage a new by-pass to the west of the city and the allocation of 33 acres of land for industrial purposes. Silver Street would be widened and the present route past the Cathedral closed to through traffic. There should be a new road linking Lynn and Prickwillow roads to provide direct connection with the sugar beet factory. About 1,000 people leave Ely to work elsewhere and full benefit is not taken of the numerous visitors. The plan set out to remedy these deficiencies. 61 12 12

Cambridge Amateur Operatic Society jubilee – 61 12 12a # c.69

Henry Morris, the creator of village colleges, was 'the most remarkable and creative mind in English education during his generation'. He had the vision to commission Gropius and Fry to design Impington Village College and under his direction Cambridgeshire achieved distinction in raising the national standard of design in schools. Morris attempted to extend his ideas to other zones, but was opposed by vested interests. Instead he was commissioned by President Roosevelt to develop rural community centres in the USA. 61 12 12b & 13a

1961 12 13
'War Lover' stars Shirley Ann Field and Robert Wagner at King's – 61 12 13 # c.65.6

1961 12 14
Queen Edith public house opens, Wulfstan Way – 61 12 14 # c.27.4

Sawston Hall's history is being brought alive in a remarkable way. Floodlighting greets visitors but once inside candles are the only form of lighting, blending with Christmas decorations. Guests were given hot punch before the first of six tape recorders began a commentary by Wynford Vaughan Thomas with music composed by a Franciscan friar. The portrait of Queen Mary was illuminated as the story of her escape was told and visitors were invited to look at the priest's hole beneath a stair. It has taken two years to perfect the presentation, a most successful experiment making the Hall even more attractive. 61 12 14a.

After a gloomy day's location work on the film 'The War Lover' some thirty men and women trudged to their cars parked on Queen's Road and made off for a hot bath. The day had seen two shots of film stars Shirley Anne Field and Robert Wagner walking up to and leaning on King's bridge. Miss Field plays a research worker and Mr Wagner an American officer, caught up in the romantic agonies of war. Such is the way of film making that even after a morning in which it was too wet to work, the fire brigade still had to hose water onto the bridge to make it wet enough to show. 61 12 14b # c.65.6

1961 12 15
Ely Market Place underground car park proposal 61 12 15

A self-contained flat at Manor Secondary Modern School is teaching senior girls some of the finer arts of housekeeping. Two of them spend the whole week in the flat. They do the normal daily cleaning, wash and iron clothes and prepare a midday meal, roasting, frying, casseroling and pressure cooking as they would in a home of their own. The bed-sitting room is furnished with a table, fireside chairs, bookcase and divan. Although the girls are not under constant supervision the teacher may go in at any time of the day. 61 12 15a

Mitcham's corner and a 70-year promise – letter – 61 12 15b

1961 12 16
Saffron Walden Steam Laundry was gutted by fire. Firemen heard the noise of asbestos sheets cracking in the heat and were soon on the scene using water from the municipal swimming pool. Volunteers pushed delivery vans from the yard while the stoker set off the works hooter to give warning to nearby families. Standing in an entrance yard full of snaking hose pipes and looking at premises almost entirely gutted, with the exception of a brick-built office block, Mr Southall said: "I managed to get into my office, although it was as hot as an oven, and saved all my records". 61 12 16

1961 12 18
A new vestry block, a garden of rest, memorial tablet and some new windows were dedicated at Great St Mary's Church. 61 12 18 # c.83

1961 12 10
Soham new Eastern Electricity showroom opened – 61 12 19

1961 12 20
The railway line between Cambridge and Mildenhall opened on Whit Monday 1884 with the Fordham to Mildenhall extension nine months later. The branch line was probably never self-supporting and today there are two trains daily. All the villages between Barnwell and Fordham are well served by buses and it is only Mildenhall and Isleham that do not have a satisfactory alternative service. All existing parcel facilities would remain except at Isleham and Quy stations which would be reduced to unstaffed sidings. Even at Quy staff would be provided during the heavy sugar beet season to assist farmers loading traffic, an Inquiry heard. 61 12 20a & b # c.26.2

1961 12 21
A 58 years old village sub-postmaster at Chittering, who lives alone, was working on his accounts in the living room when two men broke into the kitchen about 11.25 pm. He struggled and managed to lock one outside, then continued to wrestle with the second. But he was overpowered and tied to a chair. The robbers stole about £20 and cigarettes and pulled out the telephone cables. After struggling free the postmaster went to the Travellers Rest public house to report the attack. 61 12 21

Cambridge Folk Museum has been closed for the last nine months while various alterations and extensions have taken place. Several major improvements have been made as part of a programme that started four years ago. First the building was re-roofed, then a house was erected for the resident curator, Miss Enid Porter. This meant the old house at no.3 Castle Street became available for museum use. It has been redecorated, the staircases widened and a new system of oil heating installed 61 12 21a # c.03

Tollemache and Cobbold Breweries announce the opening of The Racehorse, Newmarket Road, Cambridge. This house has been designed for maximum comfort and service. There are three well-appointed and furnished bars and decoration is tasteful and modern. Sandwiches and snacks will always be obtainable. One of the rooms will be available for clubs and private parties. Apply to the manager, Arthur Shatford. – Advert 61 12 21b # c.27.4

1961 12 27
It is going to be even colder than it was during most of the Christmas freeze-up when ice on the Cam trapped several swans in the water. On Christmas morning fire appliances went to St Giles' church where a small fire severely damaged an electric motor in the organ. They were also called to Avery's scale makers premises in Regent Street and at Joseph Lucas on Newmarket Road where pipes in the ceilings burst and flooded the premises. The Waterworks Company dealt with 30 burst pipes on Christmas Day 61 12 27 61 12 30 # c.12

1961 12 30
The British Amateur fenland skating championships at Bury Fen, Earith, were curtailed by snow falls. Skaters and spectators tried out the cleared patches and made a journey to the only source of heat – a small hot-dog stand on the edge of the fen. Then the noise of a starting pistol presaged the whip of skates over the ice. Later the noise was changed to the gentler swish of drizzle and when this accumulated into small pools, the racing was abandoned. 61 12 30a # c.38 : ice skating

1961 Cambridge Independent Press

Throughout the year the CIP carried a series of feature articles relating to Cambridgeshire villages. They are

Shelford, Gt – 61 01 06 CIP
Fen Ditton – 61 01 13 CIP
Caldecote – 61 01 20 CIP
Stow-cum-Quy – 61 01 27 CIP
Babraham – 61 02 03 CIP
Hauxton – 61 02 10 CIP
Swaffham Prior – 61 02 17, 17a CIP
Meldreth – 61 02 24, a & b CIP
Horseheath – 61 03 03 CIP
Foxton – 61 03 10 CIP
Conington – 61 03 17 CIP
Coton – 61 03 24 CIP
Kingston – 61 03 31 CIP
Rampton – 61 04 07 CIP
Harlton – 61 04 14 CIP
Gransden – 61 04 21 CIP
Haslingfield – 61 04 28 CIP
Hildersham – 61 05 05 & a CIP
Lolworth – 61 05 12 CIP
Hinxton – 61 05 19 CIP
Swaffham Bulbeck – 61 05 26 CIP
Wicken – 61 06 02 CIP
Thriplow – 61 06 09 CIP
Melbourn – 61 06 16 & a CIP
Elsworth – 61 06 23 CIP

Oakington – 61 07 07 CIP
Over – 61 04 14 CIP
Boxworth – 61 07 21 CIP
Brinkley – 61 07 28 CIP
Longstowe – 61 08 04 CIP
Wood Ditton & Saxon Street – 61 08 11 CIP
Coton is the home of one of the pioneers of film-making – Arthur Melbourne-Cooper, builder ofg St Albans first cinema, photographer and film maker – 61 08 11 CIP
Papworth Everard – 61 08 18 CIP
Lode – 61 08 25 CIP
Abington Pigotts – 61 09 01& a CIP
Cheveley – 61 09 08 & a CIP
Dullingham – 61 09 15 & a CIP
Fordham – 61 09 22 CIP
Whaddon – 61 09 29 CIP
Burrough Green – 61 10 06 & a CIP
Stetchworth – 61 10 13 CIP
Graveley – 61 10 20 CIP
Kirtling & Upend – 61 10 27 & a CIP
Wendy-cum-Shingay – 61 11 03 CIP
Abington, Gt & Lt – 61 11 10 CIP
Carlton-cum-Willingham – 61 11 17 CIP
Snailwell – 61 11 24 & a CIP
Hatley St George & East Hatley – 61 12 01 & a CIP
Soham – 61 12 08 & a, 61 12 15 & a CIP
Ashley-cum-Silverley – 61 12 22 & a CIP
Arrington & Wimpole – 61 12 29 & a CIP

These articles continued into 1962

Isleham – 62 01 08 & a CIP
Kennett – 62 01 19 & a CIP
Burwell – 62 01 26 & a, 62 02 02 & a CIP
Bartlow – 62 02 16 CIP

1962 Cambridge Daily News (Cambridge News from October)

I have copies of these articles

January 1962 CDN

1962 01 01
Many Cambridgeshire villages are without electricity as eight inches of snow dislocated traffic and communications. Engineers had difficulties getting to the trouble through road blocks, fallen telephone wires and diversions. Snow ploughs have been working on the roads throughout the night. Railways have been badly affected with a drift between Shepreth and Royston making only single line traffic possible. It was the coldest night in Cambridgeshire since February 1917 62 01 01 # c.12

Queens Road & Earl Street with snowed-up cars – photo – 62 01 01a

1962 01 02
The school population in Cambridge has increased by 80 per cent since 1939. Council houses have been built in large numbers leading to a movement of population into new estates and new schools could not be provided in time. Serious overcrowding of infants classes reached a peak in 1953 and spread on to secondary schools in 1957. Over-large classes have been unavoidable and children are taught in halls, dining rooms and even store rooms. 62 01 02 & a # c.36.5

Clearing snow St Andrews Street & dumping it at Quayside – photos – 62 01 02b

1962 01 03
Supplies of salt are fast running out at Cambridge grocery shops as people adopt a 'do-it-yourself' policy towards clearing away the snow from their doorsteps. In two of the largest stores stocks of block or crushed cooking salt are negligible. But there is still plenty at the Corporation store yard in Mill Road despite a considerable amount being used on the streets. Hard-packed frozen snow still prevails on all roads and overnight fog reduced visibility. One result of the snow-up in Royston was the postponement of the meeting of the Urban Council 62 10 03 # c.12

G.J. Rogers record of unbroken 34 years service in Corps of Royal Engineers – 62 01 03 # c.45.7

Hundreds of building workers have been laid off because of the severe freeze-up. Many have taken temporary jobs with the City Council as snow cleaners; so far 250 extra men have been put on to help the 50 regular council workmen. In addition 46 extra lorries have been hired with 10 bulldozers and two crawler shovels. Gangs are working 24 hours a day gritting and sanding the roads. The cost of all the extra work will be 'pretty heavy' 62 01 03a # c.12

1962 01 04
Banham's building racing shell for Boat Race – 62 01 04 # c.38 : rowing

A Council debate to decide whether to create a post of City Architect ended in chaos after the Mayor stopped discussion. A qualified architect is vital if development is to be continued with taste. Council estates were dull in lay-out and their roads were not up to modern traffic. Uninspired planning must be stopped now. At a time when the Lion Yard, Museum site and City Road area are in the melting pot they should have the advice of an architect, some councillors felt. 62 01 04a # c.35.7 # c.49.4

In this 'ice box weather' with power cuts, communication difficulties, fuel shortage, food scarcities and tragedies attributable to the weather, it becomes vital to prevent chaos spreading far and wide. One of the most important amenities is electricity. The blizzard kept the Electricity Board's entire engineering staff busy deep in the night. There were no less than 20 breakages and no sooner did they repair one line at Linton than another break was discovered when they restored power. By Monday morning they had tramped and driven many miles to repair cables and were utterly exhausted.62 01 04b

1962 01 05
Baldwin Manor, Swaffham Bulbeck – 62 01 05

Barnwell and Wadloes Roads, sections of the Whitehill housing estate, were intended to be part of a ring road on the eastern side of Cambridge. That project was abandoned years ago but now they could form part of a proposed eastern by-pass. This should take priority over the 'Spine Relief Road' which was planned to run from Huntingdon Road, across Chesterton Road, over the river and up to Jesus Lane, councillors agreed. 62 01 05a

Alderman Albert Ernest Stubbs died at his home in Arbury Road. A Yorkshire man by birth, he came to Cambridge in 1914 and was for some years employed by the CDN as a rotary printing machinist in charge of the printing presses. In 1917 he'd been a member of the Agricultural Wages Committee and during the war was appointed to the County War Agricultural Executive Council. Ald Stubbs had an active political career on both County and Town Councils and was elected as Cambridgeshire's first Labour MP in 1945, serving until 1950. 62 01 05b

1962 01 06
The University rugby ground in Grange Road is one of the finest in the country. Two years ago millions of gallons of water were pumped during the heat of the summer and hundredweights of seed used to repair the ravages of the winter season. After months of loving and expert care the groundsman defied me to traverse the pitch and produce a dozen weeds. I didn't bother to accept the challenge. The playing surface looked, if shaved, fit for bowls. It was a credit to the efforts of the Hayward family who care for it. 62 01 06 # c.38 : rugby

Water undertakings administered by local authorities in St Ives, Ramsey, Chesterton and South Cambridgeshire are to be transferred to the Cambridge University and Town Waterworks Company – 62 01 06a # c.24.2

Cambridge Waterworks Company dealt with 1,500 burst pipes and 20 burst mains during the big freeze-up. At the peak of the trouble a team of 36 men were working 12-15 hours a day. The most serious flooding was where householders had gone away for the Christmas holiday. Plumbers had to show considerable self-discipline in declining offers of liquid and solid refreshment. But one lady called urgently for help only to turn away the plumber with the request that he call again when the weather was fine – and when he had cleaned his boots! 62 01 06b

1962 01 10
This year marks University boatman Alf Twinn's silver jubilee as the man in sole charge of the Cambridge University Boat Club, although he has been with them much longer. He took over from 'Cooie' Phillips in 1937 and is only the fourth boatman in the 133 years' history of the Light Blue Club. Excluding the war years Alf has had charge of 12 winning crews, but has never seen a Boat Race. He is the only man outside the realms of inter-Varsity sport who has been awarded his 'Blue'. He got his cap in 1939 when Tom Langton was President. 62 01 10 # c.38 : rowing

1962 01 11
Cottages in West Fen Road, Ely should be preserved – 62 01 11

1962 01 12
The Chittering sub-postmaster told magistrates of the night when he was beaten, tied up and robbed by two men. They had come to his house with a gun and a 'chiv' – a razor – and shouted "If you put the light on I'll blast your guts out". He was tied up with flex from the telephone and a roller towel but had struggled free and crawled to the public house to inform police. The younger robber gave himself up because he was worried about the old man. 62 01 12c

Oliver Cromwell House, Ely – feature – 61 01 12

Earith suspension bridge should be reconstructed – 62 01 12a

How Cambridge caters for would-be pilots – Marshall's flying school, University Gliding Club & Royal Aeronautical Society – 62 01 12b # c.26.1

1962 01 13
Pye T.V.T. has helped Leeds Transport Department to introduce a new system of closed-circuit television to watch bus queues and traffic in crowded streets. Three small cameras mounted on police at City Square Briggate and the Corn Exchange send pictures via a special underground cable to separate screens in the control room at transport headquarters. Here operators can turn each camera to see how many people are queuing at each stop and direct buses accordingly. The Pye system is to help in a survey of Leeds traffic problems during the next two years – 62 01 13 # c.27.1 : Pye

A six shilling rise for farm workers, bringing their wages up to £8 15s. for a 46-hour week, is too small, Union officials say. A new system is needed if agriculture is to retain the men who have the experience and skill. Many are leaving because they can get better payment in other spheres. 62 01 13a

1962 01 15
The establishment of a gramophone record lending library should be deferred. A scheme was proposed for the reading room at the Central Library in Wheeler Street to be closed and the junior library moved there. Then a music library would take its place. But the Library Committee did not agree and no alternative space has been identified. The initial costs of a gramophone record lending library would be about £1,750 with running costs of £1,450. 62 01 15 # c.77.4

Plans for a 24-lane ten-pin bowling centre to be built on The Willows site at Cam Road have been rejected. Planners say it would be out of character in a residential area and should be located near a community centre or shops. The application by Contemporary Homes Ltd for a bowling centre with restaurant and a place where parents could leave their children had brought objections from local householders. 62 01 15c # c.38 : bowling

1962 01 16
'The Young Ones', at the Regal, is an attempt to get away from the now familiar run of rock and roll films, trying to cater for the family rather than just the teenager. Cliff Richard emerges not only as a singer but tries his hand at dance routines. Meanwhile at the Rex 'South Pacific" is a well-established favourite; 'Guns of Navarone', a most remarkable adventure film is on at the Victoria while the Kinema is showing 'On the Double' with Danny Kaye and Diana Dors – 62 01 16

Tommy, the railway shunt horse from Newmarket has died, literally in harness. He was pulling a loaded grain wagon under the watchful eye of his shunter when, without previous warning, he collapsed and fell to the ground. Within seconds it was all over. The 10-year old handsome grey gelding of 17 hands was chosen to take part in the Horse of the Year Show because of his personality. A scrounger for tit-bits and a swank, he seemed instinctively to know how to get his way with human beings. Although he would jib at pulling more than two horse boxes at a time, Tommy was never work-shy and was a first class shunt horse. 62 01 16a

1962 01 17
Two new schools may be built, councillors decided. There should be a nursery school at Histon to replace the existing one which is to be demolished to make way for a new bridge over the railway level crossing. The new school at Childerley Gate will be a two-class primary which will replace the present temporary building. The original was knocked down for Air Ministry purposes during the war 62 01 17

Diana Gunn, writer of Kings Mill House, Shelford – 62 01 17a # c.74

1962 01 18
Council bans bingo on its premises – 62 01 18

Witcham parish council can no longer bear the responsibility for the engagement and payment of a gravedigger. This is due to the continual rise in pay required by a man to do the work. The clerk says this will mean that relatives will become responsible, but there is no doubt that undertakers would do it on their behalf. The decision comes into effect immediately. The council will continue their statutory duty of providing grave spaces.62 01 18a

1962 01 19
Radioactive waste materials with a short life, from University departments, can be buried under six feet of earth at the Cambridge rubbish dump off Newmarket Road. There were concerns that children might dig it up before the radioactivity had dropped or rats might become contaminated and spread it around. Dangers might also arise if a fire broke out on the dump or if some of the material got into sewers or drains. Councillors recommend the waste, wrapped in plastic, should be delivered by University vehicles and buried after strict safety checks have been observed by University officials. 62 01 19 # c.21.15

A Scandinavian-style house at 7, Hurst Park Avenue, built five years ago, is well insulated and centrally heated by a boiler featuring a small bore system with circulating pumps thermostatically controlled. The lounge has French windows opening to a terrace while the dining room has a serving hatch from the kitchen. The four bedrooms have built-in fittings with full-length wardrobes and a glass door. It is a good example of contemporary architecture on a small scale 62 01 19b

West Indians in Cambridge are having difficulty in finding a clubroom in which they can meet. At a social evening in the Romsey Labour Hall over 50 were present to dance, listen to calypso music and meet new friends from the British Commonwealth. Many of the 150 West Indians at present in the city would be keen to join a club of their own and others would travel from Ipswich 62 01 19a # c.31

1962 01 20
A former Grenadier guardsman and policeman has set up a personal bodyguard service in Cambridge. He and his staff will be available for bodyguarding 24 hours a day, providing a personal service as well as working for firms. The job does not necessarily mean guarding large sums of money: they also make the service available to people who live on their own and who need protection. For security reasons he can't say how many men he has on the staff or who they are. He himself is a former Isle of Ely policeman who won the military medal for bravery in the Italian campaign. 62 01 20 # c.34.7

Skating on Lingay Fen in 1895 by aid of floodlighting – picture – 62 01 20a # c.38 : skating

1962 01 25
Gas Board to pay cost of decontaminating River Cam after oil from the Gas works polluted the river – 62 01 25 # c.46.5 # c.24.4

Castle Street, Chesterton Lane corner widening – 62 01 25

1962 01 30
W.H. Smith's bookstall on Newmarket railway station was completely destroyed by fire. It was first noticed at 11pm but there was no one at the station at that time and when firemen arrived the stall was well alight. Flames spread along the wooden awning above the platform, several doors were scorched by the heat and windows were broken. Two cycles used for newspaper deliveries were also severely damaged. 62 01 30

1962 01 31
An experiment to prevent traffic jams at Mitcham's Corner was judged a success. It reroutes traffic along the Milton Road junction road island around the houses, and makes several of the nearby side streets one-way only. One-way traffic means cars could use the whole of the road and motorists would soon get used to it. Only three policemen would be needed to help control the traffic if the scheme was put into operation. 62 01 31 # c.49.62

February 1962 CDN

1962 02 01
A 19-year old Cambridge undergraduate now in an Ipswich isolation hospital as a smallpox suspect may not have the disease at all. Although living in Bradford he had not been in contact with smallpox victims there and may be suffering from vaccine poisoning. All those at Pembroke College who have been in contact with him are being traced but other students are not being vaccinated. 62 02 01. # c.21.1

Smallpox suspect – 62 02 01a

The changing face of old Cambridge will soon see further demolition. Already a number of houses have been pulled down in Shelley Row and four more are to follow including one boasting an elegant example of a Mansard roof. The building on the corner of Leeke Street and Newmarket Row, known as Mendicity House, formerly provided lodgings for beggars following the Napoleonic War. It was later purchased by the Industrial Dwellings Company, set up to improve the inadequate housing in the Barnwell area. It is now Harris' butcher shop. 62 02 01b & c # c.61 # c.32.9

1962 02 02
Littleport Riots & John Vachell – feature – 62 02 02

1962 02 03
Quainton Close, Newmarket Road, Cambridge is a distinctive garden site development. There is a choice of 5 designs – split-level and open plan houses, detached bungalows and luxury flats in Kensington Court. Show house and flat now open for inspection. Prices from £3,150 to £4,350 with 90% mortgages to approved purchasers. Architect G.M. Vickers. Builders J.M. Hill (Ampthill) - Advertisement. 62 02 03

1962 02 06
Football League plans to admit more non-league teams have sparked a debate about merging Cambridge United and Cambridge City football clubs. Over 62% of fans back the idea: it is a must if we are ever to have League football in the city as what one team lacks the other often has. But one fan who has watched each team says it would be a much better idea if they both packed up and their grounds were used as car parks. 62 02 06

1962 02 08
Cambridge scientists' important role in history of Medical Research Council – feature 62 02 08 # c.36.9

1962 02 10
Hayley Wood, Little Gransden, is in danger of becoming a dark, tangled wilderness of neglect, Cambridgeshire Naturalists Trust fear. It has been in existence since the Middle Ages and is a man-made modification of the original natural forest. Wood anemones, oxlips and purple orchids are amongst its plants with excellent conditions for butterflies and moths. The Trust has wanted to acquire such a wood ever since its formation in 1957 and have launched an appeal for funds. 62 02 10a

1962 02 13
Caravan at Fen Road damaged by fire – photo – 62 02 13

Foxton Hall has been added to the ever-growing list of country mansions to be used for new purposes. It has been acquired by Dr H. Hurst to study his new technology for inserting a liquid damp-proof course into buildings which are being ruined by rising damp. Initial research was carried out at the Cambridge University Department of Colloid Science and continued at the Timber-proofing Laboratories at Trumpington. It has been employed at the Leys School, Bourn Vicarage and the Royal Oak public house at Stretham. 62 02 13a

1962 02 14
Excavators and bulldozers from Dickersons Contractors of Cambridge are carrying out demolition work at Hadstock airfield near Linton. One hundred acres of concrete faced the contractors when they began. They have been digging up the runways for two years and the work is expected to take another two. A two-ton weight is repeatedly dropped on the runway to shatter the concrete then one of their concrete crushing machine moves 500 tons of material a day; its two arms pouring broken concrete on one heap and earth on another. 62 02 14a

Cambridge's new Addenbrooke's Hospital is the first with an accident service. This brand new idea deals with everything from a minor cut on the thumb to major high-speed road accident. Eventually the idea will spread all over the country. Many labour saving devices have been introduced: electronically controlled containers in a pneumatic tube system deliver records and drugs to all parts of the hospital, oxygen can be piped to the wards, there are special chutes for the disposal of rubbish and doctors carry small wireless bleepers to tell them where they are wanted. Patients are assured of the finest attention in some of the finest hospital surroundings in the country 62 02 14 # c.21.4

1962 02 16
When Miss I.G. Long was asked to start a Wolf Cub pack she did not know anything about the movement. But armed with the Jungle Book, on which the clubs are based, she formed a pack in the parish of St Barnabas and boys came from as far away as Comberton and Abington. That was in 1930, the same year as the St John's pack began under the leadership of Miss F.E. Isaacson. Both ladies are still working for the cubs 62 02 16 # c.37.9

1962 02 20
Sir Harry Legge-Bourke, MP for the Isle of Ely, who has criticised his Conservative party's policy, has been praised as 'courageous' by Lord Walston, the farmer and Socialist life peer. The Tories were now going through the same troubles that Labour faced 10 years ago. They were split over immigration, army estimates and the pay pause which had been brought about by their mishandling of the economy, he told a public meeting which inaugurated a Teversham Labour Party. 62 02 20

"Twist Around the Clock", the second such film at the Central, has a minimal story but is designed to give as many opportunities as possible for the presentation of the Twist tunes and the gyrations which accompany them. It features Chubby Checker, Dion and Vicki Spencer. Meanwhile the Victoria is showing 'Spike Milligan Meets Joe Brown' which takes a tilt at the rock'n'roll culture and conditions the audience for the main feature, Peter Sellers in 'Only Two Can Play'. 'Romanoff and Juliet' is on at the Rex while Connie Stevens, who looks like a younger version of Debbie Reynolds, stars in 'Susan Slade' at the Central 62 02 20a

1962 02 21
A site in West Fen Road Ely, where Nissen huts once stood, will become a new Council estate that could well become the housing showpiece of the Eastern Counties. Ambitious in outlook and almost revolutionary in concept, Priors Court will provide 162 homes together with 143 garages. In addition two parking areas will give space for 41 cars to allow for visitors. The emphasis on the modern need for garages is only one unusual aspect. Another is the high regard for road safety which will keep children and traffic completely apart. 62 02 21

Grove primary school named – 62 02 21a

1962 02 22
Seven people were injured when a crowded double-decker bus was in collision with a fully-laden 20-ton coke lorry along the Huntingdon Road as it stopped near the Crematorium to pick up passengers. The rear of the bus was ripped open and large quantities of coke strewn along the road. Traffic was not disrupted by the accident and the uninjured passengers were given lifts by passing motorists 62 02 22

1962 02 23
Westfield House has been formally opened as a Lutheran House of Studies with an inaugural lecture by the Bishop of Gothenburg in the presence of an invited audience of senior members of the University. The spacious building on Huntingdon Road will take students from home and abroad who are preparing for the Lutheran ministry and will have a library specialising in Reformation studies. 62 02 23

The original Duxford Mill was mentioned in Domesday Book as "worth twelve shillings; it is now broken but could be repaired". Later the present mill was built on the site and worked until 1946 when it was again in a bad state of repair. The mill and miller's house are now made into one spacious home. In the room which is now a kitchen Charles Kingsley wrote 'The Water Babies' during his frequent visits. 62 02 23a

What will be the future of Papworth Everard church spire – demolition or repair? A church and parish council meeting must decide. Demolition would cost £780 and repair £511. If repaired the spire – erected in 1877 as a memorial to Robert Cheere – would probably give no more trouble for 80 years. There are several severe cracks in the fabric and the spire is of little architectural interest. Last time they decided against having it removed 62 02 23b

Prompt action by firemen saved one of Cambridge's largest timber yards from being extensively damaged. The fire broke out in the dust extractor plant at Travis and Arnold's premises in Devonshire Road – on the night of the Fireman's Ball at the Dorothy Café. The Chief Fire Officer, R.J. Stepney, supervised the fire fighting in evening dress, before going on to the ball. There were fears that the strong wind would fan sparks on to timber near the railway rolling stock but after four hours the blaze was brought under control. 62 02 23c # c.34.75

The Cambridge Society for Mentally Handicapped Children, formed seven years ago, hopes to establish a residential home for those who are capable of an amount of self-help but need accommodation when their parents can no longer care for them. At present the only option is admission to a large hospital catering for all types of mental defect. The Society have purchased a large sombre-looking Victorian house in Milton which will be transformed with the careful use of colour to meet the best of modern standards. There will be a sheltered workshop for those capable of industrial work 62 02 23d # c.21.5

The small puddle-jumping aeroplane is becoming part of the modern scene. Wing Commander K.H. Wallis, a member of the well-known Ely family, imported a Benson autogyro in 1957 and has carried out an intensive modification programme. The result is a practical single seat machine known as the Beagle-Wallis WA-116, far-removed from the original American design. It will leap into the air in about 25 yards and climb very steeply at over 1,000 feet per minute before landing n half the length of a tennis court 62 02 23e # c.26.1

Sir – I admire the paintings of Edward Vulliamy and hope there may be an exhibition of his work. I have two examples of his genius. One, dated 1929-31, is a superb watercolour of a drainage windmill that stood near Wicken Fen, the other is a pencil sketch of the windmill on Madingley Hill. They hang alongside other fenland etchings – R.W. Macbeth's 'Fen Flood', 'Potato Harvest in the Fens' and Robert Farren's 'Holywell' and 'Sunrise on Wicken Lode'. I hope I shall find somewhere that Cambridge people may enjoy them as I have done – William Farren, Milton Road, Cambridge. 62 02 23f & 24 # c.64

1962 02 24
Bicycles. Battered ones, shiny ones. Fiery racers and aged trundlers with baskets. Bicycles for traffic weaving in town or gentle rolling down country lanes. All have seen better days. They have laid at the police station unclaimed and yesterday were sold off by auction with prices ranging from ten shillings for boneshakers to £8 for superior machines. 62 02 24a # c.26.485

1962 02 28
Bunny Hop Creche for children of parents attending Addenbrooke's Hospital – 62 02 28

March 1962 CDN

1962 03 01
A young pilot escaped serious injury when he used his ejector seat at low level shortly before his Vampire jet aircraft crashed on the airfield at Graveley. 62 03 01 # c.26.1

Macintosh and Sons of Market Hill, Cambridge, one of the oldest ironmongery firms in the country, has been sold to an unknown purchaser. The firm's earliest records date back to 1688 when the business was sold to the Finch family. They kept it going for 200 years before it was taken over by William Macintosh who'd been in business in Sidney Street. A major redevelopment scheme is proposed for the site after their retail premises close in September. The wholesale, agricultural and workshop departments will continue to trade from 349 Mill Road 63 02 01a # c.27.2

1962 03 02
Two women are virtually controlling the publication used by senior University members to express themselves on policies and topics for the first time in its long history. 'The Cambridge Review' is entirely edited by Dr Mary Hesse and Mrs Karen Needham. The Review has no official status but is mostly read and contributed to by senior academics. It recently celebrated its 2,000th edition. 62 03 02

Wamil Hall, Mildenhall, has been damaged by fire three times in the last 63 years but is still one of the most beautiful houses in the area. At the end of the last century the ground floor was damaged and the tenant, a big game hunter, left the hall with his salvaged possessions in a barge for King's Lynn, using the then-navigable River Lark which flows nearby. Then in 1912 the East end had to be rebuilt after a fire and the structure was drastically changed after the last fire of 1958 which gutted the main part of the building and destroyed the main staircase 62 03 02a

Work is being carried out on building a new bridge over the River Lark at Prickwillow, replacing an earlier one which was situated on a double bend. When completed the bridge will form part of a straight road over the river. 62 03 02b

Six barges, each 60 feet long, were towed down the River Cam from Ely to the Pike and Eel landing stage at Chesterton, where lorries were waiting to collect them. The 10-ton barges had been hired from a Hampshire firm and were used during the Ely sugar beet campaign. But the cranes needed to hoist them out of the river were too large to go on the Ely landing stage so the barges were brought to the nearest suitable spot. A police escort was provided through Cambridge streets for the lorries with their lengthy loads. 62 03 02c

1962 03 03
None of the aluminium bungalows owned by Cambridge city council is in urgent need of demolition because of corrosion, an inspection has found. However work should be started on pulling down the 100 bungalows at Church End, Cherry Hinton, within two years. This would allow for the area to be cleared for redevelopment. The 135 temporary bungalows in Fisher's Lane, Roseford Close, Walpole Road and on the Green Park Estate were not in such as bad state 62 03 03 a & b # c.23

1962 03 05
Unexploded bombs have been found in Cambridge for the second time within a week. Two were discovered by Mr Norman Summers when he was digging over a piece of waste ground at the rear of his council house in Peverel Close. Bomb disposal experts think they may date back to the beginning of the First World War. They were destroyed on the beach at Mundesley. It was the first time the land had been dug: previously it was just waste ground where children played occasionally. Last week gardeners at Grange Court found an unexploded 12lb practice bomb in the bottom of the hedge. 62 03 05 # c.45.8

1962 03 06
'England our England', a new review written by Keith Waterhouse and Willis Hall at the Arts Theatre, tempers its attack on bumbling bureaucrats with amused benevolence. Dudley Moore has added the type of music for which he has been so acclaimed since 'Beyond the Fringe'; the numbers are bold and tuneful. The cast led by Billie Whitelaw, Alison Leggatt and Roy Kinear was visibly worried by some atrociously slow lighting adjustments but the audience appeared to enjoy it. 62 03 06

1962 03 09
Burwell former Maids Head public house is now a home – 62 03 09

In 1803 Robert Willis built Stapleford smock windmill on the road to the Gogs. The mill ceased to function in 1910 but continued to provide a shelter for many an owl, jackdaw and wood pigeon until it quietly collapsed on June 22 1945. All that remains is the spinney which protected it from the northern blasts, the lintel of the door with 'R.W. 1803' engraved thereon and the mill stones, one of which may grace a local garden. The land on which the mill once stood has been cleared and will now grow corn which will be sent elsewhere to be ground. 62 03 09a

1962 03 13
An express freight train broke in two as it was passing through Audley End station. The two halves travelled about four miles downhill towards Cambridge and collided on the Ickleton road crossing and bridge outside Gt Chesterford station. A tanker wagon carrying 4,000 gallons of diesel oil was severely damaged causing the oil to spray out over the adjoining fields and seep into a stream.62 03 13 & a & b

Work is underway on a large new factory and other facilities which will greatly increase the scope of boat building by Appleyard Lincoln & Co. of Ely. The project started last year and is now nearly completed. All kinds of conventional boat building are undertaken by the firm which has been inexistence under its present name since 1945. Previously a boat building firm had been established at Ely in 1860. 62 03 13c

1962 03 17
Fire broke out one of the narrowest thoroughfares in Newmarket threatening four shops which were more than 500 years old and constructed almost entirely of wood. The manager of the Freeman, Hardy and Willis' shop saw flames coming from the second storey window of Jack Taylor's pet shop in Market Street, and dashed across the road to the 'Newcabs' taxi office to call the Fire Brigade. The upper rooms were badly burned and the shops damaged by water. But the wooden walls of the buildings survived intact 62 03 17a

1962 03 19
A chapel for the deaf and dumb in Romsey Terrace was packed with people for its ordination. The service was taken and translated into deaf and dumb language by Mr E.G. Gollup, the Missioner. More than £900 is still needed to finish paying for the timber-built chapel which seats about 60 and has an expected life of 30 years. The Ely Diocesan Deaf and Dumb Association's work began a great many years ago and a hall – close to the chapel – had been used as a meeting place. But people found it easier to pray in a church or chapel and needed a space apart where they could worship. 62 03 19 # c.21.1 # c.83

Dispute over use of land at corner of Castle Street –Shelley Row – Mount Pleasant – 62 03 19a

1962 02 20
The city council want a three-storey car park in King Street, between Malcolm Street and Manor Street. There would be space for 260 cars together with a filling station and a maximum of nine shops. It would form part of the pattern of perimeter car parks with another in Park Street. There would be an inner 'control zone' and an outer area for car parking administered by meters. This would accommodate over 400 more vehicles and relieve congestion. Motorists were reluctant to use parks away from the city centre as they wanted to get as near as possible to their places of work, an Inquiry was told. 62 02 20 & a 62 03 22a # c.26.48

1962 03 21
Rampton County School will probably close when the headmistress, Mrs J. Haird, retires at the end of the summer term. The pupils would be transferred to Cottenham where a Village College will open shortly taking children over 11 years of age from surrounding villages. This will leave the Cottenham County School available for primary education. There would be no real opposition but if there was a public inquiry could be held, councillors were told. 62 03 21

1962 03 22
Two sets of dilapidated cottages in the village of Elsworth have been bought by the Cambridge Cottage Improvement Society. All but one is occupied. About £3,000 will be required to restore them, although the Society is not considering a public appeal at the moment 62 03 22b

A police dog and handler make nightly patrols of Prospect Row where Irish labourers are camping out in empty houses, sleeping on wet mattresses and ripping up floor boards to make fires in the open grates. The houses will be demolished when a home is found for 82 year-old Lily Wilkin, who has lived in the Row all her life. Meanwhile Corporation workmen are stapling strong wire mesh over doors and windows in nearby Brandon Place and Adam and Eve Street. But no attempt can be made to clear the rubbish which litters many of the tiny backyards. 62 03 22 #

1962 03 23
Television may have dislocated the national reading habit, but books still supply a major need in most lives. Bachelor girls curl up with them, insomniacs swallow them, old ladies take them with tea and some children still find in them a world of fantasy which all the idiot boxes' resources cannot replace. Seneca it was who said 'Leisure without books is death and burial of a man alive'. Maybe the burning desire for good reading dims in the light of continental jaunting, do-it-yourself, cinema going, play acting or the other thousand and one activities we devise to keep ourselves from sitting still for five minutes. And though leisure without books may be tolerable, a life without them hardly ears imagining. Browse through any public library and you will find people engrossed in books. For as these pictures taken in the Cambridge Central Library show, book-borrowing is not a matter of pick-and-go. Prospects of delight must be tasted, savoured, chewed over, considered and taken. Or rejected for something more appetising. 62 03 23 # c.77.4

Widnall, Grantchester Old Vicarage and dahlias – feature – 62 03 23b

White Roses at The Hythe, Reach is a Tudor manor house continuously inhabited for more than 400 years. At one time it was a merchant's house with a yard alongside the Quay at the back. It was damaged by fire and the yard destroyed and in 1890, when it became a vicarage, an East wing was added. It features the entrance to a tunnel between the fireplaces, a hidden room which was possibly a priest hole and seats which came from the old 'Black Susan of the Evil Eye' inn opposite. 62 03 23 c & d

1962 03 24
A new Cambridge boundary stone has been erected in Hauxton Road. It was fashioned at Ivett and Reed's stonemason's yard from a 4¼-ton block of Ketton stone quarried in Rutlandshire. The City crest has been carved in relief instead of embossing and David Reed, son of one of the partners, did the lettering. 62 03 24

1962 03 26
The Central Youth Centre in York Street has closed after twelve years. The farewell dance, with music provided by Johnny Cullen and his Dawnbreakers, was a great success. The hard core members were quite subdued and seemed really sorry that the club was having to close. But youth leader L. Casey is leaving and the lease is expiring. However there are ample facilities for those who wish to join other clubs. 62 03 26 # c.37.9

1962 03 27
A Cambridge scientist is building a new electronic computer between 10 and 100 times faster than any existing machine, capable of over 500 million basic decisions per second. Neil Wiseman, chief engineer at the University mathematical laboratory, is putting all this brain power into a six-inch cube. It may take two years to complete. The existing ESDAC II computer occupies space equivalent to a large living room and has so many valves it needs air conditioning to cool it. 62 03 27 # c.27.5

Robinson Crusoe Island, the strip of grassland in the River Cam between Fen Causeway Bridge and the Mill Pool, is to be developed as a beauty spot. Scudamore's boat building company will plant flower beds and lay lawns; old tree stumps will be uprooted and an old boat store pulled down. It will probably be used as a stopping-off point for people punting or rowing to Grantchester. Extensive works are also being carried out to the river bank along the frontage of the Garden House Hotel as part of a gardens improvement scheme 62 03 27a

1962 03 30
Cambridge Central Library has spent 100 years in Wheeler Street. Drastic and effective reforms took place between 1954 and 1959 to make more efficient use of staff, facilitate access to the shelves for ticket-holders and give the children their own library. Space was cleared in the reference library (formerly the reading room) to seat 47 people. Reference library staff are generally able to lay their hands on a diversity of volumes relating to every aspect of any subject almost before the reader has formulated his real requirements. Year by year the service becomes more far-reaching and the qualifications demanded of librarians become more exacting. 62 03 30 (see cutting)

Sam Giddens, the Guildhall Keeper is the last to leave at night. He was custodian of the Corn Exchange for 11 years before moving to the Guildhall where he supervises the cleaning staff, sees to the heating arrangements, sets out committee rooms and helps the public find their way round the labyrinth of rooms and corridors. "I meet all sorts of people, it's very interesting", he says. But often when he thinks he's finished there'll be some committee or other meeting and he has to stay on. 62 03 30a

April 1962 CDN

1962 04 02
Fire swept a Horseheath farm causing thousands of pounds work of damage. The 16th century Tudor style College farmhouse on the West Wickham Road was gutted and flames roared into the thatch of nearby farm buildings. About £1,000 worth of stock was scattered into the mud of the stockyard with seconds to spare as burning thatch began to collapse. The fire was spotted by Arthur Tinney of Manor Farm who raced into the barns and let out bullocks, pigs and chickens worth altogether about £1,000. 62 04 02

Police are searching for a silver-grey American car which smashed down level crossing gates in Milton Road. Crossing keeper, Edward Dyson, had just closed the gates ready for the train when a large American car coming from the Milton direction rammed them. It reversed and headed back the way it had come. Members of the Cambridge City Reserves football team returning from their evening match at King's Lynn left their coach and helped drag parts of the broken gates from the rails. Mr Dyson telephoned Chesterton Junction and had a goods train diverted through Ely. 62 04 02a

1962 04 04
Addenbrooke's Hospital to install two-way closed circuit television between Operating Theatre and X-Ray department – 62 04 04 # c.21.4

A wild Muntjak deer, believed to have wandered around Cambridge for more than a year, was cornered and captured by RSPCA officials in the Caius College boathouse. For months people have reported seeing it running across their gardens, nibbling their flowers or walking along main roads. Although tired the deer, about the size of a small dog, was still lively. It was placed in a disused aviary overnight and succeeded in loosening one side with its constant kicking. It was taken to the wooded countryside on the southern outskirts of the city and released. 62 04 04a # c.19

1962 04 05
The new Victoria Ballroom was opened by Ronald Fraser, the film and television star, who had previously appeared at the Regal Cinema as part of its 25th anniversary celebrations. Converted from a café above the Victoria Cinema, it will reduce the number of 'wallflowers' on Saturday nights when special buffet dinner dances are being run at a cost of a guinea for a double ticket. When not in use for dancing it will still be put into service as a café 62 04 05 # c.69.2 # c.76.9

Heavy traffic should be kept away from Cambridge, County Surveyor Robert Lacey told a meeting. The anticipated build-up of through traffic when new roads are built from London into Essex and Hertfordshire and industrial activity develops in Suffolk and Norfolk will mean the construction of by-pass roads round Cambridge, Huntingdon and Newmarket, which he dubs 'The Midlands-East Anglia Motorway' 62 04 05a

The new slaughterhouse in Cheddar Lane, originally a two-storey builder's store, can deal with 60 to 80 cattle units and will be used for the wholesaling of fresh and chilled meat. The premises, provided by Mr R.S. Speechley, a wholesale butcher and slaughterer, replace one built by his father 60 years ago which has fallen behind modern standards. The business was taken over by the Ministry of Food from September 1940 to July 1954. 62 04 05b # c.27

1962 04 06
Cambridge hairdresser, 77-year-old T.H. Harrison is retiring as his shop in Norfolk Street is scheduled for re-development. Most of the neighbouring property has already been demolished. He has been unable to obtain similar accommodation and the new shop that is to be built on the site will be too expensive. He was also a dance pianist for many years touring village halls and playing at the United Football Club Supporters' Club three nights a week. 62 04 06

Stanley Aves, 64, has been a stonemason at the same Cambridge firm since he left school at the age of 12. After a five years' apprenticeship, he began his career making monuments, tablets and bits of Cambridge Colleges. It is a good and interesting trade and, given a lump of stone, he can tell where it was quarried. He used to run a dance band in his younger days. 62 04 06a

The newly-formed Cambridge branch of the Gideons International held its first public meeting. Almost all the local hotels have received Bibles, as have nearly 300 school-leavers and it is hoped to cover all such youngsters each year. Young folk from Queen Edith's Chapel have volunteered to read aloud Bibles given to the Blind Homes in Glisson Road. Twenty Bibles have been given to the Rehabilitation Centre in Brooklands Avenue. The replacement Addenbrooke's Hospital will be a major challenge in the near future 62 04 06b # c.83

Angel public house, Market Street bought by the unknown purchaser of Macintosh's – 62 04 06c # c.27.4

1962 04 07
Pye components on first space research satellite – 62 04 07 # c.27.1

1962 04 09
The Big Star Show at the Regal Cinema was assured of success before it began, helped by the enthusiasm of modern teenagers with hands sore from clapping, feet aching from stamping and throats sore from shouting. Billy Fury went through his handful of hits, did a series of acrobatic gyrations and left to an onslaught of applause and a stampede of young girls. Eden Kane sang the songs which have made him famous, Joe Brown called for quiet – to no avail - but Shane Fenton and Jackie Lynton received less hero worship and wild enthusiasm. It was a slick show, loved by the teenagers and witnessed with amused benevolence by their elders. 62 04 09 # c.69

1962 04 11
The Isle of Ely has been classified as a 'neutral area' in the Government's scheme for the dispersal of the public in the event of a national emergency. This means one out of which no planned movement was to be considered. 62 04 11a # c.45.8

A special road island will be built so that a 50 ft elm tree can retain its present position near Four Lamps Roundabout. Part of Butt Green has been cut away to make room for a wider roadway and now the tree, which once stood on the Green, is in the middle of the main road. Other elms were cut down as part of the scheme to speed the traffic flow and reduce congestion. Work has taken much longer than expected because of the large number of cables and wires that needed re-routing 62 04 11 # c.18

An inquest was told that a 23-year-old man found dead in his rooms in Emmanuel Road had smoked 'reefer' cigarettes. He'd bought some Indian Hemp in London 62 04 11c

Dant's Ferry, memories and 'Cuckoo' Dant – 62 04 11b # c.44.75

1962 04 13
South Cambs DC Surveyor admitted that their small sewage plant built at Ickleton in 1951 to serve over 20 houses had contravened planning requirements. It was too near some small cottages and had been a bit of a nuisance ever since. They hoped to install main drainage in about four years. In the meantime the village had a high density of septic tank drainage, far in excess of what was now permitted. This meant plans for the erection of 13 bungalows at Coploe Road should be refused, an Inspector was told. 62 04 13a

A glass staircase is just one of the fascinating features of a house in Queen Edith's Way which was built just before the war. It was designed by W.A. Cairns with sweeping curves, enormous bay windows at the front, a canopy above the sun terrace and arched doorways. The framework is of steel and armour-plate glass treads on slim rubber supports. The lounge has a circular mirror decorated with an engraving of a polo pony and rider. Much of the furniture is built in, including a cocktail bar and writing bureau 62 04 13 # c.61.7

Harry Larkins, hurdle maker – 62 04 13b

1962 04 14
The new Scientific Instrument Centre comprising laboratories and factories of Unicam Instruments and W.G. Pye in York Street were opened. The two small companies, both members of the Pye

Group, have won international renown. Unicam is one of the leading manufacturers in the world of photo-electric spectroscopic instruments while W.G. Pye is making a major contribution towards improved accuracy of physical measurements and in the field of chemical analysis. They have more than 1,000 employees with exports exceeding £1m during the last financial year. 62 04 14 # c.27.1

1962 04 16
The parish of St George, Chesterton, has practically doubled in the past five years. Twenty four members of the congregation were engaged in welcoming new families on the new King's Hedges Estate. But the need for the appointment of a curate to assist the Vicar, the Rev J. Degwel Thomas, was urgent. Amongst those elected to the Parochial Church Council were Donald & Derrick Flory. 62 04 16a # c.83

An electrical storm near Isleham was the most violent in living memory. It lasted only 15 minutes but behind it there was a trail of shattered fir poles, dead cable and a jagged crack running down a farmhouse wall. The storm hit the area with such force that the top half of electricity poles carrying 11,000 volt cable between Elderberry and Burn Foot Tree farms were split in half. Scientists have noticed that electrical storms are becoming more violent, especially in the Fens. The area around Burwell has always experienced storms of greater severity due, possibly, to an excess of iron content in the sub-soil 62 04 16b

The Cambridge Daily News moved from its old premises in St Andrews Street to the new buildings in Newmarket Road at the weekend. It began in earnest as soon as the presses stopped running off the late sports editions on Saturday evening. Then the removal men moved in equipped with a five-ton crane for lifting linotype print setting machines to augment new ones already at the new works. To take the machines from the old building a special door was made in the wall opening onto the Post Office Telephone Department yard next door. Runners and skids were placed under the linotype machines then teams of workmen pushed them across the floor into the doorway ready for the crane to do the rest. The offices were easier to move, tables and chairs typewriters and books presenting problems. Throughout the weekend fleets of van, lorries and cars plied backwards and forwards between the two buildings. The move had to be completed in one go. Unlike most offices a newspaper cannot close up for the day. The process of news-gathering must go on. The move is now complete although there is still a branch office in St Andrew's Street for the convenience of the public for the insertion of advertisements and payments of accounts.– 62 04 16c # c.04

1962 04 17
Parking meter plan unveiled – 62 04 17

1962 04 19
Francis Leach, stained glass artist and sculptor – obituary – 62 04 19 # c.63

City Architect's Department dispute over set-up – 62 04 19a # c.35.7

Rampton school closure dispute – 62 04 19a

1962 04 21
CND column of vehicles tour bases to Mepal etc – 62 04 21 # c.45.8

1962 04 23
The massive square building of the Cambridge Maltings on Newmarket Road is where barley is converted into malt for malted food and beverages but mainly for brewing into light ale. The loading room holds row upon row of sacks bulging with fat, glossy barley grains which has to be dried in a huge perforated drum. It is carried to bins where it is rested for six weeks and then conveyed to the square brick tower which rises higher than the main malt-house roof. When the process is complete it is hauled by electric elevators on to lorries to be taken to the leading breweries. 62 04 23 & a # c.27.41

Tiger Moth crashes at Caxton – 62 04 23b # c.26.1

'Prowlers' pop group – photo – 62 04 23c # c.69

1962 04 24
University to survey car parking in streets – 62 04 24

1962 04 25
St Giles Cricket Club history – 62 04 25 # c.38 : cricket

1962 04 27
Leonard Sewell, lock keeper Jesus Green, Jackie Mather groom instructress – 62 04 27

Mitcham's Corner traffic-flow experiments – 62 04 27a

In 1851 Mr Alfred Bodger, 'Hosier, Glover and Shirtmaker', founded his Gentlemen's Outfitting shop opposite Holy Trinity Church. As business grew he added a tailoring shop and in 1934 moved to the present site on the corner of Sidney Street and Green Street. In 1946 the ready-to-wear site was enlarged. More expansion followed in 1954 and now internal alterations are complete allowing a full range of goods to be shown. But friendly and personal attention is always available – Advert 62 04 27b # c.27.2

1962 04 30
Lakenheath Hall, the 16th-century former home of Sir Charles Briscoe was destroyed by fire. When firemen arrived the 23-roomed thatched house was well alight. Several American servicemen and their wives who live in the village assisted in removing furniture. Farmer Henry Smith brought the house just over a year ago 62 04 30

The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament's mock funeral march through the centre of Cambridge caused traffic congestion, provoked an anti-CND march and met with a noisy reception from undergraduates in the Market Square. The 'funeral cortege' stretched for 300 yards behind a child's coffin carried by two pall bearers. Altogether 400 'mourners' took part in the march including Mr Gabor Cossa, the antique dealer. A Committee of 100 contingent joined in a demonstration at the Government buildings in Brooklands Avenue 62 04 30a # c.45.8

May 1962 CDN

1962 05 01
An experiment at Mitcham's Corner designed to speed up rush hour traffic brought protests from road users and residents. Cars and lorries were brought to a complete standstill for up to ten minutes in Chesterton Hall Crescent which was used to siphon off traffic from Milton and Gilbert Roads. Residents protested saying it was a fiasco and the scheme should be abandoned. There were 16 children under ten years of age living in the Crescent and they felt strongly for their safety 62 05 01a

Hayley Wood Appeal fund raises £5,000 – 62 05 01a

1962 05 02
Russell Wortley with Cambridge Morris Men – 62 05 02

Highsett, Hills Road, comprises elegant town houses in a sheltered green and pleasant place. Designed by a leading architect, they include a large living room, study, two double bedrooms and well-equipped kitchen. House warming is by underfloor heating, thermostatically controlled. No cold spots, no stoking, no dust. Good insulation keeps running costs down. They are grouped round a central landscaped green maintained through a Residents Society which is also responsible for structural repairs and external decoration. First house ready soon on 99 years lease, £4,975. Span Developments. Advert 62 05 02a # c.23

1962 05 03
An inquiry into the Bradmore Street area heard that 119 houses between Petersfield, East Road, Broad Street and the CCAT were unfit for human habitation and should be demolished under the slum clearance plan. The area would be used for extensions to the college and the Mill Road Sorting Office. But six householders objected. One lady had lived in her home for 50 years, she was 89 and blind and would find it difficult to move. Another had been deaf and dumb from birth; she had lived there for 54 years and was frightened at the prospect of being relocated. 62 05 03a # c.49.4 # c.44.6

1962 05 05
Whittlesford was a beautiful village and should be preserved as it was, Mr J.H. Tickell of The Manor told an inquiry into a proposal to build 49 houses. 'Scotts' had been an attractive feature of the High Street for more than 200 years and was a listed building. But developers said the house was in an appalling and even dangerous condition, beyond economic or practical repair, restoration or preservation. The existing services, electricity and water would not be strained, though there was no main drainage and the five houses per acres was not excessive development, either visually or socially. The owner of the Whittlesford Manufacturing Company said some houses were necessary but should be in character 62 05 05

1962 05 07
Mr Jack Cotton and Mr Charles Clore, the property millionaires, have bought the site of Heffer's from Emmanuel College on the understanding that the bookshop will be rehoused in any new redevelopment of Petty Cury. Their company, City Centre Properties, acquired the adjoining Lion Hotel site last year. The Director of Dolamore, the wine merchants, who hold the freehold of most of the corner with Guildhall Street, would not say whether they had also approached them. Recently this part of Petty Cury was included in the area scheduled for redevelopment. The firm also have an interest in the New Theatre site which is now being demolished to be replaced by a block of offices 62 05 07 # c.49.67

1962 05 08
Cambridge Evening News new building on Newmarket Road – supplement – 62 05 08 also a

For the first time the Cambridge Daily News is housed in a modern building on Newmarket Road building created for its needs. The production of the Cambridge Daily News in its new large page form occupies the major part of the premises and its processing forms the bulk of the day-to-day activities. It also accommodates the range of weekly newspapers produced by Cambridge Newspapers Ltd. At the centre of these is the Cambridge Independent Press which has separate editorial offices in the building. The combined editorial output is set in type in a specialist printing department and is printed in the rotary press room which forms a large section of the new building. The main section of the building is on three floors. The ground floor office accommodation houses the editorial section with offices for the editors, reporters, general and sport sub editors, news agency teleprinters, "copy taking" and interviewing. Each reporter has his own desk with a spring loaded device which allows his typewriter to be swung out of sight at a touch of the fingertips. There is a telephone kiosk built into the corner of the room which is used for confidential calls or those coming from a long distance which require quiet surroundings for easy listening. Typists in the copytaking room transcribe telephoned stories while national news and photographs sent by wire or radio are received in the teleprinter room. On the first floor housed in the west wing are the Board Room and the officers of the managing director together with the offices of the advertising manager and his department. For members of the public who called in to discuss advertising matters, an interview room is provided. Facilities are included for the reception of telephone advertisements. A corridor gives access to other officers including that of the assistant manager and to the main photographic and engraving department where pictures used in the Cambridge Daily News are processed from the staff photographers' glazed print to the etched printing block. A lift carries the finished product to the printing works below. The main accounts section is located on the second floor together with staff dining hall and kitchens and store rooms. The site includes car parking spaces and the garage which houses the transport section and which provides facilities for washing and greasing the fleet of vans. There is also ample room for dealing with reels of newsprint which are delivered direct into underground storage rooms, and with printing ink which, bought in bulk buy a tanker, is pumped into underground storage tanks. For the future, a considerable amount of space has been left for both officers and equipment full stop in the rotary press room a series of concrete sections in the floor can be lifted to have further units of the press if necessary 62 05 08b Producing the pictures – 62 05 08d, composition of pages – 62 05 08e, foundry – 08f, printing works – 08g, machine produces 40,000 copies hourly – 08h, despatch – 08i, transport – 08j # c.04

1962 05 09
Cambridge University wants to erect a petrol filling station on Huntingdon Road using land designated for educational and research requirements – Inquiry 62 05 09

Cambridgeshire Planning Department has described the University's scheme to create a new regional shopping centre in the Fitzroy Street area as 'basically an impractical proposal'. Their idea is incompatible with the County Development Plan principle of restricting industrial and population growth. The extra traffic would mean roads would have to be improved to urban motorway standard and rehousing the existing residential population would impose a severe strain on the building industry 62 05 09a # c.49.66

1962 05 10
The clean-cut façade of the offices of Messrs Ellison & Co. show up well at the end of the little court in the passageway between the Lion Hotel and Heffer's bookshop in Petty Cury. The offices were acquired by the Clore-Cotton Group's City Centre Properties when they bought the premises occupied by Heffer's and the freehold of that part of the Lion Hotel formerly held on lease from Emmanuel College. The area is scheduled for redevelopment as part of the Lion Yard scheme. 62 05 10a # c.44.6

Lt Shelford shop keeper inquest – 62 05 10

The 80 women who work among the paper Christmas trees at Whittlesford are hopping mad with Mr J.H. Tickell who runs one of the village public houses. He told an inquiry "We do not want more factories in the village as they attract the wrong sort of girls". They ride their cycles three or four abreast down village streets, indulge in raucous behaviour and give the female equivalent of a wolf whistle if any man passes, he claimed. But the owner of the paper-decoration factory says they were nearly all respectable married women and a few single girls of very good character. 62 05 10b

1962 05 11
More than a century ago the Old Tea Garden on the East bank of the River Stour, close to Barnwell Bridge, was a fashionable resort. Skittles and bowls were the favourite pastime and there was dancing to the harp and fiddle on the spacious lawns after dark. It is no longer open to the public. A large well-constructed timber-roofed building is now used as a garage. It has a brick fireplace and the long floor of the skittle alley which ends ina padded wall. The brook has been fence off from the lovely garden, some of which has been absorbed by the Cambridge United Football Ground. More will go when Barnwell Bridge is widened. 62 05 11 – note: History of Co-operative Dairy and creamery # c.27 # c.61.2

1962 05 12
Renovations being carried out at the Green Dragon Public House in Chesterton have led to the discovery of coins and business cards over 100 years old. They were found by the licensee, John Harrison, after a mantle shelf was taken down over the fireplace in the public bar. The coins include a Rochdale halfpenny from the 1790s showing a spinner at a weaving loom while one of the cards relate to a General Election of 1835. The pub itself is of considerable age, having been granted an inn licence in 1630 when it afforded 'sufficient entertainment for 20 men and horses in bedding and stable rooms' 62 05 12 # c.27.4

1962 05 14
Some 28 miles of concrete fen roads around Isleham, Soham, Willingham and Swaffham Prior are to be taken over by the County Council over a period of up to three years. Cambridgeshire Farmers Union had requested they should be adopted and maintained at public expense. The Internal Drainage Boards had agreed to finance the cost of bringing them up to satisfactory standard 62 05 14

A Cambridge electronic engineer says his research work into colour television has been set back by six months after highly secret plans were stolen. A specialist gang got into the Golden Rule Laboratory at a converted public house, the Seven Stars in Litlington, and went straight for the files. They also took another device to enable the blind to see electronically. Edward Jaggers has warned his agents in Paris and Geneva about the raid. 65 05 14 # c.27.8

1962 05 16
The Littleport and Downham Drainage Commissioners first met at the Club Hotel, Ely, in 1756 and it was there they gathered for a celebration luncheon before driving five miles to Oxlode for the opening of a £65,000 all electric pumping station. Lord De Ramsey switched on two 320 hp motors capable of discharging 270 tons of water a minute. Together with two diesel-driven pumps they will serve one-third of the area they administer. Two more stations will be built near Denver Sluice and at Littleport to bring a big improvement to land that was suffering from poor drainage through the gradual wastage of the peat. 62 05 16 # c.29

1962 05 17
"Audley Cottage", Grantchester, which also houses the Grantchester Stores, was sold by auction for £6,000. The cottage is officially listed as a building of special architectural or historic interest. It faces Grantchester Meadows, dates from the 17th century and in addition to traditional latticed dormer windows has some quaint wood carving on the front. 62 05 17

Royal Flying Corps history – feature – 62 05 17a

1962 05 18
Five-room transportable homes which are made in two sections and take a day to erect are springing up round the county. Called a 'Sun Cottage' it can be put on any land where there is permission for a caravan and is regarded as a mobile home, even though the wheels may be taken off. Costing £1,000 it has an aluminium exterior with asbestos between the two sections and full insulation. Rooms are generously proportioned with a fitted sink unit and cupboards. One is being used by Mr & Mrs L.R. Hilberry of the Timber Yard, Pampisford. 62 05 18

Betty Rea, the sculptor, was taught by Henry Moore at the Royal College of Art – profile – 62 05 18a

1962 05 19
Cambridgeshire Table Tennis Association was formed in September 1936 and won their first match against Bury St Edmunds with a team comprising Messrs Humphries, Betterman, Stearn, Constable and Nunn. The finger spin service which was then very fashionable tended to bemuse the Cambridge players to a certain degree. Youngsters John Thurston and George Lawrence made a name for themselves while John Cornwell had several fine victories over international players. The Y.M.C.A. team were county champions in the inauguration year and repeated the feat in 1962 – the Silver Jubilee year. 62 05 19

1962 05 21
The burial ground which surrounds Dry Drayton church is almost full and no longer adequate for the future requirements of the village. So an adjacent burial ground was consecrated by the Bishop of Ely. 62 05 21

Sir – one of the loveliest spots on the River Granta is being destroyed. I refer to the woods on the upper river aptly called 'Paradise' During the war the hedge that gave shelter from the wind all the way to Grantchester was taken away along with a number of fine young walnut trees. Byron's Pool has lost all its former beauty and is an eyesore, filled up with tree branches and mud so that swimming is dangerous. Up to 1945 the water was crystal clear and drinkable. Now it has become a dirty, muddy stream, polluted and unfit for bathing – B.G. Cash. 65 02 21

1962 05 22
Jerzy Kazimerz Starnecki, the chief engineer and head of development at W.G. Pye, York Street, was born in Poland and served with their armed forced during the war. In 1947 he joined Pye as leader of a small team engaged in problems encountered in armoured fighting vehicles. He was responsible for the design of a complete new optical system used in the gunsight of the Conqueror tank, servo-controlled automatic stabilising gear and the C 42 Army V.H.F. communications set. His far-sighted thinking and sound engineering knowledge influenced the design of many instruments, one of his latest products being a multi-way rotary switch 62 05 22

1962 05 24
Queen's Hill at Worlington was built after the war and features an exceptional landscaped garden with long lawns backed by yew hedges leading to a large pond and rockery. The combined lounge and dining room runs the length of the south side and opens on to the terrace with a patio which forms a sun trap. The double garage, approachable from the hall, is always kept in a good state of decoration and with pictures, a carpet and furniture is quickly transformed into a supper room when entertaining. 62 05 24

1962 05 28
Histon church burial yard consecrated 62 05 28b

1962 05 29
The Queen arrived in Cambridge to a fanfare of trumpets and over 2,000 people stood in the biting wind to welcome her as she opened the new Addenbrooke's Hospital. With Miss M.M. Puddicombe, the hospital matron, she walked past a line of nurses to the marquee where the ceremony was held before touring various wards speaking to patients. Later the Queen visited King's College chapel to see the newly-installed Rubens painting and toured the Papworth Village Settlement 62 05 28 & a 62 05 29a # c.02 # c.21.4

Fuel cells may soon provide power for motor cars, writes Rodney Tibbs, News motoring correspondent. The cells, which were developed by Mr Bacon of Great Shelford, have an ability to produce electric current. I remember that at the original demonstration in Cambridge the cell was shown operating a fork lift truck. Now the Chrysler Corporation say they may take the place of conventional car power units within the next ten years. The immediate goal is to produce a cell which will use a simple hydrocarbon fuel such as petrol mixed with air in place of dangerous gases 62 05 29 # c.26.48

1962 05 31
The Quay Brewery, Broad Street, Ely has been sold by auction to Robinson and Gimbert, the building contractors. Part of the site will be used for residential development. Steward and Patterson have moved into new premises so the brewery was surplus to their requirements. 62 05 31

The University's proposals for the future development of Cambridge are designed to enhance its character as a university town. The Lion Yard area should include a multi-purpose public hall, for which they have offered to pay half, a new public library, exhibition gallery and arts centre. There would be a regional shopping centre in the City Road area including department and chain stores with large scale car parking and the segregation of pedestrians from traffic. 62 05 31a # c.49.4

June 1962 CDN

1962 06 01
Thieves last night cleared almost the whole stock of lightweight coats, suits and cocktail dresses from the upstairs showroom of Hutton, the women's outfitters in Petty Cury. Only clothes in the showroom window were untouched. Evening dresses were left heaped on the floor and bridal gowns left on their hangers, indicating that the thieves were disturbed. Police say the raiders carried bundles of dresses to a van parked in the narrow Alexandra Street near the shop. 62 06 01

Stetchworth mill dates back more than 250 years. It was a working watermill until four years ago but has now been converted into a quaint compact house by Miss M.E. Chadburn, the artist. The mechanism, which was driven by steam, was in front and its position is now covered by lawns. Inside is an enormous studio which absorbs the entire first floor; the bricks are left unplastered and the high ceiling gives a wonderful sense of freedom. In the lounge the owner's skill with horse studies is reflected in the plaster relief decoration at the back of the fireplace. It is a fascinating, beautifully planned home. 62 06 01a

From being almost a novelty, the steam engine has come to be regarded with sentimental veneration, receiving the same loving care and attention as vintage motor cars. The Pumfrey family of Duxford have owned a Ruston and Proctor seven n.h.p. engine since it was bought new in 1914 while Mr H. Nicholls of Cheveley has preserved a 1902 single crank compound Burrell which was used for estate work at Fordham Abbey. The Taylor brothers of Wimbish, who have a reputation for being assiduous collectors, displayed the formidable Fowler 18 n.h.p. double crank compound ploughing machine built in 1918 and still occasionally used for ploughing and mole draining 62 06 01a

Willingham often finds itself with a very low water pressure because so much water is required for the village's extensive irrigation systems and its large quantity of glasshouses which almost outnumber the houses. In 1912 the Willingham Water and General Supply Company was established. They built a water tower and installed pipes and pumps, making it one of the most important horticultural areas in the region. Chesterton RDC took over responsibility in 1955 and has agreed with the Ramsey and St Ives Joint Water Board for additional supplies in an emergency. 62 06 01b

University plans for city – 62 06 01c # c.49.4

1962 06 04
Mackay engineering firm celebrate 50-year jubilee – 62 06 04 # c.27

1962 06 05
A site at the junction of Bray's Lane and the Market Place at Ely has remained vacant since it was bought about 15 years ago with the erection of a new cinema in mind. At present it accommodates the headquarters of the St John Ambulance Brigade who are moving to New Barns Road. It has now been purchased by a London Company, Central and Provincial Properties, who hope to erect a retail store not more than two stories high 62 06 05

1962 06 06
Camera club exhibition includes photographs by J.H. Scoon – 62 06 06 # c.65.5

1962 06 07
Shipowners' Refrigerated Cargo Research Association new research lab opened, Newmarket Rd 62 06 07 # c.27

1962 06 08
Somewhere behind Cherry Hinton's façade of newness lies a village. But suburbia is spreading its tentacles into the furthest corners with the noise of cement mixers churning and hammers hammering as estates mushroom out of meadows. Even now the new estates seem to breathe a slightly dispirited air. Individualism is drowned in blanket development. People must be housed and it was inevitable that Cherry Hinton would be swallowed. But no-one who condemns the grey terraces which run beside the Tin Walk can view the new development with joy. 62 06 08 # c.44.3

Dalham Hall – feature – 62 06 08a

Cambridge railway station will become the "Gateway to East Anglia" when a new high speed passenger service to Oxford is introduced. At present there is only one through train a day between the two University cities but now a further seven will speed the service, some taking only two hours for the journey. From Cambridge there is easy access to Norwich and resorts such as Hunstanton, Lowestoft and Yarmouth. 62 06 08b # c.26.2

Sir – the subject of traffic problems is perennially popular. I suggest building an orbital road around Cambridge with a number of tiered car parks. All cars would be required to park and the journey would be completed by bus. Since everyone would use them the service would be well patronised. It would spare Cambridge from being a mere island set amid roads and car parks, bathed in swirling mists of exhaust, serenaded by that odious sound of creeping, choking traffic – R. Hennessey, Brookside. 62 06 08c # c.49.62

1962 06 11
New Post Office trunk telephone exchange planned – feature – 62 06 11 # c.27.75

1962 06 13
One of Cambridge's best known and most colourful characters, Dr John Ernest Allen has died a few days before his 90th birthday. He was a familiar figure as, dressed in plus fours, he rode along the Cambridge streets on his tricycle in all weathers. But another character, Dr Frank Leavis of Downing College, was spared seeing his books burnt on the steps of Great St Mary's Church. The Milton Society annually burns the poems of T.S. Eliot who has attacked Milton the poet in a tradition that dates back to 'the mists of time'. But newspapers had suggested they'd be attacking Dr Leavis personally which was not a proper thing to do as he'd just retired. 62 06 13 # c.39

1962 06 14
Huntingdon's narrow High Street may be closed to traffic to form a pedestrian shopping precinct. An inquiry into proposals to redevelop no.35 High Street as a supermarket was told it was presently let as a fish shop, at the rear was a 16th-century house, now unoccupied, and an old tithe barn. It had dry rot and woodworm, a section was structurally unsound and it needed a great deal spent on repairs. But planners said rebuilding would have a detrimental effect on the architectural and historic interest of the street which includes numerous ancient buildings 62 06 14

1962 06 15
When dress designer Mr R. Newton first saw the mid 15th-century Dower House at Pampisford he immediately decided to buy it, even though it had a demolition order, holes in the thatched roof and bulging plaster. He banked on there being substantial beams and persuaded a builder to strip it of all the old plaster. Once it was virtually a wooden skeleton the walls were built up again, making it practically a new house. It now has a new thatched roof and oak façade with a new staircase and only a few beams separating the lounge from the breakfast room. 62 06 15

Landbeach School was overcrowded with 49 children divided into an infant and junior class for which there are two teachers. It would be better if it were closed with children going to Waterbeach. But the County did not have the right to shut a Church-controlled school unless there was one nearby, and that at Milton was already full. Parents were opposed: the school had been part of the life of the village for 200 years; once closed it was most unlikely there would ever be another one. 62 06 15a

1962 06 18

Two local men were on the footplate of a B.1 class locomotive when it steamed out of Cambridge Railway Station to close an 80 years' period of railway history. Driver Bertram George and fireman Ivor Wilson were in charge of the 100-ton engine as it left the goods sidings with one carriage and a truck. It was the last train to leave Cambridge hauled by a steam engine. During the weekend a dozen other steam locomotives were driven or pulled to engine sheds in London as railwaymen finally severed their connections with the 'steamers'. Now all trains are being hauled by the new high-speed diesel locomotives 62 06 18

1962 06 20
Eleanor Summerfield, the actress who stars in the film 'Petticoat Pirates' with Charlie Drake, and her husband Leonard Sachs, well-known as the chairman of the BBC tv 'Good Old Days' have bought a weekend cottage at Wilburton. Most Fridays they motor down from London with their two sons and at the moment they are attacking the garden. The cottage was advertised as having a river running by the garden and is in an isolated position. Mrs Sachs always thought she disliked flat country but as begun to appreciate the magic of the fens and the wonderful expanse of sky. The people are 'so gentle, kind and good natured' 62 06 20

1962 06 21
County council 'At Home' on lawns of Shire Hall – 62 06 21

1952 06 22
The shortage of water in Huntingdon has become so serious that the Borough Surveyor has warned residents that supplies may be cut off in parts of the town for selected periods. The level in the water tower has reached such a low level that there is insufficient pressure to reach the higher buildings. The Fire Brigade is pumping water to the County Hospital to enable it to carry on and workmen may be laid off at the Silent Channel Company's factory, where car accessories are manufactured. The villages of Brampton, Ellington, Easton and Spaldwick might soon be entirely without supplies. 62 06 22

Toft Methodist Church celebrated its centenary with a gathering of 500 people in a barn at Orchard Farm. This was appropriate as both John Bunyan and John Wesley had preached in such a building very near the present chapel. Prior to the rally and afternoon service and a tea had been held and the celebrations will conclude with a barn dance. 62 06 22a

The legends about a tunnel from Sawston Hall to the Gogs have been discounted by recent sewage excavations. But some villages say they did not go deep enough. During damp or misty weather a particularly dense line of fog may be seen stretching from the hall across the new churchyard in the direction of the Gogs. Others think a tunnel would have been further east, missing the churchyard or at the bottom of the Tudor lavatory shute, very near the famous hiding hole in the tower. 62 06 22b

1962 06 23
Two village railway stations may be closed by British Railways. Only five people a day use Black Bank station on the main March line; the buildings are gradually subsiding into the fenland soil leaving the former stationmaster's house in a poor condition. And only eight people a day use the 11 stopping trains at Harston station; by closing it they could save nearly £700 a year. 62 06 23

1962 06 25
University plans for the future of Cambridge envisage that in the Lion Yard there would be a new hall for conferences, concerts and all kinds of music with a new library, small shops, cafes and homes for 300 people. A new regional shopping centre in City Road would be free of all vehicular traffic and there could be more homes on the site than before. The housing areas which are close to the centre are also the oldest and many are in need of redevelopment. Already 4,000 people have had to leave since 1950 but the University wants to see at least as many living in these areas as were there ten years go. 62 06 25 # c.49.4

1962 06 27
University development plans attacked – 62 06 27 # c.49.4

1962 06 28
Addenbrooke's Hospital development plans – 62 06 28 # c.21.4

St Ives water shortage very serious – 62 06 28

1962 06 29
Violet Stormont combines the duties of housewife with her job a petrol attendant at a Cambridge garage, providing a cheerful on-the-spot service to passing motorists. Dark haired and smart in her official uniform she finds the work more interesting than her previous job as a children's nurse. She says that male motorists are invariably more polite and considerate that the average woman driver. 62 06 29

1962 96 39
Cambridge's last surviving Victorian post-box outside King's College main gates is to disappear for a month while workmen redo the surface of the college forecourt. It will be replaced in a slightly different position and the lamps will also move back a bit. At the moment the workmen are preparing to re-lay flagstones and cobbles, which are badly worn. The side walls are also to be moved back about four feet on each side. 62 06 30 # c.27.7

About 250 people were ferried across the River Ouse at Ely for an open day staged by Appleyard, Lincoln and Company the boatbuilding company which was formed in 1944 from a business which had its origins in the early 1800's. The new factory has increased facilities for the manufacture of fibre-glass craft for sale and hire, expanding their fleet of ten cabin cruisers operating on the fenland waterways. 62 06 30a

July 1962 CDN

1962 07 02
Longstowe villagers are angry that their water was completely shut off for three days. At midnight just a trickle of water came through allowing people to fill buckets and cans. Postmistress Mrs A.M. Prewett was constantly asked to telephone the District Council. They said the water was only shut off at night but the heavy demand was too great for the main, resulting in the daytime shortage. It was not until the Fire Brigade arrived with containers that the water came on in the taps. Gamlingay and several other villages also experienced difficulties. 62 07 02

St Mary's Church, Swaffham Bulbeck, held a parade to mark the feast of St Peter, reviving a ceremony that has not been celebrated for 30 years. Led by Burwell Band, members of the British Legion, Fire Brigade, Sunday School and Mother's Union processed round the village, stopping five times for the band to play. The parade was followed by a flower-decked hay cart depicting the carpentry and stone mason's tools being used in the restoration of the south aisle of the church 62 07 02a

1962 07 03
King's College excavations reveal foundations of old buildings along King's Parade – 62 07 03 # c.41

H.C. Banham launch first fibre-glass hulled boat – 62 07 03a # c.26.3

1962 07 05
A leather bag containing 22 sticks of gelignite has been found in a wagon of coal delivered to Newmarket Railway Station. The locked wagon had been taken to the Co-operative Coal Depot in All Saints Road where the bag was discovered. Staff thought it contained tools but on opening they discovered sticks of gelignite wrapped in grease-proof paper. These looked very damp and dangerous so police were called. There was no question of the explosive being delivered with anybody's coal. The bag is thought to have belonged to a shot-firer who worked at the coal mine. 62 07 05

Transferring Royston into Cambridgeshire would be a 'disaster', the Clerk to Royston council told a Local Government Commission inquiry. Before 1896 the town was half in Cambridgeshire but then it was created an urban district in Hertfordshire. Any expansion of industry or population would come from Herts or London. Residents say their present council services are effective and convenient and any change would be a retrograde step. 62 07 05a

County Council plans for a new "inner relief road" linking the Huntingdon Road-Castle Hill junction with Hyde Park Corner would cost £932,000 (£16.3m today). There would be a new bridge over the Cam at Jesus Green with an underpass at Four Lamps before the road continued to Parkside and Regent Street. This figure did not include the cost of acquiring additional land. It was needed to deal with traffic problems in Magdalene Street which is very narrow, an Inquiry was told. 62 07 05b # c.49.6

Abberley House, Gt Shelford is the HQ of the county Civil Defence Corps. In a nuclear war Wardens would give advice, Communications and Intelligence sections control operations and Scientists go out after an attack to collect technical information. First aiders would supplement the ambulance service, Rescue workers free trapped survivors while Welfare staff would provide food, shelter and clothing. Members of the C.D. are only asked to give as much time as they can spare and more volunteers are needed. 62 07 05c # c.45.8

1962 07 06
University architects have built a revolutionary new structure, the first of its kind in the world. The hemispherical artificial sky has been built in the grounds of Scroope Terrace 62 07 06

1962 07 09
Plans for an 11-storey block of 60 flats on the junction of Roseford Road and Carlton Way met with opposition from residents concerned it would cut out a lot of light from nearby houses. Members of the Arbury Playgrounds and Open Spaces Committee say it is the only open space apart from the recreation ground on this side of the estate which will eventually house 10,000 people. You could not blame teenagers for getting into trouble if they had nowhere to go. 62 07 09

1962 07 10
Musical history of East Anglia – Charles Cudworth lecture – 62 07 10 # c.69

1962 07 11
A large proportion of the strawberries you eat will have been picked by Cambridgeshire women who have spent most of their lives working on the land. They start in the Spring picking daffodils and follow through the season with flowers, soft fruit and finally apples. The short season for the different fruit and flowers prevents the work becoming monotonous. During the summer holidays their children join them. This is how most of the women were introduced to picking themselves, starting at six o'clock in the morning. There is no age limit and the most efficient are over 60 years of age. 62 07 11

1962 07 12
A four-storey hospital is being erected at RAF Lakenheath, replacing a number of smaller buildings. It will be one of the best US military hospitals in the UK, catering for 150 'in-patients' with a dental clinic, X-ray laboratory and an ultra-modern operating theatre with surgeons able to handle every type of emergency. The hospital faces the main road, some distance away from the noise of jet aircraft taking off from the base. 62 07 12

Briscoe Snelson, Cambridgeshire Rowing Association secretary – 'Sporting Personality' cartoon – 62 07 12a # c.65.5

1962 07 13
Badlingham Manor, a picturesque moated hose at Chippenham, has retained its character while benefiting from extensive modernisation. Centrally heated by an oil-fired boiler, it has been fitted with practically every labour saving device and a modern kitchen. Many rooms have new wood-block floors but heavy beams in the entrance hall originally came from a ship while wrought iron fittings and decorations in the brick fireplaces date back to the 17th century. 62 07 13

The fabulous Pye model 1001 is the low-cost record player with the high-price look. It has a fashionable cabinet in two-tone blue/white with gilt finishings and an easily detachable clip-on lid. It is simple to operate – one knob turns it on and off and provides more volume than you'll ever need – and plays all speeds and sizes of records. And all this for only 12½ guineas (about £220 in today's money) - Advertisement 62 07 13a

1962 07 14
Ely Co-operative Society's shop in Market Street suffered thousands of pounds worth of damage when fire broke out in the upstairs drapery and fashion departments. It started in a small store beneath a staircase, then burned through the ceiling. Large quantities of clothing were destroyed or damaged by smoke and the heat became so intense that plastic coat-hangers melted. Business continues in the grocery, haberdashery and hardware sections on the ground floor. 62 07 14

1962 07 19
The University's plans for Cambridge envisage a new shopping area off Fitzroy Street providing sites for large retailing units, segregated pedestrians and vehicular traffic areas and car parking close enough for shoppers to walk. All future schemes for redevelopment of University sites should have adequate car parking; this is the University's view and they will bear their share of the car parking burden, the Estate Manager told an Inquiry. 62 07 19 # c.49.4

1962 07 20
The Coypu is a large aquatic rodent from South America. It has enormous orange coloured incisors, brown fur, a long naked tail and webbed hind feet. It was introduced into England 30 years ago and bred on fur farms. The business came to an end in the war when some of the animals escaped and set up colonies. They are now a menace, burrowing into river banks, digging up potatoes and eating sugar beet to ground level. They survived the hard winters of 1940, 1947 and 1954 and there is now only a faint hope of them being wiped out by severe frost. Last year a culling campaign killed more than 40,000 in East Anglia 62 07 20

Kentford – Lillie Langtry's cottage – 62 07 20a

St Bede's Roman Catholic Secondary School in Birdwood Road was formally opened by the Bishop of Northampton. It is a co-educational school for 300 pupils with eight classrooms and a library, together with craft, woodwork and housecraft rooms and laboratories. There is a combined hall and gymnasium together with a kitchen and dining hall which can be used for teaching space. The facilities are excellent in every direction. The school was opened to pupils after Easter. 62 07 20b # c.36.5

1962 07 21
Balloon ascents – historical feature – 62 07 21 # c.26.1

1962 07 23
Car belonging to J. Kidman the builder stolen and used as getaway car in wages snatch – 62 07 23

Development of shops, maisonettes and a filling station on corner Perne Road and Cherryhnton Road 62 07 24

1962 07 26

The Queens Head public house at Newton is in bad repair and the owners, Flowers Breweries, have asked the County Council if they would like to buy it together with two adjoining cottages. They could then all be demolished to make way for a road improvement scheme. The pub renders the corner completely blind. If the pub were to be renovated and extended this would make any clearance much more expensive in the future 62 07 26

1962 07 27
Stapleford Hall, thatched house – 'Other people's home' article 62 07 27

1962 07 30
The old general stores and filling station at Rampton are being dwarfed by the new stores rising behind them. The premises are being built for A.E. Young, who has run the business for 33 years. One unusual feature is a 28-feet unsupported span of ribbed concrete which forms the roof. This part of the structure was produced in Cambridge by Sindall Concrete 62 07 30

Shudy Camps School is closing after 100 years and the retiring headmistress, Mrs D.K. Edwards was presented with a silver tea service. She could look back over her 35 years teaching with pride. She had sought no promotion but been content to stay in this excellent little school in this excellent little village providing a wise and kindly guidance to the many children who had passed through her care. No other teacher had served so long. A few years ago proposals to close the school brought a storm of protest but now improvements have been made at Castle Camps school and the children will go there 62 07 30a

August 1962 CDN

1962 08 01
A Cambridgeshire bungalow stuck together with glue has been chosen by 'Ideal Home' magazine as one of its 'houses of the year'. Situated in a large secluded garden at Stapleford it uses epoxy resins made by CIBA at Duxford. The framework is built of plywood beams strengthened with struts glued with resin and other of the firm's products, such as shipboard panels have also been used. It is hoped that the principal can be adopted on a larger scale and adapted to all kinds of buildings. 62 08 01

Fellows of Gonville and Caius College saw the shape of things to come when they toured the College's newly constructed Harvey Court designed by Sir Leslie Martin, the University Professor of Architecture. It is the first of a new range of University and College buildings in West Road providing bed-sitting rooms for 100 undergraduates and Fellows, allowing them to spend two years in college instead of one. The building will be inspected by architects from U.N.E.S.C.O. 62 08 01a # c.44.5

1962 08 06
West Wratting windmill was in a bad state of repair until restored recently by Miss V.Z. Pompei with the advice of Rex Wailes. It was built in 1726 and last in use some 30 years ago. Much of the wooden fabric was renewed and where the mill had sunk badly on one side it was corrected. It took two years to complete the work, a big hold-up being the acquiring of pitch pine for the new sails. The windows were renewed and the old wooden cap replaced by one of aluminium. The smock mill, which is unusually small for its type, is now used as a home for garden equipment. 62 08 06

People wishing to take a country walk from Carlton-cum-Willingham to Willingham Green can now get right away from the road and make their way by a shorter, much pleasanter route across good agricultural land. The path had been overgrown for nearly 50 years preventing humans passing through but harbouring rabbits much to the concern of farmers. It has been cleared by the County Council after eight days' work 62 08 06a

1962 08 07
The 70 years old spire of St Peter's Church, Papworth Everard, is almost certain to come down. The tower can then be made good as originally built. The spire was never intended and is out of proportion to the church. The stonework is cracked possibly due to bomb explosions during the war and if restored would have to be done again in 70 years time. It was put up as a memorial to Robert Cheere who lived at Papworth Hall in the 19th century. But the family has probably died out. 62 08 07

1962 08 08
The annual tug-of-war over Reach Lode went ahead as planned despite heavy rain and was watched by a large crowd in mackintoshes and Wellington boots. The first match was between married men and bachelors, the second featured an American team from Mildenhall who found the appalling conditions too difficult and were beaten by local men more used to them. However they braved the cold water into which they were pulled cheerfully. All proceeds

1962 08 09
Henry Merton, commons pindar – 62 08 09 # c.32.3

City planning inquiry considers Castle Hill area – 62 08 09a

1962 08 10
Cambridge Instrument Company history feature – 62 08 10 & a # c.27.1 : Cambridge Instrument

Brewery dray visits Ely brewery – 62 08 10b

1962 08 11
Bricks have begun to appear on the site of the new headquarters of the St Raphael Club for the physically handicapped off Hawthorn Way. 62 08 11

Bradwell's Court arcade and shop development has been a joint venture between Jesus and Christ's Colleges and Ravenseft Properties. It stretches from St Andrew's Street through to Drummer Street bus station and provides a continuous covered route to the city centre. Work on demolishing the out-of-date shops and buildings started as long ago as October 1957 but was held up by difficulties over leases. The last tenant to go was the well-known antique dealer, Mr K.A. Rowe. By the time the University term begins again the development will be complete and all the 20 new shops and showrooms fully occupied. 62 08 11a # c.27.2 # c.49.4

1962 08 15
The Low Temperature Research Station at Cambridge was founded during the First Wold War when Government was concerned about the storage of food supplies. The first patent for 'drying freezing' foods was taken out from Cambridge and subsequently taken up by commercial enterprises. Another concerned the gas cold storage of foods now widely used for storing apples. 62 08 15 # c.36.9

1962 08 16
The 15-roomed Gonville Place Hotel has been sold – photo – 62 08 16

The Cam Foundry in Thompson's Lane once had 20 men making cast iron, lamp posts, grating and road ironworks. Friday was the usual day for mould filling. The fire could be kindled in the cupola early in the morning and loaded up with hard furnace coke. The furnaceman was a real 'character'. A labourer, tough and very strong he would swing a 32 lb hammer to break up the scrap and pig iron. He distained the use of gloves or goggles, his bare hands and unprotected eyes in constant danger from molten splashes and sparks. It closed in 1923 and Messrs Macintosh transferred the business to the old Romsey Town cement works at Mill Road 62 08 16a & b # c.27.

Milton church is in urgent need of restoration. One of the wooden roof beams fell down during a service several years ago, originally over a foot wide it had been eaten away by Death Watch Beetle until parts were barely five inches across. Walls are crumbling, stonework cracking, tracery disintegrating and the belfry floor can no longer be walked upon in safety. But the Rector, Rev H. Franklin sees it as a challenge, and he enjoys a challenge. 62 08 16c

1962 08 18
Site of old Shire Hall courts cleverly landscaped to hide the car park which lies in front of trees – 62 08 18

1962 08 20
Medieval houses at Ashwell, which were saved from demolition by village residents and now scheduled as of historic interest, are being restored under the supervision of Sir Albert Richardson, a distinguished architect and Fellow of St Catharine's College. At one time they belonged to the Foresters' Lodge. Parts of the properties are thought to date from 1380 and Elizabethan and Tudor extensions were added. 62 08 20

Railway station on listed buildings list – 62 08 20a

1962 08 21
Trains were cancelled after a derailment blocked the main line at Sawston – only a mile from the scene of a similar accident six months ago. The Dagenham to Whitemoor (March) goods train broke in two on a slight incline. The break-away section of the train caught up with the rear of the front part bouncing a 5,000 gallon tanker filled with paraffin a hundred yards along the track. The tanker ended up standing on end with paraffin splashing on the line. Firemen stood by with foam sprayers as engineers cleared it using a giant crane 62 08 21

1962 08 22
Two fliers parachuted to safety when their Hunting Jet Provost aircraft crashed into a corn field at Girton. It came down less than 100 yards from the spot where one of the first flying machines in the country force-landed 50 years ago. The same man who ran to the rescue of the pilot then was one of the few eye witnesses to the recent crash. He was 65-year-old Herbert Moore of Histon, a special constable in the County Police. The plane is believed to have been on a flight from the experimental centre at Boscombe Down 62 08 22

A USAF faster-than-sound Super Sabre jet fighter from Lakenheath crashed into an unoccupied house at Stanton, near Bury St Edmunds. Two semi-detached houses in the village were set alight but no-one was hurt. Later the USAF said further reports indicated that four houses were damaged. A woman and baby in one house and a US officer, his wife and two children in another, narrowly escaped injury. The pilot, 1st Lieut John E. Malone had baled out when his engine stopped and landed safely. He was taken to hospital 62 08 22

1962 08 25
An Ely couple and their six children have been brought together under one roof again after the husband, wife and two youngest children spent the past week living in a small tent on the side of the road. But their new house is to be demolished to make way for a new old people's estate on the corner of Downham and West Fen Roads, Ely. Mr Frederick Goldsmith and his family lost their home when they were evicted from a tied cottage on a Prickwillow farm. Since then Mr Goldsmith has biked 1,000 miles in search of a new job 62 08 25

1962 08 28
A new patrol service centre has been opened by the A.A. on the junction of the main A505 and A11 roads at Pampisford, replacing their caravan which was a prominent feature for many years. Equipped with a short wave radio, the new centre is in constant touch with Cambridge headquarters and mobile road patrols. It is manned from 9am to 7pm after which members in difficulty can use the emergency telephone kiosk to call help. 62 08 28

Piped television begins in Cambridge on Saturday when 30 Arbury Estate subscribers tune in to receive three television and four radio programmes via a 170 ft mast in Kings Hedges Road. The British Wireless Relay Company says the cost of laying a complete underground network was prohibitive but wherever possible the cables were being put in the least conspicuous places. People can hire sets for between 7s6d and 13s a week 62 08 28a # c.27.8

1962 08 29
Francis Pym MP visited the Whittlesford Manufacturing Company's factory, the largest in the country dealing only with Christmas decorations and goods. For two hours he saw how hundreds of miles of tinsel and coloured strings are produced throughout the year and was then shown the large wholesale import warehouse where toys from all over the world are waiting to find their way into children's stockings on Christmas morning. "It is an excellent industry for a village like Whittlesford", he said. 62 08 29

Over 140 Londoners employed by Horatio Meyer, the bedding manufacturers, have volunteered to move 60 miles with their families to new homes and work in Huntingdon. The workers, drawn from the company's four London factories, will form the spearhead of the staff to man the new factory being built in St Peter's Road making mostly mattresses and divans. Coachloads of workers came to see the site and the new houses being built under the L.C.C. scheme to attract people from overbuilt areas of London. 62 08 29a

1962 08 30
The new admissions villa at Fulbourn Hospital will accommodate 95 voluntary patients in a general atmosphere more like that of an hotel. It will be completely self-contained and stands in open arable land next to the existing hospital. Unusual in construction, it consists of pre-cast concrete framework with precast artificial stone facing panels and purpose-made timber windows. There are large panes of glass and many rooms open directly on to gardens giving no sense of confinement. 62 08 30

George Webb, a ballast contractor told a inquiry that if the shortage of sand and gravel gets worse it could seriously affect development, particularly of University buildings. At present it had to be hauled nearly 40 miles adding to the expense. They wanted to use land at Willpack Farm, Hemingford Grey where they already had permission to excavate and build a washing plant. But planners said the access to the main Cambridge-Huntingdon road would be detrimental to road safety 62 08 30a

Painting lamp standard Sidney St – 62 08 30a
Ronald Hatchman, cement bagger – 62 08 30d

September 1962 CDN

1962 09 05
Bulldozers and heavy earth-moving machinery have been followed by a fleet of lorries as clearance work starts on the site of the new multi-deck car park in Park Street. It should be completed within nine months and will form an integral part of the new parking meter system for which the City Council is to seek Ministry approval. Councillors are still waiting a decision on their earlier application for another multi-storey car park about 200 yards away in King Street 62 09 05 # c.49.62

Douglas Goodwin from Field Road, Ramsey, was driving his lorry laden with four-and-a-half tons of baled straw along Newmarket Road, Cambridge, when a heavy downpour tightened the ropes and pulled the load to one side. He turned the lorry round and made for the nearest lamp post against which the load rested safely until it could be transferred to another vehicle to complete its journey to Stowmarket 62 09 05a

A voice on the telephone last night warned the manageress of the Kenya Coffee House in St Andrew's Street, 'There is a time-bomb in the café, it will wreck the place within an hour'. An emergency call went to the police and a squad of ten detectives who rushed to the café ordered its immediate closure. It was the second bomb hoax on the premises within the last month. Staff say they lost about £4 in takings while the premises were closed. At about the same time the Fire Brigade received a call from a foreign sounding voice to say the Scotch Hoose Café was on fire. But nothing was wrong. 62 09 05b

Dant, Cutter ferry history and account of barge traffic – 62 09 05b & c # c.44.75 # c.26.3

1962 09 06
Some regard a civil marriage as a brief, coldly informal sealing of the legal knot in a drab little office. But Mr S.J. Gentle, the Cambridgeshire Superintendent Registrar, says his job is intensely satisfying. He has to match his mood to that of the particular client of the moment. As well as the happy atmosphere of the marriage room he deals with faltering grief-stricken old ladies or a younger mother registering her first baby, more attentive to the whimpering of the child than the questioning of the registrar and more than a little fearful while he holds the baby as she signs the register. 62 09 06

1962 09 07
The Co-operative Society's fish shop in High Street, Sawston, was badly damaged by fire fr the second time within a year. 62 09 07b

Cambridge now has British Relay wired television which is all ready for 625-line viewing of the new programmes and colour when it comes. It cuts out aerials and gives the crispest pictures without knob twiddling receiving the current BBC, London ITV and Anglia TV programmes, plus all BBC Home, Light and Third radio programmes and popular Radio Luxembourg. . Your own television set can receive Relay TV by means of the 'Relaydapta' which simply plugs into the aerial socket. Advertisement – 62 09 07c # c.27.8

1962 09 08
A guard was taken to hospital with multiple injuries after a collision between two express freight trains near Huntingdon. Fifty wagons and a steam engine were derailed when one train ran into the rear of another that had been stopped by signals at Offord. One engine toppled on to its side. Railway gangs worked through the night but fifteen hours later the line was still blocked. The men were provided with food from a restaurant car brought from Grantham 62 09 08

A familiar landmark of the Cambridge skyline is to disappear. The 210-foot mast at Pye Ltd in St Andrew's Road is being taken down. It will not disappear for long as Pye plan to replace with a later type suitable for newest television techniques. The old mast was built at the start of the war to help Pye Ltd develop defence systems. It was originally 185 feet tall but extra aerials were added. At the top is a small cabin used to house experimental equipment and large enough for a man to work in. The mast was once used to put out very low power experimental television programmes with Pye employees in the starring roles. This was during the war when the B.B.C. television was closed down and Pye had to put out its own programmes to develop receivers for the future television market. 62 09 08a # c.27.1 : Pye # c.27.8

1962 09 11
One-way traffic past Ely cathedral proposal – 62 09 11

Army Cadet HQ in East Road demolished – move to Drill Hall – 62 09 11a

A new bridge may be constructed across the river at Ely to serve as an access to Appleyard Lincoln's Babylon site. The river was a major attraction but there were few amenities for mooring and the encouragement of visitors, an Inquiry was told. The Cathedral chapter want only one-way traffic down the Gallery. It would halve the amount of vibration which occurs when almost anything apart from a perambulator passes the west front. The tower was not very safe: it was extended upwards and an 80-foot top put on without the foundations being strengthened. The alternative route was along Silver Street 62 09 11

1962 09 13
Bluntisham church giant's gravestone – 62 09 13

Haddenham sewage scheme tenders sought – 62 09 13a

1962 09 14
Maurice Stevenson started as a cinema projectionist in 1927 as a lad of 16 at the old Tivoli Cinema in Chesterton Road. They were the silent days. Then he went to the Regal and later the Central. In the old 'disc' days you had to be careful even closing the door in case you shook the needle out of its groove in the record. If you lost the synchronisation between the record and film it was the devil's own job getting it back again, he remembers. The machinery is much more simple to operate now. 62 09 14 # c.76.9

Huntingdon council housing shortage – 62 09 14a

1962 09 15
Herbert Robinson's electrical premises with a large double frontage in Regent Street have been sold to a Messrs Skertchley, the cleaners and dyers for a price in the region of £100,000 (c£1.7m today). The firm has been selling the remaining electrical equipment at reduced prices with two-year old television sets down to £15. On two occasions the shop together with the adjacent garage and Llandaff Chambers have failed to reach the reserve price at auction 62 09 15 # c.27.2

1962 09 18
Edward Vulliamy exhibition staged – 62 09 18

The new Chapel of the Blessed Virgin Mary and St Nicholas at St James' Church, Lode, was dedicated by the Bishop of Ely. It has been given to the church by Lord Fairhaven in memory of his parents. The chapel was designed by Professor Sir Albert Richardson and built by Mr P. Golding, a local builder, in Burwell rock (known locally as 'clunch') taken from a disused pit. The church was also constructed from this material 100 years ago. Because specialised craftsmen were needed and the mining of the rock took a considerable time, the chapel has taken two years to build. 62 09 18a

1962 09 21
Prospect Row showing demolition – 62 09 21a; Free Press in area of redevelopment – 62 09 21

1962 09 22
Two more St Ives public houses are to be closed, leaving the town with only 12 licensed houses, including two hotels, where once it had 96. They are the Lamb near the Market Square where Mr Charles Garner has been licensee since 1948 and the Cow and Calf in the Broadway where F.H. Mott is leaving after just one year. Brewers Steward and Patterson say they will probably be sold. There were 'two many licences' and a need for 'better pubs' such as the recently-erected Seven Wives 62 09 22

1962 09 25
Bus wedged between parked lorries and scaffolding in Petty Cury – 62 09 25

Newmarket has been completely forgotten in the latest Suffolk Development plan, say councillors. It would be better for it to go into Cambridgeshire. While other towns were to have new industry and overspill Newmarket would remain 'just a little village'. Unless arrangements are made for development young people and existing craftsmen would be drained away. Population should be increased by 3,000 and a by-pass constructed without further delay. 62 09 25a

Huntingdon's ancient charters were kept in a muniments safe which lacked ventilation which had resulted in some of the documents deteriorating. And one had gone missing. Archivist P.G. Dickinson said he was 'horrified' when he saw the state of the Godmanchester charters. They were kept in a wooden case and were in a poor condition, needing immediate attention. The famous King John Charter had been damaged by drawing pins and required attention, he reported. 62 09 25a

1962 09 26
Mrs C. Clark has been secretary of the Cambridgeshire Society for the Blind for 15 years. She supervises two homes for the blind in Cambridge as well as the blind workers' shop in Regent Street. But there is more: she deals with the loan of wireless sets – there are more than 250 at present, visits blind people in need of help and arranges parties or outings. There is a 'talking books' system and two blind undergraduates who had difficulty in finding textbooks were grateful to the people who read the information to them. Volunteers are needed to take people out for walks or help with teas at the weekend when the domestic staff are off-duty. 62 09 26

The new register of buildings of 'special architectural or historic interest' features houses, pubs and even mile stones. The Ministry thinks most of the parish churches are worth maintaining as are some village halls and windmills. The list includes a dovecote in Church Street, Comberton, The Three Tuns pub at Fen Drayton – once the Old Guildhall, Chiver's windmill at Impington, the obelisk at St Margaret's Mount, Harston and a statue in the grounds of Fulbourn Manor 62 09 26a

A farm labourer from the Hythe Reach, who has never been outside the county, has won £8,925 on Littlewoods Pools (about £158,000 today). He has been doing the football pools for the past 30 years. A bachelor, he has no plans for his win, except perhaps to buy a car. "I have lived in this village all my life and I have everything I want. We don't bother with holidays in this part of the world, the money will go into the bank and I shall carry on working. But it means that I will have security for the rest of my life" 62 09 26b

St Ives estate shop plan – 62 09 26b

Cambridge Amateur Boxing Club is seeking for a piece of land on which it can build a gymnasium in place of their headquarters in Henley Road. They have more new members than at any time in their history and have collected over £2,000 towards a new building which will include kitchen and seating accommodation. In addition the club's President, Arthur Cooper, has promised a brand new £100 ring. The season opens with a fixture against the University at the Corn Exchange with another in the Drill Hall, East Road 62 09 26b # c.38 : boxing

1962 09 27
St Michael's Church in Trinity Street is "an intolerable disgrace", says the Vicar of St Mary the Great, its sister church. Now there are plans to turn it into a modern parish hall with kitchen for meetings while the east end will become a small chapel for prayer. The massive restoration scheme will cost £10,000 and to promote it the church will be flood-lit. The youth club will give a show on the lines of a 'Review' and operate a 'talent scheme' where young people will be given money to be taken away and multiplied. 62 09 27 # c.83

Huge sluice gates have been constructed as part of the £10 million Great Ouse Flood Protection Scheme designed to save the Fens from abnormal conditions. They will control the peak flood waters of the Little Ouse, Wissey and Lark rivers and allow them to be fed into the new 27-miles long cut-off channel due for completion next year. The new channel starting at Denver and ending at Brandon Mills will also provide miles of new fishing facilities and a new waterway for sailing enthusiasts. 62 09 27a # c.29

Thieves broke into a booking office at Newmarket Railway Station during the night and used gelignite to blow open a safe. "It must have been a very disappointing night's work for them, because they only got about £20" said Mr C.E. Tolliday, the station-master. Iron bars being used by bricklayers carrying out repairs to the Wood Ditton Road railway bridge were used to force the doors. The robbery was discovered shortly after 6.30 am by Mr Reg Cummins, a porter. The last train to pass through the station last night was the 9.16 from Cambridge and the safe had been locked at 9.45pm. 62 09 27

Some Whittlesford residents are 'living in conditions which are appalling', councillors were told. The council houses 400 of the 1,000 population. There had been 52 council houses in the village after the war and there would be 94 when the new ones were built. But at present a large number remained uncompleted and some had not even been started. The Ministry did not wish to restrict their house building programme but had to be sure construction would at least be commenced during the allocation period. 62 09 27a

For at least 20 years Littleport has had a 24-hour ambulance service provided by public subscription. It was made possible by the co-operation of a local garage proprietor who had been responsible for the daytime running of the ambulance and the provision of the driver. St John Ambulance Brigade members and voluntary helpers had manned it at night and during the weekends. But during the last year the mileage had diminished until it has had to be withdrawn. The Brigade could not afford to maintain a full-time driver and payments from the County Council did not cover running costs. 62 09 27a

1962 09 28
The last resting place of many Cambridge vehicles is Rich's yard off Coldham's Lane. To this graveyard of motor vehicles come hundreds of cars and lorries worn out with old age or cut off in the prime of life through accidents. If they are of a type still running on the highway they are stripped of anything that might be transferred to a similar vehicle. So the yard is a mass of broken bodies and skeleton parts, old shafts, old springs and old engines. The bodies are broken up further and sent away for export, mainly to Japan where they are crushed and melted down. 62 09 28 # c.26.48 # c.21.15

October 1962 CN

1962 10 01
The Government has told universities that an extra 40,000 undergraduate places ought to be provided by 1966. In Cambridge numbers had risen to 7,579 in 1959 but then declined as colleges reduced the overcrowding caused by the 'ex-servicemen's bulge. But the new target will restrict funds for graduate students who had increased by 40 per cent in the past five years. An addition the new universities will need additional teaching staff, a considerable number of whom would come from Cambridge, the Vice Chancellor, Sir Ivor Jennings, warned 62 10 01 # c.36.9

University development must halt – 62 10 01a

1962 10 02
Cambridge City Council has made a third attempt in 50 years to gain the status of a County Borough Council. During the early 13th century Cambridge had gained its freedom from the county by a special charter from King John but in 1888 when the County Council was set up it came again under the county authority. Cambridge is a market town, the headquarters of many organisations and has a good record of local government. It is strong financially and would save £2,000 a year an Inquiry was told. This would help fund the new redevelopment scheme and sewage works as well as the appointment of a City Architect 62 10 02 & a # c.35.7

Sidney Sussex main gateway rebuilt, revealing bricks beneath rendering – 62 10 02c

Cambridge Ladies Fencing Club started just before the war and was coached by Madame Perigal whose daughter, Caroline Drew, reached international status. By the late 40's the growing interest in the sport meant it became mixed. But it has always maintained a strong link with the County Girls' School Fencing Club which has a proud record in the National Schools championships. Now it has a professional instructor, Reg Cullum, while some fencers visit Prof Harmer-Brown, the University coach. Its members range from firemen to a wine merchant, a vet to a mental welfare officer. But they always welcome new blood. 62 10 02d # c.38

1962 10 03
Ely Corn Exchange redevelopment proposals – pics – 62 10 03 & a

1962 10 04
Haddenham fruit farm visit by women – 62 10 04

1962 10 05
A 1910 Rolls Royce which served as a utility vehicle at Longstowe Hall before being sold has returned to its former driver for a check-up and overhaul. It has been completely changed since the chauffeur-engineer Mr J. Perry, last saw it. It was a six-seated when it first came to the Hall in 1937 but he was given instructions to convert it into a farm lorry. During the war it was put into a garage but six years later it started on the fourth swing of the huge starting handle. Now it is a comfortable two-seater which cruises along at 12 miles to the gallon. 62 10 05

Rag and metal merchant Ronald Arber of Newmarket Road says rags are still in great demand. He receives as much as six tons a week often brought in by children during the holidays and when the Midsummer Fair is being held, so that they can get a few more coppers to spend. They are baled up and sent to a London merchant where they are sorted into various categories and used for such things as cleaning materials and roofing felt. Considerable quantities are exported to Italy. Metals are similarly sorted. Lead is delivered to London mills to be made into lead piping, roofing materials and the lead bricks used at atomic power stations, such as Harwell. The demand for iron and steel has decreased in the past few years both at home and abroad. Most metal merchants are finding they can get more scrap iron and steel than they are able to sell. Bones, which used to provide an extremely good trade, no longer interest Mr Arber because the glues for which they were used are now made from other substances. Much of the material comes from the public. They bring their odds and ends in all the time: bed rails, gardening tools, bicycles, brass pots, radiators, car batteries, mangles, even refrigerators and fish-frying ranges along with aluminium saucepans and kettles. Jumble sale left-overs also provide a source of trade. An electric guillotine cuts as many of the items as possible into short lengths for easy transportation. After pressing, melting and recasting at other factories, it its surprising how many of these waste articles find their way back into the home. Looking at a rag and metal merchant's premies is like looking at a wilderness of destruction. But there is order in the wilderness and every item has its place. The firm has been established for 40 years and he is confident it will remain for many years to come 62 10 05a # c.21.15

1962 10 06
Cambridge Society for Mentally Handicapped Children, Edmund nurseries Milton being renovated – 62 10 06a

1962 10 08
King's College gateway area recobbled, lamp standard remains, post box replaced – photo – 62 10 08

1962 10 09
Cambridge will probably be one of the first places to benefit by the importation of liquefied natural gas from the Sahara, Eastern Gas says – 62 10 09

1962 10 11
St Neots bridge to be reconstructed next spring – photos – 61 10 11

1962 10 12
An attempt to have plans for an 11-storey block of flats on the Arbury Housing Estate rejected immediately was defeated by the City Council. But they will ask the Surveyor to submit an alternative design before making a decision. Residents were unanimous in saying the block of flats was 'not desirable nor in the interest of the estate'. It would not give more units of accommodation because more open space would be needed around it. Councillor P.J. Warren said he would prefer to see high blocks in the centre of Cambridge. 62 10 12

Fowlmere Chequers Inn priest hole – 62 10 12a

1962 10 13
Police cleared hundreds of lunch time shoppers from Woolworth's main shop in Sidney Street in five minutes after an anonymous telephone call warned that two time bombs had been placed in the store and were to blow up at 1.30pm. A thorough search was made but nothing was found. This is the third bomb hoax in Cambridge in the last three months. On two occasions police cleared a coffee bar after a similar warning. This time the caller had a foreign-sounding voice. 62 10 13

Hugh Gaitskell attended Labour rally – 62 10 13

Pratt, Manning and Co of Trinity Street, Cambridge's oldest bespoke tailoring firm, is to close. It was established in 1865 by Thomas Pratt and acquired by Ald H.T. Wing in 1897. Until the First World War about 80% of the trade was from undergraduates who ordered three or four suits at a time. Today students on grants cannot afford high prices for hand-made clothes and they rely on professional and business men for their trade. Customer's patterns and records will be transferred to their London office and a cutter will visit Cambridge at regular intervals. 62 10 13a # c.27

Shortly after the Mayoress laid the foundation stone for the new St Raphael Clubhouse for the physically handicapped a fire broke out in the large marquee used for the reception. Prompt action by helpers prevented the blaze, which was probably caused by a firework thrown on the roof, from getting out of control. Fortunately many handicapped people in wheelchairs who had been present for the ceremony had already gone home 62 10 13b & c

1963 19 16
A 'mock funeral' was held for two undergraduates, Philip Gurden of Magdalene and Simon Keswick of Trinity, who were sent down for failing their exams. Their 'coffin' was carried on a sports car while in the 'cortege' at the rear was Prince William of Gloucester who is at Magdalene College 62 10 16 # c.36.9 # c.39

Sir. Whittlesford has one of the largest percentage of slum dwellings in South Cambs. Doctors' letters state "The house is a poor one … the roof over one bedroom is leaking badly, rendering the room uninhabitable. Mr & Mrs – and their two children are compelled to sleep in one room". "Mr & Mrs --- and their three children are living in one cottage with no amenities which is falling about their heads … conditions not suitable for a young family". Such awful, soul-destroying descriptions are actual facts – Jack Merrett, Whittlesford. 62 10 16a

"Charity Unlimited" the business founded by the curate of Fen Ditton and the landlord of the King's Head, may go out of existence. They joined forces to collect salvage to raise money for people in need. The response has been magnificent but the church hall, where the articles are stored, is wanted for other functions. Now new premises are needed together with a volunteer van driver to collect the scrap and jumble offered by villagers. 62 10 16b

1962 10 17
Fen Ditton church has a team of the youngest bell-ringers in the county. Most are still at school and all are members of the Parish Youth Club. Interest began two years ago when an experienced student at CCAT offered to train teenage enthusiasts. They cleaned out the belfry, lowering rubbish in buckets through traps in the ceiling and floor of the clock-room to the church floor. Then the window openings were treated to new wire netting, worn ropes were replaced and minor repairs undertaken before instruction began. Now they ring a few rounds each Sunday morning 62 10 17

1962 10 18
A family of four are living in the church hall at Chettisham. They have been evicted from their homes at Stuntney and Chettisham twice in the past year and have nowhere else to go. Churchwardens have allowed them to put their furniture in the hall. Until 10 years ago it was the local village school. Now it is used by the church for occasional meetings and social events. The Rev E. de T.W. Longford said it was a matter of Christian charity. 62 10 18a

Mill Road cemetery gravestones – 62 10 18 # c.21.2

1962 10 19
Cambridge University Archives guide by Heather Peak – 62 10 19

1962 10 20
Cromwell House Museum in Huntingdon was officially opened by the Speaker of the House of Commons. It houses the largest collection of antiquities relating to the Lord Protector and his family and is based in the school Oliver Cromwell attended. The Norman architecture has been renovated by the County Council with the encouragement of Huntingdon and Godmanchester Borough Council. But owing to the restricted floor and wall space much of the collection cannot be displayed. 62 10 20

Macintosh premises being demolished – photo – 62 10 20a

Burleigh street property bought by London property firm – 62 10 20c

1962 10 23
CIBA make new road surface for Tower Bridge – 62 10 23

1962 10 24
A crowd of 5,000 people, mainly students, swarmed through Cambridge after police and Proctors stopped a political protest rally about the American-Cuban crisis on the Market Square. Carrying placards declaring 'Hands Off Cuba' they made their way to Parker's Piece where the meeting got under way with speakers both supporting and opposing President Kennedy's moves. One warned 'We are on the verge of a nuclear war'. Later police prevented another rally outside the Guildhall where demonstrators hammered on the side of passing buses. 62 10 24 # c.33

1962 10 25
Police closed Little St Mary's Lane after they were told that a church spire was in danger of collapsing and crashing down into the road. Workmen carrying out an examination of Emmanuel Congregational Church found the sandstone spire was badly cracked and the weight was pushing the wall out. They are now removing it brick by brick using supports to stop it from falling down on them. The road will be closed for two weeks 62 10 25 # c.83

Newport post office raided by masked men – 62 10 25a

New garage and flats on corner Chesterton Road nearing completion – photo - 62 10 25b

Last steam engines and diesel units at Coldham's Lane – photo – 62 10 25c

Dove and pigeon houses – 62 10 25d

Buckden's bypass has opened two months ahead of schedule. Traffic is running smoothly along the new toad which eliminates the bottleneck in the village. The scheme includes a length of abandoned railway line carrying Huntingdon traffic underneath the Great North Road and pedestrian subways have also been provided. Nearly all the A1 in Huntingdonshire is now dual carriageway 62 10 25e

Dove houses once common – history – 62 10 25d

1962 10 26
"I'd like a farthing for every rivet I've knocked into shoes these last 30 years I've been a cobbler", says Mr W. Cordoroy. It's fascinating work, especially with modern stiletto heels. Most cobblers put new heels on, but he repairs them. "I used to work in my home village of Swaffham Bulbeck before the war, but it was hard going so I moved to Cambridge. In those days I used to work all hours - sometimes I didn't finish until after midnight. No farm labourer had more than one pair of boots and I had to repair them when they weren't working. That meant long, awkward hours. Now I can go home in the evening and watch the telly" 62 10 26a

Buckden bypass open – 62 10 25e, photos 62 10 26f

Emmanuel Congregational Church spire repairs – 62 10 26

Residents of houses in Ferry Path Terrace crowded into the Fort St George and decided to fight against the city council's plan to pull down half the properties for slum clearance. A lecturer at the School of Architect said the houses were ideal from a planning point of view, embodying standards of design that were coming into fashion with planners. They would be worth £5,000 if they were new (about £87,850 today) 62 10 26c

Cromwell Museum exhibits – 62 10 26d

Personnel working at Alconbury's U.S.A.F. Tactical Reconnaissance Wing base are handling over 35 tons of mail each month. A courtier is sent daily to West Ruislip, the London Aerial Terminal, and often the drivers from the motor pool are on the roads until the early morning. The amount of boat mail needs an additional truck and the lights in the post office burn until midnight while it is sorted. Much time is spent searching for addresses that do not include box numbers. Each month nearly 13,000 pieces of mail require redirection. 62 10 26e

1962 10 29
More than 200 people in the 'No War over Cuba' march around Cambridge. The marchers were mostly students but included 87-year-old Mrs Clara Rackham, 87, and were led by Robert Davies, the Prospective Labour Party Candidate. Four undergraduates carrying placards 'Hands off Cuba' distributed leaflets to the thousands of spectators streaming into the City Football ground on Milton Road. Members of the Amalgamated Society of Woodworkers, who were meeting to discuss safety in the building industry, petitioned Mr Gaitskell and the TUC over the moves made by President Kennedy 62 10 29

1962 10 31
St Mary's Lodge and Isle of Ely County Council Care Home was established nine years ago at no.44 St Mary's Street Ely to accommodate 24 elderly men and women. It expanded into the adjoining building in 1959 and now both are being linked to form one complete unit housing 44. The home offers well-furnished bedrooms, comfortable sitting rooms and lounges fitted with wireless and television 62 10 31

November 1962 CN

1962 11 01
The firm of Tom M. Scotney of St Ives, which employs 210 people on important defence and export contracts from some of the leading aircraft companies, will have to turn orders away, an Inquiry was told. The lack of affordable housing means that they cannot attract skilled craftsmen. But proposals to erect staff dwellings on land at London Road, Fenstanton were opposed by planners who say the only access to the town was by the river bridge and it would add to traffic at peak hours. Residential development should be to the north of the town so retaining the identity of the Hemingfords and keeping away from potential flooded area. 62 11 01

Littleport and Downham Drainage Commissioners approved a new pumping station at Wood Fen-North Fen, Littleport - 61 11 01a

The dedication of the new chapel at Lode completes a two-year building programme which included the construction of a new vestry. It has been given by Lord Fairhaven in memory of his parents.

Designed by Prof Sir Albert Richardson and constructed by local master builder Percy Golding of Longmeadow, the altar is of York stone and there are mahogany pews for twenty worshippers. It may be the last building to be made entirely of local clunch because of the problems of quarrying the rock and finding skilled labour to work it. 62 11 01b

1962 11 02
The announcement that Dr Max Perutz and Dr John Kendrew have been awarded the Nobel Chemistry Prize means that there are now four Nobel prizewinners working at the small Medical Research Council molecular biology unit at Cambridge. Dr Frederick Sanger gained the Chemistry award in 1958 and less than a month ago Dr Francis Crick was awarded the prize for Medicine. 62 11 02 # c.36.9

Sir Will Spens, former Master of Corpus and wartime regional defence commissioner dies at Ely - 62 11 02a

The proposed new coat of arms for Huntingdon and Godmanchester includes English motto – 62 11 02b

Mr A.R. Paske started a packaging business in an old chapel in North Street Burwell about 15 years ago, making strawberry chips. His Corrugated Fittings Limited became so successful that it was acquired by Tillotsons which makes containers for Black Magic chocolate and Senior Service cigarette packets. Their new factory employs 250 men and women who appear to be keen and happy; production is continuous and several hundred thousand boxes are sent off every day 62 11 02c

1962 11 05
Cambridgeshire villages are suffering the type of development more suitable to a factory estate. Often people were only too thankful to find a roof over their heads but this would not always be the case and they would not forever accept what the builders put up. Housing estates often lacked character and villagers did not like the sort of development found on the outskirts of towns. Planners should develop some new settlements and not try to bring new blood into old villages, councillors said. But the pattern of development was changing, many villages were dying and others being given 'artificial life' by dormitory development. 61 11 05 & a

1962 11 06
Bonfire Night was very quiet this year. Police appeals for people to stay away from the city centre met with a good response and the streets were almost empty. Extensive use was made of radios and police with walkie-talkie sets moved on any groups from street corners. A University ban on students entering the city centre during the five hours before midnight was equally effective. Major incidents were few and far between and the elaborate measures taken proved more than adequate on one of the quietest Guy Fawkes nights for many years 62 11 06 # c.36.94

1962 11 07
Cherry Hinton chalk pit may be preserved as an area of exceptional educational value for the study of natural history. It is not an amenity at the moment but should be made one as the chalk cliff is an area of interest. Cambridge University has said it may provide the services of a warden for the area if it were left untouched. The eight-acre site, recently vacated by the Cambridge Civil Defence Corps, is next to land scheduled for extensions to the Grammar School for Boys playing field. 62 11 07 # c.17

1962 11 08
Poppy Day rag history – 62 11 08 # c.36.95

1962 11 09
Night climbing – dummy on St John's tower – 62 11 09

Cavendish Laboratory made its own equipment – F.A. Reeve – 61 11 09a # c.36.9

Buckden is so quiet that some people are finding it difficult to sleep. Ever since the first stage coaches rumbled through the narrow and twisting main street which is part of the Great North Road, walls and windows have reverberated to the sound of traffic. But today it is different and people lay in bed in wonder at the silence. The reason is the new dual carriageway bypass which takes traffic out of earshot. It also means people can walk down the street and do their shopping in peace. 62 11 09b

1962 11 10
Traffic was brought to an almost complete standstill in Cambridge as the Poppy Day Rag got under way and the streets became blocked with floats. Altogether 4,000 students with dustbin lids, tin cans and saucepans collected for the Earl Haig Fund. Dr Kildare performed 'bloody operations' on the streets, Trinity Hall undergraduates shaved Belisha beacons, girls from Girton dressed as blackbirds 'plucked ready for cooking' did hectic business while the 'new Hally Orchestra' gave a command performance with bicycle chains on dustbin lids and old mangles. Pedestrians found it hard to resist a forlorn and bedraggled donkey with an equally forlorn undergraduate clutching a box of soggy poppies. 62 11 10b # c.36.95

1962 11 10
David (Ken) Quick succeeds Horace Ingle as Sergeant-at-Mace – 62 11 10 # c.35.7

1962 11 10
Next Sunday the Vicar of Horningsea will probably walk from his rambling vicarage to the village church, open the door for a few minutes, close it and walk back home. For nine times out of ten nobody arrives and on the rare occasion that they do he conducts a service for three or four people. There is no organist or choir so no hymns are sung and he does not preach a sermon. This state of affairs has been in existence for some years. "It seems a shocking waste of time for me to be out here", he says 61 11 10a

1962 11 12
There are now more than 24,000 people aged 65 and over in Cambridgeshire and the development of welfare and medical service for the elderly is one of the most important public health problems, says the County Medical Officer. The district councils continue to develop purpose built houses for them but much more will be required. The County's plans have been frustrated by the difficulty of finding suitable sites and the length of time it takes to buy and begin building homes 61 11 12

1962 11 14
Haverhill's automatic telephone exchange brings Subscribers Trunk Dialling (S.T.D.) allowing people to obtain many of their trunk calls direct. All coin-box telephones have pay-on-answer coin boxes. Subscribers receiving a call will hear a series of rapid 'pips'. They should announce their telephone number and hold on until the pips cease. This is the pay-tone signal which tells the caller that his call has been answered and it is time for him to put in the coins. The closing of the manual exchange marks the end of a period of great difficulty caused by the large increase of calls and the overloading of the switchboard 62 11 14

1962 11 15
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Castle Street 62 11 15 [DYS cut].

A giant pall of smoke hung over Cambridge as ten thousand old rubber tyres and about a dozen derelict cars were destroyed by fire in a vehicle breakers yard on the Blue Gates site, Chesterton Fen Road. It started when one of the assistants decided to burn some old rubbish. The wind fanned the sparks into a giant blaze. It was fortunate that the smoke and smuts drifted more or less into the open countryside and there was no danger to property or life. 62 11 15

Down Your Street articles by Eric Dimock start with Castle Street – 62 11 15a # c.04

Sir – the Vicar of Horningsea says the village is not church minded. Few attend services, there is no organist or choir, hymns are not sung and he does not occupy the fine Elizabethan pulpit. But he has made no serious attempt to bring people to church, he does not visit parishioners nor mingle with them. Nor does he provide a Sunday School. His interest in the parish is such that, Sundays excepted, the vicar leaves for Cambridge by the 10.10 am bus and does not return until late afternoon. The church needs repairs costing £9,000 but an appeal brought in just £35 and he has no plans or suggestions for raising the rest – S.G. Buttress, People's Warden 62 11 15b Parish asks vicar to clear up garden – 62 11 15c

St Neots council is negotiating for a 'well-known national brewery' to set up works in the town. The company would use road and rail transport and provide employment for 80 people. But the supply of water required – 120,000 gallons a day – will not be available for two years and there is a problem over industrial effluent which would place too heavy a burden on the sewerage works 62 11 15d

The Freebooters Club opened two years ago in an old converted church hall in Wellington Street, Cambridge, which is damp, dingy and has dry-rot. At that time school-leavers wishing to join youth clubs had to join in formal activity. Not wishing to do this they drifted to the coffee bars on the outskirts of the city. When these closed they were left with nowhere to go. The Freebooters filled the gap with a coffee bar and juke box. Originally it was a 'toughs' club but times have changed. Now it will be modernised with a dance hall, tv lounge, snooker room and motor cycle repairs workshop 62 11 15f # c.37.9

1962 11 16
People in Sawston were puzzled when a number of large steel structures appeared on the skyline over a field off the Babraham Road. Work had begun on Deal Grove Estate, a major private residential scheme of more than 250 houses and bungalows. They are all built on frameworks of steel which can be put up in two days. Exterior walls are made of brick, laminated plasterboard is used to line the interior walls and the steel roof rafters are assembled. When finished the building outwardly appears of normal construction. But owners need have no worries about sagging roofs or attacks of vermin or rot. 62 11 16

Several hundred people packed the Dorothy to watch UK 1962 ballroom dancing champions Bob Burgess and Doreen Freeman give an exhibition of dances including the waltz, quickstep, cha-cha, twist and Madison. After demonstrating the basic steps and variations of the Madison Bob & Doreen called for other couples to join in and soon the floor was crowded with keen enthusiasts 61 11 16a # c.69.2

The famous RAF fighter station at Hornchurch, Essex is to close. Originally known as Sutton's Farm it came into use as a base from which to combat the Zeppelin. The first patrol took place on October 13, 1915 and in 1916 Lieut Robinson gained the VC for bringing down the first airship. It was reconstructed as RAF Hornchurch in 1924. Spitfires flew continuously during the Battle of Britain although the Luftwaffe made regular attacks. But it was not suitable for jet aircraft and now the hangars and buildings will be sold with the rest of the land returned to its former owners. 62 11 16b

The population of Fen Ditton has soared in the last 50 years. In 1952 its boundaries were extended to include the Whitehill and Peverell estates and took in the Leper Chapel. Students from Westcott House had taken services there since 1922 but it could not seat more than 50. So the Priory School was used for Family Eucharist. Now a hall which will become part the new Church of the Holy Cross has opened and the Leper Chapel will be only used for monthly celebrations of the Holy Communion. Many will be saddened by the move away from the unique Normal chapel which they have come to love 62 11 16c # c.83

1962 11 19
Billy Fury meets Cambridge fans Roger Crow & David Mackie – 62 11 19 # c.69

Only three go to church at Horningsea – 61 11 19a

1962 11 21
Undergraduates starting to use food shops – 62 11 21

1962 11 22
'Science Island' on New Museums site plans 62 11 22 # c.36.9

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Grange Road 62 11 22 [DYS cut]

1962 11 23
BBEN estate, Deal Grove, Sawston – advert – 62 11 23

Roundabout at Perne Road – Birdwood Rd junction starts – 62 11 23a

1962 11 24
St Stephen's is not very important as Cambridge churches go. It does not feature in guide books, visitors do not flock there and some parishioners have never seen it. 25 years ago a hall was built to house a Sunday School for the children of what was than an expanding part of Cambridge. Now a fine new building has been dedicated alongside it. But the task is not finished. One day the asbestos end will be knocked away and a proper chancel added with a vestry for the minister. Until then it is business as usual. No gimmicks, no elaborate ritual, just regular offering of worship in the simple time-honoured way 62 11 24 dedication – 62 11 26 # c.83

1962 11 26
Gt St Mary's jazz service – 62 11 26

One-way traffic is being introduced at Minster Place at the Gallery, Ely, as a first step towards complete closure of the road that goes past Ely Cathedral. The return flow will be along St Mary's Street and Silver Street which will be widened for two-way traffic. This will take away heavy lorries carrying beet to the sugar factory which detract from the peacefulness and dignity of the Cathedral. Other improvements include the clearance of disused and unsightly gravestones on the Cathedral's north side and their replacement by pleasant lawns 62 11 26

Post office sorting department in Mill Road demolition – photo – 62 11 28a # c.27.7

1962 11 28
Standens of Ely, agricultural machinery taken over by Dental Manufacturing Co – 62 11 28

Haddenham garage fire – photo – 62 11 28

1962 11 29
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Arbury Road 62 11 29 [DYS cut]

1962 11 30
"It's a dying trade this. I can remember the days when there used to be 15 of us down here and we never used to go home until eight in the evening", recalled Arthur Starr, a tailor. "We used to do a lot of undergraduate trade: we worked hard for about seven months, then we'd have the rest of the year free. The only thing I do now is jackets. I won't touch trousers and waistcoats. I've been doing it for 50 years. I always sit cross-legged. It's the only way to do it. I rest sitting like this, you now. I even sit in bed like it" 62 11 30 # c.27

December 1962 CN

1962 12 01

A pop singer who trades as Rocky Rivers of the Rocky Rivers Top Twenty Club, Corn Exchange, St Ives was fined for displaying advertising posters in Cambridge without permission. The City Council were concerned with the spread of such unauthorised posters. 'Rocky Rivers' claimed they'd been put up by rival groups to get him into trouble. He'd given posters to people at the club but did not know where they had been stuck. 62 12 01

C.O. Stanley, head of Pye, warned of redundancy in the tv industry unless people bought 625-line sets. 62 12 01b

Col G.L. Archer funeral service at Ely Cathedral – 62 12 01c

1962 12 03
Fifteen Britannia 102 airlines are being flown to Cambridge Airport by the British Overseas Airways Corporation to be put on show to prospective buyers. The turbo-prop aircraft are surplus to their needs and are being replaced with Comet 4 jetliners. The most likely customers will be small domestic and international airlines looking for a medium range aircraft with a large seating capacity. Cambridge airport has been chosen as a convenient 'shop window' and will not be directly concerned in the sale of the aircraft 62 12 03

1962 12 04
The landlord of the Golden Lion public house in the quiet village of Bourn is trying to start an old-time version of the 'ten pin bowling' craze in the pub car park. Jack Allison recently found four 200-year-old skittles in the debris of an old barn. Peter Ingle, 86, remembers that over 70 years ago the game was played in an open-ended carriage shed during Bourn Feast when every farmer expected his workers to be away from the farm for 10 days. But the skittles are now riddled with woodworm and may not stand up to the wear and tear of regular use. 62 12 04

St Ives councillors discussed the acquisition of properties and the erection of flats in Green Street. With the right buildings it would make the central part of the town look as attractive as possible. This was an ideal spot for six-storey flats which would give those in the top storeys a wonderful view of the river. It would be too big a development for the council themselves but developers and contractors would take an interest as land has now got so scarce and there is little space on the outskirts of the town 62 12 04b

Whitelocks Yard, Trumpington is a quit oasis from traffic thundering by on the main road. Now the twelve 100-year-old houses are being put up for sale by the trustees of the charity of George Whitelock who say they need considerable improvements and a lot of money spending on them. But the elderly tenants are concerned for the future, fearing they may be thrown out on the streets. The homes, with a half-acre site, are being sold for £4,750 (about £83,360 now) 62 12 04a # c.32.9

1962 12 05
The fog which came down over the Cambridge area was blown here from London by a twelve-knot wind, says meteorologists. London, having its first clear day since Monday was like an oasis surrounded by a slowly-clearing fog belt though mainline trains were still meeting long delays and London Airport was closed. The number of sudden deaths in the capital has now reached 106. Conditions were still grim in East Anglia with temperatures remaining well below zero and part of the River Cam froze between Pye's Bridge and Garret Hostel Lane. 62 12 05 & 07 # c.12

Cavendish Laboratory is housed in grotesquely cramped old buildings and ill-suited to meet competition, said Prof Pippard. Details article re plans 62 12 05a & b & c # c.36.9

1962 12 06
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Norfolk Street 62 12 06 [DYS cut]

Electric power lost in City Road area - 62 12 06

1962 12 07
John Shrive had osier beds at Horningsea and Fen Ditton until he died 40 years ago, employing five men to grow and cut them with bundles kept moist in the Green End ditch until needed. Most of the women of Fen Ditton were employed in peeling or cleaving on a casual basis, sitting on each side of the road with their bundles beside them. Stripped osiers were collected by horse and cart then taken to Mr Shrive's workshop in East Road where they were woven into baskets to be sold from his shop on Peas Hill. School reports up to 1912 list frequent absenteeism with children 'helping with rod peeling' 62 12 07a

Two railway lines in Cambridgeshire are under threat following Dr Beeching's proposals. All lines transporting less than 10,000 people and 10,000 tons of freight a week may close. This includes the line from Cambridge through Histon and Oakington and the one to Mildenhall through Burwell. Fruit growers would be seriously affected and have to switch to road transport, putting up prices. Rural bus services are another failure of Government policy and had been cut because they were unprofitable, a Labour meeting was told 62 12 07c # c.26.2

Reed and sedge plants grow wild in Wicken Fen. Reed needs to be cut annually in the depth of winter while sedge is normally harvested in the spring. In the past, cutting was done entirely by hand, the reeds being tied in bundles a yard in circumference and carried three at a time to the lode-side. There it was loaded into a flat-bottomed barge and pulled by 'one donkey power' to the stacking site to await sale. Today the donkey has been replaced by an outboard motor and the actual cutting is done mechanically with a tractor and Allen scythe. One may regret the passing of picturesque methods of the past, but they were very hard work and economically unrewarding 62 12 07d

1962 12 08
Collections at the Round Table's Christmas tree in St Andrew the Great churchyard began in 1953. Last year they raised money to provide 415 parcels for old people, each containing £1-worth of Christmas cheer. The names of old people who benefit from this magnificent effort are revised each year and every person is visited before Christmas. One year a 30-foot high tree was delivered and putting it up meant dislocating the traffic outside Christ's College for some time. 62 12 08 # c.32.9

Emmanuel Congregational Church turret tower cone, which is in danger of collapse, has been removed and walls are being rebuilt. 62 12 08 # c.83

1962 12 10
An all-night vigil by CND members at the USAF airbase at Wethersfield near Saffron Walden was partly cancelled due to rain squalls and cold conditions. A mobile canteen which had been arranged to supply refreshments to the demonstrators did arrive but stood unused. However next day a public meeting was held on Wethersfield village green which was addressed by a member of the Committee of 100 before protestors marched to the base which is home to the 29th Tactical Fighter Wing flying Super Sabre fighter bombers 62 12 10 # c.45.8

Royal Engineers spent an hour and a half in drenching rain preparing to demolish the last concrete base on the Royal Show site at Trumpington. They tunnelled holes into it, under it and around it and inserted twenty pounds of plastic explosives. Two men were sent to warn Addenbrooke's Hospital of an ear-splitting bang before the men took cover. But there was just a weak muffled 'back-fire' noise and only a few cracks in the base – not really worth stopping the trains on the nearby railway line. Two hours later came a very satisfying bang and the great concrete block was lifted out of the ground in a shower of smaller chunks and metal bolts. 62 12 10a

1962 12 11
The Thor missile base at Ely is to be closed and the war-time airfield will be disposed of. The Air Ministry says there are no civilians working on the base, which is a satellite station for Feltwell missile base, and had three Thor rockets which cost £1 million each. There have been two protest marches in the last four years. The first in 1958 was organised by Cambridge City Labour Party, the second during an East Anglian CND campaign 62 12 11 # c.45.8

1962 12 12
Language Laboratory set up at CCAT – 62 12 12

1962 12 13
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Lensfield Road 62 12 13 [DYS cut]

1962 12 14
'About Anglia' celebrates 500th edition – 62 12 14

Mr E.J. Wesley Coe was a glass-blower for one of the University laboratories who practiced his craft at home, making quaint little animals and glass pipettes for artificial insemination. In 1952 he formed his own company making electronic valve components for the radio industry and apparatus for the semi-conductor field. Soon he was employing a dozen people and now supplies the needs of the most recent Nobel prize-winners, the Admiralty, Air Ministry, atomic energy and radio industry at home and abroad 62 12 14a # c.27.1

1962 12 17
Winds gusting up to 70mph brought damage to all parts of Cambridgeshire. In Cambridge a Panton Street house was damaged when a chimney stack crashed through the roof and scaffolding collapsed at the new Addenbrooke's Hospital. At Somersham a man was killed when a giant elm tree fell on to the van in which he was travelling, Isleham was without electricity for seven hours and nearly 30 roads blocked by falling trees 62 12 17a

The occupiers of five cottages nestling against the footpath of Trumpington High Street are confused about the future of their homes. The houses – three of them thatched – have been recently been listed as of special architectural interest which means they cannot be demolished without Ministerial permission. But the Ministry of Transport has plans for a road improvement scheme in that area. One of the owners has recently erected a modern fireplace in place of an inglenook wants to create a bathroom. But he is not prepared to spend money if the houses are to come down 62 12 17

Rubbish from the corporation tip in Coldham's Lane was spread over a wide are by the gales on Saturday; gardeners were littered with paper and other refuse. But residents claim this is nothing new: "We get smells in our houses, fillies and rats frequently visit us and the floors are covered with dust each morning; and these nuisances all come from the rubbish pit", one claims. 62 12 17b

Adkins Corner. For the convenience of those who prefer out-of-town shopping with good parking facilities, W.J. Atkins have opened a self-service store by the Perne Road island in Cherryhinton Road where you will find the same quality – the best – which has made Adkins famous for English and Scottish meat, sausages, pies, cooked meats and other provisions. You pay less for the best – and you get Green Shield Stamps as well – Advert 61 12 17c

1962 12 18
Noel Teulon Porter was an original. From 1911 for over 22 years he was a familiar figure in Cambridge. His progress along King's Parade was one continuous procession of cheerful encounters and although he was not a member of the University he was given a pass to enter the University Library and allowed to attend certain lectures. During WWI he was co-opted onto all manner of Faculty boards. In 1915 he bought the former Half Moon pub in Little St Mary's Lane and began to cultivate the church graveyard as a garden, clearing out tons of old rubbish. 62 12 18

1962 12 19
Cherry Hinton chalk pit where Civil Defence Corps had their headquarters may be a small-bore rifle range or used as a caravan site. – 62 12 19

A Stretham boy, waiting for his school bus outside Bridge Cottage, opposite the Royal Oak pub missed death by inches when a Premier Travel coach skidded on a bend and crashed into the living room, knocking down the outside wall. Most of the furniture was badly damaged by falling masonry and the Christmas decorations were strewn all over the floor. Last year a lorry crashed into the corner of the house, but no great damage was done 62 12 19a

1962 12 20
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on St Barnabas Road 62 12 20 [DYS cut]

Workmen are removing the spire from the tower of St Peter's Church at Papworth Everard. The work is being supervised by Mr Peter Foster of Godmanchester, the architect who discovered that the spire was unsafe when he carried out a quinquennial inspection of the church fabric last year. The Parochial Church Council has funds for the work but a further £900 will have to be raised 62 12 20

1962 12 21
One third of the institutions which house our old people are just former workhouses. Terrified of losing their individuality in an institution plenty of old folk prefer merely to exist in poverty-stricken solitude. The real problem is of lonely old age – and no place can be lonelier for an old person that a 60-bed workhouse dormitory full of strangers. But the Abbeyfield Society integrates people in their own neighbourhood in houses with separate bed-sitting rooms with personal belongings and an electric hot-plate for minor cooking. Now one may be set up in Cambridge. 62 12 21

The Rector of Croydon with Clopton is to receive £525 damages for a libel published in the 'Daily Sketch'. The article claimed he had ordered a couple to quit the School House – 62 12 21a

1962 12 22
King Street poultry mart held its last Christmas sale. It has existed for nearly 50 years and now the auctioneer Claude Kirkup and clerk, Alfred Harding will retire. Mr Kirkup, a well-known figure, has dealt with about 1,000 chickens, turkeys and geese this week alone. He started in the mart in 1918 and was joined by Mr Harding in 1922. The site was purchased recently by Jesus College 62 12 22 # c.06

Arkesden chalk pit had been worked for hundreds of years and there is a great demand for worked chalk. The site would be reclaimed and put back into cultivation, an Inquiry was told. But Arkesden was pretty well-known internationally and the pit lays in an area of great landscape value. Chalk dust would foul the countryside and lorries bring material on to the road on their wheels. A parish meeting had voted against the proposals and a geologist said that working the site would lead to an increase in flood danger. 62 12 22a

1962 12 27
Ely Youth Hostel's success is 'spectacular' and by September the Eastern Regional YHA recorded over 1,000 overnights 62 12 27

1962 12 28
Fireman fought with frozen water hydrants at Fordham while a string of store sheds owned by Turners Transport were going up in flames by the side of a 2,000 gallon diesel oil tank and a set of petrol pumps. Lorry spare parts and a company director's 16-foot motor launch were blazing amid great clouds of smoke. The launch's petrol tank blew up with a bang and flames shot out. After an hour the yard was like a skating rink, the water freezing almost as soon as it hit the ground. 62 12 28

Ely Corn Exchange, built in 1847 was used for the last time as a corn market. Only a handful of farmers, merchants and representatives of seed, feeding stuffs, fertilisers and oil companies turned up for the building's last two hours' use as an indoor market. Before the war some 300 people from the Eastern Counties and London congregated every Thursday and Broad Street was packed with people coming off the trains to the markets. Now market activities will be transferred across the road to the Club Hotel. The Exchange, recently purchased by a London development company, will continue to be used for a variety of events such as dinners, dances, darts tournaments and wrestling matches. 62 12 28a

1962 12 29
Reconstruction of Matthew's restaurant in Trinity Street would provide three modern restaurants – a separate steak bar, a wine and cheese bar and a chicken and ham restaurant. It would probably be called 'The Turk's Head Restaurant'. The British public should be able to have wine with their food and were becoming more educated to this fact because they 'occasionally escaped abroad', an Inquiry was told. Mr Bernard Matthews, managing director, said the firm was leasing the restaurant from Trinity College who were not opposing the application 62 12 29

1962 12 31
Cambridgeshire has not been too badly affected by the cold but Elmdon was cut off, Ickleton lost power on Christmas Day and a cow had to be rescued after it broke through an ice-covered dyke at Braham Farm, Lt Thetford. When pulled out it was too exhausted to stand and was given half a bottle of whisky while a makeshift sledge was constructed. Snow ploughs were used on the Sutton-Earith Road and several major firms have sent gangs to help clear snow after building work ceased. Several bags of barley fell from a lorry at Littlebury proving a stroke of good fortune for wild birds. Hundreds of them fed on the seed and passing motorists had to sound their horns to clear birds from the road. 62 12 31a

Mr E.J. Wesley Coe was a glass-blower for one of the University laboratories who practiced his craft at home, making quaint little animals and glass pipettes for artificial insemination. In 1952 he formed his own company making electronic valve components for the radio industry and apparatus for the semi-conductor field. Soon he was employing a dozen people and now supplies the needs of the most recent Nobel prize-winners, the Admiralty, Air Ministry, atomic energy and radio industry at home and abroad 62 12 31

1963 Cambridge News

I have copies of these articles

January 1963 CN

1963 01 01
Seven-foot drifts block county, 400 workmen fight to keep traffic moving – 63 01 01 # c.12

Newmarket Congregational Church trustees are negotiating to buy Ellesmere House, the former training establishment in Exeter Road, and would like to build a new church and manse on the site. They are anxious to take advantage of an offer made to them by a commercial undertaking for their present church in the High Street. But Newmarket UDC are still planning the future road pattern in the centre of town and cannot comment on the future use of the Ellesmere House plot 63 01 01a

1963 01 02
The Freebooters Club has closed down. It was started in Wellington Street for youngsters who could not fit into the regular pattern of youth activities. It had done good work and some of the young people who had been 'unclubable' had settled down in other established youth clubs. But there has been a recent heavy decline in club membership and an adverse financial position had been reached. John Ewan, the University theological student who started it two years ago, was thanked for his inspiration in forming the club and wholehearted devotion to the task of running it. 63 01 02 # c.37.9

1963 01 03
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on St Andrew's Road 63 01 03 [DYS cut]

1963 01 04
People travelling to work were delayed after three buses were put out of action with frozen fuel pipes. Sunshine encouraged many skaters on the River Cam along the Backs where ice is two-inches thick but the Met Office warns there is no sign of a break in the very cold weather. Snow and ice has brought outside work on building sites to a standstill though many firms are keeping on men to help with snow clearing. Demand for coal has shot up as have the number of telephone calls with people ringing up to say they are suffering from the acute weather conditions – 63 01 03 Cambridge shops dim lights to conserve power 63 01 14 63 0115 # c.12 # c.12.1

Milton Road 'Mayflower Court' flats to be unfurnished – 63 01 04

1963 01 05
Because of the snow, making roads impassable, the Rev John Hornby, Rector of Croydon Church, walked ten miles 'cross country' last Sunday to Tadlow, East Hatley and then back to Croydon to hold services in the villages. Mr Hornby has shown himself prepared to venture off the well-worn path on previous occasions. In October he conducted a thanksgiving service in a Croydon public house and later followed it up with Christmas carols. He has been heard to comment "I would rather have one person who is in church 'to do the business' than a hundred who are there because they think they ought to be" 63 01 05

The Lands Tribunal confirmed an offer of £4,300 compensation by the Ministry of Agriculture following compulsory requisition of 75 acres of Burwell Fen 63 01 05a

1963 01 07
The new Seventh Day Adventist Church in Hobart Road was dedicated at special services held to mark its opening. Mr Roger Scott, the architect, was congratulated on designing such a 'clean, bright building full of light, commodious and comfortable' by Pastor J.A. McMillan, president of the Seventh Day Church in England. Builders, Robinson & Gimbert had ensured that the construction went smoothly and without fault. 63 01 07 # c.83

J.G. Horne is no ordinary garment manufacturing business. Tucked away in a building at the top of a wooden staircase, amidst brightly-coloured materials and the clatter of sewing machines, 20 girls are employed making articles which range from college scarves to rowing shorts, academic gowns to schoolboys' blazers. Since it was established in 1927 it has concentrated on the club and colours trade, producing 7,000 scarves each year. Many are made by 'out-workers' and each stripe is individually added. But gowns, blazers and sportswear are made in the premises in St Barnabas Road. 63 01 07a # c.27

1963 01 09
Princess Margaret to present new colour to the Suffolk & Cambridgeshire Regiment, TA. 63 01 09

1963 01 10
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Young Street - 63 01 10 [DYS cut]

Mepal Airfield is gradually being landscaped. More than 400 trees have been planted with others along the main road, which was reinstated in 1958. It was one of the important air bases during the war and afterwards some outlying camps were used by squatters. Today most of the airfield is unused apart from a small section which houses Thor missiles. Now these missile bases are being gradually closed down 63 01 10a

Recently qualified State Registered Nurses were present with their certificates at the Preliminary Training School, Owlstone Road. Miss Puddiscombe, the Matron, outlined the current situation at Addenbrooke's Hospital and its various departments 63 01 10b

1963 01 11
The GORB decided to raise the banks of Cottenham Lode; maintenance work has been carried out and the provision of a flapped culvert at the end of Reynolds Drain had prevented flooding. But surveys show overtopping would occur. 63 01 11

Littleport St George's church organ being rebuilt – 63 01 11a

1963 01 12
Turkeys destroyed in fire at Caldecote Manor Farm, Abbotsley – 63 01 12

Earith bridge replacing suspension bridge – photo – 63 01 12a

1963 01 14
Four disused gas fittings surrounding statue of Oliver Cromwell at St Ives to be replaced by electric lights – 63 01 14a

Cambridgeshire was described as the 'Cinderella' of County Hockey 30 years ago. But it has come a long way since then and now has a record many larger counties could be proud of. Administrative difficulties have been overcome and this should prove one of the most successful seasons since the war with a wealth of young players offering talent, speed and enthusiasm. Peter Wroth, a Welsh international, has accepted the captaincy and with Geoff Powell, David Wilman and Michael Hunt the club has one of the best attacks ever mustered 63 01 14b

1963 01 15
Electricity voltage may be cut during continued cold weather – 63 01 15

The Flying Scotsman passed through Huntingdon station at above 75 mph on its last historic run from London to Leeds. The locomotive, which was sold recently to a Nottingham businessman for £4,000, was five minutes late. But train-spotters did not seem to mind as they jockeyed for positions with their camera and stop watches. A trace of billowing white steam roared through the station pushing everything, including the spotters standing on the edge of the platform, to once side. In a lightning green flash it had gone, well on its way to its first stop at Peterborough. 63 01 15a

1963 01 16
The Prowlers, a popular local rock'n'roll group, are recording two numbers for a new teenage magazine programme for the BBC radio 'Come On In'. Last April they played on Anglia television and since then have been successful at a number of local dances. The instrumentalists are Peter R. Garner, David Cooper, Adrian Tomkinson, all from Waterbeach, and Peter Gale from Needingworth. 63 01 16

King's College porters were often barbers as well – research by John Saltmarsh – 63 01 16a

1963 01 17
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Chaucer Road – 63 01 17 [DYS cut]

Lt Shelford residents protested against building a factory producing scientific and electronic glassware at the rear of a thatched cottage fronting Church Street. It was an important industry and some work was of a secret nature for the Atomic Energy Commission. It did nobody any harm as there was no noise, smell or fumes. It had grown over 10 years from a part-time concern and would employ up to 30. The land had existing industrial rights and was formerly used as a ropeworks. But neighbours said it would overlook their gardens and spoil the view. 63 01 17

1963 01 18
Giant earth scrapers are advancing in the soft clay at the bottom of one of Huntingdonshire's most beautiful natural valleys near Diddington. Soon millions of gallons of fresh water will be pumped over ploughed land and pasture until the valley becomes a three-mile long reservoir, the largest man-made lake in the country. The hamlets of Grafton and East and West Perry lay clear of the water line but seven farmhouses and six cottages will be submerged. The new lake will be used for sailing and provide a rowing course to Olympic standards. But water ski-ing will not be allowed as oil from towing craft might cause pollution 63 01 18

Wicken Fen peat digging industry – history and picture of Sennitt by W.M. Lane – 63 01 18a

Should Huntingdon's 18 prefabs be improved and made permanent or be demolished. When they were built it was for a period of 10 years as temporary accommodation and many authorities have pulled them down. Several tenants have complained about condensation forming on ceilings during bad weather caused by the metal roofs. If demolished the site would make a good housing estate. But two have been converted to bungalows by adding brick walls. 63 01 18b

Miss Alice Haslop, 95, Trumpington's oldest parishioner; was born and lived all her life in the village where he father was bootmaker and carrier to Cambridge. She was a laundress of no mean repute and a good plain needlewoman, particularly in making pillow-slips. She insisted on doing her own housework as long as she could and possessed a sense of humour. As a child the nearest doctor was near Woollards Lane, Shelford, and medicine had to be fetched, walking to the surgery before breakfast. "I liked going", she said with an impish gleam in her eye, "because then I was late for school". Her death closes a chapter in the village's history. 63 01 18c

W.B. Holttum recalls people skating from St Germans sluice to Boston, then skating back; describes trip – 63 01 18d # c.38 : skating

1963 01 19
Scores of road closed, with eight-foot snowdrifts – 63 01 19

The icy weather has taken its toll of the large numbers of swans on the River at St Neots; five have been frozen to death and many are weak and unable to fend for themselves. Mr P.C. James discovered one with its wings frozen to its body and hardly able to stand. He took it home wrapped in warm blankets and left it in a bath overnight. Within 24 hours the bird was fully recovered and back on the river. Then he bought as much bread as he could from local shops and has fed the swans regularly. Now the RSPCA are delivering food. 63 01 19a

Parkside pool filled with water for first time – 63 01 19b # c.38 : swimming

1963 01 21
Firemen fought for six hours against a blizzard to answer an emergency call from an isolated farm house at Little Chishill where a chimney was alight. Engines from Whittlesford and Letchworth were unable to get through and firemen tried digging their way clear in deep snow. One tender was re-routed but that road was blocked too. A Cambridge engine also found roads impassable but with the aid of a bulldozer managed to get as far as Chishill Grange. Firemen then plodded over fields covered by thick snow and drifts. On arrival at Rectory Farm they took 30 minutes to extinguish the blaze, then began a 150-minute journey back to base. 63 01 21 # c.34.75

First steps towards meter-controlled car parking – 63 01 21a

Cambridge police station was turned into a temporary boarding home to accommodate 15 teenagers and servicemen people cut off by the blizzard from their country homes. They had been to the cinema and dances, then found roads blocked by snow. The W.V.S. sent blankets. One of the guests was Derek Welstead of Shudy Camps Park who had to walk home across fields. Snow ploughs have been called in and many of the men laid off by building firms have helped clear roads. Hatley and Odsey schools were closed because they were cut off by snow drifts and others because of frozen water mains and lavatories 63 01 21b & 25

Devil's Dyke – place of legend, lure & love – 63 01 21c

1963 01 22
Temperatures amongst lowest ever recorded with 35 degrees of frost – 63 01 22 # c.12.1

The water position in Huntingdon is very grave and supplies may need to be cut. It is essential that householders do not leave their water taps running overnight – a practice which some people adopt to prevent taps from freezing – 63 01 22

Work at Trinity College kitchens reveals 14th century foundations thought to be from Michaelhouse – 63 01 22a # c.44.5

Haverhill's town expansion scheme is suffering from the worst hold-up since development began five years ago because of the effect of the snow and frost. The contract for 224 houses at Portway and on the Clements Estate has stopped as has the erection of factories on the Holland Park estate for Person & Sons and Refrigeration Appliances. 63 01 22b

London Instrument Company manufactures athletics equipment in the Old Mill, Newnham Pond. It employs 30 people annually producing 5,000 hurdles, 1,500 javelins as well as starting blocks and shots. It was founded by Henry Rottenburg in 1911, Fellow of Kings and lecturer in the University Engineering Laboratories. In collaboration with the University Athletic Club they developed a long jump measuring device, scoreboards and an ill-fated starting gate which nearly strangled a competitor. 63 01 22c # c.27

1963 01 24
Report critical on development and design layout in villages – 63 01 24

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Glisson Road – 63 01 24 [DYS cut]

1963 01 25
Huntingdonshire schools closed due frost – frozen lavatories and water mains – 63 01 25
Macintosh's premises, Market Street being demolished – photo – 63 01 25a

By river to Grantchester – walking on ice – 63 01 25b # c.38 : skating

1963 01 26
Temperatures rose above freezing point for the first time in ten days but electricity cuts almost paralysed in the county. 63 01 26 # c.12.1

Plough Monday memories from Pampisford 1887, Swaffham, Cambridge - 63 01 26b # c.39

Tower blocks should be banned from city centre says planning consultant Thomas Sharp in his report 'Dreaming Spires & Teeming Towers'. They would destroy the character of the Backs, Parker's Piece and Midsummer Common. The New Museums and Downing sites are 'deplorable in their high crowding, overdevelopment by dull buildings'. This comes when the University has plans for proposals for a tower block as part of its 'Science Island'. Any rebuilding in the central streets should be by small units rather than large-scale frontages, he says 63 01 26c # c.49.4

1963 01 29
Caxton church is situated on the site of the original village burnt at the time of the Black Death, some half-mile from the present settlement and parishioners find it rather a long walk. So the vicar has provided a transport service for members of the congregation. The church bus, which is capable of seating 12 people and driven by the Rev B.B. Edmonds himself, covers the area before morning and afternoon services. No charge is made for transport and passengers ride at their own risk. 63 01 29

The delivery period for coal in Cambridge is still about a fortnight even though snow has released many frozen supplies. But reports of 'coal racketeering' are unfair, according to Austin Beales, one of the largest coal distributors. Certain small merchants have been in great difficulties during the past few weeks as the freeze-up of stocks at the pit-heads had brought immeasurable problems to the industry. People must wait until the National Coal Board in co-operation with the railways, regain their normal smooth functioning. 63 01 30

1963 01 31
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Mill Road - 63 01 31, 63 02 07 [DYS cut]

U.F.O. group formed by Cambridge students – 63 01 31

Two new firms are to build large factories under the Haverhill expansion scheme. Hopkin and Williams of Chadwell Heath were established in 1850 and are manufacturers of chemicals for research, analysis and industrial purposes. They want extra space to meet overseas markets and will employ up to 75 people. Enfield Rolling Mills have already started site works at Holland Road for one refrigeration appliances factory and this second will provide for automatic plating and finishing of the products, bringing more jobs. Haverhill council are delighted 63 01 31a

February 1963 CN

1963 02 01
A retired farmer died when fire swept though his thatched-roof home at Pickering Farm, Whaddon, despite efforts by firemen wearing breathing apparatus to save him. After battling through dense black smoke, they found the stairs leading to the bedroom had collapsed. Even as they unrolled their hoses flames shot from one end of the thatched roof to the other; there was no hope of saving the house which was completely gutted. 63 02 01

Simpers rope works in New Street was established 200 years ago to meet the demand for tow-ropes for horse-drawn barges which plied along the Cam. They were made by hand on the Ropewalk which once marked the borough boundary. Today, with the coming of machinery, they are among the biggest rope and fibre merchants in the country making canvas covers for lorries, marquees, tents & flags. Since the war tremendous development has taken place in the agricultural ironmongery department where farmers can find cattle-troughs, shovels or forks and builders buy barrows, water-proof clothing and nuts.63 02 01a # c.27

1963 02 02
Parts of the Backs should be flooded and turned into skating rinks, says a Cambridge botanist. There are a few natural ideal spots, used for lawn tennis, which could be easily flooded to provide skating. The initial cost would be insignificant but the benefit for the young and 'young at heart' (meaning dons) would be enormous. The maintenance of the skating rink would be easily covered by a small entrance fee. And it wouldn't spoil the tennis courts as ice and snow give the best protection for the species of grasses which might otherwise be damaged by the continuous cold. 63 02 02a # c.38 : ice skating

Like other sport, golf has been hit by the appalling weather conditions with no play since Boxing Day at the Gog Magog course. The ground was frozen before then and the greens have not been fit to use since the middle of December: they are like lakes and the bunkers full of snow. At Newmarket greens are like frozen lakes, Girton's nine holes are completely waterlogged, St Ives frozen solid and the hilly course at Royston has drifts many feet deep. 63 02 02b

1963 02 04
The Air Ministry was asked not to send any planes over Cambridge while the Marlowe Dramatic Society recorded the entire works of Shakespeare. George Rylands directed the project which started six years ago at the A.D.C. Noise interruptions were a constant worry: whenever a dog barked, a car backfired or rain fell on the roof, the recordings were spoiled and the actors had to begin again. After several summers they moved to a London recording company's studios. It was difficult getting the right sound effects for battles: one scene was the noise of supporters at a football match with cries of 'ref' judiciously removed. 63 02 04

1963 02 06
In 1956 college rating assessments were treated like those of offices or shops and increased three or even five times, one playing field assessment increased 11-fold. These figures were far too high and an appeal was lodged. Colleges make little demand on local authority services – not one extra place in a school, not one extra book in the Public Library, no extra policemen or inch of road. But there may be slightly more college drainage and refuse. They attract tourists who cause great expense to colleges whereas the entire financial benefit goes entirely to the city. They are not even charged a modest entrance fee to the private courts which are the sole reason for their visit – J.C. Bradfield, Bursar of Trinity College 63 02 06 & a # c.44.5 # c.32.6

1963 02 07
Deep snow blocks roads, sheet-ice responsible for lorry crashing into wall of Post Office at Gt Shelford – 63 02 07

1963 02 08
Two nights a week, figures drift up the yard behind the Royal Oak Hotel, St Neots, carrying boxes of varying shapes and sizes. They disappear into an old hay loft which houses a large miniature car racing circuit on which model Lotus, Cooper, Ferrari and Jaguar cars propelled by 12-volt electric motors travel at a scale speed of 180 mph. Racing is extraordinarily real – the only thing missing being the smell of exhaust fumes and the noise of the engines. Even women are finding the sport worthy of their interest and skill – 63 02 08

Huntingdon needs bypass – 63 02 08a

1963 02 09
Fuel stocks dwindle due to snow – 63 02 09

City Librarian not allowed a new carpet, difficult conditions – 63 02 09a # c.77.4

Afternoon shoppers in one of Cambridge's busiest streets scattered when a large piece of masonry fell from the top of a three storey building on to the pavement. Petty Cury was sealed off for an hour after an ornamental stone flower pot fell from the top of the building containing John Collier's outfitters shop and a Chinese restaurant. Fireman with a turntable escape ladder inspected another stone pot; it had hairline cracks but was left in position. 63 02 09b – photo 63 02 13

One big happy family with a big boxing reputation; these are the conclusions after visiting the house of Lauds in Bluntisham. Mrs Vera Laud had eleven children, six of whom were still at school when her husband died. The family oozes with boxing talent: four of her sons are operating in the ring, one as a professional, and two others have retired from the sport. But she has only watched them boxing on one occasion – they say she puts them off. 63 02 09c

1963 02 11
The Dorothy Café is undergoing extensive alterations to make it one of the foremost in East Anglia. The high Venetian Room – the one adjoining the main ballroom – is being split into two levels to cater for banqueting and other functions with improved toilets, creating a much better atmosphere. Already it has been completely stripped and preparations for the installation of the steel girders are well under way. This does not affect the running of the ballroom and the café downstairs 63 02 11

1963 02 12
Cambridge City Council may sell 16 of its new homes, which have cost about £2,700 each to build (about £44,500 today), for a deposit of only £5 – with the buyer being allowed up to 30 years to repay the balance. The houses are in Jolley Way and Kent Way, new roads on the Arbury Estate. The City Treasurer says the scheme has been proposed as an experiment; it is the first time the idea has been suggested for Cambridge 63 02 12 # c.23

Milton diversion will eliminate double bends in the Cambridge Road – photo 63 02 12

1963 02 13
The Rendezvous Club at Soham is to reopen. But liquor can be sold only to club members whose names must be available to police. The Club which opened 15 years ago, is owned by London and Provincial Cinemas together with the Regent Cinema. It formerly had 64 members, of whom a dozen were women, who can play billiards, darts and cards or listen to the juke box. There is one other club, Soham Comrades, but this is for men only. 63 02 13a

1963 02 14
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Storey's Way – 63 02 14 [DYS cut]

1963 02 15
Kneesworth is a little hamlet, population about 200, on the Old North Road. Nobody comes to their parish meetings and it is difficult for the council to make up a quorum. The centre of Bassingbourn is a mile to the west but the two parishes are virtually indistinguishable. Now they have asked whether they can join up with their larger neighbour (pop 2,600) as one council. 63 02 15

1963 02 16
Haverhill to abstract water from Bartlow – 63 02 16

Darts is still a popular sport which appeals to all classes. The Star Brewery League began 30 years ago and is a very lively concern with 300 registered competitors in its 20 clubs. George Woolley of

'The Hoops', Long Stanton is one of their leading performers but 'The Jubilee', 'Haymakers' and 'Five Bells' have all won the championship in recent years . Ely City Darts Organisation, which started around 1932, has nearly 800 on its register, including 90 women. 63 02 16a #c.38 : darts

1963 02 18
East and West Suffolk will not amalgamate, Newmarket UDC should be retained – 63 02 18

1963 02 19
Mr S. Owen Webb was the first President of the Cambridgeshire Farmers' Federation which formed in March 1914 and even after his retirement in 1935 he had a great influence over farming until his death in November 1951. Now the National Farmers' Union is based at 'Owen Webb House' in Gonville Place which was bought from Caius College. It provides offices together with full dining facilities for members with a good bar where a lot of hard talking is done on matters that affect agriculture. 63 02 19

1963 02 20
Plans for the New Town area will retain the strong community spirit with different blocks of flats and houses centred on a 'village green'. There will be a church, local shops, public house, old people's flatlets, a children's playing space and hall, an Inquiry heard. However 87 properties in Russell Street & Coronation Street not fit for human habitation would be compulsorily purchased and 27 others redeveloped. The roofs are in bad shape, the brickwork and chimneys perished and all have outside toilets. It could be rebuilt in stages to minimise disruption. But some residents objected. 63 02 20 # c.49.4

1963 02 21
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Victoria Road 63 02 21 [DYS cut]

Victor Reynolds, member of 'Rock King' family burnt in fire at Sturton St home – 63 02 21

There were a great number of old people in Burwell who needed a Meals on Wheels service Magnetic Devices of Newmarket had offered to provide 10 meals from their canteen each day and the W.V.S., who used to operate a free soup service, may help again. At Soham they charged one shilling a meal – the price having been reduced from one-and-six when it was found some old people were unable to afford that amount. The cost of producing the meal was two shilling and twopence and the money needed was raised locally. They were lucky to have an excellent band of voluntary workers who went round in their cars delivering the food. 63 02 21a

1963 02 22
Portholme Meadow petition against plans for sand & gravel workings – 63 02 22

BBC engineers have been carrying out tests to find a suitable site for a relay booster television station in Cambridge. It follows a petition signed by 5,000 viewers that was organised by the Cambridge Radio and Television Retailers Association. The tests on Stourbridge Common involve the use of a barrage balloon which lifts a transmitting aerial to different heights. The signal is picked up by a mobile control room which travels around Cambridge testing reception in different areas – 63 02 22a # c.27.8

1963 02 23
Despite appalling conditions the national cross-country championships attracted more than 250 runners to the Coldham's Common course. The race started near the old rifle butts with a dash through ice-fields and bumpy ground towards the gas works, over a bridge built by the Territorial Army then past the Whitehill Estate, keeping to the rough of the Priory School playing fields to the railway bridge. Then runners were on the course proper. A special train was laid on from Liverpool Street with buses to Coleridge School 63 02 23a 63 03 04 & a # c.38 : running # c.32.3

Glauart wins prize for best photo of skating on Backs – 63 02 23

1963 02 25
County mobile library service approved – 63 02 25 # c.77.7

1963 02 26
Freedom of City granted to Suffolk & Cambridgeshire Regiment TA – 63 02 26 # c.45.8

Building land sought in Newmarket as private housing below average – 63 02 26a

1963 02 27
Coal being shipping into Wisbech for first time in 35 years; not had a cargo of coal since 1926 – 63 02 27

Clearing ice at Milton road football ground – 63 02 27a

1963 02 28
London commuters are eligible for 100 per cent mortgages under a new 'home loans for all' plan by the London County Council. Loans will be made on any house or flat within a 50-mile radius of Charing Cross and will be available to those living in St Neots, Royston, Huntingdon or Haverhill regardless of income. Repayment can be spread over 25 years. The only restriction is that the value of the property must not be more than £5,000. Estate agents predict it will not have a dramatic impact on Cambridge. 63 02 28

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Union Lane – 63 02 28 [DYS cut]

March 1963 CN

1963 03 01
Hale Close Melbourn new homes – advert 63 03 01

Restoration work at historic Yew Tree House at Witcham has revealed an inglenook fireplace and an ancient flight of stone steps behind a bricked up doorway covered by wallpaper and plaster. The steps simply peter out into another wall but may once have led to a priest's hole. The Vicar thinks that the foundations of the 17th-century house could well be as old as the church and legend says an underground passage may have run between them. There is a depression in the ground which might be a collapsed tunnel 63 03 01a

Ancient fireplace and oak chimney discovered at house in Burwell – 63 03 01b
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Broad Street – 63 03 07 [DYS cut]

1963 03 08
Johnsons Structures Ltd is one of the most recent industries to come to St Neots. They needed a new factory and the shipping of giant structures weighing 30 tons could be done more easily from there. Good facilities were offered for housing some 25 key workers who have transferred from the old factory at Mitcham, Surrey. They find people friendly – the locals buy you a drink - , but there is little in the way of entertainment, the roads are not as clean as in Battersea and they have to go to Bedford for shopping 63 03 08

Cambridge firms, University department and the City Council who employ large numbers of people have been encouraging their employees to change from wages in cash to payment by cheque. Pye says it would cut down the risk of hold-ups. But banks have not experienced any sudden swing to cheque payment 63 03 08b

Stapleford and Shelford would probably be virtually unknown outside the immediate district but for one man – L.L. Baynes. Ten years ago he felt that the D.I.Y. movement had great possibilities so built a single-storey shop, Shelford Building Supplies. Handymen appreciated his advice and range of products and as the business expanded extensions became necessary, leading to a new store in 1962. Undergraduates come to get materials for making bookshelves and members of the armed forces from the many camps in the area are also good customers. Now he issues a 36-page illustrated catalogue of his stock. 63 03 08c

1963 03 09
Cuts in the education budget means that the primary school buildings programme has been badly hit; the Ministry has agreed to only one new school at Coton, replacing a two-classroom village school. Proposals for schools at Comberton and Fen Drayton have been rejected. 63 03 09

Cambridgeshire Rowing Association history – Briscoe Snelson – 63 03 09a

1963 03 12
A six-acre site between Downfields and the centre of Soham is being considered for allocation to light industry. It would give employment to 300 people – 63 03 12a

1963 03 13
Developers claimed that for all practical purposes Kennett and Kentford were one. Although planning permission had been granted for 1,000 houses in the area many landowners had applied so they could get a value on their land and had no intention of selling. But one farmer said he had bought land to build on and had no intention of farming. West Suffolk had given permission for 44 houses and bungalows in Kentford but Cambridgeshire planners opposed saying the site was open land half-way between the two villages and would spoil the countryside 63 03 13

1963 03 14
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Garlic Row - 63 03 14 [DYS cut]

1963 03 15
The battle of the fens is on with councils in direct competition with each other in efforts to attract more light industry and halt the migration of their populations. Chatteris has a good labour force but every day 200 women leave to work in factories around Cambridge. March has a large railway marshalling yard employing 1,500 people and wants industry in case it is reduced in size. Ramsey are trying to get firms from Middlesex, bringing 500 employees into the town. It has little to attract them but hope that 'bingo and the cinemas' will be enough amusement until it can grow. 63 03 15

1963 03 16
An 89-year-old lady was sitting quietly by her fireside in a 19th-century cottage at Godmanchester when a lorry loaded with eight tons of carrots ran off the road and wrecked the empty house next door. Although half a ton of bricks and masonry crashed into the side of the cab, the driver was uninjured. The carrots, from Ramsey, were on their way to Wigan. Surveyors examined the badly-damaged cottage while the lady went on sitting by her cosy fireside next door. She enjoys watching the traffic go past and does not want to move. 63 03 16

1963 03 18
The flow of traffic through Eaton Socon has been greatly hindered during the past 10 days due to road workings in the centre of the village. The works, which stretch for 100 yards, have resulted in queues of cars and lorries stretching two miles to Wyboston. Shops have been badly affected with business down 50 per cent. The hold-ups will continue into April. 63 03 18

The circus came to Cambridge, not in glittering costumes but in best suits to Great St Andrew's church. The occasion was the wedding of Jeoffrey Nicholson, a clown with Bertram Mills Circus to Patricia O'Dell from Quy. The couple first saw one another when the circus came to Cambridge three years ago, but it was not until recently that they met again. Amongst the personalities was Jacko, a fellow clown. After a reception at the Garden House Hotel the couple left for a honeymoon before returning to the circus. 63 03 18a

1963 03 19
St Ives considers redevelopment of prefab site 63 03 19

Ely Chamber of Commerce commissioned an architect to produce a scheme for brightening up Fore Hill. Mr W.T. Rayment, a butcher, and Mr S.J. Theobald felt that it would encourage more visitors. Mr L.G. Cornwell would treat his shop on the lines recommended but Vernon Cross had already carried out some redecoration and would not be doing more and other traders could not see it working. It had to be done as a whole because the colours all blended. 63 03 19a.

1963 03 20
Chris Montez, the young American singer, sang his hit tune "Let's Dance" before packed houses at the Regal Cinema and judging from the amount of screaming and cries from the female section of the audience, he was worth it. Tommy Rose gave a more sedate performance of "Little Sheila" but the most versatile group was the Viscounts. The Beatles, a four-man 'rock' group with weird hairstyles as a gimmick, sang and played their current hits, "Love Me Do" and "Please Please". The fast-moving show was not the best Cambridge audiences have seen but enthusiastic teenagers agreed the flying visit of the stars was well worth while. 63 03 20 # c.69

Poultry industry faces collapse unless fowl pest vaccination – 63 03 20

1963 03 21
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on King Street – 63 03 21 [DYS cut]

Demolition workers on Icewell Hill, Newmarket have discovered a dry well, believed to be a medieval method of refrigeration from which the area gets its name. It is mainly square, unlike a normal water well. When lighted torches were thrown down the hole they revealed a tunnel leading horizontally from the bottom, which is believed to be 30 feet deep. Other wells have been found in the area, two were filled in several years ago. Archaeologists hope that more may be unearthed when new buildings are constructed. 63 03 21

1963 03 22
The road works at Eaton Socon have hit businesses. R.B. Drake, garage proprietor, reports petrol sales are down 50 per cent, the Co-op says customers find it impossible to cross the road while W.P. Sherwood, baker and grocer says one driver who was stopped by the traffic lights rushed in for 20 cigarettes, left ten shillings and said he would pick up the change later. They are still waiting for him to return. Marjorie Songest of the 'Old Sun' says she might as well close. The pub stands in the middle of the construction area with just enough room for pedestrians. The ironic thing is that the traffic lights are plugged into a socket in the pub lounge. Everybody will be very pleased to see the work end at Easter 63 03 22

Underground road to service Lion Yard shops – 63 03 22a [See Memories 14 Mar 2013] # c.49.4

The Chivers-Hartley factory at Histon has developed 'New Jam' made by a vacuum process believed to be unique in the country. 63 03 22e

Nicholls & co new garage, Newmarket Road, National Fuels – advert 63 03 22f

1963 03 25
The top floor of a historic little Cambridge house was badly damaged by fire. The house, known as 'The Hobby', is at Montagu Road is rented by two American Mormons 63 03 25

The former Quay Brewery site in Ely now houses a plastics factory owned by Devanon who have recently moved from London, bringing work to seven local people. The firm produces plastic articles for advertising display purposes, including plastic bananas! The site is large enough to accommodate 16 small light industrial units and the company is hoping to encourage other small manufacturers to switch from London to Ely. Ultimately the firm hopes to expand and increase its personnel to 30 women and five men 63 03 25a

Longstanton farmer's daughter, Sarah Stroude, travelled by punt to reception – 63 03 25b

1963 03 26
Plans have been drawn up to create a new village. The development at Bar's Farm, Dry Drayton, the first anywhere in the country for at least a century, would be undertaken by a private firm and envisages freehold and leasehold properties built to a high architectural standard to house about 3,000 people. A Board of Trustees would ensure it was completely self-supporting with its own shops. But some say that Lolworth, with a population of 90, should be developed instead to house about 6,000 people. It used to have about 400 houses until they were burned down in a great fire many years ago and nobody bothered to rebuild them. 63 03 26

1963 03 27
The Beeching report on the future of British Railways suggests the closing down of 19 stations in the Cambridge area – including three serving the main towns of Haverhill, Saffron Walden and St Ives. There would be the complete withdrawal of passenger services from branch lines, Cambridge-March, Gt Shelford-Marks Tey, Audley End & Bartlow lines. Amongst the village stations closed to passenger traffic would be Histon, Wimblington and Chatteris, Bartlow, Pampisford and Linton together with Soham and Fordham. Services from Black Bank would also cease 63 03 27 & a # c.26.2

Proposals by Holland, Hannen and Cubitts for a new village at Bar's Farm, Dry Drayton are a 'unique concept'. Development would be phased over 15 years using materials sympathetic with the landscape but avoiding monotony of detail. A large proportion would be housing of a contemporary nature with a big area set aside for light industry. There would be nursery, primary and secondary education, shops, two public houses and a church together with a petrol filling station and motel. 63 02 27b & 63 03 29

1963 03 28
Rampton to get new sewage pumping station – 63 03 28

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Station Road – 63 03 28 [DYS cut]

1963 03 29
Courtyard, Lt Shelford – new housing – 63 03 29a

Few visitors to King's College realise that there is a five-bedroomed house beyond the archway where Head porters have lived since 1828. It appears to be a comfortable modern house with lounge, spacious kitchen, coal cellar and two bedrooms. Heating is by coal fire but the high ceilings make it difficult to keep warm, there is no back door or garden, it has bars on the long windows and the chapel music can be heard from the bedrooms. Originally there was a gardener's house on the other side of the entrance archway but this has been converted into undergraduate rooms. 63 03 29b

The City of Cambridge Rowing Club was founded on April 20 1863. 'Town' rowing had flourished in the 1840s with half-a-dozen clubs capable of manning an eight apiece . But by the mid 50's it was mainly confined to gig-pairs and four-oared activity. At times no local crew owned even a rudder string and depended on College Boat Clubs for the loan of equipment. In 1953 the club organised the first open regatta to be held on the Cam for over 50 years and in 1961 the Leys School decided to add rowing to their athletic activities, a centenary dinner heard. 63 03 29c 63 03 29c # c.38 : rowing

April 1963 CN

1964 04 01
Parkside indoor pool was opened by Ald Ridgeon and dozens of young members of Cambridge swimming clubs who had been sitting round the edges of the pool jumped into the water, splashing and cheering. A colourful and exciting gala followed featuring Linda Ludgrove, the double gold medallist at the Empire Games, and several Olympic swimming stars. The new building, which took three years to erect at a cost of £250,000, contains two heated pools; the main one has diving boards while the beginners' pool has a constant dept of two feet six inches. 63 04 01 # c.38 : swimming

Cambridge Water Company has become responsible for public water to the areas previously supplied by the Borough of St Ives, Ramsey UDC and the Rural Districts of Chesterton, South Cambs and St Ives. 63 04 01a & b

1963 04 02
First section of temporary bridge at St Neots now in place – 63 04 02

The withdrawal of passenger train services from St Ives would be a great blow to trade; people in villages would not use buses with that tedious journey, the town's Chamber of Commerce heard. The line from March to Cambridge would remain open for freight and a rail conductor service for passengers might be provided. But it would deter industrialists who were considering setting up business. More light industries should be encouraged; they would supply the population to fill houses and the factories would contribute towards the rates and help meet the high cost of the new sewerage system. 63 04 02a

1963 04 03
The new car park at the rear of Queen Anne Terrace has now been completed and is open for public use, free of charge. It adjoins the car park at the new swimming pool which can accommodate 67 cars and has been constructed as part of the council's policy for traffic control in anticipation of the Minister's approval of the parking meter scheme. The multi-storey car park in Park Street should be in use by the middle of the year and a decision is awaited on an application for another in King Street 63 04 03 # c.26.48

1963 04 04
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Histon Road – 63 04 04 [DYS cut]

The shock of Dr Beeching's plans to close Chatteris railway station and the St Ives loop-line connecting them with Cambridge and March is over. But Chatteris councillors' battle to maintain the line is hotting-up. It would hit many residents who travel to work in Cambridge each day or visit Addenbrooke's Hospital. If the station closes there would be more traffic on the roads which are already congested and make the town isolated, they claim. 63 04 04

1963 04 05
Chatteris Market Hill Garden and shelter receives award – 63 04 05

During the day the Brunswick School is filled with robust youngsters who are being prepared to take their place in a highly competitive world. One evening a month it opens to those who have neither the rude health nor the glorious prospects of the day scholars. Though many of them are young they are physically handicapped and will never qualify to take an active part in life. They come for companionship, to get away from the four walls, to meet others the same or worse than they are, but above all to enjoy themselves. 'The Gray Club' started in 1955 for Open Air School leavers and has now affiliated with the rapidly increasing St Raphael Club whose permanent centre will soon be open 63 04 05a

Saffron Walden council decided to surrender without a fight to Dr Beeching's proposal to axe the town's branch railway line. It was part of a much bigger plan. They were not a museum committee and should consider an alternative transport system. But some councillors felt the line could be run at a tenth of its present cost and its closure would mean more bus services increasing the use of the roads and leading to expensive highway improvements. Many people travelled to London or Cambridge for work and many of the trains which currently stop at Audley End would not stop if the branch line closed. If people did not fight for this, they would not fight for anything. 63 04 06

1963 04 06
Earith suspension bridge demolition – 63 04 06a

Civic Trust awards for West Wratting windmill, Fisons Pest Control, Bradwell's Court and Chatteris market hill garden – 63 04 06b

1963 04 09
Haslingfield is in danger of losing its village hall and recreation ground if financial support is not found soon. They were left in trust 38 years ago by a Mr Badcock who willed that the amenities should last forever. But the money in the will ran out several years ago and now support for the Trust Committee has dwindled. It costs £150 a year to maintain and is used for dances, the Over-60's club and as changing rooms. The children's playground would also suffer. 63 04 09

1963 04 10
Flying Scotsman arrives at Cambridge station en route to London where it will pull an enthusiasts' train 63 04 10 # c.26.2

1963 04 11
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Jesus Lane – 63 04 11[DYS cut]

1963 04 13
Tourist traffic, bigger than it has been for many Easters in Cambridge, jammed the city centre. Police say that 'Once the car parks are full, we're snookered. There is nowhere for them to go. There are various new car parks behind the new Swimming Pool and behind Queens' Road, but will the tourists find them". An added attraction is the show of crocuses and daffodils along the Backs. Bus companies report a larger than average influx of visitors from the Midlands, London & Norwich as after the long winter, people are making the most of a fine spell of weather. 63 04 13

Parcels which arrived at Cambridge railway station in a tremendous rush just before Easter have caused a bigger backlog on deliveries than they did at Christmas. The parcels, mainly for local shops changing and increasing their stock for the beginning of the University term, are lining the platforms in barrow loads. "We just can't cope with them. We hope people expecting parcels will come to the station and collect them themselves if they're in a hurry. It will be the end of next week before we clear them", a railway spokesman said. 63 04 13 # c.26.2

1963 04 15
Cambridge's latest jazz club in the dimly-lit cellar of the Dolphin public house in Coronation Street is fast building a reputation for modern jazz. Every Wednesday the resident group, the Percy Seeby quartet, backed during the interval by records, plays to a membership now limited to 100. Half an hour after the band starts the cellar was full and it was even difficult to climb down the dozen or so steps. Another popular item in the programme is poetry reading lead by Nigel Gordon. 63 04 15

1963 04 17
Planners say industry should be established on land opposite the Cherry Tree Inn at Soham. It would employ 300 people, many from the Downfield housing estate. There was a need for a by-pass but this would not come in the next 20 years so something would have to be done about congestion in the main shopping centre. A car parking site had been allocated at the old Grammar School where shops were to be erected on the frontage. The Shade junior school was sub-standard; it will be replaced by a new one off Berrycroft Lane and the Clay Street Infants' school would be rebuilt and enlarged. But they denied claims they did not want further development on the commons as it would be constructing decent roads. 63 04 17

Saffron Walden council were wrong to accept the proposed closure of the rail link to Audley End without protest and were letting residents down, Haverhill councillors felt. They claimed the withdrawal of passenger services from the Shelford-Haverhill-Marks Tey line and the Bartlow-Audley End link would disrupt the social and economic organisation of the area and damage their expansion scheme. Haverhill station should be kept open for freight traffic and personnel and luggage from Stradishall RAF station. It should also become a centre for the distribution of coal. 63 04 17a

Greyhound fans will be able to enjoy racing at a local stadium if plans for establishing a track at Brickfields, Withersfield are carried through. A local businesswoman has acquired the site and plans to stage meetings in May by which time the site will have been levelled and turfed and the traps installed. Haverhill is a growing town and this is the sort of entertainment many of the newcomers have been used to, she says. Her eventual plan is for a 'flapper' track similar to that at Bury St Edmunds 63 04 17b.

Often youngsters who fail the eleven-plus choose an apprenticeship in the engineering industry. They start in a company at age 15 and serve a 12 month's probationary period after which the normal apprenticeship runs until their 21st birthday. They will study at a Further Educational Centre one day a week and also attend classes one or two nights. W.G. Pye and Unicam have played an important role in maintaining and improving standards in their large and well-equipped apprenticeship schools and more recently Pye has opened an entirely new Training Centre to cater for apprentices throughout their group. 63 04 17c

1963 04 18
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on High Street Cherry Hinton – 63 04 18 [DYS cut]

1964 04 22
The City of Cambridge Rowing Club commemorated its centenary by unveiling a new weather vane at its boathouse. It is the oldest 'town' club and was 'Head of the River' for eleven successful years from 1951-1961. The weathervane, made by Messrs George Lister, was presented by the well-known Cambridge artist, Raymond Lister, who has a long association with the club. 63 04 22 # c.38 : rowing

1963 04 23
The Princess Royal, as Air Chief Commandant of the Princess Mary's RAF Nursing Service, opened the new Outpatients Department at the Ely RAF Hospital. She inspected the Nurse Officers' quarters, the Training School and the Airmen's Dining Room before lunching in the Officers' Mess and unveiling a plaque. Later she toured some of the wards and went to the Red Cross Library where the wives of five senior NCOs were presented. 63 04 23

Someone misread a map and gave the wrong name to what will be Britain's biggest man-made lake after 1,700 acres of Hunts countryside is flooded by water from the Great Ouse. Seven farms and 20 houses will be inundated by the lake's 13 thousand million gallons which are urgently needed to supply water to neighbouring counties. The Great Ouse Water Authority had decided to call it Diddington Reservoir but after protests from Grafham villages agreed it had been wrongly named. 63 04 23a

1963 04 24
The modernised Thriplow Junior School was opened and dedicated by the Bishop of Ely in its centenary year. It had been in danger of closure in 1947 when the number of children dropped to 20. There were signs of revival in the mid 1950s when nearly 50 pupils attended and after long discussions it was decided the village should continue to have a school. Mr G.O. Vinter, one of the Foundation Managers, thanked all who had assisted with the extension programme 64 04 24

Royston Priory Memorial Gardens to have fountain to commemorate American airmen of 91st Bomb Group who died on missions from Bassingbourn. 63 04 24a

1963 04 25
Dustbins may be abolished in Cambridge to be replaced by sacks. Mid-day collection might be organised for houses in some badly lit side streets so bins were not left on the pavements overnight 63 04 25

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Gwydir Street – 63 04 25 [DYS cut]

G. Hamit of Green End Stretham has bird box for blackbirds, son Terence collects eggs – 63 04 25a

The Beeching report says the Cambridge main line would be retained but the branch lines that feed it are going to be withdrawn, meaning the business will fall off and putting it in future jeopardy. Three miles away a bridge was being built over a railway line where passenger services may be withdrawn and nobody knows how long it was going to be used for freight. Yet at the same time funding for the road bridge over the Cam at Walnut Tree Avenue was deferred time after time, councillors complained. 83 04 25b

The honour of being given the freedom of the city is the ultimate recognition of service to the community. But there are no privileges attached. Amongst those elected have been Kitchener of Khartoum, members of the Cambridgeshire Regiment in 1901 and 1946, the US Eighth Army Air Force and Alderman William Raynes in 1951. Originally people could pay to become freemen meaning they could practice their trade, graze animals on the common and hold a booth at Stourbridge Fair. Since 1931 it has been technically possible to apply to become a freeman but nobody has done so.63 04 25c

1963 04 26
A revolution in mushroom growing which will increase production by 50 per cent came into operation at the 'model' Bell Farm at Nuthampstead. The new developments, using straw and chemicals instead of horse manure, cost no more to produce. Its formula involves some 20 different chemicals took ten four years to perfect and is a closely-guarded secret. The process begins in a covered yard where 35 tons a week of horse manure is turned by a muck-spreader to get rid of its ammonia content. It then spends a week in an enormous Turkish bath, then cooled before mushroom spoors are injected. Covent Garden want 'closed-cup' mushrooms but Cambridge people won't touch anything by open cup and flat varieties 63 04 26

A London firm of steeplejacks are dismantling a 177 feet high chimney stack at Adelaide, near Ely, for the Ely Beet Sugar Factory. The work should take about a month. The operation must be done brick by brick as an explosion would damage nearby machinery. The chimney was erected in 1925 and was last used two years ago. 63 04 26a

County Sports of St Neots is one of the country's leading manufacturers of cricket bats, exporting them around the world. It was started in 1925 by Mr A.E. Trimmings and his father and uses English willow, some grown on islands in the Ouse, to make the blades. The most skilled craftsmen manufacture the handles which are designed and patented by the firm. But there is a lack of people willing to take the five year apprenticeship and a lack of interest in hand crafts. 63 04 26b

1963 04 29
Mr R.A. Butler, the Deputy Prime Minister, has been appointed High Steward of the City of Cambridge, a distinction only conferred on outstanding men 63 04 29 63 04 30 # c.35.7

A million tons of fertile Fenland soil is to be given away. Standing 30 feet high and covering 100 acres it has been washed from sugar beet processed at the Ely Beet Factory over the past 30 years. They get about 30,000 tons of soil annually which is dumped nearby but has run out of space and it is cheaper to give it away than buy more land. It is used to make up gardens, bank up roads and fill in rubbish dumps. Anybody wanting soil has to arrange their own cartage 63 04 29a

1963 04 30
If Huntingdon and Godmanchester council support a plan to erect 185 terraced houses at a density of 13 per acre, it would be allowing dwellings similar to those built during the industrial revolution, a councillor claimed. But the properties off Veasey Road, near the L.C.C. overspill development site, were approved. "The brains of the Planning Office have considered this and it's not up for ordinary lay people to criticise", he was told. The majority of people these days only want small gardens 63 04 30a

May 1963 CN

1963 05 01
Chesterton RDC consider collection of rubbish in paper sacks rather than dustbins – 63 05 01

Bourn is a pretty village and residents do not want it to be spoiled by the innumerable amount of new street lights that are going up. – 63 05 01a

Pampisford dress designer Rudi Newton showed the collection he has created for the London fashion house of Sylvia Mills. He has a distinctive simplicity, getting extreme smartness into everything he makes while keeping them absolutely suitable for both town or country. The suits have the wider shoulders (though far removed from the 1940s styles) and are gently rounded and flattering. His range of over 80 coats, suits and dresses suit women of all ages. 63 05 01b

King Street car park approval delayed, plans for controlled parking outlined – 63 05 01

1963 05 02
Emily Benstead of Littleport has been collecting for charity for nearly half a century – by bicycle. Her benevolent work started in the First World War and she has worn out three bikes, cycling thousands of miles and raising £1,500. She has been out in all weathers from deep snow to a heat wave, pedalling up to 15 miles at a time round surrounding Fenland. The Red Cross, St Dunstan's and Cancer are just some of those who have benefited as has St Matthew's Church. "She is a grand old lady who has done a wonderful job", said one villager 63 05 02

The Aga Khan flew to Paris from Cambridge in a specially-chartered airliner after visiting Newmarket races to watch his horse race in the Two Thousand Guineas. But sadly he had no luck – Darannour was unplaced. Whilst waiting for his plane's clearance he was shown over a Bristol Freighter used to fly racehorses to Ireland and a new Beech Queen Air business aircraft. The Sales Manager of Marshall's said the Aga Khan was keenly interested in all types of executive aircraft. 63 05 02a

A farm worker with his wife and family trudged down a narrow village lane in pouring rain, carrying all their belongings into Longstowe village hall. It will be home to him and his wife, four children, three canaries, a pedigree cat and a black terrier dog until he can find somewhere else to take them. They have to fetch water from nearby cottages and use their toilet facilities. The man, who looks after a herd of pedigree cows, was evicted from his cottage home in the High Street. There are only five council houses in the village and he will lose his job if he has to move too far away. 63 05 02b

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Bateman Street – 63 05 02[DYS cut]

1963 05 03
Haverhill may become two communities – the newcomers and the old population, warned the Chairman of the Urban Council. Several hundred new people, grown-ups and children, were moving in every year from overcrowded cities like London. He had lived there all his life but was surprised to see how people moving in could feel at home. It was due to the friendliness of the locals and not just the lovely Suffolk air. Towns must either expand and progress or stagnate and Haverhill had changed more than most. 63 05 03

County Record Office display of documents – 63 05 03aa

1963 05 04
Hardwick is split by planning dispute over residential development – 63 05 04

Sidney Street hostel on site of Sainsbury's – 63 05 04a

1963 95 96
Histon bypass bridge progress – 63 05 06

1963 05 07
Baldry's install tank containing liquid carbon-dioxide, Gothic Street – 63 05 07

1963 05 08
Corpus Christi cellars could be used as fall-out shelter in times of emergency – 63 05 08 # c.45.8

Romsey Terrace site an 'eyesore', want store and garage – 63 05 08a

1963 05 09
Chatteris needs town development scheme to encourage industry – 63 05 09

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Chesterton High Street - 63 05 09d-g

Sawston Hall used as film setting – 63 05 09a

South Cambs RDC plan new offices at Brooklands Avenue or Sawston – 63 05 09b

1963 05 10
Cambridge Riverside Jazz Club has moved from the YMCA Hall to the Red Cow public house behind the Guildhall. The clubroom is being converted and several murals for wall decorations have been prepared by local art students. The club, which has over 500 members, will feature the Percy Seeby quartet playing modern jazz on Sundays, Pete Sayers and the Bluegrass Cut-Ups with their country and western music on Wednesday and the Riverside band with traditional jazz on Thursdays. 63 05 10 # c.69

Warboys. Avoid the expensive localities and live in this elevated and prosperous village, six miles from Huntingdon, 17 from Peterborough and 20 miles from Cambridge. 63 05 10a

1963 05 15
The Government rejected the City Council's scheme to build a multi-storey car park together with shops and a petrol filling station on land near the Malcolm Street junction at King Street. The site is obscurely located in a residential area and the roads leading to it are narrow, awkward and unsatisfactory. It would cause serious detriment to adjoining properties and initiate a substantial commercial encroachment to the detriment of the special qualities of the cultural and central area of the city. An alternative site should be found, the Minister says 63 05 15, 63 05 11 # c.49.62

1963 05 15

In 1869 William Weatherhead purchased the business of John Hatt, a bookseller and printseller in Union Street, now Peas Hill. Then in 1886 took over an established stationers' shop in Trinity Street. The two merged at his death in 1907, added a wholesale department and flourished until 1936 when they moved to its present premises in the Caius College development on Market Hill. Now it has been acquired by W.H. Smith 63 05 15a # c.25

Hinchingbrooke House was purchased by Huntingdonshire County Council in 1962. Now they have bought the nearby Home Farm and New Park to allow the extension of the Grammar School playing fields and safeguard the amenities of the area. Huntingdon is a rapidly expanding town but with the likely extension of George Street much of the council's office accommodation would be pulled down and it is essential to have land to cater for their growing County services 63 05 15b

1963 05 16
Two wage bags, containing £20,000, were snatched in a daring daylight raid at March. One of the assailants was sprayed in the face with purple dye during the attack on the blue Securicor Ford Anglia car occupied by three security guards as it made its way along Station Road. The raiders used one car as a ram, threatened a woman who tried to grab one of the bags, made off in a handily placed can, then stopped a pursing laundry van by throwing a brick through its windscreen. They next changed to another van that was found abandoned at in the Graysmoor area. 63 05 16

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Tenison Road - 63 05 16 [DYS cut]
Studio home at Courtyards, Lt Shelford – 63 05 16a
Hinchingbrooke Hospital may be build at Huntingdon – 63 05 16b

1963 05 17
Cyril Phythian from Dry Drayton has, after tremendous effort, produced the delightful Solway cricket ground. It is one of the most picturesque for miles, entirely enclosed by small trees and flanked by his bungalow. The pitch was used for a time by the village cricket club but now has been adopted by the St Giles Cricket Club of Cambridge. Its cedar pavilion will be a place where cricketers can bring their wives and children for an afternoon out. 63 05 17

1963 05 18
Temporary bridge being built over Ouse at St Neots – photo – 63 05 18

1963 05 21
Barrington cement works fire of 100 tarred railway sleepers being used for extensions railway line – 63 05 21

The firm of E.J. Pigott (Tools) was established in Sidney Street 100 years ago and moved to Sussex Street before the war. It has been handed down from father to son with always some member of the family behind the counter. Its handicraft shop in Hills Road was the first of its kind in East Anglia and they've recently opened an ironmongery department. It has ceased to sell hip and slipper baths but stocks 140 different types of pocket knife 63 05 21a & b # c.27

Reach Fair opening – 63 05 21c

1963 05 22
Plans by the Pye Group to tour the country with their new mobile 625-line television transmitter and studio have been blocked by the Post Office who says they do not have a licence. It was launched in Cambridge when the Mayor, Ald Hickson, became the first public figure to appear on the system. The whole of the television industry has been devoted to the development of the new equipment which was featured at the last Radio Show. Pye has called for the ban to be immediately reversed 63 05 22 # c.27.1 : Pye

Cambridge's new radio-telescope at Lord's Bridge will be the most advanced in its field. Three giant reflector dishes, two fixed and one moveable, will receive radio signals from the universe. The mobile aerial will travel on a half-mile length of rail at a speed of one mile an hour. Prof Martin Ryle said that ten years ago nobody could have dreamed about this type of radio telescope. It was unique in the world today. The millions of copper needles launched into space by the Americans would not affect its working at present, but might well do so in the future.63 05 22a # c.12 # c.36.9

1963 05 23
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Milton Road – 63 05 23 [DYS cut]

1963 05 24
Revised plans for the Sidgwick Avenue site include parking for 300 cars underground. But it will not include the West Hall which was to have contained 1,000 seats and provided for symphony concerts and full-scale theatrical productions. A site closer to the city centre would be needed if this was to be a success. The Faculty of History will include studies for academic staff and a library with space for 300 readers. But the need of faculties 20 years hence cannot be accurately forecast and some of those now planned may be accommodated elsewhere. 63 05 24 # c.36.9

Mcmanus for value in Cambridge. The Chesterton Estate, Histon Road, offers spacious three-bedroom terrace houses with attractive tile-hung elevations and in-built fuel stores with a garage nearby if required, for £2,895. Detached two-bedroom bungalows, £3,395; semi-detached £2,695. A decorated show house is available for inspection fitted with central heating in the form of Sager Tangential Flow fan heaters. Maximum Mortgages available – Advert. 63 05 24a # c.23

1963 05 25
Work continues to eradicate coypu colonies in Norfolk and North Suffolk with a systematic drive inwards from the perimeter. The outer four-mile wide strip has been cleared, trapping is nearing completion in the second strip and the next is being surveyed. Infestation in the rest of the region was lighter and more sporadic so Ministry of Agriculture officers, farmers and the public were given the task of clearing the area. The pests will continue to represent a threat to the farming community and the utmost vigilance is needed 63 05 25

A 1916 Sopwith Pup aircraft was forced to make an emergency landing in a field near Waterbeach. Police stopped traffic on the A10 while it was manhandled across the road on to the airfield 63 05 25a # c.26.1

1963 05 27
Until a few weeks ago there was a farm in the heart of Cambridge where cattle grazed in fields not a stone's throw from the University Library. Now Mr Dale of Grange Farm, Adams Road is moving and the livestock and implements have been sold. In 1939 the farm, owned by St John's, extended to some 200 acres but part of this was used for the building of a repair shop and later Churchill College. The farm house itself is large and rambling with 14 rooms and an absolute contrast to the nearby house on Herschel Road recently built by Lord Rothschild 63 05 27 # c.44.6

1963 05 29
A site has been identified for the proposed new Shelford Village College 63 05 29

1963 05 30
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Brooklands Avenue – 63 05 30 [DYS cut]

Duke of Edinburgh arrives by helicopter to talk to children in his Award Scheme – 63 05 30 # c.02

1963 05 31
At S.R. Barnes' factory on the outskirts of St Neots female employees turn out finely shaped briar pipes for man's enjoyment throughout the world. In the course of one year nimble fingers shape and polish over 180,000 pipes, many exported to the US and Canada. The firm was established in London in 1920 but with the War it was necessary to safeguard the stocks of briar and vulcanised rubber from enemy bombers so they moved here. Now they are planning to expand. 63 05 31

At Priors Court, formerly an army camp in West Fen Road Ely, 70 houses and flats are going up. Fairfax Court also being built – 63 05 31b

June 1963 CN

1963 06 01
Joseph Custance, farm worker at Kingston, retires 63 06 01

Castle Camps School was packed as over 100 villagers turned up to support the newly-formed Castle Camps and Shudy Camps Residents Association. It was formed so they could air grievances over the way South Cambs RDC used every trick to suppress publication of controversial details about proper and adequate drainage. Bartlow Road council houses have to empty their sewage into an open ditch which could lead to paratyphoid. The parish council chairman should resign. 63 06 01a

1963 06 04
Soham carnival opened by Norman Vaughan – 63 06 04a

1963 06 04
Ely Barracks Field should be site for new public hall and civic centre – 63 06 05.

1963 06 06
Ely Quay Brewery site in Broad Street to house eleven factory units – 63 06 06

Cambridge Central Library is 'bursting at the seams'; 'general inquiries' should be made about completely new accommodation. The Herbert Robinson garage could be used for a record library – 63 06 06a # c.77.4

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Brookside – 63 06 06 [DYS cut]

1963 06 07
Royston railway bridge is being reconstructed to provide a wider road and footpaths with vastly improved visibility and more head clearance for rail traffic 63 06 07

Grafham Water construction work progress – 63 06 07a

Royston cave – feature – 63 06 07b

Stapleford man builds ultra-light monoplane in garage – 63 06 07c # c.26.1

1963 06 08
Austin car slung under Bridge of Sighs – 63 06 08

Grantchester parish hall falling into disuse – 63 06 08a

Firemen had to lift passengers down from the top deck of a No.115 bus at the Bentley Road junction with Trumpington Road after a heavy lorry had demolished part of the bus' stairway. The rear of the bus was extensively damaged in the impact. The bus had pulled into a stop when the collision took place and it was pushed nearly 30 yards along the road. The bus conductor was taken to hospital with head injuries and shock after being trapped by his ankle in the collision. Two lady passengers were also hurt. 63 06 08b # c.26.46

1963 06 10
St Peter's church spire to be restored – 63 06 10 # c.83

Fire severely damaged the picturesque Tudor period 'Six Bells' public house in Fulbourn High Street, destroying much of the landlord's living accommodation and property. The blaze began in the eaves and spread to the rest of the recently-rethatched roof. The public house is over 350 years old and has been recently scheduled for preservation. Emergency precautions were taken at the Fulbourn Garage, across the road, which was destroyed by fire almost four years ago. 63 06 10a

1963 06 11
Castle Camps school swimming pool opens – 63 06 11

Miss Minnie Pate, University Typewriting and Secretarial Service – appreciation – 63 06 11a # c.27

1963 06 12
A Longstowe farmworker who has been living with his wife and four children in the village hall has been told it will be at least another month before the council can do anything. Chesterton RDC will not accept responsibility as he works in Bourn. – 63 06 12

A Georgian property at Swaffham Bulbeck containing one of the oldest and largest gold medal bakeries in the country has been sold after operating successfully for more than a century. It has been run by Charles Collison since 1950 supplying fresh bread throughout the locality. But now it is uneconomic in the face of competition from large-scale producers. Built by Smith and Son of Lambeth, the bakery oven has been maintained by them ever since through a number of owners and a recent change from coal to oil as its fuel. 63 06 12a

1963 06 13
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Huntingdon Road - 63 06 13 [DYS cut]

Police motor scooter fleet – photo – 63 03 13 # c.34.7

1963 06 14
Birdwood Road residents complained about the 'fall out' of white dust from the main chimney of the nearby cement works. It turns their red roses into white ones, and makes the garden lawn appear like winter once more. The plant was closed down for a thorough examination and a defect fixed in the electrostatic precipitator. There should be no more trouble 63 06 14

The firm of J.E. Hanger of Brooklands Avenue is concerned with the supply and repair of artificial limbs. For nearly 50 years they have dealt entirely with legs. Measurements are taken, appliances fitted and minor or emergency repairs are undertaken. The workshop has legs of all shapes, sizes and styles, with or without shoes and socks or stockings. Repainted wooden feet are hung up to dry and a grinder is used for smoothing rough metal surfaces. Shelves of screw-top jars contain nuts, bolts and screws 63 06 14a # c.21.1

1963 06 15
Zoology Department feature article – 63 06 15 # c.36.9

1963 06 18
Steps are being taken to solve the problems of the current increase in the West Indian working population of Cambridge. Though small, the increase in the number of coloured people is causing problems of housing, child care and general social welfare. Housing is one problem: often the only way they can make ends meet is to fill the house with many paying tenants. When both parents go out to work there are difficulties with getting child care facilities 63 06 18 # c.31

Opening the new Mayfield Primary School, Mrs C.D. Rackham said many things had changed since the first council school in Cambridge was opened in 1905 in Romsey Town. It has its own library – youngsters are voracious readers, a unit for partially deaf children which allays their fear by allowing them to mix with others and join in school life, and a swimming pool. This helped children gain confidence besides being fun. It is a change from the old idea of 'chalk and talk' 63 06 18a # c.36.5

1963 06 19
The ancient tradition of making corn dollies has been saved from extinction by a book written by Mrs Minnie Lambeth, the wife of the rural industries organiser. She is an expert, continually plaiting and producing them for people all over the world. The Cambridgeshire dolly is either a bell or umbrella. Only a handful of people are making straw dollies in the corn growing area of the country and are facing difficulties in getting hollow straw as combine harvesters work better with the short, solid-stemmed straw. 63 06 19 # c.39

1963 06 20
The first Model T Ford to arrive in Cambridge was owned by a Dr Graham who lived at Parkside and was driven by his chauffeur, Bert Jackson. For many years the car, CE 1464, was a familiar sight and remained in the area until only a few years ago. Now Model T Fords will be having their own Brighton Run to commemorate the centenary of Henry Ford. Amongst the entrants is George Webb of Shepreth with a Model T lorry which was recently restored to its original glory 63 06 20 # c.26.48

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on East Road – 63 06 20 [DYS cut]

1963 06 27
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Northampton Street – 63 06 27 [DYS cut]

1963 06 28
More computers and automatic machines should be installed in City Council departments instead of extra highly paid officers, said Ald. P.J. Warren. Some firm which deals with computers should examine the structure of the City Treasurer's Department to see how it would be susceptible to treatment by modern machines. But computers could cost as much as £200,000 (about £3.5M today) and the problems that arose were new ones only an officer could solve. 63 06 28

July 1963 CN

1963 07 01
Histon primary school being demolished for railway bridge – 63 07 01

Milton war memorial being moved – 63 07 01a

1963 07 02
Mr C.C. Thurston, Manager of Sindall Concrete Products has designed and built a decorative concrete fireplace for his home in Ditton Lane. Measuring 10ft 6in wide by six-feet high it embodies a number of new techniques. The bell-shaped hood has been made from ferro-concrete which is thin but strong. Canadian maple paper covers the back of the fireplace and even the lamp brackets have been made from concrete. The actual fire can be changed from traditional coal to electricity and has surrounds made of a special heat-resistant concrete 63 07 02

The old police station at Haverhill with cells, courtroom and bars will be auctioned. Situated fronting the relief road, the premises became obsolete 18 months ago when the new police headquarters and courthouse opened in Camps Road. They are suitable for offices, light industry or warehouses. The County had considered converting them into a youth centre but now one will be at Burton Cottage 63 07 02a

1963 07 04
At the new Forensic Laboratory at Newmarket Equine Research Station scientists will work to combat horse doping. The Soham House laboratory was formerly home to Dorothy Paget, racehorse owner, 63 07 04

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Coldham's Lane – 63 07 04 [DYS cut]

1963 07 05
The G.P.O.'s experiment to improve the parcel post service started with five new lorries operating from the parcels centre in Rosemary Lane. The present system is slow and costly. The new method will operate partly by rail and partly by road with parcels moved in bulk consignment. They hope it will reduce costs, speed the service and improve reliability. 63 07 05 # c.27.7

The Sawston of today owes much to Cramptons which started their printing firm in 1861 when the village was recovering from the stunning impact of the industrial revolution. 63 07 05a

Ely Cathedral Tabula has paintings of monks and Conqueror's knights 63 07 05b

The badger is a rare animal confined to the south-west of the county. The Naturalists Trust believes they should be protected. In 1959 they had setts at Morden Grange Plantation and Odsey but one on a nature reserve at Steeple Morden has been destroyed. There is a wide-spread belief badgers kill poultry, nesting pheasants and even lambs. But they eat worms, insects or wasps nest or dig for bluebell bulbs. 63 07 05c

People in Kings Hedges Road thought a bomb had dropped in the street when a thunderbolt hit no.39 and shattered the windows of houses hundreds of yards away. After crashing through the house it flashed along electricity cables the length of the street. All the pipes in the house split open as well as the asbestos walls and ceilings. Light switches were pushed out of the wall and all the light bulbs in the house next door dropped out. The gas meter caught fire, lumps of concrete and plaster shot out across the room. 63 07 05d # c.12

Margaret Reid, railway crossing keeper, Hinxton 63 07 05e

Electronic computers are being used by W. & C. French to speed the building of New Hall at Huntingdon Road. The severe weather delayed progress for three months but with their aid it is hoped they will still finish within the deadline. It is the first time computers have been used in this region to devise a logical schedule of jobs to be carried out & grading them according to importance. The college dining hall is taking shape with its elegant dome using ferro-concrete previously used in boat building. A huge crane is playing a major part to gain lost time 63 07 05f # c.23

Cambridgeshire Militia records on display, Archives – 63 07 05g

1963 07 06
Stables at the White Hart Hotel, Ely, that were built when it was a coaching inn, have been converted into a temporary public bar during its extensive modernisation. Licensee Alec Spencer calls it the 'Stable Bar' though customers have been quick to name it 'Ponderosa' after the well-known film series 'Bonanza'. The whitewashed walls of the building, latterly used as garages, have been faced with trellis work; the furniture comes from the hotel's original bar. 63 07 06

1963 07 08
New Chequers public house in Cherry Hinton High Street seen behind old building – 63 07 08

Blackamoor's Head in Victoria Road demolition – 63 07 08a # c.27.4

1963 07 09

R.A.F. Waterbeach ceases to be a flying base in August and becomes a constructional depot with flying personnel replaced by teams from West Raynham and Wellesbourne Mountford. About 70 civilian workers will become redundant. Waterbeach is a pre-war airfield and there was considerable controversy when agricultural land was taken over by the R.A.F. for operations 63 07 09

Castle Camps residents have written to the Minister of Housing over sanitary arrangements for the village. They say the untapped sewer and diversion of sink waste from council houses contravenes the byelaws and SCRDC have added to the problems 63 07 09a

1963 07 10
A court heard of a secret meeting along the Cambridge-Newmarket Road once a week when American cigarettes and bottles of spirits were exchanged. An Isleham labourer pleaded guilty to five charges involving two cameras, 6,460 cigarettes, 44 bottles of spirits and one bottle of wine on which duty had not been paid. While working at Mickey's tea bar at RAF Mildenhall he'd lent money to American servicemen was paid back partly in cigarettes. Later an airman asked him to sell liquor for him to a 'gypsy-looking man' in a pub near Cambridge Market 63 07 10

1963 07 11
Lloyds Bank, Cambridge, is using new high speed electronic equipment for transferring information on to bank statements 63 07 11 # c.32.8

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Newmarket Road – 63 07 11, 63 07 18 [DYS cut]

Engineering surveys of the Ely Ouse and Ten Mile River have shown that protective works are necessary along considerable lengths of the banks. To combat erosion protection will need to be continuous along those sections where erosion is severed; an overall length of 310 chains now required attention - more than originally estimated.Detailed studies had been made of various methods of production other than faggotting and a trial had been made of various methods of protection using specially manufactured corrugated asbestos cement sheets. As a result of the trial it was proposed to use these sheets for the permanent works rather than the faggots. The estimated cost of the work, which would be carried out by direct labour over a 3-4 year period was £26,350. 63 07 12 # c.29

1963 07 13
Cambridgeshire Fire Brigade's new Emergency Salvage Tender replaces one built on a converted 1939 pump chassis. It is specialised appliance carrying equipment for use in the rescue of persons and animals trapped in road and other accidents, together with waterproof sheets and salvage gear used to clean up after a fire. It also has electric generator and portable lighting and breathing apparatus. With four-wheel drive it can be driven over rough country when necessary 63 07 13 # c.34.75

1963 07 15
Pilgrimage to Lt Gidding marred by motorist 63 07 15

1963 07 16
The introduction of parking meters will cure Cambridge's traffic problems, say councillors. There will be sufficient off-street parking for motorists staying for any length of time. At present people move police 'No Waiting' signs and hope they will not be caught. When they drive away others pull into the gap without bothering to check whether they are in a restricted zone. Although police decorate them with pink tickets, the cars still obstruct a length of street until they are eventually moved. But many of the new parks are a considerable distance from the centre and motorists will just not park in Saxon Street or Queen Anne Terrace and walk in. Rooftop parking will have to be employed, perhaps at the former Herbert Robinson property. 63 07 16 # c.26.48

1963 07 17
Planning proposals for Littleport show that three acres at Highfield have been marked down for residential development with more in the 'pleasant area' between the council houses and Martin

School and along Woodfen Drove. Further development would be permitted behind the garage towards Camel Road. Not much industry was envisaged, though some could come in the Silt Road area. But there was no bypass as this would not materialise for a very long time. 63 07 17
1963 07 18
Elsworth cottages before & after restoration by Cottage Improvement Society – 63 07 18

1963 07 19
The owner of the Queen's Head public house at Newton pulled down a plaster board ceiling in the saloon bar and was showered with 17th-century coins. Then he discovered an inglenook fireplace. So he did more interior demolition work and uncovered centuries-old oak beams running the whole length of the ceiling. Two large bricked-up archways may be an entrance to a tunnel connecting with the village school. Now, after the attention of squads of workmen the bar looks as near its original 17th-century condition as it is possible to make it 63 07 19

1963 07 20
St Paul's school children conduct traffic survey – 63 07 20

Soon after the war it was decided to form a committee to raise funds to build a village hall at Chrishall. Since then £1,200 has been raised – but there is no sign of a start being made. Thirteen years ago a piece of land was given to the village by Mrs Langford of Cedar House. Interest has faded and nothing has been done in the last five years. A lot of 'foreigners' have moved in who do not have an interest in this sort of thing. Now a meeting will be called to discuss the matter 63 07 20a

The Gainsborough Company is selling its new brand of petrol at Cook's garage, Newmarket Road at 4s 5d a gallon 63 07 20b

1963 07 22
Engraved plate showing the Maypole Farm, Church Street, Gamlingay, since pulled down – 63 07 22

Morris Dancing, King's front – 63 07 22a

Proposed new village, Bar Hill, outlined to Dry Drayton councillors – 63 97 22b

1963 07 24
Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowdon came to Cambridge to watch television cameras and electronic equipment being made at the Pye factory, St Andrews Road. A small industrial closed circuit television camera was trained on them when Lord Snowdon asked to have a go. The Princess then focussed it on a group of press photographers. A great burst of cheering went up when Lord Snowdon went over to attractive Mrs Jean Keeble who was working on a television assembly line. "I was absolutely thrilled", she said. Later they took a voyage on the Cam on Viscountess Bury 63 07 24 & a # c.27.1 : Pye # c.02

1963 07 25
City council grants rating relief to college sports grounds & boat houses – 63 07 25

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Panton Street – 63 07 25 [DYS cut]

Eaton Socon lock up to be repaired – 63 07 25a

Willows development area, Cam Road will provide 81 houses, 24 maisonettes – 63 07 25b

1963 07 26
"Playing House" novel by Bernardine Bishop – Hutchinson – draws on Cambridge to provide a study of a young don – 63 07 26c # c.74

1963 07 27
Sixty Castle Camps villagers turned out to dig up two council house soakaways which they claim are illegal and contravene bye-laws. They run into an open ditch running through the grass in front of the houses and are dangerous to children. Three weeks ago another soakaway in the garden of a house on Bartlow Road was dug up and South Cambs RDC warned villagers they would be liable for prosecution. A Doctor says "They are shocking and should be dispensed with as soon as possible" 63 07 27

1963 07 29
Cambridge University Press's move from its present buildings in Trumpington Road to Shaftsbury Road has been planned in three stages 63 07 29

Lime Kiln Hill was closed to traffic and pedestrians while Sappers used high explosives to blow up the kiln shaft and the tunnel leading to it. They blasted six-foot deep holes which they gouged deeper so as to blow in the thick pit walls. Then sentries ensured everyone was clear before a tremendous bang carried rocks and earth high in the sky. The shaft walls were cracked or ripped apart and surrounding trees and shrubs were almost non-existent. Electricity wires some way away from the explosion were broken. But a practice climbing wall used by the CU Mountaineering Club was left standing. 63 07 29a # c.32.3

1963 07 31
The Oak public house at Swaffham Bulbeck has been in the Blaydon family for nearly 100 years and 77-year-old Mary Blaydon has served behind the bar for 20 of them. But she has always refused to have a drink with the customers as she prefers a nice cup of tea. Now she is retiring. Mary remembers when beer was fivepence-halfpenny a pint and the pub was packed and the singing - you never hear anything like it now, people are not so lively. It's all these cars and bingo that takes people away from the pubs, she says. 63 07 31

St George's Church of England Secondary School opened in 1835 with separate departments for senior boys and girls. For 100 years it was called East Road School until the infants section closed in 1931. Pupils will attend other secondary schools until new premises are built on a site in St George's parish. The old school will be rebuilt to house the St Matthew's Infants School 63 07 31a # c.36.5

Railway workers ran along the main lines just outside Cambridge Railway Station to warn the driver of an oncoming passenger train when a 100-ton diesel locomotive was derailed and fell across the tracks near the end of the platforms. Two platforms were put out of action because of blocked lines and the points mechanism was damaged. Repair gangs using a heavy mobile steam crane worked through the night to get the engine back on the track but the incident caused heavy delays to passenger traffic. Two other derailments occurred within 48 hours 63 07 31b, 63 08 01 # c.26.2

August 1963 CN

1963 08 01
Castle Camps sewage protest rejected – 63 08 01a

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on West Road – 63 08 01[DYS cut]

1963 08 02
The Government decision to reject Cambridge City Council's claim for County Borough status was described as a 'profound disappointment'. Although its case has been recognised Cambridge is to again be sacrificed on the altar of rural interests, councillors feel. The Local Government Commission says the administrative counties of Cambridgeshire and the Isle of Ely should be amalgamated to form one local government unit and that Huntingdonshire should join with the Soke of Peterborough 63 08 02 & a # c.35.7 # c.35.1

1963 08 03
Parts of a tall building overlooking Cambridge Market Square are having to be evacuated because it is a danger to both occupants and the public. Some movement has taken place at 15 Market Street which is partially occupied by Watches of Switzerland. Premier Travel and the United Dominions Trust have already moved to temporary offices. Workmen will start shoring up the building from the inside to stabilise it and remove the danger 63 08 03 # c.44.6

1963 08 07
St Paul's School children survey traffic at junction Bateman Street and Hills Road – 63 08 07

Minutes after the opening Cherry Hinton's new branch library by the Mayor of Cambridge, there were complaints that working men cannot get there before it closes at 7pm and it should stay open an extra hour. There has been a library of sorts for many years. Originally books were kept in a locked bookcase at the entrance to the Church of England School in High Street. It moved to Colville School in the mid-50's. Now work has started on Newmarket Road library after which another will be constructed on Arbury Road 63 08 07b Profile of librarian, Margaret Traviss – 63 08 07c # c.77.4

1963 08 08
Cambridge firms may be able to hire the use of 'Titan', the University's new computer which is being installed at the Mathematical Laboratory in Corn Exchange Street. Their present computer has done work for 36 departments, even Archaeology have put it to use. The University was one of the pioneers and was using a computer as far back as 1949. There is one in the Engineering Department and two small ones were used by the Examinations Syndicate for processing marks. At present there are 500 computers being used in the country by the coal, car and gas industries, businessmen were told 63 08 08 # c.27.5

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Barton Road – 63 08 08 [DYS cut]

1963 08 09
Gerald Forbes Tweedie, the Cambridge travel enthusiast, became the first man to have 'spotted' every steam or electric engine on use on Britain's railways during the last 24 years. Now the 41-year-old printing machine minder hopes to record his 1,000th night spent in a Youth Hostels Association building. As he travels through the country lanes seeking fresh railway lines to explore and new YHA hostels in which to stay, he makes a note of every new inn and public house sign he sees. So far he has collected 3,000 names of pubs and breweries. 63 08 09

1963 08 10
Ely gardens judged by Charles Bester and H.C. Holliday – 63 08 10

Fen Drayton residents are concerned about plans to dig for gravel on 300 acres of land north of the village. Dust thrown up by lorries thundering through the streets would discolour washing hanging on lines, they fear. But the firm say gravel is badly needed by London firms and was in very short supply. They would construct a special railway line from the pits to the main railway track, would fill in the pits after they'd been worked out and even plant trees around them. 63 08 10b

1963 08 12
A centuries-old tradition was revived at Ashwell when the springs, the source of the Cam, were blessed. It used to be observed every year when villagers relied on the water for an income, selling the watercress growing in the shallow springs. The Vicar led a procession of choir and congregation from the church, singing the Litany. Villagers, particularly children, lined the streets to watch them go by while others peered out of windows. "We have done something out of the ordinary and it was worthwhile", Rev Catterick said. 63 08 12

1963 08 13

St Luke's school buildings which are being pulled down may be replaced by gardens – 63 08 13

1963 08 15
Fen Drayton gravel pit used by angling society is in danger of drying out – 63 08 15

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Abbey Walk - 63 08 15 [DYS cut]

1963 08 16
New houses at Bottisham estate have modern equipment, designed for young and old – 63 08 16

Ferry Path houses should be preserved – 63 08 16a # c.44.6

1963 08 20
Men desperate for somewhere to live will build their own homes – 63 08 20

1963 08 22
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Madingley Road – 63 08 22 [DYS cut]

1963 08 23
Royston's population could rise by 4,000 to about 10,400 by 1973 with additional 110 acres for residential purposes, more space for industry and a new school on the former Militia Camp under new planning proposals. – 63 08 23

1963 08 26
Under the Beeching plan passenger services on the Stour Valley railway line will cease though the line will remain open for freight. Now the removal of goods yard sidings has been described as 'the normal recovery of redundant assets'. Those at Haverhill are being taken away because the light industry which had moved there under the 'overspill' scheme did not call for the use of heavy transport. Should this change it would be possible to install new sidings. The scrap value of the steel in the rails more than offsets the labour costs of removing them. 63 08 26

1963 08 27
Work starts on new Barnwell Road Library - pic – 63 08 27 # c.77.4

Going 'on the beat' for P.c. William Lythell of Stretham has for nearly 20 years meant just stepping outside his own front and making a tour of the village in which he was born and brought up. He joined as a War Reserve one September morning in 1939 and transferred to Stretham five years later, a place where everyone was his friend. One of the few constables who still rides a pedal cycle on duty, he has thoroughly enjoyed his work. He married a local girl and one of his sons is also a policeman. 63 08 27a

1963 08 28
A fine 16th-century key has been in a field on the site of the long since disappeared Thunderley church, the last remains of which were dismantled at the beginning of the 19th century. The vicar of Wimbish says the key will be cleaned and hung in a case in his parish church of Wimbish-cum-Thunderley. The villages were merged 600 years ago and the church was allowed to fall into ruins. 63 08 28

1963 08 29
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Green Street – 63 08 29 [DYS cut]

1963 08 30
Librarian Kate Asbery organises reading competition – 63 08 30

1963 08 31

Spicers Theatre, Sawston's only cinema, closed because of declining patronage and increased running costs. It had been kept in good condition with two main projectors which are new models. It was patronised mainly by the younger element but rarely more than half of the 288 seats were full even on peak days. Teenagers will now be at a loose end: there is no general youth club; the only thing left are pubs 68 08 31

September 1963 CN

1963 09 04
St Neots and the nearby village of Eaton Socon share a strong community of interest but are in different local government authorities. St Neots has a number of small factories with plans for new comprehensive schools while a development scheme will enable it to absorb overspill population from Middlesex. Eaton Socon village is gradually losing its rural identity and has been regarded a little else than a suburb. Many welcome proposals by the Government's decision to transfer it from Bedfordshire to Huntingdonshire 63 09 04

A Canberra aircraft coming in to land at RAF Bassingbourn was forced to overshoot because of two motor lorries moving along the Old North Road across its path. 63 09 04a

With eleven airfields within a 25-mile radius of Cambridge no-one is immune from the noise. But few experience such consistent interference with their sleep as the villagers of Cottenham, Girton, Histon and Dry Drayton which lie on a circuit used by planes of the flying school at Oakington where the night flying programme goes on until three o'clock in the morning. Residents have complained to MP Francis Pym but the Air Minister says the noisy Varsity aircraft cannot be moved to another station. 63 09 04

A new stretch of the A10 Cambridge-Ely Road which has just opened will cut out a narrow road bend in Milton village. The new length of road starts near the Milton War Memorial junction and continues through to the Northern side of the village. It forms part of Cambridgeshire County Council's road improvement scheme which is well under way 63 09 04b

East Road, once a narrow, cluttered thoroughfare, is gradually being improved; photo of new works adjacent to the widened East Road carriageway 63 09 04c

1963 09 05
The Pye 625 mobile television test station which was closed by the Post Office in May, is to start broadcasting again. Agreement has been reached with the G.P.O. over a broadcasting licence for the station which will start a tour of the Midlands. The station, which was first publicly shown at Cambridge, will transmit pictures and captions together with commentaries to inform the public about 625-line television. 63 09 05

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Hills Road pt.1 – 63 09 05, 63 09 12 [DYS cut]

1963 09 06
Workmen have begun to prepare the gardens which will replace some old classrooms that were demolished because of their unsafe condition at St Luke's Primary School, Victoria Road. Low brick walls surrounding the gardens are being erected. The school authorities are to encourage the children to look after the gardens themselves 63 09 06

1963 09 07
Longstowe Hall gardens to open – photos – 63 09 07

Wilburton, which won the first 'Best Kept Village' two years ago, has retained its title. Judges say the long street contains a substantial public hall and fine buildings, some thatching was noticed. Glimpses of bright and well-kept gardens can be seen on either side when walking the pavement. The sports field is beautiful but surrounding farm property is not what it might be. Parish Council chairman, John Sneesby says "Residents are proud of their beautiful village and work very hard to take care of their houses, gardens, hedges and allotments" 63 09 07a

1963 09 10
Victoria Road Congregational Church Hall – unusual view visible by demolition – 63 09 09
Longstowe Hall interiors – photos – 63 09 10

Melbourn Village College pupils have returned from a five-week tour of Austrian refugee camps where they gave performances of songs and sketches. 63 09 10

1963 09 11
Market Hill modernisation of offices of Leicester Permanent Building Society – 63 09 11

Demolition work on site of CDN works and New Theatre – 63 09 11a

Chippenham Fen has been declared a National Nature Reserve. It is one of the few remaining great tracts of native fenland covered with peat varying from a few inches to several feet in depth and the presence of springs ensures a plentiful supply of water. It contains rare plants such as butterwort and bog pimpernel together with some very rare insects. Access to the 193 acre site is be permit only from the Nature Conservancy Council 63 09 11b

Cambridge girls seem to have a reluctance to wear eye make-up says a beauty consultant working at a local store. Women do not look after their skins properly, cleansing the face carefully each night to take away all trace of the day's make up. The cosmetics she was promoting are the most expensive in the world but are extremely economical in use. Some of the colours are intriguing. Gossamer green neutralises ruddy or florid complexions, a soft mauve lightens sallow skins white a whit blots out shadowed, darkened and lined areas and will highlight cheekbones, shorten or lengthen a nose and make small eyes seem larger. 63 09 11c

Cambridgeshire Record Office dates from 1930 when records were first sent to the County Council for safe keeping; it was then responsible for the Isle of Ely, Huntingdonshire and Rutland. In 1948 a part-time honorary archivist was appointed and the staff has gradually increased to an archivist, assistant and repairer. Although they have a few postal inquiries, most students come in person and do much of the searching themselves. The most frequent enquires are legal, usually concerning rights of way or ditches, then come genealogists, especially Mormons, and people interested in the history of their house. They have considerable arrears in cataloguing documents and have not yet been able to prepare guides or arrange exhibitions, Mr Farrar, the County Archivist, told Rotarians 63 09 11d

1963 09 12
Taxis annual inspection – photos – 63 09 12

Ely St Audrey's primary school first day – photos – 63 09 12b, c

Eric Cave, the Cambridge City Librarians reported that book issues in August had been a record high, at 108,551. More people were making personal inquiries at the Reference Library, taking up a lot of time, and other work is falling into arrears; soon more staff will be needed. There should be a new central library with information bureau nearby but care needed to be taken that readers were not disturbed by people rushing about trying to find information. When a new building was acquired it would be possible to carry out some if the ideas they were at present unable to fulfil 63 09 12d

1963 09 13
Whilst excavating some tree roots at his home, Cave Lodge, Anstey, Robert Parry found a round hole which appeared to lead towards the village. At first just small enough for a man to crawl through it soon enlarged into a well-cut tunnel big enough to stand up in. It ran about 20 yards to a point under the Barkway-Hare Street road, where it ends. Legend has it that such a tunnel or escape route once ran from Anstey Castle to this spot. 63 09 13 & a

Work on St Nicholas Ferrar, Good Shepherd church, Arbury estate 63 09 13b

St Ives Cromwell's Barn repairs – 63 09 13c

New barriers have been erected on the Green Dragon Bridge, Chesterton in a bid to stop cattle and motor cyclists using it to cross the river. But it is now difficult to get coach-built prams through – they certainly won't get under with the hoods up. If the posts were further apart, cattle would get through, the council says. Motor cycles and scooters are official prohibited from the bridge but there is no objection to pedal and motor-assisted cycles provided they are pushed across. 63 09 13d

1963 09 17
Lloyds new bank on Newmarket Road is the only one in Cambridge with its own private car and cycle park. Facing Sun Street, it will take three cars and five bikes. The bank replaces the temporary wooden structure which has housed the business for more than a year and will offer a full range of services. It is under the supervision of Mr E.J. Furley, manager of Lloyds main local branch at Sidney Street 63 09 17

1963 09 18
St Ives plan for 140 houses at St Audrey's Lane approved – 63 09 18a

Business at the Cambridge Civic Restaurant and Snack Bar has 'really been phenomenal' under the efforts of manageress, Mrs J. Gillettes and her staff, councillors heard. July takings in the restaurant reached £3,620 and those in the snack bar were also the highest on record. But overall profits are down because of the cost of repairs and improvements. The Parks Superintendent will be asked to supply shrubs to brighten 'the rather desolate spot' near the rear exit 63 09 18b

1963 09 19
The fenlands could be drastically changed by massive landscaping operations in an effort to get rid of unwanted dust – a by-product of the generation of electricity. The Central Electricity Generating Board says pulverised fuel ash produced when coal is burned in power stations can support vegetation and agriculture. It is reclaiming nearly 2,000 acres of waste land and pit holes near Peterborough. Now bleak fenland can be landscaped with hills and interesting terrain on a very large scale. Waste from sugar beet factories can also be used as a top soil for the dust and be ready for farming within six years, they claim. 63 09 19

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Ditton Walk – 63 09 19

1963 09 20
New York is just eight hours away from Cambridge for many American families. Direct flights by the military version of the Boeing 707 jet liners or C118 transport aircraft are operated daily between Mildenhall airfield and McGuire Airfield on the outskirts of New York. About 80,000 travellers, most being wives and families of serving airmen, enter or leave the country through here; a large hotel has been built for passengers catching an early flight with nearly 5,000 accommodated there each month. 63 09 20

The 5,000 m.p.h. rocket missiles which once stood on remote sites such as Mepal airfield are being returned to the United States. Some have already gone back stripped of their war-heads and fuel propellants, chained inside the cavernous interiors of the giant C-133 transport aircraft. The rockets are to be used for space research and training programmes. They caused a political uproar when they arrived in this country ready for erection on their launching sites. 63 09 20c

Wilburton Manor School natural history – 63 09 20d

The USAF 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing Hospital renders medical services to some 7,000 military personnel & their dependents. The nine physicians, seven dentists, ten nurses and a veterinarian are split between the main wards and delivery room at Molesworth and Alconbury where the dental clinic is based. Each has an ambulance section, X-ray faculties, laboratories and treatment rooms. Highly-trained staff can set up a 36-bed transportable infirmary capable of treating patients in the event of an emergency in just two hours. 63 09 20e

1963 09 21
Sawston County Junior School opening – 63 09 21

1963 09 26
Castle Camps villagers have won their fight for improved drainage systems for eight council houses in Bartlow Road. They have campaigned for several months and even dug up a number of council-installed soakaways which they claimed were 'illegal'. Now an investigation into the alleged insanitary conditions has recommended a combined drain at the rear of the houses into which sink wastes can be discharged. The existing drains will then be disconnected and stopped up 63 09 26

Canon Hugh Montefiore has been inducted as Vicar of Great St Mary's church. – 63 09 26 # c.83
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Chesterton Road – 63 09 26 [DYS cut]

1963 09 27
Pye Printed Motors Ltd formed to manufacture electric servo motors - 63 09 27 # c.27.1 : Pye

October 1963 CN

1963 10 01
Under the 1961 Rating and Valuation Act the University now has to pay rates on the full annual value of all its properties and as new buildings are erected, their liability will increase. Even though Colleges receive 50% rate relief on old buildings they will still pay more on new. Without that relief rates would be prohibitive. The long legal wrangle had been a great inconvenience to the local authority but the changes are very complex. Now however they will pay full rates which will be a heavy burden on their income 63 10 01 # c.36.9

1963 10 02
Part of the East Road dual carriageway is now open. 63 10 02

"There is only one thing to do with Cromwell's Barn and that is put a bulldozer through it", St Ives councillors were told. Huntingdonshire county council say measures should be taken to preserve the building in Houghton Road and asked the Borough for a contribution. But they consider the barn was not of great historic interest and the owners did not want anything to do with it. There were no records to prove Oliver Cromwell used it and the barn at Toseland was in much better condition 63 10 02a

1963 10 03
More and more Cambridge people are rejecting the idea of a three-bedroomed house and there is a growing demand for small, one or two bedroomed units. Brookfields, on East Road, should consist entirely of these types of property and be supplemented by development at the junction of Carlton Way. The improvement and conversion of the older type of pre-war council houses should be advanced at all speed, councillors were told. They will draw up proposals for the redevelopment of aluminium bungalows at Church End, Cherry Hinton 63 10 03

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Gonville Place = 63 10 03 [DYS cut]

1963 10 04

St Luke's Mews, off Chesterton Lane, are the first moderately priced new town houses in central Cambridge. Although only ten minutes walk from the centre, the houses stand in a quiet setting with mature trees. The completely modern design incorporates gas hot air central heating and independent electric thermostatically controlled domestic hot water supply. They have built-in cupboard under the stairs, built-in dustbin cupboard, two bedrooms and internal bathroom. There are gardens to rear and a forecourt for car parking. Prices from £3,110. (£55,000 at today's prices) 63 10 04

Fitzwilliam House's first stage on Huntingdon Road is completed. 63 10 04a # c.44.5

Walk through Dr John Bryan's Elizabethan home at Elsworth and you will see a Regency pipe organ, an old dulcimer, a Georgian French reed organ originally built with hand bellows and an 18th-century English guitar. Less refined are street pianos on sticks, (usually seen with a waist-coated monkey), hurdy-gurdies and mobile barrel organs. Alongside are some modern instruments he has made himself, including a handsome upright spinet, decorated with marquetry, which took months of work. 63 10 04b

Early in the morning a car crashed through the wall of the Greyhound public house at Ickleton, ran into the saloon bar and then – with its engine still running – bounced back on to the pavement outside. The licensee and his wife were asleep in a bedroom furthest away from the road when there was a terrific noise. The car, a Hillman Super Minx pushed the saloon bar window before it after taking a sharp bend in the road. But only one of the window's ten panes of glass was broken. "The room was only decorated at the beginning of the year – and to think that yesterday I was worried by a dry patch on the wall", his wife said. 63 10 04d

Sunny Smile Ltd of Eaton Socon produces over two million rattles each year together with teething rings, brush and comb sets, woollen toys and items to keep babies contented in pram, cot or high chair. In the factory 75 workers, mainly women, assemble the toys in a 'motherly' atmosphere. There are pin-ups on the wall, not of pop stars but of beautiful babies. New machines can turn out babies' combs in a matter of seconds but many of the toys are painted by hand 63 10 04e

1963 10 05
A series of television lectures will be given by members of Cambridge University in a programme called 'Dawn University'. They will be transmitted at 7 a.m. over the whole of the ITV network to demonstrate the usefulness of television as a teaching medium. It is the first time such programmes have appeared so early and it is impossible to say how many people will get up early to watch them. There will also be two-way lectures between Cambridge and the new University of East Anglia at Norwich and a closed-circuit link with scientists at Imperial College, London. 63 10 05 # c.36.9 # c.27.8

1963 10 09
Land prices at Great Shelford have soared to 'fantastic' levels due to the rigid attitude of the County Planning Department, an Inquiry was told. Mr Douglas L. January, who wants to develop 11 acres surrounding his home, 'Trinity House', says it was a large house that was proving difficult and expensive to maintain. He was finding it difficult to get adequate domestic help if his present staff left him. But planners say it is outside the development area in the green belt and the sewage system is inadequate. It would change the character of the area entirely 63 10 09

1963 10 10
The City Council is to buy a house and premises at Clement Place to provide room for extensions to the multideck car park at Park Street. 63 10 10

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Mount Pleasant – 63 10 10 [DYS cut]

Histon nursery school opened – 63 10 10d

1963 10 11
Ely Beet Sugar Factory has started its 29th campaign. By the time it ends, four months from now, nearly half-a-million tons of sugar beet will have been processed into raw sugar which is sent in bulk transporters to refining factories. It draws its supplies from more than 2,400 farms with 300 men working shifts around the clock. Ninety per cent of the beet comes by road, the rest by rail. For a number of years some came by river but this was discontinued three years ago. 63 10 11, a b

Ely Sugar Beet campaign – feature – 63 10 11c

A 'Flying Flea' airplane was built by Mr W.V. Smedley of Wisbech in 1936 and tested in Cambridge. But when the test pilot was killed elsewhere, the machine was abandoned 63 10 11d # c.26.1

1963 10 12
Shelford Library in Woollards Lane has new look – pic - 63 10 12

Cambridge's night life is waking up! The opening of the Café Royale, Regent Street, is positive proof that Cambridge is not so dead after all. Now at last you can wine and dine amidst the splendour of majestic elegance. The only restaurant where you can enjoy English, French, Italian, Spanish, German and Oriental cuisine. Starlit dining room, bar, dancing, resident band. Cabaret presenting stars of radio, television and stage. – Advert 63 10 12a & b # c.27.47

Residents in Brick Lane, Mepal petitioned Ely Rural Council over the state of their houses: they lacked in the kitchen and wash-basins in the bathroom and were subject to dampness. 63 10 12c

1963 10 14
There were so many artists appearing in the Regal Stage Show that ten of the performers had no dressing room space and had to change in the nearby University Arms. Heading the cast was singer Billy Fury whose songs were accompanied by the usual shrieks and squeals of teenage girl fans. Joe Brown and 'The Bruvvers' nearly stole the show as he jumped round the stage playing his guitar behind his head. In more relaxed vein The Karl Denver Trio presented their hit 'Still'. But Marty Wild and the Wildcats received only lukewarm applause. 63 10 14 # c.69

1963 10 15
Magrath Avenue residents object to Rex Cinema showing motor racing films for Cambridge Car Club – 63 10 15

1963 10 16
Lloyds Bank Chesterton Road opened June 1930; adds extra storey – 63 10 16

1963 10 17
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Trumpington Road – 63 10 17 a-c

1963 10 18
Men at Work – fireman Ernest Tyrell – 63 10 18

Captain Ernest Albert Longley was one of Cambridge's most distinguished retired soldiers. He first saw active service in the Boer War, then took charge of motor cycle despatch riders at C.U.O.T.V. During the Great War he was first regular soldier to be a despatch rider & the first Cambridge man to receive the D.C.M. He drove a locomotive during the General Strike of 1926 and was called during the Second War to serve as instructor in the bridging school, adding the Military Service Medal to his other honours. He served as a Councillor in 1922 becoming Honorary Entertainments Officer until he retired aged 80 63 10 18a

1963 10 24
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Trumpington Street - 63 10 24 [Reeve Album

1963 10 26
A thousand teenagers queued outside the Regal Cinema in the early hours of the morning to obtain tickets for the visit of the Beatles, the Liverpool pop singers. Police patrolled the line which stretched over 200 yards along Downing Place. Armed with transistor radios, blankets, sleeping bags and even primus stoves, they settled down for the night. When the doors opened at 7 a.m. – three hours early – Maurice Cornell of Byron Square was at the head of the queue 63 10 26, a b # c.69

1963 10 28
Perse School make digital computer – 63 10 28 # c.27.5

Park Street car park opens – 63 10 28a

1963 10 29
Sir Keith Joseph, Minister of Housing and Local Government, has refused to change his mind about the administrative future of Cambridge and will not grant the city County Borough status. The Town Clerk, P.M. Vine, who was part of a deputation including MP Sir Hamilton Kerr, that travelled to Whitehall, said "We did not get very far". The Minister thought the decision would be a good thing for the whole area – 63 10 29 # c.35.7

1963 10 31
The new Cottenham sewerage scheme will serve more than 1,000 people in Cottenham and Rampton, with four pumping stations as well as a disposal works. During construction they had discovered a network of old village drains, most of which were unrecorded. They were not laid in straight lines and were provided with few manholes. It means that half the villages in Chesterton RDC's area are now connected to main sewers with other schemes planned for the New Year. 63 10 31

November 1963 CN

1963 11 01
Rabbits which a few weeks ago were worrying Cambridgeshire farmers by their rapid increase in numbers during the summer, are now dying off quickly following another attack of myxamatosis. Literally hundreds of decaying carcasses are scattered around the countryside and where, just a few weeks ago, large numbers of rabbits were to be seen and shot, none can be found. The disease is carried by the rabbit flea and as more die off, so their distribution becomes retarded, leaving odd rabbits here and there unaffected. The traditional English 'Bunny; will never for long worry the farmer by its destructive rabbits. But if the larger American cotton tail rabbit becomes established the pre-war problems might return 63 11 01

1963 11 04
Stapleford Parish Council has called a public meeting to discuss the removal of the recreation ground from the outskirts to the centre of the village. The cricket club is opposed, having done much work on the present pitch. Recently two hard tennis courts were constructed at a cost of £1,000. Now Chesterton RDC wants to develop land at Vine Farm for a school, recreation ground and a limited amount of housing. The say the present rec would make an idea housing site 63 11 04a

1963 11 05
History was made when Janet Hogg, a 321-year-old New Hall undergraduate, became the first woman member of the University Union Society since its formation in 1815. Two Girton women became the first to take part in a debate on the motion "Till death do us part is ridiculous". The motion was rejected. To return home to a wife and family after a day of fighting for his existence was one of the most pleasant and happy things that could happen to a man. 63 11 05, 13a

Histon railway bridge to be opened – 63 11 05a

1963 11 07
Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother said the new Cottenham Village College was opportune; in the years ahead there will be people going out to work at the age of 15 or 16 who in their more mature years would want to develop their interests. With increased leisure demand would increase and she was confident Cambridgeshire would play its part in new developments. She spoke to some children, then planted a copper beech tree 63 11 07a

After declaring the new Histon railway bridge open Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother cut a tape with a pair of gold-handled scissors then decided to walk to the crest of the which was lined by schoolchildren. She then moved on to Melbourn old peoples home where she met Amelia Dye, the oldest resident and was presented with quince jelly. But it was a frustrating day for news agency photographer Peter Dunn: the Queen Mother then admired his baby, cradled in his wife's arms – but there were no cameraman to get a picture – 63 11 07b 63 11 07a, 63 11 08

A new Army Cadet Force weekend training centre opened at Burwell in old school buildings. It would accommodate some 50 cadets and provide lecture rooms, adult dining room and ladies' sleeping accommodation in a new hut. The Cadet Force was now about 500 and tactical training would take place on Spring Close, adjacent. 63 11 07

1963 11 08
The landlady of the inn at Caxton Gibbet says the pub is haunted. A former innkeeper decided to rob three wealthy travellers during the night, but one woke so he killed them all and disposed of the bodies down the well from which the inn took its water supply. Footsteps are heard from the upstairs room to the trapdoor which still covers the well. At the Royal Oak in St Neots an unpleasant smell is believed to the decaying corpse of a man who hanged himself from a meat-hook in a pantry. The body was not found for three days. 63 11 08a & b

1963 11 09
Cambridge had a carnival atmosphere for the annual Poppy Day Rag. A procession of 35 gay noisy floats was the first 'organised' procession in rag history. They depicted the Great Train Robbery and the Channel Tunnel. Degrees were sold outside the Senate House, passers-by were menaced with toy guns and undergraduates scrubbed zebra crossing, delaying motorists who sere surrounded by students waving collecting tins. It was claimed that The Beatles pop group had been kidnapped and would be sold in Market Square. But News Agency reports say they were returning to Liverpool by car after a tour of Ireland. 63 11 09, a,b

1963 11 12
Cambridgeshire has a higher ratio of road vehicles per head of population than the national average – about one to every six. Peak hour travel is increasing as more people use their cars to journey to work. If this continues the demand for all-day parking space will increase at a greater rate than the demand for shorter parking. Increased parking and traffic loads have given rise to severe congestion and journey times have steadily increased. But one third of the traffic in the central area has no business there. The proposed Chesterton bridge scheme is thus of the highest priority, a report says. 63 11 12 & a # c.49.62

1963 11 13
Death watch beetle is eating its way into the 13th century Holy Trinity Church, Bottisham. The roof beams are rotting and half of the roof has had to be completely removed before restoration. Now the nave is criss-crossed with a framework of scaffolding while workmen replace them. The work will cost more than £3,000 to complete and the Vicar is appealing for donations. 63 11 13

Two Girton girls make Union history, the first women to take part in debate – 63 11 13a

King's College consider moving Reuben's' Adoration of the Magi to the East end of the chapel – 63 11 13b

1963 11 14
Cambridge University Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament will keep the public informed of the progress of their 'Fallex 63' exercise by posting large newspapers at three points in the city centre. They will include details of how a supposed 'nuclear war' is raging across Europe with maps of nuclear fall-out. The railway station will be picketed where it will be assumed that all main services have been immobilised. Most activities will take place in the city centre and around the housing estates where short public meetings will be held. 63 11 14 # c.45.8

Headquarters of the Suffolk and Cambridgeshire Territorial Army may move from Ipswich to Bury or Newmarket. The Drill Hall in East Road may close 63 11 14a

Ely councillors voted to erect a two-storey block of 14 flats for old people with warden's accommodation attached at Haddenham, backing proposals by Coun Miss J. Tebbutt. The flats would be centrally heated and have a community room. They would be let to elderly people who could look after themselves with the reassurance of a warden nearby. There would also be space for bungalows. But some thought it a 'costly experiment'. Now the County Council will decide. 63 11 14b

York Street crane lays concrete beams Education Centre building – 63 11 14c

1963 11 15
Coalman Alfred Pilsworth says he's been asked to dump coal in many strange places, including a bedroom and a bath. The work is hard: "I walk about 10 miles a day lugging nearly 10 tons of the stuff. In the old days I used to go round with a horse and cart with only a few hundredweight of coal loaded up. It's cold during the winter, but you get used to it just as your shoulders get used to the bags after a couple of weeks" 63 11 15

Cambridgeshire Motors, the well-known Ford Main Dealer, was founded in 1923 and quickly grew from strength to strength. It established a reputation for personal attention and in 1928 purchased a new site in Cherryhinton Road. In 1925 a branch was founded in Wisbech. Now it has been taken over by J.J. Wright, the Dereham motor and agricultural engineers which makes it one of the largest firms of its kind in East Anglia having grown from a one man concern started 75 years ago. 63 11 15a & b # c.26.48

1963 11 16
Stapleford debate future of recreation ground – 63 11 16

1963 11 21
The famous Singapore drums of the Cambridgeshire Regiment which were hidden from the Japanese when the Regiment was captured in 1942 and recovered when the war ended in the Far East in 1945, are to be sold to raise funds to re-equip the Corps of Drums of the Suffolk and Cambridgeshire Regiment T.A. One will be placed in the regimental museum and two reconditioned to be used by the Corps of Drums. The Old Comrades Association is purchasing two side drums to present to the Cadet battalions. 63 11 21 # c.45.8

1963 11 23
William Boyce's 'Cambridge Ode' written for the installation of a new University Chancellor is to be performed for the first tine since 1749. The words by the Pembroke poet, William Mason, capture the mannered elegance and decorous formality of 18th-century academic life. It praises Cambridge where with the occasional sedan chair plying between Pembroke and the Senate House each 'ingenious youth' comes to 'Learning's richest shrine' to discover the 'treasures of immortal truth 63 11 23

Guests at the Mayor's Ball stood in silence when the news of the death of President Kennedy was announced. Then they took to the floor for four hours of dancing ranging from the barn darn to the twist. Flags in Cambridge are flying at half-mast on all public buildings and colleges. American air bases at Lakenheath and Alconbury are in mourning and the Madingley cemetery has lowered its flag. Cambridge United observed a minute's silence at their match with Bedford and other local football clubs followed suit. 63 11 23a

1963 11 25
Several Cambridge colleges have increased the wages of their bedmakers. At Jesus, where unrest led to union meetings, they have risen from two-shillings and tenpence to three-and-six an hour (about £3.10 at today's prices). Members of the kitchen staff have been given one free Sunday in three, a substantial improvement on their previous situation. But the question of overtime rates remains in dispute. St Catharine's and Selwyn have also raised wages 63 11 25b # c.32.1

Technical equipment from Britain's obsolete rocket bases is on view at some of the ex-Thor missile sites. One of the largest was at Mepal airfield which was closed down as an operational station during the summer and is now manned by maintenance staff. The stores and plant will be sold by auction but items such as the count-down and launch control caravans have been 'demilitarised' to ensure they cannot be used by an enemy. Practically all that is missing are the giant Thor rockets themselves which have gone back to America for space research 63 11 25, pic 63 11 27a # c.45.8

1963 11 26
The Beatles, the current idols of Britain's teenagers, were smuggled into Cambridge by the City Police in a Black Maria. They were driven into the Downing Street site then rushed into the rear entrance of the Regal Cinema before 200 screaming girls broke through the police cordon and dashed along Downing Place. Once inside the doors were slammed shut. Police will not let them out until after the last performance. Every available Cambridge policeman is ready for duty. But the elaborate security measures taken to prevent demonstrations before they were due to appear at the Regal Cinema went wrong: police were due to meet the Beatles' car near Trumpington but they had almost reached Lensfield Road before it was spotted 63 11 26 # c.69

Bassingbourn's new County Primary School, looking like a miniature village college, was officially opened. It was built to replace the school in High Street built in 1877 which had been inadequate especially when families had come to live at the RAF station. At one time there had been 360 children on the roll. Cambridgeshire had provided 13 new primary schools in rural areas as well as enlarging 29 others, laying the foundation for education, Ald F.H. Jeeps said. 63 11 26a

1963 11 27
The Regal Cinema rocked with sound during the visit of the Beatles – but only a small part of it was musical. During the two performances there was a continuous crescendo of screams and shouts. Girls jumped up and down in their seats, many tearing at their hair and waving souvenir programmes. The Red Cross had a dozen men in pairs to deal with cases of fainting and hysteria while the foyer resembled a miniature battle station with blankets and large bottles of smelling salts. Afterwards, with the curtains still closing, hundreds of excited squealing girls rushed from the cinema to wait for the Beatles to come out. But the singers had already been smuggled away to their hotel across the road. 63 11 27c # c.69

Beatles enjoy a late morning nap before leaving; Beatle drive beats the fans – 63 11 27, 63 11 27b

Mepal missile base to be sold – pic – 63 11 27a

1963 11 29
The Duce's Tip site between Coldham's Lane and Newmarket Road may become a new suburban shopping centre with a two-storey supermarket, a garage and filling station with parking 1,000 cars. Space would be available for relocating premises affected by any redevelopment. But there was a danger that the Lion Yard scheme might not start commercially if trade were drawn away to another area, planners fear 63 11 29

December 1963 CN

1963 12 02
A new wind tunnel enabling scientists to study the low speed characteristics of aircraft has been installed in the aeronautical section of the University Engineering Laboratory – 63 12 02

1963 12 04
Proposals that books from Cambridge University Library might be lent to the new University of East Anglia met with opposition. Senior members had already petitioned for borrowing to be reduced here and teaching staff in both universities would want the same items. Old books could be obtained secondhand and recent developments in photographic techniques made the production of reprints feasible. Cambridge's vocation was not to show sentimentalism to those poorer than itself but to promote the interests of this University, they say. 63 12 04

1963 12 05
Ely's new county library will be built a site in Minster Place once occupied by an SPCK Bookshop. The Royal Fine Art Commission has approved a design embodying the most up-to-date ideas. The ground floor will house adult and children's lending rooms and a quick reference section while upstairs will be a space for lectures and projection of films together with maps, plans, pictorial and museum specimens relating to Ely. It will also serve as an information bureau for summer tourists. Ely has had a county library since 1927 with the present, inadequate part-time branch in Bray's Lane existing in adapted premises for about 18 years. 63 12 05a

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Norfolk Street – 63 12 05 [DYS cut]

1963 12 06
British Railways announced plans to close the Oxford to Cambridge line through Bletchley and Bedford, despite proposals in the Beeching Report for modified passenger services. A financial appraisal shows the line is losing money. MP Francis Pym says he has been approached by constituents in Gamlingay and Longstowe and will take every step to make local views known to the Minister of Transport. There will be a detailed examination and consultations before closure takes effect. 63 12 06 # c.26.2

Frogmen are searching the River Ouse at Barway for the body of a 17-year-old landowner feared drowned after a home-made punt capsized. He was returning after an evening at Lt Thetford with a friend when the punt overturned near Barway pumping station and he became entangled in his bicycle. Police say the river is 15 feet deep and treacherous. They have used grappling irons to drag the river but so far no body has been recovered. 63 12 06a

The Royal Fine Art Commission has approved a design for Ely's new county library in Minster Place. The ground floor will house adult and children's lending rooms and a quick reference section while upstairs will be a space for lectures and projection of films together with maps, plans, pictorial and museum specimens relating to Ely. It will also serve as an information bureau for summer tourists. Ely has had a county library since 1927 with the present, inadequate part-time branch in Bray's Lane existing in adapted premises for about 18 years 63 12 06

Since 1950 there has been virtually no control over purpose-designed agricultural buildings meaning that even though farmers must apply for a small two-bedroomed bungalow they can erect a tall farm building ten times the floor area without permission. The development of larger farm units, more intensive stock keeping and greater need for covered storage has led to more and bigger buildings. Now the County Council is trying to get this stopped around Wimblington and Doddington 63 12 06b & c

Drinkers at the Black Horse pub in Fowlmere enjoy meeting 'Cleo', landlord Alfred Thatcher's rather unusual pet. It is a two-foot long Cayman alligator which lives in a warm aquarium in one of the private rooms. When the family moved to Fowlmere she was brought down by train to Cambridge travelling in a cardboard box and began to honk loudly. Passengers were concerned when told it was an alligator making the queer noises. 63 12 06d

Banham's exhibit two new boats at Boat Show – 63 12 06e

Gamlingay Full Range school gives pupils aged 5-15 a unique education; they discuss newspaper coverage of current affairs and study thatching and car maintenance having built a garage for the school minibus. There is a large garden growing produce for school meals with the remainder being sold. After the four o'clock bell come clubs like match-box-top collecting, horse management and canoe-building. Retiring Headmaster J.T.C. Robinson MBE has been ahead of contemporary education. But soon the senior pupils will be transferred to the newly-planned Village College 63 12 06g

Standing on the old town boundary at Histon road, this house was for many years the last in Cambridge. Now it is scheduled for demolition. It was built in 1881 and at one stage was a Dr Barnardo's Home for Girls when a fire escape was installed. Not it is used as offices by Moore's of Cambridge Ltd, precision engineers 63 12 06h

1963 12 07
Paradise Farm, Mepal, has been presented to the Ministry of Agriculture by Ald Arthur Rickwood, the Chatteris farmer. It is due to have new buildings including laboratories used for research work. The fens have been rich farming land for 200 years but many farmers are concerned at the shrinkage of peat. The wastage in some areas amounts to an inch a year, a colossal amount over a long period. Farming techniques are changing all the time and it was important to solve the problems. 63 12 07

1963 12 09
Police will meet representatives of all businesses in Petty Cury to try to persuade them to stop deliveries by lorries to their premises during peak traffic hours. All loading and unloading could be banned between 9am and 6pm. It was an offence for vehicles to park on the pavement when serving shops and inconvenienced pedestrians. But police often used their discretion as otherwise congestion in the narrow streets would be chronic. 63 12 09

Sir – the site of the demolished houses in Prospect Row is being covered with tarmac to serve as a 'temporary' car park. Yet again people are being displaced by motor cars, even though the area is designated for residential use. The traffic problem is indeed urgent and the temptation to use slum clearance areas conveniently near the city centre must be great. But such streets should be rebuilt with houses of suitable design and cost so more people could live within walking distance rather than have to rely on transport – Julie Larter, Cambridge Civic Society 63 12 09a

1963 12 10
Emily Mary Gingell, partner of family firm at Horningsea, dies – 66 12 10

A.D. Cornell, an expert on extra-sensory perception, has spent 15 years seeking ghosts but has never actually seen one, though he has heard and felt them. He described many different local hauntings. Phantoms at first seemed so solid and real that you do not realise it is a ghost until the apparition gradually faded away. In the Victorian era with flickering candlelight and gas lamps people were more in tune with the unseen. But modern conditions with brilliant electric lights were not suitable for ghosts, he says 63 12 10a # c.39

Six months ago about all that was standing at the Six Bells public house, Fulbourn, after a fire had gutted the building, was the public bar. Now restoration work has been completed. Originally the roof was thatched with Norfolk reed which was replaced by straw. Now it is reed again 63 12 10b

1963 12 11

Dr Alice Dwyer-Joyce, who helps her husband with a General Practice at Histon, has written her first, highly-entertaining novel, 'Price of Inheritance' which is set in a fruit growing area with a familiar-sounding name – 'Harton'. The book is dedicated to her husband, a gifted artist, who paints a setting to give his wife the atmosphere of the story she is writing. She hopes he will design a dust jacket for a future book. 63 12 11

Demolition work has begun on the 116 year-old Corn Exchange on Ely's Market Place. The property, which includes the Exchange Cinema, was purchased some time ago for £20,000 by a London development company which wants to build shops on the site. 63 12 11a

Barway drowning inquest – had been to Lt Thetford Youth Centre but there was a whist drive – 63 12 11b

1963 12 12
Arbury branch library plans – perhaps with flats above – 63 12 12

The Phantoms, four young Cambridge men, went to Sweden two years ago to find the fame every guitar group seek. Since then they have never looked back, getting a best seller in the Swedish hit parade and become trend-setters where they have appeared – a sort of Scandinavian equivalent of the Beatles. They can earn up to £70 a week each, after expenses (about £1,200 today). Kenneth Leverington, Cliff Gentle, Dave Clarke and Robin Bailey formed the group in June 1960 having played in different local groups. Altogether they have made 10 best-selling singles and a LP album. 63 12 12b # c.69

A police demonstration on the Mepal-Chatteris road showed the unerring accuracy of the radar speed meter, a piece of equipment costing £600 (about £10,600 today). It directs a beam at an angle across the road which records vehicle speeds on the meter. It is as accurate as any other scientific instrument. Some drivers say the use of radar is unsporting but police have to clear up the messy and tragic results of thousands of accidents each year 63 12 12c

1963 12 13
Proposals for expanding Lolworth with 450 new houses would rejuvenate the dying village, an inquiry was told. The village green would be enlarged, open spaces provided and there would be a small area for industrial use. But it would continue as a village and not a new township and would not be to the detriment of the surrounding countryside. The developers, a consortium of local landowners, are opposing plans for a large new development at Bar House Farm, Dry Drayton 63 12 13 & a

Why Cavendish college was such a failure; a memoir of the early days – by Irene Lister – 63 12 13b # c.44.5

Little Chishill post mill has been bought by Cambridgeshire County Council in order to preserve it. Several mills in the county have already received the attention of the Cambridge Preservation Society but now the Council is trying to ensure that one example of every type of mill is preserved. The post mill gained its name from being mounted on top of a wooden post so it can be turned into the wind. It is the earliest type of windmill known in Western Europe 63 12 13c

1963 12 17
Centaur Motor Cycle Club organises training scheme for motor cycle and scooter riders - 63 12 17

1963 12 18
H. Day plays sixpenny flute – pic – 63 12 18

1963 12 19
One Cambridge bandstand is always empty. It was built 60 years ago and originally stood in a tea garden belonging to Laurie & McConnal, from where a violinist would have entertained the customers. The tea garden closed before the bandstand could be use and it has stood silent ever since. To get there the musician must climb three flights of stairs, borrow a ladder, open two fanlights, climb a railing and walk across the roof of the roof of the store. For it stands 100 feet above Fitzroy Street and is perched on a corner of the store roof 63 12 19

1963 12 20
It's quite simple really. You are either a Mod, a Mid or a Rocker. That's according to two Cambridge girls overheard making a deep study of the City's young set. 63 12 20

St Ives Sand and Gravel Company started in 1937 and is now one of the leading producers of aggregates in the country. It works at about 18 pits including Earith, Fen Drayton, Wimblington, Chippenham and Mepal, in the river terrace gravels of the Ouse Valley. One pit at Meadow Lane St Ives was a football field two years ago and has now been dug out to a depth of about 20 feet and left flooded. Filling in is a problem for this must be done with clean material which must not pollute the water supply. On the other side of the road enormous shovels have created cliff-like sides streaked in brilliant orange and chrome. 63 12 20a

Butler-valet George Clayton is looking for a job as 'Jeeves' to any local gentleman. Colleges will not do it – they don't reach the service he is used to giving. He was 15 when he became a hallboy in London then worked his way up to second footman, then first footman before gaining his status of single-handed butler at the age of 28. A gentleman's gentleman begins the day at 7.30 when he calls his master with early morning tea, lays out his clothes and draws his bath. Then he starts his ordinary daily work such as cleaning silver, pressing suits, cleaning shoes and washing the car. He also has to drive – in his last position there was a Ford Zephyr and a Rolls Bentley. He met his wife, a cook, in private service and have always had a house provided as they bettered themselves from position to position. 63 12 20d

1963 12 23
Sir John Berry (Jack) Hobbs, one of Cambridge's legendary names in cricket, dies.- 63 12 21; tributes – 63 12 23 # c.38 : cricket

1963 12 28
New bus shelters in Sidney Street – photo – 63 12 28

Cambridge Police start a rugby football section – 63 11 28a

1963 12 30
St Luke's church installs first centrally-positioned altar in Cambridge. 63 12 30 # c.83

1963 12 31
Prince Chula-Chakta-Bongse, King of Thailand's cousin, dies. He installed the dog drinking trough Chesterton Road – 63 12 31

Cambridge News new offices on corner St Andrew's Street marks transfer of business from office in New Theatre Building – 63 12 31a # c.04

Holiday lectures for children – 63 12 31b

1964 Cambridge News

I have copies of these articles

January 1964 CN

1964 01 01
Cambridge's chief constable has suggested city centre traders might equip their vehicles with radio telephones to ensure they arrive at convenient times for loading and unloading. Other suggestions include avoiding excessively large vehicles and depots for breaking down loads. It would help to alleviate the problems of loading and unloading vehicles in Petty Cury between 8 and 9.30 am and noon till two o'clock 64 01 01

1964 01 02
Plans for a temporary information office in a caravan or sectional hut on Market Hill found little favour with councillors: it would be inaccessible because it would be surrounded by stalls or parked cars. They think the present information centre should remain in the Central Reference Library in Wheeler Street which has experienced much greater use since direction signs have been erected. There would be little demand for Sunday opening – we are not in the same position as Southend or Brighton in trying to attract people. 64 01 02 # c.77.4

1964 01 03
Isleham shop sale bill, 1880 64 01 03a

John Berry Hobbs – feature – 64 01 03b # c.38 : cricket

Preliminary stages in the creation of a boarding school and medical unit at Meldreth for 120 spastic children have been completed. The Old Manor House has been converted to form accommodation for the school staff. It is a pioneer project where children will be educated normally and trained for a full and useful future. The National Spastics Society hope it will be copied all over the world 64 01 03c

1964 01 06
Butler-valet George Clayton is looking for a job as 'Jeeves' to any local gentleman. Colleges will not do it – they don't reach the service he is used to giving. A gentleman's gentleman begins the day at 7.30 when he calls his master with early morning tea, lays out his clothes and draws his bath. Then he starts his ordinary daily work such as cleaning silver, pressing suits, cleaning shoes and washing the car. He met his wife, a cook, in private service and have always had a house provided as they bettered themselves from position to position. 64 01 06

Plans for redevelopment on corner of Downing Street and for a four storey building with bank and penthouse on the roof on New Theatre site 64 01 06

A Cottenham-based firm have come up with the not-so-dusty idea of pre-packing high quality coal so the housewife can carry it home with the shopping. Now 100 tons a day are distributed in polythene bags which can be placed on the fire and will burn for three hours. Cottenham was chosen as it is midway between the Midlands coalfields and the London market and the firm employs up to 50 women. Coal is scooped on to a conveyor which takes it to the 'autopack' machine that fills 5lb bags. They are sealed with wire and women then pack them into larger carriers. It fills a need at peak time but is not a serious rival to conventional coalmen. 64 01 06a

1964 01 07
Plans for a 24-lane ten-pin bowling alley on Mill Road have been approved subject to conditions that the premise should be closed between midnight and 8am. It would include a snack bar, changing rooms, kitchen and offices. But now developers want to extend the project to include either a dance floor or ice-rink, a public house with flat over, service station with office and parking for 150 cars. 64 01 07 # c.38 : bowls

Ely council is to consider forming a society of volunteers to run No.4 Lynn Road as a museum. The future of the public clock on the former Exchange Cinema is uncertain; nothing has been heard from the London Development Company about the suggestion that the mechanism should be incorporated into the new building to be erected on the Corn Exchange site. Now a similar inquiry will be made of the G.P.O. which is to build a new Post Office on a site facing the Market Place 64 01 07a

1964 01 08
Heavy scraping machines are busy on the one and a half mile Linton bypass which is expected to be completed by the Autumn. It is going to cost £100,000 and will divert traffic around the village's narrow streets. A bridge with a 35 foot span is also involved in the project which is mainly concerned with developing the 24 foot wide bypass running south of the village along the A604, crossing the B1052. 64 01 08

1964 01 09
A report on the condition of the 24 public lavatories in Cambridge notes a range of minor criticisms concerning the absence of toilet paper and soap or damaged taps. But such essential supplies are replaced every day and are generally as a result of theft. The council is not causal or neglectful but frugal and aims to provide the essentials at the cheapest cost consistent with hygiene standards. Over 80 per cent of repairs are a result of wanton damage, doors have been ripped off and made targets for flick knives, the City Surveyor reports. 64 01 09 # c.29.8

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Peas Hill – 64 01 09 [RAl.4.82]

1964 01 10
The congregation at Linton Parish Church will not have to put up with using chairs much longer. Soon new rows of gleaming pews from Great St Mary's Church and a USAF base chapel will be in position. It is part of a restoration programme which has included an oil fired boiler. The interior is obscured by scaffolding while all the woodwork is treated to keep woodworm and beetle at bay. The next step will be the renewal of the side chapel known as 'Agriculture Hall' since it was used by many of the farmers during Sunday services. 64 01 10

1964 01 11
Trumpington cottages demolished to make way for new housing – 64 01 11

Laurie & McConnal's bandstand – memories – 64 01 11a

The Oxford to Cambridge railway line links the two important university cities and should remain open, a Reinvigoration Society says. It bisects the line from King's Cross to Peterborough at Sandy where the two sets of platforms are adjacent. But no attempt has been made to encourage interchange of passengers. Through trains could be run from Norwich to Bristol in five hours using inter-city diesel units with miniature buffet facilities. But the route is divided between three of British Railway's regions and an overlord – line manager should be appointed to co-ordinate services 64 01 11b # c.26.2

1964 01 13
Agricultural production is increasing but the number of land workers is going down. Farm workers were now more like the skilled technicians of the factory and a £10 national minimum wage was not realistic – it should rise to £12, Swaffham Prior agricultural workers unionists say. And toxic chemicals were still a problem – they should only be used under a licence. Ben Brand of Elsworth was presented with a cheque on behalf of the Union in settlement of a claim arising from at accident at work when wheat slid off a stack, knocked him down and covered him. He was off work for 34 weeks. 64 01 13

1964 01 14
Planners need maps to show countless aspects of community life and County Council draughtsmen are continually producing them. Within Shire Hall the maps are conceived, drawn and even printed on their own printing presses. Huge cabinets store maps of almost every inch of Cambridgeshire. Some are produced with the aid of aerial photographs. Colour often has to be used and when maps have to be printed it means special 'overlay' negatives have to be drawn for each colour and a separate printing plate produced for each. 64 01 14

1964 01 15
As opposition mounts against the proposals to build a 750-place car park under Parker's Piece, the City Labour Group has called for a full public inquiry. A petition with more than 800 signatures was handed in at the Guildhall including nearly 250 names of people living in the Mill Road area. But some think the disturbance caused in construction would only be temporary and it is the best possible place for a park on this side of the town. The one disturbing thing is the cost. 64 01 15

Fore Hill Ely butcher's shop demolished to give better visibility at Broad Street junction – 64 01 15a

1964 01 16
Gordon Logie, the City Architect spoke of his desire to see the central area of Cambridge used for pedestrians only. Traffic conditions were 'frightful', especially on Saturday afternoons. "It will be impossible for everyone to drive into the centre in the future. I am afraid that most people will have to walk in from the outer fringe car parks or travel by shuttle-service public transport", he told the Trades Council. He would like to see a new city hall and central library to replace some out-of-date shops in an attempt to make the central area more pleasant. 64 01 16 # c.49.62

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Abbey Road – 64 01 16a-d

1964 01 17
Chesterton Youth Club being given a face lift – photos – 64 01 17 p7 # c.37.9

1964 01 17 ES
Quick Action Saved Him On Crossing. A 33 year old Prickwillow farmer's quick action saved his life on Wednesday week when the tractor he was driving over an occupation railway crossing was hit by a diesel freight train in dense fog. The front wheels, front axle and bonnet of the tractor were ripped off by the force of the collision, which occurred on the Prickwillow side of Padnal Siding.
In fact, the farmer, Mr Kenneth Hopkin of Siding Farm, escaped without a scratch. Another man, My Cyril Norman of 2, Kingdon Avenue, Prickwillow, who was listening for trains on the track, also escaped unhurt as he jumped out of the way of the train as it bore down on him from about 12 yards.
Mr Hopkin explained to our reporter that he, Mr Norman, a labourer who was 'helping him out', and other workers had been lifting celery which was being taken over the crossing by tractor and trailer.
"The fog was very thick" he said, "We had got one load across and I was just about to take the second over the crossing. I stopped the tractor and went to a signal about 25 yards up the line and saw that it was alright for us to cross as far as the Ely to Shippea Hill trains were concerned. My mate Cyril Norman went to the Shippea Hill - Ely line and put his ear to the rails to listen for any trains that might be coming" commented Mr Hopkin. "Hearing nothing Cyril waved me across so I put the tractor in gear and started to cross. The next thing that I saw was the engine coming at me about 10 or 12 yards away so I slammed the tractor in reverse and managed to get it back a foot or two" he went on. "There was a crash and the front of the tractor swung round. lucky for me I had a trailer behind otherwise I would have been toppled into a ditch". " I don't know what made me do it but when the guards van passed by I burst out laughing. I couldn't get out of the cab of the tractor for laughing. I think it must have been the look on Cyril's face and the way he was standing".
Mr Norman ran over to the tractor and shouted "Are you alive Ken" He soon got his reply for Mr Hopkin climbed out of the cab to survey the damage. Although the back of the tractor was alright the front wheels and axel were held to the main chassis by only the track rod. The engine stopped a little further up the line and the driver and others on board came to see if anyone was hurt. Some one was sent to the Padnal Signal Box to report the incident and meanwhile Mr Hopkin got another tractor to clear his off the line. The accident occurred about 4:20 and it was the 4:10pm freight train from Shipee Hill to Ely that was involved. It was not until 5:30 that both lines were cleared and until then single line working had to be brought into operation. There was no real delay in the train schedule and although the tractor was severely damaged the only damage to the engine of the train was a sandbox, a device for sanding rails in icy weather, was knocked off the front of it. Mr Hopkin has not been frightened out of using the crossing though. When our reporter was there he was still lifting celery from the same field and carting it over the same crossing by the same method, although of course the fog was not so thick. The last word from Mr Norman. "It was a miracle escape, I thought he must be dead, but it was obviously his quickness in getting the tractor reversed the few inches that saved his life. It was lucky that we both looked in that direction at that moment, other wise we would be minced meat now" he added.

1964 01 18
Five mothers who live with their children in a hostel for the homeless at Linton are rebelling against the regulations. "This place is just like a Borstal" one said. Visitors are allowed only at certain times and the central heating is not warm enough after 8 p.m. It is an experiment and the only hostel of its kind in the county, providing temporary accommodation for the homeless with up-to-date kitchens and bathrooms and each family has a sitting room. Regulations had to be strict because the facilities had been abused, managers reply. The people are difficult to deal with, most are there because they were not able to manage their own affairs, but they won't abide by the rules. 64 01 18

1964 01 20
A 'round house' at the rear of Robert Sayle's has been demolished to make way for car parking; it originally covered a well which provided water for a local brewery's beer making – 64 01 20

Rev Canon Sidney Arthur Odom was reporter on the Cambridge Chronicle in 1920s where his father was printing overseer. He became a priest in 1932. 64 01 20a

Cambridge police are looking for 24 traffic wardens to patrol streets when parking meters are installed. They will help motorists to do their business in the city centre and enforce regulations to allow free movement of traffic. There will be 450 meters giving one hour for a shilling in the central shopping district, two hours further out. Men with a genuine desire to serve the public will find it an interesting and rewarding job. The salary starts at £13 a week. 64 01 20b

Thatching in Cambridgeshire is a flourishing industry with more than enough work to be done. Just after the war there was a serious shortage of professional thatchers and some very bad work was undertaken by amateurs and 'jumpers' or stack thatchers, which brought disrepute to the craft. Now the Rural Industries Bureau has formed an association to guarantee their work. Good thatchers like the five Dodson brothers of Abbots Ripton can earn up to £2,000a year. But there is a shortage of boys and female thatchers are almost unknown. In the Isle of Ely there is almost no thatch, except in Whittlesey. Barns and outbuildings are often re-roofed with corrugated iron when the thatch wears out 64 01 20c

1964 01 22
The Refugee Aid Shop in Regent Street gives away its entire profits and is staffed mainly by voluntary workers. Last year it donated more than £2,000 to charity and each week sends 10 sacks of warm clothing to Oxfam. Local people have given a mass of articles including books and sometimes bicycles or prams. Clothing should be clean with at least six months wear left. Most is sold at a little above jumble sale prices with winter coats at five shillings each. Material from worn cotton dresses is salvaged and made into aprons. The worst ends up at the rag merchants 64 01 22

1964 01 23

Farmers have much to do in wintertime including hedging, ditching, repairing machinery and farm buildings. But they also like to relax with a little hunting and shooting. Pigeons do widespread damage to crops and their numbers have been increasing. Small birds are becoming a problem to fruit growers, one of the worst culprits being the bull finch which can strip off all the fruit buds. Sparrows are also destructive and target gooseberries. One fruit grower estimates an annual loss from bird damage to be about £500. 64 01 23

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Little St Mary's Lane – 64 01 23 [DYS cut]

University Arms demolition of entrance foyer – pic – 64 01 23a

1964 01 24
At 84, Harry Capon is the oldest stallholder on the Cambridge market. He sells the same type of fancy goods as when he first set up the stall at 16. "Every Monday and Saturday I get up at 5.30 and load up the trolley with the goods and pull it from my house in Coronation Street. I set the stuff out on the stall then it's sell, sell, sell until 6pm when I start to pack up. Again another hour or so to load the trolley and then back home to bed about 9 pm. Two days a week I go up the London and the warehouses; I often get a lift with a fruitier and he leaves me at Hyde Park Corner on the way to Covent Garden", he says., adding "The market is slowly dying … fewer people and fewer stalls" 64 01 24 # c.27.3

Linton Red Cross Hut is in a poor condition: the floor was dangerous, the roof needs repairs and toilet faculties should be improved. It was hardly used by the Red Cross but would make an ideal village hall and the British Legion would welcome having the hut for hire. K.D. Paintin, a local builder, said his grandfather had sold the hall to the Red Cross in 1949 for £100 and he would be interested in buying back the site. Villagers decided to try and buy it to avoid disruption of their social life 64 01 24a

1964 01 25
Judges stay at Trinity College – history by F.A. Reeve – 64 01 25 # c.34.9

Many of the council houses built 30 years ago in Stretten Avenue, Darwin Drive and Scotland Road need modernisation: there is no hot water, the bath is in the scullery and they have only outside lavatories. They were becoming 'social slums' and attracting 'the least desirable of tenants' said councillors. But residents say they are like an old fashioned community: Mrs Evelyn Pigott, who keeps a grocery shop in Akeman Street has organised a group of householders willing to help cook for neighbours while the alterations were carried out. 64 01 25b & c

1964 01 27
Brenda Malkin, Miss Littleport – 64 01 27a

Stretham plough blessed in church – 64 01 27b

1964 01 30
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Thompson's Lane – 64 01 30 [DYS cut]

Experimental traffic island sign being erected at junction Station Road and Hills Road – 64 01 30

Once a day, at 1.15 pm, a little diesel train leaves Ely station, goes eight miles and arrives at Sutton. Then at 3.20 pm it turns round and goes back again. Hauling three goods wagons, it stops first at Little Thetford where the driver and fireman nip down smartly from the cab, open and close the gates, and continue the trip. It carries mainly fuel, with possible stops at Stretham, Wilburton and Haddenham stations. Thirty years this little-known line carried a passenger service. It was constructed under the Grunty Fen Railway Act of 1864 and the Friends of Haddenham hope to run a centenary passenger special. 64 01 30b

Milton war memorial on new site after removal – 64 01 30c

The village pond at Hardwick is 'dangerous, unhealthy and an eyesore' and should be filled in, the Parish Council says. Chesterton RDC decided it would cost them too much – about £1,000 – if they had to buy their own materials to do the job. But it is to consider an offer by Coun. E.A. Hearn to supply enough free material to fill in the pond.– 64 01 30d

1964 01 31
Chesterton bridge could be started in 1967 – 64 01 31

Enid Porter on Bone sisters of St Andrew's Hill – 64 01 31a, 64 02 07

February 1964 CN

1964 02 01
St Neots planning inquiry – 64 02 01

Traffic wardens – 250 sit test – 64 02 01a

St Ives library opens – 64 02 01b

1964 02 03
A railway porter and his family have lived at the 120-year-old Newmarket railway goods station for seven years. Their 10-roomed Victorian 'mansion' has a frontage of over 100ft and along its length are nine pairs of magnificent columns. It stands in its own grounds and costs £1.1s.4d. a week to rent. Inside offices have been converted into three bedrooms, a lounge, living room and kitchen. There is also a large cellar. But he would prefer to live in a small, comfortable, three-bedroomed house. "We are very lonely and have problems getting baby sitters because they think the place is haunted", he says. 64 02 03

Cambridgeshire is growing faster than anticipated, planners admit, and work to guide development in villages had not taken place. High density, monotony, suburban-style properties, bad estate development and the improvement of houses were subjects of most complaints from villagers. 64 02 03a

1964 02 04
The biggest pillar box in England, in Sidney Street, may be moved to relieve traffic congestion – 64 02 04 # c.27.7

1964 02 06
Abington Youth Club members now provide their own music for the monthly club dances. Three of them nine months ago formed the 'Rebounds'. A small charge for admission to the dance helps pay off the hire purchase on the instruments. The youth club, which meets in the village hall, has 30 members and others join them on occasional evenings. As well as indoor activities the club has thriving cricket and football teams 64 02 06

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Perne Road – 64 02 06

Haddenham block of 14 old peoples' flats approved, High Street – 64 02 06a

1964 02 08
Hemingfords want housing development and a shopping centre – 64 02 08

1964 02 10
Recruits for Cambridge City Civil Defence are drawn from a wide and diverse field. Amongst the 575 on strength at the Warkworth Lodge headquarters there is a 55-year-old University professor and a 20-year-old farm labourer. Other volunteers include an optician, compositor, school teacher, window cleaner, scientist and housewife. The Mayor and Mayoress, Mr & Mrs J.B. Collins both hold the civil defence medal for long service. "Somebody has got to be available to pick up the pieces and start again. In the event of nuclear warfare we would try and care for survivors", one said. 64 02 10 # c.45.8

With the words "V.Q.4 mobile", a large car swings from the yard of Cambridge police station. But unlike television's "Z-Cars" this V.Q. is inconspicuous. There are no flashing signs, bells or gongs and the two men inside are in civilian clothes. If you are walking the Cambridge streets in the early hors of the morning, the chances are they will pull up and ask what you are doing. Sometimes they spend so much time interviewing people they don't have time to travel very much. The job may not be glamorous but it helps prevent crime 64 02 10a # c.34.7

The struggle to provide a swimming pool at Huntingdon has caused a great deal of frustration. Year after year Mayors have wished it would open during their term of office. The idea began 30 years ago with a scheme for an open air pool on Hartford Road Fields using water from the nearby river. By 1957 the cost was estimated at £12,500 but this rose to £90,000 before 1962. Now a site has been identified at Bushey Close near the Oxmoor Estate with a hope it may be in use by summer 1965. 64 02 10b

1964 02 11
University Arms Hotel frontage being removed – photo – 64 02 11

1964 02 12
Haslingfield rubbish tip causes annoyance – 64 02 12

1964 02 13
Isleham church bells to be rehung – 64 02 13

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Rose Crescent – 64 02 13c-d

The Victory, one of Newmarket's oldest public houses, was officially closed on New Year's Day. Now demolition workers are pulling down what has been a familiar landmark for over 100 years. The pub is the second to be demolished under Newmarket Council's Icewell Hill re-development scheme. The Wheatsheaf was the first. Under an agreement with the owners, Tollemache and Cobbold Ltd, they have been replaced by a new building, The Palomino on the Houldsworth Valley estate 64 02 13a

The pop group, Nick-E-Burd and the Raveons, practice in an old shed at the top of Byrd's Farm Lane, Saffron Walden. Nickey Bennett, the vocalist, founded the group with bass guitarist Martin Duke about two years ago. They were joined by Frank Bonelli (rhythm) and "Pip" Preece on lead guitar, with Graham Jackson on drums. All the money they make goes into paying for the instruments and buying a van. But they hope to break into the big time before they retire. 64 02 13b

1964 02 14
It is an "unmitigated tragedy" that Trinity Church, Huntingdon, a landmark for nearly 100 years, is to disappear, Paul Petty told Rotarians. It has been announced that because of its condition it will have to be demolished. At present Sunday services are held in the schoolroom. The foundation stone was laid on May 22 1867 by Thomas Coote of Fenstanton and it opened for worship on 16th September 1868. The total cost of providing the church was £10,600. 64 02 14

Mildenhall parish church organist, William Sturgeon, composes hymns – 64 02 14a
Soham Grammar School cadet HQ – 64 02 14b
"Five centuries of Cambridge musicians" commemorates quincentenary of first recorded Degree in Music – 64 02 14a # c.69

1964 02 15
Bluntisham parishioners do not object to their Rector breeding fighting cocks and selling them to countries were cockfighting is legal. Rev J.C. Eddy exports them to Malta, India and Peru and also sells them to gipsies who call at his rectory in the lonely village. Drinkers at the local pub say it is an agricultural area and he has every right to keep fighting cocks. Housewives at the village store have no objection and the parish council has heard of no complaints. 64 02 15

1964 02 17
House shortage means difficulties recruiting labour for industry – 64 02 17

Fen Drayton Methodist church organist is 83-year old Mrs E.A. Close – 64 02 17a

Cambridge to Oxford railway line too important to be lost – feature – 64 02 17b # c.26.2

1964 02 19
University warn that increased number of students as envisaged by Robbins report would be a disaster – 64 02 19 # c.36.9

D. Stops, newsagent, started in 1952; elected President Federation Retail Newsagents – 64 02 19a

Petrol station at Mildenhall Road Fordham allowed at appeal – 64 02 19b

1964 02 20
Mr George Seaman-Turner of Linton is believed to be the only pargeter in East Anglia. The best example of his work is on the front of his own 17th-century cottage where with the aid of a small trowel and pallet he has carefully engraved figures of birds and animals. For many years he has been a pig farmer but two years ago he developed his interest in pargeting and began renovating faded wall decorations. He prefers the original plaster and refuses to use a mould as it is too modern. 64 02 20

Horace H. Higgins, joined the CDN as a senior reporter in 1921 and became editor on the death of Morley Stuart in 1950, guiding it through many changes since it came into the ownership of Lord Iliffe. He was also the principal drama critic and was present at the opening of both the Festival and Arts Theatres. He launched funds to supply radios for Addenbrooke's and Papworth Hospitals and for improvement the Red Cross Society's 'Edwinstowe'. He is succeeded as editor by Mr N. Keith Whetstone from the Coventry Evening Telegraph. 64 02 20a # c.04

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Parkside – 64 02 20 [RAl.4.96]

1964 02 21
Huntingdon Spiritualist Church demolition – 64 02 21

Cambridge tram history by Robin Cox – 64 02 21a # c.26.44

Saffron Walden bell-ringing festival history – 64 02 21b

Chesterton Bridge Route, Elizabeth Way, published – 64 02 21c

University Music School quincentenary celebration – 64 02 21d

Two Ely schoolboys have made their own electric guitars with fittings including a tremolo which gives additional tonal effect. Christopher Brennand and Christopher Bunting started in the Needham's School wood-work room after passing their G.C.E. and finished at the evening institute. Now they will learn to play them and might form a group. The woodwork master, R.W. Harper has another half-dozen lads just beginning to make guitars which would cost £40 in the shops 64 02 21e

1964 02 24
Royston Cave, the centuries old excavation, has been closed for two years because of difficulties over entrance – 64 02 24

Milton Roman archaeology – Ken Humphries – 64 02 24a

Red Cow and buildings in Corn Exchange Street sold – 64 02 24b

1964 02 26
CDN building demolition reveals view police station – 64 02 26

Ely reservoir and booster pump being built for Ely, Mildenhall & Newmarket Water board – 64 02 26a

1964 02 27
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Cherryhinton Road – 64 02 27, 64 03 05 [DYS cut]

1964 02 28
Haverhill has too many shops for the population, traders complain – 64 02 28

Barrington chalk works are in the middle of an expansion programme to increase productivity by two-thirds. Yet its storage shades and machinery remain inconspicuous and only the tall chimneys can be seen. 64 02 28a

A family will be living in the Bishop of Ely's House for the first time in more than 20 years. It clearly a bachelor's house at present. No woman today would accept a route between the kitchen and dining room with four steps down and two up. Things will have to change. Mrs E.K.J. Roberts, wife of the new Bishop, is keen on interior decoration with decided ideas on colour. 64 02 28b

1964 02 29
Wray's Court, Sidney Street to be demolished – 64 02 29 # c.44.6

St Luke's Church Schools in Victoria Road are outdated and almost sub-standard. However since 1962, when children were shivering in classes, electric heating has been installed to take the load off the open fires. The school is fifth on the list for rebuilding within the next four years, but may slip down the list. Until a new one is built parents will have to remain dissatisfied with the accommodation. The council is not rejuvenating the decaying areas of the city but concentrating on new ones. 64 02 29a # c.36.5

Planned buildings for St Catharine's and King's Colleges – 64 02 29 # c.44.5

March 1964 CN

1964 03 02
A student prank ended in tragedy on Saturday evening when the cox of a Clare College crew drowned in the river. He had been celebrating at a dinner with the rest of the crew afterwards gong to Clare Bridge where he was thrown in. He called for help and three of his companions dived in to save him. They failed and one had himself to be rescued. Earlier the cox had been given the traditional ducking by the boat crew when he swam to the bank safely 64 03 02b # c.38 : rowing

1964 03 03
Overseas students are charged ridiculously high rents for inadequate accommodation and food but are prevented from leaving lodgings as they have to pay a term's rent in advance. Landladies are cashing-in on the name of the University, a student claims. But landladies not only spend time washing and cooking but also talk to students and virtually give them English lessons. However there will always be the greedy ones and there will always be the mugs who are willing to pay 64 03 03 # c.36.52

1964 03 04
Tesco to open store in Regent Street in former Herbert Robinson garage site – 64 03 04

St Andrew's Street rebuilding photos – 64 03 04a

Houses in Walnut Tree Avenue have been bought by the Ministry of Transport for demolition when the dual-carriageway for the proposed Chesterton bridge route is constructed. One side of Cam Road will also have to be demolished. It is expected that negotiations for the 30 properties involved will take a year to complete. The first part of the scheme will link Newmarket Road with Chesterton and Milton Roads. Later the existing roads of Lensfield Road, Gonville Place and East Road will feed into a roundabout at the junction of Sun Street and Newmarket Road 64 03 04b

1964 03 05
Thaxted Plymouth Brethren sect - 64 03 05

Royston new railway bridge nears completion – 64 03 05a

Traffic problems in Chesterton High Street – 64 03 05aa

1964 03 06
Glider crashes Rosemary Lane, Cherry Hinton - 64 03 06 # c.26.1

The House of Lords has approved two orders amalgamating Cambridge and the Isle of Ely and Huntingdon and the Soke of Peterborough into two new counties. The orders seem to permanently exclude Cambridge from becoming a County Borough: it was so important a factor in the new county that to remove it later on would destroy the county's viability. Peterborough had been in favour since it might then become the capital of the new administrative unit and eventually perhaps get its own county borough status. But then they changed their minds. 64 03 06d # c.35.1 # c.35.7

Ralph Brown has been teaching at Cambridge Grammar School since 1927. He was the only man teaching at Morley Memorial School in 1922 – 64 03 06a

Alice Springs was named after Alice Bell, daughter of Peas Hill corn merchant – 64 03 06b

Residents of Walnut Tree Avenue, which is poised on the brink of destruction for the new Chesterton, are resigned to its fate. A large proportion are retired people who have invested much in their homes. Apart from those who are widowed or retired, most work all day and have taken great care of their properties. Only a few look unkempt and these are the ones bought by the Ministry of Transport from people who are leaving anyway. 64 03 06c

1964 03 09
Cement factory Coldham's Lane closes because of filter problem – 64 03 09

'Dawn University' tv experiment review – 64 03 09a # c.27.8

1964 03 10
Metals Research to work on US space programme – 64 03 10

1964 03 11
Cam Road & Haig Road householders fear they will lose homes with Chesterton Bridge route – 64 03 11

1964 03 12
Folk Museum on shoestring budget – 64 03 12

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Gloucester Street – 64 03 12 [DYS cut]

1964 03 13
Our Lady church properly cleaned for first time – 64 03 13

University petrol station St Neots Road Madingley rejected – 64 03 13

Haddenham parish register dates back to 1570 – 64 03 13a

Duxford 'Life in a village' photo feature – 64 03 13e

1964 03 14
Handbill describes thunder storm August 1843 – 64 03 14

1964 03 16
Floods in county but city escapes – 64 03 16

1964 03 18
Herbert Lowe, who runs a grocery shop in Herbert Street, decided to give up selling cigarettes and tobacco when the American Medical Association published their report on the link between smoking and lung cancer. He claims he has lost no customers, none ask for cigarettes though they still come in for sweets and other things they used to buy. But a stranger did ask for some and commented 'Good Gracious' before walking out. 64 03 18

The Education Committee have decided to change the route of the bus carrying children from Isleham to Soham Village College so that it avoids Fen Road, which parents claim is dangerous. Isleham parish council support the protests about the narrowness of the road and deep dykes on either side. MP Francis Pym also thinks it dangerous and will take the matter up 64 03 18a

1964 03 19
A new town for 100,000 people at Stansted is proposed in the Government study of the problems of development during the next 20 years. The decision will depend on the establishment of a third international airport for London. If it came it would provide the initial impetus for a new town. One of the factors is water supply which might be expensive to obtain and have an unfortunate effect on existing supplies from the River Lee 64 03 19

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Gresham Road – 64 03 19e-f

Young children go to Grantchester parish church every Wednesday after school for a special service. The idea is to introduce them to the church and give some basic knowledge. Rev P.D. Hewat says a father should be the child's main teacher; however while all fathers had children, few children have fathers. The best way of teaching is through play, encouraging them to play at going to church and weddings. 64 03 19a

William Bate Harvey, Cambridge biologist who pioneered food science & set up Food Investigation Board – feature – 64 03 19b

Ross Chickens of Hemingford Grey supply 100,000 birds to the market each week. The cheeping in their broiler houses testify to contented birds that were comfortably co-existing on clean shavings, sleeping and eating when they felt like it. The atmosphere is scarcely stuffy at all and an automatic alarm system protects the ventilation against power cuts. The production costs can be 1s.5d per bird in cold weather, but the market price is only 1s.6d. 64 03 19c

Government study on \south-East England envisages new cities and expansion areas – 64 03 19d

1964 03 20
The new HQ of Cambridge A.T.C. Squadron is the former Royal Observer Corps base on Newmarket Road. When the Squadron was first formed as a unit of the Air Defence Cadet Corps its members attended lectures at the University Engineering Laboratories before moving early in the war to Leighton House in Trumpington Road. But most of its time has been spent at "Rock Mill" in Rathmore Road. 64 03 20

Clara Rackham recalled conditions in the Cambridge workhouse when she was a Guardian. There were a number of children with their parents. These were either illegitimate or the families of trams who took refuge in the winter and took to the roads again in Summer. The children and babies were cared for by the best of the inmates. Orphans were boarded out in foster homes. Aged people sat in their crowded day-rooms, clothed in their workhouse garb, allowed out on alternate Mondays. Dinner three days a week was a plate of pea soup and hunk of bread. 64 03 20a

Royal hunting lodge, Kneesworth Street, Royston – history – 64 03 20b

Workers at the Landsmans Services Caravans, Buckden, have been offered the chance of becoming co-owners in the company. There is a sales and service depot at Buckden and a factory at Alconbury which manufactures mobile trailer units. But some don't understand why the owner, who has pent 10 years building up the business, should want to give it away. There are many things to think about before a decision is made. 64 03 20c

Although the pharmacy of A. Sidney Campkin and Sons of Rose Crescent is modern, it retains unique links with a long history. It still offers for sale Brewster's balsham of squills, horehound and aniseed as well as ear canker lotion for dogs. In 1955 the business passed to Mr T.E.W. Howell and now has a labour force of more than 60. It has had a 'facelift' but is still one of the older-fashioned chemists of Cambridge. 64 03 20d

Swaffham Bulbeck village life photo feature – 64 03 20e

Colin Drage of Abbots Ripton has been a rat catcher since leaving school. He cycles up to 30 miles a day carrying bait and traps. He formerly kept five dogs and 60 ferrets but now mainly relies on modern poisons. His biggest catch was at the old Huntingdon incinerator where he picked up over 800 dead rats, many others died in their holes. But now many old buildings in Huntingdon and St Ives have been demolished so there are not so many rats about. 64 03 20f

1964 03 21
Fenstanton lock-up dates back to 1780 and is now a listed building. Lockups were usually inconspicuous, distinguished only by iron studded doors with small gratings. In the 17th century they were under the control of the parish constable. Prisoners were kept in them pending their transfer to the county gaol or an appearance before the magistrate. The constable was an officer of the manor and usually chief executive officer of the parish. In 1842 the appointment transferred to the parish vestry until the Police Act introduced police districts and the lock-up fell into disuse. 64 03 21 # c.34.9

St Luke's church running a weekly children's' club to counter falling attendance at Sunday School 64 03 21a

1964 03 23
Haverhill unlikely to be affected by large-scale expansion – 64 03 23

1964 03 24
Stansted to be London new airport – 64 03 24

1963 03 25
Cambridge University loses appeal on rating assessment on property – 64 03 25 # c.32.6

Hailstorm of 1843 reminder – 64 03 25a

1964 03 26
Clunch was for centuries an important material but now the old quarries have fallen into disuse except as sources of stone for road-mending and fen-embanking. Sometimes the waste rubble was burnt for unslaked lime and the limekilns in Carter's Quarry at Burwell were used as air raid shelters. They are still there, derelict and tumble-down with the shed that once housed the transport horses. Part of the interior of Heydon Church, bombed during the war, was rebuilt with clunch and at Lode a new chapel, built entirely with clunch, was added by Lord Fairhaven when builders had to be specially trained for the work. 64 03 26 # c.23

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on City Road – 64 03 26d-g

Caxton life in a village photo feature – 64 03 26a

Witchcraft – feature by Enid Porter – 64 03 26b # c.39

William Pomfret, Ely cathedral cleaner – 64 03 26c

1964 03 28
The contents of Ely Folk Museum, which was opened in 1905 are to be auctioned by George Comins. This collection, visited by countless tourists, has been house in Ye Olde Tea Rooms and Museum a property owned by Mr F. Vernon Cross and built in 1553. The building will be auctioned later. iThe tea rooms were used as a baker's shop until the middle of the eighteenth century, but the Littleport Bread Rioters ransacked the property in 1816, looking for food. It was restored by his father in 1905 when the collection was started – a tradition carried on by his son. 64 03 28 # c.03

Cottage at Hinton Way junction with Babraham Road, Gt Shelford, is being rethatched – 64 03 28a

Stretham bypass marked out in fields – 64 03 28b

April 1964 CN

1964 04 01
Lion Yard car park as traffic meters come into operation – 64 04 01 # c.49.62

The Universal Tape Printing Company of Saffron Walden can print on such products as adhesive tape, sweet wrappers and even razor blades. Started in 1958 in a former Methodist Chapel, the works contain 25 machines designed by the firm's creator, Sidney Bailey. Some have been sold to Scandinavia and Africa. Now plans have been passed for an expansion of the works. 64 04 01a

1964 04 02
The congregation of the Wesleyan Chapel at Eltisley have worshipped in their church for the last time. Amongst those at the final service were people whose forefathers had built the chapel and prayed there all their lives. Now the chapel is going to be transformed into a grain store. The interior is being demolished and the old pews are on sale to anyone needing a garden seat or firewood. But some say it was the Methodist chapel that should have closed: it looks more like a dance hall than a place of worship and is really close to all the heavy traffic. 64 04 02

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Newnham Road – 64 04 02e-f

P.F. Thompson furniture shop bought premises in Fitzroy Street in 1881 – feature – 64 04 02a

The Mayor of Cambridge fed a parking meter on Peas Hill with a shilling "to make them hungry and ready to bite" as one official put it, and set the new parking scheme in motion. Long queues of traffic soon formed in streets leading to the Lion Yard car park and motorists had some acid remarks about the meters. A moped rider complained about finding a ticket stuck to his bike with thirteen inches of sticky tape. From the number of excess charges shown on the meters the city coffers will soon begin to bulge 64 04 02b # c.49.62 # c.26.48

1964 04 05
Ickleton 'Life in a village' photo feature – 64 04 03

Haslingfield village hall has few users – 64 04 03a

Royston Priory Memorial Gardens feature – 64 04 03b

1964 04 04
A dream is coming true at Coveney. Previously social events were held in the school but higher charges were introduced and it could not be hired during holidays. Little grumbles became louder until it was decided to build a village hall. A site was secured and money raised with children collecting milk bottle tops and scrap metal. Now work has started on its construction 64 04 04

1964 04 07
Rampton electricity supplies to be improved – 64 04 07

1964 04 08
Bring back the sunshine with a bright new colourful deep-woven Axminster or Wilton carpet from the Co-operative House, Burleigh Street. Laurie & McConnal or Peak's Furnishers where you can save up to one pound per square yard. [A three-page advertising feature printed in colour on 8th April, the first time colour was used extensively in the News] 64 04 08a-c # c.04

1964 04 09
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Coronation Street – 64 04 09 [DYS cut]

Cow Lane Rampton an awful mess – clerk P. Robinson – 64 04 09

Stretham cross brickwork crumbling away – 64 04 09a

Cambridge University Croquet and Lawn Tennis Club, known as the 'Cock and Hen' club is moving to a new home on Madingley Road. It is the oldest tennis club in Cambridge founded before 1885 by and for senior members of the Universities of Oxford & Cambridge who were expected to join in pairs – hence the name. Now half are townspeople. Croquet has not been played since the Great War but some say a lawn could be laid at Gilling Paddock.64 04 09b # c.38 : tennis

1964 04 10
Clara Rackham reflects on career – 64 04 10bb

Work on Cambridge's Eastern Bypass was interrupted by the war and today only a short section is in existence. It runs from Wadloes Road, across the main Newmarket Road and peters out at the end of Barnwell Road where a muddy track and footpaths picks its way towards Coldham's Lane. Standing amid the rubbish dumps, tumbledown sheds and chicken houses which adorn this part of the route one can hear the distant rumble of traffic on Newmarket Road. It is likely to be many years before the scheme is revived. 64 04 10 # c.49.62

Cottenham photo feature – 64 04 10a

Ron Eaton, motor engineer – 64 10 10b

1964 04 11
John Wilson of Horningsea has transformed a 60-year-old mouldering waterlogged hulk which had foundered in Burwell Lode to a trim cabin cruiser. It has been refitted using mahogany from an old grand piano. John, a 16-year-old naval student, has always had a strong interest in boats and the sight of the Santa Anna lying derelict resulted in discussions with his father. He baled it out and rowed it home. Now it will be relaunched 64 04 11 photo 64 04 13a

Quy residents fear their village will die unless the County allow more development. But this cannot come until there is a suitable sewage scheme. Children have to leave because of a scarcity of building land. "We are gradually losing our young folk. If no new life comes then the present very active community life may die", one resident laments. One suggestion is a small housing estate should be constructed with houses made available to villagers 64 04 11a

1964 04 13
June Robertson a librarian at Cambridge central library – profile – 64 04 13 # c.77.4

The Cambridgeshire Deep Freeze Company was formed in 1952 in adapted buildings on Pound Hill, then extended into pre-fabricated cold rooms nearby. Soon however the whole of the Pound Hill area became part of a redevelopment plan and they moved to a new site at Girton during the severe winter of 1962-63. It accommodates bulk quantities of raw materials such as raspberries and blackcurrants for national processors but one cold room is sub-divided into lockers which can be hired to private individuals for the storage of game or garden produce. 64 04 13b & c # c.27

1964 04 14
There may be many vicar-less churches, but there cannot be many church-less vicars. That is the position of the Vicar of Shingay-cum-Wendy. Several churches have been built at Wendy but none has stood long. One built in 1735 fell down, another built about 1865 became unsafe and was pulled down in the early 1950s. It is thought the great weight of the hammer-beam roof (which came from All Saint's Church in St John's Street, Cambridge) was too much. Now plans have been drawn up for a new one. At present parishioners use a 'tin church' near the Abington Pigotts road junction. 64 04 14

Ely view from cathedral tower – 64 04 14a

1964 04 16
A turf-digging tool and a fork used for harvesting were among the fenland tools bought for the Folk Museum at the sale of antiquities from Vernon Cross's 'Ye Olde Tea Rooms' at Ely. The curator, Miss Enid Porter, was among the crowd of buyers. She also obtained two Doulton spirit barrels and an 18th-century digester. Plaster moulds from old Ely houses, an unusual type of frying pan and a 19th-century knife cleaner were also purchased 64 04 16 # c.03

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Devonshire Road – 64 04 16b-f

Lichfield road prefabricated bungalow fire – 64 04 16a

1964 04 17
Conington village photo feature – 64 04 17

After living for half the winter in the old Lolworth village hall, the Adams family have hope of better accommodation. The trouble started when Mr Adams took a job with a farmer at Caxton when the family lived in a tied cottage. They then moved to Lolworth for a new job. At that time they had a caravan but were unable to keep it so moved into the derelict hall. It has toilet and washing facilities and cooking has been done on a solid fuel stove. Now Mrs Adams has gone into Mill Road Maternity Hospital to have a baby leaving her husband to look after the other four children and large Alsatian dog. 64 04 17

Temporary classrooms at Bottisham and Arbury schools – 64 04 17b

Gustav Hamel gave flights at Cherry Hinton – 64 03 17a

1964 04 21
"Nothing but the best" film features scenes in Cambridge – 64 04 21

1964 04 22
Green End Road derelict land subject planning application – photo – 64 04 22

1964 04 23
Cambridge earthquake 30 years ago – memories – 64 04 23

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Silver Street – 64 04 23 [DYS cut]

Reuben's painting 'The Adoration of the Magi' has been moved from the nave is now in an experimental position as an altarpiece at the east end of King's College chapel. Some 150 feet of wooden panelling has been removed from the walls and the familiar altar has gone. The effect has been to lighten the east end and introduce an entirely different feeling and character to the magnificent east window. It is part of a more complete scheme which would see the removal of a series of steps and the provision of an extra 80 seats during important services 64 04 23a

1964 04 24
Comberton school – parents complain about standard of education, photo – 64 04 24
Emmanuel college undergraduates threaten to boycott college dining hall as meal are too expensive – 64 04 24a

'Cambridge New Architecture' criticises the Addenbrooke's Hospital buildings in Hills Road. No doubt these bleak buildings work efficiently but the bungaloid growth of the out-patients building cannot mitigate the overall barrack-room atmosphere, it says. Bradwell's Court shopping centre is attractively self-effacing and the Snowcat is one of the few well-designed modern pubs. But other Arbury building is weak with prim brick terraces with utility steel or concrete doorways of modish design. It is a squandering of Cambridge's short-supply of housing land 64 04 24b

City of Cambridge Brass Band needs new instruments: the old are obsolete and fashions have changed to those with a lower pitch. They are having a successful season, getting through to the finals of the Daily Herald National Championships and taking part in an open air brass band concert in London as well as frequent appearances at holiday resorts like Yarmouth. But over all their activities hangs the fear that their instruments could give up the ghost at any minute.64 04 24c

Gt Chesterford 'Life in a village' photos – 64 04 24d

In the very early hours young men venture out intent on climbing some of the university buildings. Night climbers are not an organised society, just individuals though know the other students who participate. The porter's lodge at King's is an irresistible challenge, not because of any climbing difficulty but because of the imminent danger of being discovered by college ports below. Climbers usually tie a piece of rope at the top of a building, though sometimes an item of female underwear is seem flapping gaily in the breeze the next morning. 64 04 24e

Cambridge library service must be aware of the increasing opportunities the future is likely to bring, say City Librarian, Eric Cave. They had issued over half-a-million books for the first time in its history but there can be no complacency over the increasing usage of the libraries. The coming of Anglia television had slowed demand for books. There has been a steady increase in the number of readers using the reference library. But the number of staff changes has been too great to make the provision of a smoothly-running service possible; young trainees move on to other libraries, attracted by better working hours and higher pay 64 04 24f # c.77.4

1964 04 28
Narrow Lane Histon, complaints – 64 04 28a

Cambridge city council are to spend up to £2,300 on taking penny slot machines from doors of toilets; they will also install wash basins and hot water supplies in the 24 toilets within the next few months – 64 04 28 # c.21.2

The grocery department of Matthew and Son is to close after 134 years – 64 04 28b # c.21.2

1964 04 29
History Faculty library planned for Sidgwick Avenue site – 64 04 29

University proposals for 110-foot tower block on New Museums site approved – 64 04 29

City librarian Eric Cave to deny car charges – 64 04 29a # c.77.4

Advances in biology may make it possible for a man to control his own heredity in the future, Dr J.C. Kendrew, a Nobel Prize winner told Cambridge Rotary. But learning about ourselves could be more dangerous than the H-bomb as it intimately concerns us. Already science could produce better roses by controlling heredity. Biology was once considered the 'Cinderella' of the sciences but one of the greatest advances was in biochemistry and research was just beginning to bear fruit. Many industrial processes could be carried out in the laboratory. The biological method was often much cheaper 64 04 29b

Memories will flood back to Girton man, Vic Watson, when his old team West Ham play in a Wembley Cup Final. The last time they were there was in 1923 and Vic, then 25, was leading the attack as centre-forward. They lost 2-0 to Bolton in a game that became known as the 'White Horse Final'. Vic was with the club for 16 years and won seven England caps. After retirement he became club coach at Cambridge Town for nearly 20 years until they turned professional. Now he will be a guest of the club together with Jimmy Ruffell, Billy Moore and G. Brown. After the match they have been invited to the team's reception at the Hilton Hotel in Park Lane. 64 04 29c

1964 04 30
A Regent Street trader has lost 78 per cent of his usual turnover since parking meters were introduced, Cambridge Chamber of Commerce was told. A survey of over 30 shops showed the average loss in turnover as 45%. There should be a reduction in rateable values and compensation for businesses which are forced to close. Meters should be closed down and a return made to unilateral parking supervised by wardens. But the Parking Committee chairman said that if motorists used the meters to the full they would get most of their customers back 64 04 30 # c.27.2 # c.49.62

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Sturton Street – 64 04 30 [DYS cut]

Parking time for women – 64 04 30a

Chronic problem for low-lying farms – rates for drainage on higher land 64 04 30b

The 'Town Café' in High Street, Soham is a new venture based in a former general stores. It comprises a restaurant at the rear of the premises and a coffee bar at the front. They have been granted a music licence so that a juke box can be installed in the coffee bar. The owner also owns a café at Chatteris. 64 04 30c

May 1964 CN

1964 05 01
Sprite Limited was into being in 1949 when Sam Alper moved his small caravan-making business from the East End of London to Newmarket. It was initially centred in an old garage near the station. Production was slow: manufacture of the chassis and final assembly of the caravans was carried out at the garage, the sides were assembled at Stetchworth and painting was done at Cambridge. Then in 1955 it moved to a 10-acre site on the Fordham Road and sales rocketed. The firm merged with Bluebird Caravans to form Caravans International, the largest in Britain. 64 05 01

Wilburton village photo feature – 64 05 01c

Arts Cinema is oldest repertory cinema in country; Norman Higgins opened it in 1933. Previously at the Tivoli he founded an undergraduate film society and leased Conservative Hall in Market Passage. Began showing films all year round in 1947 – 64 05 01cc # c.76.9

Airfield Construction Unit at RAF Waterbeach – feature – 64 05 01dd

1964 05 02
Matthews is to close their grocery shop in Trinity Street – 64 05 02

Thriplow blacksmiths restored – 64 05 02e

Strawberry and the Fruit Drops, The Wreckers, The Huntsmen, The Inmates, The Ancestors and The Spyders are beat groups who rehearse in the building which adjoins the Grand Cinema in Huntingdon. The premises are occupied every night of the week by one group or the other. Most of what the boys earn goes towards buying instruments, equipment and running three minibuses. During weekdays they restrict their bookings to 40 miles from Huntingdon but they will travel any distance on Saturdays. Two of the groups, The Wreckers and the Huntsmen have reached the finals of a Beat Competition at Northampton that was judged by Norrie Paramour who asked for a recording. But now their rehearsal area is to close 64 05 02a # c.69

St Mary's Convent new wing blessed by Bishop – 64 05 02b

Ickleton open days to aid church – 64 05 02c

King's College chapel find piece of music written on wall when wood panelling removed – 64 05 02d

1964 05 04
Reach fair opened by ringing a bell for first time – 64 05 04 # c.27.3

1964 05 05

Sindall Concrete Products Ltd have built a pair of semi-detached houses on their Cherry Hinton Rectory Farm estate which could lead to revolutionary changes in the building industry. The houses can be erected and completed in two days using precision-made concrete panels with built-in insulation and wallpaper or emulsion can be applied direct to the walls. There is a choice of pitched or flat roof types lifted into place by a crane and a brick outer face can be added to give a traditional appearance. 64 05 05 # c.23

Willingham Earith Road largest sewage scheme started – 64 05 05a

Sketchely same day cleaning now in Cambridge – 64 05 05b

King James' hunting palace, Royston to be restored – 64 05 05c

1964 05 06
Ely Parsons Charity almshouses to be improved – 64 05 06

Soham steelyard may be restored – 64 05 06a

1964 05 07
Stuntney villagers are terrified by night drivers: screeching brakes and screaming tyres as traffic rounds the sharp bend at the top of the hill at too fast a speed have become a regular part of the night life. There is a gaping hole in the church wall which has been hit three times in the last four years. Now they have written to Ely Council asking for the street light on the bend to be kept on all night.– 64 05 07

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on James Street – 64 05 07d

Fulbourn Hospital, new Kent House opened by Duchess of Kent – 64 05 07a

Mrs D. Saberton & K. Sulman become first Witcham women parish councillors for 70 years – 64 05 07b

Diddington farmers compensation fears over Grafton water – 64 05 07c

1964 05 08
Every Saturday children start arriving at the Victoria and Central cinemas for the matinee performances. Many are brought by their mothers who are grateful for the chance to do the weekend shopping without them. Before the film starts they sing 'We are Minors of the A.B.C.' to the tune of 'Blaze Away'. There's always one cartoon like Tweetie Pie, then the serial in which the action is fast and furious. It's followed by a short comedy film, then a full-length feature with plenty of action, usually made by the Children's Film Foundation 64 05 08 # c.76.9

Potton photo feature – 64 05 08a

Willingham church roof angles dislodged when aircraft collided above church tower during WWII – 64 05 08b

1964 05 11
Cambridge has one of the few public croquet lawns in England. It is on Christ's Pieces, next to the bowling green. It is almost exclusively used by undergraduate members of the University Croquet Club to whom most of the equipment belongs. Although only three years old they have gained a reputation for their enthusiasm and high standard of play. Anyone can take part but it is not a game suitable for the infantile or the senile 64 05 11 # c.38 : croquet

The Isle of Ely name will be forgotten in 20 years time – fear, 64 05 11a

Ely Bishop Edward Roberts enthroned – 64 05 11b

Sir Eric Franklin fire at Cavendish Avenue destroys diplomatic papers – 64 05 11c

1964 05 12
A wartime Spitfire has made the 250-mile road journey from RAF Middleton St George Yorkshire on a 60-foot transporter to Ely where is was lifted with help from a 10-ton crane from RAF Waterbeach operated by Mr Stanley Porter of Bohemond Street. Now fitters are re-assembling it on the lawn at the entrance to the RAF Hospital where it will be on permanent display and floodlit at night 64 05 12

1964 05 13
The United States Air Force 10th Tactical Wing based at Alconbury, is ready 24 hours a day to fly to targets in Europe. But their RB-66B aircraft carry cameras, not bombs, and targets are only strafed with fire canisters to illuminate the ground many thousands of feet below providing pictorial evidence of military build up or bridges. The planes are packed with electronic aids, important to penetrate strongly defended areas. On returning the nine-inch wide film is developed in seven minutes and examined while still wet. 64 05 13 # c.45.8

Winifred Rayment, matron of Papworth Hospital, reflects on changes – 64 05 13a

City libraries to introduce token charging – 64 05 13b

Isle wants development for Wisbech, March and Chatteris – 64 05 13c

Pye group in the space race – 64 05 13d # c.27.1

1964 05 14
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on All Saints Passage – 64 05 14-b

1964 05 15
Barrington church find paintings three skeletons – 64 05 15

Soham village life photo feature – 64 05 15a

Ratepayers' Association keep watch on council spending – 64 05 15b

Waterbeach RAF station used by Airfield Construction Unit – 64 05 15c

Explosion at Koch Laboratories, Haverhill – 64 05 15d

1964 05 16
Wilburton Best Kept Village sign unveiled – 64 05 16

1964 05 20
Ramsey golf club to open – feature – 64 05 20

1964 05 21
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Park Street – 64 05 21 [DYS cut]

Peter John Warren, Cambridge Mayor- profile – 64 05 21

1964 05 22
Peaks new carpet centre, Fitzroy St – 64 05 22 # c.27.2

An undergraduate who daubed a political slogan on King's College Chapel has been suspended for a year – one of the longest suspensions in the history of the University. The first-year student from St Catharine's painted 'Free Mandela' – the African political leader – on the chapel wall. A second student has been rusticated until the end of term – 64 05 22a

Planning permission has never been obtained to convert part of St Ives town hall into an office, occupied at present by the Town Clerk. According to planning records it is still listed as a women's toilet. When the council took over the building, Stanley House, 40 years ago, it prompted great opposition. So heated were the arguments that after brawls and fights a government inspector was appointed and opponents put up their own candidates for the council. 64 05 22b

1964 05 23
RAF Alconbury – feature on the USAF base – 64 05 23 # c.45.8

1964 05 27
Housing problem for Cambridge industry – 64 05 27

1964 05 28
Alderman H.R. Mallett officially opened the new branch library in Barnwell Road, nine years after it was first announced. Because of the credit squeeze the Library Committee were refused permission to raise a loan in 1955. Three years later a library was opened in a shop where it continued until now. The first book was issued to ten-year-old Susan Northfield of Priory School by City Librarian, Eric Cave 64 05 28 # c.77.4

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Eden Street – 64 05 28a-d

1964 05 29
Heavy explosions and columns of smoke around Duxford airfield marked the destruction of groups of blast baffle walls which were built when jet aircraft came into general use after the war. Dickerson's hope to get most of the 56 walls, each weighing 240 tons, down in one day. Sixteen baffles near the main road are being left until last so police can assess whether any special traffic precautions are needed. The concrete rubble will be broken into hardcore to be used for building work at Arbury Road. 64 05 29

Revolutionary planning proposals for central Cambridge being considered – 64 05 29a

Prickwillow Baptist Church organ should be completely rebuilt by the minister, Rev Christian Evans who has already installed an electric blower to save having it pumped manually. The 150-year-old pipe organ will be moved from its present position in the gallery to the front of the church downstairs. He has spent two years building an electronic organ which stands in the Manse. The keyboard comes from an old American organ, an old dining table forms the cabinet work and it has 50 wireless valves. The speaker is housed in a five-foot tall sewer pipe. 64 05 29b

Steeple Morden, Guilden Morden photo feature – 64 04 29c

In 1918 two Sutton brothers, Baden & Stanley Powell were working on their father's farm when the milk from a small dairy was not making very good money. So they decided to make cheese, hawking them from door to door by pony and cart. In those days there were a dozen cheese makers in villages around Sutton and they had to work long hours. They abandoned the dairy in The Row and built a much larger one, Rathmore Diaries, near the church. But then the war stopped the supply of milk. By the end Mr Powell was the only cheese maker and today he produces a quarter of a million pounds a year.64 05 29d

1964 05 30

Screaming teenage girls besieged the Co-op in Burleigh Street when the Merseybeats, a 'pop' music group from Liverpool, made a personal appearance. Four policemen pushed the crowds back when the group arrived in a taxi and inside girls clambered on to radiograms, refrigerators and television to see them as they signed autographs in the record department. Some girls wept and others grabbed publicity photographs. Finally John Banks, Tony Crane. Aaron Williams and Johnny Gustafson escaped and relaxed with coffee before departing for Manchester 64 05 30 # c.69

A new system of issuing books is to be introduced to Cambridge libraries to reduce waiting times. During peak periods queues have built up whilst staff search for tickets. Now borrowers will be given a small plastic card in exchange for books returned and they will hand back the tokens when the new books are date-stamped on the way out. City Librarian Eric Cave expects a lot of users will find it strange at first but it will be more efficient and relieve pressure on staff 64 05 30a, b

Soham church gets new lead roof – 64 05 30c

June 1964 CN

1964 06 02
Fuller's new restaurant at 17 King's Parade is ultra-modern in every way without losing any of the quant charm of the building which houses it or the delightful character of Cambridge itself. Here is a restaurant especially designed to cater for people of individual taste. For such a discriminating clientele it offers a retail shop, self-service or waitress restaurant. Individual rooms may be reserved for private functions. Open 9am to 8 pm, weekdays, 10 to 8 Sundays – Advert 64 06 02

Cambridgeshire County Council is anxious to buy compulsory some land at Castle Hill, including that occupied by the Sir Isaac Newton public house, for their new assize courts building scheme. They also want a private house in Gloucester Street and a cycle store. Much of the other land between Gloucester Street corner and the county police headquarters has already been acquired for the court project permission for which has been given after a delay of several years. Work should start this year. 64 06 02a

Newmarket Road footbridge discussed – 64 06 02b

1964 06 03
Small in stature, yet one of the liveliest bungles of energy in Cambridge, is Mrs J.C. Burkill. She was the instigator of the University Graduate Society set up in 1963 for visiting scholars and their wives from all corners of the globe. It can be difficult for the wives: their husbands dine in college and they often sit down to a boiled egg at home. During the war she helped get 800 refugee children out of Europe and settle in the area, then pioneered New Hall, allowing girls to study in Cambridge. "Fortunately I have a wonderfully patient husband", she says 64 06 03

Whether or now new shopping development takes place in Lion Yard or at City Road the old shopping area should stay where it is and retain its highly individual character. Cambridge has continued to attract more and more visitors leading to fears of King's College ashtrays and "Kiss me quick" mortar boards. But one development benefiting both local and visitor must be the creation of a pedestrian precinct such as the one at Harlow. It would enable streets to be given over to their rightful functions as places for strolling, shopping and gossip 64 06 03a

1964 06 04
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Emmanuel Road – 64 06 04a-d

The opening of Churchill College by the Duke of Edinburgh could hardly be called a ceremony. It was more like an indoor garden party. The College was pretty open already but now it is more open that it was before, he told guests. He was serious about the role it should play in today's scientific and technological age. Earlier he strolled round an undergraduate's room, chatted with workmen and joked with bedders. The sherry and cocktail party which preceded the lunch was a bright affair which brought out the Ascot feeling in many of the fashionable ladies present. 64 06 06– 64 06 04, 64 06 05, 05a # c.44.5

1964 06 05
Houghton village life photo feature – 64 06 05c

Charlie Wearn at Wendens Ambo makes garden statues & marble floors – 64 06 05d

Listed buildings may not be demolished but owners need not keep them in repair and they often deteriorate until they are condemned as a danger to public safety. Cromwell's barn in St Ives was a magnificent example of a 16th-century manorial barn but it was burn down because it became unsafe. In Cambridge many little cottages are disappearing behind scaffolding to emerge with a completely different character and price-tag. Some houses in Portugal Place and a tiny court near Sidney Sussex College are in danger but Orchard Street has been saved by the Preservation Society 64 06 05b # c.61.2

1964 06 06
Compulsory purchase orders have been confirmed for the clearance of areas at Napier Street, Leeke Street, Coronation Street, Gold Street and Russell Street. But the Minister has excluded some properties in Newmarket Road and Burleigh Place together with no 9 Coronation Street which his inspectors say is fit for habitation. Objectors had claimed that compulsory acquisition would cause hardship and was not necessary for redevelopment. 64 06 06a # c.49.4

The Victoria Ballroom in market square is the principal rendezvous for groups such as The Undertakers, The Moving Coils, Black Diamonds and Dawnbreakers. Most nights it provides a musical attraction: jazz sessions on Tuesday with top flight bands such as Kenny Ball and Chris Barber. But just around the corner the Dorothy Restaurant has featured Kathy Kirby, the Merseybeats and Manfred Mann. Helping to bury the old cry that Cambridge is 'dead' after dark are the cellar-bar 'shuffles' where regulation dress is jeans or slacks, sloppy sweaters and dark glasses. When not twisting or shaking the current rage for both sexes is to smoke miniature cigars and drink 'James Bonds' 64 06 06b # c.69

Newmarket's 120-year-old goods station with its grandiose façade of nine pairs of stone columns is still in everyday use. Caravans and machinery account for most of the traffic. Standing in its own grounds with a frontage of over 100 feet it gives the impression of a country mansion. Until recently it was home to a railway porter but they have moved to a more modern house and now the rooms are draped in dust sheets, unused. Newmarket councillors call it a 'monstrosity' and want it to be used for industrial development. But now it has been listed as a building of special architectural interest 64 06 06c

Blind-folded student cycled through Cambridge rush hour – 64 06 06d

1964 06 08
Burwell Poor's Fen Charity has been in debt since they were set up in 1883 after villagers had rioted over rights to cut grass and reeds on common land. They'd armed themselves with cutlasses and staves and the militia were called out to restore order. But the charity had to play for the military's costs out of their income. Now they have sold Poor's Fen Farm and invested the money to supply coal to the poor and needy 64 06 08

1964 06 09
Large twin-engined Vickers Varsity aircraft warm up their engines as Oakington Flying Training School start another period of night flying. The planes lumber round to the end of the runway, pause to allow safety checks and then haul themselves into the sky. Villagers attempting to sleep complain that all they do at Oakington is night flying and urge the RAF to relocate to quieter areas. But it is an essential part of the flying curriculum. 64 06 09

John Evans Bidwell, the well-known Cambridge chartered surveyor and land agent, was one of the founders of Papworth Village Settlement in 1916 64 06 09a

Bottisham has four public houses but few know the Queen's Head as it closely resembles a modest country cottage and does not even have a name-plate. William Osbourn, 86, has held the licence for 53 years but now has only seven regular customers. They are mostly friends who come for a glass of beer and a game of dominoes. There is one room, kept spick and span with wooden seats, a table and a few old prints. His family have been running pubs in the village for over 100 years. Once there were six others but now just the Bell, Swan and Anchor remain. 64 06 09b

1964 06 10
Enid Porter, Folk Museum curator – profile 64 06 10

1964 06 11
Royston railways in Victorian times recalled – 64 06 11

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Fitzroy Street = 64 06 11 [DYS cut]

1964 06 12
Hundon photo feature – 64 06 12

Steeple Morden 'at crucial stage' planning inquiry into eight houses told – 64 06 12a

Shirley School lollipop lady – 64 06 12b

1964 06 13
Mandela: protests at savage sentences – 64 06 13

Pre-fabricated aluminium bungalows Church End Cherry Hinton to be made safe, suffer corrosion – 64 06 13a # c.23

1964 06 15
Dr Hatley, Waterbeach GP retires – 64 06 15

Cambridge housing squalor – squatters; 500 houses have no hot water, 5,000 no bath, 640 no flush lavatories – 64 06 15a # c.23 # c.32.9

1964 06 16
Prefabs may be answer to city's house problems; cars not considered when planning new estates; survey King's Hedges – 64 06 16a # c.23

Saffron Walden 'Walden Cinema' to close – 64 06 16b

Fire Brigade HQ, Parkside soon to open; 'temporary' buildings in Newmarket Road built during war have outlived usefulness – 64 06 16c # c.34.75

1964 06 17
Edith Hepher, Swavesey councillor – profile – 64 06 17

March store owned by Miller and Skoulding catches fire – 64 06 17a

Footballers' summer jobs – 64 06 17b (see Memories) # c.38 : football

1964 06 18
Meters fail to pay new Park Street car park losses – 64 06 18

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on French's Road – 64 06 18a

1964 06 19
Thatcher Henry Hancock of Grantchester retires, 86 – 64 06 19

Wilbraham photo feature – 64 06 19a

River Cam memories from the 1920s – feature – 64 06 19b # c.46.5

1964 06 20
Pidley volunteers scythe churchyard – 64 06 20

Rank Bros Garage, Bottisham makes cancer research instruments – 64 06 20a

1964 06 22
Automatic half-barrier railway level crossings to be installed Wisbech Road Manea and Bottisham Rd Waterbeach – 64 06 22

1964 06 23
Prowlers pop group members open antique shop Waterbeach – 64 06 23

Wilburton church renovation appeal – 64 06 23a

Sutton former vicarage where Winston Churchill spent many Christmases is being demolished – 64 06 23b

1964 06 24
Grantchester barn to become music room of new house – 64 06 24

East Barnwell youth centre opened – 64 06 24a # c.37.9

1964 06 25
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Shaftesbury Road – 64 06 25 -a 1964 06 26

Bottisham Lode railway station, once used by dairy farmers as a centre for milk distribution, is to close under the Beeching plan. The old waiting rooms, station master's office and lamp room will be turned into office accommodation. James Beard, who has worked as porter for 45 years, members when there was also a station master, three clerks, two signalmen and an assistant porter. Now only he remains. The once gleaming rails are becoming rusty and the British Railways sign creaks on ancient hinges. Three times a week freight trains pass through but these will stop on July 13th – 64 06 26

Large postbox being moved further along Sidney Street – 64 06 26a

Gt Gransden photo feature – 64 06 26b

A group of women meet twice a week in a corner of Cambridge police station. Some are typists, some work in laboratories and banks, but the majority are ordinary housewives. They are all rifle shooting enthusiasts who practice on the police range. They change into slacks and firing jackets, then erect target cards and collect ammunition. Their ambition is to be selected for the county women's smallbore team. Husbands and boy friends used to be rather patronising when they took up shooting as a hobby. That is until they were invited to the range one evening and given the opportunity to shoot. 64 06 26c

1964 06 27
A giant post box has been moved from its position in Sidney Street to a spot a few yards away. It has been there for 30 years. The box is one of the largest in the provinces 64 06 27

London Co-operative Society are to close their creamery at Ditton Walk because they have not go sufficient milk in the area to keep it going since Cambridge Co-op now want an extra 1,000 gallons to mean increasing population. The creamery supplied milk only to London areas. Many of the staff of 22 have been there for 30 years 64 06 27a

1964 06 30
A car park was needed on the West side of the river to help clear Queen's Road and they should consider an underground car park at the Backs, councillors heard. Park Street was a mistake because it was too near the city centre but Coe Fen was one of the best places for a surface car park. Queen Anne Terrace was a marvellous site as it could have a basement, three of four storeys of flats and a roof garden restaurant. There would be a mini-bus to get shoppers into the centre which meant the Lion Yard would be used more by people who came to park for the day. 64 06 30

July 1964 CN

1964 07 01
Sites in St Matthew's Ward, which have been cleared for redevelopment, are being used for rubbish dumping and becoming overgrown with weeds. The worst parts are a big dump of soot and abandoned car parts in Burleigh Place. There were also concerns about sites in Petworth Street and Staffordshire Street as well as Coronation Street. If a property was not demolished at once, vagrants moved in. There was a risk of squatting if they didn't fence off some of the areas, councillors heard. 64 07 01a

1964 07 02
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Magdalene Street – 64 07 02-02e

1964 07 05
Snowy the roadman is the first person newcomers to Oakington notice, for he always wears a 'bowler' to work. Walter Reginald Farr was born in Longstanton and has been a roadman eight years. He has three bowlers including a Sunday best which he only wears at weekends with his dress suit when he goes for a walk. 'Snowy' sports a colourful, grizzled beard, yellow at its thickest but now greying at the sides. His face is a lobster read and he has bright, friendly blue eyes. He takes a pride in the village and there is no doubt the village take a pride in him. 64 07 05

The Burystead in Sutton is 600 years old. Saxon built, it dates back to the early 14th century when it was a manor, surrounded by a moat. It was part of the living of Alan de Walsingham, a lifetime before the parish church was completed. It is still in the possession of the Ecclesiastical Authorities but now rented by the Sutton Smallholders Association. The house was modernised three years ago. It has six rooms, three up and three down, and two toilets. The present tenants have lived there for 10 years – a 60th of the former manor's life 64 07 05a

Fulbourn photo feature – 64 07 05b

1964 07 06
Proposals for a new town for more than 100,000 people at Lakenheath, instead of Stansted were backed. It would very desirable to have some sort of growth in the area which at the moment is very sparsely populated and should suit industry Planners say an airport at Stansted would take good agricultural land and travel developments such as helicopters and monorails would bring Lakenheath within an hour of the capital. It has the longest runway for planes in the country and could be developed as London's third airport. But there are no plans at present for closing the American base and a new hospital and other facilities have recently been built. 64 07 06

Cambridge expansion: Conservatives would like to encourage businesses which start in the town and want the Market Square to be the main centre. Socialists want new light industries with the Lion Yard as a civic centre and with new shopping in Burleigh Street while the Liberals favour a central pedestrian precinct with public transport in the form of a minibus service or travloator. 64 07 06a

1964 07 07
First automatic railway crossing gates being tested at Manea – 64 07 07

1964 07 009
Councillor Jean Barker, wife of the headmaster of the Leys, believes television is partially to blame for the unruly behaviour of some teenagers. "They come home from work to find their parents glued to the television and get so bored that they just drift out again onto the street corners", she contends. But at boarding schools evenings are filled with a great variety of social activities. However day schools are more suitable for girls as home life is important and boarding schools can be de-feminising. Her ambition is to open a first-class 'frightfully expensive but frightfully good' restaurant in Cambridge – possibly in a boat house 64 07 08

City Librarian, Eric Cave had a past history of severe concussion after an accident in 1941 64 07 08a # c.77.4

1964 07 09
Tattersalls plans for new sales ring at Newmarket – 64 07 09

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Regent Terrace – 64 07 09-09a

1964 07 10
Elsworth village life photo feature – 64 07 10

St Michael's church is a very important prototype of college chapels with much 14th-century building. The architectural interior would be improved by proposals to convert it to other uses. Some services would continue to be held. Ald Warren said he supported a grant if it was to be an ecclesiastical museum but not if it was to become a meeting room or youth centre. The committee decided a grant would not be justified. 64 07 10a # c.83

Grays of Cambridge, manufacture of high-quality sports equipment, are best known for as makers of rackets. H.J. Gray, the founder, became rackets champion in 1864 when he was succeeded by his brother. Business grew rapidly and in 1912 they moved to the present factory in Benson Street. Then they developed a revolutionary tennis rack and never looked back. Now hockey sticks are their most successful line but ski-ing is the sport of the future 64 07 10b # c.27

The roof of St Andrew's church, Soham, is being re-leaded to prevent water dripping on to the new altar in the 13th-century building. The old lead, laid in 1798, was stripped off and taken to Norwich where it was melted and purified with new pig lead added. The roof has also been treated against death watch beetle and fungus and the stonework cleaned. 64 05 30c
Elsworth photo feature – 64 07 10

Water may be let into the Old West River without detrimental affect on water levels or danger to agricultural land. With dredging it is the only hope of preserving it so that the public could enjoy its fishing, boating and other amenities. New disposal works at Over would eliminate existing discharges of unpurified sewage but future development would more than double the amount of effluent entering the river and some fresh water should be admitted through Hermitage Sluice. But the height of the river was only just below the level of the washes and if more water were let through there would be trouble halfway down the river 64 07 10c # c.46.5

1964 07 11
With a shuddering roar, a diesel locomotive disturbed the sleepy silence of Mildenhall railway station and with four empty wagons trundled away on the last trip to Cambridge. The station's freight line, which opened in 1885, had fallen under the Beeching axe. The stationmaster, Mr N.S. Sykes, stood on the platform among weeds and wild flowers and waved as the train pulled out. Passenger services were withdrawn in 1961 and freight limited to coal, cattle seed and worn tyres which were sent to Harwich for export. 64 07 11 # c.26.2

Hayrick with thatched roof in Lordship farm, Swaffham Bulbeck – 64 07 11a

1964 07 13
Heyworths sale advertisement – 64 07 13 & a

1964 07 14
Club Jazz, which opens at the Lion Hotel, is the first to have Musician's Union support and is an attempt to sink differences between bands, individuals and musicians which have bedevilled the jazz scene for many years. Mondays will feature folk music, Tuesdays modern and Thursdays traditional jazz presented by local bands. Sitters will be able to sit and listen without a soundproof screen of dancing bodies. Dancers can dance without being invaded by drinkers from the bar and drinkers can listen at a distance that makes the music a comfortable background to conversation and not a vociferous profusion of decibels 64 07 14 # c.69

1964 07 15
Stretham bypass work continues – photo – 64 07 15

1964 07 16
If Oxford to Cambridge passenger rail services are withdrawn alternative road services will add congestion – 64 07 16

A path for pedestrians should be placed outside the Coldham's Lane bridge which is a danger, the Accident Prevention Council say. Such a path had been proposed for Barnwell bridge but the need was more urgent here as there had been two fatalities in recent years. 64 07 16a

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Mill Lane – 64 07 16 [DYS cut]

1964 07 17
St Matthew's Piece may make way for new youth centre – 64 07 17

Waterbeach photo feature – 64 07 17a

1964 07 18
The new three-storey March divisional police headquarters and Civil Defence area control in Burrowmoor Road replaces the old station in High Street built just over a century ago. The ground floor is designed to accommodate an inquiry counter, communications equipment, accommodation for officers, police woman and a parade room together with a surgeon's annexe and a cell block. Upstairs are rooms for the admin, traffic and CID while the basement comprises the Civil Defence area control. 64 07 18

1964 07 21
Hartford cottages in 'The Hollow' being demolished for new bypass – 64 07 21

Cam Controls of Ainsworth Place, are a small company in what is a virtually new electrical industry. They specialise in control equipment for heating, ventilating and air conditioning and have fulfilled a contract for a New Delhi college and an aircraft testing building at Farnborough where the Concord is undergoing trials. They train their own staff as it is impossible to find men experienced in this kind of work and take a pride in their maintenance service. 64 07 21a # c.27.1

1964 07 22
Toft people are buying their former primary school and hope to re-open it as a village hall which will also serve Hardwick, Kingston and Caldecote. At present all they have is the church institute, a very small place. The building needs another exit, a kitchen and flush toilets – and it also has a leaky roof. During the war the village raised £750 for a fund that was never used and this, with a grant and interest-free loans from residents, will finance the scheme. 64 07 22

St Neots vicarage in Church Street may be demolished for building – 64 07 22

The Isle of Ely will lose one of its most ancient offices – that of Custos Rotulorum – when the county is amalgamated with Cambridgeshire next April. The office dates back to about 1460 and is responsible for the records of the county and quarter sessions. The present holder is Ald Leonard Childs of Chatteris who was appointed by the King in 1952. In Cambridgeshire the office is held by the Lord Lieutenant, Ald R.H. Parker 64 07 22a # c.43

Nearly 500 people attended a greyhound race meeting at Chesterton Fen Road, one of eight to be held during the next few weeks. Now organisers are planning a campaign for a permanent track equipped with floodlights and facilities 64 07 22b # c.38 : greyhound

Chesterton Towers to be renovated and opened to public. It would be fenced off from flats to be constructed alongside 64 07 22c # c.61.2

1964 07 23
Trinity Baptist church, Huntingdon needs £10,000 to make the church and its 182 ft steeple safe. The deeds say that if it is closed down and sold the money must be distributed to charity. For five years services have been carried on in a small converted hall at the back of the building with congregations from 50-100. The church is without minister at present and until its fate is known the trustees cannot invite a new pastor 64 07 23

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Bene't Street – 64 07 23-23c

1964 07 24
Electrical engineers are busy analysing the damage from recent storms. Special devices have been fitted to minimise damage – feature – 64 07 24 # c.24.6

1964 07 25
Royston Social Club members were bold enough to buy the Manor House, a gracious 18th century residence off Melbourn Street in 1949. Today it is the town's most popular social centre. With two billiard rooms, a lounge, card room and bar it offers facilities and informality to its 500 members. Formerly home of the Phillip's family it was requisitioned by the military during the war. Now rooms are leased to firms for offices and an annexe formerly used by the county library has been demolished. 64 07 25

1964 07 26
The 'Genial Squire of Soham Grammar School' as Mr C.J. Ford , the second master was termed, retired after 38 years as chemistry and biology master having joined the staff in 1928. Headmaster E.A. Armitage praised his high academic quality, sense of dignity and occasion. He will remain in residence at his home at the bottom of the school drive and will teach occasionally. Tribute was also paid to Mr A. Lawrence the mathematics master who retired after 12 years. When he joined the staff the department was in poor shape, now it is excellent 64 07 26

1964 07 27
Marriage Elizabeth Ann Scambler – 64 07 27

1964 07 29
Shepreth churchyard extension consecrated – 64 07 29

1964 07 30
Pye produces world's first transistorised nuclear reactor – 64 07 30 # c.27.1 : Pye

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Round Church Street – 64 07 30 [DYS cut]

1964 07 31
Fordham village life photo feature – 64 07 31a

August 1964 CN

1964 08 01
Caxton is a dying village following the closure of one of the two general stores in the village. It is in three separate clumps including a council estate built since the war. But there was insufficient employment and most tenants had to work away from the village. Local industry should be established providing jobs for 30 people. The parish council had drawn up a plan for carefully phased development 64 08 01a

Borehole at Melbourn could have serious effect on Cam, turning it into open sewer – fear – 64 08 01b

1964 08 03
Moses Carter, giant of Histon – 64 08 03

Midfield House at Oakington is a reception centre for children in need of care. Some are short-term visitors, others are admitted under the Children's Act. Every child brings a problem. They are assessed and transferred to a home at Shelford, to foster-parents or sent for training. There is plenty to keep them mentally fit and interested. Up to five share a daintily decorated bedroom and parents are encouraged to visit whenever possible. Some, after rehabilitation, return to their families. 64 08 03a

The US Air Force 10th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing at Alconbury uses 1.5 m gallons of fuel a month in their RB-66 jets. Ninety per cent is loaded by two-man crews from an underground supply system and an aircraft can be refuelled within 15 minutes. Other aircraft are serviced by tankers like those used at petrol stations. Two six-inch pipelines direct from the supply dept at Sawtry service the two storage areas and the underground system with its 50,000 gallon tanks and seven pump stations. Another aspect of the fuel supply is the liquid oxygen plant manufacturing breathing oxygen for airmen. – 64 08 03b

Haddenham Young Farmers Club show 64 08 03c

1964 08 04
The annual Caucus Race at Trinity College saw undergraduates in gowns set off on a mad career around the Great Court. Each man must run round every rectangle in the pattern formed by the grass. Some crafty students carried mathematically-calculated routes and beneath their gowns wore running shorts and plimsolls. After the race many competitors cooled off with a face-splash from the fountain in the middle of the court and enjoyed a firkin of college ale. The idea of the race began a few years ago on the inspiration of a passage in 'Alice in Wonderland' 64 08 04 # c.39

1964 08 06
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Bridge Street – 64 08 06-06f

1964 08 07
A transistorised nuclear reactor developed by Pye Ltd is cheap yet provides immense opportunities in the field of research. It will produce short-lived isotopes for medical diagnosis and neutron activation. The reactor was built under licence to an American company and modified to raise the power to 100 kilowatts. In the event of overheating, boiling water within the reactor shuts down the output of the pile. Accidentally-dropped radio-active material is far more likely to bring the warning system into use that uncontrolled goings-on within the system. 64 08 07 # c.27.1 : Pye

Barrington village photo feature – 64 08 07a

1964 08 08
Electric lighting replacing gas in Riverside – 64 08 08

1964 08 11
Charlie is tall with bushy sideboards, a stovepipe hat and a face resembling Abraham Lincoln. It is thought he was a schoolmaster at Paxton Hall who died many years ago. But is has become increasingly apparent that his ghost still haunts the old gate house. There is one bedroom which smells of stale cigars and no matter how hard the door is closed, it always opens again. The pet cat, on reaching the room, scampers down the stairs as fast as possible. Another cat jumps on the bed, purring loudly. But there is nothing there. 64 08 11

194 08 12
Clark and Butcher, Soham – small fire will not affect mill's capacity – 64 08 12

1964 08 13
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Russell Street – 64 08 13 [DYS cut]

1964 08 14
Four pews can be removed from St Mary's Church, Buckden after objections by eight parishioners were overruled. One was from the granddaughter of John George Green who was granted exclusive use of two newly erected pews in August 1840. She had agreed to the removal of the front 'half-pew' provide she could have reserved rights in the second pew, which had been agreed. One of the other objectors was related to the craftsman who had made the pews. The church said there had been difficulty manoeuvring coffins during funerals. 64 08 14

Fire gutted a house at Harston Hill, destroying antique furniture stored in one of the rooms. It had been bought, together with the mill, by a Haslingfield builder who was restoring it. Flames reached 20 ft above the blazing house before its timbers collapsed. Firemen pulled down the walls of the upper floors and they were too dangerous to leave. But they successfully saved the mill itself. 64 08 14a

Heydon has one of the few churches damaged by bombs in the last war. In 1940 a bomb struck the embattled tower which collapsed and tore down most of the north side of the nave and the north aisle; the rest of the bombs falling harmlessly on a field behind a row of houses. The church has been thoroughly restored using the best of new building techniques. Restoration work was finished 16 years after the bombs fell and the church rededicated in 1956. 64 08 14b

Frank Fossey, a Great Eversden farmer, has made his own museum of outdated and disused farm implements and other items of country life. It includes everything from ploughs to gingerbread moulds together with a fly-trap used in his mother's dairy. Many inventions are only 40 years old but are already out of date and forgotten. Exhibits are housed in a thatched farmyard building dating from the 1500s and have a great attraction for local historians. [They now form part of the Farmland Museum at Denny Abbey] 64 08 14c

Hemingford Grey and Hemingford Abbots village photo feature – 64 08 14d

1964 08 15
Great Ouse flood protection scheme to open in September – 64 08 15

1964 08 17
'Focus on Cambridge' is a new documentary film seen through the eyes of two tourists as they drift along the Cam in a punt. Made by Norman Mason-Smith of Forgeron Films it is intended for people lecturing on Cambridge or tourists wishing to take home a memento of their visit. It was filmed in Technicolor, lasts 16 minutes and is available in 16mm format for £22 10s [about £370 at today's prices]. Cambridge City Libraries have agreed to take a copy 64 08 17 # c.65.6

1964 08 20
Lode villagers are seething over Newmarket RDC's decision to sell plots of building land to private individuals instead of using it for council houses. The largest piece has been offered to the council's engineer who designed the development. The controversy has swept aside ordinary gossip. One resident who sold land under the threat of a compulsory purchase order was convinced it was to be used for council housing. But now he finds it offered to individuals who wish to build their own homes. They are demanding an inquiry 64 08 20

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on King's Parade – 64 08 20 [RAl.4.80]

A bomb disposal squad from London removed a hand grenade from a Newmarket vicar's garden – after it had been for four days in a hole in the wall with a notice stating it was an unexploded bomb. The grenade, though to be a relic from the Great War, was discovered by the Vicar of St Mary's just before he left for holiday. He contacted the police who put it into a niche in the garden wall with a notice warning people to keep away. The bomb disposal squad have now taken it. 64 08 20a

1964 08 21
Tank transporters travel through Cambridge en route to Thetford – photo – 64 08 21

As the fire brigade mobiliser tape-records the warning call, the operator retrieves a file on the area in question. There are cards for every village showing the quickest route and full information on individual building with instructions on the appliances needed and the position of hydrants. The system is vital to allow fire fighters to have information allowing a safer battle against the flames but with new buildings constantly sprouting the work of documentation is never complete 64 08 21a

The new landlady of the Carpenter's Arms, Gt Wilbraham, Paula Lester, has been a leading lady at the Windmill Theatre. She has covered every aspect of the theatre since she made her stage debut aged 14 and was the youngest principal girl in a pantomime. Then she married Cecil Grosvenor-Brown, sales manager for a publishing company. They have taken the pub after a time in South Africa. It is wonderful to have a six o'clock opening time, she says. 64 08 21b

Old Contemptibles, British Expeditionary Force who stopped Germans reaching channel ports – photos - 64 08 21c

Punt owners say trade is bad with eighty per cent of those available for hire lying idle. Until 1950 students would take their books to the river in term time, but they don't do it nowadays. Some hirers use up their £1 deposits and leave the punts, then long-haired types jump in and smash them. Foreign visitors do much of the damage and the French treat the punts a lot rougher Scudamore's say. Their new fibreglass punts have been found too weak: they are too low and not really big or steady enough for hire work 64 08 21d

Teenage motor cycles and girl friends moved on from Wulfstan Way after complaints of noise – 64 08 21e

Everton village photo feature – 64 08 21f

1964 08 25
Littleport children's' treasure hunt – photos 64 08 25

Calibar prepacking factory fire, Angel Drove Ely – 64 08 25a

1964 08 26
Festival theatre invited audience to see performance again free, encouraged smoking and had programmes printed so could read by holding up to light – feature – 64 08 26

Dry Drayton has more than its fair share of problems, villagers claim. It is lacking essential amenities and facilities. It has no recreation ground with swings and mothers of young children live in daily fear of the heavy lorries that speed through. The sewerage system is inadequate, buses infrequent and the aircraft from RAF Oakington fly low at night. Money has been raised for a new hall but nothing has been done, leaving just the old hut. "We have to play bingo with gloves on in winter, it's so cold in there" one pensioner complains. 64 08 26a

Spillers laboratory Station Road fire, explosion fear – 64 08 26b # c.34.75

1964 08 27
Royston's Eagle Tavern area soon to have piped water – 64 08 27

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Burleigh Street – 64 08 27a-h

1964 08 28
The Lion Yard area is badly laid out and contains 'obsolete development'; there should be a small increase in shopping space with the rest devoted to civic and university uses, Sir Keith Joseph, the Minister of Housing says. A brand new shopping area should be created in the City Road area – the present twilight zone. It will take traffic away from the centre, cater for modern supermarket trends and fit in with plans for the continuation of the East Road housing scheme 64 08 28, 28b # c.49.67 # c.49.4 # c.49.66

Isleham church angels fired at by Cromwell's men – 64 08 28a

Traders are split over proposals for a new shopping centre off Fitzroy Street. Claude Scott, motor agents, say trade would be increased but he would seek full compensation to leave. T. Tarrants tobacconists, say it would be good but family businessman A.P. Cook of Prospect Row, who has run a grocery store for 50 years, says he will fight hard against compulsory purchase. Mrs J.A. Douglas of Earl Street, who has just modernised her house, is horrified at the proposals. 64 08 28c # c.49.66

Gt Abington village photo feature – 64 08 28d

1964 08 29
"The Images", four youths who formed their own rock group, played in public for the first time at a Littleport charity function. About 300 children gave them a rousing welcome that would not have disgraced Beatle fans. Tony Gipp of Burnt Fen manages the group which includes David Kerridge (lead guitar), John Summers (rhythm guitar), John Drake from Little Ouse (bass) and Michael Taylor from Mildenhall (drums). They are the first rock group to be formed in Littleport 64 08 29

1964 08 31

Nearly 1,000 houses and 60 businesses will be effected in creating a new regional shopping centre off Fitzroy Street. 64 08 31

September 1964 CN

1964 09 01
Ward & sons, radio, bicycle and pram dealer to move from East Road to Burleigh St – 64 09 01

Madingley Cricket Club, who have bought the old Queens' College pavilion on the Barton Road ground, may cut it in sections and move it that way. Queens' new pavilion, which is a memorial to a former president, Dr J.A. Venn, will be ready for the start of term and the groundsman has already moved into an adjoining bungalow. It has the most modern facilities in Cambridge with showers, toilets and its own bar. But the planned car park has been left for a later date. 64 09 01a # c.38 : cricket

Powchers Hall at The College, Ely, is an old stone building almost as ancient as the Cathedral under whose wall it nestles. It is occupied by the Assistant Bishop. The building badly needed constant, sustained heating. Electric thermal storage heaters, modern, clean and automatic, were installed in the study, bedroom and landing. No other work has to be done. They are charged during the night and electricity does the rest 64 09 01b

1964 09 02
No new industries employing more than five people will be established and only a moderate expansion of those existing will be approved, says the Minister of Housing in his review of the Cambridge Town Map. The inner relief road will be rerouted to take it clear of Jesus College grounds and Marshall's garage and the Western Bypass will now run next to the University Observatory and behind properties in Storey's Way. Local shopping centres will be expanded at Mitcham's Corner, Mill Road and at the corner of Alex Wood Road. There will also be a car park to the south of Silver Street. 64 09 02 # c.49.4

Grantchester 17th century barn, part of Merton College estate, being converted into a music room – 64 09 02a

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Trinity Street = 64 09 03 [DYS cut]

1964 09 03
Plans by Theodora Gibbons of Hope Cottage, Wilburton Road, Stretham for residential development on 10 acres of land in Watson's Lane, Little Thetford were too extensive, planners say. The site fronts on an unmade drove and there is no sewer, though a public water supply was available. Permission was granted to develop the frontage only, providing access to the rear was created to cater for possible further development in stages. 64 09 03

Mike Hopkins of Willingham has built up a curious collection of photographs of the area. He holds public showing of his slides during winter months and they form a commentary in pictures of life decades ago. One shows a young boy wearing a mortar board operating a chaff cutter. With his left had he pushes the chaff along to the cutting knife while his foot depresses a block to hold it steady. Many of the plates were taken by Harold Smith, an amateur photographer who went to London and became a professional. Others were taken by Horace Thoday, another old-time photographer. 64 09 03a

Passenger services on the Ely to Newmarket line are to be withdrawn on January 4th and Soham and Fordham stations will be closed. Alternative bus services will be provided, though the stationmaster says that the present system is quite adequate to cope with the two or three passengers who use the stations. The line is uneconomic: six trains stop a day during summer but none run at time when a heavy load of passengers could be expected. The staff of 12 at each station will be retained to deal with freight traffic such as scrap iron from Middlesbrough and flowers from local nurseries 64 09 03b

1964 09 04
A journey on the fated Ely-Newmarket railway line shows why it has become the victim of Beeching's axe. The only regular traveller is a British Railway employee who uses it to get home to Fordham. Two people got on at Ely – both BR staff – and the only other passengers were an American couple touring Britain. There was nobody waiting at Soham or Fordham. Sometimes up to 30 people get on the Ely-bound station at Soham before changing trains to Cambridge but mostly only a few people use it. 64 09 04

Waterbeach & Clayhithe photo feature – 64 09 04a

1964 09 05
Cambridge Railway station to build park for 200 cars, coal tower to be demolished; Histon station prepare for garden competition – 64 09 05

Youngsters in the Youth Guild at Linton church are making their own coffee bar in the vicarage gardens, installing lighting and insulation. The wooden building was the church stand at the Royal Show in Cambridge three years ago. Now called the church pavilion it is used by the whole parish from the 'The Anglicans', church's own beat group, to the Mothers Union and bingo sessions. 64 09 05a

Linton village college construction photo – 64 09 05b

1964 09 07
Crowds lined the platform as the Beeching axe fell on Saffron Walden. About 130 people packed the rail bus on the final trip to Audley End. They included the chairman of the Railway Group which had led the fight to keep it open. The guard, Ron Cornwell who has worked on the railway since 1946, commented "If a few more of these had travelled earlier on, perhaps it would not have been closed." At Haverhill two local railwaymen were the only people on the platform when the diesel railbus, crowded with passengers made the last journey on the branch line between Bartlow and Audley End. It will be replaced by buses. 64 09 07

Boys Brigade needs to present a modern image to young people – parade at Cambridge – 64 09 07a

Milton people petitioned for a weekly refuse collection saying their dustbins are seething with maggots and breeding house flies and rats. The present fortnightly collections are inadequate. Some residents of the flats have no open fireplace or incinerator and since the lawns have been sown, no open ground to burn kitchen waste. Young children were tempted to explore overflowing garbage and gastric illnesses had caused high absence from the school. 64 09 07b

1964 09 08
Milton dustbin complaints answered – 64 09 08

1964 09 09
Plans for a new Cambridgeshire Rural Council combining Chesterton and South Cambs Eural Council with Newmarket proposed with headquarters at Great Eastern House – 64 09 09

Hemingford Abbots new vicarage – 64 09 09a

1964 09 10
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Market Hill – 64 09 10 [DYS cut]

Newmarket Road new branch library needs extra children's books – 64 09 10

1964 09 11
The 14th-century cross at Stretham is in danger of collapsing unless it is repaired. A Cambridge firm have estimated that the renovations would cost up to £4000 but Ely Rural Council cannot obtain a grant from the Ministry of Works and Public Buildings. Stretham Parish Council have powers to spend only one-fifth of a penny rate (about £15) on the cross – 64 09 11

Saffron Walden plans for new shops, road and pedestrianisation of King Street – 64 09 11a
Comberton photo feature – 64 09 11b

1964 09 15
The first stage of Cambridge's Inner Relief Road would comprise twin-carriageways starting with a roundabout at Murkett's Corner, on the junction of Huntingdon and Histon Roads. The planned road goes southward through the Rex Cinema site, leaving space for the proposed law courts near Shire Hall. As it approaches Chesterton Road there will be a flyover to take the main traffic flow over a roundabout. Then there would be a new bridge over the Cam before it crosses Jesus Green parallel to Park Parade. A subway will give access under the road to Jesus Green. 64 09 15 # c.49.62

1964 09 16
Alconbury bypass flyover inspected – 64 09 16

Pye Thermal Bonders formed – 64 09 16a

1964 09 17
Retired Squadron Leader Douglas Thompson Adamson has bought Joist Farm, Waterbeach and is adopting modern methods on a traditional fen farm. He has built a 200-ton grain store in an old Dutch barn with eight Crittal silos equipped with the latest Simplex 'Airsweep' floor cleaning. He hopes to mechanise the sugar beet crop though he does not believe that thinners or gappers are altogether satisfactory for fen soil. Most important, like many farmers, he aims to expand. 64 09 17

Trinity Church in High Street Huntingdon was sold by auction for £42,000. A landmark in the town with its 182 feet spire, it was built about 1868 replacing a chapel dating from 1823 in Grammar School Walk. There is outline planning consent for the building of shops on the site. Money raised by the sale might be used for a new church on part of the site on which the school hall and caretaker's cottage now stands or on another on a completely different site 64 09 17a

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Hobson Street – 64 09 17b-e

1964 09 18
Ely Broad Street car park site photo – 64 09 18

Liberals call for traffic-free Petty Cury – 64 09 18b

A.G. Wright saw 1,700 acres of his land at Haddenham swamped by the flood of 1947. Since then he has worked to avoid a similar disaster. He has a wide knowledge of fen drainage and has been responsible for many improvements meeting the challenge of Britain's biggest drainage scheme in the same way as he introduced mechanisation into fenland farming – with knowledge and a realisation of the enormity of the task. Now he believes the flood ménage is beaten. In honour of his work, part of the scheme will be named after him 64 09 18a # c.29

South Cambs 3,000th council house, Sawston – 64 09 18e

Milton High Street farmhouse demolition for Hereward Estate – photo – 64 09 18d

Huntingdon Holy Trinity church to be Tesco supermarket – 64 09 18c

The country parsonage is changing. Once it was a sombre, imposing residence in spacious grounds. Now it is a dignified, modern house in more modest surroundings with central heating. A clergyman was an important figure in a village community, ranking with the squire. Now he is less well off than his neighbours. So the Diocese is building new homes and many a parson's lot has been improved. Six were completed in 1962, including at Wood Ditton and Lt Shelford. Now one at Dry Drayton is about to be occupied 64 09 18bb

Melbourn village photo feature – 64 09 18f

Farm Dairies, F.G. Jeater, Pound Hill – careers for milkman – 64 09 18g

1964 09 19
A chalk inscription claiming the Great Ouse River Board's £10 million flood protection scheme was a 'waste of money' had to be removed from the Lark Head sluice at Barton Mills before it was opened. It marked the end of ten years' work on the three-part scheme which has included a 27-mile relief channel skirting the edge of the fens, the widening of the Ely Ouse and Ten Mile Rivers and the construction of a new 11-mile relief channel from Denver to King's Lynn. It is as great an engineering feat as anything ever attempted in this country. 64 09 19 # c.29

1964 09 21
Ely Chamber of Commerce exhibition, Paradise – 64 09 21

1964 09 23
Balsham's Susan Plum coaching inn, formerly Fox & Hounds, to be sold – 64 09 23

Cambridge airport, an asset to city – feature on Marshall's – 64 09 23a # c.26.1

1969 09 24
Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Regent Street – 64 09 24, 64 10 01 [RAl.4.75]

St Neots Salvation Army citadel damaged when lorries lit wall – 64 09 24

Avalon furniture – two-page colour advertisement – 64 09 24a-b # c.04

Cambridge Water & Lee Valley Water Company sink boreholes at Melbourn to ensure water supply, fear might dry up source of Cam at Ashwell – 64 09 24c

1964 09 25
Caxton Gibbet roundabout construction – 64 09 25

Burwell photo feature – 64 09 25b

Cambridgeshire's 19 wartime airfields are falling into disuse or being reclaimed as farm land. Weed-choked runways, derelict barracks and tumbledown conning towers are all that is left. At Duxford the concrete baffles have been demolished and its runways are disappearing with the rubble being used for housing and road building. Waterbeach had a succession of Vikings and Vampires aircraft but now it is mainly trainers that take off. At Bottisham many of the buildings are used for storing grain. But Mepal, which recently had a Thor missile base, is now in the hands of the Americans – 64 09 25c # c.45.8

1964 09 26
Lidgate school sold to community for £1 – 64 09 26

Unicam blacklisted by Russia because of dealings with Greville Wynne who sentenced for spying – 64 09 26a # c.27.1 : Unicam

Horningsea cemetery consecrated – 64 09 26b

Therfield church ransacked – 64 09 26c

1964 09 30
Television booster station to be top of gas works – 64 09 30

Soham Lloyds bank celebrates 60 years business – formerly Capital & Counties – 64 09 30a

Fitzroy Street shopping development to be linked to centre by free bus – feature – 64 09 30b

October 1964 CN

1964 10 01
The new Arthur Rickwood Experimental Husbandry Farm at Mepal will soon start trials to find out how peat soils can be conserved and wastage stopped. This was requested by Ald Rickwood when he gave the farm to the nation. The effects of herbicide will be studied together with irrigation techniques. The variety of sub-soils means that the farm is ideal for such experimental work. 64 10 01

Fen Drayton had to be evacuated following a nuclear explosion near Wisbech. There was no damage from the blast but because of radiation fall-out more than 200 people were moved to Civil Defence Headquarters at Gt Shelford. The last person to leave each house put a white towel in the window to indicate the house had been cleared. Police patrolled the village to prevent looting. But shopkeepers were worried about the loss of trade and some farmers were too busy to go. It was only an exercise to test plans in case of the real thing. 64 10 01a, 05a # c.45.8

1964 10 02
Coote and Warren, the coal merchants, have used Somersham as a coal depot ever since the station opened in 1850. But they have still not been informed by British Railways that it is to be closed on December 28th. Few other businesses will be affected. Norman's, the general stores, say supplies went to Chatteris by rail before coming in by road and fruit growers mostly have their own lorries. Stationmaster George Hlubek does not know where he will be transferred whilst Bert Rivers, who is now three years over retirement age, will stay on as a passenger porter 64 10 02

Whittlesford photo feature – 64 10 02a

1964 10 05
The new Cambridgeshire and Isle of Ely County Council was 'thrust upon us by a dying Parliament in defiance of local history and deep-seated tradition', claimed Coun. M.S. Pease. But the new chairman, Ald Jeeps, urged councillors to try to make it a success. He has worked all his life as a farmer and fruit grower, is courteous, firm, persuasive and quick to see a compromise solution to problems. He also knows the importance of silence as chairman. This makes him an ideal person for the job, Ald Rickwood, of the Isle of Ely County Council, said. 64 10 05 # c.35.1

Following the explosion of a nuclear bomb Cambridgeshire Civil Defence workers quickly evacuated men, women and children threatened by radiation from Fen Drayton. And then the 'accident' happened. A car with six occupants crashed into a ditch as part of a dummy accident to supplement their exercise. An ambulance was immediately despatched but it was involved in a real crash with a bus. As a result the 'victims' in their theatrical make-up had to wait for 40 minutes. Even then they could not be moved as the first-aid team failed to arrive. 64 10 05a # c.45.8

1964 10 07

The Community of St John the Baptist of Neale House, Huntingdon Road, Cambridge have been told that their temporary chapel has been granted planning permission until September 1967. It was built in 1959 by the former occupants of the house, the religious order of the Sisters of St Margaret, from East Grinstead. 64 10 07 # c.83

"I'm voting Labour with Robert Davis" says Jim Wilson, 86-year-old retired railway worker. "After working all my life now I have to live on £3.7.6 a week pension [about £61 today]. When I need anything else, like medicines, I have to go to the national assistance for help". Angela Fisher, a housewife, says: "too may young people starting families can't get a home. Labour are pledged to end profiteering in land and housing and to build more homes" 64 10 07a

1964 10 08
Cambridge Ring Road – the eastern bypass which was proposed before the war – is today bordered by rows of neat council houses and old peoples' flats. It runs from Fen Ditton to the main road under the name Wadloes Road then crosses Newmarket Road and continues as Barnwell Road. Then it peters out into a track behind Cambridge Airport until finally reaching Coldham's Lane. Now a new Inner Relief Road is proposed from Huntingdon Road to Jesus Green. But will either of them ever be completed? 64 10 08

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on St Andrew's Street – 64 10 08 [DYS cut]

1964 10 09
Cambridge air is only a little less dirty than that of Newcastle-on-Tyne with a considerable health hazard from smoke. Now a programme of control orders will be introduced at a cost of £18,000 a year to make Cambridge a smoke-free city by 1985. But the greatest danger came from vehicle emissions, there was an inadequate supply of smokeless fuel and it would involve hardship for old people, councillors argued. 64 10 09 # c.21.1

Brampton photo feature – 64 10 09a

Sir Hamilton Kerr Cambridge MP– profile – 64 10 09b

Robert Davies, Labour candidate – profile – 64 10 09c

Michael O'Loughlin, Liberal candidate – profile – 64 10 09d

Francis Pym – profile – 64 10 09e

Controversial plans for an inner relief road have been deferred. The general line of the road had been known since 1950. It would be an alternative to Magdalene Bridge and give better access to Park Street car park. But people along the proposed cannot sell their houses because of the uncertainty. If the Press had not reported council meetings they would not have known anything about it. 64 10 09f

Harry Legge-Bourke Isle MP – profile – 64 10 09g

1964 10 12
Corpus open Leckhampton House for research students – 64 10 12 # c.44.5

Mill Road shift workers say dustbins left in darkened streets are a menace and danger. Residents drag their dustbins into the street ready for an early collection. But at midnight all the street lights go out and people bump into them in the blackness of dreadful dustbin alleys. Elderly people say refuse collectors could take bins from the rear of their homes. But this would mean dustmen going through their houses. 64 10 12a # c.21.15

1964 10 13

Parents are keeping their children away from Comberton primary school because of inadequate heating in the classrooms. The old solid fuel stoves have been removed but replacement electric heaters have not been connected. Children sit huddled in one classroom wearing thick winter coats warmed only by drip-fed oil heaters. One teacher took her class to her own home because of the cold. The County Education Officer says the heating will be switched on tomorrow and there was nothing for parents to make a fuss about. 64 10 13

1964 10 15
Civic Society criticises Inner Relief Road - 64 10 15

The City Architect will prepare a scheme for car parking on Cambridge council estates. This could be on the verge side, by rear access roads, garage courts and in front gardens. Coun. Reilly said it was wrong that people in private houses should be allowed to park in front of their property while council house tenants were barred from doing so. This was especially clear in roads where there were both council and private properties. But his pleas for council tenants to park cars on their front gardens were defeated. 64 10 15a # c.26.48

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Sidney Street – 64 10 15 [RAl.4.73]

1964 10 16
Royston cave treasures – 64 10 16

Sir Winston Churchill used to stay at Sutton as a small boy when his great uncle, the Hon. C.F.O. Spencer, was Vicar of the parish. He often went at Christmas time and would worship in the magnificent church which is famous for its unusual tower which dates back to the 14th century. Because of its similarity to the Ely octagon it may be that it was build by craftsmen constructing the cathedral. The Rev Spencer was responsible for considerable restoration work and today the church is in a fine state. It seats 600 people and is filled several times a year, particularly for harvest festival 64 10 16b

Cambridge Library maintains lists of local societies. Some have grown up out of the trials of war including the Dunkirk 1940 Veterans Association, Lifeline, which aids displaced persons and the Association of Nazi Camp Survivors. Lesser-known organisations include the Tibet Society, an association of Ukrainians and the British Association of the Experiment in International Living. Then there is the Reindeer Council, the Saltire Society, a Science Fiction group and the Stephenson Locomotive Society. 64 10 16c # c.37

Electricity pylons are spreading rapidly to cope with demand: electricity consumption has soared from 200 kw. in 1960-61 to 12,000 kw today. Some of this is caused by the boom in sale of night storage heaters. But in one region in the fens the number of consumers has fallen. There are problems erecting pylons between Peterborough and Wisbech where piles had to be driven deep into the clay below the fens, adding to costs. But this high capital investment will prove a bargain in the longer term 64 10 16d

Gamlingay Cinques Common nature reserve – feature – 64 10 16a

Linton village photo feature – 64 10 16e

Stretham bypass newly opened – 64 10 20

Lt Abington electricity cables put underground – 64 10 20a

1964 10 22

Windsor Court at Somersham has 21 flatlets with a communal lounge-cum-television room, a laundry and the ever-available aid of a warden. The residents are independent: they have their own keys and can come and go as they please. They cook for themselves and even boast a refrigerator each. Visitors can stay in two guest rooms at a nominal charge. But many people living with little comfort in old houses will not take the flats. They will not leave the place where they grew up, will not move without their dog (cats and birds are allowed), and think of it as an "old people's home". 64 10 22

Central Library a 'public disgrace'; is cramped but wrong to spend money now; trying to give 1964 service from 1882 building. The old rooms have pipes running through them and are full of dust. The number of readers has doubled since 1954 but wish had building to display stocks and comfortable reading conditions for borrowers – pictures of Cambridgeshire Collection and school lending department – 64 10 22a & 64 10 21 # c.77.4

Down Your Street article by Erica Dimock on Petty Cury – 64 10 22 [RAl.4.75]

Hartford county primary school opened to cater for large number of children from Huntingdon's London overspill scheme. A companion school for 240 infants is also planned. There are eight classrooms for up to 320 children who will be integrated with those from the old part of the village. It is hoped that by growing up together with those from the new estate the children would settle down into a combined community 64 10 22b

Ely needs a community centre. The Corn Exchange has been bought by a London development company and demolished; the Central Hall has been turned into offices for the Ministry of Labour and the Drill Hall is seldom used for socials. A hall could be incorporated in the proposed new Needham's School but this might not be available for letting. The council-owned Barracks Field car park in Silver Street would provide the answer as it has space for a hall and parking. 64 10 22c

Fishing activity – includes Royal Oak -= feature – 64 10 23

Proposals to develop the Gonville Hotel site for a five-storey office bock had been turned down on the grounds that it would encourage the introduction of new firms into Cambridge, undermining the basic principle of the restriction of employment and the stabilisation of population. Since then the council had changed its policy but had not told Sindall's the applicant. There was an urgent need for offices for professional firms displaced as a result of the Lion Yard development, an inquiry was told. 64 10 23a

Cambridge Instrument Company has developed the 'Stereoscan', the first commercial scanning electron microscope. It is a result of whole-hearted co-operation between university departments and a Cambridge firm with the ability to develop a proved commercial product. Work was begun in 1952 and now the first model has been bought by the Du Pont de Nemour and Company of America 64 11 23b # c.27.1 : Cambridge Instrument Company

Solomon Greenburgh, Cambridge Public Analyst undertakes post-mortems and food contamination – feature – 64 10 23c # c.21.1

Newport photo feature – 64 10 23d

1964 10 24
Sir – to say that Cambridge Central Library is a 'public disgrace' is putting it mildly. Just when was it decorated? I would guess about 1924
It is the gloomiest public place in Cambridge. Why does a library have to be such a dull, miserable place? Surely a bit of colour would do much to enliven it … new mats in the entrance would not cost a fortune. No wonder they are short staffed; who would want to work in such a depressing atmosphere? I think that the helpful assistants that do work there, are bricks! – 'Book Lover' - 64 10 24 # c.77.4

1964 10 26
Eversdens petition for recreation ground – 64 10 26

Good Shepherd church consecrated – 64 10 26a # c.83

Parkside fire station built for the future with electronic devices, a 'fire house', recreation facilities and workshops to deal with 30 appliances; chief fire officer R.J. Stepney – 64 10 26b & c # c.34.75

1964 10 27
Huntingdon National Hunt racecourse redevelopment – 64 10 27

1964 10 28
Cambridge Central Aid Society say problems have increased in complexity. Some young married couples get into difficulties when they take furnished rooms beyond their means. When they eventually get a council house they have to continue paying in lieu of notice as well as having the cost of moving and buying furniture. One of their happier tasks is to arrange and finance holidays for some overburdened person worn down by ill-health or anxiety – 64 10 28a # c.37.3

St Ives Football Club new clubhouse nearly ready – 64 10 28b

1964 10 30
U.S. Alconbury eat 2,100 meals a day – 64 10 30a

The Isle of Ely County Library already pays the postage cost for 'talking books' for registered blind people. Now it is adding specially printed books with large clear type. They will be kept together and a collection and taken round by travelling libraries to enable readers with imperfect vision to read books which they cannot currently enjoy. The cost is no greater than for ordinary editions and the books are equally suitable for people with normal sight. 64 10 30b

Bottisham photo feature – 64 10 30c

November 1964 CN

1964 11 02
The gas-holder at Mill Road industrial site, Royston is to be retained as a reserve, though the main supply is piped direct from Cambridge. Although 50-years old, it was constructed soundly and has been kept in good condition. Another will be kept in service together with the fairly new 'waterless' holder at Stamford Avenue. A wall will be built to separate it from the new industrial site on which the council plan to build small factory units. One gas-holder was removed when the Urban Council acquired the site 64 11 02

Pye Electrical is to go into the twin tub washing machine market with a model that will sell for 49 guineas (about £910 at today's prices). The specification is very similar to that of the Rolls washing machine which went out of production when John Bloom's company collapsed. It is finished in white enamel and fitted with twin tubs and aluminium lids. Simple controls are fitted to the top, right hand corner of the front panel and a table top is available as an extra. 64 11 02a # c.27.1 : Pye

Coal-loading tower at Cambridge goods yard demolished – 64 11 02b # c.26.2

Patients in hospitals may choose as many books as they like from the library trolley taken round the wards by the St John and Red Cross Hospital Library Department. More than 30,000 books are read each year with light romances, crime and Westerns being the most popular. Mrs M. Ogden, the organiser keeps the books in fresh condition, the pages are sorted through and stains removed. Worn copies are taken away to be renovated by book repairers. There is a microfilm projector for patients in iron lungs and an automatic turner for those unable to hold a book. 64 11 02c

Granta magazine charity show to raise finance, includes Jimmy Edwards, Bernard Braden, Thora Hird, Peter Cook, Frankie Howerd and David Frost, and ex-editor. 64 11 02d

1964 11 03
Ely council to buy Paradise recreation ground from Church Commissioners – 64 11 03

1964 11 04
Bolebec Cottage, Swaffham Bulbeck and two other derelict 16th-century cottages converted to one house – 64 11 04

Bar Hill fly-over urgent – 64 11 04a

1964 11 05
Huntingdon High Street 'nightmare' may become shoppers' ideal – 64 11 05 & a

Swaffham Bulbeck in danger of stagnating – 64 11 05b

1964 11 06
Charles Harland Parker, Cambridge deputy town clerk – profile – 64 11 06

Rev C.F. Bosley the vicar of Mildenhall is one of busiest in England. He also ministers at West Row, Kenny Hill and Beck Row and drives 2,000 miles a year to hold services in at least three of them each Sunday. This year he held eight harvest festival services. The parish used to have three curates but now there is only one so he relies on his lay readers. But all the parochial work is multiplied by four and he wonders how long he can keep up the pace 64 11 06a

Barley, village of craftsmen – 64 11 06b

Petrol pumps and garage – feature – 64 11 06c

Earith is not a very attractive Huntingdonshire village. There is little of architectural or antiquarian interest. Some compensation for villagers is offered by the river, providing both sport and relaxation. Audrey Jones, 10, likes sitting patiently for the fish to bite while her nine-year-old friend Clare Benson tries to catch small fish in a landing net. The Riverside Hotel has only been open two years but is a firm favourite with anglers and has a bar grill incorporating swords, horseshoes and blacksmiths' implement [Photo feature] 64 11 06e

1964 11 07
Cambridge News wins 1964 Newspaper Design Award for evening newspapers; acquired by Lord Iliffe five years ago; he built new works and offices on Newmarket Road which opened April 1962 with printing plant of the latest design. New headline type, old five-column pages gave way to present six – 64 11 07

1964 11 09
H.C. Banham, the old-established boat building firm, might be forced to close if the Chesterton Road Bridge is built along its present line. It would involve destruction of major buildings, plant installation and machinery and cut their land in two 64 11 09

1964 11 10
Over 8.500 homes built in Cambridge since 1945 – 64 11 10

Chesterton Bridge route would bring very heavy traffic within feet of residents – 64 11 10a

1964 11 12
Cambridge council launched a pilot scheme to test the reactions of householders to putting their refuse in paper sacks instead of the traditional dustbins. There are various faults: it will not be possible to put hot ashes or wet refuse such as potato peelings in the bags. And there is the question of cost: it seems the paper bag scheme could prove more expensive. Meetings have taken place with various paper sack manufacturers to discuss the types of refuse bag now available. 64 11 12

Work on new bridge over Granta at Linton to join up two main sections of village bypass – 64 11 12a

1964 11 13
Eastern Electricity's new Fens Sub-Area control room knocks spots off the old system used at Thompson's Lane. A huge panel displays the entire electrical network while control desks have radio communications and lists of emergency engineering staff who can be called out. There is a standby generator which starts automatically should the main power fails. All this is the work of Pye Ltd. There is not a second when it is left empty. But it is unlikely that full-scale automation will ever be introduced. 64 11 13

1964 11 14
During the summer a series of greyhound racing meetings were held on an improvised track near a car breaker's yard at Fen Road Chesterton. But plans for a permanent stadium may prove impractical because of drainage difficulties. If buildings containing lavatories are to be erected the problems of foul sewage disposal might prove insurmountable. There are also problems about access to the site over the Fen Road level crossing. The road is inadequate for the kind of traffic that would be attracted to race meetings. Before the war a proposal to build one at Teversham was turned down 64 11 14 # c.38 : greyhound

The site for the new Cambridge University graduate centre has been cleared and work will soon begin - photo - 64 11 14a

The Pagoda, a new Chinese restaurant in Regent Street offers a variety of 120 dishes served in an atmosphere of luxury at reasonable prices. The décor is modern, a six-foot golden pagoda stands just inside the door with a Buddha enshrined on the wall of the restaurant. A small rockery with a waterfall stands by the staircase to the first floor which permits dining and dancing until midnight. The menu includes succulent Chinese and traditional English meals ranging from omelettes to a ten-course meal. It will be the most modern and hygienic restaurant in East Anglia 64 11 14b # c.27.47

1964 11 16
Doris Nix of Ely wants to be a Presbyterian minister at Westminster College – 64 11 16

Fears that the new ultra-modern building in Cambridge market square would bring an outcry from nearby traders have not materialised. Instead many of them say that the building, which replaces Mackintosh's the ironmongers, is an example to be followed. There will be shops on the ground floor and luxury flats above. Mr D.F. Yates, manager of Crown Wallpapers thinks it is an example of what neighbouring premises should look like. Mr A. Hall manager of Saxone Shoe Company agrees. But Mr Victor Balham of Bacon Bros the tobacconists does not think it the best of contemporary architecture. 64 11 16a # c.44.6

1964 11 18
Cherry Trees, a club for the elderly, has opened in new buildings in St Matthew's Street which have been donated by Miss Evelyn Boake. It will be run by the W.V.S. on similar lines to their successful Hill Top Club on Castle Hill. The main room with a lounge opens out to a sun terrace. The décor is rich and colourful with easy chairs in orange blue, green and red. Coffees and lunches will be served each weekday to men and women of pensionable age who are not in full employment. At present the main problem is obtaining sufficient volunteers to help serve. 64 11 18 # c.37.5

The Steelyard at the Fountain Hotel, Soham has been repaired by C.E. Fuller and Company who demonstrated how it used to weigh agricultural produce many years ago. The steelyard is one of only two in the country, the other is at Woodbridge. It is said to be between 300 and 400 years old and its last reported use was about 1890. With the opening of the Newmarket to Ely Railways the weighing of goods was transferred to the mechanical weighbridge at Newmarket. – 64 11 18a

Isleham vote on whether to close recreation ground on Sunday – interesting feature – 64 11 18b

Ely new drainage works start, Butter Market – 64 11 18c

1964 11 19
University offer money to engage planning team to submit plans for Lion Yard and new shopping area in City Road as urgent action needed – 64 11 19, 19d

St Martin's Jam Factory Ely to be taken by Dorman Sprayer Co – 64 11 19a

Co-op Society Coldham farm estate, Friday Bridge has biggest heap of potatoes – 64 11 19b

At Coleridge Youth Centre the hall vibrated with the sound of the latest pop tune. Outside the air was filled with the sound of motor cycles and scooters as more youths arrived. Youngsters were playing cards, table tennis and billiards, in one corner a group of girls sat talking. In between dances they sauntered to the canteen for a cup of coffee, a Coco Cola and a glance at the pile of magazines specially chosen for young people. It has a current membership of 300 of which two-thirds are boys. The future will depend on a comprehensive new youth centre to be started shortly at St Matthew's Piece 64 11 19c # c.37.9

Isleham Pits houses – dilapidated and crumbling cottages surrounded by rubble and waist-high weeds 64 11 19d

Marshall's printing business, Round Church Street established 1826 by Mr Wilson; were nearly destroyed by bombs in 1942; to be sold – 64 11 19e # c.25

1964 11 20
Birds Eye orange juice advertisement with colour for juice- 16 11 20 # c.04

Nurses cartoon – 64 11 20a

The Cambridge Society for the Blind runs two homes in Glisson Road providing comfortable surroundings for 20 people and operates a small shop in Regent Street selling handicrafts made by the blind. Those registered are allowed craft materials at cost price, receive a free radio licence or get a rebate on the cost of a television licence. They also have access to the Nuffield Talking Book Library. The newly-formed Cambridge Rehabilitation Centre for the Blind provides the opportunity for meetings and discussion at the Barnwell Community Centre 64 11 20 cdef # c.21.1

Papworth Everard photo feature – 64 11 20g

1964 11 23
Haslingfield says rubbish top is nuisance – 64 11 23

Application for 200 houses off Mill Lane, Lt Paxton – 64 11 23a

Estate agent John Bidwell's home, Fox Hill, Gt Shelford on part of Gog Magog Hills for sale – 64 11 23b

1964 11 26
George Macaulay Trevelyan, Master of Trinity – feature – 64 11 26

When the RAF handed back land at Lt Gransden which they had commissioned during the war the owner got permission to let ten houses at Primrose Hill. These will remain, tenants are assured. Mrs S. Weston says they were quite comfortable and the rent was reasonable. They may be a bit on the damp side, but they have flush toilets, unlike others in the village. Miss D.E. Parker, 74, moved in three years ago. She enjoys the community life of the site and plays the piano in the tiny mission hall. 64 11 26a, b

1964 11 27
Gordon Logie, City Architect– feature – 64 11 27 # c.35.7

Special constables celebrate 50th anniversary – history – 64 11 27a # c.34.7

Wallis Autogyros Ltd, formed by Wing Commander Kenneth Wallis and his cousin, produce some of the world's smallest aircraft. Military versions of his autogyro have been tested by the Army and reached more than 10,000 feet. Now the design is being simplified for amateur flyers. Twelve are being completed at a factory at 121 Chesterton Road. His father built the 'Wallbro' monoplane in St Barnabas Road in 1909, but it was destroyed by a storm 64 11 27b # c.26.1

Huntingdon Trinity Church interior – awaits demolition – 64 11 27f

Sutton photo feature – 64 11 27c

Ely Bishop's gaol closed in 1836 and leased as a police station. When they moved out in the 1890s a private family lived there, using better-appointed cells as bedrooms. In 1961 was sold to Ely UDC and used by Health Department and School's Museums Service. May become a museum – 64 11 27g

All Saints church centenary – feature – 64 11 27d, e # c.83

Double-page colour advertisement – 64 11 27h # c.04

Buildings in Jordan's Yard, Round Church Street and Bridge Street should be acquired by council for preservation and extension Park Street car park – 64 11 27i # c.44.6

1964 11 28
Cambridge's Old Church Schools date back to 1700 when school for poor children were started by clergy. After the Education Act of 1870 introduced compulsory education Newnham School was opened in 1872 and followed in 1875 by Park Street for girls and infants. St Barnabas, Sturton Street, York Street, Catharine Street & Ross Street schools followed. St Matthews is the newest – and the most modern of all schools in Cambridge - 64 11 28 # c.36.5

1964 11 30
Rozel Court at Beck Row, Mildenhall, which was bought with the intention of growing Christmas trees, has planning permission for 64 caravans. Now it will has become a permanent caravan site where old people can retire in comfort. It has telephones, electricity and inside flush lavatories while local tradesmen call each week and a bus takes residents for shopping expeditions to Bury St Edmunds. There is a social club and tenants pay two shillings a week to pay for annual outings. It is a solution to the problem of active old age and is giving caravanning a better image 64 11 30

December 1964 CN

1964 12 02

Record library would include 1,000 long-playing records, mostly classical music though traditional jazz would be included. Hope to start next year – 64 12 02

Deacon's Bank opens a branch in a 19th century Georgian building in Trinity Street. The banking hall has illuminated writing desks for customers, with a night safe, interview room and manager's office. Although new to Cambridge William Deacon's Bank can trace its history back to 1771 and was acquired by the Royal Bank of Scotland in 1930. It is strongly represented in the North but has been extending and now has a network of over 250 branches. 64 12 02a

The twin estates of South Arbury and King's Hedges has hardly any social amenities with just one youth club which runs one evening a week in the Manor School canteen. Now Arbury Amenities Association has called for the development of a community centre and recreation ground on the corner of Campkin and Arbury Roads. There is always the danger of young children getting involved in accidents if they have to play in the roadway, especially as heavy lorries use it on their way to building sites. The licensee of the Snowcat public house says there are several hundred teenagers who have nowhere to go in the evenings except city centre dance halls. 64 12 02b

L. Campbell Taylor, Royal Academician and one of Cambridge's best-known painters – profile 64 12 02c

1964 12 03
East Barnwell Youth Club meets in specially-built premises. The décor of the hall is purposeful and modern, the coffee bar is well patronised and the quiet room provides seclusion of a chat away from the noise of table tennis balls and record player. Activities include chess, draughts and billiards but girls complain the boys won't dance unless organised dance nights are arranged. Members are working on a pantomime which they plan to give in children's homes. They are also collecting silver paper to purchase guide boys for the blind. 64 12 03

1964 12 04
Frederick Drayton Porter, Cambridgeshire's Chief Constable has 30 years experience and vivid memories of the 18 murder cases he has investigated in Nottinghamshire where there were 14,000 indictable offences last year. By contract in Cambridge there were 2,300 crimes, of which a large proportion concerned cycles. Traffic and parking is the major problem. Since the introduction of parking meters the movement of traffic is much better, but a policeman should be able to tell a motorist where to park, he says. 64 12 04 # c.34.7

Bridge Hotel Clayhithe – feature – 64 12 04a

Cambridge Instrument Company Transrite III cardiograph – 64 12 04b

Cromwell's sister was married at Eltisley church – feature – 64 12 04c

Upwood County Primary School pupils turn out poetry which has vision far beyond their years. But then they are proficient at doing the unexpected. Others play Elizabethan music or concentrate on Laban dance movements. The teachers are in contact with the very latest thoughts and trends in education. The aim is to allow a child to become an individual in an age of mass media and mass conformity but the sight of a tiny tot standing before a blackboard doing university level mathematics is a little unnerving 64 12 04d & e

Shepreth village photo feature – 64 12 04f

Most people still have some idea that Sunday is a day apart. Shops are closed, offices and factories at a standstill and the air of unhurried calm reminds you that it is a special day. The average man gets up later than usual and if not religious-minded, spends the morning in the garden. 'Family Favourites' with the Sunday roast, a quiet nap and a look at the newspaper take care of the afternoon. Evening is spent watching Norman Vaughan at the London Palladium on the tv 64 12 0

1965 10 08
Memories of musical life in Cambridge in the 1920s; Dr Mann of King's College & his successors – Philip Radcliffe 64 12 08 # c.69

1964 12 09
The Sunday night 'Drop-in' Youth Club in Wellington Street provides somewhere for youngsters to get to know each other. There is table tennis, snooker and badminton together with a coffee bar and a juke box providing music for dancing. Some girls complain that boys will not ask them to dance but the boys say if they do they get stared at. They come because they are bored, there is nothing to do, nowhere else to go. Many houses are so small they can get little privacy and parents may lose their peace because a radio or record player is blaring, they say. But it's sad they cannot find companionship and interests at home, just one night a week. 64 12 09 # c.37.9

King James I's 'Old Palace' in Kneesworth Street Royston – feature – 64 12 09a

1964 10 10
Construction of five-storey block of flats on Arbury Road estate will be the biggest single housing development ever undertaken by the City Council – 64 12 10

Councillors addressed comments by the former City Librarian at an address to the Public Libraries Conference. Dr W.A. Munford, now Director General of the National Library for the Blind stated that 'after an almost complete change of council, I faced an uphill task'. They conceded: "If we are frank about it, we must admit that the library services was not too good in his particular day". During the period from 1945 to 1953 the number of books went down.
City Librarian Eric Cave said the position was vastly different today. However there was a serious shortage of staff. They had only five chartered librarians, although the establishment was for 18. Three had resigned recently, two might have been retained if their salaries had been increased. He had no trouble in getting the numbers he wanted, but more trouble in keeping them – 64 12 10a, c # c.77.4

Stretham parish council allow Sunday sport on recreation ground despite protests – 64 12 10b

